LOLA MONTEZ. This remarkable woman, who died in New York on Thursday, Jan. 15, was born in 1824.

Her father was only about twenty and her mother fifteen when they were married, and Lola was born during the second year of their marriage. At her baptism she was christened Marie Dolores Eliza Rosanns Gilbert; she was afterward called Dolores from which she derived her name Lola. At an early age she displayed the elasticity of a creele and the gracefulness of a Spaniard. with the wit and vivacity of a native of Ireland. Her mother was a creole of striking eauty, and is said to have married in succ sion a Spanish and an Irish officer. This circumstance gave rise to conflicting accounts as to her nationality; and the singularly cosmopolitan impression of her appearance was not calculated to solve the mystery, although, according to her own account, she was ushered into the world in the beautiful city of Limerick, and was brought up under the care of her mother in England, until she the care of her mother in England, until and was six years old. Lola's mother had in the meantime married a Capt. Craig, with whom she went to India, leaving the young girl in charge of Capt. Craig's father, at Montrose, Scotland. She was afterward sent to London, and placed in the family of the Commander-Scotland. She was afterward sent to and placed in the family of the Commander-in-Chief of the Bengal forces, Sir Jasper Nichols. With the daughters of Sir Jasper Nichols. after spending several years there Miss Fanny Nichols and young Lola were sent to Bath to finish their education. She remained there about eighteen months, at the expira-tion of which time her mother returned from India. Lola was then about fourteen years of age. She was informed by her mother that she had come home to take her back to India. The enormous amount of dress caused suspicion in young Lola's mind, and upon further inquiries she was informed by Captain James that her mother had promised her in marriage to Sir Abraham Lumly, one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of India, and about sixty years old.

This piece of intelligence aroused her anger, and in a defiant tone she informed her mether that the small mother that she would never consent. A family quarrel followed, and in her de she appealed to Capt James for assistance. On the next day the latter eloped with her to Ireland, where Captain James' family resided. After a great deal of trouble they were finally married. The alliance, however, did not prove condusive to her; appiness, and, after having fellowed her husband to the East Indies, where he eloped with a Mrs. Lomer, she soon returned to England. On the homeshe soon returned to England. On the ho ward journey she attracted the attention of her fellow-travelers by her exuberance of spirit and varied personal and mental attracspirit and varied personal and mental attractions. Among her most ardent admirers was a young Scotchman, of the illustrious house of Lennox, who was only with difficulty restrained by his friends from offering her his hand. But times had changed, and under the reign of Louis Philippe journalists began to wield the power which was formerly held by kings. One of these new monarchs of the nine Presse, conquered the love of Lola Montes, but came to an untimely end in a duel fought with M. Rosemond de Beauvallon, a p writer. Having accompanied her lever to the gambling house, where the duel had ori ginated in a quarrel between the two gen men, Lola was summoned as witness on the trial. Dressed in deep mourning, she ap-peared in the court, which was crowded with the elite of the journalistic, literary, artistic, theatrical, and fashionable Bohemia of the French metropolis, amid the admiring whis-pers of the vast auditory. Her testimony having placed the act of De Beauvallon in a very morderous light, he was sentenced to ten years imprisonment, and Lola, to whom her lover had bequeathed about four thousand dollars, soon left Paris, to the great disap-pointment of many enterprising lessees, who had expected to reap golden harvests from her reappearance on the stage with the colat her re-appearance on the stage with the colat of the duel fresh upon the public mind. This visit to the capital of Bavaria inaugurated a new and brilliant era in her life. King Louis was then on the throne, and being a monarch of poetical and remantic nature, he fell deeply in love with the witty Irish lady, who, if she did not reciprocate the affection of her veteran lord, conceived feelings of sympathy and respect for his high-minded and generous nature, which she asserted to the last. No more picturesque contrast can be imagined than that between the grave, heavy and senile representative of Bavarian political and theological orthodoxy and the sunny, gipsy-like freedom and humanity-loving Lolaging

Her promotion to the rank of Countess of Landsfeld was strenuously opposed by the Ultramontane Cubinet, but it was compelled to relinquish its power in February, 1847, by Lola's influence. The followers of the Ministry among the people became loud in their remonstrances. A new Cahinet was formed of Maurer, zum Rhein, and Zenetti, ultramontane party; but Lola's influence, growing to formidable proportions, was in vain opposed by the Diet which assembled on Sept. 20. 1847. In 1852 she visited the United States, and attracted great attention by interesting nar-rations of her adventures. During her stay in California, she was said to have formed a matrimonial alliance with a third husband, a Mr. Hull, which, however, was soon terminated by divorce. A few years afterward she proceeded to Australia, and gained the sym-pathies of the people of Melbourne by appropriating the receipts of her theatrical perances to the wounded in the Crimean war. She spoke the principal European languages with great fluency and eloquence; and her varied attainments, together with a boundless store of experiences and aneodotes gathered up among almost all nations, made company very attractive. Her appear ance was that of a semi-Irish, semi-Spanish lady, of great intelligence and refinement. Her elecution was very distinct, and in he public addresses she adopted a lady-like, conversational tone, avoiding all gesticulation. ### PROPERTY IN SLAVES.

Rev. Dr. Bacon, of New Haven, one the Abolition editors of the New York Independent, undertook, a week or more since, to break the force of Dr. Van Dyke's sermon on Abolitionism. When he came to that part touching the right of property in slaves, he attempted to come the horrific dodge on the audience by reading and expatiating upon an advertisement in a Southern paper, announcing that eighty negro slaves would be sold at auetion, on a certain day, by order of the Court of Probate, for the benefit of the heirs and creditors of an estate. But the Rev. Doctor need not have gone to a Southern paper to find an advertisement relating to the sale of "negro slaves." Had he taken up the " Historical Collections of Connecticut." a book in his own library, no doubt, and turned to the article on New Haven, he would there have found several with the soul that gives it life and strength,"

The city of New Haven, in those days had the reputation of being an eminently Christian city. It had churches, colleges, and schools-and the people were quite as moral and religious as they now are. And yet negro slaves were there advertised for sale, and bought and sold among them "for money," as they now are at the South "Human flesh," in the form of young, lusty, and very likely negro wenches, who could de all sorts of house-work, cook, wash, and spin -and also in the form of healthy, strong, and active mulattoes, well acquainted with all kinds of farming business and could work at the shoemaker's trade, were then considered as property-just as they now are at the South; and strange to say, ministers of the gospel, in the neighboring States, did not feel it incumbent upon themselves to call them thieves, robbers, &c.; nor write bitter and abusive articles for the newspapers against them; nor get up public meetings to denounce the audience repeatedly manifested their deand vilify them. That business was left for the Bacons, Beechers, Phillipses, Garrisons, plause. The next lecture will be delivered Gillettes. John Boyds, and others of this day, by George W. Curtis. to perform against the people of the Southsuch men, for lack of enough to do at home, being constrained to organize themselves into semi-guerilla associations for the purpose of reforming the morals and regulating the religious and political affairs of their Southern neighbors. Possibly, Dr. Bacon and his followers may refuse to admit the above advertisements as cases parallel to the one he presented from a Southern paper, inas much as the Connecticut slaves, were offered at gislature is the first practical step taken in private sale, and those he agonized over, at the South, were exposed to sale at auction. But if the Rev. Doctor had extended his research to a period some thirty or forty years later, in the history of New Haven, he would have found the following, which has since

These two colored female slaves, sold auction, in the manner described, were a mother and her daughter. They were chattel property-were so held by law-and were struck off to the highest bidder, within sight of the church from whose pulpit Dr Bacon now hurls his anathemas against Southern people, whose sin consists in buying and selling negro slaves, in manner and form, as was formerly done in the enlightened and Christian city of New Haven.

As the Standard formerly would have said, those whose minds have become heated by the action of one idea." may regard this system of Northern abuse "as of little import ;" but how is it "regarded by Southern men' -many of whom trace the title to their slave property back to Connecticut and other States of the Puritanic order ! Quoth the Standard : Does it "tend to peace and harmony between the people of Connecticut and our brethren the sanction of those who regard the continuance of the Union and the repression of concern ?"

WASHINGTON NEWS, &c. It is stated that Judge Douglas and Senators Seward and Crittenden have been in conference for several days, and are understood to be engaged in preparing some plan of settlement. The precise character of it has not transpired. One thing, however, is certainany plan of adjustment acceptable to these gentlemen, will, it is believed, carry sufficient strength with it to pass both houses.

Advices from Washington are of a pacific character, and lead to the hope that matters have not gone beyond all chance of compromise, notwitanding the outrageous acts and speeches of the radical Republicans.

Ex-President Tyler has had an interview with President Buchanan and communicated the resolutions of the Virginia Legislature relative to a settlement of the National difficulties. He expressed the earnest hope that Northern States will take steps immediately to send delegates to Washington, as proposed by Virginia, and has telegraphed to Richmond advising a postponement of the day for holding the Convention, in order that a full repre sentation of those States may be had.

The Southern Convention meets at Montbe representations from six States. It is their intention now, after organizing, to adjourn until the 25th of February, for the purpose of giving Virginia and other States time pied in devotional exercises. Dr. Hawks advertisements, copied from a paper formerly that unless some adjustment is made by the published in that city, offering "human flesh, 25th, Virginia will join her sister States in the South.

The Massachusetts Anti Slavery Convention in Tremont Temple, Boston, commenced Thursday morning Jan. 24, with a great assemblage in the body of the house, and the galleries and lobbies crowded. Rev. Mr. Clark had the platform in the morning. and after he had been driven off by the noise Wendell Phillips took the stand. The crowd yelled, hooted, sang "Dixie," cheered for South Carolina, etc., and at each interval Phillips, undisturbed, put in a remark. In the afternoon the excitement was increased, and the mob threatened violence. At length Mayor Wightman entered the hall, and after denouncing the meeting ordered it to be dis persed, which order the police executed.

The Tribune, which has always been an ardent advocate of a protective tariff, for the encouragement of "home industry," as it claims, now advocates a tax of from one to two cents a bushels on the salt prepared at the salt works in the State of New York. The effect would of course be to raise the price of the home material, and therefore give encouragement to that from abroad. The Tribune's consistency consists in being as enconsistent as possible.

DYSPEPSIA .- What is it? how DYSPEPSIA.—What is it? how cured? This question is fully answered in the pamplest issued by DR. O. PHELPS BROWN, and to be obtained of his authorized agents. It is a plain, straightforward, incontroverible essay, in itself, of life, health, and disease: DR. O. PHELPS BROWN also prepares a remedy which is unexampled in its efficacy, the AC (GAN BALSAM. In cases of Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitts. Coughs, Colds, and Nervous Debility where death seems the manifest design of the sufferer, the world can show no parallel to the effects produced by the ACACIAN BALSAM. Each organ of the body feels its beneficial influence. From pain and feebleness, the patient springs up to a cheerful enjoyment of life, and a powerful sense of solid restoration. The ACACIAN BALSAM a sold ist $2$ per large bottle, by THAYER & STEVENS, No. % State street, Sole Agents who has also a small number of trial bottles, price 25 cents each, as the proprietor wishes to introduce this formarkable remedy in such a manner as to preclude all doubts of its being a genuine article.

P. T. BARNUM SOLD AT LAST .- A public joke at P. T. Barnum's expense is not an everyday luxury, P. T. B. for many years having had the laugh on the other side. But at length the Prince of Showmen has been shown a trick that he did not know before, and the here of the occasion is a son of the Emerald Isle. It seems that Barnum, a few days ago, was it a great hurry to be shaved, and entered his ordinary place of tonsorial resort under the Park Hotel; but all the operatives were engaged, and one other cus tomer-a great brawny Irishman, just landed. and with a beard and bead requiring very ex-tensive attention—stood between the exhibitor of the "What is it?" and his turn as "next." "I am in a hurry, my good man!" said Phiness T, addressing Pat; "and if you give me your turn I will pay for what you want done here." "All right." responded the delighted Irishman; and the showman was soon shaved and on his way to keep his engagement, merely saying, as he left the door, to the proprietor of the saloon, " Do what this man wants," pointing to the exile of Erin, No sooner was he gone than Patrick took off his "trusty," and a thick cotton neck tie, at the same time ask ing the barber, "Now tell me all you do." "Why, sir," responded the tensorial operative, "we shave, cut and curl hair, shampoo and bathe." "All right, then," said Pat; " do all them things to me. Sorra wan of me knows what they mane; but as he said he'd pay for them, just do them all, an' God bless you!" The barber saw the joke, and did as requested, putting the big Irishman through all the processes, and bringing him out pleasantly altered that he scarcely knew himself. We leave our readers to imagine Bar rum's mee next morning, when the proprie an g Irishman 10 cents, cutting his hair

25 cents, ourling it 25 cents, shampooing it 25 cents, and bathing Irishman 25 cents— total for Irishman $1 10." Barnum at once acknowledged the corn-gave a receipt for the maize; but he is after the Irish exile, and swears, if he catches him, that he will place him cheek-by-jowl between the "What is it" and the Aztec children .- N. There will also the department, to accompany the mails, specifying the number and destination of the several bags. On the principal stage routes, likewise, receipts will be required and way bills forwarded; the latter to be examined by the several postmasters, to insure regularity in the delivery of mall postmasters, to insure regularity in the delivery of mall postmasters, to insure regularity in the delivery of mail bags.

4. No pay will be made for trips not performed; and for each of such omissions not satisfactorily explained three times the pay of the trip may be deducted. For arrivals so far behind time as to break crinexion with depending mails, and not sufficiently excused, one-fourth of the compensation for the trip is subject to forfeiture. Deduction will also be ordered for a grade of performance inferior to that specified in the contract. For repeated delinquencies or the kind herein specified, enlarged penalties, proportioned to the nature thereof and the importance of the mail, may be made.

5. For leaving behind or throwing off the mails, or any portion of them, for the admission of passengers, or for being concerned in setting up or running an express conveying intelligence in advance of the mail, a quarter's pay may be deducted.

Fines will be imposed, unless the delinquency promptly and satisfactorily explained by certificates of presents of the fines of presents of the finest of other credible persons, for faing to arrive in contract time; for neglecting to take the mirom or deliver it into a post offic. For suffering it to be we induced, destroyed, robbed or lost; and for redusing, at demand, to convey the mail as frequently as the contract runs, or is concerned in running a coach, car, or steambout a route.

7. The Postmaster General may appul the contract for the cont on a route.

7. The Postmaster General may annul the contract for repeated failures to run agreeably to contract; for violating the Post Office laws, or disobeying the instructions of the department; for refusing to discharge a carrier when required by the department to do so; for running an express afferceasid; or for transporting persons or packages conveying mailable matter out of the mail.

8. The Postmaster General may order an increase of seraforcessid; or for transporting persons or packages conveying maliable matter out of the mail.

8. The Postmaster General may order an increase of service on a route by allowing therefor a provata increase on the contract pay. He may change schedules of departures and arrivals in all cases, and particularly to make them conform to connections with railroads, without increase of pay, provided the running time be not abridged. He may also order an increase of a peed, allowing, within the restrictions of the law, a provata increase of pry for the additional stock or carriers, it any. The contractor may, however, in the case of increase of speed, relinquish the contract, by giving prompt notice to the department that he prefers doing so to carrying the order into effect. The Postmaster General may also curtail or discontinue the savide, in whole or in part, at prevents decrease of pay, allowing one month's extra compensation on the amount dispensed with, whenever, in his opinion, the public interests require the change, or in case he desires to supersede it by a different grade of transportation.

he desires to supersede it by a different grade of transportation.

9. Payments will be made by collections from or drafte on postmasters, or otherwise, after the expiration of each quarter—say in February, May, August, and November.

10. The distances are given according to the best information; but no increased pay will be allowed should they be greater than adv-riteed, if the points to be supplied be correctly stated. Bidders must inform themselves on this point and also in reference to the weight of the mail, the condition of roads, hills, streams, &c., and all tollbridges, ferries, or obstructions of any kind by which expense may be incurred.
No claim for additional pay, based on such growth addition to the degree of service; nor alleged mistaken steel growth of the

11. A bid received after the last day and hour named without the guaranty required by law and a certificate as the sufficiency of such guaranty, cannot be considered commentation with a regular proposel reasonable in amount 2. Bidders should first propose for service strictly according to the advertisement, and then, if they desire, separal for different service; and if the regular bid be the lowestered for the advertised service, the other propositions no econsidered. be considered.

13. There should be but one route bid for in a proposal.

Consolidated or combination bids ("I proposing one sum for two or more routes") are forbidden by law, and cannot be considered.

13. The route, the assvice, the yearly pay, the name and residence of the bidder, (that is, his usual post office address) and those of each member of a firm, where a company ofers, should be distinctly stated.

15. Bidders are requested to use, as far as practicable, the printed form of proposal furnished by the department, to write out in full the sum of their bids, and to retain copies of them. them.

Altered bids should not be submitted; nor should bids once submitted be withdrawn. No withdrawn of a bidder or guarantur-will be allowed unless dated and received before the last day for receiving proposals.

Each bid must be guaranteed by two responsible persons. General guaranties cannot be admitted. The bids and guaranty should be signed plainly with the full name of each person.

The department reserves the right to reject any bid which may be decemed extravagant, and also to disregard the bids of failing contractors and bidders.

16. The bid should be scaled, superscribed "Mail Proposals, State of ——," addressed "Second Assistant Postmostic General, Contract Office," and sent by mail, not or to an agent; and postmasters will not enclose proposals (or elters of any kind) in their quarterly returns.

17. The contracts are to be executed and resurned to the department by or before the lat of August, 1881; but the service must be commenced on the ist of July preceding, or on the mail day next after that date, whether the contracts be executed or not. No proposition to transfer will be cobsidered until the contracts are excuted and received at the department; and then no transfer will be allowed unless good and sufficient reasons therefor are given, to be determined b the department. In all cases the retiring contractor will be required to become one of the sureties on the new contract.

18. Postmasters at offices on or near railroads, but more than eighty rods from a station, will, immediately after the 30th of March next, report their exact distance from the nearest station, and how they are otherwise supplied with the mail, to enable the Postmaster General to direct a mail-messanger supplier from the 'stof July peat.

19. Section eighteen of an act of Corgress approved March 3, 1345, provides shat contracts for the transportation of the mail shall be let "in every case to the lowest bidder tendering sufficient guaranties for faithful performance, without other reference to the mode of such transportation than may be necessary to provide for the due celerity, certainty, and security," having been decided to be the only legal bids, are construed as providing for the entire mail, however large, and whatever may be the mide of conveyance necessify to insure its "colerity, certainty, and security," and will have construed as providing for the entire mail, however large, and whatever may be the mide of conveyance necessify to insure its "colerity, certainty, and security," and will have 20. A modification of a bid in any of its essential terms is tantamount to a new bid, and cannot be received, so as to interfere with a regular competition, after the last hour set for receiving bids. Making a new bid, with guaranty and certificate, is the only way to modily a previous bid.

21. Postmasters are to be careful not to certify the sufficiency of guarantors or surlies without knowing that they are persons of sufficient responsibility; and all bidders, guarantors, and sureties are distinctly notified that on a failure to enter into or perform the contracte for the service proposed for in the accepted bids, the legal liabilities will be enforced against them.
