LINCOLN IN NEW YORK—HIS FORMAL RECEPTION.

New York, Feb. 20.—Mayor Wood formally received Lincoln this morning at ten o'clock in the Governor's room of the City Hall. Wood said:—"It becomes my duty to extend an official welcome in behalf of the corporation. In doing so, permit me to say this. This city never offered its hospitality to a man clothed with more exalted powers, or reeking under graver responsibilities than those which circumstances have devolved upon you. Coming into office with a dismembered government to reconstruct and a hostile people to reconcile, it will require a high patriotism, an elevated comprehension of the whole country—its varied interests, opinions, and prejudices to so conduct public affairs as to bring it back again to its former harmonious, consolidated, and prosperous condition."

"I refer to this topic because New York is deeply interested in the present political divisions which have sorely affected her people. Her material interests are paralyzed, her commercial greatness endangered. She is the child of the American Union, has grown up under its maternal care, been fostered by its paternal bounty, and we fear if the Union dies, the present supremacy of New York will perish with it. To you, therefore, chosen under the forms of the Constitution as the head of the Confederacy, we look for the restoration of fraternal relations between the States, only to be accomplished by peaceful and conciliatory means, aided by Almighty God."

MR. LINCOLN'S REPLY.

Mr. Mayor.—It is with feelings of deep gratitude I make my acknowledgments for the reception which has been extended me by this great commercial city of New York. I can but remember that such a reception is tendered by people who do not by a majority agree with me in political sentiments. It is the more gratifying on this account, because it is evident that in support of the great principles that underlie our government, the people are nearly or quite unanimous. In regard to the difficulties which encompass me at this time, and of which your Honor has thought fit to speak so becomingly and so justly, I suppose that I can only say that I agree with the sentiments expressed by the Mayor. In my devotion to the Union, I hope I am not behind any man within the Union, but in the wisdom necessary to so conduct affairs as to secure the preservation of the Union, I fear I may be deficient to the great confidence which has been imposed in me. I am sure, however, that I at least bring a heart devoted to the work.

There is nothing which could bring me to consent willingly to the destruction of that Union under which, not alone the great commercial city of New York, but the whole country, has acquired greatness, unless it should be that for which the Union itself was made. As I understand it, the ship is made for the carriage and preservation of the cargo, and so long as the ship can be saved with the cargo, it should never be abandoned. We should never cease in our efforts to save it, so long as it can be done without throwing overboard passengers and cargo. So long as the prosperity and liberty of the people can be preserved in the Union, it will be my purpose and shall be my effort at all times to preserve that Union.

He closed by thanking the Mayor for his reception. At the close of the remarks, the members of the Council and the State Government were introduced, after which the people were admitted, and there was an immense rush and scramble to get into the Governor's room. The jam was tremendous, many thousands attempting to gain admittance, and rent clothes and some bruises were the consequence. The crowd was eminently a New York gathering. Many thousands were unable to shake hands with Mr. Lincoln, who returned to his hotel about one o'clock.

XIVTH CONGRESS—SECOND SESSION.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Doolittle presented the credentials of Timothy O. Howe, Senator elect from Wisconsin.

Several private bills passed.

A bill discontinuing the postal service in seceding States was taken up.

Greene moved to add that the Secretary of the Treasury be directed to prevent an attempt to collect the revenue in such States.

Hemphill offered resolutions that the Postmaster General be directed to discontinue inter-postal communication in the several States, as they have withdrawn from the Union, and the laws of the United are no longer enforced therein.

Greene withdrew amendments.

Clingman moved to strike out the word "insurrection" and insert as a reason for discontinuance, "the secession of certain States."

Fitch suggested they should say "refusal to acknowledge the laws" also to strike out the words "postal laws maintain" so as to give no reason to employ force.

Clingman accepted the amendment.

Mason objects to the bill—arguing against anything which should plunge the Country into civil war.

Tariff bill taken up.

Volunteer bill under consideration.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Mail contractors in the seceding States have been secured by the Postmaster that they will be paid as tendered by drafts on the Postmaster to be paid from the postal revenue collected in seceding States. Postal route efforts have been removed for leaving business without permission, to engage in secession.

DOUBTFUL.

NEBRASKA.—Old Fort Kearney was taken possession of last night by a party of Secessionists, and the Palmetto flag waved over it in the morning.

An attack was made by Union men at ten o'clock this morning, the Palmetto flag was torn into shreds and the Stars and Stripes hoisted amidst intense excitement.
