THE GAINES CASE.

The Supreme Court of the United States has just rendered a decision in favor of Mrs. Gaines, establishing her right to the McDon ough property now in the possession of the cities of New Orleans and Baltimore. The decision places her in possession of all the property of Daniel Clark, of whom she is the

Mrs. Gaines was born in Philadelphia in 1805. Her father, Daniel Clark, was a man of immense wealth, but of uncertain morals of immense wealth, but of uncertain morals, about the cities of New Orleans, Baltimore, and Philadelphia. Mr. Clark, in 1801, had formed a liasson with a woman of supposed easy virtue, with whom he lived for many years, in Philadelphia. Mr. Clark's friends never recognized this woman, nor did Clark even coknowledge her publicly as his wife, but on the contrary it has been proved that even after the daughter was born he persisted in declaring that he was a bachelor. It seems however, that some time prior to Mrs. Gaines's

At the death of Clark, in 1830 or 1831, his kinsmen went on to administer upon his estate, but they found a barrier in the person of Mrs. Whitney's former guardian and supposed father, who interposed a claim for his protege, and then for the first time informed her and her wondering husband as to who and what she was. It seems that erson alone, aside from the family of Clark person alone, aside from the family of Clark knew the secret of the marriage. At first Clark's friends tried to bribe him to keep the whole matter a secret, and for a time succeeded in keeping him out of the way; but as they did not comply readily with his demands for money, he communicated the proofs more fully to Mrs. Gaines, and she set about establishing her legitimacy. She commenced her first suit against the executors of her fathers estate as long ago as 1837, or 8. who were present at the ceremony. In the first suits against the Executors ahe was unsuccessful, but she and her husband were determined that the stigma of illegitimacy should not rest upon her, and so to again bring the matter before the Courts, when she should be able to better prove the marriage of her parents, she commenced the present PEBBLES—A fresh lot of suits against Henning and others, involving

> CITY OF CAIRO.—Cairo stands on the east bank of the Nile, opposite the beautiful island of Roda. The town is about three miles in length, and one and a half in width, and is length, and one and a half in width, and is separated by immense heaps of ruins, and by an aqueduct after the Roman style, into old and new Cairo. Old Cairo is said to mark the spot from which the Israelites took their departure from Egypt; and opposite my hotel window is the Isle of Roda, on the shores of which, according to tradition, Moses was found. The city retains its oriental character and in this respect is unique. The streets ter, and in this respect is unique. The streets are so narrow, and the eaves of the houses project so far over their basements, that per-sons can step from one building to another. This peculiarity of architecture is adopted to secure coolness in the heat of summer, and and also to afford better means of escape in time of danger. The superstructures of the houses are of brick, of a duli red color, and when plastered externally, which is quite common, their appearance is exceedingly gloomy. The ground floor is usually occupied by merchants and mechanics, and the gloomy. The ground noor is usually couppied by merchants and mechanics, and the upper apartments serve as residences. Most of the shops consist of a small square room, in front of which, on a shelf, and around the casement of the door, the articles for sale are exhibited. The city is divided into quarters, according to the nationality and religious belief of the inhabitants. These are separated from each other by large wooden gates, which are closed at night and kept by a porter within. Thus the Copts, Jews, Franks, and Turks, inhabit distinct districts of the town. The Frank quarter is in happy contrast with the other sections, and displays an air of order, energy and thrift peculiar to European merchants. MR. WOODBUFF-OUR CANDIDATE

Our Democratic friends will see that the Litchfield, as our candidate for Congress .-Mr. Woodruff is one of the oldest and ablest lawyers in Litchfield County, -a man of cool rament, sound judgment, and broad national principles, -well adapted, in all respacts, to represent the people of this District in Congress at this most important time. With such a man in Congress, the people of this District could most safely rely that not a word would be said, not a vote given, nor an act done, calculated needlessly, as in the case of Mr. Ferry, to cause enmity and bitterness of feeling at the South toward the North : nor to widen the breach that unhappily has been made in our Union, and much less to madly hurry the two sections into acts of civil war. Possessed of a kind, conciliatory disposition, dignified manners, and genonly bearing, with a mind well-balanced, and always at ease, his presence as a repreative in Congress, from Connecticut, at the time, would have a most powerful and benign effect upon all the great interests of the State, which interests have been so incalculably injured by the rash, mad, violent, intemperate, and headlong course of Mr. Ferry,-a man better calculated for a room in a mad house, a seat in Pandemomium, than for a representative from this State, particubaneful, disgusting exhibition of them on the floor of Congress so recent and so palpable, that we are surprised the cool, reflecting, considerate portion of the Republicans hould allow him to be nominated for re-election. But, unfortunately for the country, this class of Republicans have little or no infuence in their party. The Gillettes, John Boyds, Tom Clarks, and other men of the John Brown, fire-eating stamp, are banded closely together, and make nominations for the party and manage its affairs in all other repects to suit their radical, impracti cable

The new tariff of the late Republican House of Representatives has already become a stench in the nostrils of that party. Several of the leading papers denounce it Some of them even advise the calling of an extra session of Congress to repeal it. It is in fact nothing but a mass of absurdities, re, and contradictions; a blight upon trade and commerce; a burden upon general industry; a scheme of exorbitant and unjust taxation upon all classes of the community. We do not wonder that its friends are ashamed of it. Like the man who won the elephant at a raffle, they do not know what to do with their prize. When the people throughout this evening. the country begin to feel the radical injustice and oppression imposed by the new Republican tariff bill there will be a general outburst of indignation.

WASHINGTON NEWS, &c.

From Washington, we learn that the quesion of evacuating Fort Sumter still continues to occupy the attention of Mr. Lincoln and his Cabinet. There seems to be no doubt how to do it appears not yet to have been settled.

The appointment of Commissioners by the Southern Confederacy to visit England and France seems to have startled the administration, and it is said that a secret agent will be immediately despatched to inform those governments of the policy intended to be pursued in regard to the seceded States.

The Montgomery Congress has adjourned to meet again on the second Monday of May. Judges of Admiralty for each of the seceded States have been confirmed.

The most agreeable news to-day is that the reported battle at Fort Pickens, between Federal and State forces, is unconfirmed.

Sunday, this year, was St. Patrick's day. The celebration took place to-day .--The precession was quite a long one, and looked finely. First came the Wheeler & Wilson Band ; then the Montgomery Guards, Captain O'Connell, numbering about thirty muskets; followed by the St. James' Benevolent Society, Thomas C. Coates, President, numbering one hundred and sixty members and the St. Patrick's Benevolent Society, Michael McDonnell, President, numbering fifty members. The procession was reviewed at the Court House by His Honor the Mayor and the Common Council. His Honor made a short address, which was responded to by Capt. T. C. Coates, President of the St. James Benevolent Society, who made a very neat and appropriate speech. The procession marched through several of the principal streets this afternoon.

About a month ago, the Republican papers were basely charging Mr. Toucey with accepting the resignations of Naval officers, instead of arresting them for treason Ignoring the fact that the Secretary has no power to accept resignations, but that it islan Executive prerogative, what do we see now? Why, President Lincoln is accepting them as fast as they are tendered! But not a word of reproach do we hear from those presses that were lately so denunciatory o Mr. Buchanan and his Cabinet! The course Congressional Convention of this District, of some of the Republican editors in this ted George C. Woodruff, Esq., of matter proves that they are nothing less than foul-mouthed political hypocrites of the darkest hue.

She lay in smooth water, was a universal howl of "traitor," "imbecile." etc., from the Republican press; but it is all quite right and proper in the eyes of the fanatics, for Mr. Lincoln to do the same thing.

The Rev. E. C. Bolles, formerly of this city, has resigned the pastoral charge of the ders. "Church of the Fraternity," in Concord street, Boston. At a parish meeting of the First Universalist Church, in Portland, held on Tuesday evening, it was unanimously resolved to extend an invitation to Mr. Bolies to become their pastor for one year, at a salary of $1600.

The "irrepressible conflict" in the Republican party waxes warmer between the conservatives and the radicals. The former are endeavoring to make Lincoln adopt a peace policy; while the latter, under the larly at this perilous time in Congress. Indeed lead of Giddings, Greeley, Ferry & Co.. are his traits of unfitness are so glaring, and his trying to make Lincoln adopt measures that will plunge the country into all the horrors of civil war.

THOUSAND KEROS DRIED CURRANTS—A choice lot

(From the SCHOOL BELL.) AN ADVENTURE.

One Summer, a few years ago, not enjoying very good health, and consequently being ed from school, I was sent to spend three or four months with an uncle who lived in a small village on the seashore. He had quite a large farm, and my father said "running about with the sheep would make me as good as new." But wasn't I surprised on arriving at my uncle's, to hear him say, the first thing, "So, you witch, you, they sent you litere to keep you out of mischief, did they?"
"Why, no," said I, "I came to get well." He insisted that father said, "Keep her out of mischief," and forthwith I determined to go home the next day. I would see if they wanted to get me out of the way, to be kept out of mischief—just as if I ever did such a

But I was finally prevailed upon to stay and try, as my uncle Charles said, and amend my reputation as a mischief-seeker. enjoyed myself finely that Summer, but it is not my intention to give an account of all my doings, but only to relate an adventure which I met with one day. I had been cautioned many times against going into a tract of woods situated about a mile and a half from my uncle's farm, for I was told that I should certainly get lost, which caution only increased my desire to explore

These woods had, some years before, been the rendezvour in band of smugglers, and were very dense and the many paths leading through rocky denies, into deep ravines, and often intersecting each other, formed a perfect labyrinth. There were also two caves, and from one of them a subteranean passage

I determined one day to explore these woods; so, taking some lunch, I told my aunt I should not be home to dinner, and as I was often gone all day, she suspected nothing. In blings I was generally accompanied by my cousin Ed. a young scapegrace about my own age, who, people said, was as much like me as two peas are like each other, but this morning he was nowhere to be found, therefore I was obliged to go alone. I started about nine o'clock and wandered around the woods for some time. Soon I had gathered a boquet of beautiful flowers, but, as vet, saw no signs of a cave. I at last gave it up as only a report, when, coming near a ledge of rocks, I stumbled, and catching hold of a projecting rock to save myself, it began to move. examined it, and found it to be a door .-This was the cave, sure enough. Accordingly I went in, and found a small, narrow recess. about large enough for three men to stand in. I laughed long and loud at such a cave, and was just going away, when it struck me that this might be only a kind of hall to a larger room. So I examined every corner, and in one part found a brick. Now I knew bricks didn't grow there, so I tugged and pulled and finally succeeded in extricating it, and putting my hand in the aperture, found means to open

Judge of my dismay, when, just before the door, I saw stretched out at full length a man wrapped in a long cloak! I was so terrified I could neither stir nor speak, but finally seeing the object did not move, my courage rose, and I thought he must be dead, as it was impossible for one to live there so many years and the fact not be known, for I did not doubt that it was one of the smugglers. Therefore I gave him a hit with my foot, and up sprang— not a smuggler, but my cousin Ed. I must confess I did not know him at first, and gave a loud scream; but he, not being able to check his risibilities, laughed so immoderately that I quickly recognized him. It seems he had ected my design, and determined to frighten me, for I was always boasting that nothing could frighten me, and that I never would scream with terror; and so, early that morning, he went to the cave, and as he had often been there before, he arrived some time efore me, and he had so completely disguised himself with his grandfather's eloak, that it ny one to know him. He was very much elated to think that I screamed, and said that he would tell everybody in town. He then showed me the subteranean age, but we concluded not to explore it that day, as it was very dark and we had no We also visited the other cave, but i was not of much account, being very smal and having no doors or any way of concealing the entrance. After having seen this cave, we returned home-I to be laughed at as always being in mischief, and he to laugh and crow at having frightened me so well.

DISTINGUISHED ST. LOUIS PHYSICIAN WRITES

O. J. Wood, Esq:—Dear Sir.—Allow me the pleasure and satisfaction to transmit to you the beneficial effects of your HAIR RESTORATIVE, after a trial of 5 years. I commenced using your Restorative in January, 1855, since which time I have not been without a bottle on hand. When I commenced using your Restorative in January, 1855, since which time I have not been without a bottle on hand. When I commenced the use, my hair was quite thin, and at least one third gray. A few applications stopped its falling, and in three weeks time there was not a gray hair to be found, neither has there been up to this time.

After my hair was completely restored, I continued its use by applying two or three times per month. My hair has ever continued healthy, soft and glossy, and my scalp perfectly free from dandraff. I do not imaglies the facts above mentioned will be of any particular advantage to you, or oven flatter your vanity at his late day, as I am well aware they are all well known airesdy, and even more wonderful ones throughout the Union. I have occupied my time in travelling the greater part of the time the past three years, and have taken pride and pleasure in recommending your Restorative, and exhibiting its effects in my own case. In several instances I have met with people that have pronounced it a humbur; saying they had used it and without effect. In every instance, however, it provet, by probing the matter, that they had not used your article at all, but had used some new article, said to be as good as yours, and selling at about half the price. I have noticed two or three articles myself advertised as above, which I have no doubt are humburg. It is astonishing that people will patronize an article of no reputation, when there is one at hand that has been proved beyond a doubt.

Apparently, some of those charlatans have not brains enough to write an advertisement, as I notice they have mere than two thousand persons that have used your pre-paration with perfect success-some for baldness, gray hair, scald head, dandruff, and every disease the scalp and head are subject to.

I called to see you personally, at your original place of business here, but learned you were now living in New York.

You are at liberty to publish this or to refer parties to me, Any communication addressed to me, care box No. 1,22, will be promptly answered. Yours truly JAS, WAITE, M. D.

Warren Springs, Perry Co., Ponn., June 7, 1860.

Prof. Wood—Dear Sir.:—I was induced more than a year ago to try your vausable HAIR RESTORATIVE, for the purpose of clear-sing my bead of dandrail. I had suffered with it upon my head for years, and had never been able to get anything to do me any good in removing it, although thad ried many preparations, until I saw your advertisement in a Harrisburg paper. Being there at the time, I called at Gloss & Kunkie's drug store, and bought a bottle, and now am prepared to recommend it to universal use, for it has completely removed all dandrud from my head, and an application orice in two weeks keeps it free from any itching or other unpleasaniness. I must also siste that my hair had become quite white in piaces, and, by the use of your preparation, has been restored to its original color. I am now 50 years of age, and although I have used two bottles of the Restorative; no one has any knowledge of it, as I allow a few gray hairs to remain, in order to have my appearance comport with my age. My head is now of less trouble to me, in keeping it clean, &c., than at any time since I was a child. I consider your preparation of great value, and, although I do not like to expose myself. I consider you years you think proper. If it is worth anything to you.

Yours, &c., H. H. ETTER. NO. 4 WATER ST., BOSTON, MASS.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., July 30, 1859, are entitled to the benefit of. I am a resident of Bloomington, and have been for over thirty years. I am now over 50 years of age. For about twenty years past my hair has been turning cossiderably gray, and was almost entirely white, and very stiff and unplient. I have seen a number of certificates of the very wonderful effect of your HAIR KESTORATIVE, but supposed there was more fiction than truth in them; but entertaining a strong desire to have my hair, if The F. but supposed there was more fiction than truth in them; but emeristing a strong desire to have my hair, if possible, restored to its original color and fineness, as it was in my lyounger days a beautiful black, I concluded I would make the experiment commencing in a small way. I purchased one of your small bottles, at one dollar, and commenced using, following directions as nearly as I could. I soon discovered the dandrid removed, and my hair, that was falling off in large quantities, was considerably tightened, and a radical change takins; place in the color. I have commend to use in till I have used three of your small bottle and just begun on the fourth. I have now as pretty a head of dark brown, or light black hair as any man, or as I had in my youthful days, when a boy in the hills of western Virginia. My head is entirely clear of dandriff, and the hair ceasad entirely failing off and is as soft and fine, and feels as oily, as though it was just from the hands of a French champooer. Many of my acquaintances frequently say to me, "Butler, where did you get that fine wig?" I tell them it was the effects of your Kestorative. It is almost impossible to convince them that it is the original hair of the same old gray head.

Bloomington, Monroe Co., Ind.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.—We are not in the habit of puffing every new discovery, for in nine cases of ten they are quack nostrums, but we take great pleasure in recommending PROFESSOR WOOD'S article to all whose hait is falling off or turning gray. Our well-known contributor, finicy Johnson, Esq., has experienced the benefit of its application, and joins with us in speaking of its virtues. Let all try it and bad heads will be as rare as snow in summer.—Relationers Personal WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE. Unlike most specifics, this is proved, by unimpeachable evidence, to possess great efficacy as a restorer of the hair to its prestine vigor. Where the head had become almost hald because of sickness, the use of this article has produced a beautiful growth of thick, glossy hair. It is therefore a valuable preparation for all classes. Its ingredients are such as to effectually eradicate dandruff and other impurities which operate so inturiously to the hair. It also has curative properties of snother description. In many cases pimples and other disfigurements of the skin disappear wherever it is used. There is no hazard attaching to the trial of this remedy, and its effects can only be beneficial, as the compound, if it does not cause a manifest impayment it is incapable of doing harm, as its component elements are perfectly innocuous.—Boston Transcript. April 22, 1859.

A GENUINE Book.—in our capacity as conductor of a public journal, we are called upon to advertise the curealls of the day, each of which claims to be unadulterated in its composition and infallible in its curative effects, with what justice we leave our readers to determine. In one instance, however,—Prof. Wood's lair Restorative—we are so well assured of the notable qualities of the article, that we give it our endorsement as all that its inventor and vender claims it to be. Its effect upon a falling head of harr is universally known to be magical. Like time or guano on exhausted land, it brings the crop wherever applied. Our own thatch is fortunately healthy, but we advise our friends with sparsely-growing hair to try the Restorative.— Columbia Spy

ALL HAIR BYES AEANDONED—WOOD'S GREAT ARTICLE HAS TAKEN THE FIELD.—Professor Wood stands on an eminence no chemist, whose attention has been turned to inventing a hair tonk has ever before reached. His fame is sudden but world-wide, and thomands who have worn wige or been bald for years, are now, through the use of this preparation, wearing their own natural and luxuriant head covering. So much for chemistry, the chemistry of human life, and the laws which apply to the functions of the system. Prof. Wood studied out the human hair, its character, its properture, its diseases, and how to restore the decaying visality of that ornament; he saw, as in his own case, that gray hair is unnatural unless the age of the individual had reached four score, and he oelieved that the hair could be naturally revitalized. He tried his own case—almost hald and quite gray at the age of thirty-seven, h: restored his own hair in color, strength and luxuriance, and the article he did it with he gave to the world. Get WOOD'S HAIR RESTURATIVE and take nothing else.—New York Day Book.

PURITY OF MIND AND BODY, are equally attained by continuing the human organization in perfect health, unnatural promptings and deprayed instincts are in fine cases out of ien, developed and brought to maturity by a vitlated state of the system—It should never be forgotten that some of the worst and most fatal diseases to which the human flesh is helr, commences with indigestion, which in its most distressing forms may be cured by the application of DR. O. PHELPS BROWN S celebrated remedies. One form of DVSFEPSIA is known by capricious appetites; sense of weight and fullness at the pit of the stomach; irregular bowels; tongue white; severe lacerating pain; darring between the shoulder-blades from the stomach; pulse quick and irritable; dull, heavy aching pain across the loins; excessive depression of spirits, despondency so intense as often to excite the most painful ideas; hence this class of disorders invariably indicate impaired nutrition, enervation in the organs of digestion and assimilation so that bad and unassimilated chyle gets into the blood, and soon develops consumption in those predisposed to tubercular depositions in the lungs.

DR. O. PHELPS BROWN'S ACACIAN BALSAM, price $2 per large bottle, may be obtained of Thia YER & STEVENS, No. 28 Since street, Sole Agents, who has also a number of specimen bottles, price 25 cents. Call and procure a descriptive pamphlet. feb 19 imd&4w99
