ROCK OIL.

The following article is by Professor E. B. Andrews, of Marietta College, who has given much attention to the geology of Southern Ohio, and was contributed by him to the

Marietta Intelligencer:

After the great worth of Petroleum had been discovered in Pennsylvania, and it had been found as practicable to bore for oil as for salt, attention was directed to the oil springs and salt wells producing oil in this vicinity.

Our geological formation is entirely different from that of Northern Pennsylvanis, where the first oil wells were bored. The where the first on wens were bored. The latter is the Waverly and atone series, and is vertically a thousand or fifteen hundred feet lower than the upper carboniferous rocks in which we find the oil here. rocks are thought now to be yielding three thousand barrels per day, while the carboni-ferous formation, which is rapidly being dereforms formation, which is rapidly being developed, now gives perhaps twelve or fifteen hundred barrels. It is possible that oil will be found all over the western part of our great Appalachian coal fields. I hear of new oil springs in various directions, almost every day. This would indicate that the conditions essential to the generation of oil have been present over a large area. These conditions essential to the generation of oil have been present over a large area. These con-ditions are not completely understood, and yet we are rapidly accumulating data for scientific conclusions. We are warranted in the belief that the oils are the product of distillation, at very low temperature, from coal and bituminous slates. The oil in the Waverly sand-rocks is, without doubt, produced from underlying bituminous shales which are very thick. This process of distillation, or vaporization, is doubtless going on at the present time though slowly. The vapor rising from the bituminous strata enters every possible crevice, and bubbling up through the water in those crevices, is partly condensed into oil, which floats upon the water, and partly remains uncondensed in the form of inflam-This process of distillation, or vapo remains uncondensed in the form of inflammable gas. As the process goes on, more and more oil is formed, and more and more gas is pent up in the space over the oil. If the fasure has an outlet the gas will escape, and the water, as it oirculates through the earth, will bring out through the outlet more or less oil. The whole tendency of the oil is upward. The vapor which forms it rises, and the subterranean waters lift it up. I have found oil springs on steep side hills a hundred feet above the valley below. Hence, as a general thing, we should expect the oil at greater or less elevations above the biteminous strata from which it is produced.

If the position be true, that the oil is condensed from vapor generated from the coal and other bituminous strata, it becomes a matter of importance to know under what circumstance the oil may be accumulated in large quantities. If there were no fissures whatever in the rocks, if all overlying strata, quantities. If there were no fissures wh ever in the rocks, if all overlying strats, and especially the more compact and impervious clay shales had limestones, were perfectly firm and unbroken, we should expect to find no cil; indeed, under such circumstantical in the control of the con ces, the oil vapor could hardly be form all, there being no room for expansion on the other hand, the rock is tull of fis we should except the oil to accumulate slowly in them. To what extent the rocks of Washington county contain such fissures, it is impossible to determine beforehand.

There are evidences of a geological disturbance in the form of an uplift on both Chia river at Newport. This nides of the Ohio river at Newport. This disturbance can be traced up Cow Creek, Virginia, and on south for thirty or forty miles, to the great wells on Little Kanawha. In some places along this line the rocks are inclined at an angle of fifty degrees with the horizon. It is a little remarkable that at so many points on this line the oil is found, viz., at the Burning Spring (Rathhone's) on the Little Kanawha. Spring (Rathbone's) on the Little Kanawha, Wirt County, Virginia; on Hughes river, at Petroleom, where there are several paying place, where there are strong oil springs and at Newell's Run, Ohio, where gas and oil springs are tound, and some superior oil has been obtained. Where the strata are dislocated there are of course more fissures and crevices in which the oil may be accu-mulated. But it should be borne in mind that no well is inexhaustible. No fissure can endure the drain of a steam pump for a very long time. There must, of necessity, be a diminution of supply. There are no great reservoirs of oil, no subterranean lakes which may afford an almost indefinite supply of the precious fluid. There is no evidence that the oil is found anywhere except in crevices, which are more or less vertical. Where several wells are in the same neighborhood, it would be unusual to find them "striking oil" at the same depth below the surface. I know of a productive below the surface. I know of a productive well twenty-three feet deep, near another productive one which is over two hundred feet deep. Of course, then, there can be no such thing as a specialoil rock or stratum. The oil is in fissures, which may be found in every kind of rock. We sometimes hear men who have bored wells in the Northern Penusylvania oil region. in the Northern Pennsylvania oil region. speak very positively of our rocks, and declare the exact depth, and in what peculiar kind of rock, we may find the oil here in the Coal Measures. All such claims are idle, because it is impossible to reason analogically between two entirely distinct groups of rocks which lie fifteen feetapart in vertical distances. There is with us, in this oil region, no oil rock. You may "strike oil" thirty feet down, or athree hundred feet down. Nor. again, can anything be determined beforehand from the form or proximity of the hills. Some would bore at the entrance of a side valley, others at the point of hills. Some would bore at the entrance of a side valley, others at the point of a bold, high hill. Both are right if they happen to strike an oil fissure, and wrong if they do not. Some, again, having found a fissure from which oil exudes, would begin to bore in the top of the fissure. This is a doubtful policy, for all cracks deviate more or less from a perpendicular line, and a well bored perpendicularly would be sure to lose the fissure.

Again: little can be learned from oil springs in regard to the quantity of oil below the surface. A comparatively small fasure with little oil in it, if there be much water to force up the oil, might make quite a show of oil, while a large fissure nearly filled with oil might have no outlet whatever. An oil spring is of no value except to show in that locality the conditions essential to the generation of oil have been great. The quantity of oil can only be learned from actual experiment. If the Cotton States consider the value of the Union debatable, we maintain their perfect right to discuss it. Nay, we hold with Jefferson to the inalienable right of communities to alter or abolish forms of government that have become oppressive or injurious; and if the Cotton States shall become satisfied that they can do better out of the Union than in it, we insist on letting them go in peace. The right to secede may be a revolutionary one, but it exists nevertheless; and we do not see how one party can have a right to do what another party has a right to prevent. We must ever resist the asserted right of any State to remain in the Union and nullify or dely the laws thereof; to withdraw from the Union is quite an other matter. would have saved Virginia and her neighboring States. But the war policy-good and d when foreign foes trespass upon our right—is not sound policy when applied to ou own people and among the States of the Union. It drives them to desperation. We have never justified the act of secession. the first of May. The Adjutant General of But we can find no authority conferred upon that State calls for 30,000 volunteers. the Federal Government to coerce seceding States back into the Union. We say, then, the true policy was to let the seven Cotton aceably, and work out their own destiny, if they could not be induced to remain. Then the eight border slave States, of power and influence and importance to the Union, would have remained, and we should have progressed in wealth and greatness as a Nation. But the war policy, it is now evident, is to put quite a different face upon the matter. The people are to be trained to arms_the resources of the country absorbed in war-the business of New England to receive a shock that will be felt in our villages and by every family. All this we look upon with pain and horror. For this, and for these views, our Abolition neighbor must differ from him. We know that the declares that "our course is treasonable." It is not only just, but humane. esmen of the past have always set tled the internal difficulties of the Nation by peaceful concessions, and we say it is a fatal error for our country and our people to inaugurate a different policy now, and baptise it in the blood of our brethren. Let the people calmly reflect. What have they to gain by holding any States in subjection, by force of arms, if they can? And do they count the difficulties, the loss of life, and the cost of marching armies into the South, to mbst with climate as well as with armies. when there is no prospect of achieving any practical result ? It is said that when Mayor Brown of Baltimore remonstrated with Lincoln against sending any more troops through that city, Lincoln told him if the Governor of any State wanted to send any troops through Maryland they could, and that he should take no measures whatever to interfere with the progress of troops from the loyal States to the federal capital, and issue no orders of countermand.

It is said that all the nipples and ha of arms at Harper's Ferry were safely re moved before the fire

John Bell, Balie Peyton, and other pron inent citizens of Tennessee, have issued as address to the people. They approve of the refusal to send troops in answer to the Presdent's proclamation, declare that the Stat should resist any attempt to overrun and subjugate the revolutionary States, and that the present duty of Tennessee is to arm and hold a neutral position, or, as they say, oppose the enemies of the Union, North and South. They recommend a conference of the slaveholding States yet in the Union.

In contradiction of the report which ha prevailed for some days past, that General Beauregard is in the neighborhood of Washington, preparing for the contemplated attack on that place, we have a dispatch from Philadelphia stating that a gentleman has arrived in that city who left Charleston on Thursday of last week, who says that General Beauregard was then in Charleston, superintending the repair of Fort Sumter, in anticipation of an immediate attack by the government. This gentleman is reported as representing that there had, up to the time he left Charleston, been no movements of troops northward from there, and that none were likely soon to be despatched.

No reliable intelligence with regard to the reported taking of Fort Pickens by the revolutionists is yet received. The whole thing is probably a sensation rumor.

Fort Smith, Ark., has been taken poss of by the State forces, under command of ex-Senator Borland. The igarrison of the fort at the time it surrendered numbered three hundred men.

General Ransom who has recently left North Carolina, reports that every federal post in that State has been taken. At Fayetteville Arsenal seventy thousand stand of arms were captured, including twenty-eight thousand of the most approved pattern.

General Scott has issued an order extend ing the Military Department of Washington to include, in addition to the District of Columbia and Maryland, the States of Delaware and Pennsylvania, and placed it under the command of Major General Patterson. Troops are to be posted along the railroad from Wilmington to Washington.

The communication by rail between Anna polis and Washington has been opened, and is now guarded by troops.

It is stated that a blockade of Baltimor has been ordered. The frigate Constitution has been ordered up from Aunapolis to the mouth of the Patapsco for that purpose.

Arkansas is "swinging" out of the Union s fast as she possibly can. Her Governor is hurrying up things rapidly. The flag of the Confederate States is now flying over Fort Smith, and Solen Borland commands there for Jefferson Davis, instead of Capt. Montgomery for the United States. The value of the property thus seized is about three hundred thousand dollars.

Thomas Winans, of Baltimore, has tendera loan of half a million of dollars to be employed in arming the revolutionists of Maryland. His relative, Ross Winans, has a large iron foundry in Baltimore, where he employs four hundred hands in the work of producing arms, with cannon balls and grape shot for the same purpose.

WAR NEWS, &c.

Among the passengers which sailed in the steamer Persia for England was J. F. Morse, of Maine, and agent of New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, to purchase arms for those States.

The First Regiment of Connecticut volunteers has been filled up, and sent into camp at New Haven, to await orders.

The Second Regiment of Connecticut vol unteers is now being mustered. As Gov. Buckingham has yet no authority from Washington to muster more than one regiment from Connecticut into service, the Second must wait and he maintained at present by the State.

Gov. Buckingham has tendered the command of the Third Regiment to Col. Rufus L. Baker, of Windham.

The Third Regiment of Connecticut volunteers is not yet full, although enough have reported to constitute it and a large part of Armed vessels now guard the harbor of

New York, between sundown and sunrise. All the steamboats of the New York and Groton line have been placed at the disposal of the Government.

Gov. Morgan has issued a proclamation calling for the additional regiments authorized by the recent act of the Legislature of New York.

The First New Jersey Regiment are under orders to leave to-day.

R. F. Loveridge, editor of the Trov (N Y.) News, a Democratic paper, who had his office mobbed, and was driven from the city, fled to Toronto, Canada, and is now there. Vermont has appropriated one million of dollars for military purposes.

The Governor of Michigan has called an extra session of the Legislature for May 4th. Five regiments have been offered to the Governor, and new ones are forming.

Later accounts of the revolutionary movements in New Mexico and Arizona have been received. Californians, it is said, take a live ly interest in these adjoining territories, and if the General Government makes an effort to maintain authority over them, plenty of volunteers of extreme political views, favorable to each section of the Union, will be ready to emigrate South, and participate in the chances for another Kansas turmoil.

The loss by the burning of the Gosport Navy Yard, Virginia, was about $50,-000,000. Eleven vessels were scuttled and burned. Some of them, it is stated, were in sailing condition, and could have been taken to a place of safety in a few hours. The revolutionists had no means of successfully contending against the Government at this point. The question now arises, why were those ships, which were in sailing order, deproclamation calling the Legislature togeth- stroyed? Why waste $50,000,000 of United States property unnecessarily? No good reason has as yet been given-no good reason probably will be.

It would appear from the most reliable and latest dispatches received from the South, that Jefferson Davis still remains at Montgomery; Gen. Beauregard at Charleston; and that no Southern troops whatever have left the South for Virginia. If these reports are correct, the ones who threw the whole North into the war fever have been sold, and ought to be rather ashamed of themselves for "kicking up such a dust' over nothing. In a few days we shall be able to find out the truth in the matter. In the meantime, our advice to all is, " Keep State Legislatures have been called, to neet in extra session, as follows: Missouri, May 22d; New Jersey, April 30th; Kentucky, May 6th; Tennessee, April 25th Michigan, May 7. An election for delegates to the Border State Convention is to be held in Kantacky on the 4th of May.

We cannot doubt that the Administration intends on its part to conduct the War bedictates of humanity; for we know that the demands of humanity are always complied with in civilized warfare, so far as to protect non-combatants, and to direct the implenentsand means of death only against those who appear in hostility, armed in battle array; but the New York Courier and Enquirer, a radical Republican sheet, proposes a different mode of warfare, which the King of Dahomey would shrink from. To drown men, women and children, and incite the horrors of a negro insurrection, is Mr. Webbs programme Here is the Courier's proposition:

"In the meantime, let the levees on the Mississippi, o at once prostrated in a hundred places, while the water is high, and let the Traitors and Rebels living on the Lower high, and let the Traitors and Rebels living on the Lower Mississippi, be drowned out just as we would drown out rats infeating the hull of a ship. Nor is this all. Let he negroes in the Border States understand that all moral obligation on the part of the North to sustain the peculiar institution has ceased; and let the Traitors thus be taught at once the price of Rebellion and its legitimate fruits. "What we desire to see at once, is a call for an additional one hundred and fifty thousand volunteers from the free States, and the establishment of a land blockade of the strictest kind, extending from the Atlantic to the Mississippi,—accompanied by the flooding of the country bordering on the Lower Mississippi. Do this, and the inevitable consequences of such a state of affairs,—the extinction of Slavery in the Border States,—will soon bring the Rebels to their senses."

Any man who advances and advocates such plans as these has no right to claim that he is a human being. The evil one himself could not devise more infamous schemes. If the war is to be waged in this fiendish spirit, before it is over, the soil of our country will be gorged with human blood. God have mercy upon our devoted land.

COMPARATIVE TARIFFS OF THE UNITED STATES .- Mr. J. Smith Homans, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, and W. B. Dana, Attorney at Law, editors of the " Merchants' Magazine and Commercial Review," New York, have prepared for that work, and published also in a pamphlet form, the New Tariff of the United States, adopted March, 1861, to which is appended, for the first time, an alphabetical index of all articles, showing the comparative rates of duty according to the Tariffs of the years 1842, 1846, 1857 and 1861, thus showing, at a glance, the contrast in each article, the rise or the fall in the duty at each date ; to which is also added "A History of each Tariff from 1789 to 1861," showing who were the prominent men in Congress who advocated or opposed each tariff. The views are given, in a condensed form, of General Hamilton, Messrs. Madison and Jefferson; Ingham, Wright, Buchanan, Stevenson of Pennsylvania; Pickens, Webster, Dwight Davis, of Massachusetts; Randolph, of Virginia; Clay, of Kentucky; Foote, of Connecticut ; Mallory and Collamer, of Vermont ; Cambreling and Silas Wright, of New York: Mitchell and Burgess, of Rhode Island; to renew the oath of allegiance to the United Calhoun, Drayton, Hayne and Hamilton, of South Carolina; Wilde, of Georgia and other prominent statesmen. To which are also added, I. A Table showing the Duties levied by each Tariff since 1789, upon nine leading heads of imports. II. A Tabular View of not specially poisoned whiskey, such as is the Votes (by States) on each Tariff from 1789 to 1861. III. New Commercial Regulations of the United States. The whole in a pamphlet of 120 pages, octavo. Price fifty cents. This is the only statistical and historical arrangement of the Tariff ever publish-

Everybody who looks at matters in their right light wants peace. Let us have peace! With peace comes prosperity.

If is an encouraging circumstancebut no more than might have been expected -that the New York papers generally, with a few old fogy exceptions, are deeply immersed in the practical business of carrying on the war, each one according to a programme of its own. This certainly must remove a heavy load from the shoulders of Lincoln's Cabinet and Gen. Scott. What a Volcano can Do.—Cotopaxi, in 1738, threw its fiery rockets 3,000 feet above its crater, while in 1744 the blazing mas struggling for an outlet, roared so that its awful voice was heard at a distance of more than 600 miles. In 1797, the crater of Tunguarague, one of the great peaks of the An-des, flung out torrents of mud, which dammed up the rivers, opened new lakes, and in val-leys of a thousand feet wide, made deposits of six hundred feet deep. The stream from Vessuvius, which, in 1737, passed through Torre deliGreco, contained 33,600,000 cubic feet of solid matter; and in 1794, when Torre the del Greco was destroyed a second time, the mass of lava amounted to 45,000,000 cubic feet. In 1676, Etna poured forth a flood which covered eighty-four square miles of surface, and measured nearly 100,000,000 cubic feet. On this occasion the sand and scorize formed the Monte Rossi near Nicoosi, a cone two miles in circumference and

The stream thrown out by Etna in 1810, was in motion, at the rate of a yard per day, for nine months after the eruption ; and it is on record that lava of the same mountain, after a terrible eruption, was not thoroughly cooled and consolidated ten years after the event. In the eruption of Vesuvius, A. D., 1779, the scorize and ashes vomited forth far exceeded the entire bulk of the mountain; while in 1660, Etna disgorged more than twenty times its own mass. Vesuvius has thrown its ashes far as Constantinople, Syria, and Egpt; incled stones eight pounds in weight to Poin, and distance of six miles, while similar masses were tossed up 2,000 feet above its summit. Cotopaxi has projected a block of 100 cubic yards in volume a distance of nine miles, and Sumdawa, in 1815, during the most terrible eruption on record, during the most terrible eruption on record, ent its ashes far as Java, a distance of 300 miles of surface, and out of a population of 12,000 souls only twenty escaped.—Recrea-

MESSRS. HENRY P. WILSON & Co.—My wise is now using your Regenerator for the hair, and pronounces it far superior to anything abe ever used for the hair. It is eastly applied does not soil in the least—has no disagreeable odor, increase the growth of hair, prevents its falling off, and often cures the headache. I forward you this certificate unsolicited, because I think an article that will do what your Hair Regenerator will, should be widely known. I think it is the best article for the hair now in use. Respectfully, &c.,

NOVEMBER.—MESSES. HENRY P. WILSON & CO.: I have used your Hair Regenerator and Hair Dressing, and avey received great benefit from them. I deem the articles worth of high commendation, and cheerfully recommend them to all who want to restore gray hair to its original color, or to any who are troubled with dandroff, or a disagreeable itching of the head, or humors, or to those whose hair is falling from the head.

REV. G. W. H. CLARK, Great Falls, N. H. MESSRS. HENRY P. WILSON & CO.: I deem Mrs. Wilson Hair Regenerator and Hair Dressing the standard articles all hair preparations. I have, in many instruces, known the to restore the hair where it had fallen off, remove dandru restore the hair to its original color, cure entirely the mpainful headsches—and in some instances most serious h mors. Personally, I have been a sharer in several of the benefits.

MRS. WILSON'S COCOA-NUT OIL
HAIR DRESSING.

Mrs. Wilson's Hair Dressing is put up in large bottles, and retails for 57 cents per bottle, and for dressing the hair of any person, young or old, there is not its equal in the world. It will make the hair everything you wish it to be, and moreover, it has a perfume that is infinitely superior to any of the fashlonable extracts, either foreign or American, which alene should entitle it to a place on every lady's toilet table.

Use the Regenerator before retiring at night, and in the morning apply a little of the Dressing, and your hair will be wen more lifelike in color and besure preparations, and us hese according to directions, and we warrant you a good hese secording to directions, and we want to the head of hair.

THE VALUE OF GOOD HEALTH cannot be over estimated, and no netter legacy can be transmitted from parent to offspring than a sound and robust constitution. What are honors and distinction without health? what are riches without the capacity to enjoy the blessings of life? These thoughts are not apt to suggest themselves to any of us, until, enfeebled by sickness, we look about for some means of recovery. To all troubled with that dread disorder Consumption, Bronchite, Asthma, or any form of Lang or Throat complaint we can confidently recommend DR. O. PHELP'S BROWN'S great remedy the ACACIAN BALSAM. Its effects surpuss, in healing qualities, all conception. It is the only medicine in the world, that, by its combination of rare ingredients, eilminates an electric power which, selzing upon the nerves, the stomach, the lungs, the heart, the brain, e.c., infuses additional vital force into every organ, and by the renewed action and energy itms obtained, expels all morbid influences from the body, produces a reaction which checks diseases, and produces even in the worst cases, a restoration to parfect health, in a short time. The ACACIAN BALSAM is sold at $2 per large bottle, and may be obtained of THATER $45PEVENS, No. 28 State street, Sole Agenta, who have also a number of specimen bottles, price 25 cents.
