A UNION MAN. Mr. Prentice of the Louisville Journal, recently wrote to his brother in Washington, expressing the opinion that Kentucky will go out of the Union, but asserts his determination to die in his tracks before he will surrender his position as a Union man or desert his business.

But Prentice is a very different sort of Union man from the Abolition Republican who conducts the Standard—and his opinion that Kentucky will go out of the Union is founded upon the despotic policy developed in the first war proclamation of the President. In commenting upon that document, he says:— "We are struck with mingled amazement and indignation; they announced in the proclamation a desecration of the sacredness of every American citizen. It is a policy utterly hair-brained and ruinous."

As the Standard has eagerly paraded the announcement of Prentice's determination to die battling for the Union, can it, in justice to him and to its own readers, refuse to publish his denunciations of the President and his war proclamation. Mark his words:— "The policy announced in the proclamation deserves the unqualified condemnation of every American citizen. It is unworthy, not merely of a statesman, but of a man. It is a policy utterly hair-brained and ruinous."

So says Prentice. But again, he says:—"If Mr. Lincoln contemplated this policy in his inaugural address, he is a guilty dissemler; if he conceived it under the excitement raised by the seizure of Fort Sumter, he is a guilty hotspur. In either case, he is miserably unjust for the exalted position in which the enemies of the country have placed him." Yes!—"Enemies of the country." Those are his words; and the words of Mr. Prentice, whom the Standard quotes approvingly as a death-determined Union man—and we may add, a man of ten-fold more ability, intellectually and politically, than Mr. Lincoln ever was or ever will be.

The events of every day, since the issue of that proclamation, proves the justness of his language; that "the policy announced, is utterly hair-brained and ruinous, and deserves the condemnation of every American citizen." Every hour since that day, the condition of things has gone on rapidly from bad to worse. Kentucky, then battling nobly, through her great men of all parties, for the Union, was hurled by it from her patriotic position, and thrown irresistibly into the line of secession. So was Virginia. Mr. Bots, well known, not only as a Union man, but as an outspoken Republican, says, in his letter to the Richmond to Mr. Bates:—"Before this, a year will have passed since the peace all has occurred at Norfolk and at this place; but I cannot say that we have any more Union men in this country, not only here, but throughout the whole South, by the proclamation of the 15th, which, in my opinion, has done more to destroy the Union than any other measure emanating from the Government. In the absence of that paper, the State could not have been carried out of the Union, with it, the Union party in this feeling, has been almost entirely swept out of existence. You cannot meet one man in a thousand who is not laboring with the question of secession, and who regards the proclamation as a declaration of war for the subjugation of the entire South, and for the extermination of the colored race."

Proclaiming the same was the effect in North Carolina, in Tennessee, in Arkansas, and in Missouri—in each of which an overwhelming majority of the people were opposed to secession, but were forced at once, by that proclamation, to accept it as the only remedy left to save themselves and their brethren in the neighboring States from being overwhelmed by Executive usurpation and by military despotism. Never, never, since the world began, was a measure so disastrous to the well-being and to the cherished hopes of a people, attempted by those entrusted with the administration of their public affairs. A dagger, thrust into the heart of the nation, could not have been more deadly in its effects. We know over these revolted States with an army, and subjugate the people, or visit them with utter extermination." Subjugate or exterminate seven millions of people! The thought is a criminal one. The men who talk thus are crazy—have no rational conception of the principles upon which our government is founded, and no just knowledge of the character of the people with whom they propose thus to deal. Subjugate them! So said the haughty Lord North, of the Colonies; so said the powerful King of Great Britain:—"We have a right to tax them in all cases whatsoever; and if they resist, we will subjugate them." The people did resist, in spite of the vastness of the odds against them; and none were more determined in that resistance than the people of Virginia, of the Carolinas, and of Georgia, poor and feeble as they then were. The threatened subjugation was attempted; its projectors not doubting that it would be successful. Proclamations were issued denouncing the colonists as rebels and traitors; troops were quartered in the principal towns of those sections which took the lead against the obnoxious measures of the Government; their ports were blockaded. Every scheme that ingenuity and power could suggest was adopted to distress them, to break their spirit, and finally to bring them into submission to a relinquishment of their constitutional rights. They were thus reduced to a helpless and unequal state. What a lesson! Why, the crazy British discovered that he had been digging out his own bowels and digging the same from his own body. And, instead of subjugating the people, he was himself destroyed.

The effects of the Morrill tariff are beginning to stink out. Forty ships and barges, at New York, from European ports, came in ballast. The Government is receiving little or nothing from the revenue. The bill was originated by a Republican. Republicans do not appear to be very good hands in managing the "ship of State."

The latest advice from St. Louis states that all is quiet. Probably the calm is like that which precedes the outbreak of the storm or the eruption of the volcano.

forced to submit to a relinquishment of all right of sovereignty over them, and to an acknowledgment of their freedom and independence. So true is it, that "the race is not to the swift nor the battle to the strong"—but "thrice armed is he who hath his quarrel just."

We have given above what Mr. Prentice, a Union man, said of the President's war proclamation. We now invite the attention of Republicans to what he said on another subject—we mean the nullification law of this State; a law, (in connection with others of a similar character in other Northern States,) that has done more than can be easily estimated towards "strengthening the hands of the secessionists" and bringing about the disruption of our Union. Speaking of this law, he said:—"The statute is monstrous. It not only strikes at the Constitution of the United States, but at the established principles of evidence, and all the rules of procedure in the courts of justice. It makes every person who may allege that any colored man in Connecticut is or was a slave, a prima facie criminal, and provides that he shall pay a fine of five thousand dollars and be imprisoned at hard labor for five years in the Connecticut penitentiary, unless he shall prove by at least two credible witnesses that his allegation is true. No deposition being admitted as evidence."

The General Assembly of Connecticut has passed this law with the avowed design of nullifying the fugitive slave law, together with that section of the United States Constitution which prescribes the surrender of fugitive slaves escaping into non-slaveholding States. Connecticut has no more right to enact such a law than she has to enact a law that every white citizen of any State, on coming within her limits, shall be held prima facie a highway robber, a burglar, or a horse thief, and be arrested and sent to the penitentiary as such, unless he shall have at his side a dozen or a score of "credible witnesses" to prove his innocence. This new law is an infinitely greater indignity to the members of the present Legislature of Connecticut, than the old "blue laws" were to their fathers.

Gentlemen Republicans: You who are talking so loudly about pledging your honor, your property, and your lives in maintaining the Union; we say, gentlemen Republicans, thus it is that you stand upon the record before your country; thus it is that you have for years been tramping upon the bond of our Union; and this tramping upon the National Bond by yourself and the neighboring States, is the very first fact that is alleged in the South Carolina Declaration in justification of her secession from the Union. How can you meet her on such an issue? There stands the record, and all the waters of the ocean cannot wash it out—cannot remove it. And with this mark of broken faith, this brand of disloyalty to the Union stamped upon your brows, you talk to your Southern brethren about faithfulness to the Constitution, and propose to fight them into submission to your violations of the compact. We say, gentlemen, pause before you strike; pause long enough, at least, to repair the breach first made in the Constitution by your own hands.

Messrs. E. Birdsey & Co. One of the finest flag staffs in this place has just been erected over the mammoth dry goods store of Messrs. E. Birdsey & Co., No. 282 Main street. The flag which floats from its top is a beautiful one. Messrs. B. & Co. take the lead in this particular, not only of their competitors in business, but also of every one else. Speaking of this firm, reminds us of another fact concerning them worthy of notice. A few days since they announced a "great reduction in the price of dry goods" at their establishment. Announcements of this kind, when made by Messrs. E. Birdsey & Co., mean just as they read; they do not make such announcements for the mere purpose of getting people into their store—but they say just what they intend and nothing else. This is the right way to do business. The public then know what to depend upon. The public know when Messrs. Birdsey & Co. announce a great reduction in the price of dry goods at their establishment, there is no humbug about it—but that there is a great reduction in reality. The course pursued by Messrs. E. B. & Co., in marking down the prices of the whole of their immense stock, has not only filled their store with crowds of customers daily—but it has also given all who have purchased goods at that place great bargains; bargains that cannot be obtained elsewhere. There is no mistake on this point, for those who buy goods at this place say so—and they certainly ought to know. We would here take occasion to state that the stock of all kinds of Dry Goods, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Paper Hangings, &c., to be found at Messrs. E. Birdsey & Co.'s is the largest stock kept in any store in the State. Goods of every shade, style, and price, can here be found—from the cheapest calico to the richest and most fashionable silks. In conclusion we would say to our readers—one and all—if you want any article in the Dry Goods, Carpet, Oil Cloth, or Paper Hanging line, go to Messrs. E. Birdsey & Co.'s, No. 282 Main street. You will be sure to find everything you desire at that place, and you can also there obtain them at lower prices than you can obtain elsewhere. Give Birdsey & Co. a call, before you make your purchases.

We are glad always to record any well deserved complaint for our neighbors and friends. Henry Buckingham, Esq., for some years past has been the proprietor of the City Hotel, and has made for himself a host of friends in all parts of the State. His rooms are airy and pleasant, his table well supplied with all the substantial and delicate dishes of the season, and guests find all their wants attended to and wishes anticipated.

WASHINGTON AND SOUTHERN NEWS. It being understood that the revolutionary States have made proffers to purchase vessels in England and other European countries, the administration has notified the diplomatic corps that no such purchase will be respected, no matter under what flag the vessels may sail. The diplomatic corps has also been notified that if any Commissioner, or Minister, from the revolutionary States be received by any European power the government will not hesitate to break off all diplomatic relations with such power, will recall the United States Minister at such Court, and will dismiss the representative of that power resident in Washington.

The evacuation of some of the forts in the West by United States troops recently, which created some surprise, is now accounted for by the fact that the War Department, on the 17th of April, issued orders to the commanders of Fort Smith, Arkansas, and Fort Gibson, Cobb and Washita, to withdraw the garrisons and revenue, with all the movable government property, to Fort Leavenworth, at the same time ordering these forts to be occupied by the Kansas volunteers.

A gentleman who has arrived in New York from Virginia states that several of the counties represented in the Union Convention at Wheeling, will not sustain its action. He also says that every county in the State except two or three, has furnished or offered to furnish volunteer companies in obedience to the call of the Governor. There are one hundred and fifty-four counties in the State. It is stated that large numbers of Southern troops are being concentrated at Harper's Ferry. Their position there is said to be very strong—and the fortifications are being strengthened daily.

GOV. ANDREW AND GEN. BUTLER. The reported offer of Gen. Butler's services to put down an apprehended slave insurrection near Annapolis, seems to have displeased the Governor of Massachusetts, John A. Andrew. This functionary writes to General Butler that he (Andrew) "is especially pleased with all that the General has done except this, which he can but believe the telegraph has misrepresented. He regards the matter solely from a military point of view, and believing that the liability to slave insurrection is one of the weaknesses of the enemy, he suggests that it is the duty of a good general to take advantage of the same. Maryland he assumes to be the public enemy, and therefore not within the limits of military protection."

To this arrangement the General replies that the telegraph, for once, was correct in informing the Governor of his offer. He considers it his duty, in honorable warfare, to do as he did; and adds that in the future, when any community which has met him in honorable warfare, or even in rebellious warfare—honorably conducted—asks his services to suppress a servile insurrection, he shall be ready, for, looking at the subject purely in a military point of view, he shall consider any enemy already subjugated when it shall claim any such protection. Maryland, he informs the Massachusetts Governor, is not in a state of revolution but is a member of the Union. When he landed, Gov. Hicks gave him assurances, which subsequent events have fully sustained, of the loyalty of the State, and that functionary, and the corporate authorities of Annapolis, expressed fears only of a mob of insurgents from Baltimore.

Governor Andrew, of Massachusetts, seems to be a believer in the doctrine put forth in some of the newspapers, that slave insurrections ought to be promoted now.

The United States squadron lying off Fort Pickens are enforcing a rigorous blockade, by preventing vessels from New Orleans and Mobile landing provisions for the revolutionary army, these being the only points from which their supplies have been received for a long time.
