the United States, respectfully report:—
That the truthful and able narration of the fac and principles involved in the contest between the Confederate States and the United States, which the President's message contains, constitutes a vin-dication of the course of the Confederate States which ought to satisfy the world of the justice of their cause. But all who propose to change the general order of things amongst nations, stand at disadvantage. They are looked upon as assailing the peace of the world, and hence those who break up a long established government, and affect thereby the interests of other nations, owe it to them, as well as themselves, to make the justification of their course as complete as possible. The contest between the Confederate and United States is not merely a contest of war. Wars too often deter-mine nothing, but which nation is the strongest or mine nothing, but which nation is the strongest or bravest. This contest is a contest for constitutional government, in which the interests of all mankind are concerned. Your committee therefore propose, on the wide subject committed to them, briefly to present some views in support of the President's position, which may not be useless in elucidating the relations between the Confederate and the United States.

The real issue involved in the relations between the North and the South of the American States, is the great principle of self-government. Shall a the great principle of self-government. Shall a dominant party of the North rule the South, or shall the people of the South rule themselves? This is the great matter in controversy. After the large of sightraform reaches lapse of eighty-four years this party of the North set up the same pretension the British Parliament ed over our ancestors in 1776. As the British crown contended that the British Parliament was omnipotent in its legislation over the colonies, so the Northern people now contend that the Congress of the United States, through their majority, is omnipotent in its legislation over the South. Whilst the North—the stronger section of the Union—was not united in using its name in Congress the not united in using its power in Congress the Southern people tolerated the Union with them. Although a sectional minority, they were not necessarily ruled by the majority section, however despotic were its principles, until that section became united in the use of its sectional power. That Union was effected in the late Presidential That Union was effected in the late Presidential election. On the fiscal operations of the government in the laying and the expenditure of the taxes, they were previously not sufficiently united completely to rule the South. The party weight of the South and the ability and skill of its public men kept them at bay, whilst the people of the Northwest, being like the people of the South, an agricultural people, were generally opposed to the protective tariff policy—the grand sectionalising instrumentality of the North. They were allies of the South to defeat this policy. Hence it has been only partially and occasionally successful. To make it complete, and to render the North omnipotent to rule the South, the division in the North must be healed. To accomplish this object, and to sectionalize the North, the agitation concerning African slavery in the South was commenced. This institution was purely sectional, belonging to the South. Antagonism to it in the North must also be sectional. The agitation would unite the South against the North, as much as it united the North against the South; but the North being the stronger section, would sain power by the agitation. Accordingly, after as much as it united the North against the North, as much as it united the North against the South; but the North being the stronger section, would gain power by the agitation. Accordingly, after the overthrow of the tariff of 1828, by the resistance of South Carolina in 1833, the agitation concerning the institution of African slavery in the South was immediately commenced in the Congress of the United States. It was taken up by the Legislatures of the Northern States, and upon one pretext or another, in and out of Congress, it has been pursued from that day to the fall of 1860, when it ended in the election of a President and Vice President of the United States by a purely sectional support. The great end was at last obtained, of a united North to rule the South. The first fruit the sectional despotism thus elected produced was the tariff lately passed by the Congress of the United States. By this tariff the protective policy is renewed in its most odious and oppressive forms, and the agricultural States are made tributaries to the manufacturing States. It has revived the system of specific duties, by which the cheaper the system of specific duties, by which the che an article becomes from the progress of art, or the superior skill of foreign manufacturers, the higher is the relative tax it imposes. Specific duties is the expedient of high taxation to enforce its collection. This tariff illustrates the oppressive policy of the North towards the South, and abounds in high taxation by specific duties. It is a war on the foreign commerce of the country, in which the Southern people are chiefly interested. Exclusively an agricultural people, it is their policy to purchase the manufactured commodities they need in the cheapest markets. These are amongst to purchase the manufactured commodities they need in the cheapest markets. These are amongst the nations of Europe, who consume five-sixths of the agricultural productions of the South. The late tariff passed by the Congress of the United States was designed to force the Southern people, by prohibitory duties, to consume the dearer manufactured commodities of the North, instead of the cheaper commodities of the European nations. factured commodities of the North, instead of the cheaper commodities of the European nations. What is this but robbery? Does it not take from one citizen or section and give to another? The foreign trade of the United States has always been carried on by our agricultural productions. Our exports are the basis of the imports of the United States. Upon what principle of justice or of the constitution have the people of the North intervened between us and our natural customers, and forced us by the use of the federal government-laying prohibitory duties on the production of foreign nations—to consume their productions? Shall we not have the right to deal directly with those who consume our agricultural productions, and who consume our agricultural production who in return can supply us with their of manufactured commodities! If foreign natio sell us cheaper their manufactured commodities, in consequence of their greater cheapness—can they not afford to give us more for our cotton? And we pay less for their manufactured commodities are we not so much the richer by the trade? This are we not so much the richer by the drawler tariff alone would have been ample cause freeparation of the Southern from the North States. The reign of sectional oppression and ranny anticipated by the seceding States is inaugurated at Washington by the passage of

It may be supposed, by those who have not attentively considered the history of the past, that the constitution of the United States should be a the sectional omnipotence claimed by barrier to the sectional omnipotence the North in the administration of the of the United States. Undoubtedly the tion does not authorise the assumption ers claimed by the Northern States. It was ers claimed by the Northern States. It was established on the principle of non-intervention by the general government as to all local or sectional interests whatever. Its framers were perfectly aware of the essential difference between the States composing the United States, in climate, productions and pursuits of industry. There was but one way that different people with such various interests could live free and harmoniously under one government. All local or sectional interests must be left to the exclusive governance of the people to whom they belonged, and only such general interests abould be committed to the control of a common government as would make all equal and equally they belonged, and only such general should be committed to the control of a committed government as would make all equal and eg protected in their exercise. Any policy, there which is local or sectional in its operations which is local or sectional in its operations. which is local or sectional in its operation from the very nature of the Constitution, be stitutional. If this great principle of the tution had been observed, there would have no serious divisions or contests among the of the United States. The interest of one of the Union was the interest of all, in the exercised by the general government. I sectional majority could not union. Differently policy in carrying out the provisions of the tution would be common to all sections.

Hed Washington's Farewell Address appeared as an original document any time during the last ten years, the Tribune would have scouted its union-loving sentiments, and have made them the but of its jeers. A FEW WORDS TO REPUBLICANS. Gentlemen-it cost Great Britain seven years' war, powerful in armies and powerful in navy as she was, with hosts of paid-for Hessians to help, to reach a conclusion you ought to be able to reach without that expense—the conclusion that three millions only of free people could not be conquered, degraded, or governed by force.

The eleven States that have already joine the Southern Confederacy number in population more than double the States England tried to conquer; are armed much better; are much better organized; and are every way better quallified than our ancestors were to carry on a war.

If you wish to re-unite with the Southern States again, you must re-unite with them ceably—you can never conquer them. And before you talk to them of their revolution, you had better yourselves stop rebelling against the decisions of the Supreme Court, and obey the Constitution of the United States as expounded by the Courts.

If you do not wish to re-unite with the South peaceably, and are still deluded with the idea that you can conquer them into submission; just remember that you cannot do in peace; part with them as brethren should Book of books says "Blessed are the peacemakers:" but it no where pronounces a blessing on those who like Beecher are in favor of civil war "redder than blood."

The Hartford Times, in speaking of the late high-handed movement of Attorney-General Bates in ordering all the private telegraphic dispatches sent off since the first of December to be be seized, remarks thus: Such an arbitrary movement as this, by the Attorney-General, without authority of law, or any reasonable probability of resulting in any benefit to the country—indeed in violation of private and corporate rights under State laws, and invading that confidence which all persons believe to be held secred, can hardly be justified by any law-abiling citizen, who regards the Constitutional rights of the community in which he lives.

The office of the Parkersburgh News, in Western Virginia, has been demolished by some of the friends of 'freedom and free speech' who reside in that section. This "freedom and free speech cry" according to the interpretation given it by its vaunted friends nowa-days, means to put down every press and wheat every person who is not in favor of the present unjust war-which is, according to the leading Republican presses, "a war for the extermination of slavery."

WASHINGTON LAND SOUTHERN

On Saturday various alarms were excitby the publication of dispatches from Washington, and by rumors of others received, which details were given of fighting in Alexandria, Arlington Heights, and other points. The only fact to cause all the outcry was a mere skirmish at the Federal pickets, near [Alexandria, which certainly caused a great activity in Washington. Renforcements were immediately sent [forward-They consisted of cavalry, artillery and infantry. Toward the close of the day, nothing having occurred to keep them in the field, they returned to the capital. It is almost needless to say that the publication of the mere rumors of engagements caused the utmost excitement among the relatives and friends of those who were supposed to be in danger. The report that Harper's Ferry had been attacked was equally groundless. There are about ten thousand Southern troops there, and the movement made outside of Washington is intended, doubtless, to cut them off entirely from communication with Richmond.

Reinforcements continue to be sent from Washington across the Potomac. Since Saturday the Fifth Massachusetts regiment, the Eigth New York regiment, and the First New Jersey regiment were despatched over Long Bridge. The Massachusetts men took up a position on the road to Alexandria, and the Eighth were posted on Arlington Heights near the residence of Gen. Lee. All the encampments on the Virginia side are to be placed in immediate telegraphic communication with the headquarters of Gen. Scott. It is confidently stated that no further advance of the federal troops will be made into Virginia until the fortifications now going on are completed, and the army of invasion has received the benefit of the training, discipline and experience incident to a campaign.

By the arrival of the transport steamer Philadelphia we have advices from Pensacola to the 13th and Key West to the 19th of May. The blockade at Pensacola is effectual. All vessels with foed and supplies for the Confederate forces under Gen. Bragg are cut off by sea. They were constructing a railroad so as to evade the blockade, which was to have been completed about the 15th. It is stated by one of the passengers on the Philadelphia that one of the Confederate State officers was heard to say that Gen. Bragg would not be ready to attack Fort Pickens until the 25th of June, and it was generally believed that he would abandon the attack and march North with his besieging army.

Sewall's Point which promises to become of importance in the military operations in Virginia, is not laid down on the maps in common use. It is said to be located up Hampton Roads, four miles in a right line from Fortress Monroe. It is at the point where Elizabeth Channel, the entrance to Norfolk harbor and Gosport Navy Yard, opens to the South. The channel is about eight miles long and quite narrow, and Sewall's Point consequently commands its entrance.

The vote in Clarke county, Eastern Vir. ginia, on the question of joining the Southern Confederacy, stood as follows: In favor of, 553, against 3. prepared by FLEMING BROS., that she found any relief. I gave her the contents of one bottle, which brought from he a very large quantity of worms, but they were so completely cut to pieces it was impossible to count them. My daughter is now doing well; indeed, she is completely restored to health. I therefore take pleasure in recommending it to parents. I would say, by all means keep a supply of this valuable medicine constantly in your houses. I have known many children to die auddenly from the effects of worms. It also not unfrequently happens that children are treated for croup, when the choking and coughing is caused altogether, by the irritetion of worms. Therefore, I say again, keep it always in the house; it coats but little, and may be the means of saving life; and at any rate it will save physicians bills. Ms. Lang, No. 333 Eighth street.

DISTINGUISHED ST. LOUIS PHYSICIAN WRITES ST. LOUIS, July 10th, 1860.

O. J. Wood, Esq:—Dear Sir:—Allow me the pleasure and satisfaction to transmit to you the beneficial effects of your HAIR RESTORATIVE, after a trial of years. I commenced using your Restorative in January, 1855, since which time I have not been without a bottle on hand. When I commenced the use, my hair was quite thin, and at least one-third gray. A few applications stopped its falling, and fu three weeks time there was not a gray hair to be found, neither has there been up to this time.

After my hair was completely restored, I continued its use by applying two or three times per month. My hair has ever continued healthy, soft and glossy, and my scalp perfectly free from dandruff. I do not imagine the facts above meant of the state o reputation, when there is one at nand that has been proved devond a doubt.

Apparently, some of those charlatans have not brains shough to write an advertisement, as I notice they have copied yours, word for word in several instances, merely inscribing some other name in place of yours.

I have, within the past five years, seen and talked with nere than two thousand persons that have used your prevaration with perfect success—some for baldness, gray hair, it is not the provided of the provided head, dandruff, and every disease the scalp and head are subject to. are subject to.

I called to see you personally, at your original place of business here, but learned you were now living in New York.

You are at liberty to publish this or to refer parties to me, Any communication addressed to me, care box No. 1,227, will be promptly answered. Yours truly JAS, WAITE. M. D.

WARREN SPRINGS, Perry Co., Penn., June 7, 1860.

PROF. WOOD—DEAR SIR:—I was induced more than a year ago to try your vamable HAIR RESTORATIVE, for the purpose of cleansing my head of dandruf. I had suffered withit upon my head for years, and had never been able to get anything to do me any good in removing it, although I had tried many preparations, until I saw your advertisement in a Harrisburg paper. Being there at the time, I called at Gloss & Kunkle's drug store, and bought a bottle, and now am prepared to recommend it to universal use, for it has completely remoyed all dandruf from my head, and an application once in wo weeks keeps it free from any liching or other unpleasant ness. I must also state that my hair had become quite white in places, and, by the use of your praration, has been restored to its original color. I am now 50 years of age, and although I have used two bottles of the Restorative, no one has any knowledge of it, as I allow a few gray hairs to remain, in order to have my appearance comport with my age. My head is now of less trouble to me, in keeping it clean, &c., than at any time since I was a child. I consider your preparation of great value, and, although I do not like to expose myself, I consider it my duty to say so. You can use this or any part off it in any shape you think proper, if it is worth anything to you.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., July 30, 1859.

DEAR SIR:—I hereby send you a statement that I think you are entitled to the benefit of. 1 am a resident of Bloomington, and have been for over thirty years. I am now over 50 years of age. For about twenty years past my hair has been turning considerably gray, and was almost entirely white and very stiff and unpliant. I have seen a number of certificates of the very wonderful effect of your HAIR RESTORATIVE, but supposed there was more faction than ruth in them; but entertaining a strong desire to have my hair, if possibe, restored to its original color and fineness, as it was in my lyounger days a beautiful black, I concluded I would make the experiment commencing in a small way. I purchased one of your small bottles, at one dollar, and commenced using. following directions as nearly as I could. I soon discovered the dandruff removed, and my hair, that was failing off in large quantities, was considerably tightsoon discovered the dandruff removed, and my bair, that was failing off in large quantities, was considerably tightened, and a radical change takins place in the color. I have continued to set itill I have used three of your small bottled and just begun on the fourth. I have now as pretty a hea of dark brown, or light black hair as any man, or as I had isn my youthful days, when a boy in the hills of western Virginia. My head is entirely clear of dandruff, and the hair ceased entirely falling off and is as soft and fine, and feel ar olly, as though it was just from the hands of a French cham pooer. Many of my acquaintances frequently say to me "Builer, where did you get that fine wig?" I tell them i was the effects of your Restorative. It is simeost impossible to convince them that it is the original hair of the same old gray head Yours truly, FRED. T. BUTLER.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.—We are not in the habit of puffing every new discovery, for in nine cases of ten they are quack nostrums, but we take great pleasure in recommending PROFESSOR WOOD'S article to all whose hair is falling off or turning gray. Our well-known contributor, Finley Johnson, Eaq. has experienced the benefit of its application, and joins with us in speaking of its virtues. Let all try it and bald heads will be as rare as snow in summer — Buttimore Patriot.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.—Unlike most specifics, this is proved, by unimpeachable evidence, to possess greatefficacy as a restorer of the hair to its prestine vigor. Where the head had become almost bald because of selkness, the use of this article has produced a beautiful growth of thick, glossy hair. It is therefore a valuable preparation for all classes. Its ingredients are such as to-effectually eradicate dandruff and other impurities which operate so injuriously to the hair. It also has curative properties of another description. In many cases pimples and other diafigurements of the skin disappear wherever it is used. There is no hazard attaching to the trial of this remedy, and its effects can only be beneficial, as the cumpound, if it does not cause a manifest improvement, is incapable of doing harm, as its component elements are perfectly innocuous.—Boston Transcript, April 2, 1859. WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE. - Unlike most specific

A GENUINE BOON.—In our capacity as conductor of a pub c journal, we are called upon to advertise the curealls of the ay, each of which claims to be unadulterated in its compo-tition and infallible in its curative effects, with what justice sition and infamios in its cursulve enects, with what justice we leave our readers to determine. In one instance, however,—Prof. Wood's Hair Restoratize—we are so well assured of the notable qualities of the article, that we give i our endorsement as all that its inven tor and vender claims it to be. Its effect upon a falling head of hair is universally known to be magical. Like lime or guano on exhausted land, it brings the crop wherever applied. Our own thatch is fortunately healthy, but we advise our friends with sparsely-growing hair to try the Restorative.—Columbia Spy

ALL HAIR DYES ABANDONED—Wood's GREAT ARTICLE HAS TAKEN THE FIELD.—Professor Wood stands on an eminence no chemist, whose attention has been turned to inventing a hair tonic has ever before reached. His fame is sudden but world-wide, and thousands who have worn wigs or been baid for years, are now, through the use of this preparation, wearing their own natural and luxuriant head covering. So much for chemistry, the chemistry of human life, and the laws which apply to the functions of the system. Prof. Wood studied out the human hair, its character, its properties, its diseases, and how to restore the decaying vitality of that ornament; he saw, as in his own case, that gray hair is unnatural unless the age of the individual had reached four score, and he believed that the hair could be naturally revitalized. He tried his own case—almost baid and quite gray at the age of thirty-awen, he restored his own hair in color, strength and luxuriance, and the article he did it with he gave to the world. Get WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE, and take nothing else.—New York Day Book.
