But this proclamation had something like the semblance of law to authorize it. The set of Congress of the 28th of February, 1795, authorizes him to call out the militie of the States when the execution of the laws is obstructed by combinations too powerful to be suppressed by the ordinary course of judicial proceedings. The use of the militie is, however, limited to three months; and cannot extend beyond thirty days after the commencement of the them next session of Congress. If nothing else, this shows that the law has placed this whole subject in the hands of Congress, and that the President can only act, where it is not, or has not been in the power of Congress to act. It is known that these combinations existed during nearly the whole period the last Congress was in known that these combinations existerly the whole period the last Congre coercive policy. How are no see the power of the press combinations which were in existence when Congress was in session, and which have still continued, it is unnecessary now to discuss. Another proclamation was issued on the 19th of April, in which, after reciting that letters of marque were threatened by the secoding States, he deems it adviseble to set on foot a blockade of the ports in the States aforesaid, in pursuance of the laws of the United States and the law of nations, in such case provided, and concludes by declaring such privateers pirates.

teers pirates.

If there be the semblance of authority for this movement by the most latitudinarian construction of the powers of a Constitutional President, I have been unable to perceive it. It is a gross and palpable violation of the Constitution, and a wanton usurpation of power. In the time of South Carolina nullification, it was said by the blends of President Jackson, and the papers in his interest, that he would put it down by blockading the port of Charleston, and Mr. Webster, in alluding to those reports in his speech at Worcester, Mass, said:

"The President has no authority to blockade Charles-ton; the President has no authority to employ military force till he shall be duly required to do so by law and by the civil authorities."

force till he shall be duly required to do so by law and be the civil authorities."

The fame of Mr. Webster has in no small degree been enhanced by his unanswerable arguman against nullification, yet as a Constitutional lawyer he proclaimed that the President had no authorit to blockade Charleston, and he aided in passing the force bill, limited to two years, to snable lim to dit. The law of 1795 confers upon the President his only power to act in a case like the present as that law was scrutinized and criticised by the last ers of the Republic, and framed with such causion wisdom as to prevent its being greatly abused, ers in the hands of a wicked President.

A MURDERER PROMOTED!

Gen. Jas. H. Lane, the notorious Kansas ruffian, assassin, and murderer has been appointed Brigadier General in the U.S. army. Lane always has been a willing tool wherever his services were wanted by designing Abolition Republican leaders to carry out any scheme they had concocted-no matter how villainous, or how many lives were to be sacrificed. It was his lawless acts that caused so much trouble the past few years on our Western frontier. Messrs. Lincoln. Seward & Co., could not have selected a more desperate and fitting character to assist them in carrying out their bloody plans on our Southern brethren. Lane delights in rapine and slaughter, as the following order issued by him when he was in Kansas will show: Orders No. — LAWRENCE, May —, 1858.

To Captain's Montgomery and Bayne:

1. You are hereby ordered to hang er kill every proslavery man in Southern Kansas.

2. To take and distribute all their property among the ree State settlers.

3. To capture and burn Fort Scott, and hang at least fifty o-slavery citizens.

[Signed] Jas. H. Lang,
Commander-in-Chief, Kansas Militia

Beecher says "give us war redder than blood." The Abolition Republican press says " let every Southern city be burned and let the land be laid waste." And the military despot at Washington, by putting such men as Lane in high command in our army. shows that in carrying on the war he has commenced for the "extermination of slaveconquered, what then? The commenced for the "extermination of slave-General Government cannot ry" he is perfectly willing to cater to the savage appetites of the Northern Abolitionized pulpits and press. Some of the Republican papers have again taken up the task of proving that the whole Southern country is suffering for the want of food, and fanatics everywhere have taken up the cry and are exultingly gloating over the prospect of the starving condition of our Southern brethren. Letters from the South, however, [put a different face upon natters. Beef and provisions, of every kindare plenty; and the corn crop is larger than t was ever before. This "starving out the South" is a thing that "can't be did." But crushing out the liberties of the North, and establishing a military despotism is a matter that is fast being consummated by Messrs. Lincoln, Seward & Co., and will certainly be accomplished unless the people rise in their might and give the despots to understand that eir unconstitutional actions must cease

The recent massacre in St. Louis is un dergoing investigation before a coroner's jury. All the witnesses testify that there was no demonstration on the part of the people calculated to provoke an attack from the military. Killing people to maintain a tyrant in the unconstitutional position he has taken is not exactly the thing; no matter in what section of our country the killing operation is performed. A civil war to support a man in office who had obeyed the Constitution, would be bad enough. Those who believe in preserving civil and religious liberties untramelled, ought never to sustain a civil war inaugurated for the purpose of upholding a despot who has trampled upon the just and constitutional rights of a people.

Gen. McClellan, of the U: S. army, has issued a proclamation to the people of Western Virginia. He pronounces numerous acts, perpetrated in Virginia as contrary to the uses of civilized warfare. He might have gone further and said that numerous acts perpetrated by Mr. Lincoln are unconstitutional, and that he ought not to be perliving its dangerous tendency. This must be paid with one or two three cent stamps according to weight. The twenty cents' worth of postage stamps pays ten cents to the Express Company for their trouble, and enables them to pay the confederacy postage, which is ten cents from Louisville to New Orleans, the distance being over 500 hundred mites; but if the letter is intended for a point distant from Louisville, less than five hundred miles, then the confederacy postage will be but five cents. It is understood that this arrangement has been entered into with the knowledge and consent of Postmaster General Blair, and if properly carried out, as we have no doubt it will be, must prove a great benefit to the people of both sections of the Union.

DISTINGUISHED ST. LOUIS PHYSICIAN WRITES

ST. Louis, July 10th, 1860.

O. J. Wood, Esq:—Dear Sir.—Allow me the pleasure and satisfaction to transmit to you the beneficial effects of your HAIR RESTORATIVE, after a trial of 5 years. I commenced using your Restorative in January, 1855, since which time I have not been without a bottle on hand. When I commenced the use, my hair was quite thin, and at least one third gray. A few applications stopped its falling, and in three weeks time there was not a gray hair to be found, neither has there been up to this time.

After my hair was completely restored, I continued its use by applying two or three times per month. My hair has ever continued healthy, soft and glossy, and my scalp perfectly free from dandruff. I do not imagine the facts above mentioned will be of any particular advantage to you, or even flatter your vanity at this late day, as I am well aware they are all wolk known already, and even more wonderful ones throughout the Union. I have occupied my time in traveling the greater part of the time the past three years, and have taken pride and pleasure in recommending your Restorative, and exhibiting its effects in my own case. In several instances I have met with people that have pronounced it a humbug; asying they had used it and without effect. In every instance, however, it proved, by probing the matter, that they had no tused your article at all, but had used some new article, said to be as good as yours, and selling at about half the price. I have noticed two or three articles myself advertised as above, which I have no doubt are humbug. It is astonishing that people will patronize an article of no reputation, when there is one at hand that has been proved beyond a doubt.

Apparently, some of those charlatans have not brains enough to write an advertisement, as I notice they have copled yours, word for word in several inatances, merely inserting some other name in place of yours.

I have, within the past five years, seen and talked with mere thaurtwo thousand persons that have used your preparat scald head, dandrun, and over justices are subject to.

I called to see you personally, at your original place of business here, but learned you were now living in New York.

You are at liberty to publish this or to refer parties to me, any communication addressed to me, care box No. 1,22, will be promptly answered. Yours truly JAS, WAITE M. D.

Warren Serings, Perry Co., Penn., June 7, 1860.
Prof. Wood—Drar Sir.—I was induced more than a year ago to try your valuable HAIR RESTORATIVE, for the purpose of cleansing my head of dandruf. I had suffered withit upon my head for vears, and had never been able to get anything to do me any good in removing it, although I had tried many preparations, until I saw your advertisement in a Harrisburg paper. Being there at the time, I called at Gloss & Kunkie's drug store, and bought a bottle, and now am prepared to recommend it to universal use, for it has completely removed all dandruff from my head, and an application once in wo weeks keeps it free from any litching or other unpleasan ness. I must also state that my hair had become quite white in places, and, by the use of your preparation, has been restored to its original color. I am now 50 years of age, and although I have used two bottless of the Restorative, no one has any knowledge of it, as I allow a few gray hairs to remain, in order to have my appearance comport with my age. My bead is now of leas trouble to me, in keeping it clean, &c., than at any time since I was a child. I consider your preparation of great value, and, although I do not like to expose myself, I consider it my duy to say so. You can use this or any part of it in any shape you think proper, if it is worth anything to you.

ened, and a radical change taking place in the color. I have continued to use it till I have used three of your small bottled and just begun on the fourth. I have now as pretty a hea of dark brown, or light black hair as any man, or as I had is my youthful days, when a boy in the fillis of western Virginia. My head is entirely clear of dandruff, and the hair ceased entirely falling off and is as soft and fine, and feels a oily, as though it was just from the hands of a French champoner. Many of my acquaintances frequently say to me "Butler, where did you get that fine wig!" I tell them i "Butler, where did you get that fine wig!" I tell them i was the effects of your Restorative. It is aimost impossible to convince them that it is the original hair of the same old gray head Yours truly. FRED. T. BUTLER, Bloomington, Monroe Co., Ind.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.—We are not in habit of puffing every new discovery, for in nine cases of they are quack noastrums, but we take great pleasure is commending Professor Wood's attlet to all whose he falling off or unning gray. WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.—Unlike most specifics, this is proved, by unimpeachable evidence, to possess great efficacy as a restorer of the hair to its prestine vigor. Where the head had because of sickness, the use of this article has produced a beautiful growth of thick, glossy hair. It is therefore a valuable preparation for all classes. Its ingredients are such as to effectually eradicate dandruff and other impurities which operate so injuriously to the hair. It also has curative properties of another description. In many cases pimples and other disfigurements of the skin disappear wherever it is used. There is no hazard attaching to the trial of this ramedy, and its effects can only be beneficial, as the compound, if it does not cause a manifest improvement, is incapable of doing harm, as its component elements are perfectly innocuous.—Boston Transcript, April 2 1839.

A GENUINE BOON.—In our capacity as conductor of a public journal, we are called upon to advertise the curealls of the day, each of which claims to be unadulterated in its composition and infallible in its curative effects, with what justice we leave our readers to determine. In one instance, however,—Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative—we are so well assured of the notable qualities of the article, that we give i our endorsement as all that its inventor and vender claims i to be. Its effect upon, a falling head of harr is universally known to be magical. Like lime or guano on exhausted land, it brings the crop wherever applied. Our own thatch is fortunately healthy, but we advise our friends with sparsely-growing hair to try the Restorative.—Columbia Npy A GENUINE BOON .- In our capacity as conductor of a pul

ALL HAIR DYES ABANDONED—WOOD'S GREAT ARTICLE HAS TAKEN THE FIELD.—Prefessor Wood stands on an eminence no chemist, whose attention has been turned to inventing a hair tonic has ever before reached. His fame is sudden but world-wide, and thousands who have worn wigs or been baid for years, are now, through the use of this preparation, wearing their own natural and luxuriant head covering. So much for chemistry, the chemistry of human life, and the laws which apply to the functions of the system. Prof. Wood studied out the human hair, its character, its properties, its diseases, and how to restore the decaying vitality of that ornament; he saw, as in his own case, that gray hair is unnatural unless the age of the individual had reached four score, and he believed that the hair could be naturally revitalized. He tried his own case—almost baid and quite gray at the age of thirty-saven, he restored his own hair in color, strength and huxuriance, and the article he did it with he gave to the world.
