

East Haddam Journal

There are two kinds of beauty, one is outward, the other inward. The outward beauty of home is in pleasant grounds, walks, shrubbery, flowers, trees, rooms, pictures and whatsoever can render it agreeable to the eye, and suggest happy and virtuous thoughts to the mind.

But if outward beauty is within the reach of all, how much more is inward beauty? In a household, how beautiful is a good husband, wife, brother, sister, father, mother and child.

Houses are under the control of those who dwell in them. We make our own houses, or help make them. The beauty that is in them or about them, is of our own making, or at least in part.

What object in life is more commendable than to beautify your homes? What is home but the spring source of all that is great and good in human life.

For home we all live and toil, more than for all else of earth. Why then should it not be beautiful? It is clear to our mind that the best religion in the world is that which grows and thrives best at home.

Then let our homes be beautiful both with outward and inward adornments; we shall thereby be better and happier, and goodness and happiness will give us freedom.

YALE COLLEGE.—The commencement exercises at this institution occurred on Thursday last and passed off satisfactorily. One hundred and five students received the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

The anniversary exercises of William College, which have been of great interest, have taken place this week commencing Monday and ending Wednesday.

The anniversary exercises at Amherst College occur next week.

A national Scientific Convention has been held in Springfield the past week. The exercises were of a very interesting character. The convention was fully attended by persons of note from every section of the country.

The Barge "Drake Mills," of which we made mention last week, was successfully launched on Thursday afternoon, in presence of quite a number of our citizens. Good cheer, and lemonade with and without a stick in it, prevailed.

"Uncle Sam's farm," or that portion of it lying in this vicinity, was well watered by a copious shower, yesterday. The "green things" fairly laughed at the sight, while the roads, which had nearly blown away, had their dusty airs essentially wet down.

Justice Court.—J. Vinood Esq., presiding.—We had the pleasure of being present at a court held in the Old Red School House near the Landing, on Thursday the 4th, and from the interest manifested by those who were present, as well as from the peculiar nature of the proceedings we are induced to give our readers some little history of the cases in brief.

Without recounting the evidence in full, it seems that Tracy repaired to Grand juror Selden, with a complaint for assault and battery against Harris.—Mr. Selden, as is his custom in all such doubtful cases, examined the matter fully and came to the conclusion that either Harris was not in fault, or that the affair was too insignificant to be made the subject of a public prosecution.

Why is a fashionable lady like a rigid economist? Because she makes a great deal of bustle about a little waste. DRESS.—Attention to a few general rules would prevent a great many anomalous appearances; for instance, a woman should never be dressed too little, nor girls too much—nor should a woman of small stature attempt large patterns, nor a bad walker, flounces—nor a short throat carry feathers, nor high shoulders a shawl.

one since it took place. Beebe swore that he was with Harris and that when he demanded the boat of Tracy he was met with the reply "By G—d, you can't have this boat!" That Harris peaceably entered the boat to retake it and Tracy at once seized him with both hands in the breast, that Harris pushed him down on the side of the boat and passed forward to the bow to shove off from the shore which she had touched, and that Harris used no more force than was necessary to pass by Tracy, and to take possession of the boat again.

The charge against Harris for Sabbath breaking was then argued on the same evidence inasmuch as the facts already recited were the only ones which could be given in evidence and it was useless to have them repeated.

The case against Harris for profanity was then brought on and after due investigation was submitted to the Court without argument, and by the Court the prisoner was pronounced "Not Guilty."

There then remained two cases to be tried against Ralph Tracy on which he was promptly arraigned before the same Court and our Mr. Clarke appeared against him in behalf of the State. Tracy was advised by the Court and others to employ counsel as Smith Clark, Esq. who had aided him so faithfully on the other three cases, was still present in the court room, but Tracy declined his services and plead for himself, not guilty.

Hercase Mann, President of Antioch College, Ohio, died at Yellow Springs, on Tuesday afternoon at half past four o'clock.

Why is a fashionable lady like a rigid economist? Because she makes a great deal of bustle about a little waste.

DRESS.—Attention to a few general rules would prevent a great many anomalous appearances; for instance, a woman should never be dressed too little, nor girls too much—nor should a woman of small stature attempt large patterns, nor a bad walker, flounces—nor a short throat carry feathers, nor high shoulders a shawl.

FROM CALIFORNIA.—The overland mail with San Francisco dates of the 11th ult., has arrived. Business was more active at San Francisco, but there was no improvement in prices.

One day last week, a son of Mr. Riley Bailey, Higganum, aged six years, while walking upon the edge of the steamboat wharf in that place, fell into the river, and would have been drowned but for the courageous conduct of a son of M. C. A. Champlin, only twelve years old.

At Waterbury, on Saturday night, a savage assault was committed on the person of James Shannon by John Riggs, who was recently discharged from the State Prison. Shannon was stabbed in the abdomen, and is not expected to live.

The Boston and Worcester Railroad Company have settled the case of Mrs. Shaw of Needham, who was injured upon their road some eight years ago, by the payment to her of $24,738, the total of the verdict and costs obtained by the plaintiff in the Supreme Court.

Mrs. Anna Pope, of Spencer, Mass., died on the 14th, at the advanced age of 105 years. Her mental faculties were bright to the last.

Ministers sometimes take queer texts for sermons. Rev. Mr. Pope of Hyannis, on Sunday last, preached from the text, "Is there any taste to the white of an egg?"

The Gardiner (Me.) Rural chronicles an affecting instance of woman's devotion. It appears that her lover got so gloriously drunk, that he decided to take a nap in the gutter, where she stood guard over him, shading his face with her parasol, bending down and affectionately fanning him the while.

At Newport, Ky., a party that was serenading a newly married couple, with horns, stove pipes, and other rough music, were astonished to see the bride appear among them in charming dress, and seizing one of the party doused his head into a tub of soap suds and kept him there till almost drowned.

Mr. Timothy B. Sherman, a resident of Danbury, aged about 50 years, committed suicide by hanging himself in his cellar on Friday afternoon last. No cause is assigned for the act other than drobbable insanity.

Henry P. Baldwin, the forger, escaped from a train while on the way from Cincinnati to Utica, a few nights since, the train going at the rate of forty miles per hour. The train was immediately stopped, but nothing could be found of the daring fellow, who must have got off almost uninjured, although he was handcuffed.

An insane woman at Sandusky, hung herself a short time since, but was discovered and cut down before life was extinct. Upon being restored to consciousness it was found that her reason was restored to her, although she had no idea of what had so nearly resulted in a tragedy.

"My son," said a philosophical old gentleman, when draymen take the temperance pledge and the police refuse bribes; when an omnibus half empty goes the same pace of a full one; when the laws of private property extend to umbrellas, and when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, then thou mayst chance to find a wife who will not object to travel without eight-and-twenty packages, and who will show herself possessed of such angelic self-denial as even to refuse thine offer of a dress, simply because she thinks she doesn't need it.

A most extraordinary affair occurred last week, in Jasper county, Indiana. An old man named William Haaking, aged seventy, married an old lady of almost the same age, named Anna Mead. Twenty-seven years before, they were man and wife, with a family of five children.

STATE ITEMS.—Rev. Mr. Childs and Thomas Rockwood of the United States Hotel, Hartford, sailed for Europe on Thursday.

The New London and Palmer railroad company are to erect three new bridges on their road—one each in Palmer, Stafford and Wellington.

The fairy sail boat of New London has received a challenge from the Amelia of Saybrook to sail for a wager of $50.

There is a prospect that the Hartford carpet company will resume work in their factories at Tarriffville in the course of the year.

David Young has been elected judge of the police court of Norwich.

The New Haven papers announce the death of Asa Bradley, one of the oldest and most respectable merchants of that city.

They have got a great mystery at Five Mile river landing in Norwalk; all Saturday night there was an unusual degree of noise and dissipation at the hotel, and the next morning tracks, blood, hair, and the sleeve of a woman's chemise, were discovered near the dock. The affair is to be investigated.

Since the success of the Yale students at the Worcester regatta, an aquatic furor has raged at New Haven, and the Varuna, Thulia, Nereid and the Theonis clubs have all ordered new boats.

The store of C. H. Northam & Co. wholesale grocers at Hartford, was entered on Monday night, and the safe blown open by gunpowder, and robbed of a $60 watch and a few dollars in change.

The following rules, from the papers of Dr. West, were according to his memorandum thrown together as general way-marks in the journey of life.

- Never to ridicule sacred things, or what others may esteem such, however however absurd they may appear to be.
Never to show levity when the people are professedly engaged in worship.
Never to resent a supposed injury till I know the views and motives of the author of it.
Never judge a person's character by external appearance.
Always to take the part of an absent person who is censured in company so far as truth and propriety will allow.
Never to think the worse of another on account of his differing from me in politics or religious opinions.
Never to dispute if I can fairly avoid it.
Not to dispute with a man more than seventy years of age, nor with a woman nor an enthusiast.
Nor affect to be witty, or to jest so as to wound the feelings of another.
To say as little as possible about myself and those who are near to me.
To aim at cheerfulness without levity.

A NOVEL MODE OF RETURNING STOLEN PROPERTY.—"Patrick, the widow Malony tells that you have stolen one of her finest pigs. Is that so?"

"Yes yer honor?"
"What have you done with it?"
"Killed it and ate it, yer honor."
"Aye, Patrick! I when you are brought face to face with the widow and her pig, on the Judgement Day, what account will you be able to give of yourself when the woman accuses you of the theft?"
"Did you say the pig would be there, yer riverance?"
"To be sure I did."
"Well, then, yer riverance, I'll say, Mrs. Malony, here's yer pig!"

ANECDOTE OF MR. CHOATE.—Two or three years ago, during a season of illness, Mr. Choate was visited by one of his friends, who urged upon him the importance of paying more attention to his health. "Sir," said the visitor, "you must go away; if you continue your professional labors thus, you will certainly undermine your constitution." Mr. Choate looked up, and with that grave irony and peculiar twinkle of the eye which were so marked and indescribable when he jestcd, said—"Sir, the constitution was destroyed long ago; I am now living under the by-laws."—Boston Courier.

A miserable old fellow has hit upon an experiment to save candles. He uses the "light of other days."

A young man by the name of Guppy has been diddling the Democracy of St. Paul and Taylor's Falls out of $1,000, which he took with him to Chicago to buy a press and materials for the publication of a Democratic paper. He has forgotten to return, and his friends are anxious to discover his whereabouts.

Don't force a man to take your vice.—You can advise him to take a bath without pitching him into the river.

The Cleveland Plaindealer says a letter recently passed through the Post Office in that city, bearing the following execrating superscription:

To Democratic P. M.'s don't let me delay, To send me along with speed on my way. To Louis S. Mize I'm sent, that is true, In Miami county, in the village of Ferris, In the State of Indiana, just as true as you are born, Where whiskey's legal tender and the women have corn.

SELF RELIANCE.—Don't rely upon your friends. Don't rely upon the good name of your ancestors. Thousands have spent the price of in vain hopes of those whom they call friends; and thousands have starved because they have had a rich father. Rely only upon the good name which is made by your own exertions, and know that the best friend you can have is an unquarrelable decision of character.

We always think of a very mean man, that he was made by one of nature's cobblers, and like an unfinished boot, thrown off without being "souled."

DR. C. D. WRIGHT, OF LEESVILLE, CONN.

Member of the Analytical School of Medicine; continues to apply

Dr. J. Clawson Kelley's Medicines, in the treatment of all Chronic and Acute Diseases, of Men, Women and Children.

The Analytical System, uncompromisingly opposes all mineral medicines, the deleterious practice of bleeding, and other fallacious resources of the old school; or regular practice; it has asserted its superiority in the success with which it has been attended, and relies on Vegetable Remedies alone for the accomplishment of satisfactory results in the treatment of disease. In the fulfillment of its mission, the levelled dart of death for a while is turned aside, the sharp pang soothed, the fever's fire allayed, the nerves braced once more the heart cheered again, and balmy days and soft nights imparted.

A practical proof of its efficient action, will be presented to all, who will call upon Dr. Wright. Advice free.
