Poetry.

Our Departed Mother. Mother, thy room is dark and dreary. We cannot hear thy call. Our hearts are sad and weary, Within these lonely walls. We miss thee, mother, night and morn; We miss thee from thy chair; At noon-tide, too, we miss thee; We miss thee everywhere.

And when we read God's holy word, Which thou didst love to hear, We miss thee daily from our side, We miss thy kneeling ear. Thine eyes which once beamed brightly, On nature's beauties here Had long been closed and sightless To all thou hold most dear.

Many years we've called thee mother, The dearest name o'er known, Unlike to any other,— Alas! that joy is flown.

But since thou hast crossed that river, O'er which we all must pass, God grant that we, thy children, Meet thee in Heaven at last.

Rest then, dearest mother, rest, In thy last peaceful slumber, Thy gentle spirit with the blest— With those "no man can number." East Haddam, April 1861.

Miscellaneous.

Cold-Blooded Murder of Freeman in Mississippi.

Mr. George N. Krahl, living in Clay township, in this county, has received a letter from a brother now in Ohio, who has been travelling in the South, and was a witness to one of those scenes of cold-blooded murder, which have been of such frequent occurrence since the commencement of political troubles between the two sections. Mr. Krahl permits us to make the following extracts from his brother's letter:

"I have been for some time traveling in the southern States, visiting southern cities, and endeavoring to become acquainted with southern manners and customs. I left home with the expectation of remaining until spring, but political excitement is so intense that it is not safe for a northern man to remain on southern shores. A man cannot remain with safety. It is no uncommon occurrence to hang men by the neck, for no earthly cause whatever, save that they were Lincoln men. * * * The day before I left Natchez, two men came down the river, and landed on the wharf a boat load of corn. No sooner had they landed than their principles were demanded by the 'Vigilance Committee,' and they, being bold fellows, swung their hats, and gave three cheers for Lincoln. The committee seized them, and took them across the river to the Louisiana shore, and hung them to a tree. I saw their bodies hanging there the next day. Their corn was advertised in the morning papers, to be sold for the benefit of the state, but not one word was said in regard to those men. O! how I longed to cry out against such iniquity. I have longed to speak boldly to them about such things. I was bursting with indignation, but had I let one word escape from my lips, or showed by my looks or actions that I was opposed to such proceedings, my life would have paid the forfeit."

Another Outrage. Another striking example of the spirit which animates the secession chivalry at the South, has just come to our knowledge. Mr. Arthur Robinson, a native of the north of Ireland, and a gentleman of great intelligence and respectability, was engaged in publishing a Presbyterian paper in New Orleans, entitled "The True Witness." Mr. Robinson had been for several years a resident of the Crescent City, having gone there from Cincinnati. He was pursuing the even tenor of his way, attending to his legitimate business, when, on the 30th of November last, he was suddenly arrested at the instance of the "Vigilance Committee," and brought before the Mayor, on the vague charge of being an Abolitionist. Having been accustomed to speak his opinions freely about slavery, during his long residence in New Orleans, and never having been disturbed, he was much outraged by this proceeding. He told the Mayor frankly that he was conscientiously opposed to slavery, and in favor of emancipation wherever it could be effected. The Mayor or consigned him to the city prison, not, however, before one of the vigilance committee had declared, in the very presence of that functionary, "If he goes out on St. Charles street, I'll shoot him down myself."

The Mayor also ordered his house to be searched, which was done, and all his writings and papers taken possession of. The grand jury, after he had been incarcerated some time, without process, and on mere arbitrary suspicion, at length found an indictment against Mr. Robinson, containing several counts. Among these was "using language calculated to excite discontent among free people of color, and insubordination among slaves." Another was having in his possession a book entitled, "Barnes' Scriptural Views on Slavery." Still another was having in his possession a scrapbook, containing incendiary selections from the New York Independent, among others, Bayard Taylor's letter to a Richmond Lecture Committee, and Whittier's poem on John Brown, which, by the way, condemns all violence in the attempt to enfranchise the slave.

Mr. Robinson was detained in jail for 105 days—the first offence charged not being bailable—as it is a capital crime by the Code Noir of Louisiana. He was subjected during all this period, to the insults and derision of a ruffianly jailor, and of many of the criminals who were inmates of the prison. The keeper of the prison frequently told him he hoped he should have the pleasure of hanging him, or seeing him hung! At length Mr. Robinson was brought before Judge Hunt, of the Criminal Court, a former member of Congress, and a man of high character and moderate views, under whose direction the Attorney General entered a nolle prosequi in his case, there being several informalities in the indictment. It was made a condition of his release, that he should leave the city within twenty-four hours. He willingly did so on the 12th inst., and reached Cincinnati about a week afterwards. During his long incarceration, his family were left comparatively unprovided for, and but for the kindness of his friends, would have fared very hardly.

Mr. Robinson was a benefactor to the city, having labored several summers during the prevalence of the epidemic, in caring for the sick, and been entrusted with the distribution of large sums raised by charitable agencies for their relief. He is a practical printer, about 40 years of age, and we learn it is his intention to remain in our city, with a view of going into business in that line. His integrity and reliability are vouched for by Rev. W. S. Kennedy, pastor of the third Presbyterian church, who has known him for some years; and we have, moreover, the corroboration of the New Orleans press, to the statements as to Mr. Robinson's arrest, incarceration, and final discharge.—Cincinnati Commercial.

From the New York Tribune. Baltimore. "The Baltimore Mob" is a quite venerable, though indeed not very humane nor benignant, institution. In 1812, when Baltimore was barely more than a village, it fell upon the office of The Federal Republican because of certain caustic strictures in that journal on the declaration of war with Great Britain, and killed or badly wounded some of the best men of the city, who rallied to its defense.

Among those severely, if not fatally, injured were two who carried the scars of wounds received in the War of the Revolution. Similar outrages have been committed at intervals down to the present time. Formerly, the predominant rowdies were "Democrats;" afterward, "Jackson men;" then "Americans;" and now they seem to have lent the light of their beautiful countenances to the congenial cause of secession.

The "Plug-Ugly" and "Blood-Tub" riots of the "American" era, when elections were a strange medley of tragedy and farce—fighting supplying the tragedy and voting the farce—led the Legislature very properly to establish a Metropolitan Police, on the principle of that of New York. We say the principle of this act was right, though the practice under it is bad. If a City rejoices in chronic disorder and insecurity to life and property, the State must interpose for their protection. But the Legislature of Maryland, in putting the execution of this act into hands that appointed as Marshal, or Chief of Police, one Kane, who is a manifest rascal and natural secessionist, undid all the good that the act was naturally calculated to secure.

It is now pretended in Baltimore that the passage of Massachusetts troops through that city provoked the murders of last week. Compare this with the fact that this same Baltimore Mob, through their newspaper organs and the Police Marshal, complained that President Lincoln did not pass through their City in public parade last February. Then they were insulted and outraged that a Republican President should have shown such distrust of their lamb-like natures and holy reverence for law and hospitality. Now they pretend to have been insulted and outraged by the fact that the men of Massachusetts did attempt to pass quietly and rapidly, without parade or bravo, intending no harm and fearing no danger, through those very streets where they pretended Mr. Lincoln might have been borne in state two months ago. That they would have killed him if he had, is no longer open to doubt.

The falsehood of their excuse for their freshest murders is shown by these facts: Senator Sumner of Massachusetts, unsuspecting of danger, stopped in their city the night before the Massachusetts men were there, put up at Barnum's Hotel, registered his name, and walked directly out to visit a friend. Very soon, the house was surrounded by fierce, vociferous thousands, crying, "Bring him out!" groaning, and threatening to tear down the house. They were assured that there was such a person in the house. At 2 1/2, Mr. Sumner returned, was taken in at a side-door unrecognized, and shown to his room. Here he was speedily waited on by the landlord, and by the manager, who each entreated him to leave, to save his own life, with the house and its contents. He refused, since he could not get out of the city, and had no right to expose a private dwelling to danger. The landlord then put him into another room, and, of course, denied that any such person was in the house. The mob were thus got rid of. But Mr. Sumner's desire to wait till the second morning train was overruled by the landlord's earnest remonstrances, or rather entreaties, and he left at 5 A. M., a private carriage taking him from the private door, so that he should not be seen. This was while no one pretended that any affront had been offered to Baltimore or any special cause for riot existed. The mob wished to kill him simply because he was Charles Sumner, the eminent Republican Senator from Massachusetts.

Now look at the next day's proceedings and their excuse: A regiment of Massachusetts and one of Pennsylvania Militia, in obedience to the requisition of the President, were hastening to the defense of the Federal Metropolis. They were not going to fight any but those who defied the authority of the Federal Government, openly resisted its laws, and were bent on the destruction or spoliation of its property and the subversion of its authority. What was there in all this to excite the ire of or provoke hostile demonstrations from any but ingrain traitors? Why should not those men have been received as warmly and treated as kindly in Democratic Baltimore as in Democratic New York? Who believes that one loyal, Union-loving soul in all Baltimore was excited to wrath by seeing those men in that city? Remember that neither Governor, nor Mayor, nor even Marshal Kane had asked them to avoid Baltimore on their way to Washington.

Part of the Massachusetts men, well armed, passed through the citizens unmolested. Then the mob tore up the rails and placed obstructions on the track. So far, none of the militia had been seen, except by peeping into the windows of the cars. It was the obstruction of the railroad by the mob that compelled the remnant of the Massachusetts men to leave the cars and march through the streets. But for this, there would have been no pretense of seeing them or being excited by them. That the few and partially armed Massachusetts men, thus confronted by a vast and hostile mob, tried to pass as rapidly and inoffensively as possible, all will believe. They cared nothing for howls, or groans, or vile abuse; they stood knocking down by showers of paving-stones, with Christian meekness; not till they had seen comrades fall dead in their ranks, killed by bolts of iron thrown on their heads from upper windows, or shot by muskets wrenched from their own hands, did they obey the order to fire. Who shall say that their forbearance was not heroic? Who but a base traitor will pretend that they did any thing that justifies or at all excuses the outrages afterward perpetrated on the unarmed Pennsylvanians who followed them, or on the Northern citizens remaining in or since attempting to pass through the city? And yet this hideous crime of the Baltimore Mob is made the excuse for all its subsequent outrages, for the crushing out of the Union men, for the destruction of the Railroads and Telegraphs leading to the loyal States, and the fitting out of pirate vessels in their harbor to prey upon our commerce or attack the unarmed transports hurrying with citizens to the defense of the Stars and Stripes still waving over the Capitol of the Union.

It is a matter of course that so soon as a sufficient force is collected in Washington, to render that city safe against any body of Rebels that can be brought against it, the Baltimore Mob will be taken severely in hand, and taught a lesson in good manners that it seems to have been waiting long to learn. We judge that, before the end of the present week, at least 30,000 men, with ample artillery will be gathered about Baltimore, for the purpose of restoring order and doing justice. One of the most painful features of the duty to be performed will be the amount of suffering to be inflicted on the innocent in the chastisement of the guilty; but we solemnly warn the authorities and the respectable people, not only of Baltimore but of Maryland, that they will do well to hasten the restoration of order and obedience to the laws in that city; to restore the railroad and the telegraph, and to arrest the ringleaders and traitors concerned in this atrocious outbreak, and hand them over to the courts for trial, sentence, and execution. Otherwise the people of the United States will undertake the work, and will do it thoroughly.

Very Important News. Total Destruction of the Gosport Navy Yard by U. S. Officers. ELEVEN VESSELS OF WAR BURNT AND SCUTTLED. Probable Loss of Life. New York, April 24, 1861. The steaming Yankee, Captain Germaine, from Charleston, arrived at this yesterday afternoon, after passing through somewhat stormy and boisterous scenes. She has three passengers from the Gosport Navy Yard. She put in at pier No. 16 East River, and afterwards removed to the foot of Bridge street, where she now lies. She presents a very dilapidated appearance, her smoke pipe being blown away, having lost it at sea in a heavy gale of wind. The steaming Yankee, it will be remembered, went with the fleet sent to relieve Fort Sumter, and on her homeward trip put into Norfolk short of coal. The Yankee took the Cumberland in tow to Fortress Monroe. On the way she grounded on Orris Island, and was two hours getting off. The secessionists, observing the escape of the Cumberland, commenced obstructing the channel below her. After towing, the frigate proceeded to New York. The Pawnee left Washington last Friday night with an extra detachment of officers, men and marines, with Flag Officer Paulding on board, and proceeded to Fortress Monroe, where she received the Third Massachusetts Regiment, just arrived hence for the Navy Yard at Gosport. Here it was found that the officers in charge had commenced discharging the public property, finding it would fall into the hands of the enemy. They had scuttled all the ships—the Cumberland being the only ship in commission—cut down the shears, and rendered most of the other property useless. The object of the rioters having been partly frustrated by the scuttling of the ships, it was intended the federal forces should leave. Preparations were made to make the demolition complete, to blow up the dock and burn the property—all things to be ready at daylight. The Pawnee, with the Cumberland in tow, assisted by the Yankee, started, and after passing the Navy Yard sent up a rocket—a preconcerted signal to apply the match—and in an instant ships, shiphouses and storehouses were in flames, and so rapid were they that Com. Rogers of the Navy, and Capt. Wright of the Engineers, were unable to reach the point of rendezvous, where the boat was in waiting, and were necessarily left behind. They have not been heard of since, and it is probable that they perished. All the ships were destroyed except the Cumberland.

Large quantities of provisions, cordage and machinery were also destroyed, besides buildings of great value, but it is not known that the dock was blown up. The burning of the Navy Yard at Norfolk was done by the Union men, who are in a majority, but comparatively unarmed. The Cumberland was nearly sixty shots of her complement. When the Pawnee came up to the Navy Yard both the Cumberland and Merrimack lay broadside to her, with guns loaded, thinking she was in the hands of the secessionists. On board the Pawnee an opinion prevailed that a similar state of affairs existed on board these ships and she was ready accordingly. When the Cumberland hailed, "What steamer is that?" the answer was the United States steamer Pawnee. The cheering on board the vessels and on shore told how satisfactory this reply was. The Union men employed in the Navy Yard cut down the flag staff, so it could not be used by the enemy. The guns in the Navy Yard and at St. Helena were spiked.

THE FOLLOWING IS THE STATEMENT OF SAMUEL GENTNER, CHIEF ENGINEER OF THE YANKEE. We arrived in Norfolk on the 13th inst. short of coal, when we found there was a movement on foot to seize the Yankee; and upon this becoming known, the entire crew of the steamer ran from on board and proceeded to the Navy Yard, to put themselves under the protection of Commodore McCauley, of Norfolk. The Commodore came down to where the Yankee lay, with a force of sixty marines, saying to the mob, "Take her if you can; I will blow her out of the water first." Two boats were manned from the frigate Cumberland, and held in readiness to give aid to the attacked steamer, but did not enter into any active service. After a while the mob dispersed, when all remained quiet until last Saturday afternoon. The Navy Yard was then set on fire by the federal troops, the cannon run clear from their positions and cast into the mire, and everything connected with the yard destroyed, including the Merrimack, which lay alongside the Cumberland. The Pawnee arrived with 800 volunteers on board on Saturday night. The Merrimack and Jamestown were already burned and sunk when the Pawnee arrived. Between three and four o'clock, on Sunday morning the government troops set fire to all the ships remaining in the Navy Yard. The Yankee then left for New York. The Pawnee left the Cumberland at Navy Island, and the Yankee took her in tow and forced her over the obstructions of the sunken vessels which were placed there to block her in; and when the Yankee got out she towed one of the sunken vessels into deep water. She also brought down the Commodore and officers from the yard to the Cumberland. The Mer-mac, Germantown, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Columbus and Boston were burned and the granite dry dock was blown up and the entire yard actually leveled by the fire, some houses being burnt in Portsmouth. On Friday night the magazine at the navy yard was broken open by the rebels and all the powder stolen.

THE WAR, ON THE OCEAN.

The Confederated States have taken another prize on the ocean—the ship LALAH ROOKH, from Liverpool, bound for Hampton Roads. She took on board a Norfolk pilot, and the pilot, being a secessionist, cheated the captain and took her into Lynn Haven, where it is expected she will be condemned as a prize to the Montgomery government.

Until this government can get armed vessels enough to protect our commercial marine, no ship-owner is wise who sends his vessel to sea without the means of self-protection, if attacked. We understand that some vessels, in the West India trade that have left here within the few days past, have pivot guns on board, and this example will doubtless be followed by others. The only way to ward off attack in times like these is to have it known that you are prepared to resist it.—Express.

From the Tribune of Thursday.

THE SITUATION.

1. There is no manner of doubt that Alex. H. Stephens, Vice President of the Cotton Republic, is now in Virginia. Our informant traveled with him from Wilmington to Richmond, and listened to his speeches to excited crowds at almost every stopping place on the route. AN IMMEDIATE DASH AT WASHINGTON, to result in its capture, was the burden of his strain. And that dash will be made the very moment the rebels believe that they can make it with a prospect of success.

2. It was universally asserted and believed on Tuesday in Richmond that Gen. Beauregard was in that city. We presume that is the fact. But Jefferson Davis with the great body of his army has not yet moved northward from Charleston, and probably will not participate in the first attack on Washington.

3. The great body of the Pennsylvania volunteers now ready for the field have moved down the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad to Pottsville on the Susquehanna opposite Havre-de-Grace, whence they propose in due time to march straight for Washington through (or over) Baltimore, from which they are thirty-eight miles distant. Of course, they expect to restore the Railroad and Telegraph as they advance, which will probably involve the consumption of ten days or thereabout in reaching Washington; but meantime the route through Delaware, across the Chesapeake and by Annapolis will be kept open by the regiments now rushing to the Capital from New York and New England. By this route, without counting a single regiment from Pennsylvania or Ohio, we believe the defenders of Washington will be increased by at least Three Thousand per day until they shall amount to at least Thirty Thousand, by which time Pennsylvania and Ohio will have reopened the Baltimore route and added at least Twenty Thousand to their number.

4. The immediate peril is and has been, not an attack on Washington, but a demonstration by the Virginia and Maryland Rebels in force on the line of communication between Annapolis and the Capital. We presume, however, that Gen. Scott sees this as clearly as we do, and is prepared for it.

5. The Rebel report of the capture of Fort Pickens by Bragg is not confirmed. There seems little doubt, however, that there has been hard fighting in that quarter, and a report via Memphis affirms that the Rebels have lost three hundred men by a cannonade by the Fort.

6. There is no longer a doubt that our 7th Regiment and the Massachusetts 8th reached Washington without loss yesterday, having reached there by way of the Annapolis Junction.

7. Finally, it is our decided belief, from facts within our knowledge, that Major Geo. Patterson set in motion from Philadelphia early yesterday morning the force intended to open the route through Baltimore. Sherman's battery of flying artillery of twelve guns goes with this force. We think we shall hear the first results of this movement within a day or two.

On Tuesday last the "Stars and Stripes" were raised at "Sleepy Hollow," by Mr. Bates, a patriotic gentleman from N. Y.

SATURDAY, APRIL 27, 1861.

Patriotic Meeting at the Gelston House.

At an early hour on Wednesday evening last the citizens of this Landing, Milington, Moodus, Haddam and Chester, began to assemble, and in a very short time all the available space on the lower floor of the Gelston House was filled to overflowing with old and young, anxious for their country's safety, and burning to avenge her wrongs. One solitary man from the Upper Landing was present, but for what object we cannot tell.

The first movement of the assemblage was a march into the enemy's camp, or in other words a visit to that ancient village where the East Haddam Post Office is at present located. There they were greeted with no patriotic cheering; there they found no windows illuminated at their approach; there they did not see displayed the stars and stripes of the Union; there they were cursed; there they were hooted at; there they were insulted by traitors. When, loyal citizens of East Haddam, we would ask you, when does forbearance cease to be a virtue?

Immediately after the return of the procession, the meeting was organized, and stirring addresses made by J. T. Clarke, Esq., of this village, and Ex-Mayor Peter Page, of Chicago. But Hon. Isaac Arnold, who for many years has led the indomitable Democracy of Haddam to battle, made the most telling speech. Again and again he was greeted with thundering applause. He was willing to give his only son, now three years at West Point, and if necessary his own life, too, for the salvation of his country.

We regret that our space is limited this week. We should like to give an extended notice of the speeches of Messrs. Page, Clarke and Arnold, but we have not room.

At the close of the remarks, the following named young men of this town stepped forward and signed their names to the paper prepared by Mr. Clarke, amid the most deafening cheers.

AZRO DROWN, H. C. WILLIAMS,
W. B. CHAPMAN, WILBUR L. SQUIRE,
LEWIS BROOKS, GORDON W. STEWART,
W. H. H. BROWN, JAMES COLLINS,
SAMUEL FOLGER, JOHN W. HYAN,
EDGAR C. BROWN, NATHAN R. STARK,
WM. W. SOOYLL, ALBERT H. VINTON,
JOHN M. JAMES, JOHN CALVIN,
WILDMAN FULLER, N. M. MUCKET,
W. G. DANIELS, JOHN WELCH.

Five or six of our best young men had previously joined Volunteer companies in Middletown and Hartford, and are now drilling in New Haven.

We are in hopes that before Saturday night there will be as many more volunteers from this town, and that the talk of arrangements will be perfected with the volunteers of Haddam, Chester, Deep River, and Essex, to join together, forming at least one grand company, numbering one hundred brave fellows, ready for the battle field by the first of next week. There should be the greatest possible energy displayed in getting our troops forward as fast as possible. Every minute counts.

Before the meeting broke up Jos. E. Selden, Esq. proprietor of the Gelston House, came forward and presented Mr. Drown, who was the first to sign his name on the list, with a beautiful revolver.

THE STARS AND STRIPES.

Never before was our American Flag so disgraced, as it has been in the last few weeks by Southern traitors, and never before did a nation's plaudits sound so freely and broadly for that glorious ensign, as within the past few days, throughout the length and breadth of the loyal states.

From the smallest miniature flag to the one of royal dimensions—from the humblest cottage to the massive capital, have those banners of freedom been flung to the breeze. From every flag-staff—from every public building—from the fleet of shipping in every port—from churches and from private dwellings the stars and stripes of the most glorious republic that God ever created have been displayed.

In New York, from time-honored Trinity—with its 70,000 graves—from the Church of the Puritans, and from various other churches floats the National flag, while from the pulpit of the old North Dutch Church, whose steeple looked down upon armies of Tories in 1778, a venerable pastor bids his hearers take up arms, and declares himself ready to go with them. Hundreds of pastors offer their services as chaplains, and not a few descend from the desk and enroll themselves as soldiers.

In our own state the feeling is the same and intense. Father Hart, flung the Stars and Stripes to the breeze from the Roman Catholic Church of New Haven, on Saturday last, amid the cheers of thousands of spectators. The same day Bishop Williams with his own hand raised the National Banner over Berkely Divinity School at Middletown, and on Sunday last the same good ensign floated proudly from the "Church of the Holy Trinity," in the same patriotic city.

Trinity College, of Hartford, also, shows the tri-colors. The instances of similar indications of clerical patriotism, are too numerous to mention.

THE PATRIOTIC CLERGY.

One of the patriotic clergymen of our town signifies his willingness to shoulder his rifle and march to the defense of his country, if his services are required, and in all sections of every loyal State, the same feeling seems to prevail among the clergy, as in the times of 1776. Says the New York World:

The same spirit that inspired Dr. Spring of Newburyport, when he dug under his church for salt-petre; that filled Dr. Murray, of Elizabethtown, when he led his people to the field—every man with a hymn book for gun-wadding; that lifted Samuel Mills into the saddle, and took him among the Connecticut troopers to Philadelphia; that actuated a thousand other not less devout pastors to lead or follow their churches to the tented field, and cheer them by their exhortations and prayer, is signally rife in our day.

ALL HONOR TO MIDDLETOWN.

However negligent old Middletown may be in business affairs or whatever lack of energy may be evinced in other matters, it is at once evident, that in time of our country's peril, she is up and doing—keeping step to the music of the Union and readily responding to the demand for military or financial assistance.

The new steamer Mary Benton, Capt. G. W. Bates, is expected here this (Saturday) evening on a trial trip. It is expected that her furniture &c. will be got on board in time to make an excursion from Saybrook or Lyme to Hartford, on Wednesday morning, Election Day.

There is a strong feeling in this community that certain TRAITORS in East Haddam, Haddam, and Essex should be looked after. Such Tories as infest a certain section of this town our Revolutionary Fathers would scarcely have suffered to exist. England would send them to congenial society in Van Diemens Land; we shudder to think what their fate would be in France!

CHESTER.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The Annual Teachers' Institute for the County of Middlesex, was held in Chester last week.

Prof. Camp of New Britain, delivered a lecture in the Cong. Church on Monday evening.

On Tuesday the exercises were conducted in the hall, by Profs. Camp and Ripley of New Britain. Dr. Pratt also gave some physical exercises.

The evening lecture by Prof. Ripley was omitted on account of the severe storm.

The exercises were resumed on Wednesday morning at the Hall. Messrs. N. A. Calkins of N. Y. and L. L. Camp of Meriden, conducted the exercises; Mr. Calkins delivered the evening lecture.

On Thursday the Institute was adjourned at half past 3 o'clock to listen to a lecture from Mr. Northend of New Britain, to the parents and children of Chester. On account of the flooded state of the river Mr. N. was not present, Mr. Calkins and Gen. Williams of New London occupied the time.

Hon. Francis Gillette, the expected Lecturer for the evening was also obliged to disappoint the audience. Mr. C. and Gen. W. were again called upon to address the audience.

Mr. Northend was present on Friday and delivered the evening lecture. After the lecture the following resolutions were presented:

Resolved, That we hereby express our high regards and tender our thanks to Prof. Camp, Ripley and Northend of New Britain, Messrs. Calkins of N. Y. and L. L. Camp of Meriden, who have conducted the exercises of the present Institute for the able and interesting manner in which they have contributed valuable instruction and practical suggestions for our benefit and for the improvement of the schools in this County. Also, to Prof. Camp, Mr. Calkins, Gen. Williams and Mr. Northend for their interesting evening lectures.

Resolved, That we tender our most hearty thanks to the citizens of Chester, for their liberal hospitalities, and to the Com. of Arrangements, Drs. Pratt and Turner, for providing accommodations for the members of the Institute. Also to the Cong. Society for the use of the church and to the choir for the music contributing so much to our pleasure.

Resolved, That a Report of the exercises of the Institute, and a copy of these resolutions be inserted in the East Haddam Journal.
HERBERT R. PRATT, Secy.
S. S. VENTRES,

A patriotic meeting was held in Chester, Monday evening, presided over by Capt. W. D. Clark. Resolutions were passed pledging all the citizens, laying aside all party considerations, to rally round the flag to sustain the government and to raise money for the war. Fifteen young men enrolled their names as volunteers, to go when called for.

MIDDLETOWN.

Nothing short of an attack upon the American Flag, could have so stirred up the staid people of Middletown. The old city is on the move. On Sunday Collector Fagan raised the stars and stripes on the Custom House, amid tremendous cheers. The volunteers paraded in the afternoon. Flags were raised in various localities. The Common Council has voted a pistol to each volunteer, and taken steps to provide for the families. The stores are giving the troops their stock of underclothes. Twenty-two of the Pacific fire company, have enlisted. The ladies are making clothing and the men are casting bullets. The city Missionary has enlisted. The Irishmen are forming a company. M. H. Griffin, Esq., the well known contractor, agrees to furnish 80 of his countrymen, "all as large as himself." Such a company would give weight to the army. And in order to diversify proceedings, a young woman attempt drowning because her lover had enlisted.—Courant.

Many families are leaving Baltimore and coming North. The large family of Horace Robbins, Esq., formerly of Rocky Hill, arrived at the Gelston House yesterday morning, and will take up board there for the present.

Attention is requested to the call of the Select Men for a special Town Meeting for the purpose of voting an appropriation for the benefit of Volunteers.

Decisive Reply of the President to the Baltimore Committee.

PHILADELPHIA, April 25, 1861.

A gentleman from Washington reports that the following is the language of Mr. Lincoln to the Baltimore Committee:

GENTLEMEN—You have come here to ask for peace on any terms. Such a desire, on such terms, is not like the course of Washington or Jackson. They—the rebels—attacked Fort Sumter, and you attack the troops sent to the Federal Government for the protection of the same, and for the defense of the lives and property of the inhabitants of this city. My intention was never to attack Maryland, but to have those troops, as I said before, for the protection of Washington. Now, GENTLEMEN, GO HOME AND TELL YOUR PEOPLE THAT IF THEY WILL NOT ATTACK US, WE WILL NOT ATTACK THEM; BUT IF THEY DO ATTACK US, WE WILL RETURN IT, AND THAT SEVERELY.—THOSE TROOPS MUST COME TO WASHINGTON, AND THROUGH MARYLAND. THEY CAN NEITHER GO UNDER IT, NOR CAN THEY FLY OVER IT, AND THEY SHALL COME THROUGH IT.

FROM THE SEAT OF WAR.—Mr. Oscar Bates, formerly a popular engineer in employ of the Hartford, Providence & Fishkill railroad company, has just returned from Virginia, where, for a time he has been running an engine on the Alexandria and Orange railroad. His engine carried the American flag for three days after the secession ordinance passed, and the place was soon too hot for him. He escaped to Baltimore, and from thence took passage on a potato sloop, secreted with his wife and child, in the hold, until landed at a point where he was comparatively safe. He immediately started for a civilized community, and reached this city Tuesday.—Courant.

THOMAS ADAMS, Marble Manufactory, Hartford, Conn.

The best assortment of Foreign and American Marble and Free Stone and Granite for Monuments, Paterns of every variety, unique and tasteful, combining beauty and durability. Persons wishing to procure monuments or any kind of marble work are invited to call and give a personal inspection of his material and workmanship, as this will be found more satisfactory than purchasing of agents, without an opportunity to test the quality of the article contracted for.—The material used in this establishment is the best quality, the most durable, and the highest cost, and will not, like some of the inferior qualities, crumble in a few years by exposure to our changeable climate. The lettering and ornamental work is superintended by the proprietor, and he can warrant it to give entire satisfaction. 3ml

Since the science of medicine first dawned upon the world, there has not been, probably, any preparation so universal and efficacious in its application and adaptability to cure diseases, as

CERISIAUX'S ANTIDOTE. For the certain and speedy relief, and almost unfailing cure for every complaint above named, together with numerous others, this medicine is unrivaled by anything heretofore discovered. In thousands of instances where it has been applied, scarcely a solitary case has occurred where it has failed to effect almost immediate relief. For this terrible scourge,

THE DIPHTHERIA,

in every instance where it has been used, it has effected prompt relief, by simply gargling the

WHEELER & WILSON'S SEWING MACHINES.

OPINIONS OF THE NEW YORK PRESS. We prefer them for family use.—TRIBUNE. They are the favorites of families.—TIMES. Do the work of ten ordinary Sewing Machines.—COM. Works more uniformly than by hand.—HERALD. It has no rival.—SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN.

WHAT THE PEOPLE SAY. Middlebury.—Has worked three years with entire satisfaction. E. JACKSON. Has worked with entire satisfaction. We commend it cordially. Rev. L. COLEMAN. Does its work well and is easily managed. A. PUTNAM. It is a most complete and perfect machine and would not part with it in my family. B. DOUGLASS. Have no hesitation in giving this machine the preference. Rev. J. C. WENTWORTH. Fully meets our expectations. Rev. C. H. FAY. Only wonder we have kept house so long without one. An excellent thing—have used three years with entire satisfaction. B. I. P. DICKINSON. Unparalleled by any other. DAVID LYMAN. Would not part with it for twice its cost. Mrs. CHAS. BACON. When my wife chose that machine, I think she made a wise choice. J. P. WARRER. Portland.—Have used it for nearly every variety of family sewing, from a horse blanket to a cambric handkerchief, with most perfect satisfaction. STEPHEN STOCKING. Can only speak of it in the highest terms of commendation. J. RANNEY. I esteem it very highly. Mrs. S. B. CONKLIN. Chester.—Have used my machine with success. S. M. NORRIS. Deep River.—I believe no machine better adapted to family sewing than this. Mrs. J. SHALER. Essex.—For seven years although in constant use, has never required the least repair. In behalf of the ladies I can recommend it. J. H. KING, Capt. Granite State. Saybrook.—Have seen no machine to compare with this—We may well say "Excellent." J. T. DICKINSON. Is a model of perfection. R. E. PRATT. Durham.—After using it six months with entire satisfaction can recommend it cordially. Mrs. A. W. COOPER. Is an almost indispensable article in a family. Mrs. T. MIXER. Saves much time, fatigue and expense; hems better than by hand. H. S. MERWIN. East Haddam.—Will easily perform the work of eight pair of hands. S. A. PACE. It has answered all our expectations—seems to be adapted to the various kinds of sewing necessary to be done in every family.

These machines are offered at $75, for a good plain working machine, and from that up to $100, for a beautiful plated Rosewood Machine of unsurpassable beauty. We believe them to be unequalled in 1, Durability, 2, Simplicity and ease of movement, 3, in lack of noise, 4, in the excellence of its work, 5, its wide adaptation. Aided by several assistants we have determined to meet the great demand for these machines. Every machine is warranted to suit. P. M. AUGUR, Agent of the Co. Box 666, Middletown, Conn.

Mingay's Patent Anti-Dripping MOLASSES PITCHER.

WE have just received a large invoice of this now and valuable article. Every housekeeper should set aside the old Molasses Cup (or throw it out of the window) which soils more clean Table Cloths than any other article on the table, and purchase one of the NEW PITCHERS, which prevents all dripping and dropping of Molasses. As we have the entire control of this article, we shall offer inducements to parties wishing to introduce it into any of the States.
Persons out of business at this time, and wish-
