

Housatonic

Republican

Minnesota Banking House of BOSTWICK, PEASE & Co.

The wonder of the Age! No Pay

NO HUMBLED TRY IT! Dr. Tobias has warranted his Liniment for eight years

S. D. & H. W. SMITH, MANUFACTURERS OF MELODEONS ORGAN MELODEONS.

The First Premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association

THE ORGAN MELODEON Is designed for parlor and private use

MELODEONS RENTED. Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing

Price List. Scroll leg, 4 1/2 octave. $50

George W. Peet, ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW, AND NOTARY PUBLIC.

Burning Fluids and Oils. SOLD CHEAP, AT THE DRUG STORE.

Early Rising. BY JOHN G. BAXE. "God bless the man who first invented sleep!"

Yes—bless the man who first invented sleep (I really can't avoid the irritation): But blast the man with curses loud and deep.

Thompson, who sung about the "Seasons," said It was a glorious thing to rise in season.

'Tis beautiful to leave the world awhile For the soft visions of the gentle night

CHARM OF THE POLKA.—A country girl writing to her friends, says of the polka the dancing doesn't amount to much

Knowledge may stumble in the memory but it never dies; it is like the dormouse in the ivy tower

A young lady explained to a printer the other day, the distinction between printing and publishing

A young man named Spencer, in Broome County, N. Y. loved a fair damsel to destruction

If you wish to be a favorite of the girls, generally attend to their wants, that is give them rides, candy, and raisins

HARD ON THE SWINE.—A western New York farmer writes as follows to a distinguished agriculturist

SUCCESSFUL DOG TRAINING.—A hopfulness, who was the owner of a young bull terrier, was one day training the animal in art of being ferocious

"I can marry any girl I please," said a young man, boastfully. "Very true," replied his waggish companion

Speak Kindly. In our daily intercourse with those we love—in our family relations as husbands and wives, parents and children, brothers and sisters

The experience of an acquaintance, revealed by himself not long ago, illustrates most forcibly the above position. He had been living, he said, away from home for several months, and was on a visit a week or two, at his father's house and merely said I must bid him good bye, as the coach was coming. "Have you nothing to say, Charles? he inquired.

What's that noise? innocently inquired the Yankee. "We are approaching a town," said the Englishman.

"I never shall forget," said the narrator "nor cease to regret the incident of my last visit home during my father's life.

"An angry blush passed over his countenance, as such a usual reception of his commands, but he checked himself instantaneously, and answered with such unusual mildness:

"Charles, I may have erred in many points touching the government of my children, but I have endeavored to do my duty as a parent and as a man.

"I went to the ball, but I did not enjoy myself; I was jovial and full of glee! my associates thought me in unusually good spirits, but it was all feigned, and hollow hearted as a sepulcher.

"The True Woman.—The true woman for whose ambition a husband's adoration is sufficient; who uppies her military ustines to discipline of her house-hold, and whose legislative faculties themselves in making laws for the nursery

"LET ME SLEEP," said my companion, half pettishly turning from my couch. "Let me sleep." The words haunted my memory for hours afterwards.

"Let me sleep," says the traveler, who footsore and weary, has toiled long in the world, and seen hopes perish unfulfilled: joys wither ere they, are tasted; friendships which he thought enduring, changing hue like chameleons, and rainbow promises fading and melting into colorless air.

There cometh a sleep to all!—a sleep, deep hushed and breathless. The roar of cannon, the deep-toned thunderbolt, the shock of an earthquake, the rash of ten thousand armies cannot break up its still repose.

A Fast Story. An Englishman was bragging of the speed on English railroads to a Yankee traveler seated at his side in one of the cars of a "fast train."

"We are approaching a town," said the Englishman. They have to commence ringing about ten miles before they get to a station, or else the train would run by it before the bell could be heard!

"I was going at a tremendous rate, hurricanes were nowher—and I had to hold my hair on. We saw a two horse wagon crossing the track, about five miles ahead and the engineer let the whistle shriek like a trooper.

From the Homestead. Connecticut Agriculture. SALISBURY.—Geography and History. This town at the extreme North-west corner of Conn. and bounded by N. Y. and Mass.

It is said to be one of the youngest or latest settled towns in the State and that several years before it was "laid out" or surveyed a committee was sent into this region by the Colonial Legislature to explore and lay out new towns and who it seems did not probably possess the energy and perseverance of a Fremont or a Kane

Notwithstanding these untoward reports of olden times and bygone days and men, within the past ten years the amount of taxable property of this town was exceeded by only seventeen towns in the state, and it is doubtful whether it is more broken and mountainous than a majority of New England towns, but be this as it may, like the man who had twenty children, but none to spare; we would not part with a single mountain or pond.

It would scarcely seem to need hesitating on, that a young girl made to live. That is the express object of all this complicated machinery of youth and beauty. The lungs are to breathe, the heart to beat, the legs to run, the hands to clasp, the lips to kiss, and the eyes to shine.

THE GIRLS.—Girls need exercise. The reason we have so many sickly specimens now a days is because they are denied this requirement of nature. Let mothers read this carefully:

It would scarcely seem to need hesitating on, that a young girl made to live. That is the express object of all this complicated machinery of youth and beauty. The lungs are to breathe, the heart to beat, the legs to run, the hands to clasp, the lips to kiss, and the eyes to shine.

and one contains an island of nearly forty acres on which the necessary buildings are now being erected for an extensive "henery," 3000 hens are to be kept there. Thus it will be seen that these mountains and ponds which were so objectionable to two primary committees are very important features in connection with the prosperity of the town and its business interest

The Taghonic range of mountains extends the entire length of the town on its Western border with a single break or pass about half a mile broad through which the only direct egress into the State of New York and to the Harlem railroad which here runs only about a mile West of the State and town line.

One important fact in regard to this town when compared with some half a dozen other towns in this section of the State may here be noticed, which is the absence of stones and rocks throughout all of our cleared lands, together with our warm, deep, and genial soil adapted to grain growing, when contrasted with the soil and lands of those towns; indeed for a long series of years, especially before the Western Canal and Railroad were constructed, this town furnished immense quantities of grain to those towns which are less adapted to its culture, and it is doubted whether there is another town in the State where there were more moving machines in operation the past season than here; and it is also doubted whether any town, except it may be in the Connecticut River Valley, can show so beautiful, extensive, and fertile flats and meadows as those owned by Messrs. Little, Vandusen, and Ward in the Eastern part of the town, and by Messrs. Bushnell, Coffins, Sage, Stiles and others near the center.

One important fact in regard to this town when compared with some half a dozen other towns in this section of the State may here be noticed, which is the absence of stones and rocks throughout all of our cleared lands, together with our warm, deep, and genial soil adapted to grain growing, when contrasted with the soil and lands of those towns; indeed for a long series of years, especially before the Western Canal and Railroad were constructed, this town furnished immense quantities of grain to those towns which are less adapted to its culture, and it is doubted whether there is another town in the State where there were more moving machines in operation the past season than here; and it is also doubted whether any town, except it may be in the Connecticut River Valley, can show so beautiful, extensive, and fertile flats and meadows as those owned by Messrs. Little, Vandusen, and Ward in the Eastern part of the town, and by Messrs. Bushnell, Coffins, Sage, Stiles and others near the center.

One important fact in regard to this town when compared with some half a dozen other towns in this section of the State may here be noticed, which is the absence of stones and rocks throughout all of our cleared lands, together with our warm, deep, and genial soil adapted to grain growing, when contrasted with the soil and lands of those towns; indeed for a long series of years, especially before the Western Canal and Railroad were constructed, this town furnished immense quantities of grain to those towns which are less adapted to its culture, and it is doubted whether there is another town in the State where there were more moving machines in operation the past season than here; and it is also doubted whether any town, except it may be in the Connecticut River Valley, can show so beautiful, extensive, and fertile flats and meadows as those owned by Messrs. Little, Vandusen, and Ward in the Eastern part of the town, and by Messrs. Bushnell, Coffins, Sage, Stiles and others near the center.

One important fact in regard to this town when compared with some half a dozen other towns in this section of the State may here be noticed, which is the absence of stones and rocks throughout all of our cleared lands, together with our warm, deep, and genial soil adapted to grain growing, when contrasted with the soil and lands of those towns; indeed for a long series of years, especially before the Western Canal and Railroad were constructed, this town furnished immense quantities of grain to those towns which are less adapted to its culture, and it is doubted whether there is another town in the State where there were more moving machines in operation the past season than here; and it is also doubted whether any town, except it may be in the Connecticut River Valley, can show so beautiful, extensive, and fertile flats and meadows as those owned by Messrs. Little, Vandusen, and Ward in the Eastern part of the town, and by Messrs. Bushnell, Coffins, Sage, Stiles and others near the center.

One important fact in regard to this town when compared with some half a dozen other towns in this section of the State may here be noticed, which is the absence of stones and rocks throughout all of our cleared lands, together with our warm, deep, and genial soil adapted to grain growing, when contrasted with the soil and lands of those towns; indeed for a long series of years, especially before the Western Canal and Railroad were constructed, this town furnished immense quantities of grain to those towns which are less adapted to its culture, and it is doubted whether there is another town in the State where there were more moving machines in operation the past season than here; and it is also doubted whether any town, except it may be in the Connecticut River Valley, can show so beautiful, extensive, and fertile flats and meadows as those owned by Messrs. Little, Vandusen, and Ward in the Eastern part of the town, and by Messrs. Bushnell, Coffins, Sage, Stiles and others near the center.

One important fact in regard to this town when compared with some half a dozen other towns in this section of the State may here be noticed, which is the absence of stones and rocks throughout all of our cleared lands, together with our warm, deep, and genial soil adapted to grain growing, when contrasted with the soil and lands of those towns; indeed for a long series of years, especially before the Western Canal and Railroad were constructed, this town furnished immense quantities of grain to those towns which are less adapted to its culture, and it is doubted whether there is another town in the State where there were more moving machines in operation the past season than here; and it is also doubted whether any town, except it may be in the Connecticut River Valley, can show so beautiful, extensive, and fertile flats and meadows as those owned by Messrs. Little, Vandusen, and Ward in the Eastern part of the town, and by Messrs. Bushnell, Coffins, Sage, Stiles and others near the center.

One important fact in regard to this town when compared with some half a dozen other towns in this section of the State may here be noticed, which is the absence of stones and rocks throughout all of our cleared lands, together with our warm, deep, and genial soil adapted to grain growing, when contrasted with the soil and lands of those towns; indeed for a long series of years, especially before the Western Canal and Railroad were constructed, this town furnished immense quantities of grain to those towns which are less adapted to its culture, and it is doubted whether there is another town in the State where there were more moving machines in operation the past season than here; and it is also doubted whether any town, except it may be in the Connecticut River Valley, can show so beautiful, extensive, and fertile flats and meadows as those owned by Messrs. Little, Vandusen, and Ward in the Eastern part of the town, and by Messrs. Bushnell, Coffins, Sage, Stiles and others near the center.

One important fact in regard to this town when compared with some half a dozen other towns in this section of the State may here be noticed, which is the absence of stones and rocks throughout all of our cleared lands, together with our warm, deep, and genial soil adapted to grain growing, when contrasted with the soil and lands of those towns; indeed for a long series of years, especially before the Western Canal and Railroad were constructed, this town furnished immense quantities of grain to those towns which are less adapted to its culture, and it is doubted whether there is another town in the State where there were more moving machines in operation the past season than here; and it is also doubted whether any town, except it may be in the Connecticut River Valley, can show so beautiful, extensive, and fertile flats and meadows as those owned by Messrs. Little, Vandusen, and Ward in the Eastern part of the town, and by Messrs. Bushnell, Coffins, Sage, Stiles and others near the center.

One important fact in regard to this town when compared with some half a dozen other towns in this section of the State may here be noticed, which is the absence of stones and rocks throughout all of our cleared lands, together with our warm, deep, and genial soil adapted to grain growing, when contrasted with the soil and lands of those towns; indeed for a long series of years, especially before the Western Canal and Railroad were constructed, this town furnished immense quantities of grain to those towns which are less adapted to its culture, and it is doubted whether there is another town in the State where there were more moving machines in operation the past season than here; and it is also doubted whether any town, except it may be in the Connecticut River Valley, can show so beautiful, extensive, and fertile flats and meadows as those owned by Messrs. Little, Vandusen, and Ward in the Eastern part of the town, and by Messrs. Bushnell, Coffins, Sage, Stiles and others near the center.

One important fact in regard to this town when compared with some half a dozen other towns in this section of the State may here be noticed, which is the absence of stones and rocks throughout all of our cleared lands, together with our warm, deep, and genial soil adapted to grain growing, when contrasted with the soil and lands of those towns; indeed for a long series of years, especially before the Western Canal and Railroad were constructed, this town furnished immense quantities of grain to those towns which are less adapted to its culture, and it is doubted whether there is another town in the State where there were more moving machines in operation the past season than here; and it is also doubted whether any town, except it may be in the Connecticut River Valley, can show so beautiful, extensive, and fertile flats and meadows as those owned by Messrs. Little, Vandusen, and Ward in the Eastern part of the town, and by Messrs. Bushnell, Coffins, Sage, Stiles and others near the center.

Housatonic Republican.

Saturday, Sept. 12, 1887.

The HOUSATONIC REPUBLICAN, (successor to the...)

We have to record the burning of the... Fire.

This section of the County has been... Horse Stealing.

The second transaction occurred a week... This land of steady habits was visited...

The meeting which we noticed last... The iron interest of Connecticut is a...

The Rev. P. Kelley delivered his Fare... The proprietors of the famous horses...

Mr. Editor.—On Monday evening, (the...)

The autumn Term of the Superior Court... Judge Seymour presiding—commenced...

A meeting of the stockholders of The... Tall Corn.—Mr. P. Jacobs of Wetau...

Also, W. S. Marsh Esq., has left with... We have been shown a Tomato plant...

The proprietors of the Stone Quarry... The iron interest of Connecticut is a...

The meeting which we noticed last... The iron interest of Connecticut is a...

The Rev. P. Kelley delivered his Fare... The proprietors of the famous horses...

The Rev. P. Kelley delivered his Fare... The proprietors of the famous horses...

Correspondence of the Republican... A THOUSAND MILES IN A THOUSAND...

The number of spectators throughout... The number of spectators throughout...

A New Work.—We understand that... Mr. Editor.—Enclosed I send you...

Mr. Editor.—Enclosed I send you... The wool enclosed was of the finest...

We see by the Waterbury Journal... We suppose the Pic-Nic of to-day...

The Chicago Press of Aug. 29th, says... The Chicago Press of Aug. 29th, says...

THE VACANT JUDGESHIP.—There be... THE VACANT JUDGESHIP.—There be...

GEORGE R. SMITH, OF THE DEMOCRAT... GEORGE R. SMITH, OF THE DEMOCRAT...

Washington, D. C. Feb. 12, 1887... Messrs. RADWAY & Co.

It is a well known fact that physicians... It is a well known fact that physicians...

What Laly or Gentleman would be deriv... THE HAIR! THE HAIR!!

BEATH, WYNKOOP & CO. Proprietors... BEATH, WYNKOOP & CO. Proprietors...

THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U... THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U...

THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U... THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U...

THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U... THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U...

THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U... THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U...

THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U... THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U...

THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U... THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U...

THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U... THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U...

THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U... THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U...

THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U... THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U...

THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U... THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U...

THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U... THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U...

THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U... THE U. S. OF AMERICA AND THE U...

