The World's Friendship.

BY H. WARD.

Away, ye false delusive throng!
Where are the promises ye gave?
The flatteries of each lying tongue
Are but the echoes of the grave.

Bury me with my Fathers.

BY CHARLES M. CLEVELAND.

O bury me not in the wild wood lone,
Through its quiet is never broken;
Nor yet in a spot obscure, unknown,
Where a word is never spoken.

The Journeyman Printer.

A small lamp hung out by life's wayside,
Unnoticed, yet its unpretending ray
Shines clearly on man's intellectual way,
And proves to pilgrims an unfailing guide;

MISCELLANY.

Anthony Wayne, at Brandywine. A REVOLUTIONARY LEGEND.

BY GEORGE LIPFARD.

On a cold winter's day—far back in the olden time—in front of a rude stone school-house, that arose from among an orchard, whose leafless branches stood out against the clear blue sky, a crowd of school boys might have been seen hurrying to and fro in the excitement of battle.

Their cheeks glowed crimson with the fever of the fight, as armed with little globes of snow, they raised their battle shout, they met in conflict, now rallying here, now retreating yonder—one party defending the entrenchments of ice and snow, while another band came on, the forlorn hope of the minute frays.

It was true, the weapons that they hurled, the fort which was at once the object of fight, and attack and defence, were all of frozen snow, yet the conflict was carried on with an energy and skill worthy many a bloodier fight.

You see the fort, rising before the dark school house, a mound of snow, over a waste of snow, its summit lined with the brave defenders, while the forlorn hope of the enemy, come rushing to the conflict, resolved to force the entrenchments, and put the conquered soldiers to the sword. Not a sword of steel, but a formidable blade, carved with a pen-knife, from a branch of hickory or oak.

The hearty shouts of the combatants, ring out upon the winter air, their cheeks flash, their eyes fire, the contest deepens, and the crisis of the fight is near.

You see that boy, not more than 10 years old, standing erect upon the fortress wall, his hazel eyes rolling like sparks of fire in his ruddy face, with his curly hair, white with snowy fragments, is blown around his brow by the winter wind.

He is the master spirit of the scene. He urges his comrades with the merry shout, now bending to gather new balls of snow, now hurrying to the faces of the enemy, while his burning chest expands his nostrils quivering in curls with the excitement.

It was he that raised this fort, and leading his comrades from their books, marshalled them in battle array.

exile and a wanderer; nor yet like Washington, as the leader of a People. No! surrounded by the memories of childhood, his foot upon his native soil, his chest swelling with the air that came rich and fragrant over the orchards of his native valley, he had buckled on the sword to fight for that valley—the steepest of that soil.

By his side stood his gallant room, caparisoned for the battle.

Tradition tells us that it was a noble steed with small head, broad chest, and tapering limbs. When he rushed into the fight, it was with neck arched, eye rolling in fire, and dark mane quivering on the breeze.

Wayne stood with his head resting on his sword hilt. In stature not more than an inch above the middle height, in form displaying a hardy energy, an iron vigor, in every outline, was clad in a blue coat, faced with buff and, falling upon his broad chest, there was a belt of dark leather over his breast, military boots on his limbs—a plain chapeau, adorned by a plume of red and white, surmounted his brow.

Surrounded by his brave men, Wayne looked upon the opposite steep, and looked for the layonets of the foe.

At last they came. By the first gleam of morning light, he saw the Hessian soldiers, brim in form, loaded with ornaments and armed to the teeth, emerge from the shadows of the trees. They, heavy accoutrements, their livery caps bulgy with fur, their well filled knapsacks, were clearly perceptible in the morning light.

Wayne beheld them come, and spoke to the cannoneers, arrayed in their faded uniforms of blue and buff.

In a moment, those cannon at his feet uttered a volume of smoke, that rolled the folds of gloomy grandeur, high upward into the azure heavens.

He saw them rush from the embankment—he beheld them overspread the meadow. Here the steel cap of Porterfield, gleaming over the heads of his men. Bending from the fortified knoll, Wayne watched their career, with an interest that fired his eye with deeper light.

Over the meadow, into the trees, a solitary rifle shot yelled on the air—a single death-groan shrieked into the clear heavens.

Wayne beheld it all! While the Hessian cannon answered to his own, while the fire from the knoll was answered by the blaze yonder, Wayne bent forward, laid his hand on the neck of his steed, and watched the progress of the fight.

He was about to spring on his steed, and rush into the conflict, when he saw his Riflemen come out from the woods again, their arms dimmed their faces dappled with blood.

Notes to the Siamese Twins.

A correspondent of the Raleigh [N. C.] Bible Recorder, under date of August 2d, 1847, gives the following account of a visit to the Siamese Twins, Cheng and Eng, who will be remembered, traveled through this country some fifteen years since.

In company with my friend William M. Nance, I called to see the Siamese Twins, Cheng and Eng, residing about one-half mile from the city of Raleigh, N. C.

They are both about twenty-five years of age. There appeared to be a number of servants about the premises of different ages and sexes. Their house is small, but they are making arrangements to build a new and commodious one. The wife of one of them and two of their children, were at Wilkes. They are alternately at each place, and so continue until they build a new house, or sell their plantation in Wilkes, which they design to do. They take much pleasure in farming and have a fine crop, and are quite plain and economical in their dress and manner of living, are fond of hunting, and with their wives and children, apparently quite happy and contented.

Effects of the absence of Sun and Air.—Dr. Moore, the eloquent and amiable author of "The Use of the Body in relation to the Mind," says:—A tadpole confined in darkness, would never become a frog, and in fact deprived of heaven's free light, would only grow into a shapeless idiot, instead of a beautiful and reasonable being. Hence it startles the traveler. It is a strange, melancholy idiosyncrasy. Many citizens are incapable of any articulate speech; some are deaf, some are blind, some labor under all the privations, and all are miss happen in almost every part of the body. I believe there is in all places, a marked difference in the healthiness of houses, according to their aspect with regard to the sun, and that those are the healthiest, in which all the rooms are, during some part of the day, fully exposed to direct light. It is a well known fact that epidemics attack inhabitants on the shady side of a street, and totally except those on the other side; and even in epidemics, such as ague, the morbid influence is often thus partial in its action.

Fearful Adventure.—Mr. Moffat, in his "Scenes in Southern Africa," gives an account of his escape from a tiger and a serpent, which was truly providential. He had left the wagon to which he belonged, and wandered to a distance among the coppice and grassy openings in quest of game. He had a small double-barrelled gun on his left shoulder, which was loaded with a ball and small shot. An antelope passed at which he fired and slowly followed the course it took. After advancing a short distance, he saw a tiger-cat staring at him between the forked branches of a tree, behind which his long spotted body was concealed, twisting and turning his tail like a cat just going to spring on its prey. This he knew was a critical moment. Not having a shot or ball in his gun, he moved about as if in search of something on the grass, taking care to retreat at the same time. After getting as he thought a suitable distance to turn his back, he moved somewhat more quickly, but in his haste to escape what was behind, he did not see what was before, until startled by treading on a large cobra di capello serpent, asleep on the grass. It instantly twisted its body around his leg, on which he had nothing but a thin pair of trowsers, when he leapt from the spot, dragging the venomous deadly and enraged reptile after him, and while in the act of throwing itself into a position to bite, without turning round, he threw his piece over his shoulder and shot it. Taking it by the tail he brought it to his people at the wagon, who, on examining the bags of poison, asserted that had the snake bitten him, he could never have reached the wagons. The serpent was six feet long.

The editor of the Albany Knickerbocker seems to keep a close eye upon the markets, and to note the rise and fall of prominent commodities, with great care and exactitude. It appears by his late quotations, that most matters are rising. Flour had already risen fifty cents a barrel, and potatoes were preparing to follow: in short every thing was rising but the Millerites, and they had tried, but couldn't get up.

Governor Bissell has issued a Proclamation officially announcing the defeat of the proposed amendment of the Constitution, relative to extending the Elective Franchise to people of color.—Waterbury Amer.

Singular Alternative.

It was formerly a law in Germany, that a female condemned to capital punishment, would be saved, if any man would marry her. A young girl at Vienna was on the point of being executed, when her youth and beauty made a great impression upon the heart of one of the spectators who was a Neapolitan, middle aged man, but excessively ugly. Struck with her charms, he determined to save her, and running immediately to the place of execution, declared his intention to marry her.

The executioner, however, would not consent, and the girl was not saved. The Neapolitan then, calling to the executioner, he was a gentleman of some property, and that he wished he was a king, he might offer her a generous proof of his attachment. The girl, replied the executioner, fully sensible of your affection and generosity, but I am not at all over my head, and I cannot believe my own charms. Unfortunately they control me, and I prefer the death with which you threaten, to marry with an ugly husband. The Neapolitan, seeing this, directed the executioner to do his office.

Travellers' Sufferings and Deaths.—On Sunday, Oct. 20, the London and Boston, a vessel from Liverpool, freighted with a general cargo, and passengers, arrived at Quebec, in a most wretched state. When sailing, her passengers numbered 435, passengers, and two cabin. Before her arrival at quarantine station, she had lost upwards of one hundred and sixty of passengers and crew, and about sixty of the remaining passengers were then ill of the same complaint. So deplorable was the condition of those on board, that five of the passengers had to remain to work the ship, from Gross Isle, to Quebec, the Alliance, was sent down for them, and before they all were embarked, without respect to circumstances, the sickly, the healthy, the latter, and the vessel. On the way up from Gross Isle to Quebec, five deaths occurred. How many will have rates placed alongside a wharf to discharge her cargo.—Quebec Mercury.

A Great Squirrel Hunt lately came off at Northampton, Massachusetts. The sportsmen were divided into two parties of 50 each—one headed by Col. Thayer, the other by Major Cook. The Colonel's party came off the winner, having killed between six and seven hundred the most. The following is the list of game produced by both parties:

Foxes 5, Grey Squirrels 555, Red do. 3157, Striped do. 2442, Wood Peckers 725, Flying Squirrels 6, Raccoons 38—Crows 35, Hawks 23, Larks 2, Owls 32, Blue Jays 529, Weasels 3, Partridges 130, Muskrats 69, Woodchucks 1, Rabbits 68, Woodcocks 3, Pigeons 58, Ducks 2.

Making a total, as usually counted by sporting parties, of over nineteen thousand! Hand over the hat.—Waterbury Amer.

Ker-Thunk!—Some of the sons of Erin have ways of doing things, so peculiar in their modes and results, as to cause much mirth at their expense. The other day some of the workmen of the new Flushing hotel, were in want of a short ladder, when it was recollected that there were two spliced together and standing against the building. Two Irishmen were directed to unsplice the ladders. Instead of lowering them to the ground, and there performing the work, the two chaps ascended, and upon the upper ladder commenced the operation of loosening the fastenings. The consequences may be easily foreseen. The upper ladder, with two sons of St. Patrick upon it, came down "ker-thump" some feet, landing Teddy and Pat into a bed of mortar, very happily causing them no other injury than a severe fright. The idea of standing upon the lower ladder did not strike them until they had struck the ground.

A Newspaper in a Family.—The Onondaga Democrat truly remarks, that one of the greatest advantages of a newspaper to a family of children, is the constant stimulus which the facts and statements it contains, gives to the acquisition of historical, scientific, and geographical knowledge.—Who then, we add, that is a father, will be so penurious, not to say unnatural, as to refuse the tender objects of his affection and responsibility, such an important aid to their advancement? We inquire who?—Orleans Rep.

Suicide.—On Thursday morning last, Mr. Samuel Bishop of Watertown, who was staying at the house of Mr. Lockwood on Bunker Hill, (so called) in the western part of Waterbury, was found dead in his bed, although apparently well when he retired the night previous. An examination was had, and a Coroner's Jury summoned, who brought in a verdict that the deceased came to his death by taking opium administered by his own hand. The deceased was between 30 and 35 years of age, with out family, and we have heard no cause assigned for the rash act.—Waterbury Amer.

Beautiful Extracts.

I saw the temple reared by the hands of men, standing with its high pinnacles in the distant plain. The streams beat upon it—the God of Storms hurled his thunderbolts against it—and yet it stood as firm as adamant. Ravages, was in its hall—the gods, the happy, the young and the beautiful were there. I returned, and the temple was no more—its high walls lay in scattered ruins—moss and wild grass grew wildly there, and at the midnight hour the owl's cry added to the gloom.

Who is the destroyer? said I to my guardian angel.

It is Time, said he. When the morning stars sang together with joy over the new made world, he commenced his course; and when he shall have destroyed all that is beautiful of the earth—plucked the sun from its sphere—revelled the moon in blood; yes, when he shall have rolled the heavens and the earth away as a scroll, then shall an angel from the throne of God come forth, and with one foot on the sea, and one on the land, lift up his hand towards heaven and swear by heaven's eternal "Time is time was, but time shall be no more."

Scraps from my Grandfather's Pocket-Book.—Fools are persons are the light troops of the armies of the wicked; they do more mischief than the army itself; they infect and enrage.

The highest offices are like the tops of high rocks, they can be reached only by eagles and reptiles.

Delicacy is to the affections what grace is to beauty.

Plans may lean on illusion, but happiness whatever man proposes may say, the ungrateful and the perverse are exceptions to humanity.

Do not let the grass grow on the road of friendship.

To doom an honest man to remorse is the greatest of crimes.

Receipt for Cleaning Engravings.—Put the engraving on a smooth board, cover it thinly with common salt, finely pounded; pour or squeeze lemon juice upon the salt, so as to dissolve a considerable portion of it; elevate one end of the board so that it may form an angle of forty-eight or fifty degrees with the horizon. Pour on the engraving boiling water from a tea-kettle, until the salt and lemon juice be all washed off; the engraving will then be perfectly clean, and free from stains. It must be dried on the board or some smooth surface gradually. If dried by the fire or the sun, it will be tinged with a yellow color. Any one may satisfy himself of the perfect efficacy of this method, by trying it on an engraving of small value.—London Art Union.

Important from Mexico.

The steamship New Orleans arrived at New Orleans, on the 7th, with Vera Cruz papers to the 1st of November inst.

Our troops numbering 1000, speedily captured Atlixco, without resistance.

Rumors of peace were generally throughout the City of Mexico. A number of officers have been granted leave of absence for the recruiting service.

The force which took possession of Orizaba was not over 400 strong. W. C. Tolby, Esq., of Philadelphia, has established a new paper in Mexico, entitled the North American.

Universal quietness reigned throughout the City of Mexico. Gen. Taylor took up his line of march for the effective force of 250 men.

The Americans soon after, evacuated Huamantla, and marched to Pinal, on the Puebla road, where they re-formed a junction with General Lane...

The climate of the valley of Mexico is said to be very prejudicial to the health of the troops, so that the effective force has been reduced at the rate of 10 or 15 out of an hundred.

It would be well in most instances if advice were not given until asked for.

THE FARMER.

Agriculture of Mexico.

The people of Mexico seem far behind the general progress of civilization in the present age, and judging from the frequent and well written accounts recently received from authentic sources, of the state of the country, the customs, manners, arts, &c. of the people, their advancement from primitive simplicity and ignorance is small; and although possessing one of the most favorable climates and generally productive soils for agriculture, it is a science by the inhabitants but little understood.

Irish potatoes cannot be raised, or at least have not been grown in many parts of Mexico, although we know not why in some parts of the country they might not be introduced to advantage.

THE OLIO.

Woman's Advantages.—A woman may say what she likes to you, without the risk of getting knocked down for it. She can take a snooze after dinner, while her husband has to go to work.

Man's Advantages.—A man may say what he likes about his neighbors without being called a gossip for it. He can enjoy a cigar after dinner, while his wife has to wash the dishes.

Playing Old Soldier.—A hard old case, who had for many years belonged to the rank and file of Uncle Sam's little army stationed in the garrison in Prairie du Chien, after exhausting all other plans of getting whiskey, wherewithal to wet his old whiskie, he hit upon the following expedient for smuggling the "critter" into the garrison.

Qats and rye are not grown in Mexico; barley, however, grows finely, and might be produced in large quantities.

Nearly all descriptions of vegetables grow very finely. With most kinds, a person may select his own time for planting.

The same writer says: "Riding on the 10th of December up the valley in which Parras is situated, I came to a field where they were sowing the wheat broadcast on the unploughed ground.

Gen. Taylor's Titles.—We find on examination, that Gen. Taylor has as many titles as the Duke of Wellington.

Not a Bad Idea!—A gentleman at Penn Yan exhibited a baby jumper at the Yates County Agricultural Fair, a few days since, and we perceive that the Committee on Discretionary Premiums awarded him "the thanks of the Ladies!"

Sam, why is the dandies in Chesnut street like Mexican soldiers? "Oh, I gins dat up, Joe, without wipkin."

Taylor! ha, ha! Joe, dat'll mortalize you.

Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla. The most Extraordinary Medicine in the World!

THIS extract is put up in bottles; it is six times cheaper, pleasanter to take, and more superior to any other. It cures diseases without vomiting, purging, sickening, or debilitating the patient. The great benefit and superiority of this Sarsaparilla over all other medicines is, while it eradicates every disease it invigorates the body. It is one of the very best Spring and Summer medicines ever known; it not only purifies the whole system and strengthens the person, but creates new, pure and rich blood; a power possessed by no other medicine. And in this lies the grand secret of its wonderful success. It has performed within the past two years more than 30,000 cures of severe cases of disease, the least of which were considered incurable. More than 6,000 of these were considered incurable. More than 8,000 cases of chronic rheumatism. 2,000 cases of dyspepsia. 4,000 cases of general debility and want of energy. 7,000 cases of the different female complaints. 2,000 cases of scrofula. 1,500 cases of liver complaints. 2,500 cases of disease of the kidneys and dropsy. 8,000 cases of consumption.

And thousands of cases of disease of the blood, viz: ulcers, erysipelas, skin eruptions, pimples on the face, &c. These, with numerous cases of sick headache, pain in the side and chest, spinal affections, &c. This, we are aware, may appear incredible, but we have letters from physicians and our agents from all parts of the United States, informing us of extraordinary cures. R. Van Buskirk, Esq., one of the most respectable druggists in Newark, N. J., informed me that he can refer to more than 150 cases in that place alone. There are thousands of cases in the city of New York which we will refer to with pleasure, and to men of character. It is the best medicine for the preventative of every disease known. It undoubtedly saved the lives of more than 5,000 CHILDREN THE PAST SEASON, as it removed the cause of disease, and prepared them for the Summer season.

UNITED STATES OFFICERS. Capt. G. W. McLean, of the United States Navy, and one of the New Jersey Legislature, has kindly sent us the following certificate. It tells its own story. "I was taken with the influenza, and my whole system left in a debilitated state. I was induced to try Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla, and after taking two or three bottles, I was very much relieved, and attribute it entirely to the said Sarsaparilla. I have continued taking it, and find that I improve every day. I believe it saved my life, and I would not be without it under any consideration."

SEROFULA CURED. This certificate conclusively proves that this Sarsaparilla never fails to cure the most obstinate diseases of the blood. Three persons cured in one house is unprecedented.

bad sores, have taken some four bottles; it took them away, for which I feel myself under deep obligation. Yours, respectfully, ISAAC W. CRAIN, 106 W. 3rd Street, New York, March 1, 1847.

TO MOTHERS AND MARRIED LADIES.

This extract of Sarsaparilla has been expressly prepared in reference to female complaints. No female who has reason to suppose she is approaching that critical period, "The turn of life," should neglect it, as it is a certain preventative for any of the numerous and horrible diseases to which females are subject at this time of life. This period may be delayed for several years by using this medicine. Nor is it less valuable to those who are approaching womanhood, as it is calculated to assist nature by quickening the blood and invigorating the system. Indeed, this medicine is invaluable for all of the delicate diseases to which women are subject.

It braces the whole system, renews permanently the natural energies, restores the impurities of the body, not so far stimulating the system as to produce an unhealthy relaxation, which is the case of most medicines taken for female weakness and disease.

GREAT FEMALE MEDICINE.

Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla is a sovereign and speedy cure for incipient consumption, barrenness, leucorrhoea or whites, obstructed or difficult menstruation, inconvenience of urine, or involuntary discharge thereof, and the general prostration of the system—no matter whether the result of incontinent cause or causes, produced by irregularity, illness, or accident.

Nothing can be more surprising than its invigorating effects on the human frame. Persons subject to weakness and lassitude, from idleness, or at once become robust and full of energy and influence. It immediately counteracts the nervousness of the female frame, which is the great cause of barrenness. It will not be expected of us, in cases of so delicate a nature, to exhibit certificates of cures performed, but we can assure the afflicted, that hundreds of cases have been reported to us. Several cases where families have been without children, after using a few bottles of this invaluable medicine, have been blessed with a healthy offspring.

Dr. Townsend's My wife being greatly distressed by weakness and general debility, and suffering continually by pain and a sensation of bearing down, filling of the womb, and with other difficulties, and having known cases where your medicine has effected great cures; and also hearing it recommended for such cases as I have described, I obtained a bottle of your extract of Sarsaparilla, and followed the directions you gave me. In a short period it renewed her complaints and restored her health. Being grateful for the benefits she received, I take pleasure in thus acknowledging it, and recommend it to the public.

Corner of Grand and Lydian Sts. Albany, Aug. 17, 1847. OPINIONS OF PHYSICIANS. Dr. Townsend is almost daily receiving orders from physicians in different parts of the Union.

This is to certify that we, the undersigned, physicians of the city of Albany, have in numerous cases prescribed Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla, and believe it to be one of the most valuable preparations of the Sarsaparilla in the market.

H. P. PULING, M. D., J. WILSON, M. D., R. B. BRIGGS, M. D., P. E. ELMENDORF, M. D. Albany, April 1, 1845. The following is from one of the most respectable physicians on Long Island.

Dr. Townsend's Dear Sir—It is with satisfaction that I say to you, that I have recently witnessed, in several cases, the most beneficial results from the use of your extract of Sarsaparilla. Being engaged in a professional course, I have not had the opportunity of testifying to the value of this medicine in the removal of disease, and without benefit. In cases of the digestive organs, and, &c., it effects a cure of any thing of the kind, and is offered to the public. You will please send me two dozen, &c. Respectfully yours, S. C. FOSTON, M. D. RHEUMATISM.

This Sarsaparilla is used with the most perfect success in rheumatic complaints, however severe or chronic. The astonishing cures it has performed are indeed wonderful. Other remedies sometimes give temporary relief; this, entirely eradicates it from the system, even when the limbs and bones are dreadfully swollen.

Hear Mr. South Terry, one of the oldest and most respectable lawyers in Hartford, Conn. This is an extract of a letter received from him: "Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla has cured me of a chronic rheumatism, and I find it is excellent for all the affections of the digestive organs, and, &c., it effects a cure of any thing of the kind, and is offered to the public. You will please send me two dozen, &c. Respectfully yours, JOHN HALL, 49 Fulton St. July 5, 1846.

CAUTION. Owing to the great success and immense sale of Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla, a number of men who were formerly our agents, have commenced making Sarsaparilla Extracts, Elixirs, Bitters, &c. They generally put it up in the same shape, bottles, and copied our certificates and our agents' names, claiming that their is far superior, and four times as good as the public. Some use fictitious names, a few use their own; some of these unprincipled men publish counterfeit certificates others have induced their brothers and other interested persons to allow the use of their names, to which they put their signature, to give their respectability. One makes medicine and puts it with respectable names prepared by using Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla, published them as cured by his staff. He also publishes the certificate of a person who styles himself an M. D., who sends shoes, dishes, wall, and doctors' horses by turns for a livelihood. These and a great variety of other tricks are performed by these men to dispose of their trash. The public should be on their guard, and look out for counterfeits.

THE EXISTENCE OF THE INNUMERABLE DISEASES which afflict the human race, appear to be WHOLLY CONCENTRATED, in regard to MALIGNANT PAIN & DISTRESS. to a comparatively few in number. For instance, CONSUMPTION AND SCROFULA, are either of them particularly horrifying to the feelings of even a careless observer; and to the patient themselves, they are the very realization of a DEATH STRUGGLE.

No HUMAN SCIENCE has heretofore been enabled to extirpate these fearful complaints, and it was only by returning to the SIMPLE Resources of the Natural Kingdom, that success has been effected. DR. TOWNSEND'S INDIAN REMEDIES never have failed to help and cure the suffering, as is CONTINUALLY ATTESTED by a succession of witnesses and references of the highest respectability in character and influence. THE INCIDENTAL ITEMS in relation to the peculiar action of these remedies, in all LUNG, PULMONARY, and ERUPTIVE COMPLAINTS, are to be found in a free pamphlet to be had of the Agents.

Brant's Indian Pulmonary Balm is prepared expressly for the cure of Consumption, Coughs, Asthma, Cold, Bronchitis, Spitting of Blood, Pains in the Breast, Side or Back, and Liver Complaints; and Brant's Indian Purifying Extract is the Chief's Great Purifier of the Blood, and never has failed to cure Scrofula, Erysipelas, Ulcerated and Nursing Sore Mouth, Bites, Ulcers, Scald Head, Rheumatism, Soft Rheum, and all ERUPTIVE AND SKIN DISEASES, and by its extraordinary power in regulating and equalizing the circulation, DYSPEPSIA, PILES & CONSTIPATION.

BALLEYS ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR. The Wonder and Blessing of the Age. THIS medicine has more power and influence over disease than any other yet known. It entirely conquers Pain, Fire, Scar, Inflammation, and Mortification.

Fame, with her million tongues, says— "Next to the Bible let it be prized." No humane physician or parent should be without it in his moment. The pains of the worst burns are stopped instantly by it, and healed without a scar. It is also a sovereign remedy for the following diseases: Piles, both blunt and bleeding, Hemorrhoids, Scald-Head.

Rheumatism, inflammatory and chronic, Sore Eyes. Salt-Rheum, Spinal Weakness, Fever Sores, Wounds. Swellings, Broken Breasts, Sore Nipples, Strains. Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, Felons. Barbers' Itch, Ague in the Face, Sore Throat.

Tic Dolorous, Chapped hands. And any thing that is sore and painful. The unparalleled popularity of this medicine has excited the cupidity of certain worthless persons, who are now endeavoring to palm off a counterfeit or imitation article upon the public; therefore observe that every box of the genuine has the written signature of H. Dalley, the proprietor, upon its wrapper. All others are spurious and should be avoided.

Only depot for the United States, No. 208, Broadway, New York, where all orders must be addressed, post paid to H. Dalley. For sale by H. Dalley, sole proprietor, No. 200 Broadway, N. PROSPECTUS FOR THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE & APPENDIX. We issue this Prospectus to apprise the public of renewed preparations on our part, to publish the Congressional Globe and Appendix for the approaching session, and to invite subscriptions.

Having received from all parties in Congress, the strongest marks of approbation and confidence in the liberal plans and permanent contract voted to continue the work, we shall not be found wanting in the impartiality and industry necessary to the full and complete fulfillment of the engagement on our part.

The next session will take to the utmost the best efforts of those connected with the undertaking. It will be distinguished by discussions of extraordinary interest, and results of abiding concern. The war, its origin and conduct by officers in the cabinet and in the field, will furnish subjects of profound inquiry and consideration.

The terms of peace, the disposition to be made of conquests, and the consequences to be drawn from all that has been done, as affecting parties in this country, and especially as bearing on the approaching Presidential election, will open up novel and powerfully operating discussions, rendering the councils at Washington during the next year as pregnant of good or evil to this continent as those of Rome were to the Old World in the days of her early energy.

Every member will have an opportunity to read his remarks before they are put to press, and alter our report, if he shall think it incorrect.

THE APPENDIX is made up of the President's annual message, the reports of the principal officers of the government, the resolutions and speeches of members of Congress, written or read by themselves. It is printed in the same form as the Congressional Globe, and usually makes about the same number of pages during a session.

During the first month or six weeks of a session, there is rarely more business done than will make two numbers a week—one of the Congressional Globe, and one of the Appendix; but during the remainder of a session, there is usually sufficient matter for two or three numbers of each every week. The next session will be unusually interesting; therefore, we calculate that the Congressional Globe and Appendix together will make not less than 3,000 large quarto pages, printed in small type—brevier and nonpariel. We furnish complete indexes to both, at the end of a session.

We will endeavor to print a sufficient number of surplus copies to supply all that may be miscarried or lost in the mails; but subscribers should be very particular to file their papers carefully, for fear that we should not be able to supply all the lost numbers.

We have a few surplus copies of the Congressional Globe for the last session of Congress, which we will sell for the original subscription price—$1 a copy. We have no surplus copies of the Appendix for that session.

For one copy of the Congressional Globe, $1 00 For one copy of the Appendix, $1 00 For six copies of either or part of both, 10 00 Proprietors of newspapers who copy this Prospectus before the first day of December, and send us one copy of their paper containing it, marked around with a pen to direct our attention to it, shall have their names entered on our books for one copy of the Congressional Globe and Appendix, during the session.

Our prices for these papers are so low, that we cannot afford to credit them out. Therefore, no person need consume time in writing for them, unless the money accompanies the order.

Subscriptions should be sent by the 15th of December, at farthest, to ensure all the numbers. BEAVER & RIVES, Proprietors, Washington, October 4, 1847.
