To Velona.

The time has passed, those joy-winged hours, When we roamed through the fields and culled

When we sailed on the lake with a happy hand, Or roamed on the island, hand in hand; Our youthful hearts were dyed in love, Like the pure sun-beams from above.

Linger, Oh! linger around me still, Ye Visions of Memory that joyously thrill My heart with delight, till it causes to start A tear from the eye, and a thrill from the hear O speak, dear Velona; say, is it not truth, That the happiest moments are those of

For we see in those of maturer years, A shadier thought, and more bitter tears, A harder lot than the wave of Spring, The season of youth can ever bring; For Time with sorrow does often chill, Till Life's pleasures pass like the murmuring

The bark of life that bears us along With joy and sorrow, and happy song, Through sunshine and shadow, and deepen

That the sickle of Time has ever made; That bark must bear us through the gloom, Till we reach the border of the tomb.

How oft when twilight round us threw The curtain of night, and hid from view The scenes that please and charm the eye, From the landscape to the distant sky; How oft, I say, have we hinted the time That lies deep in the future's unfathon

But the future is hid; we cannot tell What joy or sorrow our bosoms will swell; But we must confidingly hope for the best, And all our cares on kind Providence rest, Who ever attends when His children cry, And sendeth them blessings from on high.

And Oh! may you ne'er have cause to sigh; May the gushing fount of thy heart ne'er dry May thy bark of life o'er the sea be borne, And thy soung affections ne'er be torn ment's withering hand, By Disappointment's withering hand, The blighter of many within our land.

May prosperity ever mark thy years, on calm all thy doubts and fears, And when thy sands of life are run, Calmly will set thy earthly sun ; No shade of doubt will cloud the way That leads to Heaven's eternal day.

Miscellaneous.

The Two Physicians,

Doctor Parkins and Doctor Baldwin, two physicians of considerable note, and of extensive practice, the former residing in the town of B.....k, Me., and the latter in the town of B.....h, Me., are the particular and identical individuals of whom we would have an anecdote to relate. Dr. Baldwin was decidedly an eccentric and an agreeable old fellow, besides being a man that understood his profession, and in all cases, we will do him in the vehicle squeaked in coming up, and that will do him justice to say he was kind and assiduous in the discharge of his duties to his patients. But Dr. Parkins was an epmutton, rare done-nothing suited him better than a roast turkey, well stuffed-or a pair of boiled chickens, with oyster sauce; he was also fond of good plum pudding, and mince pie, no matter how richly made, he never refused; in short, the Doctor loved all the good things of this world, in the shape of food. Now all these things, Dr. Parkins would have, and did have upon his ducks, and something, Dr. B., that you table in seasonable times, and more particularly when he had an acquaintance to dine with him. But of all kinds of food known to man, baked beans, was the greatest abhorrence to the epicurean physici-

It so happened that Dr. Baldwin fre-uently was called to B—k, in consultaon with Dr. Parkins, and on these occaons, Dr. B. was invariably invited to dine with Dr. P., when he was regaled with as umptuous a dinner as the most inveterate ourmand could desire. On the other and, Dr. Parkins was often called profeslly to B. h, when Dr. Baldwin

-the last time I was here was Saturday, | carved the fuscious looking turkey while you had them then.

was Monday—you had baked beans on that day, also,

Yes, yes, that is-but, ah, we have two baked beans days in a week!'
But you invariably have baked beans

Well, it must appear a little singular, a little strange, a striking coincidence, I may say, that we do always have baked beans whenever you come to town; I must confess I am very fond of beans, my family are fond of beans, my friends are fond of beans.' ' Very sorry, Dr., I don't know when you are coming—just as well get something be-sides, but I truly think there is no food like baked pork and beans; I could live upon beans; I desire nothing better than pork and beans.'

'There is no accounting for tastes,' replied Dr. P., who, perhaps for the twenti-eth time, had dined with his friend, and on every occasion baked beans made the principal feature of the dinner.

Now, perhaps, many of our readers may think that the reason Dr. B. so oftem made a dinner of baked beans, was in consequence of his love for them, but it was not so; it was all owing to the Doctor's parsimony, whose palate was as little in love with baked beans, as that of Dr. Parkins. It was all owing to Dr. B's extremely parsimonious habits—and his neighbors often declared that he had acquired his wealth by eating baked beans. Whether he did or did not, we will not argue or decide the point; but certain it is, that he loved roast beef, roast turkey, &c., quite as well as Dr. Parkins did, and he always looked forward to the time when he should go to B——k, and dine with his friend who afforded such sumptuous dinners.

It is not strange that Dr. Parkins also suspected the reason of his being so often regaled on this cheap article of food, and he determined, in some way or other, to give Dr. B. to understand, that he prefers roast beef and other succulent dishes to pork and beans. It was not long subsequent to the last time he dined on beans at Dr. Baldwin's, that the latter was professionally called to consult Dr. Parkins in regard to a patient who resided some two miles west of B——k. Before going, however, the Doctor invited his colleague, as usual, to dine with him on their return, and took pains before he started to order a sumptuous dinner, and invited several other friends to dine with him at four o'clock, some three hours later than usual. These preparations, however, were not previously made known to Dr. B.

With a slow gaited nag, they left the village at meridian, and reached their patient at one o'clock; another hour was consumed in examining, consulting and prescribing; and most untimely, as Dr. B. thought Dr. P's horse required shoeing, and this occupied another hour. Dr. B. made manifest his impatience to return in many ways, but Dr. P. seemingly unnoticed all the symptoms, and acted as leisurely as if he regarded the flight of time as of no particular consequence.

It was three o'clock-all was seemingly in readiness to return, and both had got the vehicle squeaked in coming up, and that to have them well greased before starting, was a matter of no small importance. So once more they alighted, and the process he loved good roast beef and boiled of wheel greasing was gone through with, on, rare done—nothing suited him betslow-gaited animal arrived at Dr. P.'s house precisely at half-past four. Dr. B. was hungry, very hungry, and to quote his own ssion, he was 'ravenously hungry.'

expression, he was 'ravenously numb.'.
Never mind, remarked Dr. P.,' we shall awaiting us. Roast beef, roast turkey, particularly like.'

Dr. B. involuntarily smacked his chops. As Dr. P. had ordered, there was a table sumptuously spread—a banquet fit for a prince or an alderman. The invited guests were placed around the table, but Dr. B. was the most honored, and a seat was assigned him beside his hospitable host. In order to make ourselves perfectly understood we may as well be particular as to the situation of the principal viands on the table. At the head, a noble, large, fat turkey rested upon a hugh white platter—opposite where one of the Doctor's particular friends sat, there was a surloin of beef the physician to dine with him, but on the eccasions, and they were many, and hout a single exception, baked beans was boiled with caper and oyster sauce, a tempting sight to any epicure; a brace of ducks boiled with caper and oyster sauce, a tempting sight to any epicure; a brace of ducks and several other dishes, which are termed drop of water contains as much electricity as an ordinary flash of lightning, enough as an ordinary flash of lightning, enough and between Dr. P. and Dr. B. there rose the 'other guests carve the other vians, and 'Ah, Dr., you're right, quite right—Saturday, yes Saturday was baked beans day

—we have changed it to Friday.'

But the time before that, Dr. Baldwin, it is been supported by the beans, he performed that operation without the remotest idea that he should satiate his gnawing appetite with a single mouthful of it, or beans which reposed under it. Dr. P. after carving the turkey, filled a But you invariably have baked beans large plate from the contents of the pot, and the day that I come; how does it always placing it before his right hand guest, said to the others with a sly wink, who had heard of the Dr's preference for beans.

Dr. Baldwin prefers beans to any other food: he has often told me there was noth-

Dr. H., in spite of his intention not to eat ond of beans, my friends are fond of beans. of his common, almost every day food, With one exception, interrupted Dr. thoughthat considering his host had spoken the truth he had better finish the beans, when he would regale his appetite with some of the more luxurious of dishes. He had swallowed nearly his last mouthful, when the guest who presided over the roast beef solicited him to take a slice of it. But before Dr. B. had time to assent Dr. P. interrupted him, and commenced lading out the beans into his colleague's plate, say-

> Dr. Baldwin loves beans—he is excessively fond of beans; in short he lives on

> In a few moments Dr. B's plate was again empty, when the guest who had carved the brace of ducks had invited him to try a nice bit of the duck-a real canvass back and truly luscious, at the same time raising the knife and fork to help him.

> 'Thank ye, with all my—
> 'Excuse me, Doctor.' interrupted the host again lading out the beans into his plate; I did not perceive you were not well helped—try another plate of your favorite food. 'Gentlemen, continued he, turning to the guests, Dr. Baldwin is particularly fond of beans; in his opinion nothing comes up to beans. I never dined with him in my life on any thing but beans The Dr. would starve without beans !

Another pause in the conversation and the gastronomic exercised was resumed,-Dr. B. said nothing, but hoped with confidence that after the third plate of beans was demolished, he should get a nice bit of the turkey, the duck, the beef, or any dish besides beene that was on the table, before his appetite was satiated. He had just concluded, when his host said to him, at the same time thrusting his carving knife into the second joint of a fine fat turkey,

Dr. Baldwin, here's a second joint fit for the Lord Mayor of London—fat and nicely cooked; I've just demolished its mate

But, seeming to recollect himself, he dropped the fork and the second joint, seized the ladle, and began to transfer the beans and pork from the brown earthen vessel to his guest's plate, at the same time addressing him, Excuse me Doctor, I forgot for the moment what I was about ; and then turning to his friends said, gentlemen, I believe I have told you that Dr, Baldwin is very fond of beans! He eats nothing but beans!"

The guests could assume their gravity no longer-They burst out into one loud boisterous, continued peal of laughter, in which Dr. B. did not heartily join. Dr. Parkins, in telling the story afterwards, which he frequently did to his particular friends, said that he was never again regaled on beans at Dr. Baldwin's.

Astronomical Discoveries.

At a meeting of the Royal Irish Acade ny in Dublin, on the 30th of January, Dr. Robinson announced some interesting facts in Astronomy, which the gigantic telescope of Lord Ross has recently brought to light, These relate to a remarkably planetary ne-bula, Herschel's figure 45. This looks like an oval disc, reminding one of the planet Jupiter; but it appears now to be a combination of two distinct bodies. In both these, the centre consists of a cluster of tolerably large stars; in the first, surrounded by a large globe of much smaller ones; in the other, by a flat disc of very small stars. which, when seen edgeways, had the appearance of a ray. This nebula, recently observed through Lord Ross' telescope, has the central cluster, the narrow ray, and the surrounding globe. A remarkable proof of the defining power of this vast instrument exists in the fact that Dr Robinson saw with it the companion of the well known Gamma Andromedae, or two blue stars, which he had never before seen. It was discovered by the celebrated Struve, with the great Pulkova refractor, and is a very severe test. The ring of Saturn, by the help of Ross' telescope shows irregularities, which are most probably mountains, on its eastern side. It is remarkable that this character of Saturn's ring was anticipated by La Place, though no telescope in his day was sufficiently powerful to make the

The Rumseller's Deathbed!

When I entered the room, the doctor sat by the patient's side, while he appeared insensible. His face was turned towards the wall, and his eyes were fixed. At length he started and then said:

'Do you think I am in danger, doctor?' The physician was loth to say so, as physicians usually are, and evaded the question. But Death's tide was at its full, and the sick man grew worse, rapidly.

'Oh, doctor! doctor! said he, 'there is something that preys on my mind—some-thing more terrible even than this fatal dis-

The patient tossed and tumbled about his eyes rolled and flashed, his brow was knit, and a mental hurricane swept over him. His wife attempted to soothe him, talked of heaven and mercy, but in vain. I told of the dying love of Christ, and the thief on the cross, but all would not do. The physician was equally unsuccessful in all his endeavors to calm the troubled mind of the dying man. . Take away your physic, doctor! it is useless! it cannot cure a mind diseased! Again penitence and pardon were spoken of and the physician and the sick man's family endeavored to pour oil upon the troubled waters. But they cast up mire and dirt. Can you tell me what troubles your mind so deeply?

'Oh! doctor! do not speak of it! I knew it was wrong! I sent their souls to hell! I made them drunkards!

The doctor answered, You have done no more than others; they would have sold if you had not.'

Don't tell me that! Their blood is on ny skirts-tear it out! Look! I see their faces, and their fiery eyes glaring upon me !-horror! horror

The physician soothed him as he would have soothed a child. 'It will relieve your mind,' said he to the sick man.

Oh God! I wish I could get relief!see ! doctor-see them all point their skinny fingers at me! Kill me! kill me!-There's Mrs. Briggs, to whom I sold rum the night her children starved. She asks for money to buy them bread—here she stands!—my God! my God!—I have not got the money—go to her—quick—quick—oh, horror!

' My dear sir,' said the physician, mildly, you are talking of shadows.'

'Heavens, doctor, do you call those shadows? Keep them out! There they come into the room !-shut the windowsbar the shutters! I see old Griffin who froze to death, he's trying to come in.— There's his winding sheet! oh, don't, don't

The physician then rose, to humor his miserable patient, went to the window and closed the shutter.

'Look there, doctor! there's a young woman whose husband I got drunk, and he murdered her! I took her coffin to pay his grog-bill! She cries out against me she shrieks and tears her hair—oh, oh!'

All efforts were found frui could succeed in quieting the tumult in his guilty soul. As a last resource, a clergy-man was mentioned to him, and with the fury of a demon, he shouted-the damned, whom I have made drunk, are let loose upon me! They pinch! they burn-they tear me-woe, woe, woe !'

And his burning eye became fixed in its socket—the death rattle came in his throat - he clasped his hands convulsively togethr-and died !- and amidst the howling of that fearful storm was heard the wails, and agonizing cries of the heart broken and terror-stricken children of the RUMSELLER!

Electricity vice Steam .- Since the discovery by Oersted of the magnetic power imparted to bars of iron by an electric current traversing copper wire coiled around them, numerous attempts have been made, with various degrees of success, to move machinery by the enormous force which we have thus at our command. The most remarkable experiments are those of Professor Jacobs, who in 1838 and 1839, succeeded in propelling a boat upon the river Neva at the rate of four miles an hour. At this time an engine is in process of construction in London, under the direction of Mr. Hojorth, a countryman of the great discoverer of electro-magnetism, which the patentee supposes will give a power equal o five horses. We have seen the model, which certainly embraces many new features that promise to render the application of the power more effective than it has been hitherto. One of the electro-magnets made for the large engine, in a recent trial, supported nearly 5000 lbs., and its attractive force at one eighth of an inch, was equal to 1,500 lbs. As this force can be multiplied without limits, the question is reduced entirely to one of economy and convenience.- London Athenœum.

Sensible Question .- An exchange paper asks the question, "What sort of an economist is the man who chews $10 worth of tobacco in a year, and stops his newspaper because he can't afford to pay for it?" We should say he belongs to that class who chews to be blockheads.

WOMAN AMONG THE GERMANS .- The following is an extract from " the Sexons in England," a new work, by Mr. John Mitchell Kemble, brother of Mrs. Fanny Kemble Butler.

"The German house was a holy thing the bond of marriage a sacred and symbolic engagement; holy above man, was woman herself. Even in the depths of their forests, the stern assigned to himself a station which nothing but that deep feeling could have rendered possible; this was the sacred sex, believed to be in nearer communion with divinity than men. In the superstitious tradition of their mythology, it was the young and beautiful Shieldmays, the maiden Næleyrian, who selected the champions that had deserved to become the guests of Woden. The matrons presided over the rites of religion, conducted divinations and encouraged the warriors on the field of battle. Veledas and Aurinias, prophetesses, in the bloom of youth and beauty, led the raw levies of the north in triumph over the veteran legions of Rome Neither rank nor wealth could atone for violated chastity; nor were, in general, any injuries more severely punished than those in which the main strength of man enabled him to inflict on woman. That woman in the family, held subordinate situation to man lies in the very nature of the family itself, and in the disposition and qualities which have been implanted in woman, to enable her to fulfil her appointed duties in the scheme of Providence, qualities not different in degree, but kind, from those of her helpmate, they may be the complement of his, and, united with his, make up the full circle of humanity. As an individual, wo-man was considered a being of a higher na-ture; as a member of the state, she was necessarily represented by him upon whom nature had imposed the joyful burden of her support, and the happy duty of her protection; a principle too little considered by those, who, with a scarcely pardonable offence, socialism, have clamored for what they call 'The Rights of Woman!'

The Lord's Prayer.-How many milions and millions of times has that prayer been offered by Christians of all denominations! So wide, indeed, is the sound thereof gone forth, that daily, and almost without intermission, from the ends of the earth, and afar off upon the sea, it is ascending to Heaven like incense, and a pure of the sea of offering. Nor needs it the gift of prophlcy to foretell, that, though " heaven and earth shall pass away," these words of our blessed Lord "shall not pass away," till every petition has been answered; till the kingdom of God shall come, and his will be done on earth as it is in heaven .- Montgomery.

Speaking of the ancient Romans, Johnson said, "They were a people, who were poor, robbed their neighbors; and when they became rich, robbed one another.

Now I Lay me Down to Sleep .- There are probably no four lines in the English language that are repeated so many times as the following:

"Now I lay me down to sleep
I pray the Lord my soul to keep:
If I should die before I wake,
I pray the Lord my soul to take."

Don't talk to me of a clergyman! My soul is lost! lost! The spirits of the damned, whom I have made drunk, are the loose upon me! They pinch! they before closing their eyes in sleep, ever since they were taught them in infancy.— The late ex-president of the United States John Quincy Adams, was among that number. A Bishep of the Methodist Church, in addressing a Sabbath School, told the children that he had been accustomed to say that prayer every night since his mother taught it to him when he was a little boy. In conversing recently with a ship master ver seventy years of age, and who has een for many years a deacon in church, he said that when he followed the sea, and even before he indulged a hope that he was a Christian, he never lay down in his birth at night without saying with great serious -ness, and he thought sincerity,

"Now I lay me down to sleep,"

He felt so strongly his need of religion, and his danger without it, that he used always to read his Bible, and place that precious book under his pillow at night and bright, I ne'er abroad could roam, without often to kiss the sacred volume, trusting. The bliss, the henor Miss, of seeing 1 no doubt, in this reverance for the word of God, instead of trusting alone in the Saviour.

Let every reader learn, and every night epeat that little prayer : "Now I lay me down to sleept"

Advertising.—A little man behind a big rock with a big platter full of pearls, at only a cent a piece, and keeps his own counsel, would probably sell nothing. It is of the gratest importance to make yourself and your goods known. A frog in the night ttracts more attention than a cow or an ox for he cries aloud.

To those who have tried adverti we need not say a word, for they w never discontinue the custom.

A western paper says, that no man who has paid regularly for his newspaper, was ever known to be bitten by a dog.

FRANCE.-Almost Another Revolution is very little news from the Continent of importance or general interest, except as it regards France. Immediately after the sailing of the Niagara, intelligence was received in England that the breach between the Assembly and the President had widened into a fearful gulf. A real or

The streets were occupied by not fewer than 80,000 men, and Gen. Changarnier plainly intimated that the first barricade that was attempted wealth be the signal for a general to be raised, would be the signal for a general slaughter. Whether the Red Republicans were surprised, or unprepared to cope with the extensive military arrangements concerted, certain it is that Paris for a few days trembled on the verge of a new revolution; the issue of which can scarce-ly be doubted, as Marshal Bugeaud was dispatched from Paris to bring up a strong division of the Army of the Alps, ostensibly to command Bourges during the State trials, but with no less object than that of overawing the Red Republicans in

Elopement in High Life.

A young man of indisputable character, residing in this city, says a Cincilnati paper, became enamored with the charms of a young, and beautiful girl whose father is in possession of immense wealth. The fair one is a resident in Kentucky, about 30 miles from Newport. She returned the young man's love with equal ardor, but "papa and mams," as is customary in these times, endeavored to blast the fond affection existing between the two young hearts. Every means was resorted to in order to bring about a reconciliation, but to no purpose, the old 'uns having firmly taken their stand, and resorted to every stratagem with a view to

Pipe for Epilepsy.—A poor fellow; a street pedlar, says the Chicago Tribune, fell in a fit opposite our office this morning, to which, it seems, he is frequently subject. A card was fastened upon his order, and which was written—"If I fall in a fit, light my pipe—it is the only thing that relieves me." He was removed to a neighboring house, and by the application of the remedy indicated, soon

From the New Haven Palladium. The Hard Winter of 1849.

The present Winter has been one of uncome severity, and has afforded a greater amount of sleighing than any one since 1827. Between the winter of that year and the present, there are many striking resemblances. That winter was likewise distinguished for steady cold weather, the wise distinguished for steady cold weather, the mean temperature for January being only 22 degrees, and for February only 28 degrees. A bed of snow unusually compact and indestructable, afof snow unusually compact and indestructable, af-forded uncommonly fine sleighing from about the 20th of December to nearly the 20th of February, and remains of this body of snow were to be seen till about the last of March.

The advantage of an uninterrupted covering of snow as a protection to the earth, were obvious as soon as it had disappeared, the ground being free from frost, and fitted to receive the full benefits of the returning sun. Light showers and mild weath er prevailed in April—the elms were putting out rapidly on the 4th, and the peach trees were in full bloom on the 34th. It appears, however, by com-parison, that the cold of the present season has exceeded that of the winter of 1827. The minimum temperature (which occurred Jan. 21st,) was then—7 degrees, or seven degrees below zero; ble exposure in York Square, was on Thursday morning, at sunrise, 9 degrees. On the preceding and following mornings, respectively, the mercury stood at 8 degrees. This morning it stood at 4 degrees. The circumstances attending the comement of the present cold weather are very similar to those of 1827. In both cases, about th 20th of December, a snow fell which afterwards melted and froze into a compact mass; and when-ever this is the case, it may be looked upon as the precursor of a hard winter. For such a solid mass of snow and ice is but slightly affected by the sun's rays, and since all access of heat from the ground is lost, the air remains so cold, that moisture, which would otherwise be precipitated in the form of rain, crystalizes and falls in the form of snow, thus adding to the amount already accumu-lated, and increasing the chances for more.

Whether we may expect an early Spring or not, may depend upon circumstances yet to be ascertained. Should the snow continue to cover ascertained. Should the snow continue to cover the ground a few weeks longer, a fine early Spring may be anticipated; but should it disappear at this place, while it remains in the interior, at the North and West, the air would continue cold, and the bare ground would be exposed to chilling winds and late frosts. In general, however, so constant a covering of snow during the winter months, is the healthness of an early and placent Spring. the harbinger of an early and pleasant Spring.

There were Giants in those Days .- Professor Silliman, in one of his lectures, mentions the discovery of an enormous animal of the lizard tribe measuring eighty feet in length, from which he infers that all animals have degenerated in size—and this supposition is fortified by a reference to the history of giants in olden time. It appears from the list furnished by the professor that we of the present day are mere parred with the huge individuals of antiquity.—
Here is the list:—
The giant exhibited at Rouen in 1755, measured

A Female California Company. Mrs. Eliza W. Farnham, of New York, whose nusband died at San Francisco, a few months since, proposes to form a company of 'intelligent, virtuous and efficient young women,' to emigrate to California. The following, is an extract from the good lady's prospectus, which we find in the N. Y. papers of Saturday : It is proposed that the company shall consist of persons not under 25 years of age; who shall bring from their clergyman, or some authority of the town where they reside, satisfactory testimonials of education, character, capacity, etc., and who can contribute the sum of $250, to defray the expenses of the voyage, make suitable provision for their accomposation after reaching San Francisco, until they shall be able to enter upon some occupation or their support, and create a fund to be held in reserve, for the relief of those who may be ill, or otherwise need aid, before they are able to provide for themselves.

It is believed that such an arrangement, with one undred or one hundred and thirty persons, would nable the company to purchase or charter a ves el, and fit it up with every thing necessary to con ort on the voyage, and that the combination of all for the support of each, would give such security, both as to health, person and character, as would remove all reasonable hesitation from the minds of hose who may be disposed, and are able to join ir such a missio

It is intended that the party shall include 6 or 8 respectable married men, and their families.

Our Candidates for State Officers.

It will be seen, on reference to the Proceedngs of the Democratic State Convention at New Haven, (which are published in this paper,) that Col. THOMAS H. SEYMOUR, of Hartford, is our Candidate for Governor; and CHARLES H. POND, Esq., of New Milford, for Lieutenant Governor.

These being the two most prominent offices in the State, and requiring men of the greatest talents and abilities to fill them, their aspirants demand our more particular attention. Of Col. SEYMOUR we would say, that he is man of distinguished talents as an orator and remarkable for his extensive intelligence, his generous spirit, and his frankness, energy and decision of character. He is a man of unquestionable bravery, as a military officer .-In the memorable battle of Chepultepec, he performed one of the most brilliant exploits of personal prowess, that was achieved during the whole Mexican war. In the midst of the din of battle, when the dead and the wounded were falling around him, and the deadly missiles where whizzing about his head, and the clashing of bristling bayonets and gleaming swords amid the fiery conflict, he rushed boldly forward, seized the glorious standard of his country, and amid the shouts of his admiring compatriots in arms, scaled the frowning battlements of the Castle of Chepultepec, and planted it in triumph on its walls, with its stars, and stripes, and eagle, proudly waving in token of victory.

Aside from his chivalry, we have no doubt. that if elected, he will make one of the best Governors that Connecticut has ever had, since the days of the late eminently distinguished Oliver Wolcott, the second of that name.

We cheerfully subjoin the following letter, from an aged and respectable citizen of Hartford, who is most intimately acquainted with Col. SEYMOUR. It was addressed to the Editor of the Hartford Daily Times, and published in his paper of the 24th ult. :-

"MR. EDITOR—I am glad to see the an-nouncement of Col. SEYMOUR'S nomination for the office of Governor. He has been my neigh-bor from his boyhood, and I know that a kinder hearted or more honorable man never lived. He has talents of a high order, and I should, though not much of a politician, and not often voting with your side, be very glad to witness cept this token of regard from AN OLD CITIZEN."

Such is also, so far as we have heard, the general impression of every man who has had the honor of an acquaintance with Col. SEYMOUR. CHARLES H. POND, Esq., of New Milford, is a gentleman possessed of a deep, sound, and discriminating mind, and of strict honesty and consistency of character. To him the lines of the poet would very aptly apply:

"Tho' deep, yet clear; tho' gentle, yet not dull; Strong without rage, without o'erflowing full.' Our Candidates, in fact, are all men who would be an honor to their age and country, let them be placed in whatever station they may: for their integrity would insure the entire confidence of their fellow-citizens. They are, for the most part, business men, who are well acquainted with the public interests, and know what their furtherance requires. On the whole, we are perfectly satisfied that the Convention have made a good selection of Candidates; and if we can only go to work in right down good earnest, so as to secure their election, we shall be still better satisfied. Let us try it, Democrats!

An error occurred in our last, in regard to the Court now in session in this village.-It should have read Superior instead of County Court.

Re " ROMAN ANTIQUITIES, in the Form of QUESTION and ANSWER, For the Use of Schools. By the REV. JAMES MACKAY."-This is the title of an elegant little volume, recently issued from the Press of S. Babcock, New Haven. It is of the duodecimo size, and contains 143 pages. The printing is clear, and even beautiful. Its great merit consists in its conciseness and perspicuity-two qualities very essential in the preparation of school books-which the Rev. author seems to have studied to perfection. It embodies a vast amount of information on ancient Roman polity, in a small compass; so that even the most learned classical scholar will find it greatly to his advantage to consult it, for the purpose of refreshing his

However a public man may personally regard the authority of the Divine law, he owes it to the feelings of the community, to manifest an outward respect for the sacredness of the Sabbath.

I., is reported to have become a raving manisc on returning to his hor and finding it desolate. He would have done violence to his own life, had he not been prevented by neighbors. It is intimated by the Brooklyn Eagle, that the burning of the house may have been connected with the shooting of a negro, by Mr. Miller, some nine years ago. The negro had been guilty of thieving several times from many of the neighbors, and by process of lynch law, was sentenced to be whipped out of the neighborhood. In these proceedings, Mr. Miller took an acrive part, and the negro threatened vengeance. A long time after, the negro was seen at midnight by Mr. Miller, looking into his bedroom window, club in hand. He was warned to go away, and told that if he did not, he would be shet. But not heeding the warning, Mr. Miller took his gun and shot him, killing him. The matter was investigated. and Mr. M. acquitted. It is supposed that some of the negro's friends have now in this diabolical, way avenged his death. Resolved, That we also recognize in the pres nt Federal Whig Party, the same conglon ent Federal Wing Farty, the same congiomeration of Federal principles always at war with the institutions of our country, such as Bank, high Taxes, a squandering of the public treasure, oppression of Labor, thereby destroying the great Agricultural Interest of the land, rendering the rich richer and the poor poorer.

Resolved, That the administration of JAMES K Resolved. That the administration of JANES K Polk, has been eminently distinguished for practically carrying out those great Democratic Principles taught by the immortal Jefferson, and illustrated by the patriot Jackson, and that when prejudice and passion shall have subsided, the historianwill write of his administration one of the brightest pages of American progress.

Resolved, That we heartily approve of the nomination for State Officers presented by the Democratic Convention, and have only to say to the free men of Connecticut, remember the Hero of Chapultepec!

Resolved, That we cordially recommend NATHANIEL H. WILDMAN to the freemen of the Fourth Congressional District for their united and hearty support, remembering that a long pull and a strong pull will insure to us success.

Resolved, That the no-party professions of the Whiga, by which thousands of Democrats were induced to vote for Gen. Taylor, are being most beautifully illustrated by selecting for his Cabinet the most ultra, rabid, United States Bank Federal Whigs that this Country has ever produced.

Resolved. That we recognize in John J. Crittenden, John M. Clayton, George Evans, Caleb B. Smith, Baylie Peyton and Truman Smith, the same men who upheld the old rotten United States Bank Whig party, with all its corruptions against the mighty efforts of that glorious old Hero, Andrew Jackson, for its downfall and eternal death.

Kissing at Weddings. MR. EDITOR SIR.

I herewith send a bit of wedding cake. am in a very bad humor, I assure you, which, you know, ought not to be the very day one is married. It is not at my husband, though, dear good man he is. Oh! I was vexed beyond endurance last evening. That vilo practice! Would you believe it? A hundred and fifty kisses! of all sorts—and from old and young, from male and female! Faugh! could any bride endure all that and preserve her temper ? Such a charge of snuff!—such showers of tobacco smoke! No poor man, covered, with vermin was ever more drenched. If this fashion of the whole company kissing the bride must be followed in the name of all that's decent, let old grand-daddies burn out their pipes before they poke them under your nose.

Only think of a poor creature standing up an hour and a half after the blessed knot was tied only to be noozled over by all the masculine gender in the neighborhood! Only think of a delicate, modest female standing like a target, the object of all the lipshots of a large corps of militia; and then I thought I should have dropped down with fa-

Only imagine, if you please, the chief person of the group, me, Dorothy Daffodil at the right hand of my dear spouse; and a crowd of men, like a swarm of flies round a cup of molasses, all pressing forward, and making up their lips ready for a smack and then, one after another, poking their snouts in my very face, and me wiping my face every minute, to appear a little decent.

I pitied my poor husband, poor man, to be obliged to stand and look on as silly as a fool, and see his own wife gummed over. I wish in my soul he could have knocked down half a dozen of his own unadulterated friends, instead of being restrained by the rules of etiquette. But Mr. Edit-cr, after all my suffertng and vexations, here, I am alive, and I pray heaven I never may be married again, till the custom of kissing the bride by the wholesale is done away.—Mahoning (O.,) Index.

Copper Mines in Connecticut.- A writer in th Journal of Commerce, giving his views upon the mineral wealth of our country, speaks thus of the Copper mines in this State, says the Waterbury American:

The copper mines at Bristol, Conn., are proba-bly the most profitable mines now worked in the United States, Professor Silliman expresses the pinion that they extend from that point south, to Hamden, a distance of more than thirty miles, ground sufficient to give profitable employment to thirty thousand miners. Copt. Kidd's Treasures.—According to the Springfield Republican, two men, named Martin and Samuel Shaw, of Palmer, in Massachusetts, have discovered in a cave on Snake Hill, near the old Boston road, a sealed bottle containing a letter purporting to have been written by Capt, Kidd the celebrated pirate, revealing large deposits of wealth. The letter is said to bear marks of great antiquity, and "some of the shrewdest men in the vicinity" believe in its genuineness, and mean to assist in looking up the treasure.—Boston Post.

> Rockville, Vernon. Conn.-July 19, 1846. SIR-My son Charles has been for the last eighteen months a cripple, having lost the use of his limbs entirely from the disease of the spine.— In the morth of January, 1846, he was first attacked whilst walking across the room. He then loss gradually the use of his limbs, and became completely paralized, and continued in that state until the first day of June last. From the time he was taken, we tried every means to restore to him the use of his limbs. We employed the most skilful physicians in this section of the country: they all united in the opinion that he could not be helped, and we despaired of ever seeing our son well again. On the first of May, he began to decline, and rapid-ly grew worse, until a kind Providence led us to the use of your wonderful external remedy, Hunt's We had not applied but one bottle when we preceived he could move his feet. Before he had used four bottles, he was able to walk and is now out of doors to play, and a well and healthy child,

California Gold! DISCOVERED BY SIGNOR D'ALVEAR'S GOLD-

THE GOLD SEEKER'S GUIDE!

SECRET ART OF FINDING MINES OF GOLD, SILVER, IRON, LEAD, COP-PER, COAL. AND OTHER MIN-ERAL RICHES.

THE first discovery of Gold in California, was made by DON JOSE D'ALVEAR, an eminent Spanish Geologist, Chemist, and Natural Philosopher, by means of a newly invented Magnetic in-

The Goldometer, Gold Seeker's Guide!

Signor D'Alvear has just arrived at New York, from the Gold regions of California, by way o-Panama, Chagres, and New Orleans, bringing wit him a very large quantity of Gold ore, valued at nearly one million of Dollars, which he collected there iong before the existence of the Gold mines became known to the residents of California gene-

HISTORY OF THE DISCOVERY. two years dgo, in consequence of certain information which he had received of the geological character of that country, with the firm belief that vast mines of precious metals would be revealed there, up on careful investigation. He was encouraged to this enterprise, also, by the powers of a certain Magnetic instrument which he had invented, called the "Goldometer," by whose aid, he expected to be directed at once to the "Gold Placers," if any such existed. Nor were his expectations disap-pointed. His scientific calculations, proved to be founded in truth and profound wisdom, and his new instrument, the "Goldometer," fulfilled his highest hopes. In less than two months after reaching California, he struck upon an obscure ranch of the Sacramento river, in a gorge of hills ex-tremely difficult of access and seldom visited by the native Californians. Disguising his object under the pretence of purely scientific research, he obtained the aid of some fifteen or twenty simple and faithful Indians, and steadily pursued collecting often more than $3000 worth of gold in a single day, which he concealed in a deep ravine, without exciting any suspicion whatever, until the discovery of Gold at Capt. Sutter's Mill, when the mountains were ransacked by gold seekers, and Signor D'Alvear's "gold placer," the richest in all Signor D'Alvear's "gold placer. California, was beset by greedy adventurers. It is now found that the real mines or sources of the gold, lie in the gorges of the mountains, and not in the beds or sands of the rivers. Previous to leaving California, Signor D'Alvear sold his instrument, the Goldometer, a very imperfect one, for $3000. The person who purchased it confidently expected to make a handsome fortune, by simply inding "gold placers," and selling out the right digging to the gold workers.

Manufacture of the Goldometer, and the Publication of the Guide.

Signor D'Alvear, in compliance with the reques of numerous scientific gentlemen, has commenced the manufacture of his new Magnetic Instrument, the To Goldometer, Et which he now offers for sale in the United States, at the remarkably low price of THREE DOLLARS each, accompani ed by full instructions for use, and a variety of philosophical hints, drawn from the ancient and

GOLD SEEKER'S GUIDE. This new work, and the GOLDOMETER,

The GOLDOMETER is so simple an instrument that a child may learn operatg with it in five minutes. It is not affected by climate, moisture, or any other known cause, (except the natural ma net,) and will retain its power of pointing out the years. By the aid of the Guide, any person may use the instrument at once with perfect success.

FARMERS AND LAND OWN-

Farmers and Land Owners throughout the Unid States, who have any reason to suspect the existence of any kind of mineral riches upon their lands, should avail themselves of this opportunity to test that fact. by the surest of all known tests, before the abundance of discoveries in all parts of the country, shall have lessened this source of wealth in their estate.

Adventurers to California.

Persons going to California, cannot make a better investment than by purchasing one of the instruments, which will not only be worth fifty times its value there, to sell again, but will be of the inestimable worth to those who go in search of Gold as it has been proved by the most abundant exper-ment both in California and the United States.

TESTIMONIALS.

Signor D'Alvear does not deem it necessary to encumber this notice with a long list of testimonials, in proof of the value of his GOLDOME. TER, and GOLD SEEKER'S GUIDE. The brilliant results of his labors in California, and the discovery, this very week, of fresh veius of Gold in Virginia, and beds of Coal in Rhode Island, by its use are alone sufficient to stamp it as the greatest discovery of the age. Nothing but the extreme cheapness of the instrument, and his desire to see it used for the benefit of mankind induces him to dispose of it at the low price for which he offers it. Besides this, his own desire for wealth is offers it.

DR. TOWNSEND'S SARSAPARILLA.

SARSAPARILLA.

Wonder and Blessing of the Age.

The most extraordinary Medicine in the World!

This Extract is put up in Quart Bottles: it is six times cheaper, pleasanter, and warranted superior to amy sold. It cures without vomiting, purging, sickening or debittating the Patient.

The great beauty and superiority of this Sarsapasilla ever all other medicines is, that while it eradicates the disease, it invigorates the body. It is one of the very best SPRING AND SUMMER MEDICINES

Ever known; it not only purifies the whole system, and strengthens the person, but it creates nee, pure and rich blood a power possessed by no other medicine. And is this lies the grand secret of its wonderful success. It has performed within the last two years, more than 10,000 crass of severe cases of disease; at least 15,000 were considered incurable. It has saved the lives of more than 10,000 children during the two past seasons.

than 10,000 children during the two past seasons.

10,000 cases of General Debility and want of Nervous Energy.

Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla invigorates the whole system permanently. To those who have lost their muscular energy by the effects of medicine or indiscretion committed in youth, or the excessive indulgence of the passions, and brought on a general physical prostration of the nervous system, lassitude, want of ambition, fainting sensations, premature decay and decline, hastening towards that fatal disease, Consumption, can be entirely restored by this pleasant remedy. This Sarsaparilla is far superior to any Invigorating Cordial,

As it renews and invigorates the system, gives activity to the limbs, and strongth to the muscular system, in a most extraordinary degree.

Consumption Cured.

Obsance and Strengthen. Consumption can be cured Bronchitis, Consumption, Liver Complaint, Tolds, Catarrh, Cough, Ashma, Spitting of Blood, Soreness in the Chest, Hectic Flush, Nigl; Sweats, Difficult or Profuse Expectoration, Pain in the Side, 4c., have been and can be cured.

SPITTING BLOOD.

New York, April 28, 1847.

Dr. Townsend—I verily believe that your Saraparilla has been the means, through Providence, of saving my life. I have for several years had a bad Cough. It became worse and worse. At last I raised large quantities of blood, had night Sweats, and was greatly debilitated and reduced, and did not expect to live. I have only used your Sarsaparilla a short time, and there has a wonderful change been wrought in me. I am now able to walk all over the city. I raise no blood, and my cough has left me. You can well imagine that I am thankful for these results.

thankful for these results.
Your obedient servant,
WM. RUSSELL, 65 Catherine-st. WM. RUSSELI, 45 Catheriae-st.

Female Medicine.

Dr. Townsend's Baraparilla is a sovereign and speedy eure for Incipient Consumption, Barrenness, Prolapsus Uteri, or Falling of the Womb, Coativeness, Piles, Leucorrhosa, or Whites, obstructed or difficult Menstruation. Incontinence of Urine, or involvantary discharge thereof, and for the general prostration of the system—no matter whether the result of inherent cause or causes, produced by irregularity, filmess or accident. Nothing can be more surprising than its invigorating effects on the human frame. Persons all weakness and lessitude, from taking it, at once become robust and full of energy under its influence. It immediately counteracts the nervelessness of the female frame, which is the great cause of Barrenness. It will not be expected of us, in cases of so delicate a nature, to exhibit certificates of cures performed but we can assure the afflicted, that hundreds of cases have been reported to us. Thousands of cases where families have been without children, after using a few bottles of this invaluable medicine, have been blessed with fine, beathy offspring.

To Mothers and Married Ladies.

This Extract of Sarsaparilla has been expressly prepared in reference to female complaints. No female who has reason to suppose she is approaching the critical period, "The turn of life," should neglect to take it, as it is a certain preventive for any of the numerous and horrible diseases to which females are subject at this time of life. This period may be desired for everal years by using this medicine. Nor is it less valuable for those who are approaching womanhood, as it is calculated to assist nature, by quickening the blood and invigorating the system. Indeed, this medicine is invaluable for all the delicate diseases to which women are subject.

this medicine is invaluable for an ine detact dates as to which women are subject.

It braces the whole system, renews permanently the natural energies, by removing the impurities of the body, not so far stimulating as to produce subsequent relaxation, which is the case of most medicines taken for female weakness and disease. By using a few bottles of this medicine, many severe and painful surgical operations may be prevented.

Great Blessing to Mothers and Children.
It is the safest and most effectual medicine for purifying the system, and relieving the sufferings attendant upon child-birth ever discovered. It strengthens both the mother and child, prevents pain and discase, increases and enriches the food, those who have used it think it is indispensable. It is highly useful both before and after confinement, as it provents diseases attendant spon childbirth—in Costiveness, Piles, Cramps, Swelling of the Feet. Despondency, Hearthurn, Vomiting, Pain in the Back and Loins, False Pains, Hemorrhage, and in regulating the secretions and equalizing the circulation it has no equal. The great beauty of this medicine is, it is always safe, and the most delicate use it most successfully, very few cases require any other medicine, in some a little Castor Oil, or Magnesia, is useful. Exercise in the open air, and light food with this medicine, will always ensure a safe and easy confinement.

Benuty and Health.

Cosmetics, Chalk, and a variety of preparations generally in use, when applied to the face, very soon spoil it of its beauty. They close the pores of the skin, and check the circulation, which, when nature is not thwared by disease or powder, or the skin inflamed by the alkalies used in soaps, beautifies its own production in the "human face Divine," as well as in the garden of rich and delicately tinted and variegated flowers. A free, active and healthy circulation of the fluids, or the coursing of the pure, rich blood to the extremities, is that which paints the countenance in the most exquisite beauty. It is that which imparts the indescribable shades and flashes of loveliness that all admire, but none can describe. This beauty is the offspring of nature—not of powder or soap. If there is not a free and healthy circulation, there is no beauty. If the lady is fair as driven snow, if she paint, and use commetics, and the blood is thick, cold and impure, she is not beautiful. If she be brown or yellow, and there is pure and active blood, it gives a rich bloom to the cheeks, and a brilliancy to their eyes that is fascinating.

This is why the southern, and especially the Spanish ladies, are so much admired. Ladies the north she take but little exercise, or are of the content of the power of the complexion of deleterious mixtures, if the content of the content

Those that imitate Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparills, have hvariably called their stuff a great Remedy for Fomales, &c., &c., and have copied our bills and circulars which relates to the complaints of women, word for word—other men who put up medicine, have, since the great success of Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla in complaints incident to females, recommended theirs, although previously they did not. A number of these Mixtures, Fills, &c., are injurious to females, as they aggravate disease, and undermine the constitution. Dr. Townsend's is the only and best remedy for the numerous female complaints—it rurely, if ever fails of effecting a permanen cure. It cam be taken by the most delicate females, in any case, or by those expecting to become mothers, with the greatest advantages, as it prepares the system and prevents pain or danger, and strengthens both mother and child. Be careful to get the genuine.

Scrofula Cured.

This certificate conclusively proves that this Sarse parilla has perfect control over the most obstinate discuss of the Blood. Three persons cured in one house cases of the Blood. Three persons cured in one house is unprecedented.

Three Children.

Dr. Townsend—Dear Sir: I have the pleasure to inform you that three of my children have been cured of the Scrofula by the use of your excellent medicine. They were afflicted very severely with bad Sores; have taken only four bottles; it took them away, for which I feel myself under great obligation.

Your respectfully,

ISAAC W. CRAIN, 106 Weester-st.

Opinions of Physicians.

Dr. Townsend is almost daily receiving orders from Physicians in different parts of the Union.

This is to certify that we, the undersigned, Physicians of the City of Albany, have in numerous cases prescribed Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla; and believe it to be one of the most valuable preparations in the market.

Prepare for the Sickly Season. THE Rev. B. HIBBARD'S Vegetable Anti-

Billions Family Pills, have for 25 years been ministered with uniform success, as a preventive, and cure for the various maladies produc digestion, vitiated secretions, and impure blood. A large class of diseases is comprehended under their heads, among which are diarrhoea, choleramorbus, inflammation of the stomach and intestines, and all other affections of those organs—billious complaints, nausea, loss of appetite, athropy, pleu-risy, the different varieties of fever, and all inflamatory diseases. The operation of these pills is di-rectly upon the radix of these disorders in the bile. the blood, and other fluids of the body: Theiref-fect is to disinfect, expel, restore, by their anti-purescent, cathartic, and renovating properties. this season, when the vital system, exhausted by the heat of summer, but imperfectly performs its functions, they may be taken with advantage by the healthy, while to the weak and alling they will prove of life.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS and CHEATS.—See that the full name, Rev. B. Hibbard's Pills, is on the label of each box, and that they are prepared only by Doctor Timothy R. Hib-bard, No. 96 John st., New York. with confidence that no injurious effects will result therefrom, the ingredients being entirely vegetable. The virtues of Dr. Swediaur's Compound Sar-saparrilla Pill cannot be appreciated only by those saparrilla Pill cannot be appreciated only by those who have used them, their operation being so admirably adapted to assist nature in carrying off morbid matter, obstructions, impurities of the blood, &c. The great superiority of the Compound Sarsaparrilla Pills over all other preparations, is their concentrated form and purity of extract, and while they eradicate the disease they invigorate and strengthen the body by their powerful alterative and tonic qualities, at the same time purifying the systonic qualities, at the same time purifying the sys-tem and producing new and rich blood, without purging unnecessarily, which makes them peculiarly adapted to weak and enfeebled persons. These Pills are well suited to those who are inclined to be dropsical. They will speak their own merits after Numerous certificates could be produced to prove the virtues of the Pill, but they are left with an enlightened public to test their virtues and merits, and bestow upon them the meed and praise which they so justly deserve and merit.

Blacksmithing.

Clang! Clang! the sounding anvil rings,
And Art forthmith at its loud bidding sprives
And Enterprise, and Husbandry and Skill
With giant strides, their desting fulfil.

THE Subscriber still continues to carry on the Blacksmithing business, I Blacksmithing business, in all its branches, at his stand in North-Street, formerly occupied by Mr. Carrington. Ever bearing in mind the motto—" Strike while the Iron's hot!"— he trusts that for cheapness, symmetry and durability, his work will stand the test, and prove itself inferior to none that is manufactured in this section of the country. Let all those in want of articles in its line of business, give him a call, and see if they cannot be as well, (if not better) suited with his work and prices as they can be at any other as work and prices, as they can be at any other es-
