The Republican. LITCHFIELD:

THURSDAY, July 5, 1849.

The Late Ex-President.

Now that the great and good Ex-President JAMES K. POLK, is laid in the tomb, the Whig presses universally pay the tribute of praise to his domestic virtues. Of his political acts. however, they either speak not at all, or else treat them with their accustomed coldness and reprehension. Their best course on this subject, undoubtedly is, to maintain a profound silence.

Mr. Polk never, in his life-time, sought the praise of the Whig party. Regardless alike of their applause and their censure, he looked only with a single eye to the enlargement and the glory of his country; and he rested not, until he had accomplished what he had planned and purposed.

Of what avail have been all the Whig speech cs of CLAY and WEBSTER, but to cumber dusty shelves, and to give the spider a chance to weave her web over them? How much has the country gained by their long and windy war of words?

The administration of Mr. Polk was one of constant, energetic and persevering action -And need we tell you the result ? Do you ask us to point out to you the monument of his greatness ? Cast your eye to the far distant West, even to where the broad Pacific rolls his placid waves. There is his monument. A vast and fertile Territory, embracing an area almost as extensive as the whole Union was, when he first came into office, is his monument. Mexico, conquered by the arms of his countrymen under the gallant Scorr and TAYLOR, is his monument. And the respect paid by all foreign nations to American valor, and wisdom, and intrepidity, is the inscription upon it, to be read and remembered by the whole civilized world, in all future ages.

What shall we say, then, in regard to his enemies? In the strong and original language of the Editor of the Hartford Times :-- " So far as true greatness is concerned, it would take a hundred Martin Van Burens, to fill the leg of the boot which the last President has left behind him. The whole tribe who have so industriously vilified him, could stand together without jostling, in the heel of the track which his footstep has made upon his day and generation."

The solemn voice of impartial History will high moral grandeur and sublimity, even at the right hand of the immortal WASHINGTON.

But as for his defamers, their memories will either be blotted out in total oblivion; or if cherished, will suffer the dimness of an eclipse: And it is just that it should be so. For if men

WOODSTOCK, Vt., June 17, 1845. Description of a Tour.—Singing on a Bridge.— Travelling over the Green Mountours.—Ascent of Ascutney.—Killington.—A Night on the Mountain.—Morning Scene.—Hills of New Hampshire.—The Connecticut River.—High Peaks.—Village of Claremont.—Windsor.— An Inn in the "Granite State."—The Return. It was on a cloudless and fine afternoon in the balmy month of May, that we started from the village of Woodstock, Vt., full of the idea viewing whatever of romance the scenery the Green Mountains would afford. The day was warm, and being unaccuston ed to travelling, we felt the heat much more than when in times of our juvenile glee, we roamed o'er the fair hills of our natal clime, or in the sunny days of our flaxen boyhood, we were used to hoe corn and dig " taters," (unpoetical employments, not to be thought on in these our aspiring, sentimental and refined years, without the blush of shame.) Well, then, feeling the effects of the heat, added to the toil of travel, we were fain to rest our wearied bodies on a bridge spanning a sparkling stream, in a picturesque place, being pent in by high hills, through which it almost seem ed to have worn its channel, thus making a gorge between two, which would seem to have been originally one. Seating ourselves on this rude bridge, we overhung the water, which widened and deepened, and flowed slowly beneath, as though to pay homage to the lords of creation who might be passing. I proposed to my companions to sing.

A school-house stood near by, in which was a young lady, laying the foundation in the hinds of urchins, upon which was to be hereafter reared the superstructure of knowledge. forever assign to JAMES K. POLK, a station of In other, and shorter words, she was teaching " the young idea how to shoot." The song was appropriate, and I watched the effect. The first strain brought some dozen or more heads to the window, and it soon appeared, that a rigid disciplinarian was fast restoring order .--Yes, verily ? the better to preserve this " Hea-orange, and at last, losing itself in the deep blue of the sky.

And now the sun, a vast luminary of fire, wheeled up like the red eye of the warrior, and gilded the hill-tops with beautiful golden tints. But splendid as was this scene, (and it amply repaid the toil of the previous day,) it was nothing to what awaited our vision below our feet. There rolled the beautiful Connecticut, its waters hid, but its windings shown by a dense gray cloud which rested on its whole valley, as the drapery of the tomb envelopes the corpse beneath. Here rested that silvery mass, expanding over the broad area, as if

Buckingham, L. Hine, L. Sherwood, earthquake would upheave a vast mass of liuid matter rising majestically in gloomy gran deur, and filling the soul with awe. In another place, it was raging like a whirlpool, and seeming as though in its fury it would draw a mountain from its base, and toss it about in that giddy whirl ; then suddenly calming, as Standing around at different disnces, were six or seven high peaks. whose mes were unknown, yet each one seeming as onarch of the lesser hills if he were the m around his base.

On the New Hampshire side, the village of Claremont lay in outspread loveliness on the plain, its steeples and shade trees just gilded by the morning sun, as he was peering over the hills, as if to invite its citizens to enjoy the fresh merning air. Windsor was so complete-ly hidden by the clouds, that although it was only three miles distant, and nothing interven-ed, yet it was impossible to catch the first Peters. glimpse of it.

Having made these remarks, and such other as occurred to us, we as the poet expresses that sensation. So hasdown, we found ourselves, after the lapse of a couple of hours, in the "Granite State," in a little tavern, with a most obsequious little host, who promised us, that little delay should result in preparing our breakfast, which in a little time, we partook of; and after a little longer time spent in resting ourselves, we turned our backs on mountains, and our steps towards our abiding places. MR. EDITOR-There are many amusing aneclotes extant about "The Telegraph," but the following is entirely new, as it is of recent occurrence n the office in this village. The operator says that a man called at the office a few days since, to see the Telegraph, and after looking on some time and a sking several questions, said :

" I want to see the Letters drop."

"What ?" said the operator. " Why," said the man, " they say it keeps dropping the letters, and you have to sort them !" Another case, about as good as the former, also ately took place. A good old lady, after looking at the " consarn," and asking a few questions about

The Sad Effect of Trifling.

Niagara Falls, June 22. Last evening, at a quarter before 8 o'clock, while party of Ladies and gentlemen were visiting the una Islands, among whom were the lady and little daughter of Mr. De Forrest and young Chas. C. Addington, and several others, and while the little girl was standing on the brink of the river, and only some 20 feet from the Falls, and holding by the hand of a young gentleman whose name I have not learned -- Young Addington came up and said playfully, I'm going to throw you in," touching her lighty on the shoulder-when she sprang forward with a sufficient force to slip from the hand of the rentleman who held her.

She was instantly followed by Addington, who caught her and in the effort was prostrated by the of the water, throwing the little girl at the

I will give one or two instances. Next door to me, on the south, a little girl, elven or twelve year of age, who was playful and lively last evening, is at this moment breathing her last.

This child is the last of four within this week and was sent here from the Virginity Hotel. The father of the family was taken sick this morning the result is not yet known. The mother, when sent for, could not visit her child, but requested our neighbors to take the best care they could of her offspring. Next door north but one a man died last night, after a few hours' il lness.

One of my hands in the yard spoke to me abou 5 o'clock, P. M. and at ten o'clock next day was Dr. Juhnson when I called upon him 51 with Capt. Rogers, said to me that he was afraid he could not save him ; he died during the night.

My head sawyer, my engineer, teamster, and many others are down with the Cholera, result not yet known.

Since the date of the above, the Cholera has greatly increased in virulence in St. Louis. On Saturday, the 16th, there were 61 deaths from Cholera, and on Sunday 69. For the week en-

A despatch from Portland says, that Dr. Mann, of Skowhegan, states that a body was brought from Thomaston and interred as that of Dr. Coolidge's, who it was reported, committed suicide while in prison, about two weeks since. Suspicions being aroused, the body was disinterred a few days since, in presence of sixteen persons, including Dr. Marn himself and Coolidge's father, and they all agreed that it was not his body. Mr. Coolidge testified that his son had lost the end of one thumb, and had no scar on his face; whereas the corpse had a scar on the cheek, and both thumbs were whole. ITALY. The Romans Unconque red.

From Rome we learn that the French Army mmenced the attack upon the city on the 30th ult. and after a most sanguinary engagement in which the Romans lost 800 men, succeeded in carrying several important posts. A series of attacks has since taken place, in which the victory is vari-

European Affairs.

The foreign news this week, is of a thrilling and exciting character. The suspension of the Republican journals in Paris, looks like the first determined step towards the restoration of monarchy.

The declaration of the French Assembly, that the Roman Republic must be put down, at all hazards, by force of arms, is another important movement towards the extinction of Civil Freedom in Europe.

We think it unfortunate that France should have interfered at all, in the affairs of Italy .-It will lead the minds of many to doubt the sin cerity of her principal statesmen.

Meanwhile the Romans, although they have suffered severe loss, in the late battle with the French at Rome, are yet unconquered, and seem determined to maintain their own Republie inviolable, or perish in the attempt. They certainly have a right to their own preference in regard to their goverment, so long as they do not clash with the immunities of others .-This is the law of nature and of right reason On this principle, all governments ought to have their origin in the voluntary consent of the governed. Otherwise, they become tyrannies and usurpations.

The question naturally arises, Has Italy given her assent to be governed by France? If not, then the latter power has done her great injustice, in seeking to overthrow that fabric of liberty, which Rome has but recently erected. But from time immemorial, the Gauls have been the bitter enemies of Rome. They seem even now to have an inherent jealousy, that she will rise from her long slumber of ages, and-once more, grasp and sway the sceptre of the world. Therefore, her policy seems to be. to crush the new republic in the bud. No just grounds of apprehension and alarm have existed, to bring about this war. If the Romans have said, that they will have no Pope to reign over them, they have done no more on that head, than what they had a right to do. If they have severed the cords which bind Church and State togethen, they have only exercised ven's first law," so necessary in the room, I, being on the look-out, saw the lady take her stand in a conspicuous position, where she could at ence superintend her literary labors, and throw an occasional look askance at the three seated upon the bridge ; thus the hetter to catch the sweet melody wafted in the summer's breeze to her delighted ear. Occasional ! no-the glances were many which we received; and I had the whole benefit of them. The song was ended, and we passed on; whether a sigh was heaved at our departure, we could only conjecture, as brick walls don't easilv transmit such soft sounds. On we went with rapid pace. Miles yet intervened, and mountains were to be climbed erc sunset. We arrived at the base of Ascutney, about an hour before sunset, and were directed in a path. This mountain lies in the town of Windsor, about three miles from the Connecticut river. 3,320 feet seemed a rather hard job to be performed in an hour, by those already wearied with the walk of fifteen miles since dinner. But the sun must be seen to go down from its very top, and we pressed up the steep. Nor were we wholly disappointed ; for although day's luminary had sunk, and Hesperus led the starry host, when we had gained the topmost pinnacle, yet the gorgeous colors he threw on the western heavens in his setting, were not faded; and Killington and other peaks, some 40 miles to the westward, showed in beautiful relief against the luminous sky. But as darkness was fast approaching, it was ecessary that we should prepare our couch for the night, and take our lunch for the occa sion provided. A spot sheltered by rocks, (of which the whole summit was composed,) was found, where had been burit a bower of small spruces. Vandal-like, disregarding the beauty of this work of art, we struck a fire among the dry twigs, used the bower for fuel, ate our supper, and disposed our bodies to repose .-Night passed, and the cry was.

Highly Important from Califor-nia.

By the arrival of the Royal mail steamship Clyde at Mobile, we have dates from San Francisco to the 18th of May-seventeen days later than previous accounts. The advices in the main, with some drawbacks, were considered favorable to the prospects of the gold diggers. Some among them were very successful, while others did not make enough to bear expenses.

Thousands of persons were daily arriving .-Some were disappointed and were preparing to return. It was said that much suffering existed among the miners. It was estimated that about 8,000 persons were employed in digging for gold.

Letters to the Picayune and other papers, from San Francisco, dated May 18, state that every thing was in a disordered condition : that no law existed but the law of the strongest which had been proclaimed by the mass. Governor Persifer F. Smith and the troops under his command were refugees on board of the American ships lying in port, and soldiers were hunted down like wolves. Passengers who came by the Clyde, and who left San Francisco on the 18th, says not a word about the above report, and the inference doubtless is that the rumor is unfounded. They had encoun tered both whites and Indians at the Placers.

Capt. Ricardson, with a New-York company ad arrived at Mazatlan on the 10th, and sailed the same day for San Francisco.

Of Col. Jack Hays died on the 3d inst., of the cholers, at San Antonio.

The Fall of Rome.

The news by the Hibernia leaves hardly a gleam of hope for Italian Freedom. The ' lone mother of dead empires' has ere this been trampled beneath the iron heel of invasion. and is now the unresisting victim of her perfidious foes. She might, and we think, would have withstood all the forces that the Veapolitan butcher and Austria's ruthless Radetsky could have brought against her, but the shame ful interposition of France made the disparity too great, and she now lies crushed and bleeding at the feet of her oppressors. Such, there is hardly room to doubt, will be the burden of the next advices from Europe. Venice, too. must also succumb to the Austrian army now besieging her; and thus will be quenched the ast spark of Italian Freedom. No! not quenched ; it will be smothered for a season, but only to burn more brightly and widely bereafter .-Let us not despair, for this is not the end .-God is patient, because eternal.'

Meantime, it is well to consider closely the causes of the immediate disaster.

Italy is divided into many kingdoms or principali ties, of which Austrian Italy (the North-Eastern part, (comprising Lombardy and Venice) is the largest, the kingdom of Sardinia embracing Pied-mont (or the North-Western part) pext in impor-tance; the Kingdom of the Two Sicilies (Naplea tance ; the Kingdom of the Two Sicilies (Naples and Sicily—in the extreme South) is fourd ; and the States of the Church (or Rome and the Legations) fourth ; and the Grand Juchy of Tuscany fifth.— The smaller Duchies of Parma, Modeua and Lucca are nominally independent, but relly controlled by Austria. The Two Sicilies is fur the most popu-lous of these divisions, having over Eight Millions of inhabitants, while Austrian Italy has but Five Millions, Sardinia rather less, the States of the Church under Three Millions, Tuscany One and a Half Millions, and all the smaller States com-bined a little over One Million. These divisions bined a little over One Million. These divisions are ruinous alike to the fredeom, the power and the happinness of the Italians .- Ib.

ously stated, but in which the suffered most. The French papers publish conflicting reports of the operations of the army, but from accounts to the 5th inst., it is clear that Ou-dinot had not then gained access to the city. though te had gained a position to the north of Rome, which would enable him to command the city. him to command the city .-The latest despatch from Gen. Oudinot is to the 6th inst, at which time, he opened his trenches, and had regularly beseiged the city. There is no ap-pearance of yielding on the part of the Romans, but on the contrary, every thing goes to confirm, the belief that they would make a most determined: resistance, and fight to the bast.

HUNGARY AND AUSTRIA. No Decisive Engagement.

Kossuth had arrived in Pesth, and has been re-eived as President in the capital of the Hungari-m Republic. Homilities are still carried on in the South, between the Hung; rians and the shattered remains of the Austrian army, supported by the Russians, but the reports which reach us are so. vague and contradictory, it is not deemed advisable to transmit them by Telegraph.

Purify the Blood.

WHEN your blood is once PURE, nothing in the shape of food will hardly come amiss W the shape of food will hardly come anise nothing will sour upon your stomach ; you may eat pies, or anything in reason; and the grante variety of food the better blood is made. All whi have weak stomachs, who are dyspeptic, or in any way afflicted in body, should without delay resort to Brandreth's Pills—which will indeed strengthen the life principle, and by perseverance with them, entirely renew the whole body; the materials now in it good, will be tept on those bad, displaced or bad flesh. And best in mind, the Brandreth's Pills surely purify the Blood. The method of preparing the Brandrethian Veg-etable Extracts is secured by Letters Patent of the U.S.—Patent granted to Benjamin Brandreth, Jan. 20th, 1843.

20th, 1843. The extracts of which Brandreth's Pills are composed are obtained by this new patent process, without boiling or any application of heat. The active principle of the herbs is thus secured, the same as in the living vegetable. The public should be cautious of medicines re-commended in advertisements stolen from me. A sure test of genuine Brandreth's Pills : Ex-amine the box of pills ; then look at the certificate of agency, whose engraved date must be within the year, which every authorized agent must pos-sess ; if the three labels on the box, agree with the three labels on the certificate, the pills are trueif---not, they are false. 27eow 4m 27eow4m not, they are false.

Billions Family Pills, have for 25 years been ministered with uniform success, as a preventive, and cure for the various maladies produced by in-digestion, vitiated secretions, and impure blood. A large class of diseases is comprehended under their heads, among which are diarrhoea, cholera-morbus, inflammation of the stomach and intestines, and all other affections of those organs—billious complaints, naucea loss of appetite athrony, nleuand all other allections of those organs—binous complaints, nausea, loss of appetite, athropy, pleu-risy, the different varieties of fever, and all inflama-tory diseases. The operation of these pills is di-rectly upon the radix of these disorders in the bile, the blood, and other fluids of the body: Their ef-fect is to disinfect, expel, restore, by their anti-pu-trescent, cathartic, and renovating properties. At trescent, cathartic, and renovating properties. At this season, when the vital system, exhausted by the heat of summer, but imperfectly performs its functions, they may be taken with advantage by the healthy, while to the weak and ailing they will prove a staff of life.
