GABRIEL W. COITE, of Middletown.
FOR COMPTROLLER.

The Iron Despotism.
The intelligent freemen of the North may see from the conduct of the rebel leaders towards their own people, under what sort of a despotism the whole country would groan if the great conspiracy of the Southern States had been successful.

At the eightieth annual meeting of the Home Company, second Governor's Foot Guards, the following named members were elected non-commissioned officers of the company for the year ensuing:

THE SORGHUM SUGAR CANE SYRUP.
The high price of molasses will give a new impetus to the Sorghum culture. At the last meeting of the Illinois State Agricultural Society, at Springfield, Mr. J. H. Smith of Quincy exhibited one ton of sugar made by himself from northern cane.

UNITED STATES SHIP CUMBERLAND.

THE FIRE LAST NIGHT.
Messrs. Editors: It is greatly to be desired that our Common Council should at once complete their arrangements with the Water Company. The necessity of a more abundant supply of water was painfully apparent at the fire last night. Had there been plenty of water Mr. Daggett's store could have been saved, and others would not now be destitute of their property.

THE SUPERIOR COURT FOR NEW LONDON COUNTY MEETS IN NEW LONDON ON TUESDAY, JANUARY 22ND, AT TEN O'CLOCK.
Judge Sanford presiding.

Capt. John Eldridge of Mystic, who was taken prisoner by the rebels while fishing near Tampa Bay, Florida, and afterward confined in Richmond jail, arrived home on Tuesday. He was sick, and a volunteer who was to be released, generously gave Capt. E. his chance of escape from imprisonment.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Damaged.
The brig B. L. Swan, in tow of the steam tug J. M. Lewis, left for New York, at 9 o'clock this morning, for repairs, having been damaged in a gale on the 5th inst. to the amount of several hundred dollars.

At Music Hall.
The best theatrical company that ever appeared in this city—including Davenport, Wallack, Wheatley, Mrs. Wallack, Mrs. Barrow, and others, will produce "Hamlet" in superior style at Music Hall to-night. We presume that a large house will be gathered in spite of the weather.

A Convenience for the Public.
Allis, at the Union House, has placed in his office a locked box, in which his guests or any of our citizens can drop letters intended for any of the mails leaving New Haven. The box is opened and the letters are taken to the post-office in plenty of time before the departure of each mail.

The Quinpiack Debating Society.
The above named society will hold a meeting at their Hall in West Water street, this (Monday) evening, at 7 1/2 o'clock. An interesting question is to be discussed, and a paper, prepared by Mr. George S. Foote, (President of the Society), will be read. The Society numbers about 30 members at present, most of whom are good speakers and able debaters. The public are invited.

The Storm.
Water and ice are the order of the day. The eight o'clock train, from New York last evening, did not arrive till ten o'clock—the engine giving out; in the middle train from Boston did not get in till about seven o'clock, this morning. The trains to-day, have been very nearly on time. The Horse Railroad Company run their cars as usual. Pedestrians grumble somewhat, and all concede that it is somewhat of an unusual "spell of weather."

Second Company Foot Guards.
At the eighty-seventh annual meeting of the Home Company, second Governor's Foot Guards, the following named members were elected non-commissioned officers of the company for the year ensuing:

SERGEANTS.
CORPORALS.
1—HORACE J. RAYMOND, M. D. BUTRICKS,
2—JACOB PHILIPS, S. L. MARSDEN,
3—SITH S. SMITH, GEORGE L. ATWATER,
4—L. L. MCGOY, E. S. INGHAM,
5—LYMAN J. LANE, JENNIAL BREENE,
6—E. J. OLIVER, A. V. SPANG,
7—E. D. SMITH, JNO. MORRISON,
8—CHARLES M. OSBORN, WM. L. PLUMB.

A Serious Fire.
At about half past two o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the building corner of Chapel and Olive streets, owned by Horace Fitch and occupied by Dr. A. Daggett, Jr., as a drug store, and by Mrs. G. D. Nichols as a fancy store. An alarm was immediately given, but it was some little time—owing to the state of the streets—before the fire engines were on the ground. Steam fire engine Constitution, No. 3, was stationed at the reservoir corner of Chapel and State streets; H. M. Welch, No. 2, was at the reservoir opposite the Chapel-street Church; Washington, No. 1, was at the reservoir at the corner of Olive and Wooster streets. Hand engines Nos. 3, 5 and 10 were on hand as quickly as possible, but could be of little service. The tops over the reservoirs were frozen down, and it took some time and hard work with iron bars to get them off, and then the water was immediately exhausted, so that but for the furnishing of water by the New Haven Water Company, the next block would have probably gone. With a supply of water at the outlet the block that has been destroyed might have been saved. The fire originated in the store of Mrs. Nichols; its cause is unknown.

Mrs. Parkman, dress maker and milliner, lived over Mrs. Nichols's house. She was rescued by Messrs. Edwin Marble and Charles G. Wilson, who conveyed her to the house of the former. She escaped in her night clothing, and lost everything. Mr. Daggett threw his clothes out at a window and barely escaped through the chamber window over his store. He got upon a porch roof on the Olive street side, from which he was taken and conveyed to Mr. Nelson Hotchkiss's house.

Mrs. Nichols was insured for $1,000 in the Larnar office, of New York; Mr. Daggett had $2,000 in the Home office, of the same city. Both have lost heavily. There is something mysterious about the fire, as no one is known to have been in the store of Mrs. Nichols since last Saturday.

Below we give a card from the Chief Engineer:
A Card.—The undersigned desires, on behalf of the Fire Department, to thank the New Haven Water Company for their kind offer (at the fire this morning) through Henry G. Lewis, Esq., of the use of the hydrants of the company, which furnished the engines with a full supply of water, after the city reservoirs were exhausted. By this timely supply, the firemen were enabled to stop the progress of the flames, and effect most gratifying evidence of the power and utility of the Water Works.

WESTERN EXPEDITION.

GEN. LANE WITH 30,000 MEN ON THE WAY TO NEW ORLEANS.
The Sunday Herald says that Gen. James H. Lane of Kansas, immediately after his confirmation, will resign his seat in the United States Senate and make preparation for entering upon active duty. A great Southwestern expedition is entrusted to him by President Lincoln, and he is to repair to Kansas, establishing his headquarters at Leavenworth, where he is to pick out thirty full regiments from among those not already employed in other expeditions, and perfect arrangement for his expedition with all possible dispatch.

He has determined that his force shall consist entirely of Western men, and will be made up as follows:
Cavalry.....15,000
Infantry.....10,000
Fighting artillery.....1,000
Light artillery.....1,000
Indianas.....4,000
Negroes.....1,000
Total.....32,000

The negroes will be taken from among the large number of fugitive slaves or contrabands now in Kansas, and will be used only as drivers of horses, mules and cattle, to collect forage, to cook and serve food for the soldiers, to cut and handle timber for bridges, to repair roads, and to take care of the sick and wounded. Eight batteries are included in the artillery. He will have seven regiments from Illinois, four from Wisconsin, three from Iowa, three from Ohio, two from Indiana and five from Kansas. One of the regiments will be made up of miners, and another will be composed entirely of mechanics, such as railroad and bridge builders, wagon-makers, blacksmiths, iron foundry men, harness-makers, boatbuilders, &c., who will be equipped with all needful tools and implements, the government having appropriated two hundred and ten thousand dollars for that purpose.

The expedition will carry with it a horse power saw-mill and five hundred portable oil and flour-mills. No supplies will follow, as it is the intention that the army shall feed itself from the resources of the country and from the rebels' granaries while on its march. The government is to be subjected to no expense after the outfit is provided, as the men will take care of themselves after the orders to march are issued.

The field of operations assigned the expedition by the President is Kansas, Southwestern Missouri, Arkansas, the Indian territory, and as much further South as he chooses to venture; and it is said to be General Lane's intention to quarter his forces at New Orleans by April next. He proposes to take the road down the Red river through the Northeastern Pass of Texas, thence into Louisiana to the Gulf of Mexico.

STATE NEWS.

Mrs. Mary Bolles, who died in Montville on the 4th inst., was 104 years and 8 months old. Her husband, Capt. Ebenezer Bolles, (a sea captain,) served in the revolutionary war.

James Burns, of Burlington, while chopping in the woods, on the 4th inst., had one leg broken and his back injured so that he died the next day, by a tree falling on him.

The dwelling house of Wells Fenton, in Fenfield, was broken up on the 10th inst., and robbed of $475 in bank notes, about $2 in silver, and one gold and one silver watch. The Stamford depot was robbed of quite a large sum of money on Saturday, the 11th. A son of one of the most respectable families of Norfolk, was arrested on Monday as the thief, and bound over for trial.

Mr. Ebenezer W. Wooster has shot three wild cats, within a few days, on Mohank Mountains, near Gosheon.

Jabez Amesbury, of Preston, has been fined $5 and costs for whipping his own son. Washington Harrington, one of the supposed robbers of the Winsted Bank, was examined before Mr. Justice Cox, in Winsted, on Friday, the 17th, and bound over to await trial at the next term of the Superior Court.

The Paris Temps publishes the following extraordinary statement:
"Much has been said, for the last two days, of a drama, of which an aristocratic religious boarding-school in the Faubourg St. Germain was the theatre. Two young ladies were playing during the hours of recreation, when one struck the other in the face, and knocked out one of her eyes. Her family were immediately apprised of the accident. The father came to the school, and, after seeing his daughter, he asked to see the young lady who struck her. She came, when he drew a pistol from under his cloak, and fired into her face. The unfortunate girl is so dreadfully wounded that if she recovers she will be disfigured for life."

A Stating Statement.
The Chicago Tribune publishes the following paragraph editorially:
" We have before us three cartridges brought to us from Annapolis by a friend. They are a portion of the ammunition for Enfield rifles served out to Burnside's forces for the great expedition. To the eye they are alike in appearance, and the slight difference in weight is not instantly detected. But the difference is that one of the three contains not a particle of powder. A prominent officer of the expedition told our informant that this was about the proportion throughout the entire lot of Enfield cartridges—one third of them carefully put up without powder. Now here is a case for investigation. Was it fraud or treachery, that seeks to palm off upon our brave troops, on the eve of a grand expedition, sharp cartridges? Let us have an explanation of this affair, Secretary Stanton."

The Memphis Appeal wants the telegraphic news badly, and feels the need of the substantial direction that the Associated Press has given to that important auxiliary of information. It says:
"Universal complaint is found with the present unorganized and imbecile arrangement by which the Southern press are supplied with telegraphic reports. These reports are vague and unsatisfactory, unmeaning, unreliable, and, in many instances, flagrantly false. They come to us in a rumbling, after two or three repetitions by as many agents, thus securing exaggeration as well as additional expense. They are doled out by self-constituted and incompetent monopolists, who are growing fat and insolent through their extortionate earnings from the press. Reform is needed, and unless our contemporaries are willing to be permanently chained down to the present odious arrangement, they had better take steps to remedy it, before it is riveted permanently upon them as a necessary evil."

NEWS SUMMARY.

The "first ball" of the season at Washington took place at Willard's Hotel, on Thursday evening, says a special of one of the New York dailies. There are many people at the North who would be pleased to hear of the "opening ball" a few miles southwesterly of said city.

The last of 20 eleven-inch Columbiads contracted for by the Government have been cast at South Boston. They weigh eight tons each. They are called "headchoppers."

A private letter from Polesville says that the Potomac is frozen, and that the pickets of the two armies are skating amicably, the practice of shooting pickets having been by common consent abandoned.

The Mexicans appear to be in earnest in preparing to oppose the invaders of their country. Parties are uniting, and all men are becoming patriots. There is hope for Mexico yet, and we devoutly hope that the defenders of that country will be able to drive back the invaders from the shores of Europe to act the part of the banditti in the western world.

The Emperor Napoleon III. is indisposed, and also indisposed toward America. His death would be the luckiest thing that could happen for us, for it would virtually place Prince Napoleon at the head of the French government, as little six-year-old could do nothing for years to come. If the Empress Eugenie should become Regente, it would be well for us, as she is not our enemy, and she does not admire England and the English. Who does?

The British ship Conqueror has been smashed on a rock near Rum Key, which she was running a race, as the consequence was an unlimited supply of water. We do not wish personal harm to any British sailor, but if every British national ship were to sink we should be highly employed in sinking our ship of State.

The Hatteras population are said to be starving on eggs, fish, oysters, chickens, &c., which are very agreeable things to starve on, when nothing better is to be had. They fed the Union troops as badly as if they were federal contractors.

The 28th Massachusetts Regiment (Irishmen) have been vilely treated at Governor's Island, New York. They supposed that they were going to the best quarters in the country, and they found them the best only in the sense that extremes meet, those quarters proving the very worst that could be had. In this way discontent is created among the troops, their efficiency impaired, and human outrage.

Ex-Senator, rebel, Benjamin, is a noted gambler and has washed in his way the vast income which he at one period derived from his professional practice. On one occasion, after obtaining $7,000 in a case against the celebrated John Randolph Grimes, he sat down for three days to a gambling table, and slid in that time won every dollar of that sum from him. Slidell is celebrated for his skill at this business, and has accumulated much of his fortune, it is said, in this way.

The Cincinnati Times relates that Mr. Scott has written a letter to Gen. Scott, in which he expresses the opinion that, unless the rebellion shall be crushed before the 1st of April next, England will under the necessity (impelled by the popular clamor of her commercial and manufacturing interests) of opening the cotton ports of the South.

Col. Garfield, the Kentucky hero, who so signally routed the Falstaffian Humphrey Marshall, is well known in Rensselaer County. He is still quite a young man and a few years ago was a student at Williams College, was in the habit of coming over to the "disciples" churches at Postenkill and Millville, and preaching to those congregations. On leaving college he went to Ohio and became President of an institution of learning—abandoning that position, however, at the call of his country. He is known in the army as the "Praying Colonel," and is almost a John Bull of our day in his rigid piety, yet high courage.

On a bitter cold night of last week, John Fairwright of London, C. W., while drunk, turned his family all out of doors into a neighboring bush, and went to bed. The attention of the family was soon called to their house by seeing it in flames. The eldest girl reached in first, and, opening the door, she called to her father, who answered when she rushed in and pulled him out by the arm, he having been lying on the bed. When taken out it was found that every stitch of clothes he had on was consumed, his body being literally roasted from his head to his foot. He lived for about four hours, suffering the most excruciating pain.

Private intelligence from Hancock goes to show that one day last week, a portion of the Connecticut Fifth and New York Twenty-eighth regiments crossed the river, and advanced about five miles into the mountains, where they found and brought away one cannon and twenty muskets and sabres; also a considerable amount of minor implements of warfare.

The following curious geographical statement appears in the French paper, Galganani:
" A large Federal expedition will soon descend the Mississippi, with a great quantity of heavy stores, destined to be sunk at the mouth of the ports of Charleston and Savannah, in order to render the blockade effective."

Out of 50,000 words or so in the English language, it has been found that the English speak only 300. An ordinary educated man is supposed to use 3,000 or 4,000 while a great orator uses 10,000. The Old Testament contains 5,642 different words, and the works of Shakespeare about 15,000; those of Milton about 8,000.

THIRTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.
WASHINGTON, JAN. 17, 1862.
The House resumed consideration of the Pennsylvania contested election case. The vote was first taken on the substitute reported from the minority of the committee on elections, that John M. Butler is not, and that William F. Lehman is, entitled to a seat as representative from the first congressional district of Pennsylvania; adopted, 77 to 67. The resolution of the majority, as thus amended, was agreed to.

Mr. Alley of Mass., from the post office committee, reported a bill to authorize the establishment of branch post offices in cities; passed. The House concurred in the Senate's amendment to the House bill to promote the efficiency of the dead letter office.

Mr. Stevens of Penn., from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported the West Point academy appropriation bill. On his motion the Committee obtained leave to sit during the sessions of the House. He took occasion to explain the reasons why the appropriation bills were not sooner reported, adding he had been informed that numerous libeling letter-writers and journalists had been finding fault with the Committee for not reporting an equitable tax bill. The Committee, however, are getting facts, and work for hours after attending to their business in this hall. The criticisms and libels of the press would not make them move one minute faster than due regard to public interests will permit.

Military.
The 14th regiment is to be quartered in New Haven, at P. B. Hinnsdale's carriage factory, corner of Park and Crown streets.

The Connecticut Battery embarks to-day or to-morrow for Port Royal, on board the Ellwood Walter, a ship just chartered by the Government. The battery has been supplied with ten tons of ammunition. The entire cost of fitting out this battery, including the men, was $100,000. The Ellwood Walter is a fine craft of about 1,200 tons burthen and four or five years old. She was the property of the worthy Secretary of the Board of Underwriters, Ellwood Walter, of New York.

Two More Slaves Arrested.
Two sailors, John Dellaney and Richard Holph, were arrested in New York on Friday, by Deputy U. S. Marshal Smith, and held as witnesses in the case of the schooner Welles, which was fitted out and sailed from Greenport in April, 1861, as a slave. In August last, Appletton Oksmith, now under indictment in Boston for fitting out slaves, testified that he fitted out the Welles for a legitimate voyage, upon which she had then gone. The sailors who had shipped on board other vessels for the purpose of being beyond the reach of the authorities, are expected to testify to these facts.

The captain's name was Welles. The vessel started for the coast of Africa, and when nine days out the mate became drunk, fell overboard and was drowned. The vessel kept on her course, until she arrived on the African coast, where she was overhauled by two British cruisers, but her papers, on examination, proved to be satisfactory, so she was allowed to go undisturbed, on her mission to the coast. She took on board 135 of whom died on the passage to Cuba, and 466 were landed in good health. When nine days out from the African coast, Captain Welles took a fever and died. The discharge of the cargo commenced about 12 o'clock on the day of arrival, and continued until about 12 o'clock at night, after which the schooner was taken out further from the shore and burned.

The Sumter Destroyed.
The New York Commercial Advertiser says a private dispatch states that the pirate Sumter had been sunk by a Federal gunboat near Cadiz, Spain.

The new tea plants are now in bloom in the National Conservatory at Washington. They bear a white flower, and fill the air with a delightful perfume.

The Burnside Expedition.
We are in possession of important details respecting the military organization of the Burnside expedition, which we are under obligation not to publish till certain events transpire. But as to the destination of the expedition, we have no means of forming a positive judgment beyond those which are open to all. In making a few notes, therefore, on the two sounds of North Carolina, which it now appears probable will be the theater of operations, we reflect only on our own opinions.

Panico Sound, the more Southern of the two, is over 80 miles long from east to west, and from 8 to 30 miles wide, with a general depth of 20 feet. If any offensive movement is made in this Sound, it will probably be to seize and break up the railroad communication of Richmond with all the Southern seaboard. This might be done by going up the Neuse river 100 miles from its mouth to Goldsboro', or up the Tar river, 85 miles, to within 15 miles of the road. Light draft boats only could make the trip. Goldsboro' is the more important, as an inland branch strikes off there, which might be used by the rebels in case the road was tapped higher up.

Between the two sounds, and commanding the entrance, lies Roanoke Island, strongly fortified, and held by 2000 or 3000 rebel troops. This place will have to be reduced, and will undoubtedly provide the first heavy work for the expedition. The rebels have been busy upon its defenses ever since the Hatteras expedition, and it must therefore have considerable strength. The Norfolk Day Book of the 9th, affirmed that gunboats had already entered the sound for the purpose of making the attack, and it is possibly correct.

As to the destination of the expedition, or the destined portion of it, it is in Albemarle Sound—80 miles long by 4 to 15 wide—it will doubtless seize the railroad communications at Weldon, near the Virginia and North Carolina line, no matter whether the lines below shall have first been broken up or not. The main roads both from Richmond and from Norfolk concentrate at Weldon. There is sleep navigation by the Roanoke river to Halifax, twenty miles from Weldon. There is also another water route, ending in a longer march. Weldon is about 70 miles by railroad from Norfolk.

There is another route to the rear of Norfolk. On the extreme northern arm of Albemarle Sound is Elizabeth City, 40 miles from Norfolk. The connection is by a river, allowing craft drawing 7 feet, and the Dismal Swamp Canal, 23 miles long, 6 feet deep, and 40 feet wide. Allowing the most of the vessels of the Burnside expedition that have already started will go into the two Sounds, it does not absolutely follow that the design of a front attack (simultaneously) on Norfolk has been given up. There are vessels still fitted out at Annapolis; and it is generally understood that the Burnside expedition will strike in more than one place, and, unlike some other expeditions, will follow up its blows.

The Blackbird.
When a blackbird once learns a tune he never forgets it or any part of it. I once knew a bird that could whistle "Polly Hopkins" with wonderful accuracy. His owner sold him, at the same time making the purchaser acquainted with the bird's favorite tune. As soon as the new owner had him in his hands he began to sing the blackbird, and going to the piano, started up "Polly Hopkins." The bird's new master, however, introduced parts into the tune.

never heard before; so, after listening awhile, he began hissing, fluttering, his wings, and otherwise signifying his distaste of the wro's performance. Much surprised, the gentleman left off playing, and then the blackbird opened his throat and favored his new master with his version of "Polly Hopkins," nor would he ever listen with any patience to any other version. This same blackbird, after staying in the service of the above mentioned gentleman for two years, was adopted by a serious family, where "Polly Hopkins" and all such profanity were sedulously avoided. Whenever poor "Joe" (the blackbird's name) attempted to strike up the old tune, a cloth was thrown over his cage, and he was silenced. The family consisted of an old lady and her two daughters, and every night, at seven o'clock, prayers were read, and the "Evening Hymn" sung; and Joe, who was an obedient bird, and anxious to conform to the habits of the house, speedily learned the tune, and regularly whistled it, while the old lady and her daughters sang it. This went on for six or seven years, when the mother died and the daughters separated, and Joe, now an aging blackbird, fell into new hands; but to his dying day he never gave up the "Evening Hymn." Practically as the clock struck seven he turned up, and went straight through with it, with the gravity of a parish clerk.

New Way of Keeping Accounts.
Some weeks ago an old woman living near Banaha, Ireland, sustained a compound fracture of the leg when near a threshing machine at Banaha, and she was forthwith removed to the poor-house hospital in Tipperary. No consideration would induce her to allow herself to be dismembered, and she appeared to be sinking gradually. Dr. Morrissey having heard that she enjoyed the reputation of being wealthy, caused it to be intimated to her friends that she was in a dangerous state. They flocked to her bedside, and asked what she would wish to do with her money.

She replied that she had nothing but chalk, which rather amazed some of her expectants. She subsequently explained the matter. She was worth about forty pounds, nearly all of which was lent out in small sums; she could neither read nor write, and yet she kept all her own accounts by the following method: The left side of the back of her bed was devoted to one account, the number of shillings lent being marked by a series of small circular marks, and the pence by single strokes. The right side, the bottom and posts of the bed were also used for the same purpose, as was also the back of the door and windows, &c. With the utmost minuteness she told over her lot, naming her debtors, and on what particular part of the furniture their accounts were entered. Contrary, however, to all anticipations, the old dame is now recovering, and will doubtless be enabled in a few days to be again in the midst of her business at Banaha. Tipperary Free Press.

The Power of Love.
One of the rebels whom the Union forces smothered out on the Port Royal expedition, it appears, was John Stoddard, a neighbor of Arthur Tappan, the celebrated Abolitionist. The story goes, that while in Paris, several years ago, Stoddard fell in love, and although a warm Abolitionist, the love was too strong to be resisted; so he married the wife of a plantation and 300 slaves, and became a thorough pro-slavery man—realizing what the poet says—
"O, love's soft yoke and woman's art,
Have oft o'ercome the stoutest heart."

The receipts for Croton water rents, for the last year, amounted to $765,000—only $1,200 less than the year previous.

ter, on the 18th inst., and routed them. The loss of the enemy was 40 killed and 60 wounded. Our loss was 6 killed and 19 wounded. Our force also captured 160 horses, 60 wagons, 105 tents, 80 kegs of powder, 200 guns and 25 prisoners. Indications are that all troops at Rolla will move westward, except one or two regiments to guard the post. The pickets of the enemy extend fourteen miles from Springfield, and the force of Gen. Price is estimated at about 12,000 men. It is reported that Gen. McIntosh is coming to his aid from Arkansas with large reinforcements. The report, however, is not wholly reliable.

Captains Marlock and Webster returned to Rolla, Friday night, from an expedition to Bloomfield. It was a complete success. They captured 40 of the enemy, among them 1 Lieutenant Colonel, 2 Surgeons, 1 Adjutant and 3 Captains.
