Caving in of the Rebellion.

Mr. Maynard, the member from East Tenne see, remarked in reference to the wonderful expedition of gunboats down into Alabama, that, "The people of the North will be amazed to see how quickly the bottom of this rebellion will fall out after reverses begin to attach to the

If Mr. John Maynard is right, the fact will go to the proof of what the North believed in the beginning, that the rebellion was a sham, and that the heart of the South was never in it Its formidable proportions, however, together with the recent apparent unity of the South, and the great sacrifices made there, all have tended to show that those of us who had a better opinion of the Southern heart, had been mis taken; and we were obliged, reluctantly, to confess that in this respect we had given the South more credit for loyalty than it deserved. But, if Mr. Maynard's predictions should prove true, we shall all gladly go back to our first opinions, and be satisfied that the rebellion, inflated and formidable as it has appeared, is, in fact, after all, a mere bubble, an astonishing and expose in all its hollowness.

The success of the rebels at Manassas gav to the rebellion its back bone-it turned over to the wrong side thousands, nay millions of Unionists in the South who thought the old flag was done, and that there was no help for it, and that the sooner they caved in to an inevitable necessity the better for them and for all concerned. Now, however, the Manassas delusion is dispelled-and new Union pulsations will be felt and seen, and as Mr. Maynard says, the bottom of the rebellion will quickly fall out.

If this prove so, the folly of declaring in mediate emancipation will appear, and the wisdom of the Administration in resisting such a suicidal policy will be equally apparent.

Slavery is the first prime cause of the rebel lion, the curse and affliction of the land, and we thank Heaven that the war, in any way in being "Life in a Tobacco Factory." Mr. Mines which it may be pursued, is doing a desolating has met with great success in his lectures at work for the barbarous institution. It can New York and elsewhere-since his releasenever recover from the blows which are falling and he will doubtless draw a full house, giving, upon it. But the rebels have forfeited all their as he does, a full history of the treatment of rights, have they not? Very true. Yet thous- the Union prisoners in Richmond, with many ands of these rebels are innocent of any evil intent. They are not all like Toombs and Da-durance of privations. vis and Wise and their associates. They are the dupes of designing men, and a forbearing government will in all its policy remember this. Then, again, there are thousands of men, who for the safety of their families, have appeared to be rebels, and yet are longing for the advance of the federal forces into their States. Nevertheless, if they were upon a legal trial, proof enough could be found to deprive them of their slaves, of all their property and all their rights. These apparent rebels must be saved to the Union. It is upon them that we are to rely in all the future, to put their leaders down and keep them down. They must be encouraged, not disheartened. They denounced the rebellion when they dared to speak, and they denied that the purpose of the north was to subjugate them, or to abolish slavery. Let us make their words true. In the meantime as our army advances let the negroes fly as best they may. Let slavery take the knocks which are inevitable from a state of war. This we cannot help and do not want to help. Slavery in the United States is already a used-up institution for any further political domination. Kansas struck it its first heaviest blow, and Jefferson Davis and company have become greater practical Abolitionists than William Lloyd Garrison. Give us the practical, constitutional, necessary emancipation in preference to the abstract impracticable. ticle entitled "One of My Predecessors," a very lively action in preference to the abstract, impracticable, paper emancipation, which, even if it close the war speedily, would leave only millions of star- W. St. Louis was wild with excitement and joy. Some fifteen hundred gathered at the Merchants Exchange, and sang the Star Spangled Banner, Flag of our Union, and the Red, White and Blue, and then marched to Gen. The people cheered again and again. Judge Holt wept with joy on hearing the news.

At Indianapolis there was the greatest excitement; one hundred guns were fired, and a special train fitted out with hospital stores, and physicians with 25 volunteer nurses left for the tion of the retreating foe.

Friday morning, at 6 o'clock, our whole force scene of action.

At Cincinnati the enthusiasm was unbounded. A steamer with twelve surgeons, and over 100 boxes of supplies, were immediately sent to Fort Donelson. Three thousand dollars were subscribed for the relief of the wounded. Gen. Halleck was telegraphed to, to send to Cincinnati as many of the wounded soldiers as he saw proper, saying the citizens would gladly provide for them.

Bonfires and illuminations were kept up all last night while soldiers poured through the city for the Cumberland river.

At Louisville there was the greatest rejoicing over the capture. At Detroit the news caused buildings were illuminated, and a torch-light Clellan received his dispatch announcing the wildest enthusiasm was exhibited. The people claimed the honor of the victory in the fight for Illinois, there being twenty-five regiments of infantry from Illinois, six Iowa and four Indiana regiments; also four regiments of Illinois thusiastic cheers, and congratulations were excavalry, and six companies of artillery from changed on every side. At Philadelphia flags adorned the buildings generally, and a grand celebration is to take place on the 22d inst.

The Unionists of Baltimore were overflowing with joy, and the secessionists were overwhelmed at this Waterloo defeat of their hopes.

Special dispatches to the St. Louis Democrat left under Col. Carr, and the centre under Gen. The telegraph reports the state of feeling in Sigel. On Wednesday when, within six miles of Springfield, a brisk skirmish took place between our advance and a party of rebels in which nine of the latter were killed and one of our men wounded. At sunset, 300 of the enemy were driven back with a loss of 30. A battery with 300 infantry and cavalry was then eminence, but their shot eliciting no response, our force retired, leaving a strong picket guard. Continuous firing took place during the night between the pickets.

About 3 o'clock on the morning of the 13th, our army advanced in line of battle, and at daybreak the third division, headed by the 4th Iowa regiment, entered and took peaceful posession of the town. Price had left at 2 o'clock the same morning, leaving over 600 of his sick behind. Large quantities of forage wagons were also left. He had 12,000 effective troops and 50 pieces of artillery.

Resolved, That we hereby tender to his bereaved widow and fatherless children our heartfelt sympathy in the sudden and overwhelming affliction in which they are involved, by this painful providence.

Resolved, That while we mourn over the fall of this brave and devoted officer, we yet commend his : atriotism and self-sacrificing spirit in the defence of our beloved country, and for the suppression of this great and wicked rebellion, which has brought upon us the caiamities of war, and filled many hearts and homes with sorrow.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the family of Lieutenant Stillman, and to the city press for publication.

THE FORCES ENGAGED. EXTENT OF THE WORKS.

Munitions of War Taken.

A special to the Chicago Times says, Fort Donelson surrendered at daylight, on Sunday norning, unconditionally. Generals Buckner, War. Along discussion on the battle of Bull Johnson and Bushwood, together with 15,000 prisoners, fell into our hands. Three thousand orses were also taken.

Generals Pilllow and Floyd, with their brigades run away on steamers, without letting Buckner know of their intentions.

Gen. Smith led the charge on the lower end of the works, and was first inside the fortifications. The Fort Henry runaways were bagged here. The prisoners are loading on the steam-ers for Cairo. Our loss is heavy, probably four hundred killed and 800 wounded. We lost a large percentage of officers, among them Lieut. els Erwin, 20th Illinois, White of the 31st and Smith of the 18th. Colonels John A. Logan, Sawyer and Ransom were wounded. Mafor Post of the 8th Illinois with 200 privates are prisoners and have gone to Nashville, having been taken the night before the surrender. The enemy's loss is heavy, but not so large as ours, as they fought behind entrenchments. We should have taken them by storming Saturday, if our ammunition had not given out in the night. McClernand's division, composed of Oglesby's, Wallace's, and McArthur's brig ades, suffered terribly. They were composed of the 8th, 9th, 11th, 18th, 20th, 29th, 30th, 31st, 45th, 48th, and 49th Illinois regiments. Gen. Lew. Wallace, with the 11th Indiana and 8th Missouri and some Ohic regiments, par-ticipated. Taylor's, Willard's, McAllister's Schwartz's, and Decesse's batteries, were in the fight from the commencement. The enemy turned our right for half an hour, but our lost round was more than regained. Lanmann's brigade of Smith's division, was first in the ower end of the enemy's work, which was done by charge bayonets. As nine-tenths of the ebels were pitted against our right, our forces on the right were ready all Saturday night to recommence the attack. On Sunday morning hey were met on the approach by a white flag, Buckner having sent, early in the morning, a dispatch to Gen. All the wounded on both sides, at Fort Donlson, will be brought to St. Louis and placed in the hospitals. A dozen or more surgeons, with a corps of hospital nurses, left Monday afternoon for the battle-field to assist in their ransportation. Gov. Yates, Secretary Hatch and Auditor Dubois of Illinois, left St. Louis for Fort Donelson Monday morning, to look after the wounded of the Illinois troops. A requisition has been made on all the steamboats in the vicinity transportation of Government stores and troops. A private message to the Sanitary commission from Cairo, received at Chicago Monday evening, says there are 300 Federal troops 600 wounded and 100 missing at Fort Donelson. Upward and Onward.

The Stars and Stripes are sweeping onward to glorlous and enduring victories in all directions from the seaboard to the mountain tops of the inland rebel States. The East hails the glorious ensign as it rises in the radiant light of victory through the smoke of battle in the far West. The North hails its rising in the South as the storm-tossed mariner greets the rising sun through the rent clouds of the sweeping tempest. Our persecuted brethren in the rebel ville. States regard it, as it approaches their homes as the angel of their deliverance.

· How unspeakably glorious will be our future when the calm of peace, through the triumph of right, shall succeed the terrible convulsions which have rocked the American Union from its center to its circumference. Then it will appear that our free government has been tested by every form of vicissitude, and has down below the centre of the streets, and therecome off triumphant! Then it will appear that fore receive all the wash from them during our fathers have left a posterity worthy of their every thaw. Olive street, for example, is in-

Glorious country-glorious citizens-nature's true noblemen!

We concede that the rebels have shown courage worthy of a better cause, and they have learned and will admit that the despised Yankees who fear to fight duels and teach their children not to give blow for blow, can, when duty calls, rush up to the belching cannon's front, dash through ranks of opposing steel, and hound over the breastworks of their country's enemies amid sheets of flame and showers of lead, counting life as nothing against the vindication of their government, and the transmissions of its blessings to their posterity.

The pillars of the confederacy are tottering to their fall in North Carolina-Georgia is beholding its cracked walls on her seaboard-Lander has just started some of its center foundation stones in Virginia, and Foote, Buell, Halleck and Curtis have tumbled into shapeless ruins its North Western corner. It is now like an old half burned edifice whose few remaining rafters McClellan will, by a single blow, level to the ground. Glorious consummation! Let the welkin ring with the loud acclaim which joyful millions send up from hearts grateful to God for his superintending care of the nation, and to the gallant spirits that have thus far borne the ensign of the Republic with honor and victory so near the final consummation. A few months more and peace will come, and with it a prosperity and hope in all the future which have never been realized or indulged in before.

Sudden Death.

Mrs. Harriet J. wife of Austin M. Babcock, Esq., one of the Selectmen of the town of cephalus, 2; Paralysis, 3; Disease of Brain 2; Cephali-Chester, after performing a hard days' labor on tes, 1. Tuesday, 11th inst., was taken during the evening with a violent pain in the head, and was soon after seized with a fit and died on Thursday morning. Her age was 36. She was an estimable woman, and her loss is deeply felt by the entire community.

The Rev. J. L. Jenkins, a graduate of Yale, in the class of '51, who has been the faithful and popular pastor of the First Congregational Church, at Lowell, Mass., since 1855, has resigned that position and accepted the appointment of Assistant Secretary of the Rhode Island and Connecticut.

Dr. Knight's Exhibition

Dr. H. M. Knight has arrived in the city with four of his pupils, two boys and two girls, and a lady teacher, and has taken rooms at the Tremont Hotel. One of these little girls could not speak a word about three years ago, but now can talk with tolerable ease, and they all appear well. We trust that there will be a good attendance at the meeting to-night at Music Hall, Exercises commence at 71 o'clock.

Dr. Cleaveland yesterday afternoon brought out his horse to draw away a tree which had fallen on his premises. As the work commenced, the horse became frightened and ran He passed down Church street with a whipple tree at his heels, and when in front of the Post Office encountered a sleigh, over which he turned a somerset, striking upon his back. He sprang up and passed down the west sidewalk at a tearing rate, and continued on into Lafayette street, down which he disappeared.

A Handsome Present.

While some of the friends of WM. M. GROS-VENOR, Esq., Adjutant of the Thirteenth Regiment Connecticut Volunteers, were circulating a subscription paper for the purpose of raising a sum sufficient to present him with a horse the paper was carried to Thomas R. Trow-BRIDGE, Esq., who, with his characteristic nobleness of heart, said that if Mr. Grosvenor would accept any horse of a fine lot of twenty which he had just received, he should be welcome to it. Mr. G. therefore, after due trial, and with good advice, selected a beautiful charger which we do not believe will be allowed to turn its head from the foe, at least not until after its hoofs have been reddened in the blood of the slain. Mr. G. most gratefully appreciates the fine present and the fine compliment which Mr. Trowbridge has so generously bestowed upon

We are without later advices regarding the capture of Savannah, but such report finds favor from the fact that the last advices from Port Royal, by the Baltic, spoke of an expedition about setting out. The number of gun boats named was eleven, and the transports three. The 97th Pennsylvania, 6th Connecticut, and 4th New Hampshire, are thought to have formed a part of the expedition. The route is supposed to have been through Wilmington river and Wall Cut, in the rear of istered. Fort Pulaski, emerging into the Savannah river at Fort Jackson.
