Gov Johnson's Return.

The noble patriot, Andrew Johnson, now Military Governor of Tennessee, was serenaded in Nashville on the evening of the 18th inst., and responded in a most eloquent speech, which was received with great enthusiasm.

Bell, Breckinridge and Douglas men were all taught the doctrine of "the Union, the Constitution and the enforcement of the Laws." Breckinridge deceived him. He was a disunionist at the time.

These facts should be particularly remembered by all readers. The rebel emissaries in order to obtain the aid and sympathy of the British nation, did not hesitate to avow what the rebels were not fighting for the defence of slavery, but for a separate government.

Rebel Letters. At the battle of Pea Ridge some interesting letters were dropped by the retreating rebels. One from a Texas captain to his wife is very beautiful.

The coming battle will free Arkansas and Missouri from the invaders, and we will then march on to St. Louis, and take that Abolition city, and give the oppressed Southerners their opportunity to be free once more.

The trouble with them is that they never get tired of anything. They lost all the battles at first, and after Manassas we depicted them. This year has inaugurated a new order of affairs.

"I have lost heart in our cause. There is something wrong—somewhere. Jeff. Davis and our political leaders are either knaves or fools. They drew us into our present difficulties, and now have no way of showing us out of them."

One good effect of the war will be to teach the boastful Southerners that at the call of duty the Northerners can fight. Because we teach our children not to strike back, and refuse to fight back, they have labored under the impression that for no cause, even that of our flag and our country, could we be induced to face powder and ball.

Lieut. Com. Stevens' official report of the capture of St. Mary's is published. He proceeded up the St. Mary's river with the gunboat Ottawa and gave assurances of the friendly designs of the government towards all loyal people.

The cotton region of the South seems to be under a despotism as black and remorseless as any that ever existed in the darkest ages of the world.

The ONE HUNDRED AND FOURTH REGIMENT. The 104th Regiment New York Volunteers arrived in the city last night at about 10 o'clock, and took up quarters in the Park Barracks.

When the history of this wicked rebellion is written, it will be a most instructive volume for posterity. Once over it will not be soon repeated. It is a terrible ordeal for this generation, and though we wish a short war, yet there is this consolation in a long one, in the knowledge of the fact that the cause of it will be more effectually extinguished after a two years' struggle than it can be in a war of one year.

The Selections will be remembered, are to meet at the State House at 2 o'clock, on Monday for the admission of Electors.

A STRANGE WAY TO A LEGACY. From Chamber's Journal. The year after the general peace was the first of my travels. I was just twenty-two, and thought myself lucky when, early in the summer of 1816, my uncle sent me to be his agent and representative in the house of Skinderkin and Co.

I thought I was going to see the world, and be a great man; indeed, having little acquaintance with the said sea, I entertained a secret design of landing it over the Russian and German clerks, for all the company had their national representatives in the chief house, and I was appointed to the English department.

I set out with all the weight of my own importance, and these sage counsels. I arrived safely, though a voyage to St. Petersburg was no joke in those days, and got regularly lodged in the house of Skinderkin. It was large enough to satisfy my fond expectations, and stood close on the New York side, and outstraggled part of St. Petersburg, said to have been the site of an Ingrian village, the whole of whose inhabitants perished in the adjoining marsh, when the city had to be built at any cost of life or labor, and Peter the Great wielded at once the trowel and the knot for his subject's encouragement.

I had not heard my native English for two months, except from the dry, disagreeable Hardestaff, and could have danced for joy on the spot to hear it uttered by those rosy lips; but I did not know the Englishman could flatter, and I did not know the Englishman could flatter, and I did not know the Englishman could flatter.

"I have seen very little as yet, madame." "Ah, perhaps you have no friends or relations in the city?" "None, madame; I am quite a stranger."

THE FIRING ON ISLAND NO. 10. The firing on Island No. 10, continued all day on Wednesday, and was apparently very destructive to the enemy who seemed to be making preparations for an escape.

THE GUNBOAT MINNESOTA. The gunboat Minnesota, armed a 128-pounder gun on the enemy's upper battery. Some rebel gunboats tried to force their way up Thursday morning, but had to return.

THE FIGHT OF GOV. HARRIS. Gov. Harris of Tennessee appears to have fled from his State. He disappeared from Memphis the second day after the one to which the Legislature adjourned, and has not since been heard from.

THE REBELS CAPTURED AT COLUMBUS. Most of the rebel guns captured at Columbus were from Norfolk. Many frigates' chains and anchors were found among the spoils.

LOCAL AFFAIRS. The Republicans of the second ward have nominated for Alderman, Morris, Tyler, for Councilmen, Alexander McAllister, James M. Woodward, Barritt Hitchcock and Elisha Blackman.

The Coming Election. A few days only remain in which to make preparation for the coming State election.

Sawyer's Translation. We are glad to see that the Rev. Mr. Sawyer has been so successfully encouraged with his translations of the Scriptures to proceed with them in new editions.

The Tribune of Saturday contains the following: 'Capt. Townsend of the ship Germaonia, from Havre, arrived on Friday morning, reports: On March 11, in lat. 36 deg. 27 minutes, lon. 60 deg. 41 minutes, passed a quantity of iron...

Dr. John B. Welch, late assistant surgeon of the 12th Regiment, who died on the Fulton on his passage out to Ship Island of scarlet fever, was a son of Dr. James Welch of Winsted.

Our attention was called a few days since to a new fire-arm called 'Henry's patent Repeating Rifle,' manufactured by the New Haven Arms Company.

LOCAL AFFAIRS. Members of the 9th and 18th regiments, who were left behind when their regiments moved, have an opportunity of going to Ship Island on the 26th inst., as will be seen by an advertisement of Quartermaster-General Aiken, in another column.

Our correspondent 'B.' with the Connecticut Fifth, sends us a neat little letter sheet printed by the types of the regiment at Winchester, Va. It bears the name of 'The Connecticut Fifth,' and has for its motto the quotation 'Qui Transtulit Sustinet.'

On Saturday afternoon two alarms of fire occurred—one arose from smoke seen issuing from the rear of the residence of Charles Robinson, Esq., No. 139 Chapel street, the other from the discovery of fire at the front entrance of the house No. 42 Wooster st., occupied by Mr. Thaddeus Beecher; but little damage occurred at either of them.

Our work is very heavy just now, and bids fair to continue some three or four weeks, perhaps longer. Of the nature of it, it would, possibly, be wrong in me to speak.

On the 26th inst., at Hartford, the celebration of the centennial of St. Johns F. M. Lodge, No. 4, at Hartford, on Friday last, was duly observed with appropriate ceremonies; a procession, the delivery of an oration and poem, and other exercises consumed the day, and at night Allyn Hall was crowded with the beauty and fashion of Hartford.

The Washington correspondent of the Tribune says: The Navy Department has ordered of the builders of the Monitor, Messrs. C. S. Bushnell & Co., six more iron-clad vessels, similar in construction, but more formidable.

General Gerstenberg, military commander of Warsaw, had a dispute with General Count Lambert, the Emperor's lieutenant in Poland. As duelling is prohibited in the Russian Army, they avoided the law by casting lots to decide who should kill himself.

A STRANGE WAY TO A LEGACY. 'No,' said I, 'and he is a man to whom I should not like to complain of solitude; he would laugh at me for being childish, and bid me mind my business.'

Was I dreaming, or did a Russian countess actually invite me out of Skinderin and Co's counting-house to quadrilles, cards, and supper? Then what appeared had I to appear in at the Rozanski Palace, and you shall be my Cinderella.
