The English and the Iron-Clads.

It is quite amusing to read the comments of the English newspapers on the battle between the Merrimac and the Monitor. The Frenchmen seem disposed to taunt the English with navy of wooden walls now rendered almost useless from the invention of the iron-clad gunhoats. The British are further told that it was a lucky thing for their entire fleet that the Mason and Slidell affair had a peaceful solution. Election Day.

It has been suggested as there will be a large turn-out of military and civic companies, on occasion of the inauguration of Gov. Buckingham, that an old fashioned election parade would be proper, and that the Governor should be met at East Haven or some other point on the line of the New London road, and be thence escorted into town in accordance with the old

WOOSTER PLACE CHURCH .- There will be preach ing in this church to-morrow evening, and after sermon the ordinance of Baptism will be adstered to six persons-recent converts. The religious interest in this church is still increasing. TRINITY CHURCH will be open to-morrow ever ing. Service will begin at 7 1-4 o'clock.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH .- Services to-morrow af ternoon at 3 o'clock. Subject-" Will the gift of life, on the whole, be an evil to any child of God?' Evening services at 7 o'clock. Subject-"Reli gious revivals, true and false."

CONFIRMATION .- Last evening at St. Paul's Church, the rite of confirmation was administered by Bishop Williams, in the presence of a crowded congregation, to 37 candidates; two others were necessarily absent, and two sick. The Bishop preached a solemn discourse from the text in St John's Gospel, seventh chapter and 6th verse: "My time is not yet come, but your time is always ready." The Bishop addressed the candidates in a very impressive manner. There were in the chan cel with him, the Rector, Mr. Drown, the Rev. Mr. Vibbert, the Rev. Mr. Thomas, and the Rev. Mr.

REVIVAL .- In the Congregational Church in West Winsted, there is an interesting revival of religion progressing. The Pastor is the Rev. James B. Pearson, lately of East Winsted.

CHAPLAINS .- The number of Chaplains in the army, as officially reported from the War Department, is four hundred and twenty-two. New York has ninety-seven: Pennsylvania, sixty-four: Massachusetts, nineteen : Maine, eleven : New Hampshire, six; Vermont, seven; Rhode Island, four; to make butter now. I told my brother Hecticut, seven; New Jersey, eleven; Delaware, two; Maryland, three; Virginia, four; Kentucky, sixteen; Ohio, forty-four; Indiana, thirty Illinois, forty-six; Missouri, nine; Kansas, four; Iowa, twelve; Wisconsin, eleven; Michigan, thirteen; Minnesota, two. Commodore Foote, the praying Commodore, acts as his own Chaplain, and and an admirable one he is, though, he draws no extra pay for the service.

Rev. L. Atwater, formerly of Connecticut, has re signed the pastoral care of the Oakfield and Alabama Baptist Church, and accepted that of the Church of West Somerset, Niagara County, N. Y.

HORSE GUARDS .- The New Haven Hors Guards have taken for an Armory a beautiful hall in Cutler's new building. They surmount their quarters with a flag-staff forty feet high. The Guards have elected T. P. Merwin, Third Lieutenant in place of Wm. Fitch promoted to Paymaster-General. H. B. Bigelow has been added to the Major's staff. The Guards expect tected. te escort Governor Buckingham into New Haven on election day

SECOND LETTER.

DEAR FRIEND: I received your letter a short time ago and now am going to answer it. I was very glad to hear from you. I am getting brother Charlie on the cars to-day, and I was very glad to see him. I must tell you what a nice time I had going to Danbury yesterday. We went in the carriage—the street we stopped in looked like Chapel street. We have got the two cunningest little calves you ever did see; one of them is a cow and the other is a steer, the little cow is mine and I call her Minnie. I should like to see all of the children very much indeed. Give my love to Willie Smith and the rest of them, and tell Adeline that I should like to have her answer my letter if she has got it. I see George Smith (another asylum boy) most every Sunday; he is not in my class, but the one next to mine. Have those children got well yet that were sick? On consulting with the gentleman who accompanied us, and who only wanted a word to hurl the young man from the piazza, we concluded to retire As we did so, he asked us if we knew the lady of the gay bonnet, and we replied that we had not the honor. "That" said he. "is the noted Fanny P----,"

These are all the facts in the case that we are possessed of; but the scene affords occasion for ome comment and will point a moral, besides giving some light to our police. Was that woman in a "fit," or was she some young person mused to the degradation to which she was subjected, and struggling to break loose from per bondage? We ought to have found out. and should have done so, had we known what sort of a place we were in. If she was merely a reckless woman, excited by liquor and abused by the scoundrel who held her, that fact ought to have been ascertained, and should be now. F., died March 29th; and Michael good principles into the minds and hearts of Dobson, from New Haven, of Co. H., died the young.

MY DEAR YOUNG FRIENDS: Your much respected teacher having invited me to make some few remarks, I would say in reply, that I am no speech maker, but notwithstanding wil comply with his request.

I would remark then, that it always cheers ny heart and gladdens my eyes whenever I witness a spectacle so truly imposing as the one now before me. What sight I would inquire can be more imposing, more cheering, nore interesting, and more gratifying than tha of beholding so many good looking, bright-eyed scholars, all comfortably seated, like so many senators in Congress, studying and la boring with heart and mind to get the mastery, and to see who shall take the highest honor, and future terms.

What can be more cheering I say? Not to nyself alone, but to your faithful teachers, who day after day, week after week, month after month, and year after year labor incessantly impress on your young minds, that religion, morality, temperance, good behavior, and sound education are essentials, that shall ultimately contribute to your future comfort, happiness, and prosperity. Go on then my young friends, go on! I say, in the way you have (in Fleet street) where she took a glass of soda an hour before. Her captive called one of the girls to him and told her to fasten the gate, ther which art in Heaven. Keep Holy the Sabbath day. Love and obey your parents. Honor and respect your teachers. Respect yourselves. Be kind to each other. Love your nemies. Assist the poor. Help the widow and suffering. And at all times, and on all occasions be faithful and true to the "American Flag," and to the glorious Constitution of the United States.

> We have received a communication from Prof. Silliman, Jr., in relation to the inquiry whether the use of lead pipe in the distribution of the water of the New Haven Water Company will be safe to health. We shall give the letter in whole or in part in our next. The Professor's conclusion is, that river or lake water does not act upon lead like our well water and is therefore perfectly safe, when properly put up.

GEN. M'GLELLAN'S REPORT.

April 18.—About half an hour after midnight. Thursday night, the enemy attacked Gen. Smith's position and attempted to carry his guns. My position, which was occupied yesterday by Gen. Smith's command, was entrenched last night, so that we have been able to prevent the enemy from working to-day, and kept his guns silent. The same result has been accom-plished at Hayan's Mills. been received at headquarters, giving a list of the killed and wounded in the engagement be-tween the 3d Vermont regiment and the enemy, on Wednesday, mention of which was made yesterday. The information as far as regiers, and Mr. Myers, purser of the pirate Sumceived, puts the killed at 32, and the wounder at 90. Ten of the latter will probably prove fatal. The conduct of the Vermont troops on the occasion is spoken of in the highest terms, earning for the Green Mountain Boys laurels only to be won by the brave. They drove a superior number of the enemy from their forti-fied position, but were forced to relinquish on the rebels being reinforced. The loss of the enemy in this engagement must have been heavy, as the well directed fire of our artillery rone by the Unionists of East Tennessee and moved them by acres. Yesterday afternoon while Lieut. O. B. Wagner, of the topographidrum-head court martial. Important from Washington.

Washington, April 19, 1862. The act to reorganize and increase the efficiency of the Medical Department of the army, adds to the present corps ten surgeons and ten assistant surgeons, twenty medical cadets, and as many hospital stewards as the Surgeon General may consider necessary.

The Surgeon-General to be appointed under this law is to have the rank and pay and emoluments of a Brigadier-General. There is to be one assistant Surgeon-General and one Medical Inspector-General of Hospitals. The latter is to have the supervision of all that relates to the Sanitary condition of the army.

There are to be besides, eight medical in spectors charged with the duty of inspecting the sanitary condition of the transports, quarters and camps of the field and general hospitals.

The appointments are to be made by the president either from the regular or volunteer sur geons with a sole regard to qualifications.

The act authorizing the Postmaster-General so establish branch post offices in the cities, prescribes the charge of one cent in addition to the regular postage for every letter deposited in any branch post office to be forwarded by mail from the principal office, and which shall be prepaid by stamp; and one cent for every letter delivered at such branch office to be paid

The naval appropriation bill contains an item of nearly eight hundred thousand dollars, to pay for and finish Stevens' battery, the money not to be expended unless the Secretary of the Navy is of the opinion that the same will secure an efficient steam battery.

The section appropriating thirteen million merely says, " to enable the Secretary to contract for iron-clad steam vessels of war." The Post Office appropriation bill provides one million of dollars for service of the California Central Route, and repeals the act requiring the Post Master General in causing the transportation of the mails by steamships between the United States and foreign ports, and between any of our own ports touching at foreign ports to give the preference to American over foreign steamships when departing from same por for some destination within three days of each

The Postmaster-General is authorized to establish a Coast Mail, not less than semi-monthly, by steam vessels between San Francisco and Crescent City, California, including service at the intermediate posts; provided the sum to be paid for such service does not exceed $20,000 per annum. The President has approved and signed the above named bills.

Slavery in the District.

We are really sorry to find existing in many old democratic journals, the same spirit of yielding and compromising to the insolent demand of the rebels, that was exhibited in the sam newspapers and before the rebellion. This fact shows that those editors regard the relations of the traitors to the government as hardly changed by their insurrectionary proceedings. The Hartford Times sings the old song of conciliation at the very moment that we are hurling our destructive shells among the rebels. This is the spirit that originated the late "peace meetings" in this State. Conciliate-coax the traitors in arms against us-tell them we admit that their soil is sacred—that Yankees are vulgar people-that slavery is divine-that though we slay the master, we will not permit his slave to run away from the widow. Tell them further that they may extend slavery into the territories and keep the wretched institution at the very doors of the National Capitol. They must be conciliated! Such is the mean ing of the talk of some of the Democratic journals in relation to the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia. The Hartford Times says of that long deferred deed of justice, that "Swiftly this news will spread over the South, and it will be seized upon to inflame the public mind upon the great issue which they have pressed, that the party in power has one ob ject, and that is Abolition."

If the Times really fears that the South will be prejudiced against the North for venturing to free itself from any responsibility for slavery in the Capitol, why attempt to make the South He lived alone in a shanty in the woods which believe that a great wrong has been done to took fire and was burned with the occupant. them, when their interests and their laws and The fire extended to the woods and burned their institutions are untouched by the act of nearly 100 acres of woods. Previous to the rebellion, those journals inflamed the South and played industriously into the hands of the desperate demagogues there by just such a course as they are now pursusng.

It is no time now to whine over the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia when the mind of the country is begining to entertain much more comprehensive project, which, however, will be deferred until the law of self-pres ervation shall seem to demand its executionbut that may be in less than three months.

OBITUARY. Died at his residence in Wallingford, on the 17th day of April, 1862, Leander Parmelee, Esq., aged 68

In the death of this truly christian gentleman and friend of mankind, not only have his family and the community in which he lived, but the county and its best interests, with which he was so long and intimately connected, met with a severe loss,

Mr. Parmelee was born in Killingworth in 1794 and removed to Wallingford in early life, and after having filled many of the civil and military offices in the town acceptably, was, at the annual State with as little bloodshed. election in the spring of 1845, elected Sheriff of New Haven County, which responsible office he

During the four terms which he served as Sheriff, it would be no disparagement to any other official to say that no office was ever more acceptably filled than was this one by him. His administration of it was truly a perfect success. With all his humanity -and it was proverbial-it fell to his lot to execut the death penalty on four criminals, which trying duty he performed with great dignity and proprie ty, omiting nothing that the ends of justice called for; and at the same time granting every favor and privilege which the friends and acquaintances o these unfortunate men could hope or wish for. He had the singular faculty-if such it can be calledpossessed by but few men, of being firm and imvable, and at the same time of rarely making an

The inhabitants of the town on the day of his funeral, testified their respect for him by displaying their flags at half-staff, and by a very general at Many persons from the adjoining towns were also present. The exercises at the house and grave-which were of the most solemn and impressive character—were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Gilbert, his pastor.

He has left a widow in feeble health, and three married children, to mourn their irreparable loss but they have the consolation in their bereavemen to know, that their loss is his eternal gain.

Large Auction of Carriages. On Thursday, May 8, a great trade sale carriages takes place at the Depository of Messrs. G. & D. Cook & Co., State street.

The assortment will be extensive, comprising all varieties manufactured in the city, and the work is that of the best manufacturers in the country. These carriages having passed from the hands of the makers into that of merchants will be sold without reserve, and a rare opportunity for securing a good article at a chear rate is now presented to the public. The auctioneer, Edward Riddle, Esq., of Boston, is an experienced man in his profession, and intends to dispose of them at a "driving" rate. The sale will probably attract buyers from all sections of New England, as well as other States.

We publish the following from Professor Siliman, Jr., both because requested to do so, and because the subject is highly important to all families .- Ens. PALLADIUM.

GENTLEMEN-I willingly respond to the call of you correspondent on Thursday, seconded by yourselves, that I would say something on the question now uppermost in the minds of many, viz., May the water of the New Haven Water Co. (from Mill river,) be safely conducted through lead pipes, for drinking and other domestic uses? To this inquiry I can return at once an affirmative answer-lead service and distribution pipes may be safely used-and there perhaps I might leave the subject. But something more than a dog matic or categorical reply, is due to the honest and startled suspicions, or fears, of many intelligent people, who have a right to know on what grounds such sympathizers.

I will state then first, that a pretty extended inquiry and observation, have demonstrated that the water of rivers and lakes do not, unless in some exceptions cases, act on lead. I know this to be true, from per onal examination and repeated experiment, of the waters from Lake Cochituate, (supply of Boston,) of the Connecticut and Trout Brook, (supply of Hartford,) of Croton river, (supply of New York,) of the Schuylkill, (supply of Philadelphia, (of the Montmor ency, (supply of Quebec,) of the Ohio, at Louisville Kentucky, and I am happy to add also, of MILL RIVER, (supply of New Haven.) In all the case named, before our own, (unless it be Hartford, where a city ordnance, at the opening of the works, required the use of zinc'd iron for service-not for distribution in houses,) lead is the only metal used in the distribution and service pipes. As about two mil lions of people are included in this constituency and the vital statistics of these cities fail to reveal any injury to health from the use of lead, I think even the most nervous people may dismiss all anxiety on this subject, and use lead pipes for the new water with entire safety.

The remark above made-"unless in some exceptional cases"-demands a word of explanation. allude to the accidental presence of lime rubbish pipes, due to carelessness in building. When thi accident has happened, it has resulted in the danger ous corrosion of lead pipes, at Boston and elsewhere [See the American Journal of Science, July 1861 page 115.] Every careful plumber will see, how ever, that such an unpardonable negligence does no

Common prudence dictates also that in drawing water for drinking, the pipes should be allowed to empty themselves of the water which has been stand ing over night in them; since where the cock of brass joins the lead there is an electrical action which will corrode the solder, (and this is true of whateve netal pipe may be used.) The desire to obtain the water cool and fresh, will secure attention to this

THE SEMI-ELASTIC PIPE prepared by the Bos Belting Co., and sold by our plumbers here, is a excellent substitute for lead. It is stronger, cheaper joined without solder, does not impart taste to the water, and may be frozen without bursting. Rats sometimes gnaw through lead pipe, but they can do nothing with this material. The question of durabil ity for a long term of years is the only important one PROMOTED.—Lieut. E. S. Greeley of this city, not already answered, and certificate of its use for five years are produced by the very respectable company who manufacture it. I regard this semi-elastic India rubber tubing as the only useful substitute for lead, and shall employ it on my own premises, mor presented him with a field glass, field compass for the sake of testing what I believe to be an impor tant improvement, than because I have any fears from the use of lead.

Allow me to add, that judging from my own obser vation and experience in New Haven, there are com paratively few wells in our soil the water of which degree of rapidity which inspires a salutary caution in the minds of those who have paid any intelligent The bombardment of forts does not seem attention to this subject. It is many years since relieved by the use of the new water. There are numerous and some nameless sources of contamina tion which have already effectually ruined the wate in multitudes of wells in New Haven, even where the people who drink of them do not complain (they may even praise or boast.) Let them use the swee waters of Mill River for a time, until their palates return to a natural state, and then try their much boasted well water again, when they will need no chemist to tell them the difference. I did not propose to make a diatribe against New Haven wells, (as good doubtless, and perhaps better than other city wells,) but it is right people should know what they are talking about when they praise their wells.

In conclusion, I beg to say that no person must ssume that what I have stated about the safety of lead pipes for river water, is applicable to spring water. The latter, as a rule, does act on lead. The cause of the difference between them is readily understood, but the explanation would unduly extend this communication, already too leng, and I will therefore repeat the conviction already stated, that our citizens may safely use lead pipes in plumbing Yours respectfully, B. SILLIMAN, Jr.

On the Mississippi. A dispatch dated off Ft. Wright, Mississippi river, says, that the firing on Thursday was very heavy. The firing was kept up until midnight. But little firing occurred on Friday. Our mortars were removed to a safe position, as in their former locality, they were in great danger from prowling bands of rebels, who have cut the levee in two or three places to embarrass the operations of the mortars.

Deserters say the batteries now mount 40 guns, and the rebels have 60 more which they are rapidly putting in position. Bragg had command, succeeding Villipigue. There are the river, mounting 24 guns. There is no expectation of the reduction of the fort at present. The present high stage of water will prevent any co-operation on the part of the land forces for some days. Every house

Henry Ward Beecher on Fast Horses Mr. Beecher had a ride lately after fast norses, and he descants thus:

If a horse has had swiftness put into him, is fair to give him a chance to develop his gifts. Of course there is a bound. Reason in all things. Even in trotting, it is easier and leasanter for some horses to go twelve miles were made so. Does it hurt a swallow to go swifter than an ox? Why not? Because he

Take a fine fed horse, who, in harness, looks as if he were a pattern of moderation, a very leacon of sobriety, and turn him loose in pasture. Whew, what a change! He takes one of two steps slowly, just to be sure you have let go of him, and then with a squel he lets fly his heels high in the air, till the sun flashes from his polished shoes, and then off he goes, faster and fiercer, across the lot, till the fence mane lifted and swelling, his tail up like a king's scepter, he snorts a defiance to you from afar; and with a series of rearing, running ment, into another round of running. Do you not see that it is more than fun? It is ecstacy -it is horse rapture!

I never see such a spectacle that I am not painfully impressed with the inhumanity of not letting horses run. Fastness is virtue. Our mistaken moderation is depriving him of it. I drive fast on principle—I do it for the sake of being at one with nature. To drive slow, only and always, is to treat a horse as if he were an ox. You may be slow if you think proper; but your horse should be kept up to nature He would have had but two legs if it was meant

In the charge made on them by Col. Bayard, the loss of the enemy is not reported. The Col. had his horse shot four times. The command then drove the enemy's forces which fell back without further resistance and which consisted of a regiment of infantry, one of cavalry, and a battery of artillery, across the Rappahannock, but were unable to save the bridges which were prepared for burning by having tar shavings and light wood in the crib work and which were fired as soon as the enemy crossed. The Brooklyn Fourteenth, or 84th New York

Regiment, which participated in the advance of Gen. McDowell upon Fredericksburgh, was commanded by Lieut. Col. E. B. Fowler, Col. Wood being home, not yet recovered from illess contracted in prison at Richmond. This regment kept up without straggling, with the cavalry and artillery, on a march of 26 miles, and then, after three hours rest, dashed on after the enemy's cavalry for four miles.

TO THE SECESSION SYMPATHIZER. Twill be no thanks to you, good sir

O then, 'twill be no thanks to you! O then, 'twill be no thanks to you!
You frowned upon their toil!
At best 'twas folly in your view—
Until you saw the spoil
You sighed and looked amazing wise
At justice's long delay;
And talked about a "compromise"
To keep the hounds at cay.

You never spoke a word
Where he arts and hands and all were dus,
As I have ever heard—
Che cheering word of sympathy,
One patriotic prayer—
One word of faith and hope, to be
A charm against despair.
