He commenced by saying, "that he did not come there as the General commanding, but as and 13th Regiments, C. V., (Rev. James H. Brad man to man, and aiming for the same state of ford and Rev. C. Salter,) have made themselves eternal happiness." He insisted that the highest duty of a soldier was to be a Christian; ro ligion heightened every enjoyment, and bette prepared him to discharge his duty. A chaplain who was present says: "It was a sublime scene; he left an impression on the minds of his auditors never to be forgotten." The effect of the sermon was added to by the fact that the services were held on the mountain top, amid the rugged grandeur of East Tennessee.

Fire in Ansonia,

On Wednesday night, 30th ult., the barn o Capt. Lindley, Ansonia, was set on fire and consumed. A valuable horse was burned to death and several wagons were destroyed, together with hay, &c. The flames communicated to an adjoining building, a cabinet warehouse, the roof of which was burned off. Total loss, $1,200. The hose attached to the steam engines of the village factories, was brought into use, but the engines played with such power that it burst and was useless.

The following surgeons have volunteere to go to Yorktown if necessary, at the call of the Secretary of War through Gov. Buckingham: Drs. P. A. Jewett, L. G. Hubbard, T. B. Townsend, C. A. MISSION CHILDREN AT THE TEMPLE. - OR Vednesday evening last, the children enjoyed reat from John P. Gardener, who exhibited his ioramic views of the American War. The chilfren were delighted to see the "Monitor" driving ff the "Merrimac," the surrender of Fort Douelon, and the view of Charleston harbor, during the nking of the stone fleet. When they looked at assassination of Col. Ellsworth, some one said Oh! poor Ellsworth." The children also expressed much sympathy for the 6th Regiment, Masshusetts volunteers, as they looked upon the decription of the mob at Baltimore. The singing by the young ladies, and the exercises all combined nade the children happy, so much so, that they gave Mr. Gardner and his associates a double vote

> Late News from the South, AFFAIRS AT NORFOLK.

Three refugess from Norfolk, who left Thursday night, in a row boat, arrived at Fortress Monroe Friday morning. There is little news, except a repetition of previous reports.

Commodore Tatnall received sealed orders on Monday, and sailed, but opening them in Elizabeth river, found he was ordered to run the blockade and proceed to York river He thereupon returned to Norfolk and immediately resigned his commission, together with his chief officers.

There was general expectation in Norfolk that the Merrimac would come out for the last three or four days. The refugees say there are several hundred Union men in Norfolk, known to be such, and many others who keep quiet, including many of the soldiers. There are six or seven thousand troops under Gen. Huger, between Pig Point and Norfolk. Three companies in Portsmouth rebelled and stacked arms a few days since; it is also reported that part of Gen. Magruder's forces had mutinied at Williamsburg.

A torpedo has been constructed at Norfolk. whether recently or not is not stated, calculated to be managed under water by one man, and to be propelled by him under a vessel to be destroyed. It is said to be five or six feet long.

Yorktown in the Hands of the Federal Army

The evacuation of Yorktown by the rebels which was unlooked for at present, appears to have been a sudden movement to escape capture by the Union Army. At the first announce ment it was thought there was some design or the part of the rebels, but the details which come to hand leave no room to doubt that the rebel generals have been compelled to the ne-

Some of their troops appear to dislike th idea of falling back, and this marching to and fro without any chance to fight will be likely to demoralize the rebel army to a still greater extent than is already reported. If McClellan follows up his advantage Richmond must speedily succumb, and Virginia be cleared of traitors, at least of those in arms.

The Wickedness of the Rebellion. The report of the Congressional Committee proving the barbarities of the rebels upon the prisoners they captured from us, and especially upon the wounded and dead of our brave troops creates, as it ought, a profound sensation throughout the land, and will excite the indignation of the civilized world. History records such cruelties occasionally, but the people guilty of them have generally been semi-savages. We have heard of such outrages in China, among the Sepoys of India, and the American Indians But they had no Christian Bishops in their armies. They did not pretend to a superior condition of society-to the highest mental and moral culture, and to a chivalry bordering upor the romantic. The rebels pretend to all this They claim to be a superior race, and to despise "the Yankees" as beneath them in all the ennobling qualities of a genuine civiliza-It will be said that these acts of barbarity were done by men among them of the "baser sort," and that the outrages were not a fair sample of the spirit of their rebellion. But in this, they will be met by the fact that the cruelties so fully proved as having been perpetrated to a greater or less extent throughout their line from Richmond to the Mississippi, were the nat ural fruits of their condition of society-or the inevitable results of their slave system-a system which makes the ignorance of the black an essential element of their safety. This ignornce affects the white population, except among the few wealthy, who from their relation to the ignorant whites and the more ignorant blacks, The best assortment and the best made Clothing for ignorant whites and the more ignorant blacks, Men, Youth and Children, can be found as usual, at the become haughty, intolerant and vindictive.— These varied elements act and react upon each system becomes arrogant and unmerciful. It is so in a state of peace. It is infinitely more so in a state of war, when their worst passion are let loose, and they become absolutely fe-

The slave system is making a dreadful exposure of its weakness and its wickedness before the world. It is the bane of the republic, the curse of humanity. We have read for years of the black hole of Calcutta, where nunerous prisoners were confined without air until they became suffocated. But the rebels have confined the Federal prisoners under the decks of their small vessels until they perished for want of air. The same horrid cruelties have been practiced in the Southern prisons, and men have been shot for going to the windows for a breath of air. The bodies of our dead have been shockingly mutilated, buried with their faces downward-their skulls have been boiled, scraped, and used for drinking cups—their bones have been made into spurs and into finger-rings and other ornaments. Young medical students, with scarcely any knowledge of surgery, have been permitted t amoutate the limbs of our brave soldiers, who have been hacked and sawed and mangled, until they died under the operation. Others hav been starved, and the sick and wounded and dying have been refused a cup of water to relieve their agonizing thirst. In New Orleans, women and children have been fired upon for their love of country and fidelity to their be Nothing but the fact that there may be ten righteous men" in all their Sodom, should is I have confidence in every brave man in my save them from universal exterpation.

The Government has been exceedingly lenient with them, treating their prisoners as if they were less than criminals-caring for their vounded as if they were our own-and striving to win them back to duty as if they were innocently misled. It is time to deal more rigorously with the wretches, and mete out to them pared. the justice which is their due. There can be no negociations with them. They must be treated as criminals, and it is nearly time that the scaffold was taking the place of our rifles and cannon, and the leaders in no small number were expiating their infamous crimes at the

The Bridgeport Light Artillery, six pieces and 130 men, will arrive in this city tomorrow afternoon about 4 o'clock The Gov ernor's Foot Guard, we understand, will escort them into the city from Congress Avenue.

Gen. Mitchell's Division at Work. Gen. Mitchell pushed an expedition to Chattanooga, May 1st, which captured stores and Southern mail. There were not more than 2,000 troops there and a panic prevailed among the inhabitants. The enemy was moving his property to Atalanta, Ga. The expedition destroved a saltpetre manufactory in a cave and eturned safely.

Accident. A man named Edward Davis, living on Wa ter street, a workman on the railroad, was oretty badly hurt, though no bones were broken. by a heavy stone rolling over his legs, on the railroad near the grand-street bridge, this morning, about 8 o'clock. He was carried home by his companions.

New Haven, May 5, 1862. Messes, Editors: Your morning cotempocary reproduces the story that the enemies of McClellan in the Cabinet prevented his having all the force he needed. There is but one anwer to that, and to my mind it is conclusive. President Lincoln must have been cognizant of it, and would not have allowed McClellan's army to be put in jeopardy in any such way. am willing to give McClellan every advantage, but I object to making Lincoln the scapegoat if the former fails. Where is the balance of McClellan's army? Part with Banks, who has had as much fighting to do at Winchester, &c., as McCellan had at Yorktown ;-the other part is with McDowell, and who, among us, does not feel grateful to know that we now have such a barrier between the rebels and Washngton? Where then could we get more men for McClellan, and if he had them how in the name of common sense could he, as your cotemporary suggests, have thrown them into the ear of Yorktown? I never had the advantage of training in our State militia, but doubtless ome one who has can answer the question. The rebels have proved at Shiloh and elsewhere, hat they are no cowards; and the strategy which moved over 100,000 men from within speaking distance of an enemy of equal numbers, without the sacrifice of a single man, has REPUBLICAN. few parallels in history.

The sympathies of an extensive circle friends, we know, will be felt for JAMES M. WHITON. Esq., and family, for their deep affliction in the los of their eldest son, James Morris Whiton, an inteligent lad in the 7th year of his age. Mr. Whiton, Rector of the Hopkins Grammar School, ha ometimes had occasion to mingle his tears with hose of fond parents who have been called to taste the bitter cup." In the mysterious ways of Prov dence, he is now called to part with one of the fondest objects of his earthly affection. We deeply sympathize with him, and yet how vain to heal is man sympathy for wounds like these?

James Dodd, Esq., one of the founders of the Farmers' and Mechanic's Bank, at Hartford, and a prominent citizen of that city, died on Friday evening, aged 75.

As the train on the Canal Railroad, ariving here at 4:30 p. m., came into the Depot on Saturday afternoon, a freight car was discovered on fire by an employee of Mr. Cowes, the barber. "I will go on to do my duty to the very best of my ability, without praise-and do all I can to bring the war to a speedy close. I am not an aspirant for anything at the close of the war. There is one thing I feel well assured of, that command. Those who showed the white feather will do all in their power to distract public attention from themselves. CONSTENATION AT MEMPHIS. A refugee from Vicsburgh, who left Memphis on Thursday, says that full particulars of the fall of New Orleans have just been put lished, and created great consternation. All the river towns below Vicksburgh and Natchez are almost entirely deserted, most of the people having fled to the interior. A large number of rebel steamboats have gone up White river, for what purpose is not known. It was believed at Memphis, that Commodore Farragut's fleet would not come as far up the river as that city.

TENNESSEE COMING BACK INTO THE UNION. The Nashville Union of the 3d contains call signed by 150 influential citizens, assigning Monday (to-day) for a meeting to take measures to restore the former relations of Tennessee with the Federal Union.

FROM ASSISTANT SECRETARY SCOTT. PITTSBURG LANDING, May 3,-9 p. m;

Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War: Gen. Pope's division made a reconnoisance Farmington to-day, found about 4500 of the enemy, and drove them in handsome style, killing 30, wounding many and capturing some risoners, their tents and camp equipage. At dusk our cavalry was in pursuit of their artillery and baggage train beyond Farmington in the direction of Corinth. I witnessed the fight and refuge in the military camps in the vicinity and our men behaved splendidly. An artillery reconnoisance went to Glendale this morning and bound under heavy penalties to execute destroyed two trestle bridges and some track of the Memphis and Charleston road. Several deserters have succeeded in running into our lines. One of them, a very intelligent man, originally from New York, who has been connected with the rebel ordance department ever since the works at Yorktown have been constructed, states that the rebels evacuated owing to the near approach of our parallels, covering the immense siege works of our men; that they feared the success of the Union gunboats in the York and James rivers, by means of which their communication with the outer world would be cut off.

The deserters all agree that their troops were very much demoralized and disheartened when the order to retreat was made public, as they anticipated having an engagement at that point. They also agree that the rebels had 100,000 men on the peninsula, together with 400 field pieces.

From the best information received, they have fallen back to Chickahominy Creek, beyond Williamsburgh, where it is expected they will make a stand. weather, breed pestilence. An abundance of Immediately on the fact of the evacuation becoming known, the troops were ordered under arms, and are now in motion, from the right and left wings of the army.

A large force under command of Gen. Stoneman, consisting of Cavalry, artillery and infantry, are in the advance, and will probably come up with the rear of the enemy before night, if they remain near Williamsburgh. The gunboats have passed above Yorktown, and are now shelling the shore on the way up. Following them was a large steamer. The vessels are loaded with troops, and will effect a

Gen. Robert E. Lee, rebel Commander-in-Chief, arrived at Yorktovn, on Wednesday, and immediately examined the works of Gen. McClellan, when he is supposed to have recommended the abandonment of the works, deem-ng them untenable. It is certain that the rebels received reinforcements by steamers from Richmond, on Thursday last, but did not disembark them. Their soldiers are badly demoralized, and evince symptoms of mutiny, on account of the retreat. Inside of the fortifications and along the Skirmishes between the advance and rebels are Williamsburgh road on which they are reretreating, they have buried torpedoes and percussion shell, which are occasionally exploding

Re-Vaccination.

The question is now asked many times daily, Ought I to be re-vaccinated? I was vaccinnated when a child and have not been since.' The answer should be positive and decided You ought to be re-vaccinated." Why?

The prominent reason is that by re-vaccing tion you will avoid the danger of having the varioloid, which is nothing but small pox modified, and rendered milder by the first vaccina tion. It is the same disease and has the same danger to others. Nearly all the varioloid we have is in persons of adult age who were vaccinated when in childhood and have not been re-vaccinated. Remember then, that re-vac cination prevents the varioloid.

Another reason for re-vaccination is, that its effects are, in most cases, the only positive proof an individual can have that the first vac cination was successful. The vaccination scar is generally presumptive proof; but it is not alone will eradicate the small pox. There is no population in the country more generally vaccinated than that of Providence, and vet w have every year a considerable number of case of varioloid and a few of small pox. But every case of small pox in Providence, for severa years past, has been contracted from cases of varioloid occurring in persons who had been vaccinated but not re-vaccinated. If the vario loid had been prevented by re-vaccination we should have had no small pox. The rule is then universal and without exception, that every person who is vaccinated in childhood should be re-vaccinated on arriving at adult age.

There are other cases in which re-vaccing tion is essential; but more of this at another Providence Journal.
