United States Senator.

The Union and Republican members of the Legislature are to meet this evening for the purpose of nominating a United States Senator, if they shall deem it expedient to do so at this time. That the caucus will be of that opinion, we cannot doubt, for we believe that a large majority are very desirous of a short and harnonious session. This can only be accomplished by disposing of all the important appointments at the earliest practicable moment.

Their mode of operating is as discreditable as candidates with a zeal worthy of a better cause -and while professing to the friends of each their abiding attachment to their man, they only desire to make tools of them all!

To one man they say, Mr. Dixon is too conservative-to another that he is too much of an abolitionist-in fact, in their opinion, he has no good thing about him. Yet there is not in all the Senate of the United States a more influential member than the Hon. James Dixon. In this we say what we know, and we do not make a single exception. He besides enjoys the full confidence of the Administration, who in the present time of its troubles with the traitors of the land, has a right to expect the continuance of the generous support which our noble old State has given it in the field and in Congress. That she will fulfill the wishes of the people as already expressed in various forms we have no doubt, notwithstanding the efforts of steps and sleeps his allotted number of hours. You will have the tobacco grown and the cotton and sugar cultivated as usual, for the "boss" needs at misrepresentation which have been made by the handful of personal enemies of Mr. Dixon.

Proclamation by the President.

Whereas, by my Proclamation of the nineteenth of April, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one, it was declared that the ports of certain States, in-cluding those of Beaufort, in the State of North Carolina; Port Royal, in the State of South Carolina, and New Orleans, in the State of Louisiana, were, for reasons therein set forth, intended to be placed under blockade; and, whereas, the said ports of Beaufort, Port Royal and New Orleans have since been blockaded; but as the blockade of the same ports may now be safely relaxed with adntown to the interests of commerce

Now, therefore, be it known that I, ABRAHAM INCOLN, President of the United States, pursuant ority in me vested by the fifth section of the act of Congress, approved on the 13th of July last, entitled "An act further to provide for the collection of duties on imports, and for other purposes," do hereby declare that the blockade of the said ports of Beaufort, Port Royal, and New Orsaid Ports of Beaufort, Port Royal, and Royal Ports of Beaufort, Port Royal Ports of Beaufort, leans shall so far cease and determine, from and after the first day of June next, that commercial in tercourse with those ports, except as to persons and things and information contraband of war, may, from that time, be carried on, subject to the laws of the United Statss, and to the limitations and in oursuance of the regulations which are prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury in his order of thi date, which is appended to this Proclamation.

By the President: Ww. H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

Secretary Chase issues a Circular under date of May 12, 1862, setting forth the regulations relating to trade with the ports opened by the President's proclamation. Licenses will be granted to vessels clearing for foreign ports, by Consuls of the United States, upon satisfactory evidence that the vessels so licensed will con vey no person, property or information contra band of war, either to or from said ports; the license to be exhibited to the collector of the port immediately on arrival, or if required, to any officer in charge of the blockade of the port to which the vessel may be bound; on leaving, a clearance must be obtained from the Collector of Customs according to law. Any violation of the said conditions will involve the forfeiture and condemnation of the vessel and cargo, and the exclusion of all parties concerned from any further privilege of entering the United States during the war, for any puroose whatever. To vessels of the United States clearing coast wise for the ports aforesaid, heense can only b obtained from the Treasury Department.

In all other respects the existing blockade emains in full force and effect as hitherto established and maintained; nor is it relaxed by the proclamation except in regard to the ports to which the relaxation is by that instrument expressly applied.

" Not Sound on the Goose,"

The Hartford Press admits that Mr. Dixon i gentleman and a scholar, and that he has made eloquent speeches; yet, through a cor, respondent, attacks him, as not being "sound on the goose," in other words, as declining to play the blusterer and braggart, because the Fire Eaters did so !-- and the Press correspondent quotes the following most creditable extract, as something very discreditable to him: "Mr. Senator Dixon, fearful lest the position of Connecticut might, from the silence of Senator date, good foster, be construed to be the same as that of his friends. the Empire state, took the floor and said: 'I desire to say for myself, and that portion of my constitu ents whem I represent, and I desire to say it decidedly and distinctly, that I shall not treat this subject in a partizan manner, nor shall I treat it in a bama regiment, and a day or two ago ninety manacing manner. INCIDENTS.

A special correspondent of the Philadelphia Press, gives an interesting account of the march of the Union troops upon Norfolk from Oceanview, a point of land jutting out in Lynn miles of Norfolk a halt was made:

THE ADVANCE REGIMENT-AN INCIDENT. Now the brave Colonel Weiss of the 20th New York, who has done all the hard work of the day, insists that his regiment is not weary and that as they were the first to advance upon that any one who had been acquainted with the land, they have the right to be the first in Norfolk. He makes the request, and it is granted ov the Commanding General.

"Who is that grotesquely dressed officer in ommand of the New York Twentieth?" asked Mr. Chase of Gen. Wool. "It is Lieut, Col. Weiss," said the General. "No, Sir," said Mr. Chase, "it is Colonel Weiss. He has carned the title and shall have

The enemy's works are abandoned and the city is evacuated." Off they go again at the double juick, the German Rifles, 20th New York, taking the lead. The Germans are exultant, and, m., appears an article headed "a nuisance and in broken tones, they strike up, "We'll hang the consequences," alluding to a runaway and lujah." The ferry boat moves across the Elizabeth river, and one hundred brave men of the good old Bay State are landed at the Ports mouth wharf. They are received with friendly demonstrations by many ladies and gentlemen, one of the ladies bearing an American flag. They little expected this, in view of the destruction going forward.

They proceed to invest the town, and are soon reinforced to the extent of a battalion. Soon again a whole regiment is over. They move on. The rebels flee, taking with them all the rolling stock of the Petersburgh Railroadevery car and every truck. Our troops move down the west side of the river, and take possession of the palatial United States Hospital, in which there are quite a number of sick and wounded rebels. No indignity is offered to hem. The surgeons of the regiments take the places of the rebel physicians, who have de erted their post at a time when most needed. Forward they go to the outskirts of the town and thence to the fields, and, in the skirtings of woods, watch for the enemy. Weary and worn, ome of them drop asleep, unconsciously, at heir posts. Fortunately, no rebels are near. They have all slunk away in shame at their last act of vandalism.

OUR FLEET ASCENDING THE RIVER But here seems to be a vast fleet ascending be river. Here is the Seminole steaming ahead She has a trusty pilot, for he directs her course around piles, that are driven in the bottom of the river, like a chevaux de frise. She enters the harbor, and anchors in front of the city. Thursday. She is followed by the Susquehannah, Dacotah, San Jacinto and Flag. And now we see a large lead-colored steamer called the Baltimore coming up the stream. The sailors have dubbed her the Jumper, as she was intended to run up on the Merrimac for the purpose of sinking her. The Baltimore has on board many distinguished persons—the President, Secretary Chase, Secretary Stanton, Assistant Secretary Tucker, Major General Wool, Commedore THE PRESIDENT AND CABINET VISIT THE PRIN CIPAL POINTS OF INTEREST. Major General Wool is conveyed to the shor for the purpose of holding a conference with General Viele concerning the occupation of the city by the troops. Commodore Goldsborough s taken to the sloop-of-war Susquehannah, which he make his flag ship temporarily.

The Baltimore then steams around with he President and Cabinet, and various points of interests are visited along the river. Norfolk is first approached. This is a fine fort. well mounted, and left in perfect condition by the rebels. The Tenth New York State Volunteers, National Zouaves, Col. Bendix, are assigned to duty here. The American flag now vaves over the structure. The batteries at Lambert's Point, Boust's Point, Washington Point, and Craney Island their former allegiance. come in their turn. The latter is pronounced a superior position by competent officers, well mounted with heavy guns, and apparently deigned by an able engineer. Last comes the attery at Sewell's Point, which is visited and found to contain nineteen heavy guns mounted, very strong in construction, and contains a sort of casemate protection from our shells. After risiting these batteries, the Baltimore returned o Fortress Monroe.

The number is much other church, though from all the churches no class of men is better represented than the Providence Journal.

The Philadelphia Press says: It is a novel but certainly an inspiring sight to see our President and the members of his Cabinet taking part in our military successes. It shows that those in authority do not consider their task mere mappery and closet-war, but a great duty to be discharged, amid danger and death. It is only another evidence of the fidelity and self-denial of Mr. Lincoln; and the so! diers of the line, whose loyalty he immortalized in his first message, will we come the sym-

Printing the Legislative Journals.

A long debate occurred in the House yesterday in the absence of any more important business, upon the expediency of printing the journal of the proceedings. It was claimed by some gentlemen that the journals were useless altogether, and that it was sufficient for the Clerks to read them to the House from day to day! Others thought that the members might pick up the desired information from the newspapers! In that way, they could get the reports for nothing !-- although Mr. Chapman did indicate a willingness, which was quite generous in "an old man," to subscribe for a daily newspaper, for the purpose of getting the reports of proceedings. In most other States, the members of the Legislature are allowed a certain number of newspapers during the session for which the State pays the bills. In Connecticut that shockingly extravagant state of things has not yet been reached. Yet the cu- fix an early day for the election, the matter tire subscriptions of the members of both should be pressed so soon. He wanted ample Houses to the three city papers, which furnish time given for a canvass of the case, and moved all the proceedings, we do not believe amount to enough to pay the wages of a single reporter for either House! The editors and publishers information at their own expense.

But are there no abuses in this matter of the journals? We think there are, and that there cause a good thing has been abused, it should late years. In fact they have been spread over election of Senator. one-third more pages than were really needed for the matter printed. This is the fault of the The best assortment and the best made Clothing for and would condense the forms if allowed by the the people, and before logrolling and bargain-Clerks to do so. For example, the yeas and ing should commence. nays are printed in columns, when they should be "run in," and the index should be condensed to half the number of pages.

We assisted in 1855 in effecting some improvements in these matters, but the old abuse has crept in again. The whole evil may easily be remedied by the appointment of an intellito to confer with the Clerks and the printer. As to the idea of dispensing with the printing of the journals entirely, if "old men" do think it can be done we do not believe that it will be acquiesced in by the people for more than one session. In 1841 it was dispensed with, and for years after the incovenience was very seriously felt. In some instances it cost journies to the Secretary's office to learn facts that ought to have been printed. Some "old men" and some young men, of versatile tastes and experiences, are not fond of leaving ecords behind them. Others rely upon then for support and defence. Some legislators do not care for the publication even of statistics. although they are the basis of all intelligible legislation. Others publish everything. There is certainly a proper mean between these extremes. Mr. Gallup had the true view of this matter. He was for a reasonable condensation. If he were one of a Committee to direct this matter, he would make it satisfactory to all in twenty minutes-to all but the "old men" and others who may possibly regard the proceedings of the legislature as of little or no more consequence than the doings of a country debating society.

The U. S. Senator. It will be seen by the proceedings that the Legislative Caucus promptly decided to go into nomination of U. S. Senator last evening, and then as promptly nominated our present able Senator, the Hon. JAMES DIXON, all of which was doubtless expected by a majority of the friends of the Administration in the State.

The resolution passed by the Senate to-day, fixing Wednesday next for the day of election, was amended in the House to read "on Thursday next," when the election will probably take

A correspondent of the Hartford Press under the signature of "PUTNAM," wrote from New Haven, day before yesterday, prognosticating results in regard to the Senatorial question. Two things he appears to have thoroughly settled in his own mind, first that the caucus of lastevening would be postponed, and second that Mr. Dixon could not be elected Senator. We copy as follows:

"To-day the uninitiated were startled by a call for a caucus on the subject of the Senato. rial question, signed by the respective chairmen of the State Central Committees of the Republican and Union parties. I do not know that any one objects to the time selected, for there isn't a shadow of doubt but that the consideration of the nomination of Senator will be postponed when it meets."

Such was the prophecy, now as to the fact. There appeared not to be ten voices in favor of postponement when the question was taken. PUTNAM further says:

nembers compare notes, it becomes more and more evident that he cannot be re-elected.' Wonder what PUTNAM will now say when he finds Mr. D. nominated by a vote of two to one!

VERY COMMENDABLE.—From the report of the state Treasurer, we learn that at the special that the citizens of Connecticut appreciate her session of the Legislature, the following named members gave their pay to the state, thus : Wm. A Union and Republican Caucus for the nomtor, was held at Representative Hall on Thursday evening. The Hon. James T. Pratt called the meeting to order, and the Hon. Gilbert W. Phillips of the 14th District, was elected the Chairman, and Messrs. Coit of New Lon-

Mr. Adams of Norwich did not relish these charges of "forestalling" the action of the Legislature. He did not believe there was any such intent. He explained the circumstances under which he introduced the resolution a few days since. He did not want the matter further postponed, as it would leave room for bargaining and entangling the Senatorial question with other matters.

Mr. Treat of Bridgeport, spoke in favor of mmediate action.

Mr. Train of Milford, was surprised that after the refusal of the House a few days ago, to to postpone the nomination for one week.

Mr. Day of Colchester, said that there was not a man in the Legislature who had not have for years furnished this most important known for months that a Senator was to be elected, and who was not aware of the facts relative to the Senatorship.

The Treasurer remarks that in order to mee the extraordinary expenses necessarily incurred by the State in consequence of the war, State Bonds were authorized to be issued to the extent of two millions of dollars, and afterwards, an additional two millions; and that, in July last, eight hundred thousand dollars were awarded to the highest bidders, which com- article and of course were very much needed manded a premium of $5,663 99, and ranging from thirteen and one half one-hundredths of one per cent. to five per cent.; and in January authorized was awarded, resulting in premiums to the amount of $294 30, varying received on such sums as were not paid within the time limited, to the amount of $4,038 30. making the total receipts from bonds, pre

It is now more than three weeks since the proud spirits in Pulaski were humbled. During the time which has intervened, our men, aided by one company of the 3d R. I., have been busily employed in clearing away the rubbish which they themselves caused, carting new brick and preparing the crumbled walls for a speedy rebuilding. The wooden dwellings in the vicinity of the fort, some of which were supposed to story in the condition of Mr. Bushevell of New Haven, thought a Committee understable now, and hoped the matter would be tabled for the present.

Some few days subsequent to the surrender of the place, the water in the moat was drawn off, and our men busied themselves for days, at intervals, in dragging for, and fishing up articles of personal property, and likewise arms, equipments, &c., which the rebels, instead of honorably surrendering them, had thrown into the mud. A package of some eighty letters, which, when found, were lying in close proximity to a daguerreotype of some Southern miss, were unfortunately so water soaked as to be illegible, and consequently no "secrets" beders paid to March 31, $2,104,481 30; paid trayed to Yankee curiosity. Mr. Catlin gave his knowledge of the history of the publication of the Journal during his experience in the legislative affairs of the State, and clearly demonstrated the fact that in years gone by, every member could get as perfect an accourt of the doings of the Assembly from the newspapers, as recorded by the reporters before hum, as could be made.

Mr. Chapman of Hartford, was fearful that in view of his known party ties, his expressions on the matter before the House might be misconstrued; but he would assure tee members he had no feeling one way or the other. He was an old man, and his experience in the state had convinced him that the journal printing, as now conducted, was a growth of years, and that, too, a growth of fisual; for the expense of printing the journal exceeded the salary of the chief executive of the State. If there was any decent convenience for the publication of the journal, he would not interpose a single objection. The papers turnish us an accurate and satisfactory report.

The amendment was rejected, and Mr. Merrill's substitute, mentioned above, was introduced as an amendment to the criginal resolution.
