GREAT DAMAGES BY FRESHETS.

FEARFUL LOSS OF LIFE.

WHOLE VILLAGES SWEPT AWAY.

Railroads and Canals Destroyed EASTERN PENN., June 6, 1862.

Fearful accounts are received of the damage by the freshet near Mauch Chunk. The dam there as well as two others was swept away and many houses were washed away.

The Delaware and Lehigh are falling rapidly and have receded twelve feet. The Lehigh Valley Railroad is very badly torn up. The Belvidere and Delaware Railroad will be repaired in a few days. The Delaware, Lackawana and Western Railroad will be in running order in about two weeks. A part of the Basin Delaware Canal is washed out and two breaks are reported in the lower gates.

The railroad bridge is also gone, and canal navigation is stopped for a season.

The Lehigh Valley railroad will not be in running order for several weeks. The whole town of Weissport is washed away, only three houses being left out of three nundred. The loss of life is terrible. The outlet lock is gone. The damage at Glendon is very severe; the furnaces are all chilled and the lumber men are heavy losers Millions of feet of sawed lumber and thousands of logs have been carried away. The number of persons drowned is not known but the list will be fearful. Gov. Stanley's Action in Closing

Washington, June 6, 1862. Instructions have been sent to Brigadier deneral Brown not to muster for payment about 1,400 returned prisoners now arriving in that city from the Department of North Carolina. Payment will be made to these men as soon s the muster rolls are completed, and such of them as may have been exchanged will be granted leave of absence for twenty days.

The remainder will be furloughed till exchanged or discharged. Those of the latter class will report their addresses to the Governors of their respective States each month, in order that they may be promptly notified should call be made for them.

Washington, June 6, 1862. Secretary Stanton's response to the enquiry of the House says explicitly that Gov. Stanley has not been instructed by Government to prevent the education of the children of white or black men in North Carolina. The department has no official information that he interfered to prevent the education of black or white children

A copy of the resolution of the House has been transmitted him that he may report upon his action upon the subject, which, when recieved, will be communicated to that body.

New Military Department. St. Louis, June 5, 1862. A general order from Gen. Halleck says that the State of Missouri, except the Counties of Mississippi, New Madrid and Pemiscata, will hereafter constitute the military department of Missouri, under command of Brigadier General Scofield. The forces in South-west Missouri will be subject to the orders of Major Gen. Curtis, Commander and Military Governor of Arkansas. The County of Mississippi belongs to the district of Cairo, under Géneral Strong, and the Counties of New Madrid and Pemiscata the district of Columbus, under Gen.

Senator Welch said the very framers of this bill, by the bill itself, charge a wholesale fraud upon these depositors and the imputation of the Senator, therefore comes with a bad grace. Else why should they urge a bill of this character? He claimed that of the $20,000,000 in the Saving. lank, $14,000,000 is leaned out on real estate, and is taxe $5,000,000 is loaned on personal securities, which is also taxed, and in this way the whole deposits of the Saving. Banks are now properly and thoroughly taxed; and in act pays a larger tax than any other property of the State. The Senator had referred to the ease mentioned by the Bank Commissioners, of one family whose various propo-Bank Commissioners, of one family whose various mem-pers have $15,000 deposited in these banks. This is a meriterious fat. Had it not been for these banks, this is a mer-in all probability would not have had a single penny of property, while now he pays his full share of the taxes of the State. Forever float that standard sheet!

Where breathes the foe but falls before us!
With Freedom's soil beneath our feet,
And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us! Wendell Phillips and the President.

Mr. Phillips believed that President Lincoln's de ree in relation to the Hunter proclamation had lost a quarter of the chances of preserving the Un ion. What were the anti-slavery people to do now They must educate public opinion, that was all, and force the government up to the proper anti-slaver point. Emancipation won't save the Union now confiscation won't save it." New York World.

It would appear, Mr. Phillips, from all your utterances, that you do not want to save the Union. Destroy it once, and what become of the races, white and black? They will be either in the condition of the Mexicans, in a state of anarchy for generations, or to escape that, the dissolved States will form a new covenant in which slavery, through the efforts of its original friends and old allies in the north, will become the ruling power in spite of rabid abolitionists or reasonable conservatives.

Moderate anti-slavery men say, in view the inevitable progress of their principles arising out of a state of war, that it is strange that their high pressure associates "will not let well enough alone." It is indeed strange, and yet it is apparent that they will not. They seem determined to force the President into a new and false position before the country-to compel him, if they can, to depart from the doctrines of his inaugural message and make the var one of emancipation only, instead of a war for the restoration of the country to the principles and policy which prevailed from 1789 to the days when the arch traitor Calhoun began to preach his State Rights' heresies. But they cannot force the President a step out of the track he has laid out, unless he shall believe. from the force of circumstances not now likely to arise, that the existence of the Union shall, beyond all doubt or misgiving, require it.

The radical anti-slavery men know that the Union cannot be saved, unless the honest yet most shamefully deluded men of the South are leaders. Now, for the President to do what those leaders and their northern co-operators have for years said that he, and those who elected him, would do, is precisely what Jeff. Davis and his associate scoundrels want to have done. country, as well as the wicked and selfish au thors of all the calamities which have befallen the South.

Sound political policy, as well as simple jus tice, to say nothing of ordinary Christian charthe neighboring roofs that there was but slight ity, require that the stronger party should danger of communicating the flames to other assume and act upon the supposition that theu-buildings, though a severe gale carried the sands, if not millions, of the Southern people have been grossly deceived by their depraved the engines were enabled to use the scanty supand desperate leaders. This is simple truth. ply of water found in the vicinity to reduce the If it were not so, it would be utterly vain to conflagration more speedily. attempt to save the Union. These deceived their own leaders, but by northern demagogues, that Mr. Lincoln was nominated and elected expressly to make war upon slavery in the states. They were told that the sooner they should fly to arms, the more successful would be their resistance. They regard the war on their part as purely defensive, and they have repeatedly said to our troops that have captured them, or who were captured by them-" Why do you come here to make war upon us? We don't want to trouble you, and why don't you let us alone." Understanding the case in this loss. way, they fight in the full belief that they are simply defending their firesides and their institutions, from a willful and wanton invasion.

Of course they are all in the wrong; but it is an error of the head and not of the heart. Convince them of their error, by proving the falsehoods of their and our demagogues, and a reaction will go on until their states will be too uncomfortable a location for their leaders to stay in. Then these people will see the base uses that have been made of slavery by their leaders, and will be disposed to look at the institution as a direct and indirect source of all their troubles. They will see that it has deprived them of popular education and a free press, and thereby subjected them to all the deceptions that have been practiced upon them; and they will resort to their own remedies for an abatement of the evil. Their first lesson they are now being taught, which is that resistance to the government must be put down by force-their next, that they had no just cause for their rebellion; and their next, that the people of the loyal states are not now, never have been, and never desired to be their enemies, or to disturb their institutions. When so much is learned, the Union will be restored, and be better and stronger than even before, and slavery will be weaker for all the evil it has occasioned, especially to

The extreme views of Phillips and company have been tolerated because freedom of opinion is a vital doctrine in the north, and because the charity invoked for the deluded in the South

sist in dividing the public sentiment of the north, and in attempting to force a policy which will prevent any other union than that which is to be sustained by a large and expensive standing army, they will have to be regarded as disloyal as those who have fomented the re-

Conduct of Edward Stanley.

The conduct of Edward Stanley, the new isappoints the high expectations formed of him wedded to a mere party line of operations. Inof the law of the United States on this subject. Heaven forbid that the South should be conciliated on any such terms.

Stanley has broken up the charity schools in a summary manner, and has ordered H. H. Helper, a brother of the author, to leave the State by the first vessel "going North"-an evident insult intended for the North by the very expression. Helper's offense is, that he wrote an exceedingly respectful letter to Staney, begging him not to disband the charity schools, &c.

There can be no doubt that the President has been deceived in Stanley as he was in Hunter. Indeed more so, for the old whig party remember Stanley as any thing but the man he now appears to be in North Carolina.

We knew Stanley personally in old whigh times, and met with him in committee at the Taylor National Convention, and co-operated with him to head off some of the schemes of the fire eating scoundrels that have since turned traitors, and who then were disposed to treat all northern men as if they had no rights but such as they graciously permitted them to enjoy. We hope for Stanley's sake, as well as for the sake of the country, that some explanations of his course may be given which will relieve him from the odium that now rests upon him.

> And yet it is good to be here. It is good to put these stores to some good use. Your foot comes down more firmly on the resounding corridors, as you remember their history, and consider whose word of command was once unquestioned here. A bit of a triumphant smile curls your lips, perhaps, as you see, waving over this citadel of New Orleans, the banner of Northern Freemen. From foundation stone to turret, the building bears witness of the great treason. Long sheds on the fourth floor, a hundred feet and more from the ground, are full of monster beams and pondrous gun-carriages in every state of inompleteness. Rooms yet remain packed with military stores of all sorts, iron, cordage, leathr and wood. Others, occupied evidently by at which I write has pigeon holes for "gunboat for Mayor?" reports," "ordnance reports," "applications," 'appointments," "recruiting reports," "renezvous returns," "plans of fortifications," "letters to Secretary of Navy," "Trent—Mason and Slidell," &c., &c. Right over it hangs a handsomely painted table of "Signals of Con federate States Navy." In the Post Office the finished walls are scrawled all over in coarse, rude characters, with the names of Confederate n the same spirit that caused somebody to mark on the big gun at Fort St. Philip the title

Stanley's Acts Revoked.

As was expected the extraordinary doings of the Governor Stanley, in North Carolina, have been promptly repudiated by the Presidentand it is announced by the special correspondent of the New York Post, that he has instructed Mr. Stanley to recall his obnoxious orders, to re-open the schools for the contrabands, and to stop the remanding of fugitive slaves to their

The friends of Governor Stanley are not at 3 00 all pleased with this countermand. They declare that he will resign his office rather than recall his orders.

There is much congratulation, however, among those who believe that the Governor's course in North Carolina was eminently despotic and in-19 human. But the better opinion, adds the same authority, is that he ought to be severely punished before he is allowed to resign.

The rebels in North Carolina were evidently calculating on having a nice time in being conciliated by their new Governor. He might have pleased them yet more by directing the mmediate withdrawal of all the United States troops from the sacred soil of that State. Ther was nothing in the instructions of Secretary Stanton to warrant Stanley in putting the laws of North Carolina above those of the United

The anxiety which has been entertained egarding the conflicts at Corinth and Richmond, has been dispelled by the evacuation of the former, and the decisive step made toward the latter. Nor is this all, the enemy are geting the worst of it at Corinth, through the ability displayed by that admirable General, Pope, who reproduces his strategy at New Madrid on the field in Upper Mississippi. General Me Clellan will doubtless, in a few days, make a triumphal march into Richmond, and the two strong points of the enemy will have fallen by the superior strategy and force of numbers of the Union armies. The star of the South is waning before the steady lustre of the star of the

The Senate to-day unanimously passed a res olution recommending the people of this State to observe, henceforth, as holidays, the 14th of June and the 17th of September in each year, the first to be called Flag Day, the latter Constitution Day in commemoration of the adoption of our national, on the 14th of June 1777, and of our present Constitution, on the 17th of September, 1787. War Relics.

Mr. C. F. Lockwood, of this city, who has been n a trip to Fortress Monroe and Yorktown, has shown us several relics of this and the former struggle of contending armies on that ground. Among the matters of interest related to this var is a blank return of the officers and soldiers of the Confederate army. It is printed on coars prown paper, and is altogether very suggestive of brings with him a shell, about the size of, and fired by the rebels at one of our balloons, and fell into our camp. He also shows us an 8-pound can non ball, which was used in the old revolutionary war by Cornwallis. It is a suggestive relic-co roded and eaten by the rust of eighty years. These articles will be exhibited at the window of Thomas Tea Store, corner of Chapel and Orange streets.

Malley's Emporium.

Malley at his establishment in Chapel street keeps up business in spite of war times. He has just imported several thousand dollars worth of new goods, comprising some most excellent articles. The Hartford Times says a teamster of Sands & Co., brewers, lost a roll of $36 in bills near the tunnel in that city on Saturday last. A lady saw the money and was about to pick it up, when a man caught it almost from her the "paper blockade," so much dwelt upon by the grasp. She followed him through several street, English friends of secession. Mr. Lockwood also and finally came up to him and told him he had money that did not belong to him. He replied haped much like a common soda bottle, which was that he had delivered it to the owner. The resolute lady called to Alderman Euson, then passing by, and stated the facts to him. The man delivered the money to Mr. E., and it was left at H. & W. Kenney's store to be held for the owner, who was subsequently found. If that lady don't deserve the thanks of honest folks, there is no use in thanking anybody.

Committee.

Mr. Peck thought the gentleman from Harwinton had not learned the facts, as he should. He was for proper economy, but not for that kind which bordered on meanness. The claim of Mr. Healy is beyond the reach of every improper insimuation, and should be paid.

Mr. Rice of Farmington, said the Committee reported in favor of this claim because they considered it an equitable one.

Mr. Pratt moved to table the resolution; lost, 99 to 37.

Mr. Gallup moved to indefinitely postpone.
Mr. Hyde thought in order to have all these matters sa sfactorily determined, they should be satisfactorily settle by the Commission appointed last year.

Mr. Adams of Norwich, said this claim as stated, had been before the Commission named, but for some technical reason was not allowed, though the Governor and oth ers of the Commission, admitted the justice of the claim Let us not burden the Governor further, but let the mat

Mr. Bushnell withdrew his motion.

Mr. Hyde theo proposed a resolution as a substitute, tha laims which the auditors, appointed last year, shall certive to be legally or equitably due, shall be paid.

Mr. Bushnell supported the resolution.

Mr. Bushnell supported the resolution.

Messrs, Pratt and Catlin thought the resolution should be put in the form of a public act.

The matter was further debated, when the resolution was so verbally amended by the mover as to give it the form of a public act.

Read three times, under the rule, and put on its passage.

Mr. Peet of Cansam, opposed putting these matters in the hands of the Governor and his associates, out of principle, for he had the highest regard for the Governor; but we are here to perform our duties, and if we thrust these claims outside we say virtually that we are incompetent to adjust them. If the motion was to refer to a St. Paul, he wou'd object.

Mr. Chapman thought this bill commended itself to every member of this House.

Mr. Peet replied, defending his position.

Mr. Pay of Golchester, agreed with Chapman; he trusted this whole matter would go to the source proposed.

Mr. Scranton of Madison, was opposed to passing this bill without a reference; he thought it would be eminently wise to refer, and he moved it be referred to the Committee on Judiciary. It was so referred, with instruction to report a similar bill.

To win your approval, while associated with the gallant sens of the west in protecting her magnificent rivers, is almost like hearing again the Parental approval for the successful performance of responsible and difficult duti s. Indeed, in receiving similar testimonials from the Congress of the United States, and from the Legislatures of the States of Kentucky and Ohio, I find myself under new obligations to the domestic institutions and home training of my native State; and I have the proud satisfaction of feeling that, while all other portions of the loyal States are willing to pour out their blood and treasure for the common weal, they are equally ready to acknowledge the existence of like patriotism and value in our own good Commonwealth.

I have the honor to be,

The State Printing. There is no class of men who give more un-equited toil for the good of the State than do the publishers of the newspapers in that State.

There is no class of men whose labors produce more beneficial result to the State than the nardworking class of editors and publishers. By tacit understanding of all parties, the office f supervisor of public printing has for many years past been bestowed upon some journal of the party that happened to be uppermost, and has been a kind of political perquisite, fairly fought for and fairly earned or lost, as the case might prove. The office of State Printer has been, like the office of Treasurer, Comptroller or Secretary, a political reward to some deserving person, and as legitimate an object of atainment as any of the States offices. And yet whenever some thick-headed country lawyer of demagogue of the smallest calibre has desired to earn the affections of the rural members, and establish a momentary notoriety for pinching frugality with the public money, forthwith a cry is raised for "economy," and a State Printer is pitched upon. Such a hue and cry is now being got up at New Haven, and the publishers of the Palladium are the proposed victims. The people of this State well understand such tactics, and the "economists" are appreciated

SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT FOR HORSES is unrivaled by any, in all cases of Lameness, arising from Sprains, Bruises or Wrenching, its effect is magical and certain. Harness or Saddle Galls, Seratches, Manage, &c., it will also cure speedily. Spavin and Ringbone may be easily prevented and cured in their lacipient stages, but confirmed cases are beyond the possibility of a radical cure. No case of the kind, however, is so descreate or hopeless but it may be alleviated by this Liniment, and its faithful application will always remove the Lameness, and enable the horse to travel with comparative case.

Every horse owner should have this remedy at hand, for its timely use at the first appearance of Lamness will effectually prevent those forminable diseases mentioned, to which all horses are liable, and which render so many otherwise valuable horses nearly worthless.
