A Battle Near Charleston. It is evident from intelligence received through rebel sources that there has been a stout fight near Charleston. The infantry force that went out under Sherman last year were probably all engaged in the battle of which we have a slight account to day. The enemy are not boastful, and admit a severe loss, rendering it pretty certain that they were beaten. We shall have full particulars shortly from

RECOVERY OF A NORTHERN SHIP AT NEW ORLEANS.-Capt. William Luce sailed in the bark Ocean Eagle from Rockland, Me., over a year since, with a cargo of lime for New Orleans, where she was captured. The captain returned home, but close upon the heels of Butler, he followed the expedition from Ship Island to New Orleans, where, to his great joy, he found the bark safe, being one of only three northern vessels saved from the flames. The Ocean Eagle is now, says the Boston Post bound to New York with a fine freight of sugar at thirteen dollars a hogshead.

THE CONNECTICUT CAVALRY_PORT REPUBLIC FIGHT, FIVE OF COMPANY D' CAPTURED BY THE REREIS FNCAMPED AT MOUNT JACKSON CAMP NEAR MOUNT JACKSON, Virginia, June 13, 1862.

Messes Editors: I wrote you a hasty letter on the 7th, at Harrisonburg. We left there on Sunday morning and followed the retreating rebels. About 12 we heard cannonading ahead, which told us that Jackson was making a stand.

He had chosen his position, fighting most of the ime under cover of the woods. For about three or four hours there was a continued cannonading. Gen. Blenker's brigade on the left was at one time driven back, when our batteries opened on them so lively that the rebels were glad to fall back. I was not in a position to see much of the fighting, except on the left, so that I cannot give you as full a discription as I would like to. Our cavalry was held in reserve in the rear of Gen. Schenck's brigade, he was in the center and I believe Milroy on the right. About 4 o'clock the cannonading stopped for about an hour. Some of our batteries altered their position so as to draw the rebels out from their cover. The firing then all seemed to be in the center, and for a short time there ed in the affirmative. The brave men who have was pretty lively work. Then their shells came gone from our midst perilling their lives for into the woods in front of us; one coming over dead, proofs of the fact. The tax bill with its tered out of the woods was a caution. But the of the tax-payers, while the loss of sons, fathers and brothers will impress itself upon the souls scattered at present; some have been detached of the people. The fact establishes itself to carry dispatches, some for scouts and other among the people at home, but how is it among duties, some are sick, and some their horses officials and law-makers at the National Capi- have given out; so that out of three companies not more than enough are with us at this time tal. We are almost daily in receipt of inforto make one full company. It has made it mation that this or that party has just gone or just returned from "a visit to the out-posts of of the battalion. The Major has also been sick and staid at Mount Jackson. Five of our men of Co. D, are supposed to have been taken prisoners Sunday night, on picket. They were sent of pleasure excursions. With all the coolness learned from prisoners that we have taken, of people hurrying to witness a horse race, bull that men answering their description were taken. They were Serg't John B. (This of course would help our cause forward faster and suit is mere guess work.) The fight took place about four miles from Port Republic. Gen. Schenck's brigade was in advance on Monday, about two miles from Port Republic; he saw a heavy smoke which proved to be the bridge, which misnomer in pronunciation, as he ignores the Jackson, after crossing with his army, had set on fire. The Conn. cavalry was sent ahead to reconnoiter the road we followed to the bridge. There we found that the rebels were flying in every direction, like a flock of sheep with dogs have made sad havoc with their men. But by our lines, that it was Col. Carrol with only two non; the servant said they fought well. The 7th Louisiana regiment lost all but 18 killed and wounded. He also said that when Jackson saw us coming he told his men to save themselves as best they could, for our batteries would soon come up and fire upon them. He also confirmed the death of Ashby, and said that possession of the Argus office, which has been his body had been sent to Stanton; he was outspoken in its sympathies with the rebellion. mortally wounded in the breast Friday night. T. Knox of the New York Herald, and A. D. Jackson has not the best ochlete. We lay at Port Republic all night, and the Semi-Elastic Pipe. We call the attention of our citizens who ar about introducing water into their stores or dwelling, to the advertisement of this pipe in another column. It is claimed and proved, if five year constant use can be called proof, to be durable and out on the Port Republic road. We have since lasting. Its cheapness, compared with other kinds of pipe, is, also, an object. Some of the plumber who have lately commenced business here, are dis posed to missrepresent and prevent its use, the chapness compared with other kinds being unwisely considered as damaging to their interest and custom. A half-inch pipe which costs but twelv cents a foot, is amply sufficient to supply an abundance of water for small families. We doubt not that hundreds will now introduce the water into their dwellings who would be prevented by the heavy PROSPECT.—The time usually devoted to the afernoon sermon was, last Sabbath, occupied for the benefit of the Sunday School connected with the Congregational Church in Prospect. The Church was well filled, being an increase over the usual atendance. The children occupied the centre of the ouse and the Pastor, Rev. Mr. Atwater, took his place in front of his pulpit and so conducted the exercises that the children all felt it was their meetng, while at the same time, the older hearers were delighted and instructed by the addresses from Theron Smith, B. Mr. Rice of Farmington, regretted that any party reference had been inade here; he regretted that his contreous friend from Norwich had seen fit to try to take advantage of partizan f, elling to dispose of this amendment. For one no party consideration should influ nee him; he was in favor of the amendment and should support it.

Mr. Judd of Stratford, was astonished at the manner in which the friends of this bill have conducted the debate this morning. He was sorry the gentlemen from Norwich had seen fit to draw party lines. For himself he had cast aside party lines, and stood here above party predilections and prejudices; but he w s unalterably oposeet to the principles of this bil, and, for that reason, he had followed the lead of the gentleman from Hartford. He spoke elequently and with much animation.

Mr. Paul of Union, opposed the amendment, as he believed it was designed to kill the bill, which he should support. He made a special appeal to farmers, as a davocated THE GRAVE OF LILLY JANE .- A beautiful little girl, Lilly Jane Bunnel, aged 7 years, died sometime ago and was buried at Fair Haven. She belonged to the Eaton School, in the department taught by Miss Reugene L. Young, and was much loved by her mates. This morning the scholars with their beloved teacher, took the Horse Cars for Fair Haven, and with their little hands full of flowers, proceed. ed to the grave of their departed friend and decorated the same with their wreaths and bouquets; aplieved it was designed to kill the bill, which he should support. He made a special appeal to farmers, a d advocated their rights. He said very earner by: "Gentleman farmers, if you are in favor of thi bill, don't for Gcd's sake vote for this amendment!" [Laughter.] He continued, ridiculing with great fieling many objections which had been made to the bill. Some of his illustrations were very amusing, and prov ked great merriment.

Mr. Grant briefly stated his regr t that there had been any party feeling shown here this morning. propriate pieces were spoken by the children of the nemory of Lellian, and they all sang together over the grave. The kind words of instruction which their teacher imparted to them, together with the scenes of the occasion, will not soon be forgotten-It was a beautiful sight to behold these little children manifesting such tokens of affection over the grave of their schoolmate. Later in the day the children were taken to a beautiful grove where they received their refreshments and spent a profit-

BETHANY.—The Congregational Church in Bethany re-organized their school last Sabbath, and are taking measures to build it up, and increase its interests. The morning service was devoted to Sabbath School interests. Rev. Mr. Brace and Rev. Mr. Robinson are both doing much to awaken a lively interest in the school. NAUGATUCK.—A Sabbath School meeting was held last Sunday evening in Rev. Dr. Sherman's Church, where, not only were children gathered, but a much larger number of adults. The exercises were conducted by Mr. Beecher, Superintendent, as were conducted by Mr. Beecher, Superintendent, as were conducted by Mr. Beecher, Superintendent, as the full set of the public use, and undeniably so them a team mile to the public use. There is no public use grants: it is a plea unper this guise, which advances the interests of certain individuals with out regard to the public use. He was utterly op-

but a much larger number of adults. The exercises were conducted by Mr. Beecher, Superintendent, and interesting addresses made by Messrs. Brown, of Bridgeport; Theron Smith of New Haven, and others. A revival of Sunday School interests is in progress in this country. The people are begining to feel that moral and religious training of the youth is important to the welfare of both the State and church.

UNION CITY.—A prosperous Sunday School is established at this place, which is located a short distance north of Naugatuck. It is a manufacturing place and has a great variety of religious denominations among its citizens. Hence the Union Sabbath School is just the thing to suit this people. Last Sabbath afternoon at 5 o'clock the large school was addressed by Mr. Brown, of Bridgeport, making the occasion an important one for the children. Long may this happy school thrive.

Mr. Chapman said that the object of these amendments was, even among those who opposed the bill, that if there shiud be a sufficient vote to pass it, it might be passed with all its imperfections removed. He did not understand how a party under this bill could litigate the constitutionality of this matter in the Superior Court. Could the gentieman (Mr. adams) explain this?

Mr. A ams held that the matter might just as well be brought before twelve jurymen as before a court. The question is one of fact, whether the property is to be taken tor the public use.

Mr. Ch.pm in insisted that the point was that the bill cannot be touched after the finding of the Committee. A said for trespass, aft ruthe patitioner has complied with the provisions of the bill, would stand as long as lightning upon a drylimb. He has yet to learn that the superior Court is not capable of determining the constitutionality of the and alrother questions, in an honest and enlightened manner. Mr. Treat understood that by this amendment it was proposed to test the scope of the constitutionality of the billy here the court of errors; but he old not see how the effect of the anendment would be to provide for two trials, two hearings, &c., between the parties in interest. The amendment was thus calculated to encourage litigation, which the gentleman (Mr. Chapman) was fearful the bill as reported would do, in his rimaks the other day. What is the purpose of going to the court? To settle the question of fact? Does not the gentleman know that a question of fact? He was therefore opposed to the amendment as one of great importance. The question whether the proposed appropriation of property is for the public use, should not be left to a Committee, but should be subject to revision by the courts. A few days ago some men walking along the ank of the river discovered in a spot near Colt's ferry, where the freshet had washed away the bank, some human bones. Digging into the soil with sticks they unearthed portion of several skeletons, one of which was nearly entire. Around the neck of this latter was found a string of beads and shell, such as Connecticut Indians delighted to wear. There were also found a number of copper vessels, varying in size from a gallon kettle to a tobacco box, and of fanciful shapes. One of these reembled a watch-case of about twelve inches in circumference, and attached to it was a piece of silver chain some four inches long. Various bits of pottery and glass bottles of peculiar shape were also found, together with a hoe of the kind made and used a century ago. The discoverers kept their secret, or thought they did, but the place has been visited by several of the curious and a number of interesting relics have been exhumed-a powder horn, a number of ornamental bits of leather, a mortar and pestal, &c. These are undoubtedly Indian relies, but it is singular that none but domestic utensils have been found with the exception of the powderhorn. Continued excavations would probably bring to light many things vastly interesting to the curious in antiquities.

SUBSTITUTE FOR LEAD PIPE.

[Patented by Charles McBuony, Dec. 1858.]

WE have, during the last two years, manu fect of all siz s, from 1/2 inch to 3 inches diameter, and have no hesitation in saying that, for the purpose of conducting water, it is superior, in every respect, to any other article yet brought rate use. It possesses the following

It imparts no deleterious substance to the water, unde any circumstances, nor in any way affects it unpleasantly after a few days' use.

It is sufficiently elactic to be easily bent into curves, &c. It is not affected by either heat or cold.

It will not burst if water is frozen in it.

It will not burst if water is frozen in it.

It is not injured by exposure to the atmosphere or sun.

It may be coiled and transported in almost any way, and (if handled with car.) innumerable times, and from its elasticity cannot be easi y made to collapse.

Its durability must be great. Samples can be shown which have been in constant use exposed to the atmosphere for five years, and also some that have been attached to a common house pump and buried in the earth for three years, none of which show any sign of decay. In short, the Pipe is composed of ingredients which are indestructible except by fire.

The price at which this article is offered, must, together with its invaluable properties, commend it to all who are

ENGAGEMENT ON WHITE RIVER ARRANSAS.

The steamer Mound City Destroyed and 125 Killed and Wounded,

GRENADA, via MEMPHIS June 19, 1862. An expedition composed of the gunboats St. Louis, Lexington, Conestoga and Mound City. with transports carrying the 43d and 46th Indiana regiments under Col. Fitch, was sent hence some days since to remove obstructions from White river. On the 17th the expedition reached St. Charles, 85 miles above the mouth of the river, where the rebels had erected a battery.

An engagement ensued lasting an hour an half. While the gunboats were engaged with the batteries, the troops under Col. Fitch land ed a short distance below, and proceeded to storm the place. During the cannonading a ball entered the boiler of the Mound City caus ing a fearful explosion and loss of life. The crew consisted of 175, of whom 125 were killed and wounded. The following officers are among the killed

Jno. Kensie, James Scoville, Jno. Green, Henry R. Brown, Joseph Nixon, John Cox, Capt. Kelty, the Flag-Officer, was badly scalded but it is thought he will recover. Col. Fitch's charge upon the battery was a perfect success. driving the enemy out at the point of the bay onet. The rebelloss was 125 killed and wounded, and thirty prisoners. Gen. Halleck has oc cupied Holly Springs.

Later from Memphis.

Мемриія, June 21, 1862. The Charleston Railroad is in running order from Tuscumbia to Cypress Swamp, 50 miles vest of Corinth.

The Mobile and Ohio Railroad is in running order north to Jackson, Tenn., and railroad communication is open with Grand Junction,

The road west from the Junction is reported to be badly damaged.

All the railroad and telegraph is in good con-Generals Ord, Sullivan and Hamilton, have arrived.

There is a Union sentiment in Western Tenessee, especially in Bolivar and Jackson. Beauregard's army, at last accounts, was at Okolona, 80,000 strong; 20,000 under Gen. Kirby Smith at Chattanooga, 15,000 under Gen. Price at Fulton, and Van Dorn has a small cavalry force.

NEW YORK, June 21, 1862. Advices by the Connecticut state that the ebel force at Mobile has been largely reinforced by 12,000 men from Beauregard's army. Beauregard himself is believed to be there.

Fort Morgan has been strengthened. Towns on the west coast of Florida have been re-occupled by rebel troops in larger numbers than he fore. Our troops are erecting fortifications near Pensacola, to protect it against the rebels. All is quiet and Union sentiment is being developed. One of our boat's crew, captured at St. Marks were surrounded by eighty rebels while on shore obtaining water, and two were killed, and the balance, twelve in number, were captured. The Connecticut, when passing Charleston, ticed the flags of Fort Sumpter and the other Fertifications at half mast, indicating the death of some important military officer. Death of Col. Fllett.

CAIRO, June 21, 1862. Col. Ellett, of the Ram fleet, died here this morning from a wound received in the engagement before Memphis. CORINTH, June 19, 1862. The Telegraph north was prostrated the eary part of the week by heavy rains. Our army has returned from Booneville, and now occupies a more Northern position. Gen. Pope has gone North on a furlough.

New York, June 21, 1862. The City of Washington took out $2,400, 000 in specie.

AN IMPRISONED FREE MAN SET AT LIBERTY .-Samuel Green a poor colored man 62 years of age was recently released from prison in Baltinore by the new Governor of Maryland.

Green was a slave for thirty years, when his naster, dying, bequeathed him his freedom. He was tried in a Maryland court in 1857 and entenced to the Balimore penitentiary for ten years for reading Unde Tom's Cabin, and being suspected of holding correspondence with the North. The constable sent to arrest him found in his house a copy of Uncle Tom's Cabin, a map of Canada and a picture of a hotel at Ni-

Military Items.

The Department has spoken the word, Congress has responded, and an armor-clad navy has been evoked with a rapidity that would be impossible in any other ountry, and that would be impossible in any other country, and that is marvelous here. The street, near the foot of Columbus, called Halleck's special object of the government in this movement—aside, of course, from the paramount necessity, now so keenly felt, of possessing a navy worthy of the nation-is, to be provided with the means of maintaining its authority in southern waters when the armies of the rebellion shall be dispersed and when there is no further need of any large land forces.

Twelve iron-clad ships are now in process construction, and will be finished at the earliest practicable period. The appropriations contained in bills which have passed at this session of Congress are:

For iron-cased gunboats, $10,000,000; gunboats on western rivers, $1,000,000; naval service for 1862, $20,603,000. The sum of $22,343,113 02 is contained in the appropriation bill for the navy for 1862-$.

This vessel is to be different from any of the gunboats now building, and indeed, we believe, different from anything that has been built of St. Louis shelled the works, and under cover of conceived of as means of raval defense, and attheir fire Col. Fitch gained the rear of the rebel tack. It is planned by Mr. Charles W. Whitposition. At this juncture, a ball from the ney, who obtained the contract from the Goviege gun on the bluff struck forward on the ernment for its construction. It will be entire port side of the Mound City, penetrating the ly of iron, having no wood-work whatever in its frame or sides. Its length will be 156 feet; breadth of beam, 36 feet; depth of hold, 13 feet six inches. It will b seen from this that it will be considerably smaller than the Monitor, the latter being 174 feet long and 41 feet wide. It will carry two large turrets, one at a medium distance toward each end, and between these will be placed the pilot-house. All three, it is needless to say, Fitch's regiment pushed forward and carried will be iron-clad and impregnable. It will be propelled by four propeller engines. At the bow there is a large and fornidable iron prow lower one mounting 6 field pieces, and the up- or ram of nine feet in lengtl, which looks as per 3 heavy siege guns, managed by 400 to though it were anxiously waiting to disembowel 500 men, under command of Col. These boilers will rest on the 16-inch floor plate to be felted and leaded and furnished with all approved appurtenances. The propeller will be ade of east iron, twelve feet in diameter, with fifteen feet pitch.

The vessel being built at Boston, by Loring & Co., will be substantially of the same construction. The length over the armor, it will be remembered, is 200 feet; the breadth of beam, over armor, 46 feet; the depth of hold, amidships, 11 feet; the thickness of armor about 5 inches. There is one turret, 21 feet in cost is $400,000 for each of these vessels.

THE IRONSIDES. This iron-clad war vessel, which was recently launched in Philadelphia, is built after the plan of the Warrior, the contract for its construc tion having been given at about the same time with that for the Monitor, and, of course, before the immense superiority of the plan of the Monitor had been proved. Although having all the advantage of the superiority of iron-clad over wooden vessels, she will not be entirely impregnable. Her length is 232 feet; 3,500 tons burden; battery, 16 9-inch Dahlgren guns; weight of guns, 152,000 pounds. In addition to the battery above mentioned, it is stated that she will carry two 200-pound Parrott guns on

In many respects it is believed that she is su perior to the Warrior. She draws only fifteen cet, while the Warrior draws twenty-seven feet. She will cost about $900,000. It is be lieved that she will be ready, according to the terms of the contract, by July 15.

THE ROANOKE. The steam frigate Roanoke is being iron-clad and is receiving three turrets at the Brooklyn

Navy Yard. The Roanoke was one of the five steam frigtes built in 1855, consisting of the Niagara, Wabash, Minnesota, Colorado and Roanoke. As she stands she is the dearest ship in the navy. Her first cost was $500,000, and, after a few months service as flag-ship of the home squadron, she was repaired at a cost of $300,

As she needed so much repairing, it was lately concluded to mal her. Her plates are only four Kappa Society, Rev. Henry B. Ridgaway and a half inches thick. It is hoped to make Thursday, exercises of the graduating class. her ready for service early in August.

THE GUNS FOR THE NEW MONITORS. The impossibility of firing a missile from the Monitor of sufficient weight to break through the sides of such a vessel as the Merrimae led to the building of the new vessels of a size that would obviate any such difficulty. The Monitor had 11-inch guns, firing shells weighing 169 pounds with about 12 pounds of powder. New guns, of a size that has never been ised before in naval warfare, are now being constructed at Fort Pitt, Penn., for the new gunboats, and several of them have arrived a the Brooklyn Navy-Yard. One of them at the yard alone weighs 17,202 pounds. The Scientific American speaks of this class of guns as follows:

The total length of each will be 13 feet inches; depth of bore 130 inches; diameter of bore 15 inches; greatest diameter 48 inches; diameter at the muzzle in the rough 38 inches This muzzle, however is to be turned off to 26; inches, and from thence taper up to nothing at of the cylindrical bore.) The thickness of metal outside of the bore at the base line will be 161 inches; from this line to the outside of at the base line, a hole one-fifth of an inch back from the center, then carried straight to the top forming the vent.

THE NAVIES OF ENGLAND AND FRANCE. The British have four iron-clad frigates completed, namely, the Warrior, Black Prince, Resistance, and Defense. The two former are the largest frigates ever built. In addition to these four frigates, the following iron-clad frigates are also in the course of construction Achilles, fifty guns, 6,097 tons; Agincourt, fifty guns, 6,621 tons; Northumberland, fifty guns, 6,621 tons; Minotaur, fifty guns, 6,621 tons; Valiant, thirty-two guns, 4,063 tons. These seven vessels will not be completed, pernaps, before the end of next year, but the folowing are designed to be finished within the present year: Caledonia, fifty guns, 4,045 tons; Prince Consort, fifty guns, 4,045 tons; Royal Oak, forty guns, 3,716 tons; Royal Alfred, forty guns; 3,716 tons. In addition to these, three large three deckers are to pe cut down and constructed with revolving turrets. At the end of this year they will, therefore, have twelve shal of Alexandria, informed the Rev. Mr. Bitiron clad vessels completed, forming a very powerful fleet.

The London Star gives the following as the strength of the French navy: "On the 1st of January last the French steam navy affoat consisted of 36 ships of the not comply with his request, whereupon Col ine, 6 iron plated frigates, 24 wooden screw Gregory immediately took military possession which 7 screw and 9 paddle; 35 screw, and 85 other churches of secesh proclivities have been paddle avisos or dispatch boats, 12 iron plated taken. Hoating batteries, 53 gunboats, and 35 transports. Total afloat, 319. There were besides building, 1 line-of-battle-ship, the Intrepide. which remains in the same state as eighteen months since; 10 iron plated frigates, 5 screw frigates, 1 screw and 8 paddle avisos, 2 iron plated floating batteries, 5 gunboats and 9 transports; total building, 41. Of the sailing navy there were affoat seven ships of the line, 23 frigates, 12 corvettes, and 77 brigs, small vessels and transports, and only 1 corvette and Congress. 1 brig building. "This is the whole extent of the French navy, afloat and building." A very important item in all this matter, however, is the fact that the mail clad fleets of England and France are built on the old plan, and infinitely inferior in fighting qualities vessels of the class of the Monitor.

A Leakage in the Federal Army. A Western army correspondent calls attention to the necessity of having some system for promptly returning those absent on account of sickness from the army, as soon as they recover. To give an idea of the present decimated condition of Gen. Halleck's army, he cites a brigade composed of five Illinois regiments, of which the nominal strength should be 5000 men. The number actually on the ground is but 1645. He says there are regiments in the field now which do not number over 220 effective men, and which could bring into action at Parrott guns, and parts of four Confederate most but 200. And yet the expense of supporting the field, staff and line officers in such cases is the same as in a full and effective regithe men, because there is no way provided by

FORTRESS MONROE, June 23, 1862. The Metamora arrived from City Point late last night.

Richmond papers of the 21st contain a brief count of a bloody battle on Monday last between five Federal regiments and a battery of regiments and a battery.

The battle lasted all day, with beavy loss on ment. It will be seen, therefore, that there is both sides. The Charleston Mercury feared the a vast margin between our army on paper and battle would be renewed the next day, and has the forces actually in the field. The trouble, it apprehension for the safety of the city, in conmay be added, is not wholly or principally in sequence of the great exhaustion of Southern ess, they can troops and loss of many officers.

Gens. Evans and Pemberton complimented government physician. It would seem that the troops on their bravery in standing under some reform of this kind ought at least to go the shells of our gunboats and batteries. The

It is positively ascertained that Beauregard turned over his command to Bragg on the 15th. and left for Montgomery, where he arrived on the 17th, accompanied only by his personal staff and left for Richmond.

Two reports are received here; one that he goes to take command; the other that he goes to explain the evacuation of Corinth. The latter is considered the most probable, as it has been known for some time that Beauregard and
