BR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT FOR HORSES is unrivaled by any, in all cases of Lameness, arising from Spraius, Bruises or Wrenching, its effect is magical and certain. Harness or kaddle Galls, Scratches, Manage, &c., it win also cure speedily. Spavin and Ringbone may be easily prevented and cured in their incipient stages, but confirmed cases are beyond the possibility of a radicure. No case of the kind, however, is so desperate or hopel as but it may be alleviated by this Liniment, and its faithful application will always remove the Lameness, and enable the horse to travel with comparative case.

Every horse cware should have this remedy at hand, for its timely use at the first appearance of Lamness will effectually prevent those formidable diseases mentioned, it which all horses are liable, and which render so many otherwise valuable horses nearly worthless.

Island Disaster.

New York, June 27, 1862. It is said that Gen. Benham is under arrest with orders to report at Washington. It is stated that Gen. Hunter left James Island on the 12th leaving Gen Benham in command with orders to make no advance towards Charles on without reinforcements or further orders. It was reported by deserters that the whole rebel force at Secessionville was but two battallions with six guns mounted, and seven more nearly ready for use.

A reconnoissance was made on the 16th. Gen. Stearns, with 4,000 men, was to make an attack at daybreak, while Gen. Wright and Col. Williams, with 3,000 were to support him. Some have it that the movement was delayed an hour, and as our troops rushed up a plain field they were in broad day, and met by a murlerons fire of grape and cannister. Two regiments only reached the front, much cut upsth Mich. and 79th N. Y. The 28th Mass. broke and scattered, and the 46th N. Y. did but little better. The first two drove the gumers from their guns, and some even penetrated the work, but the other regiments failing to support them they had to retire after holding the battery twenty minutes.

Another account confirms the above in the main but states that the Mass, 28th did well. It gives our loss as killed, 84; wounded, 366; missing, 124. Our camp is now within range of the gunboat's fire and in safe condition. Entrenchments have been thrown up and reinforcements are awaited ; Gen. Brannon's troops numbering 2,000, have arrived from Key West at James Island, but our forces must be largely reinforced before operations can be resumed Rebel troops are constantly arriving and prepar ations for defense of Charleston are extensively

A New State-West Virginia. The proposed new State of West Virginia has come before Congress, praying for admission into the Union. Her people are the only loyal portion of the Old Dominion; they,

" Faithful found among the faithless, have remained constant in their lovalty through all the storm of this rebellion. Though much of their territory has been occupied by rebel troops at one or another time, the people of West Virginia voted overwhelmingly against the ordinance of secession, and began, almost as soon as their neighbors of the free States, to organize for their own protection and for the assistance of the national government. In defiance of their governor, who refused to respond to the call of the President for Virginia's quota of troops, they raised their full quota, and today eleven faithful and brave regiments stand side by side with our northern soldiers in defense of the nation.

What then can be the reason for a denial of the request she makes? Loyal Virginia—the only portion of the State that can properly be recognized as speaking with authority-says: We ask to be placed in a position of equality with our sister States. Her people have voted directly and indirectly upon the question three or four times, and always in the affirmative and always nearly unanimously.

Within her boundaries West Virginia comprises forty-four large counties, and three hundred and thirty-six thousand freemen and women, and only twelve thousand slaves. future by secession politicians to assist in paying debts they never assisted to contract, they to satisfy his patrons. ask to be placed in a position independent of their pro-slavery statesmen.

With an honesty that needs no commenda tion, they have made provision of their share of the public debt as it stood prior to the rebellion. With a propriety that can admit of no doubt they refuse to recognize themselves as held for the payment of any portion of the debt incurred in the interest of secession. The strictism of the West Virginians should not be allowed to pass unnoticed. In a trying hour they have proven their good faith; we should grant their prayer and add a new and more than usually lustrous star to the galaxy that now bedeck the flag.

A bill has been reported in Congress for this mrpose. A provision has been incorporated providing that the new State shall guarantee in its constitution that all children of slave parents after July 1, 1863, shall be forever free. That this provision will be gladly accepted then is but little doubt, for the people of West Virginia never had any taste for the institution, it was unsuited to their climate, and the desper ate efforts of East Virginia have never been able to fasten the system upon them. Another provision of the bill, as reported, includes in the State, in addition to those included by the Wheeling Convention, the counties lying north of Harper's Ferry and down the valley of Virginia. We hope therefore to see the State of Women in Secessia.

The women at Norfolk like their sister spirits in New Orlcans, daily insult our soldiers when they get a chance. A few days since, says correspondent of the Philadelphia Press, one of them entered General Viele's headquarters to obtain a pass to go to Suffolk. General Viele recieved her with his usual politeness. but sud dealy noticing that she wore the Confederate colors prominently, in the shape of a brooch mildly suggested that it would, perhaps, have been in better taste to come to his office without such decoration. "I have a right, sir, to consult my own wishes as to what I shall wear." "Then, madam," replied the General, permit me to claim an equal right in choosing with whom I shall converse;" and the dignified lady had to withdraw from his presence.

She subsequently returned and having mada slight apology renewed her request for a pass which was promptly filled and handed to her Arriving at Suffolk she circulated around among the Provost Guard of national troops, wearing the brooch in a conspicuous position on her dress. An officer of the 13th New York regiment politely accosted her and told her it would be better to remove the brooch as it might cause trouble. Passing along she met a soldier who told her she must not wear the "stars and bars." She replied she would not remove the brooch for any Yankee hireling. The soldier siezed the hated brooch, removed the colors and anded the golden bauble back. Some citizens observing the act fell upon the soldier and were belaboring him freely when he drew his bayonet from his scabbard striking one of his assailants several blows injuring him badly. The wounded man was the silly girl's brother and his wounds will probably cause his death.

The Charter Amendment.

The bill has passed the Legislature amending the City Charter so as to make the city an independent Highway District, thus placing the streets within the city limits, under the control of the Common Council. This will remedy the difficulty of conflicting jurisdiction which has been so long experienced, as previously the sidewalks have been under the supervision of the Council, while the streets have been regulated by the Selectmen of the town. The change cannot fail to be of great benefit to the

Stealing Papers. Last evening a thievish boy was detected stealing he Palladium from the door of one of our sub cribers in Hughes' Place. He crept cautiously up o the door step and was folding the sheet for his pocket, when a neighbor discovered him and gave chase, but did not succeed in catching him. If he had been caught we should have felt obliged to make an example of him, as will certainly be done in every instance of the kind that comes to our > Office, corner of St. John and Olive sta Beautiful Fire Hydrants.

C. A. LINDSLEY, M. D., Registrar.

Mr. H. B. Bigelow, at his machine works No. 8 Whitney Avenue, is making a splendid article of Fire Hydrant. It stands about two feet above the surface of the ground, and is quite ornamental, being of a pattern as pretty as anything of the kind we ever saw. It has a four inch pipe and two outlets of two and a half inches each, which is the size of the hose used by the city.

The capacity of the pipe is one inch larger than that in use in New York city. Mr. Bigelow is now engaged upon a contract with the city authorities, and is making one hundred and fifty for city use. At the trial exhibition, this morning, the Committee were unanmous in their approval of its workmanship. style and operation. It was tested in the street n front of the works and threw two streams over a flag-staff upon a three and a half story building—a distance of from sixty to seventy feet. Mr. Bigelow is prepared to furnish our citizens with the article all set ready for use at a moderate cost. He has already received orders from many manufacturers here, and can fill all orders that may be given.

The House of Representatives have concurred the amendments to the bill prohibiting poygamy in the territories, making the offens shable with a fine not to exceed $500 and pprisonment five years. So the "twin relic of barbarism" has received a blow that may possibly lead to its removal from the land.

SUICIDE IN CHESTER .- On Saturday, the 21st inst., a woman named Eunice Andrews, of Haddam Neck after several ineffectual attempts, committed suicide, in Chester, by loading her dress with stones and sitting down in the river in about four feet depth of water. It is said that disappointment in love caused her to commit the act. She was a sister of Charles N. Andrews, who shot Henry Brainerd of Haddam Neck two or three years since, for which crime he was sent to State Prison for ten years, where he committed suicide a short time ago by cutting himself with glass.

It is stated that a vessel was passing at the time the woman was entering the water, and those on board asked her what she proposed to Whether any boat was lowered to save her does not appear. About the same time the friends of the woman appeared on the shore and inquiring of the vessel's crew about her, were informed where she might be found.

The affair has caused considerable sensation in Chester and vicinity, where the woman has

MURDER IN FREETOWN, MASS,-The body of John Bullock, a resident of New Bedford, Mass was found shockingly mangled on the road Leading from Assonet to Perry's Neck, at Sand Hill, on Friday evening the 19th. The Bostor Traveller says:

It was evident, from the appearance of th ground in the vicinity, that a desperate struggle had taken place. Blood was found in his wagon, and in considerable quantities on the ides of the road. There were several buckshot vounds on the lower part of his face, and a seious stab in the abdomen, and one in the neck and a dozen or more slight ones on the breast There was also a cut on the upper part of the head, extending back five or six inches from the forehead, laying open the flesh to the bone His watch, valued at $100, was missing, also his pocket book; but a sum of money amount is not known how much money he had with him at the time. The body was found by two peddlers, who alarmed the neighbors, and it vas taken to an unoccupied house called the Crapo house, situated about a mile and a half southwest from where the murder was commi ted. Coroner William O. Russell, of New Bed ford was sent for, and took charge of the body

Mr. Bullock left home on Friday morning and was last seen near Assonet, about half pas five o'clock in the afternoon, where he had som conversation with a woman, in reference to a piece of land he wished to purchase of her While he was talking with her a man was seen to pass having a gun with him, and suspicions are entertained that he might be the murderer Mr. Bullock soon after left, it is supposed for home, and was waylaid in the woods on the Three of their number, disusted with the imposition, attempted to leave, ont were arrested and placed in confinement heavily ironed. A writ of habeas corpus was issued by Chief Justice, Kinley, which was treated with contempt. A sufficient time having elapsed for producing the prisoners, a second writ together with an order for the arrest of Morris for contempt, and for the arrest of the leaders of the gang for false imprisonment was issued. For the execution of this a posse of 250 infantry and artillery was ordered out on the 11th by acting Gov. Fuller. Morris and his infantry and artillery was ordered out on the 11th by acting Gov. Fuller. Morris and his men were strongly entrenched and thoroughly armed, and fighting ensued. Two of the marshal's posse were killed. On the 15th the rebels pretended to surrender, but resisted anew as soon as our attacking party approached. In a hand to hand fight Morris was killed and another leader mortally wounded. The rebels were then overcome. Several women and children were killed during the siege, the Morrises refusing to remove them to a place of safety. The prisoners captured number 147, and were to be brought to court on the 17th.

Secretary Welles.

Of late we hear no more of the jeers which have been in times past so freely and unjustly thrown upon Mr. Welles, the Secretary of the Navy. He is no longer caricatured in the pictorial prints-no longer berated by disappointed contractors and the envious and venomous cliques that were so anxious to have the Navy Department administered by men of their se-

Mr. Welles by his steady integrity, his unvearied devotion to the interest and the success of the Navy, and by the mighty results which he has accomplished in one short year has disarmed the most vituperative of his assailants, while some of the more just among them have confessed their error in their estimate of the man and now award him high commendation.

His last State paper, informing Congress of the wants of his department, and the results that may be accomplished through that arm of defense, has elicited general praise, and shows that he is master of his business. If foreign governments continue to let us alone, it will be as much on account of the Navy which Mr. Welfes has created and advised, as to any other cause. The ships of war and the gunboats that throng the rebel inlets and rivers are the great terror of the secession traitors. If it were not for the Yankee gunboats, say they, they could beat back the Northern barbarians. The gunboats saved our army at the West, and have given us our most important victories on the sea shore. These gunboats of wood and iron have been completed in a space of time so short, and are of such terrific power, as to astonish the Europeans nations. These successes are due in a great degree to the labors and sound judgment of the Secretary of the Navy. As to his integrity, it is no longer impeached. In Connecticut it never was deemed equivocal. We have heard his political opponents say that whatever the faults of Mr. Welles, they knew he was an honest man. Mr. Welles has fully vindicated himself in his present position from all the aspersions that have been so freely bestowed upon him, and not a note of vituperation is now heard from any quarter. While this must be gratifying to him, it is none the less so to those he represents in his own State.

It has intervention in behalf of the rebels. By the worth a walk of a mile to see it. last steamer we have advices that in the House of Lords, on the 13th, in reply to a question put by Earl Caernaryon relative to this matter, Earl Russell said :

"With respect to the rumors of mediation, he was glad the question had been put, for such runors were likely to lead to mischief. Her majes ty's government had made no proposal to France in reference thereto, and the French government had made no proposal to England. Therefore there had been no communication of any kind on the subject between the two governments. Without, however, giving any opinion as to the propriety of offering mediation at some future day if circumstances should prove favorable, he must say that the present time appeared to him most inoporune. He conceived that in the embittered state of feeling in America, it would not only lead to no good, but retard the time for such an offer being favorably made."

In the House of Commons, on the same day, in reply to a question by Mr. Hopwood relative to the rumors of mediation that had been floating about England, Lord Palmerston-a hater of American Institutions-replied that "no com-"munication had been received from the French "Government on the subject, and as to the "British Government, they had no intention at present to offer mediation."

In ordinary cases, declarations so explicit and circumstantial would be considered sufficient, and in this case, we presume, they will tend to allay whatever fear may have been entertained on this subject.

> Gen. Pope's Command-" The Army of Virginia." Washington, June 26.-The forces under Major-Generals Fremont, Banks and McDowell have been consolidated into one army called "The Army of Virginia," and Major-General Pope has been especially assigned by the President to the chief command.

The forces under Fremont constitute the first army corps, to be commanded by Gen. Fremont; the forces under Gen. Banks constitute the second army corps, and are to be commanded by him; the forces under Gen. McDowell constitute the third army corps, to be commanded by him. McCall's division, ten thousand strong, which formed a part of McDowell's corps, has reached McClellan by water, and another division is to follow immediately in the same way, while Gen. Pope will also operate against the enmy at Richmond. Besides McCall's division, Gen. McClellar

Yet I know she was suffering sorrow
Too de p for tongus to express.
Or why had she chosen to borrow
So much from the language of dress? Her shawl was as sable as night;

Her shawl was as sable as night;
And her gloves were as dark as her shawl—
And her jewels, that flashed in the light,
Were black as a funera pall:
Her rote had the hue of the rest.
(How nicely it fitted her shape.)
And the grief that was heaving her breast

FROM CHARLESTON!

LOSS OF THE MICHIGAN EIGHTH.

The steamers Philadelphia from Beaufort, and Ericsson from Key West, 18th, and Port Royal, 23d, have arrived. The Ericsson brings 181 passengers, including Gen. Benham and staff, and 57 soldiers who were wounded in the late engagement on James Island, near Charleston. The United States troops under Gen. Ber ham made the attack at 4 o'clock on the morning of the 16th, and were repulsed, after four hours hard fighting, with a loss of 668 killed, wounded, and missing. The Michigan 8th had but 250 men left a roll call.

The New York 79th suffered severely. The Union troops were obliged to retreat under cover of our gunboats.

Col. Perry, of the New York 48th, died at Fort Pulaski, June 18, of apoplexy. Gen. Brannan, from Key West, is expected daily at Port Royal.

The Ericsson landed the 7th N. H., companies of the 90th N. Y., and four companies of the 1st Regular Artillery at Port Royal. The United States ship San Jacinto is at Key West-all well.

The account of the fight on James Island copied from Charleston papers is correct.

The following among the wounded arrived per Ericsson: 3d New Hampshire-Lieut. Robt. Allen, right hand, private Grant Trotter, jaw, H. Goodwin, hand, G. L. Gerrish, left hip; 3d Rhode Island-Corporal J. Murlly, flesh wound who distinguished himself on the occasion of one, and often three by three; and it a secret, are cast in an alloy called Aich metal, in the side, private T. H. Taft, gun shot in the thigh; 28th Massachusetts—privates James
arm, Pierre Hays, shoulder and back; 7th
Connecticut—L. Cook, fracture jaw, J. D.
