DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS The combination of ingredients in these Pills are the result of a long and extensive practice. They are mild in their operation, and certain in correcting all irregularities, Painful Menstruations, removing all obstructions, whether from cold or otherwise, headache, pain in the side, palpitation of the heart, whites, all nervous affections, hysterics, pain in the back and limbs, &c., disturbed sleep, which srise from interruptions of nature. DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS was the commencement of a new era in the treatment of those irregularities and obstructions which have consigned so many to a PREMATURE GRAVE. No female can enjoy good health unless she is regular, and whenever an obstruction takes place the general health begins to decline.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS
are the most effectual remedy ever known for all compiaints peculiar to Females. To all classes they are invaluable, inducing, with certainty, periodical regularity. They are known to thousands, who have used them at different periods, throughout the country, having the sanction of one of the most Eminent Physicians in America.

Morgan's Operations---Louisville on the War. Louisville, Aug. 18, 1862.

Eight hundred of John Morgan's force have prossed to the north side of the Cumberland River, four miles north of Bennett's Ferry, in Monroe County.

A large war meeting held at the Court House last night urged the Council to appropriate $70,000 for bounty to volunteers. T. P. MERWIN & Co.

New York, Aug. 18, 1862. JUST received a large assortment of Oaken ware, among which may be found: The Tribune's special from Culpepper, dated Ware, among which may be found: LARGE OAK STABLE PAILS, HEAVY yesterday, states that the rebels have abandoned their position near Cedar Mountain, and are on full retreat to the Rapidan, pursued by the cavalry and artillery of Sigel's corps, which have just been sent out. Jackson, Ewell's and Hill's forces are said to be crossing to the other side For sale to the t. adc at the lowest New York cash prices of the Rapidan, and Longstreet, who had advanced from Orange Court House with rein-AG'L. 520. 3. That said Board shall hereafter on or before the second Tuesday of July in each year, appoint some suitable, practical engineer, to be an Inspector of stationary steam boilers, for the period of one year, from the time of said appointment, unless removed by said Board, and unit another is appoint d in his stead

FEG. 4. That it shall be the duty of said Inspector, to examine carefully at least once in each year, and oftener if in the opinion of said Board concerning the construction, condition, and safety of all stationary steam boilers in use within said city limits, and to furnish to the owner or owners of all such boilers, or to the person or persons operating them, a certificate of the condition thereof, signed by himself as such Inspector. WASHINGTON, Aug. 18, 1862. Advices from Culpepper, dated yesterday, say that owing to the severe injury Gen. Banks has received, the command of the Second Corps has devolved upon Gen. Williams. Brigadier Gen. Crawford commands the division of Gen. Williams, and Gen. Greene commands the division of Gen. Auger, who is severely, but not dangerously wounded.

An escaped prisoner saw at Orange Court House Gen. Price and Captain Wilkins in the hands of the rebels. They were on their way to Richmond.

On visiting the battle-field many, if not the greater part of our dead officers are found, some partially and others entirely stripped of their uniforms. The dead Union and the dead rebel soldiers lay about promiscuously, and intermixed on the field.

The rebel Generals Stewart and Early held the field and conversed freely with our own officers about the battle. They stated that the full brigades of Gens. A. P. Hill, Longstreet, and Ewell, were opposed to our small band of heroes and that they were terribly cut to pieces by our fire, leading to the inference that they suffered fully as much as ourselves. Jackson commanded the field in person.

Gen. Roberts of Major General Pope's staff is Military Governor of the post at Culpepper, and on the day of the battle he rendered valuable ssistance by his military experience.

New York, August 13, 1862. A Key West paper of the 2d, denies that there is any yellow fever there, but Col. Morgan has taken sanitary measures looking to a prevention of the spreading of any infectious di-

THE DAILY PALLADIUM IS THE OLDEST DAILY PAPER IN NEW HAVEN, AND BEING AN OUGHLY READ IN FAMILIES, AND IT THEREBY OF

THE WEEKLY PALLADIUM FREELY CIRCU LATES IN EVERY TOWN AND VILLAGE FROM WHICH OUR MERCHANTS DERIVE A LARGE AMOUNT OF THEIR TRADE, AND IS THEREFORE PARTICULARLY WORTHY OF THEIR ATTENTION AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM.

Forever float that standard sheet! Where breathes the foe but falls before us With Freedom's soil beneath our feet, And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us!

Our Quota.

From all parts of the State the evidence most abundant and gratifying that the quota of Connecticut for the three hundred thousand volunteers is rapidly being furnished. At the same time, the period within which our regiments must be filled is fast drawing to a close Only three days more remain; and we must fill not only the regiments now being raised, but also one more, the twentieth. The fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth and eighteenth are substan tially full

Not only have they the requisite number of men enlisted, but, as a whole, the men are of : better class than have heretofore gone to the war; in other words, there are more men and fewer boys. One regiment of men whose sinews are strong, and whose limbs are muscular; who are accustomed to labor and can endure the fa tigue of marches without flinching, is worth two regiments of men who will wilt under scorching sun, and be in the hospital after a few months service. In this respect, Connecticut is doing far better than ever before. A some what careful observation of companies raised in all parts of the State for the different regiments warrants us in saying that no better soldiers can be found in the world than those whom Connec ticut is now contributing to the service of the

What progress has been made towards rais ing the seventeenth and nineteenth regiments we do not certainly know. But we believe the former is more than two-thirds full, and th latter was half filled some days ago, and is now recruiting at the rate of one hundred a day.

But the work must not cease here. The fa tal mistake of stopping enlistments must not be again made. Other regiments must be called for, and without delay. The three hundred thousand for the nine months service are yet to be raised. Volunteers will be accepted for the is the most auspicious moment possible for volunteering. For three days more the bounties are abundant. After that time, there are no bounties, but the quota of the State must be filled by a draft.

The Vankee.

The Editor of the Richmond Examiner defines the Yankee. Hear him: "The Yankee is not by nature a tyrant and oppressor: but he is the most avaricious being in the human shape. For riches his nation have become : nation of liars and swindlers; for riches he will murder, steal, and commit every crime." This is truly a horrible picture. Let us define the Southern traitor.

The Southern traitor differs from the Yanke in that he is by nature a tyrant and oppressor he is not the most avaricious being in the hu man shape, at this time, for the more shinplas ters he has the poorer he is off; as for lying and swindling, murdering and stealing, he has such a propensity for each, that, like the drunken the same offenses; he delights in the possession of the bones and skulls of his enemies, who have been killed on the field of battle, for use as true-born Yankee, thank God!

Saturday's Battle.

Full particulars of the battle near Culpepper do not yet reach us. What we do get, however, wears a more favorable aspect than appeared in the first account. Our troops behaved bravely in face of a force largely their superior in point of numbers, and credit is due to our generals, particularly Banks, for the able stand made. Reinforcements have been rapidly sent on to our army, we learn, and the statement that the rebels have retired two miles from the position they held on Saturday, together with the fact that Pope has moved on, following them up, looks as though we should hear of another battle soon in that direction, which will prove victorious to our arms

WHY THE FRENCH PRI CES RETURNED-The sudden departure of the French princes from this country, which created so many unpleas ant comments on this side the ocean, has just been explained by the last foreign mails. It says that the Count de Paris, while traveling in that purpose. But he ventured too far; he Italy a year or two ago with his brother, went out among the planters, and while enjoythe Dake de Chartres, fell in love with the eldest daughter of the Dutchess of Parma. Their parents did not object to the match, but wished him (as he was very young) to travel for a year or two before the nuptials took place. With this understanding the princes came to this country and enlisted under McClellan, and have now returned at the solicitations of the young lady, as the time for the wedding had arrived The most curions feature of this alliance is, that the bride of Count de Paris is a niece of Henry V., and that this marriage brings about what the French call a fusion, or a connection of two royal branches in one single person. Henceforward the Count of Paris will be the legitimate

Mr. Joseph C. Todd, a gentleman of intelligence and veracity, as well as a practical mechanic, writes from England that a heavily plated steamer, laden with guns and contraband of war, left Liverpool for the Southern coast on the 10th of July. She is no doubt intended to take the place of the Sumter, Nashville, or Merrimac, but is more formidable. She is so constructed as to be worked and steered below deck, and lies very low in the water. The same writer says that it is no unusual occurrence in England to hear of the frequent running of the blockade by Southern vessels running to Bermuda. The mode of operation is, that several vessels will start from Bermuda at once, and send one ahead as a decoy to lead off the blockading fleet, and while the fleet is chasing this ship the others will enter the port.

A correspondent writes us from Newtown ar earnest letter in reference to drafting. He thinks if a few days grace should be extended the quota of Connecticut would be filled. He urges that the reason volunteering has lagged in some sections of the State is because some towns have offered no bounty. Newtown is cited as an instance. Young men there had held back, and refused to enlist; but on Saturday last a town meeting was held and a bounty of two hundred dollars was voted to each volunteer who should enlist. This put a new face now the full quota for the entire 600,000 men called for will be raised without drafting.

There are some men who talk about enlisting and say they would go to the war if !-- and the "if" is always put in. They come to no conclusion after all. They are like Pat, who was waiting for a job. Said he: "If I save me two thousand dollars, I must lay up two hundred dollars a year for ten years, or I can put away twenty dollars for two hundred years-now which shall I do?"

Mr. Wallach, the Editor of the Washington Star, was a spectator of the great battle of Saturday. He states that the battle was very severe, and that neither side won any important advantages. When he left, reinforcements of Union troops were rapidly pouring in, and it was believed that the battle would soon be resumed, with a prospect of brilliant victory on our side. Our troops held their position firmly.

The soldier who has nobly fought for his country and been wounded in her defense comes home and shows an honorable scar. The man who is fearful he may be called upon to do service for his country, and rushes for a surgeon to get exempted, exhibits a most disgraceful scare. That's all the difference.

The prices at which cotton cloth is selling, the present generation never experienced. The very coarsest brings from 16 to 18 cents a vard. The heaviest grade of cotton sheeting, which used to sell for 8 cents, has advanced to 23 cents per vard by the bale; tickings have advanced to 40 cents per yard by the bale. During the last war with England calico sold in Massachusetts for 75 cents per yard.

Union papers should never publish statements that individuals or classes of persons who are in portions of the so-called confederate states, not yet permanently occupied by the Federal army are and have been all the time loval to the Union. To do so is in most cases to consign good men to the tender mercies of lynch law. So a loyal gentleman from one of the Southern states suggests.

others. And to those who desire to bear a part ginning of the year 1863, should be eight hun in putting down this rebellion, and few will be dred millions of dollars, it will be still less than exempt from sacrifices in this work, the present one-fifth of the national debt of England, less than one-half that of France, and about onehalf that of Austria. Take this as an encour

At a war meeting held in Fredonia, N. Y. last week, a paper was read signed by twentynine young ladies, offering to go into the dry goods stores of the merchants as clerks, that the men now filling the places might hasten to their country's rescue. Ladies, this way, might give a like counter-marching order.

The St. Louis Democrat says there is little nterest taken in politics in Missouri, but the masses will, when they vote, show little favor to slavery.

From high military authority it is learned that although there are on the rolls drawing pay over 600,000 enlisted men, the number ac squaw, he declares every body else is guilty of tually on duty does not exceed 363,000. The other 250,000 comprises the wounded and sick and absent on furlough.

Administering oaths of allegiance to rebels, household ornaments: he is-well, he isn't a since it is manifest they bind no rebel conscience, is a mere form having no more obligation than dicer's imprecations. It is as if the convicts of the penitentary were to be set free apon taking an oath that they would sin no nore. The man who is not restrained from criminal enterprises by a sense of duty, will ever be kept back by oaths a thousand times repeated. Is it not then about time that the ham procedure of giving freedom to rebels or heir taking the oath, was done away with?

> Among the victims who perished in th flames at the burning of the Rainbow Hotel, in New York, last week, was an old man named McKenzie, who for many years, in the early part of this century, was Secretary to the Duke of Wellington.

Enlistments are going on in Massachusetts at the rate of about a thousand a day

Lazarus Silverman, Fsq., a well known banker of Chicago, went to Memphis to speculate in cotton, and took $30,000 in gold with him for nabbed him. He is now studying political economy in the upper story of a cotton factory in Dixie, minus his gold. When Lazarus comes forth he will likely think less of a cotton and give him her salary during his absence, if pod than he did a few weeks since. Said a methodist minister at Newtown, Mass... after placing his name on the enlistment roll at cepted, on account of confirmed ill health, by a war meeting: "As the servant of my Divine advice of the physicians. 1st Lieut, J. S. Dun-Master I do not call upon you to go, but I say representative of the rights and pretensions of the houses of Bourbon and of Orleans.

Military Items. The quota of Connecticut under the nine nonths call is 7,145, seven full regiments. According to this, Connecticut will have to raise and secure the bounties!

Among the numerous applicants for a certificate before Dr. Ellsworth, in Hartford, on Saturday, was an Irishman who claimed that he was forty-nine years of age. He looked full as old as that, but in order to make the matter sure, he introduced a friend of his, who said: 'I'll swar this man's a hundred and forty-eight. years old, shure." This testimony was sufficient as to the age of the individual, and he was told that his years would clear him.

There have been serious charges against Dr Beckwith, of Litchfield, for granting certificates without cause. The Courant understands that Dr. Grant telegraphed to him, Saturday, to hold up until further orders.

Messes. Editors:—Please allow us, through your columns, to bring to public notice the Army Work of the American Tract Society of this city. While our citizens are sending, in abundance, comforts for the bodies of the soldiers, too little is received for the supply of their mental and spiritual wants. The great falling off in receipts for reading, has led the Executive Officers of the Society to consider the propriety of recalling Mr. Alvord from the army. But his position there is one of vast importance, and so great usefulness, that we cannot see how he can be spared. Multitudes of our soldiers would feel that they had lost their best friend. f he were to leave. His visits at the bed-side of the sick and dying, his warm sympathy, and his untiring devotion to the best interests of the soldiers, seem to make his presence there almost indispensable. Must be leave the army? He will be under the necessity of doing so, if the Christian public will not furnish the means to supply him with religious reading. We are unable to maintain him there to distribute material comforts to the troops alone. This is an important work and must be done; but we can not do it, only as incidental to what is our legitimate line of

The following extract from one of his recent etters will show the demand for, and interest in religious reading.

"I have been among the new troops of Gen Shield's Division to-day. They have some good Chaplains, but are wholly destitute of reading matter. No mails ever reached them from Washington, and they were in an inaccessible region until now. It is good to take these Ohio and Western Virginia regiments by the hand, and do for them as we have done for others. Their wonder and gratitude is unbounded. I told the Chaplains, as I drove into their camp this morning, that I had good things for sou "Well, we are glad to see you; we have all the comforts we need for both sick and well, so far as the body is concerned; but if you have any good reading, do let us have it." It was the first time my delicacies had been wholly overlooked, and the food for the soul first seized upon. I found afterward, too, that their sick had scarcely anything but the coarse army rations. The crowd of common soldiers around my wagon showed the same Company in the Lyon Regiment, yesterday lost a striking preference. It was affecting to see coll of bills to the value of $114. The money conthem extend their brawny hands right over sisted of $10 and $20 bills on the Quinnipiack Bank jars of sweetmeats, boxes of crackers, and bot tles of wine and seize upon that ' Banner. They had not seen it before, and the Fag (I had a few hundreds of it) took them by storm.

It is an encouraging circumstance, that ever the rebels evince a deep interest in the reading matter furnished by us. During the late re treat, eighty dollars' worth of our publications fell into their hands. Mr. A. says of it, "I have heard well of my distributions among the Rebel army at Fair Oaks. Dr. Marks says, (he was taken and carried to Richmond,) that they all took the publications and read them, at the hospital where he was, and permitted him to carry them to five or six other hospitals clad gunboats, for service in the Mississippi floon the different fields of battle, (crowded with rebel as well as with union wounded,) and that all expressed delight in their perusal. He saw them frequently in the hands of different regi-ments, and in Richmond, on being introduced vice along the lower Ohio, and the rest on the to a young gentleman, on a certain occasion. "Dr. Marks. O yes, I remember, I saw you name in one of the Christian Banners we've been reading.' The critics of the South will probably not be of the same opinion with the simple soldiery, the two numbers being the 'Flag' and 'Washington.'"

To supply even the sick and wounded in ou hospitals with religious reading is a great work. The number of sick men suffering is very large. They long for something to while away th weary hours, that will supply them with valuable and improving topics of thought. They, as well as the men who are still in health, are deeply serious. "On Sunday evening," says Mr. A. in his last letter, "I had a most serious, Chaplains have left. "There never has been a time," says Mr. A., "when so much good could be done. The army is saddened by the igious services in many regiments."

We appeal to a patriotic and Christian public and ask, shall Mr. Alvord be suffered to come Shall the spiritual interests of such an army, in so interesting a condition, be overlooked? Will not the friends of our brave soldiers send us funds to supply the pressing want? This is a peculiar exigency. What can be done to strengthen the dispirited hearts of our troops should be done at once. The time of need now. A prompt response on the part of individuals and churches, will enable us to keep Mr. A. in a position where his whole heart is, and where his usefulness is beyond the power of the human mind to compute. Cannot fifty individuals be found who will rive us $5000 for this special work? A friend of the Society, who has before evinced his interest in deeds, gives $100 for this purpose .-We cornectly request all friends of our country our army, and the souls of men to respond to this appeal. Will not churches and Sunday schools make a special effort to retain Mr. Al vord in his present field of labor, and remit to our Treasurer, Henry Hill, Esq., 28 Cornhill, Boston, a liberal donation?

The Washington special of the New York Times says that the War Department has decided to subdivide the States into districts for recruiting purposes, so that each district shall be credited with the number of volunteers it may raise, and have so many deducted from its quota when the draft comes to be applied. It is understood that in this way many districts will escape the draft entirely, having wholly or nearly horses. The rebels were scattered in all dicompleted their full quota already. A Plain Talk.

When our country is engaged in carrying on a most gigantic war, on a scale of expenditure unequaled in the history of the world, it is a proper time for the people to inquire what influence their own domestic habits may have upon the welfare of the country and how they may best meet the responsibilities and taxation which a large national debt will impose. We are spending millions of dollars each day. have more soldiers and sailors in actual service than any civilized nation has ever been able to employ for a great length of time. The compensation paid to these is greater, and the pro vision for their sustenance and comfort more abundant than the world has ever seen. We are multiplying vessels of war upon new and improved plans. We are bringing into service untold quantities of ordnance and ammunition And in addition to all the regular and inevitable expenses of the war, states vie with the nation and with each other in the offer of bour ties, while towns pour out their treasures mor profusely than either. So that while the national debt is rolling up with a rapidity, not indeed astonishing under the circumstances, but certainly unpleasant to contemplate, the aggre gate indebtedness of our people is being largely increased by state and town action.

All this is as it should be. This war go forward, and must be pressed to a successful conclusion, be the cost what it may. But we are now meeting our obligations with paper, United States Treasury notes. The interest on these notes must be paid in real substantial wealth, and the notes themselves are redeemable at some time in the future, and must be paid in like manner. For this purpose, taxation will be largely increased, and the cost of maintain heretofore unknown to them, though familiar ing, called the government. They are to be and traitors. paid by the people. And when we speak of the people we do not refer to day-laborers, mechanics and poor men, but to all, rich and poor. No system of taxation ever has been devised and probably none ever will be, by which every man will be obliged to pay taxes exactly in proportion to his means. But we believe that the combined systems of our nation and state make this taxation as nearly equitable as it can

The question now arises how shall this in creased taxation be met and these new burdens which the danger to our country renders neces sary, be borne? We answer most emphatically that these new burdens can be borne in no other way than by a thorough system of re trenchment in our domestic habits. We are living too fast. As a people we are spending too much. We are entertaining false ideas of life. We are living fully up to our income, and in no measure preparing for the storm that ing go on. awaits us. There is no use in howling against aristocrats, so long as we are seeking to ape them. A man is no less respectable for being rich or no more respectable for being poor, nor vice versa. He is the true nobleman, who, while ready to meet all the obligations either legal or moral which may be laid upon him, has the courage to live within his income. Your real aristocrat who has money, and who, when the country calls, has the means and the will to re spond is respectable. But your half-breed aristocrat, who flaunts on his back all his available wealth, and who when the country needs help and proposes to gain it by an equitable system of taxation, has nothing to show, is simply contemptible. One good honest-hearted working man, whose table is not indeed loaded with lux uries, whose wife and children do not indeed mingle in the best society, but who is ready to pay his proportion of taxes upon the little savings of hard-earned money, is worth a dozen of

We say then to people of all classes, it is time when domestic economy should be of the most rigid character, when every family should reduce its expenditures, and should cut down its luxuries, not for the purpose of hoarding wealth, but of meeting the obligations which this war "Because they are so unmercifully crewel." will impose and of giving liberally for its coun try's cause. It is a time when the people's benefactions should flow like a river, when every possession should be held in trust for the country, and when every extravagant outlay should be frowned upon as a wasteful expenditure of the nation's blood.

In the past our government has cost us little. Now we are learning its real value. He who invests a son or brother, his own money or hides or wastes his treasures, or seeks to send title of Dictator.

his children and friends away from duty. The voice of our country to-day as well as the voice of God calls upon us for sacrifices and self-denial. He is the true patriot who prepares to nake them whether at home or on the field of Malvern Hill.

In regard to the occupation of Malvern Hill by McClellan's troops last Wednesday, it apears that all the Generals of the army went up, and McClellan sent back for the greater part of his army, but the messengers took the wrong road, and thus delayed so long that the troops did not reach Malvern Hill until it was too late. This was on Wednesday morning, and on that day a great battle would have been fought had our forces arrived in season. But as some of them were approaching and in sight of Malvern Hill, there was a very large body of rebels seen coming from Richmond, numbering at least 100,000 men, filling all the woods, pasageways, and vacant lots as far as the eye could reach. A retreat was consequently made to Harrison's Landing. Gen. McClellan had planned for a great battle, but the enemy were not asleep, and have taken possession of Malvern Hill with an immense army.

Lieut. Dutton.

Lieutenant Henry M. Dutton, son of ex-Governor Dutton, of this city, is reported among the slain in the late battle. He graduated at Yale in the Class of 1857, and was esteemed by his classmates as a good scholar and a faithful friend. After graduating he studied law, and practised for a while at Middletown and subsequentiy at Litchfield. When the war came on ne volunteered, was commissioned as a Lieutenant, and has been with the 5th ever since its formation. He died on the battle-field fighting bravely. Our own sorrow at losing a classmate and friend cannot find fitting words for expres sion. To his bereaved parents we offer our most heart-felt sympathy.

Major Blake.

We have waited anxiously to learn the fate of Major Edward W. Blake, of this city. We fear that he, too, is among the slain in the late pattle. But a little more than a week since, he was among us, in the vigor of health, and manifesting the same enthusiasm in the war that he did in everything he undertook. He was a generous, brave, whole-souled man, and if it be God comfort the stricken friends.

Later accounts of the great battle of Saturday show unmistakably that the rebel General Jackson was foiled in his designs, and forced to abandon his operations, thus seriously impairing his prestige. After endeavoring in vain to few now required to complete the maximum num rout or drive Banks' corps, Jackson found himself compelled at night, by the rapid movements in front, to fall back to a strong defensive position in Cedar Mountain, and finding his line of retreat growing insecure, in the suceeding night he retreated altogether, retiring pevond Robertson's river, and again beyond the Rapidan. Gen. Pope's cavalry and artillery are in pursuit of him, but, as retreating is one of Jackson's favorite games, it is doubtful whether he will make a stand, unless forced to. He'll show fight if he has the odd card.

There are certain persons who find fault with ing our government, hitherto unfelt by most, the recent stringent orders of Secretary Stanton will become an actual burden to thousands of True, they are stringent, but these days are not families. As yet additional taxes have not days of peace. We are engaged in a war to been collected. But they have been imposed put down an unjustifiable and unrighteous reby act of Congress, and the tax-gatherer will bellion. The people know that the crisis will soon reveal to our people a system of revenue admit of no half way policy. Nothing but and did not arrive till 10 o'clock. The New Lon rigid measures will suffice : and what is more. to European nations. > Kadri Bey, a Turkish officer, late a captain in the Imperial body guard of the Sultan, has written a letter to the President tendering his services for the defense of the Union. As he has seen much actual service, and has been decorated five different times for bravery, it is very probable that the President will assign him to one of the staffs of our generals-perhaps of Gen. McClellan, who has been in Constantinople. Americans who visited Turkey on similar errands to that of Kadri Bey, received appointments from the Turkish government during the Items. The occupation of the "Local" like that of the far-famed Othello, is almost gone. In these days of var and tumult, there is no business that is lively except that of the recruiting officer; and the disconsolate Local rushes frantically about the city seeking items and finding none.

There was a fine display of meteors last evening. If this clear weather holds much longer, we may expect to see these displays continued. Just a year ago a similar exhibition occurred. The months of August and November are the occasions for the nost brilliant exhibitions of this character.

Roddy to state the facts thereto relating.

Mr. Roddy addressed Lieut. Kimball in behalf of the subscribers to the testimonial alluding with much feeling to the relations that had hitherto existed between the donors and the receiver of the gift, and the respect in which they regarded Mr Kimball, as he was now about to leave them to enter the service of their common country. The side door was then thrown open and a handome, powerful horse, finely caparisoned and adorned with ribbons and flowers, was led into the room. As the presentation took place on the floor of the second story of the building; the sudden appearance of the steed in that unexpected place msed some little surprise. The testimonial having been thus fitly presented Quartermaster Kimball mounted the horse, and rom the saddle returned thanks for the substantial and useful testimonial in an earnest speech, i which he reviewed briefly their former associations, nd spoke in a highly patriotic spirit of the duties another room where a table was handsomely will consider this question,

The Colonel declared that he went into the war with this one idea-to serve his country; and he felt sure that in twelve months, he hoped in six, victory would crown our banners, and the rebellion would

e put down. Speeches were also made by Quartermaster Kimall, Major Osborn, Capt. Bassett, Geo. F. Kimball. Jas. A. Punderford, Horace Hoadley, H. I. Kim ball, Henry B. Brown, A. S. It is evident that there are traiters there of the deepest dye, and we regret to be assured that even the Postmaster and first Selectman are among the number. These officials should at once be deposed.

A man from Middle Haddam called upon Dr. Jarvis, of Portland, the other day to obtain certificate. He stated his case, received what he came for, and started for home. About half way there, the wagon went off a bank by the roadside, turned out its contents, and the man's leg was broken. If the accident had happened on the way up, it would have saved him a quar-

Life Insurance.

The North American Life Insurance Com pany of New York, a new institution, propose to grant policies for the whole term of life, in sums not exceeding $3,000 on any one life, to all those able-bodied and healthy men between the ages of eighteen and forty-five, subject to the new draft. The terms for insurance are, the usual premium charged on an ordinary policy and two and a half per cent. extra to cover the chance of being drafted.

The last moments of Gen. McCook are recorded. As his flife was fast ebbing he recognized Capt. Burt of the Ohio 15th, and said to him: "Andy, the problem of life will soon be solved for me. The State and regimental flags, shattered and torn to shreds, were brought safely off by the brave men who had sworn to defend them.

We have just left the side of the wounded Capt Packer. He says the rebels occupied the attle-ground on Saturday night, and only with drew last evening at our advance, which ena bled him and many other wounded prisoners to escape. He says pillage was absolutely unforoidden, and the rebels, one and all, held carnival over the captured dead and wounded. He saw the dead body of Adjutant Smith stripped of everything-his arms and clothing, as well as his college-pin and ring, being stolen by th vampyres.

JACKSON IN FULL RETREAT.

CULPEPPER, Va., Aug. 12, 1862. The flight of Stonewall Jackson shows that he fears our troops. On Saturday he engaged with his whole force, numbering at least thirty thousand men, a portion of the corps of General Banks, who behaved most nobly, holding the enemy in check, and with the aid of one division of Gen. McDowell's and Gen. Sigel's corps, which arrived late in the day, driving the enemy from several positions, and finally from the field of battle.

Jackson's loss can scarcely be less than 1,500. Our loss was much less.

The battle was decidedly the bloodiest one of the war. On Sunday Jackson remained idle, the troops on both sides being exhausted. On Monday Jackson sent in a flag of truce asking leave to bury his dead, a large portion of which still lie on the field of battle, pending which he escaped with his trains.

This morning Jackson and his whole army was gone. Gen. Buford with his cavalry and artillery quickened Jackson's pace toward Gordonsville, compelling him to burn bridges to save himself. Jackson obviously does not intend to stop running until he reaches the rebel fortifications at Richmond. Gen. Pope has fully met the public expectations of him; the enemy now only show their backs to our forces in the valley of the Shenandoah, and the whole country from Manassas to Gordonsville is no longer polluted by the presence of armed rebels: Jackson's servant has just come into the quarters of Gen. McDowell and reports that his master admits a loss of over 2,000 men in the engagement of Saturday. No wonder the rebel
