Sports News

The basketball season is off to a flying start with the Bucks and Lakers leading the league 1&2 respectively. Led by the likes of "Face" Clemmons, "Pistol Pete" Jackson the Bucks are batting 1.000 but have yet to meet the Lakers .750 (3 & 1) led by Silky Smooth Jack Crumpton, Gray and Hall. The Hornets, coached by Macfarland, are still in contention, as they are struggling with a .500 average, and what seems to be a lean bench. (Only 8 players showed for Wednesday's game) As far as the Bullets and Knicks are concerned, round two promises to be a better one than the first, as the bullets have only won 1 game in 4 outings, and the Knicks (not of Madison Square Garden Fame) have had a totally fruitless first half, losing all four games.

LOTERIA

For the past week the gymnasium has been alive with the sound of punching bags being jarred and assailed by the constant rhythm of leather gloves. The C.C.I.S. Boxing Team has been graced with the presence of Eddie Owens, 4th ranking Light-Heavyweight contender, who is at present getting in shape for his upcoming bout with Jimmy Dupree of Jersey City, which will take place January 17th in Scranton, Pa. The 30 year old, 175 pounder has been sparring with some of our fighters here, including Eric Hodge, as well as both of the Huckaby brothers. Barring any difficulty incurred in the Dupree tiff, Eddie has his sights set on a shot at the always tough Bob Foster, who now holds the belt in the Light-Heavy Division.

RIGHT ON THINKING

The other day, I had the opportunity to spend the afternoon with the most important person in this institution. Namely, it was myself.

Being currently involved in the education program, I was somewhat displeased with the marks I received. This is why I decided to have a meeting with my mind. Believe me, it dealt with me proper, and showed no respect for my feelings whatsoever. If it were possible for, "Howard Cosell", I'm sure he would have summed up the bout as follows: The "question" moves swiftly to the mind; it is met with two jabs of solid cautiousness. The question countered with inquiries of right and wrongs. The mind absorbed the blows well with answers of, a series of combinational thoughts a vicious right idea, a left hook of motivation, a thunderous upper-cut of desire, and a flurrie of positive goals.

The question continues on gamely, though jabs of embarrassment is taking effect. Now, the question lands a solid right program to the mind, a dynamite left hook of awareness, another left hook of "control" of the "mind" a combination of effort and determination.

In that battle with the mind, I certainly learned quite a bit behind that bout. I do know that I will continue to keep "self" in shape, because if I don't "Right On Thinking" is in jeopardy.

As I previously stated in an earlier writing, "the first step of any journey, is the hardest. Each step thereafter is much easier than the first. Now that I am in a much better position to challenge my defeats; my goals should be met more readily. I'm not going to have another bout without "complete control of mind".

In order for me to stay in tip-top shape; will depend on how effective were the jabs of caution, the right and wrongs, the combination of thoughts, the vicious idea, left hook of motivation, the upper-cut of desire, flurries of positive goals. With the awareness, control of the mind, and concentrated effort and determination, I'm sure of a K.O. in "Right On Thinking".

EMPATHY UPFRONT

Keep On

By Clarence Love

There are going to be some days when nothing seems right, but so it is in all life. There will be days when nothing makes sense and everything is all confused, but don't give up my brothers, for that confusion is tomorrow's wisdom if you are strong and want it. You can not hesitate. You must remove all doubt of your ability to achieve or you will not only be swallowed up in your own confusion but you will become a stepping stone for greedy men moving fast towards their goals. To "Keep On" is to be patient and to be patient is to be strong, so "Keep On"...

The Room...

By: Robert Beardsley

When I'm in that room, my mind drifts and drifts. I think of all the bad I have done, I think of all the hurt I have felt.

And then my mind drifts; I think of the human race, I think of what they have done to me and me to myself. All the injustices, how they caused me to react and how I have reacted. And as I drift even farther, I think of my life and how shallow years spent in rooms like this.

All the hurt and all the guilt eating at my mind. Slowly, while I rot my mind weakens and then alas...the animal is born. He cares not, he feels not, he only lives for revenge. And then there is the tamer...the box, the gismo, the hole, solitary confinement. Another room where I do nothing but think.

Now the real creature comes forth. He has a knife in his back and his heart is torn along with his mind. Feelings... he has none. Numb in time and space and then one day, tormented and sick he is released, but to return to the room...

Once again his mind drifts and drifts, but this time he does not react.

Foot Notes

By: Harry Reed

As I come close to the end of my destination, I ponder over the many things that I have encountered along the way. I recall that some times the road was hard and cloudy. Changeable like the weather, shifting from one climate to another. But I will not drown you in that valley of despair where I traveled and lost hope, where I lost all identity because of the many years of confinement that conditioned me to be an enemy of myself. Rather I will tell you this; I wish I had come to the doors of Empathy House where men were striving to destroy those enemies that make them captives. Where are men are concerned about other men and the things that have made them the individuals they are. If you want to stay a healthy and normal person, come to the place where it's mandatory that men strive in a constructive manner to uplift themselves from those ideas that brought them here. Come to where you can strive for a better tomorrow, come to Empathy House. Help yourself and in the process of helping yourself helping others. I would like to conclude this with these few words: Don't get caught up in the midst of that valley of corruption.

The Wonders of You

BARBARA

Although you're far away
You're on my mind constantly

Night and day I see you

There beside me in my

Arms you lay, the wonders

Of you will never go away.

You make me laugh, you make me smile.

As time goes on, day by day

I'll soon be home and home to stay.

You are so thoughtful in everything

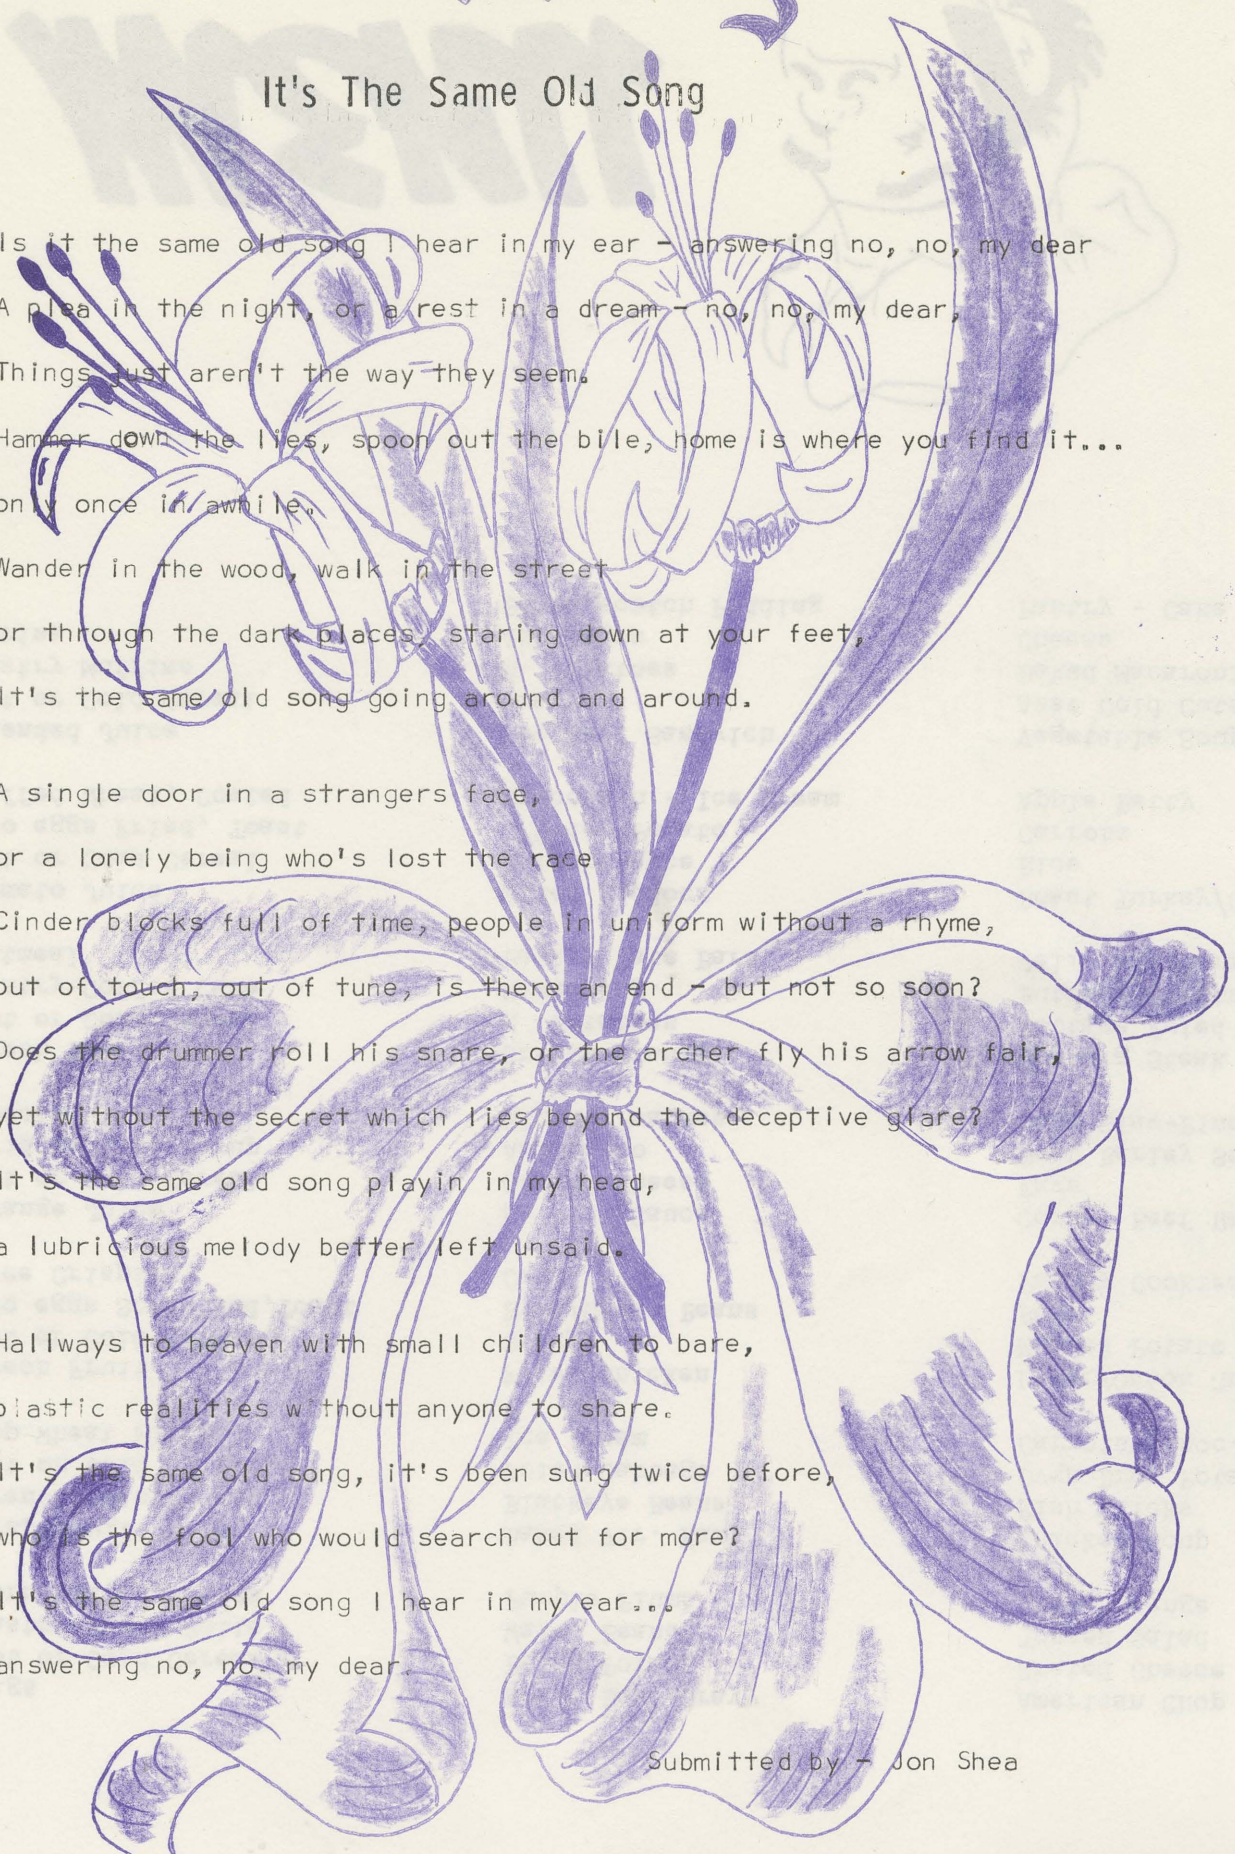

That you do, and that's why I can say

The Wonders of You.

Poetry

It's The Same Old Song

Is it the same old song I hear in my ear - answering no, no, my dear
A plea in the night, or a rest in a dream - no, no, my dear, Things just aren't the way they seem.
Hammer down the lies, spoon out the bile, home is where you find it...
only once in awhile.
Wander in the wood, walk in the street or through the dark places, staring down at your feet,
It's the same old song going around and around.

A single door in a strangers face,
or a lonely being who's lost the race
Cinder blocks full of time, people in uniform without a rhyme, out of touch, out of tune, is there an end - but not so soon?
Does the drummer roll his snare, or the archer fly his arrow fair, yet without the secret which lies beyond the deceptive glare?
It's the same old song playin in my head,
a lubricious melody better left unsaid.

Hallways to heaven with small children to bare,
plastic realities without anyone to share.
It's the same old song, it's been sung twice before,
who is the fool who would search out for more?
It's the same old song I hear in my ear...
answering no, no, my dear.
