

NEW MYSTERY IN NEW YORK

THE BODY OF A COLORED WOMAN FOUND ON SIXTH AVENUE.

Both Legs Were Cut Off Just Below the Knees—The Body Was Drained of Its Entire Supply of Blood—The Remains Have Not Been Identified, Though Viewed by Hundreds.

New York, March 31.—At 6 o'clock this morning a Mr. Phillips, in passing down Sixth avenue saw a suspicious looking bundle inside the railing in front of No. 75. He saw a human foot protruding from the covering. He immediately ran to a police station and told of his discovery.

The sergeant on duty sent two men with a stretcher to bring the bundle to the station house. The bundle was found to contain the dead body of a colored woman. Both legs were cut off just below the knees, and were placed alongside the hips, feet downwards.

Around the neck was a piece of pink gauze or cheesecloth, about five feet long, which was twisted to serve as a rope. This was knotted once over the windpipe and drawn so tightly that the skin was broken and a few drops of blood oozed out. The tongue was protruding, and it was evident that death had been caused by strangulation.

At the outer side of the right hip and extending to the lower part of the abdomen was a large and jagged gash. The right leg was cut in a slanting direction, as though the mutilator stood near the body and guided the saw (the instrument undoubtedly used) downward. There was a clean cut across the fibula about two inches from its articulation with the thigh bone. The left leg was cut straight across at the articulation.

Bloody serum oozed from the mouth of the dead woman. Her eyes were closed and looked as though she had been pulled down after death. The arms lay across the breast, tied with a section of clothes line. A slip noose was made over the left wrist, then passed around the right wrist. The rope was then passed around the body, pinning the arms closely to the chest, and the end secured in front in a double knot. On the body was a tightly fitting white cotton chemise, which was saturated with blood, when it had come in contact with the severed limbs. The only other garment on the body was a cheap, black cloth skirt. There was nothing to indicate the identity of the woman. She was apparently twenty-eight or thirty years old.

When found the body was wrapped in a large piece of cantor flannel of gold color, such as is used on a piano cover. Inside this was a carpet and a rug. On the chest was found a piece of silica of a purple color, sixteen inches square.

An important discovery in the estimation of Police Captain Delaney was that of a small bag of common table salt and a small bottle of fluid of a dark color. These, the captain thinks, may lead to the detection of the murderer. Soon after the body had been brought to the station house a crowd gathered and was allowed to view the remains, but none could throw any light on the dead woman's identity.

Captain Delaney detailed several officers on the case. He seemed to realize he had a most difficult task to find the perpetrator of the murder. It seemed evident the crime had been committed some distance from the place where the body was found. Colored people in large numbers live in streets near where the body was found.

The surprising thing is that the body could have been deposited where found without attracting attention. This is a busy part of the avenue, especially on Saturday night, even up to Sunday morning. The murder, the police think, was done in a house. They believe there must have been a large quantity of blood about the place where the cutting was done, as the body was drained of its whole supply of blood. The object of cutting off the legs, the police believe, was to place the body in a trunk, box or other small space for the purpose of carrying it away from the scene of the crime. The motive for the crime can only be conjectured. The victim's face was not that of a dissolute woman, though there were lines that told of suffering and trouble.

The colored people around the Ninth ward are greatly excited about the murder.

Two detectives went to Rahway, N. J., to-day in the hope of finding a clue to the identity of the murdered woman or the murderer. It was stated that a piece of brown paper bearing the name of Jane E. Surindel was found on the dead woman's clothing, but no person of that name is known in Rahway. About ten days ago it is said, a colored domestic named Mattie Ivory left Rahway for New York, since which time nothing has been seen of her.

It is claimed that the description of Mattie tallies closely with that of the murdered woman. Among Mattie Ivory's lovers, it is said, was a member of a colored minstrel troupe, who recently played in Rahway and who is believed to be at present in this city.

Up to a late hour to-night it was said that no tangible clue to the perpetrator of the crime had been found.

Drought Is Broken. Chicago, Ill., March 31.—The drought which has prevailed for a number of weeks in Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, and Michigan, was broken to-day by a heavy rainfall, causing a decided improvement in crop prospects. Rain continues to fall in Nebraska, Minnesota and the Dakotas.

Making Good Progress. London, March 31.—A Tokio dispatch to the Central News says that Dr. Scriba, of the Imperial university, to-day examined Li Hung Chang's wound and found that the patient was making excellent progress. His pulse and temperature were normal, and he was able to walk about his rooms.

AGAINST Bimetallism.

An Agitation Is Now on Foot Among the Agrarians in Berlin.

Berlin, March 31.—The agrarians on the reichstag committee having in hand Count Kantitz's grain monopoly bill propose to bring forward the question of converting the imperial bank. This was purely a government department. During the debate on the appropriations they attacked Dr. Koch, the Imperial bank's president, as a gold bug. They said the bank should be nationalized. Koch told them he would not alter the bank's policy and he declined to resign. He also disparaged their efforts to get together another international silver conference. The ministers took no part in the debate.

The social-democratic leaders have begun an agitation against bimetallism. William Liebknecht led a meeting in the sixth electoral district that bimetallism was a swindle and that the ideal money was paper. Gold and silver were mere commodities, he said, but if one of them must be chosen gold was immeasurably the better of the two. At several social-democratic meetings in the last week the speakers emphasized the statements that the socialists wished to do away with the big capitalists, and for the present must let the small fry bourgeoisie go. Deputy Legien started a meeting last evening, however, by declaring that socialism must fight also the small tradesmen and artisans. He was hissed.

Sentenced for Life. London, March 31.—A dispatch from Tokio to the Central News says that Koyama, the Japanese who shot Li Hung Chang, the Chinese viceroy, has been sentenced to imprisonment for life at hard labor.

Shot and Killed His Wife. Fort Recovery, O., March 31.—Henry Thorne, owner of a stock farm, yesterday shot and killed his wife and then hanged himself. Thorne was insane because of financial troubles.

Was Taken Easily. London, March 31.—The Central News has advice from the Pescadore Islands under date of March 28. These dispatches state that Colonel It reports that on March 24 the Ma Kung fort was taken easily by the Japanese. On the 25th the Japanese attacked and captured Yent Tung, taking nine heavy guns and a number of smaller ones as well as many rifles and a large quantity of ammunition. In the engagement the Chinese lost thirty killed and sixty taken prisoners. The Japanese loss was seventeen wounded. The Japanese fleet captured the forts on the Fisher Islands and all the islands forming the Pescadore group are in possession of the Japanese.

Destroyed by Fire. Newark, N. J., March 31.—Fire destroyed the large Wainwright factory at Irvington this afternoon. Loss $40,000; insurance $23,000. The Merritt Novelty company's works and Noble Press works were each damaged to the extent of $3,000.

His Liabilities Heavy. San Francisco, March 31.—Edgar Cohen, son of the late A. A. Cohen, who was chief counsel of the Southern Pacific company, has failed with liabilities of $331,000. Cohen was a member of the commission firm of Walter A. Beck & Co., which recently assigned for about $400,000. The creditors are scattered all over the country, but the principal ones are in this city.

REPUBLICAN LEAGUE.

A Call Has Been Issued for the Annual Convention. Chicago, March 31.—President W. W. Tracy and Secretary A. B. Humphrey have issued a call for the eighth annual convention of the Republican National League at Cleveland June 3. The object of representation will be six delegates at large from each state and territory, four from each congressional district and one from each college republican league club.

The business of the meeting will include reports from the officers of the league, the election of officers, the designation of time and place for the next convention, a general discussion of league club work, party policies and organization, and the formation of a plan of campaign with special reference to the presidential year.

Was Fatally Burned. Bridgeport, March 31.—The child of Thomas Condon of Engine company No. 1, while playing about a bonfire on Saturday afternoon, was badly burned. She will probably die.

Will be a Hot Fight. Bridgeport, March 31.—The city election will be held in this city to-morrow and the fight will be a hot one along the lines laid down by the members of the A. P. A. and their opponents. On Saturday 1,444 women had been registered and the registering will go on all of to-day. The women will be used extensively in the voting for the candidates for positions on the board of education, and their votes will be directed with a view to defeating the A. P. A. candidates on the "Independent" republican ticket.

His Skull Fractured. Waterbury, March 31.—Charles Laudata was arrested to-day for a murderous assault upon Antonio Cianciulli, an Italian barber. The men had some difficulty and as Cianciulli was going home from his place of business on Jackson street last night, Laudata set upon him and with an iron bar fractured his skull and nearly broke his back. The injured man was removed to the hospital, where he lies in a critical condition. Laudata was apprehended this morning.

CONCERNS THE MINISTERS.

REV. W. F. DICKERMAN DISCUSSES THEIR HONESTY.

The secularization of the Church—Introduction of Business Methods—A Church Should Preserve Its Spiritual Dignity—Ministers and Holy Writ.

Rev. W. F. Dickerman, pastor of the Church of the Messiah, delivered a most thoughtful and instructive sermon last evening on the subject "Can a Minister be Honest?" before a large audience. He spoke in part as follows:

"I am not so sure about the sincerity of the minister. He is best by peculiar circumstances in the life of the present day. In Europe there is a statue of a monk which at a distance looks as though the priest was kneeling in prayer, but when one draws nearer the observer sees that the monk is really a minister does not always represent a minister does not always represent all that he might wish and desire. Under the black coat or gown is the same human nature.

"When I was in the Methodist ministry a Presbyterian minister approached me on Monday morning and asked me what the requisites for a Methodist minister were. I saw that he had some thought in mind and so I asked him what he thought they were. He replied, 'Ignorance, impudence and good lungs.' So I smiled and said nothing. But such an incident simply illustrates the feeling ministers often have towards each other, although they all claim to be laboring toward the same end.

"In these days churches have become secular. The minister has become a man of the world, mixed up in world strife. And so while the church has gone out into the world, it has been influenced by some of the world's baser elements. The church work has become business. The minister as well as a business man has become a hustler. Special music and entertainments of all sorts have been dragged into church work. There is not a church of the present day that depends entirely on its bare religious work. Existence would hardly be possible for a church without side shows and cunning devices to draw people to the church. The church has become a social institution and gets largely its vitality and power from the social side of its life, rather than from its religious doctrines. The church has come to rely less and less on its inherent spiritual vitality. But the church should support something of its spiritual dignity along the line of the employment of methods. Here churches are very liable to go astray. We have a notable instance of this in the introduction of the boys' brigade into the church. The church pretends to follow the teachings of Christ, and if anyone ever taught the doctrine of peace on every occasion, Christ did. Yet we observe in our time the spectacle of churches introducing a manual of arms, musketry and military terms and phrases. I saw the reason for this in a paper to-day, which stated that the young men had found away from the church so that something had to be done to keep them. That is to say, religion on its own merits had failed, and an appeal to arms is made—an appeal to the martial, combative spirit. This shows what desperate straits the church is sometimes driven to in order to show that Christianity upon its merits alone was futile.

"A minister becomes dishonest when he cares more about his salary than his work—when he is a mere hireling. The minister of to-day also has a peculiar theological environment. Everything in theological circles is in a state of flux. Ministers are either evading certain questions or else making use of adroit expressions which convey only half the truth. What they leave unsaid becomes conspicuous by its absence. I heard a lecturer before the students in the Yale Divinity school a few weeks ago say, 'You must admit, young gentlemen, the errancy of the Bible.' If that statement had been made three ten years ago it would have shaken the church as a valuable book and records the religious experiences of our brothers of the past, but they are not content with that. They want to ascribe magic to it. But we must remember that there was faith and hope in the human heart as well as religion long before any book was written."

LYON'S SUDDEN DEATH.

Expired From Heart Disease at His Home on Wooster Street.

A. S. Lyon, seventy-five years old, died suddenly at his home on Wooster street, near Olive, yesterday afternoon. His death was due to heart disease. Dr. M. A. Cremin was promptly notified, but before his arrival the man was dead. Dr. Cremin attempted to notify Medical Examiner White or Dr. Gustave Elliot, but both were away, and in consequence in order to comply with the law Coroner Mix was notified.

FELL FROM A TRAIN.

Bryan, O., March 31.—The track walker for the Lake shore road this morning discovered the body of a middle aged man lying alongside the track about a mile from the city. There was a deep bruise in the man's head, but the injury was not one that was likely to cause death. From papers found on the body the deceased is thought to be A. B. Sharkey of Danvers, Mass. It is supposed that he fell from a passing Lake Shore train.

ILL WITH APPENDICITIS.

John Maloney is seriously ill at his home on Chatham Street.

John Maloney, the well known manufacturer of fertilizer, is seriously ill at his home on Chatham street, suffering from appendicitis. He was taken sick last Tuesday and his condition last night was said to be critical. No operation for the removal of the vermiform appendix has yet been made, as the disease has not reached the stage for the operation to be made.

A WEDDING LAST EVENING.

A very quiet wedding took place at the residence of C. C. Kautz on St. John street last night. The contracting parties were Miss Clara Kautz and Mr. E. Fechter. The ceremony was performed by Rev. I. C. Meserve of Davenport church. Among those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Kautz, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Kautz, Charles C. Kautz, Mrs. L. B. Kautz, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Kautz, Mrs. Henry Fechter, Mrs. Alice Gilbert, Miss Theresa Smith, Mr. E. Howe, Miss Louise Beck, Mr. H. S. Norton, Mr. William Brown, Mr. Arthur Hill, Mr. Jno. Mang, Mr. and Mrs. Eger and daughter, Mr. Irving Kautz, Mrs. Gilbert and daughter of Meriden, Miss Edna Hyatt of Bridgeport, Mr. and Mrs. William Burrows of New York, Florence Burrows and Mrs. E. W. Bahringer, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Linde, Mr. Cyrus Custard, Mr. and Mrs. I. Y. Kuffman of Strandsburg, Pa.

AT THE SOLDIERS' HOME.

A delightful entertainment was given at the Fitch Home for Soldiers at Norton last Saturday evening. The program was as follows:

Piano Duet—Medley—Miss Doughty and Coe.
Recitation—"How Salvator Won"—Miss Miller.
Reading—Selected—D. W. Coe.
Piano Solo—"The Passing Regiment"—Miss Doughty.
Recitation—Selected—W. W. Lee, Jr.
Piano Solo—"Battle of Waterloo"—Miss L. M. Coe.
Recitation—"Whispering Billy"—Miss Miller.
Song—"Bent Bolt" with guitar accompaniment by Mrs. Holmes—Mr. R. A. Holmes.
Medley—Piano, Violin and Bones—Mrs. Coe, Dr. Brownson, Mr. Ford.

ONE ACT COMEDY.

By Thomas Morton.

IS IN A DELIRIUM OF JOY

GERMANY HAS GONE WILD OVER BISMARCK'S BIRTHDAY.

The Demonstration is Spontaneous and Not Since the Surrender of Sedan Have Such Scenes Been Enacted—The Ex-Chancellor is Honored at All Parts of the Empire.

Friedrichshagen, March 31.—A beautiful sunny afternoon brought thousands to the castle gates, where they vainly sought admittance to the park in the hope of catching a sight of the ex-chancellor. Dr. Chryssander, in view of the great crowds that have recently thronged to admit the public, Prince Bismarck did not take his customary walk to-day, but had a short stroll around the park to gather strength for to-morrow. Fallsades had been erected behind the park to prevent marauders from intruding upon the privacy of the ex-chancellor. Beer and champagne booths have been put up on the right and left of the station for the accommodation of visitors. Along the triumphal way to the castle gates are numerous beflagged poles surmounted by garlands of fir. Numberless presents of all conceivable kinds continue to arrive from all parts. Prince Bismarck will rest to-morrow until 10 a. m.; then he will take breakfast alone with his family. At noon he will receive the cuirassiers of Magdeburg, the rectors of the universities and other officials who will come to offer congratulations. He will not make an address, but one of the delegation of students will deliver a long oration for the prince's education. After 7 o'clock no one will be received. At 8 o'clock the torchlight procession will take up its march. Count Herbert and Count William, Prince Bismarck's sons, with their families, arrived last night, and Dr. Schweninger came to-day.

A heavy rain storm which came up suddenly at 2 o'clock made the roads in the Sachsenwald almost impassable. The crowds quickly dispersed and stormed the trains for Hamburg, but a small knot of the ex-chancellor's admirers remained steadfastly planted at the castle.

Berlin, March 31.—Responsible newspapers venture few remarks on the report that the emperor went so far a week ago as to sign a decree dissolving the reichstag. The Frankfurter Zeitung said on Thursday that the emperor decided fully after the anti-Bismarck vote to order a new election, but was unable to get the necessary support from the federal council. Not only the envoys of other governments, but even the minority of the Prussian ministers were opposed to a dissolution.

That the Bismarck demonstration is spontaneous is beyond a doubt. Since the surrender at Sedan the country has not been in such a delirium of joy.

The Empress Frederick has sent a long autograph letter to Bismarck. The letter is calculated to heal the wounds left by the feud between emperor and chancellor during Emperor Frederick's short reign.

Rudeshelm, March 31.—At noon today the people of the Rhein valley united in honoring Bismarck at the national monument on the Niederwald. Conservatives, national liberals and centrists took part in the ceremonies. A large number of men had been at work decorating the scene, but a stormy southwest wind and several days of rain delayed them greatly. It was found to be quite impossible to decorate the houses on Rhine street, which were flooded with six inches of water yesterday and it was difficult to communicate with the left bank of the river. The people of Rudeshelm placed on the national monument a laurel wreath on which was inscribed "A Grateful Rhineland."

The ceremonies began at 10 o'clock when a party of prominent people arrived at Niederwald. The first president of Hesse-Nassau made the opening speech and gave a toast to the emperor. This was followed by the singing of the national anthem. Prof. Oken from Gassen made an address eulogistic of Bismarck, which was followed by the singing of "Deutschland ueber Alles" and the "Kaiser Wilhelm and Fuerst Bismarck" march concluded the morning's program.

In the afternoon there was a promenade concert from 3 to 5 on Rhine street, with kommers being held in the hall, the principal features being a toast to the emperor, a speech on the achievements of Bismarck and a song in honor of the ex-chancellor. At 8 o'clock there was a general illumination.

Frankfort-a-Main, March 31.—Last night the Saalbu was crowded with guests on the kommers in honor of Bismarck. Hans Blum of Leipzig and Prof. Rohrbuss of Heidelberg were the orators. To-day the festivities were continued. A feature of the celebration was the uncovering of a memorial tablet in the house of Grosse Gallus strasse, where Bismarck dwelt when Prussian ambassador to the German diet in 1852.

Festivities in honor of Prince Bismarck were held yesterday in Wittenberg, Essenrühr, Brunswick and Posen.

ILLNESS OF SHERIFF HOLLIS.

The public will regret to learn of the illness of ex-City Sheriff Hollis at his advanced age of ninety. It is feared that he will not recover. His son, Theodore Hollis, is with him at his home on Lafayette street. The difficulty appears to be extreme feebleness.

WILL REMOVE.

The Charles W. Scranton company, investment brokers, now occupying quarters on Center street, will shortly remove their offices into the new Hubinger building on Chapel street. The location is central and very desirable in many ways. The offices will be found on the second floor front and very accessible to all who may require the services of the company.

FAIR HAVEN.

A Pleasant Party To-night—Aid for Nebraska Sufferers—Sexton Siebert Has Resigned—Funeral of Mrs. Drew—Farewell Services by a Loved Pastor—The Coming Departure of Rev. Mr. Hand.

A pleasant affair takes place this evening at the residence of Mr. Miles Tuttle, No. 110 South Front street. A supper will be served and covers laid for ten.

The Young Ladies' Missionary society of the Grand avenue Congregational church, who recently gave a pound party for the benefit of the Nebraska sufferers, were much pleased over the generous response. Every one brought a pound at least of something desirable and useful for the cause, and some much exceeded the minimum limit. In addition $48 in cash were received. The proceeds were forwarded on Saturday.

Frederick Siebert, for eight years the sexton of the Fair Haven cemetery, has resigned, the resignation taking effect to-day. Mr. Siebert has made an excellent sexton, performing his duties with great efficiency and fidelity. During his term he has excavated nearly 800 graves and was able to be present at all but one of the interments. He succeeded the late Lester Mabry, the sexton for thirty years.

At the Grand avenue Congregational church yesterday the pastor, Rev. J. Lee Mitchell, preached in the morning on the topic "The Growth of a Temptation to a Passion," and in the evening his theme was "The Girding of the Yoke."

Preceding the sermon at the Grand avenue Baptist church yesterday morning Rev. Dr. Sage gave an interesting prelude on "The Month of Missions." The morning subject was "The Medium and Vehicle of Atonement" and in the evening "Doing Better Than Saying."

The Life of Our Lord was the subject of an illustrated sermon at the Second Congregational church by the pastor, Rev. D. M. James, last evening.

The funeral of Mary A., widow of the late Stephen M. Drew, was conducted yesterday afternoon from the residence of her son-in-law, Henry Hulce, on Quinipiac street. The interment was in the Evergreen cemetery. The deceased was eighty-six years of age.

Rev. J. H. Hand completed his third year as pastor of the East Pearl street M. E. church yesterday. The annual conference, which begins its sessions at Stamford this week, will assign him to another field and send another minister to the East Pearl street church. While the present rule of the Methodist church permits a minister to remain pastor of a church five years, the East Pearl street church has adhered to the old three-year rule. Mr. Hand has been popular and highly esteemed and his removal to another field is regretted.

As it was the last time that he was to preach in the East Pearl street church, there were large congregations at both services yesterday. Mr. Hand leaves for conference to-morrow. On the evening of Wednesday, April 16, he will be given a farewell reception at the church under the auspices of the Epworth league.

Captain Lawrence O'Brien, contractor for the new Grand avenue school house, has begun demolishing the old building. Saturday afternoon Captain O'Brien pulled down the tower of the school house and fully 1,000 persons gathered around in the vicinity to watch the destruction of the old landmark. Contractor O'Brien's men fastened three ropes to the tower, which stood about twenty feet above the roof of the school house. The ropes were held by the citizens caught hold of the ropes and when everything was ready they tugged and tugged. Soon the frame structure on the roof began swaying and in a few moments fell over the side walls. The crashing of the timbers made a loud noise that was heard for blocks away. A portion of the brick wall on the east side came with it and after it fell a cloud of mortar dust and debris filled the air.

RUNAWAY IN FAIR HAVEN. A horse attached to milk wagon, the property of William I. Messick of Center street in the annex, was startled by the breaking of a shaft bolt and ran away yesterday. The boy who was driving the horse until employees at the Fair Haven and Westville Railroad company barn stopped it.

Amateur Baseball. The McKee Newsboys' baseball club would like to play any newsboys' baseball team in this city. Address, Able Wasserman, care of John McKee, State street.

A LARGER CHURCH NEEDED.

Grace M. E. Church's Prosperity—Doubled in Membership of Late.

Rev. Frank A. Scofield preached a very eloquent sermon last evening, closing the conference year at the Grace M. E. church. He chose for his text "Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sins of the world." Mr. Scofield spoke of the enormity of sin, the hatred God bears to it and the necessity of atoning for it. He spoke very earnestly and feelingly.

At the end of his sermon the congregation gathered around and held a social meeting.

The church is in a very prosperous condition. The membership is very large, there being five hundred full members and one hundred and four probationary members. The church has doubled in membership under Pastor Scofield's pastorate. The Sunday school is very large and a larger church is already imperatively needed. There is considerable talk as to enlarging the church. During the year there have been 130 conversions to membership.

There were 350 scholars at the Sunday school yesterday, and the average attendance has been 300.

The church is in good condition financially. The Y. P. S. C. E. is in especially good condition and is rapidly growing.

Rev. Mr. Scofield leaves this morning for the conference in Stamford. He will return to-morrow evening. He is to remain at Grace M. E. church next year and is a great favorite with his people.

IMMENSE ELECTRIC ROAD.

ONE TO BE CONSTRUCTED BETWEEN CHICAGO AND NEW YORK.

It will be on the Elevated Plan and Will be Used for the Transportation of Freight and Grain—Building Operations to Begin Soon.

Chicago, March 31.—The InterOcean Electric Railway company incorporated yesterday proposes to construct an elevated electrical freight railway between Chicago and New York for the transportation of coal and grain. John W. King, one of the incorporators, said yesterday:

"The road is a decided step in advance of the electrical roads operated at present. Electricity is cheaper as a motive power than steam, and renders a much higher rate of speed possible. By elevating our road we expect to do away with the necessity of buying a dirt of way, and all delays incident to surface traffic will be avoided. At present it takes six days for freight to travel from Chicago to New York. On the new road the trip will take one day. The road will have its own telegraph and telegraph lines, and it is proposed in time to extend the line to San Francisco.

"A number of American and, I think, several foreign capitalists are interested in the road, and building operations will begin soon. A number of new inventions in electrical transportation will be used by the road."

GROUND SOCIETY.

The rehearsal to-night—An Important Meeting.

The Ground rehearsal to-night at Harmonic hall will be exceedingly interesting, as Mr. Agramonte intends to go through the entire score of St. Paul. It will be a constructive rehearsal and therefore a very important one to the chorus. Every member ought to be present. There will be but three more rehearsals and the public will not be admitted to the last two. The production of this great work of Mendelssohn, which has not been heard here in thirty years, is claiming much attention. The selection of the soloists as announced last week has given universal satisfaction. It is the intention of the society to try and give the oratorio in the most thorough and artistic manner and commensurate with its importance.

NEW YORK EAST CONFERENCE.

All Methodist Young People's Societies Invited to the Anniversary Exercises To-morrow Evening.

The New York East conference of the Methodist Episcopal church will meet this week at Stamford, Conn. The conference includes all that part of Connecticut west of the Connecticut river, as well as that within the bounds of the state of New York. The anniversary of the Epworth league and other young people's societies will take place during the evening of Tuesday, April 2. At this time the district presidents will make five-minute addresses concerning the work upon their respective districts, and the Rev. A. S. Kavanaugh will deliver an address. It is intended to close the formal exercises a little after 9 o'clock. Then a social meeting will be held, at which Bishop Henry Warren of Denver, Col., will speak. The members of all Methodist young people's societies are cordially invited to attend these exercises without further invitation. Half-fare return rates will be furnished, and trains will leave for New Haven at 8:21 and 10:55 p. m.

GRAND SACRED CONCERT.

Given by the Dorset Lodge Last Evening—A Fine Program Delightfully Rendered.

A grand sacred concert was given last evening in Harugard hall by the Dorset lodge, No. 2, assisted by St. Cecilia Singing society. It was for members only, and their friends, and admittance was by cards of invitation. Mr. Frank Pichtl was conductor and acted most ably. The following is the program which was delightfully rendered:

Overture—Rossmunde..... Schubert
Orchestra.
Ballet music from "Faust".....Gosnod
Orchestra.
"Auf dem Weibe".....Richard Wolf
Gesang-Verein Caelella.
Descriptive Fantasia—"A Hunting Scene".....
Orchestra.
Wagner—"Lohengrin".....Joh. Strauss
Conducted by Bro. M. Steiner.
Potpourri—"Rehearsal from the Metropolitan Opera House".....
Orchestra.
a. "La Toupe".....E. Gillet
b. "Patrouille Enfantine".....
String Orchestra.
"Kreuzfahrt".....Carl Attnehofer
Gesang-Verein Caelella and Orchestra.
March—"Inauguration"..... Moszkowski
Orchestra.

Mr. Steiner led the orchestra in Johann Strauss' waltz "Lohengrin." Mr. Steiner officiated at the earnest and united request of the members of the lodge, and they were all greatly pleased when Mr. Steiner assented. This is the first time in quite a long period that Mr. Steiner has led a New Haven orchestra in many years, and he was loudly applauded.

Several Buildings Destroyed.

Fawtucket, R. I., March 31.—At 12:15 Rock, four miles from here, two dwellings, a barn and some outbuildings were totally destroyed by fire to-day afternoon. The house of Charles Miller caught from a brush fire set by boys and was burned to the ground. None of the contents were saved. The adjoining farm house on the Colonel Walcott farm, occupied by Henry Steiner and family, caught fire from flying embers and was soon wrapped in flames. A strong wind carried the fire to the barn and small buildings and all were destroyed.

LOCAL NEWS JOTTINGS.

Professor S. E. Wardell and wife of Orange, N. J., are spending a few weeks with Mr. Wardell's mother, Mrs. M. T. Wardell of 38 Kimberly avenue. Mr. Wardell is director of the manual training school at Orange.

George L. Streeter of East Orange, N. J., formerly a Chapel street jeweler, this city, is recovering from a two weeks' illness.

John Maloney, the well known manufacturer of fertilizer, is seriously ill at his home on Chatham street, suffering from appendicitis. He was taken sick last Tuesday and his condition last night was said to be critical. No operation for the removal of the vermiform appendix has yet been made, as the disease has not reached the stage for the operation to be made.

A very quiet wedding took place at the residence of C. C. Kautz on St. John street last night. The contracting parties were Miss Clara Kautz and Mr. E. Fechter. The ceremony was performed by Rev. I. C. Meserve of Davenport church. Among those present were:

BICYCLE BELLS NOT RUNG.
COMPLAINT MADE THAT ORDINANCE IS NOT ENFORCED.

Riders Do Not Ring Their Bells at Crossings as Required—Several Accidents Have Resulted in Consequence—Police Should Receive Instructions to Enforce the Law.

Numerous complaints are being heard on all sides to the effect that the ordinance of bells on bicycles is being most flagrantly violated every day, and although several instances of such violations have been reported to the proper authorities, no arrests have been made, and apparently no action taken in the matter.

The ordinance in question was proposed by Alderman Weil last year and it was finally adopted and took its place among the ordinances of the city. The ordinance reads as follows:

There shall be attached to every bicycle or tricycle ridden by any person within the limits of the city of New Haven a bell of sufficient power to be heard at a distance of one hundred feet, and any person riding such bicycle or tricycle shall ring such bell whenever he approaches within thirty feet of any crosswalk or cross street within said city. Any person violating this ordinance, or any part thereof, shall be fined a sum not exceeding $25.

When this ordinance was first adopted the police were instructed in reference to it and for some time its provisions were rigidly lived up to, but lately, so the complainants say, there has been a laxity on the part of the riders in complying with the ordinance and on the part of the police in enforcing its provisions. As a result of this numerous accidents have been narrowly averted and several painful accidents have occurred.

The complaint is made that the bicycle riders do not ring the bell, as required by the ordinance, within thirty feet of the street crossings, and in fact that the majority of riders do not ring the bell at all, and those who do only do so when either on the crossing or within a very few feet of it. They argue that the ordinance should either be lived up to or repealed, and the police department could be instructed to arrest each and every offender against the provisions of the ordinance.

In speaking of the subject yesterday a well known resident said: The ordinance is practically a dead letter now, although at first its provisions were rigidly lived up to. Any one can stand at the corner of almost any street in the city and notice the state of this ordinance. When Alderman Weil first introduced the resolution it provided that bicycles and tricycles should be equipped with bells and lanterns, the latter to be used at night as an additional safeguard. For some reason the court of common council left out the provisions for lanterns, but adopted that portion of the resolution relating to the ringing of bells.

Even this, however, is not enforced at present and the police do not seem to make any effort to have it enforced. I have seen patrolmen stand on the corners and see a bicycle go by without the bell having been rung and yet have made no attempt to either caution or arrest the rider. Only a short time ago a lady who had been waiting for a street car and was about to step into it was run down by a bicycle rider and seriously injured, being almost thrown under the car. The rider did not ring his bell, as required by the ordinance, and was not even man enough to stop to see whether the victim of his criminal negligence was seriously injured or not. This is but one instance, but I could cite several. The ordinance is a good one and should be rigidly enforced, and unless it is serious accidents will, in my opinion, be the result of its non-enforcement. Now is the season of the year when it is proper to look after this matter, and the police should be so instructed. If it cannot be enforced let it be repealed, for there are now altogether too many "dead letters" among the ordinances of the city.

PERSONAL JOTTINGS.

Arthur L. Bristol, organist at Grace church, Fair Haven, has been engaged as organist at St. James' church for the year commencing May 1.

Rev. S. H. Bray, formerly of this city, began a series of revival meetings in Milford yesterday.

Josephine Davis, a middle-aged colored woman from West Haven, informed the Bridgeport police Saturday that her husband had deserted her. She thought he was in that city with another woman, who disappeared a few days after he went away. The woman had formerly lived with Mr. and Mrs. Davis.

President Galpin of the New Haven Clock company continues to improve and it is expected he will be able to depart on his trip to Florida.

Horace P. Shares, the brick manufacturer, is expected home this week from his winter's stay in Florida.

Jeweler J. H. G. Durant is in New York city last week representing the Connecticut Jewelers' association, and together with Mr. Newton Dexter, a prominent leader in the reformatory movement of importance to the trade, visited most of the leading clock depots in that city on business connected with the association.

J. Rice Winchell was on Saturday appointed special deputy in the New Haven custom house by H. H. Babcock, just appointed collector. Mr. Winchell is the retiring collector.

Frank E. Beach, formerly city editor of the Waterbury American and recently proprietor of the Southbridge Mass. Journal, takes a position April 1 as editor and business manager of the Berkshire Courier at Great Barrington, Mass.

United States Treasurer Morgan is on a flying visit to Bridgeport.

Adolph Vogenitz, a Russian, twenty years old living with his parents on Washington street, was taken into custody early Saturday morning by Officer McKoon, as he had attempted to kill his entire family. Vogenitz arose about 6 o'clock, and arming himself with a big carving knife started in to cut his father's and mother's throats. His father and mother were killed.

A Word for the Editor.

To the Editor of the JOURNAL AND COURIER.

There's a pleasant old proverb that kissing goes by favor. No one questions the proverb, though they may secretly wonder at the favor. But if kissing goes by favor, accepting articles for publication in our big dailies does not.

Favoritism in editing is nonsense. If the story is a good one, whether it's bimetailism or cats, you may be sure the editor is as glad to get it as you are to give it to him, but he must be the judge. If he pronounces it "unavailable," quite the politest way of putting it, why, then it's a comfort to remember that the editor after all is only a man. Try another editor; luckily for some of us, they don't all think alike.

But it's just this way with him. Someone must decide. There must be one head. A newspaper can no more be edited by a committee than a ship can be steered by universal suffrage. If this head finds too many good stories "unavailable" and poor stories "available," he will soon cease to be available himself as an editor, that's all.

There's only one story for you, one poem, but bless you, it's hundreds of stories and hundreds of poems for the editors. Every time you are sending off your fat envelopes there are ninety-nine others doing the same thing, and all but nine enclose a little explanatory note.

There are so many reasons why a particular article should be accepted, so many reasons aside from its possible merit, that it is perhaps as well the editor does not get them all first hand.

The editor, as I have said, is but a man, and if papa is laid up with lumbago and brother Arthur obliged to work instead of study, if the cow must go for taxes or the piano for rent, he might be tempted—might let heart act for head. If it were not for the man in between, the man who does the wedding, he might accept these articles, not because they were good, but because of the cow or the piano or papa's lumbago.

A pet scheme of mine is a corner grocery where poor people could get small quantities in fair proportions; that is, if a man couldn't afford $6 for a barrel of flour, he could get a sixth of a barrel for 37 1/2 cents. But a newspaper run in the interest of suffering humanity—that's another matter.

We might find a tender hearted editor, and not go so far afield either, but after he had pitifully accepted these contributions and saved the cows and the piano because he had lost a leg, and another because he had lost a situation would there be enough of a tender-hearted public to back him up?

How long would "supporting a bedridden mother," in a foot note, atone for senseless editorials, or garbled accounts of the city's happenings be endured because the writer had only one leg?

A newspaper is no more a charitable organization than a corner grocery, and the editor who accepts a poor article because the writer is starving betrays the public trust as much in principle as the bank president who gambles with the funds in his bank.

As it is the editor gets ten kicks to one kiss. In all the waste of matter he is called upon to read words of approbation are in the minority. There is generally some one who could do the thing in hand better. No doubt you could do it better yourself.

It looks sometimes as if the man didn't live who couldn't beat an editor at running a paper—the editor knows this; he is usually a most modest man; he is only running it because the other man hasn't time. So don't let that detain you from praise when praise is due.

A Visit Here by the National Council and a Reception.

The national council of the Daughters of Liberty, J. H. Focht, was pleasantly entertained Saturday evening by the members of the several different councils of the city at the office of the national secretary, W. O. Staples, 757 Chapel street.

Mr. Staples introduced the national council, who responded in his usual charming manner.

During the evening Robert R. Russell, in behalf of the different lodges, presented Brother Focht with a very handsome souvenir spoon.

Within the past week Brothers Focht and Staples have been organizing state councils of the Daughters of Liberty in New Jersey, Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New Hampshire, and the coming week they are to organize one in New York state.

Refreshments were served during the evening and all went away wishing Brother Focht success in his work.

Yale, 14; Wesleyan, 2.

Yale opened the baseball season Saturday afternoon, meeting Wesleyan in this city in a game of six innings. For three innings the match was even, and marked by good playing, but the cold, raw wind then rendered clean work impossible, and wild throws were frequent. Carter and Greenway did good work. Redington played well at second. Yale's new players did poorly. Wesleyan's team work was inferior. The score was: Yale 14, Wesleyan 2.

NEWS FROM THE CHURCHES.

INTERESTING FEATURES OF RELIGIOUS SERVICES YESTERDAY.

Semi-Centennial at St. Paul's Parish—Will be fittingly celebrated—Dr. Twitchell's Return From the Bermudas—Corner Stone Laying of St. John's P. E. Church—Thirty-one Confirmed Yesterday—Easter Music at Trinity P. E. Church—Close of Several Pastorate—The New Jewish Synagogue.

This month of April brings the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of St. Paul's parish, and it is very fitting that notice should be taken of the completion of a half century of parochial life. In 1840 the fiftieth anniversary of the consecration of St. Paul's chapel was observed. The bishop, the four former rectors of the parish, Rev. Dr. Cooke, Bishop Littlejohn, Rev. Mr. Drown and Rev. Dr. Lobdell were present. All are still living. The company of men and women who made that former anniversary a joyful one by the removal of a burdensome church debt, has been sadly broken by death.

The meeting at which St. Paul's parish was organized was held in the parsonage street lecture room April 5, 1845. Thirty-six persons signed the articles of association and Mr. John C. Hollister was elected parish clerk. On Wednesday evening, April 9, in the school room of Mr. Sidney A. Thomas, corner of Olive and Wooster streets, the first officers of the new parish were elected, Messrs. N. Farren Clarke and Nathan Smith, wardens; Messrs. Truman Woodward, James F. Babcock, John C. Hollister, Elias Pierpont, William A. Reynolds, Charles Hooker, Charles Peterson, Sidney A. Thomas, Stephen A. Farlee, William R. Elliott, Russell H. Chicklin, respectively. The parish was admitted into union with the diocesan convention, June, 1845. The commemoration will be after Easter under the care of the church club. Mr. Hollister has been asked to prepare an historical paper and to tell the story of the parish. No further arrangements have been made.

ANNUAL PARISH MEETING.

The annual parish meeting will be held Monday evening, May 6, in the parish house. The annual reports of the officers will be made. The condition of all funds is stated and information is given concerning the business affairs of the church. The officers of the new year are elected.

PALM SUNDAY AT ST. PAUL'S.

The St. Paul's church paper says: On Palm Sunday (next Sunday) the morning prayer will be at 9:30, and litany, confirmation and holy communion at 10:30 a. m., with the Sunday school and evening service at the usual hours. The morning offering will be for diocesan missions. Two hundred and sixty dollars ($260) must be raised by June 1. It is not a large sum for our people if they were interested in caring for the diocese for Connecticut. It is a large sum as the matter stands. The people must give generously on Palm Sunday and the societies must help out on Easter day. As the offering on the first Sunday in the month goes to the diocesan missions, the offerings on Good Friday will be the alms usually received at the holy communion.

HOME FROM THE BERMUDAS.

Rev. Dr. J. E. Twitchell, pastor of the Dwight Place church, arrived in New York Saturday from the Bermudas, where he has been spending a couple of weeks. He occupied his pulpit yesterday morning and after the service was greeted by his many friends and parishioners. He reports a most enjoyable journey. He was accompanied by Mrs. F. F. Andrew and his daughter, Miss May Twitchell.

In the evening Professor F. K. Sanders of Yale university gave a lecture on "Early Oriental Civilizations and the Light They Throw Upon the Bible." It was illustrated with stereoscopic views. There was a large attendance present.

AT EPWORTH M. E. CHURCH.

Large congregations were present at the services at this church yesterday, and many regrets were expressed by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Cooper, who now goes to another pastorate. The pulpit was beautifully decorated with flowers.

BISHOP WILLIAMS AT TRINITY—THIRTY-ONE CONFIRMED.

Bishop Williams of the diocese of Connecticut administered the rite of confirmation to thirty-one candidates at Trinity P. E. church yesterday morning. A large congregation assembled to hear him speak and witness the impressive services. The bishop's text was St. John 12:32—"And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me."

He spoke in part as follows: "We stand under the shadow of the cross. The death of our Saviour was a sacrifice for all mankind. And yet, if there were no commentary on the words I read in the scripture we would say: What power is there in an ignominious death to draw us to Him?"

"Put yourself for a moment beside the cross. There is the King who for six long hours paid for our sins with drops of His own blood. Then come down to the present time. Nearly 1900 years have passed since that scene was looked upon by human eyes. But is not His prophecy true? Not that every man has been drawn to the cross, but there have been some from every nation, from every clime and from every tongue."

"There have been hours when we have repented, we have drawn near to a medium to draw us close to God. We have felt the need of some one to take God's hand and our hands and bring them together. We realize the fact that these wants are felt. Is it strange then that we should seek the remedy for them? And when the remedy has been found we can truthfully say that we have found comfort, consolation, and rest in God's eternal truths."

CORNER STONE LAYING NEXT SATURDAY.

An occasion of great interest to the parishioners of St. John P. E. church and to Episcopalians of the city in general will be the laying of the corner stone for the new St. John's church at the corner of Orange and Humphrey streets. The impressive event will occur next Saturday at 3:30 o'clock. The work on the church, which is to be a very beautiful one, has been rapidly pushed forward and a substantial idea of what the church will be may be had at the services.

Bishop Williams is to officiate and the occasion will doubtless be a very impressive one.

THE NEW SYNAGOGUE.

Work has been commenced on the new synagogue for congregation B'Nai Schalom on Olive street, between Court and Greene streets, and will be rapidly pushed forward. The property on which the new church is to be located was a part of the Jacob Heller estate. The large house, which has stood on the property, is to be moved back to be used as a residence for the pastor. The new church will be built on the site where the house formerly stood. It will be constructed of brick with brown stone trimmings. It will have a seating capacity of 500. The new church will be ready of occupancy by the congregation by September 1. The corner stone will be laid in about three weeks and the members of the congregation and the societies connected with the synagogue will march in a body from the present house of worship on William street to the new building on Olive street to attend the ceremonies.

CATHOLIC MISSION.

Rev. Fathers De Cantenon, Cilroy and Kiernan have completed, at St. John's Catholic church one of the most successful missions ever held among the Catholic churches in New Haven. The church has been overcrowded at all the services. Yesterday at the 10:30 mass the mission for men began. It will continue for one week. Services will be held at 5 a. m., 8 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Extra services will be held for the children. Rev. Father Bray expresses himself as greatly gratified. Professor Hughes will be organist at this church the coming year. He comes here from the cathedral at Hartford.

TRINITY P. E. CHURCH—EASTER MUSIC.

Following is the program of Easter music for Trinity P. E. church: TRINITY CHURCH. Easter Sunday. Communion at 6:30 a. m. Kyrie, Sanctus; O Salutaris; Gloria In Excelsis—Second Messe des Orpheonistes—Gounod. For Male Voices Only. Service at 10:30 a. m. Processional—"Sound the Loud Timbrel"—"Christ Our Passover"—"Te Deum"—"Agnus Dei"—Baker Offering from the Messiah—Hallelujah! Hallelujah!—Handel Kyrie; Sanctus; Gloria In Excelsis—In A. Recessional—F. H. Cheswright Evening Service 7:30 p. m. Same Processional and Recessional. Magnificent Nunc Dimittis—In A. Slander Against the King—Barbary CLOSED HIS SECOND PASTORATE LAST NIGHT.

Rev. S. W. Tolles, pastor of the Summerfield M. E. church, ended his pastorate there last night. He came first to the church in 1878 and staid three years and was away nine years and was called back in April 1895, and staid until the present time. The present membership of the church is nearly two hundred. Nearly one hundred new members have been added during his stay, an actual net gain of fifty. All has been harmonious between the pastor and members, everything running along very smoothly. Four years ago the talk of building the church was begun and money was raised. The corner stone was laid in August, 1891. The church was dedicated in 1892. The cost of the church was $31,000, $13,000 having been subscribed and when the pledges are in the debt will be about $18,000. There have been very few deaths if the church. Mr. Tolles has married over sixty couples during his present pastorate, not all of whom were members of his church. The average attendance in the Sunday school is 200. The Epworth league has a membership of 100. The Ladies Aid society has raised during Mr. Tolles' pastorate over $1,000.

FUNERAL OF F. W. HUBBELL.

Funeral of Famous Old "Peacock Ten" of New Haven Yesterday. Waterbury, March 31.—The funeral of William W. Hubbell was held yesterday morning at the house, 215 North Elm street. Services were conducted by the Rev. F. D. Buckley of Trinity church and the Rev. F. S. Townsend of St. Paul's. There were a number of floral offerings from friends and fraternal societies. The remains were taken to Ansonia on the 10:45 a. m. train. The pallbearers were James A. Knox, Fred P. Roper and F. W. Chesson from Speedwell lodge, K. of P., and Charles A. Tyler from Excelsior council, O. U. A. M. The deceased was sixty-seven years of age and died suddenly of heart disease. He had been ill two weeks with the grip, but was up and about the house when stricken with the fatal attack. Mr. Hubbell was born in Trumbull and spent his early life in that town and later in New Haven, where he learned the clockmaker's trade with the New Haven Clock company. He came to Waterbury about twenty years ago and entered the employ of the Waterbury Clock company, with whom he remained about sixteen years. He was afterward employed by the Waterbury Manufacturing company. Some two years ago he started a clock-repairing business in New Haven. He was in the past two or three months had been employed by the Specialty Manufacturing company. He was a veteran fireman of New Haven and was very proud of his badges, which he showed only to his intimate friends. He was for several years foreman of old Peacock Ten, one of the famous hand-engines of New Haven in the volunteer fire department days. He was its foreman when the late Hiram Camp, who is long president of the Clock company, was chief engineer of the department, and at that time one of his intimate associates and fellow-employees of the clock factory, the late George D. Sanger, afterward an officer of the Seventh C. V., was assistant chief engineer of the same department. James Madden was foreman of old Big Six in those days. Peacock Ten under Mr. Hubbell had its most flourishing history, and was one of the big institutions of New Haven's famous old Fifth ward and won many victories in the firemen's tournaments of those times. Mr. Hubbell was an exceedingly popular foreman and a great favorite with his men, and exercised considerable influence in local politics in New Haven. His first wife was Miss Augusta Minor of Ansonia, who died about twelve years ago. In January, 1886, he married Mrs. Briggs at Danbury, who survives him. There was no issue from their marriage. The deceased was a prominent member of Speedwell lodge, K. of P., and of Excelsior council, O. U. A. M.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

A BUSY WEEK AHEAD AND IMPORTANT WORK.

The New Haven Charter Bills Will Come Up Again—Big Delegations of New Haveners Will Attend—Bill Concerning the State's Natural Oyster Beds, Etc. Hartford, March 31.—The coming week in the general assembly will be one of much importance. There are a number of important bills pending for action and some big hearings are scheduled. Before the committee on cities and boroughs the New Haven charter bills will be heard again Tuesday, and it is likely to take every afternoon of the week. This will be a matter of importance for New Haven people and a big delegation is expected.

An important bill on the calendar in the house concerns the natural oyster beds of the state. It is a substitute bill, has been reported favorably and is as follows: Section 1—The board of commissioners of shell fisheries shall annually appoint some person to be inspector of natural oyster beds, who shall hold office until his successor is appointed and qualified.

Section 2—It shall be the duty of said inspector to detect and prosecute offenses against the shell fishery laws relating to the natural oyster beds within the exclusive jurisdiction of the state, and to the Housatonic river, and for such purpose he shall have the power to go upon any boat or vessel that is being employed upon said beds, or in said river, and may examine any dredges, tongs or other tools or machinery used thereon, and he shall have the same powers as other officers to arrest for violation of said laws, and shall be entitled to the same fees as other officers for making such arrests, in addition to the compensation hereinafter provided.

Section 3—Prosecutions may be brought for any violation of said shell fishery laws, in the same manner as is now provided, and the provisions of this act shall not be construed to affect the powers of other officers to make arrests for any violation of said laws. Section 4—Any boat or vessel illegally used by any person upon the natural oyster beds of the state or in the Housatonic river shall be liable to seizure under the penalties as provided in section 2400 of the general statutes, and such seizure may be made by said inspector of natural oyster beds, either within the town where the offense is committed, or where the boat or vessel is found, or where it is found one year after the commission of the offense.

Section 5—It shall also be the duty of said inspector of natural oyster beds to report to the board of commissioners of shell fisheries the failure of any person to comply with the provisions of chapter 171 of the public acts of 1893, and upon the conviction of any person of the offense of dredging upon the natural oyster beds within the state jurisdiction, without a license therefor as therein provided, such person so convicted shall be disqualified from receiving a license to gather oysters from said natural oyster beds within the exclusive jurisdiction of the state, for the remainder of the year for which a license might have been granted, and upon the conviction of any person to whom a license was granted, of any violation of the provisions of said chapter, the license so granted to him shall be revoked.

Said inspector of natural oyster beds shall also report to the board of commissioners of shell fisheries any displacement of the buoys provided for in chapter 171 of the public acts of 1893. Section 6—Said inspector of natural oyster beds shall be paid a salary of $400 per annum, by the board of commissioners of shell fisheries, or a proportionate amount thereof for such period as he shall hold office, and said board of commissioners of shell fisheries may remove him for cause, and appoint his successor for the remainder of said term.

Section 7—Said inspector of natural oyster beds shall, at his own expense, maintain a suitable boat or vessel to be used in the discharge of the duties herein imposed, and he shall, at all times during said period of the year, as said board may prescribe, have said boat or vessel in readiness to investigate any alleged violation of said laws.

LARGE AUDIENCES.

For the State Music Teachers' Convention. The tickets for the Connecticut Music Teachers' convention, held here in May, are nearly exhausted. A prominent member of the association said yesterday that all tickets sent out to be sold had been sent for and they would all be gone within a day or two.

BANQUET AT TRAEGER'S.

General Superintendent Baker's Fifteenth Year in S. N. E. Service. General Superintendent E. B. Baker of the Southern New England Telephone company celebrated the close of his fifteenth year of continuous service with that company by giving a banquet at Traeger's.

Among Mr. Baker's guests were his companions on the steamship Caribee, and Myron R. Dugan, Frank W. Hinman, Edward N. Clarke, J. W. Ladd, W. Ladd, W. G. Riggs, W. N. Sperry, G. W. Betts, Edward H. Everitt, F. P. Lewis, W. S. Crout, R. D. Bligh, W. H. Babcock, C. B. Doolittle, George S. Pond. Among the latter are Mr. Baker's superintendents, and it was to show his appreciation of their work that the spread was given.

A Magnificent Tour Through Europe.

Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb announce a remarkably attractive European tour, with May 18 as the date of leaving New York. The party will cross the ocean on the palatial steamship "Lucania" of the Cunard Line, and there will be a thorough round of travel through Ireland, Scotland, England, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Russia, Germany, Austria-Hungary, Holland, Belgium, France, etc. In brief, it is a most comprehensive tour of Northern Europe. Northern Italy and Switzerland may be added, if desired. A cruise among the picturesque fjords of Western Norway, a voyage to the North Cape for the purpose of witnessing the strange spectacle of the "Midnight Sun," and a sight of the Great Fair at Nijni Novgorod, will be among the special features of the trip. The route through Ireland and Scotland will also be found an exceedingly fine one. A Raymond & Whitcomb tour through Europe, as well as in America, means the best possible conditions of travel and sight-seeing, with ample time for an intelligent and enjoyable journey. Send to Raymond & Whitcomb, 296 Washington street (opposite School street), Boston, for an itinerary.

Dancing Class Reception.

Miss Katherine S. Laron's dancing class had a reception at her home on Orange street last Friday afternoon and evening. The rooms were prettily decorated with potted plants and cut flowers. Each one in the class was presented with bouquet of pink and white carnations. The grand march was led by Miss Dorothy Tinsley and Master Russell Page. The luncheon tables were prettily arranged by Mrs. Page and Mrs. Tinkey, and the fairy lamps and the flowers made a pretty scene. The programs were hand painted and tied with pretty colored ribbons. Among the dancers were seen Misses Gertrude and Ruth Page, Elsie Ostrander, Unice Parish, Olive Lawrence, Eattie and Jennie Peterson, Mildred and Dorothy Tinkey, Mable Ives, Tillie Kahlie, Louise Lines, Masters Russell Page, Ernest Ostrander, Charles Fulton, and others. Among the guests were Miss Page, Mrs. Tinkey, Mrs. Ostrander, Mrs. Fulton, Mrs. Ives, Mrs. Peterson, and many others.

Mr. Dickens, lawyer, son of the famous novelist, the counsel recently in a case before a London court in which the firm of "Dombey & Son" was interested.

No wonder sealskin sacks come high. A suit at law in California has brought out the remarkable statement that the profits of the Alaska Commercial company, that is, the profits of a sealskin syndicate, have amounted in five years to $500 on each share of stock of the par value of $100.

Silk has to do with marriage in both this country and Japan, but in different ways. In Japan one factor entering into the problem of the choice of a daughter-in-law is her skill in raising silkworms.

An interesting fight between the Reading railroad and the trolley companies will begin to-day. The Reading will run more suburban trains and will reduce fares one-half. This cut, however, does not give suburban residents the low rates of the electric roads, but the slight difference is offset by faster time.

Interesting discoveries are often made during the process of artisan well boring on the plateau of the Rocky Mountain slopes. Coal, gypsum and soda beds, and traces of the economic and the precious metals are revealed in the chippings of the drill, usually at a depth so great below the surface as to render them impracticable to mine.

Professor E. C. Getsinger of Chicago, who claims that all human action is the result of certain vibratory waves acting upon all things animate and inanimate with precision and regularity, says he can predict with a certainty based on these manifestations that the Republican Presidential candidates in 1896 will be McKinley and Reed.

A clergyman of Gainsville, Georgia, has a boy who will be able to take care of himself in this world. "Not many months ago," says his father, "I bought him a knife. Like a boy he left it out one night and it got rusty. Then he lost interest in it and began at once to swap it off. Well, the little rascal has naturally a knack for trading, and, sir, he took his rusty knife, and with a little work on it and a good deal of talking he succeeded in exchanging it for two good knives. These knives in turn he traded for three knives, worked considerably on them and got a cheap watch for the three. He kept on trading until he had completed forty-seven different bargains, most of them in his favor. At the end of the forty-seventh trade he owned a shot gun, a hound puppy, two jack-knives and 65 cents in money, besides other smaller trinkets too numerous to mention."

In a suit which was tried in the London high courts not long ago some interesting testimony was brought out concerning surgeons' fees in England. Charles Keetley, the senior surgeon of the West London hospital, sued Professor B. Fletcher for $2,000 for attendance upon the latter's son, who was badly hurt in the terrible railroad disaster at Burgess some time ago.

THE ELECTRIC CARS. Action will perhaps be taken this evening in the Board of Aldermen on the proposed ordinance concerning the speed and equipments of electric cars. The proposed ordinance is a very reasonable one, and though the trolley system is not nearly as dangerous and destructive in this city as in some cities—Brooklyn, for instance—it should be properly and reasonably regulated in its youth so that it may be as safe and useful as possible as it grows.

EQUAL RESPONSIBILITIES. Equal rights have their drawbacks, as do many other good things in this world. The New Woman is clamoring and struggling for equal rights with Man. She will probably get them if she clamors and struggles long enough and hard enough.

Three recent events indicate what Woman will have to do if she wants to be saved from the tyranny to which she has so long been subject and rise to a higher plane. Last week a negro woman, found guilty of murder, was sentenced to be hanged in Chicago. Some of the men of that city, who have not yet fully grasped the New Woman, are deeply shocked by the situation.

But if, owing to the unprogressiveness of Chicago, Woman is not allowed to be on an equality with Man in punishment there, she can contemplate with much satisfaction what is going on in New Jersey. The lower branch of the legislature of that State has just passed, over the governor's veto, a bill making a married woman, living with her husband, equally liable with him for goods, wares and merchandise, used by the family.

The further east we come the more the great doctrine of equal rights and equal responsibilities for Man and Woman appears to prevail. Thus we find the following in the New York Sun: "I am a resident of Orange and do business at Forty-second street and Fifth avenue. In common with other fellow travellers I have been an indignant eyewitness of the professional woman masher, and a victim. This woman generally gets on the elevated train at Chambers street, and sweeping through the car she picks out the best-looking man she can find, stands opposite to him, and stares him out of countenance until he either moves from his seat or takes another car. She, the masher, is rather tall and thin, with large puffed sleeves, black eyes, rather long nose, and affects ecru lace. If she fails to attract the man's attention with her (alleged) fascinating glances she will lean over him in a semi-affectionate way, apparently innocently, but always premeditatedly. I have so often endured this affliction in silence that I appeal to your esteemed journal, hoping this may reach her eyes and serve to suppress her." This is exactly such a complaint as might be made against a male masher, and reveals a thorough acceptance of the idea that equal rights and equal responsibilities go together.

THE INCOME TAX. The decision of the Supreme court concerning the constitutionality of the income tax law is expected to-day or to-morrow, and there is a rumor that the decision will be against the law. The talk is that Justices Harlan, Shiras, Gray, Field and Brown believe the law is unconstitutional, at least in part, while Justices Fuller, Brewer and White are supposed to sustain the law. Justice Jackson is not present, so only eight justices decide the case.

"Father was speaking of you yesterday," said Ethel to Cholly Staiate. "What did he say?" "He said he'd rather have you go home late than early." "Er—why—did he really say that?" "Yes. He said it would be a great relief if you'd leave late in the evening—instead of early in the morning."—Washington Star.

Alarmed—The physician was surprised to find the head of the household at the door with a shotgun. "Why—what's the matter?" stammered the doctor. "That there medicine you give my wife, she says is makin' her feel like a new woman. And I want you to understand that no new woman business goes in this house. Fust thing I know, she'll be out makin' speeches."—Indianapolis Journal.

ALL READY TO HANG. Sunfast Holland, best quality, white, green, cream and ecru, size 36x72, for 50c each.

Now that is what you call plunging into the middle of the Window - Shade subject. The correct features for this season being two sets of shades, the green next the glass, the white next the room, the right material is SUNFAST HOLLAND.

If in your opinion Scotch Holland is best, we have it. But the Important Things are we make Shades and Draperies just as you want them made and the work is done by skilled workmen. They don't know much about making laws but they can make and hang Shades just right.

The second important fact is to get your order in as much ahead of the rest as you can. Procrastination is the thief of early shade hanging. 1,500 Different Spring Patterns in Lace and Muslin.

Poll's Wonderland Theater. This week's bill at the Wonderland is all comedy with lots of fun.

"On the Bowery," comes the last three days this week, presented by a strong company, including the famous Steve Brodie. A lively fight in Steve Brodie's place is one of the incidents of this sensational and comic drama.

"McFadden's Elopement" will be seen to-night and Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. It is by Frank Dumont, an old and trained hand in the construction of hilarious situations and ludicrous speeches. It is in three acts and involves the doings of a lightning-rod agent who is looking for a "good thing"; a country inventor whose wife derides his experiments and whose very inventions go on strike and refuse to work; a second lightning-rod agent who marries for better or worse; a drug clerk, an old maid, a trio of lively girls and other essential comic characters.

With John Kernell, the forceful and popular Irish comedian, as "McFadden," a most laughable entertainment is assured. In the company, besides Mr. Kernell, are Charles B. Ward, Phil Peters, Emerson and Emmonds, Ed J. Hefferman, Nettie Peters, Clara Knott and Tillie Barnum, all clever entertainers, who have made pronounced hits. Lovers of mirth will do well to make sure in time to visit "McFadden's Elopement" during its visit to this city. Matinee on Wednesday.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

Hyperion. "Prince Pro Tem" will play a return engagement at the Hyperion tomorrow evening. An exchange says: Lively in dialogue, bright in music, and amusing in situation "Prince Pro Tem" could not fail to please. The musical fantasia, as the program calls it, was warmly greeted at Proctor's last night, when encores followed all the musical number. R. A. Hamet has repeated in the book the success he made with "1482" and "Tabasco," but without repeating itself. He has made the present piece an entirely new line. The company is an excellent one, the parts all being well carried along and the performance being given with snap and spirit. The company includes Walter S. Lennox, sr., Harry Edgerly, Gus Daly, Miss Jessie Bradbury, Miss Kittie Hill, Miss Madeline Lack, Miss George Lawrence, Miss Mabel Stanley and Frank Hill, whose stage name is now Frank Edwards. Sale of seats now open.

Mr. Joe Jefferson will present "Rip Van Winkle" at the Hyperion on Saturday evening next. The sale of seats opens this morning at the box office at 9 a. m.

An amusing incident is told by Mr. Jefferson in connection with his first appearance in "Rip Van Winkle" in London. He was busy alone in his room adjusting his wig and beard and posing before the mirror, when suddenly an agitated rapping at the door occurred. The servant maid timidly appeared.

"Is there anything wrong in the room, sir?" inquired the girl. "Nothing at all. Go away," he answered.

"Well, sir," she persisted, "there's a policeman at the door and he says as 'ow there's a crazy old man in your room a-flagin' of his arms and legs on the wall, and there's a crowd of people across the street a-blockin' up the way."

Mr. Jefferson turned toward the window and discovered to his horror that he had forgotten to pull down the curtain, and had been acting with the lights full up to an astonished audience who had not paid for admission. The amusing side of the matter soon presented itself. Mr. Jefferson, who had enjoyed a half hour's merriment over the comical side of the affair.

DELIGHTFUL SOCIAL EVENT

At the Homestead of the Granliss Family, at Granliss Corners, in Foxon. An exceedingly pleasant and delightful affair was the birthday dinner, March 27, 1895, in honor of Charles Edwin Granliss, at the homestead of the Granliss family, Granliss corners, Foxon (East Haven). The old homestead dates back to 1645, its owner at that time being Edwin Granliss, an ancestor of the present occupants. The following program, which was headed with a capital picture of the old homestead, gives some of the leading features of the birthday dinner celebration in question:

"GRAND LYS"

CHARLES EDWIN GRANLISS, Birthday Dinner, March 27, 1895. Our birthdays come but once a year. When they arrive we like good cheer. To be surrounded by one's friends, Causes grand thoughts and makes amends— For all that troubles in this life, Of care, wrangling and blur strife; So let's enjoy each passing hour, To stay time is beyond our power. At home—74 West Sixty-ninth Street, New York.

WALLINGFORD.

The local Methodists held a meeting Friday evening in Masonic hall and duly organized a society here. Elder North of New Haven presided. W. H. Allen was appointed class leader and secretary of the quarterly conference. The officers elected are: Stewards, Jesse V. M. Lane, G. M. Upson, E. S. Warner and W. H. Allen; trustees, W. B. Turner, Richard Talbot, G. M. Upson; Sunday school committee, W. H. Allen, Mrs. G. H. Craig, Mrs. G. M. Upson, Miss Anna Lane and Miss Edith Turner; recording steward and treasurer of the board of stewards, G. M. Upson; district steward, E. S. Warner; committee on missions and other benevolence, J. V. M. Lane, Mrs. G. M. Upson and Mrs. L. D. Hill; estimating committee, W. B. Turner, G. M. Upson and J. V. M. Lane; treasurer, G. M. Upson. The total membership at present is twenty-six.

Mrs. Caroline Dowd's household goods were sold at public auction on Saturday by Sheriff Rod Austin. One peculiar feature of the sale was that articles sold were bid in by Mrs. Dowd or her son or daughter, and Judge O. I. Martin who was present to handle the cash did not get a chance to get even a nickel in his hands from the sale. Mrs. Dowd is to move down to Northford, and the sale was advertised to dispose of her goods to save trouble of moving them, and then bought them all herself.

Saturday afternoon Patrick O'Connell's two little ones, Tommie and Maggie, attempted to catch a ride along one of the wheel company's long reacher cars used to cart logs, and fell and were run over by the rear wheel. The boy escaped with only a crushed toe, while the wheel passed over both legs of the girl, but luckily the bones were not broken. These children, like many others, have made a practice of catching onto wagons, and it is strange that more serious accidents have not occurred.

There are several weddings that are expected to occur after the close of Lent. Among the number is H. L. Hall 2d of Elm street and Mrs. Catherine Banks of Center street, A. L. Hall of Elm street and Miss Ida Rawson of Cherry street, Jesse V. M. Lane and Mrs. M. J. Olmstead.

This evening Miss Ullie Akerstrom at the opera house will appear in her new comedy, "The Sultan's Daughter." The celebrated dance, "La Chromotope," will be presented between the second and third acts, and is a lovely spectacle and sure to please.

One of the drivers of a coal cart stopped at the water tank on Colony street Saturday and took his shovel and shoveled a quantity of water over his head of coal. Another citizen, who was intending to water his horse at the tank, changed his mind when he saw the occurrence.

A flock of wild ducks were quietly resting on the waters of the lake Saturday and were not disturbed by hunters, as the gale of wind that was blowing made boating unsafe.

The will of the late Thomas Whinn was admitted to probate Saturday. Judge J. A. Martin appointed Mrs. B. W. Taylor executrix, James W. Mooney and C. E. Smith as appraisers.

Dr. Head relates briefly how a man about thirty-five years of age came to him for treatment. He had lost forty pounds in weight in six months; he suffered with a bad cough and experienced severe night sweats; he was unable to do any work; most of his family had died of consumption, and on examination his right lung was found to be seriously affected, and as the doctor remarked, "He was in a good way to have an early funeral."

But note what happened. He was given Bovinine. In two weeks he had gained seven pounds, his appetite had returned, he was able to do a good day's work, and most of the distressing symptoms had vanished; and at the time of writing the doctor felt sure of a complete cure.

This is but one of many similar cases. Bovinine will give new life and strength, make new blood and flesh, stop waste, ward off disease, and turn the current of life's river again into its natural channel. Give it one trial while there is yet hope.

TYRANNY OF RED TAPE. It is as Powerful in France as it Ever Was in England. [From the Fall Mail Gazette.] British red tapism is bad to beat but the record just now is with Paris. There the front of the Ecole des Beaux Arts is adorned with a statue of Puget, the once famous tenor. Four years ago a passer-by made the discovery that the statue's nose had come off. He called the attention of the policeman on duty to the fact. The policeman reported to his brigadiers, who reported to the commissary of the quarter, who reported to the prefecture of police. The prefecture of police decided that the nose had not been maliciously knocked off; the matter, therefore, concerned the prefecture of the Seine. It was then August, 1891. In October a committee of three was appointed to decide which department had to put the nose on again. The committee inspected that statue in January, 1892, and reported in December that they were unable to report.

In February, 1893, this report reached the department of public works. They made the lives of his subordinates so many burdens to them with it. Somehow it got into print that, but for this zealous official, there would be hardly a statue in France and in Navarre with its nose on. In July he was decorated for special services. Somebody else took up the report. Between January and December, 1894, it had got into parliament. On February 25, 1895, the house sat upon it, and M. Jaures and Carnaud got off some virulent attacks upon the government for its want of public spirit. The next day the same passer-by who had reported the absence of the nose happened to pass again. He discovered that the nose had not been replaced. He reported to the policeman on duty, who, etc. The nose of Puget is in for another round.

POOTS' PREDICAMENT.

His Concealment Behind the Sofa Was Not Very Gratifying to Him. [From the Cleveland Press.] The young man Poots went to see his sweetheart the other evening, and, being quite at home with the family, thought he would slip into the parlor unperceived and hide behind the sofa, just to give her a little surprise as she came in to light the gas, for it was early twilight. He had been in his place of concealment but a few moments when there was rapping at the outer door, and a moment later his heart's desire ushered another young man into the darkened parlor, the young lady not seeming to think illumination necessary yet. They sat down on the sofa together, and the young lady said: "Oh, George, I am so glad it is you! When the bell rang I was almost sure it was that dreadful bore, Poots."

Poots silently gritted his teeth behind the sofa. "My dear," said the strange young man, slipping his arm around her waist, "who is this fellow, Poots?" "Oh, he's a wretch that comes hanging around here once in a while that we have to put up with because his folks come from the same place in the north. He bores the life out of me."

"A wretch, am I?" said Poots to himself bitterly. "I'll show who I am when that chaps starts for home," and he doubled up both fists. But the young man wouldn't start for home. He stayed and stayed, and they kept a-billing and cooing until after midnight. Poots' position was very uncomfortable, squatting behind the sofa, and the lovelymaking that was going on did not add to his ease.

There is no knowing how long the entertainment would have lasted had not the young lady's father come down stairs in his dressing gown and slippers and abruptly dissolved the parliament. When they were gone and all was still young Poots tried to creep out on tip-toe, but he stumbled over a chair and made such a racket as to alarm the house.

His Hand Crushed. Captain Henry Burgess, skipper of a Branford oyster sloop, had his hand crushed by a pulley Saturday. He was taken to the hospital for treatment.

Social Committee Benefit. Israel Putnam lodge, A. O. U. W., will give a benefit to its social committee at Golden Rule hall next Friday evening.

Gives Health

RECLAIMED FROM DEATH. The Terror of Man Thwarted.

In the Grasp of that Dread Disease, Consumption—Life Given Back.—Almost Miraculous.

Fortunately, perhaps, the Consumptive does not realize his own condition. His is a disease of continual waste until he meets a death that is in reality one of starvation.

It is now generally conceded that this disease is incurable,—that is, by any known medicine. Change of climate, or some life-infusing food that will give new flesh, blood, and strength, and induce the various organs of the body to assume their normal functions,—this is the only hope.

The only way to do this effectually is to give the patient Bovinine, that great raw food product, the greatest concentration of the life-giving elements of raw beef known to modern science. In this connection the results obtained by Dr. J. H. Head of Atlanta, Ga., in the treatment of a case of consumption, are interesting.

Dr. Head relates briefly how a man about thirty-five years of age came to him for treatment. He had lost forty pounds in weight in six months; he suffered with a bad cough and experienced severe night sweats; he was unable to do any work; most of his family had died of consumption, and on examination his right lung was found to be seriously affected, and as the doctor remarked, "He was in a good way to have an early funeral."

But note what happened. He was given Bovinine. In two weeks he had gained seven pounds, his appetite had returned, he was able to do a good day's work, and most of the distressing symptoms had vanished; and at the time of writing the doctor felt sure of a complete cure.

This is but one of many similar cases. WAY DOWN IN FLORIDA.

INTERESTING NOTES FROM PALM BEACH.

What a New Havener Says About a Notable Region—"The Stately Ships Go By" Also Steamers—Deer and Gators—Sea Trout and Channel Bass, Pompano, Etc.—The King Fish and Amberjacks, The Shore of Lake Worth—Hotels, Villas, Etc. Palm Beach, Fla., March 20, 1895. If Senator Don Ponce de Leon had found that "Fountain of perpetual youth" indulged his intemperance in its waters, and so been with us to-day, what a surprise party the east coast of Florida would be for him! Yet, because of its very recent transformation, scarce a dozen years have passed since the whole long stretch of three hundred miles down from Jacksonville has been reclaimed from a well nigh impenetrable, uninhabitable, non-combat-able series of almost interminable pine and palmetto forests, cypress swamps and low lying water-covered wild rice fields. Such spirits as sought to colonize the shores of the bayous and shallow water ways along down some hundred miles from St. Augustine and up the St. Johns river two or three score miles, aspired to nothing more effective in transportation for several years than the old time flat boat and an occasional primitive steamer. It might be half a dozen years ago, or seven or eight, but not more than that, I'm sure, the occasion, which had so long waited, met up with the man who was to, and now has, transformed all this wild desolation of luxuriant nature, and made it at once the treasure land of a million settlers, if they'll come, and countless thousands who have come, and do come year by year, and restore health and retain their lease of life itself. This man's name is Henry M. Flagler. It is not the purpose of this article to tell the history of either the wonderful man or his great work; it is only to give the results and possibly add to the information the Journal and Courier's readers have upon the grand subject of the development of a large territory. Forethought, long-headedness nor enterprise seem to be words that fitly express the character of the inception of such a grand, far-reaching plan to conquer so quickly so vast a country; inspiring in its more than a passing glance, Mr. Flagler's intelligence indicated to him the climatic advantages of Florida for health and for farm culture. To attract thoughtful men and those of wealth and culture, that their intelligence and means might benefit the state, he built at St. Augustine such creations of the builder's art and so improved the whole city, that all who came found comfort there and returned with the experience of breathing in the healing quality of the balmy air. Not only did he build the abiding places, but the perfectly constructed railroad to bring them there. The public appreciated all this and enjoyed St. Augustine. Then the same spirit armed for still greater victories. Away down here where the long stretch of sea-coast takes a slant a little more to the westward and where the great marshes, the whole of which (within a mile) to shore, in behind a long island covered with a grove of cocoa palms, are the land-locked waters of Lake Worth. The wonderful character of this region and the perfect situation of this particular part of it, attracted Mr. Flagler's attention; this was exactly two years ago; to-day it is the second season of one of the largest and very finest hotels in the world, which can boast of The Royal Poinciana, colossal in size, four hundred and fifty feet long and six stories high, yet with such architectural desecration and taste it is planned that the whole effect is completely pleasing. The style is colonial. Doric pilasters extend along the entire facade and the grand entrance is through the projecting portico, led up by a flight of massive Corinthian columns. The wide and lofty doorways lead directly into the rotunda, the general gathering place for all. In extent this space is about a hundred feet square and is at once impressive and pleasant; what of decoration there is, is chaste, elegant, light and airy. This room contains the various offices, &c., necessary to the conduct of the hotel. Leading from it directly in line with the main entrance is the staircase, which from the first landing leads to the assembly hall, an octagonal room, seven sides of which open directly to the outside area, securing perfect ventilation. All that intelligent experience could suggest, encouraged by the most lavish expenditure of means, have been fitted and furnished this immense hotel—in a word—completely. Nor does its excellence stop short there; it is supplemented by being kept perfectly under the efficient management of Mr. H. W. Merrill. Both in service and table there can be none better, and from the nature of the case, few indeed, the world over, as good. The country all about abounds with game—fish, fur and feather—and surrounding gardens furnish the tables with fresh and delicious vegetables, tomatoes, peas, beans, potatoes, lettuce, radishes, &c., lend a particular charm at this early season of the year. For the very practical mind maybe a few figures will convey better an idea of the extensiveness of the Royal Poinciana. There were used in its construction five million feet of lumber, 300,000 shingles, 4,000 barrels of lime, three million feet of iron pipe, and a plater, twelve hundred windows and eighteen hundred doors, and it took 24,000 gallons of paint to cover it! To get the material to the ground cost sixty thousand dollars for freight alone! New Haven will feel a just pride in knowing that those to whom the practical construction of this great work fell, are, or were, her citizens. The whole enterprise was laid out and completed by Mr. Joseph A. McDonald, of the firm of McGuire & McDonald, which firm has done all of Mr. Flagler's building in Florida. Mr. McDonald will well feel a just pride in the result of his remarkable ability and indomitable energy. It must be a grand satisfaction to him to contemplate the great structure rising lofty and symmetrical above its beautiful environment, the graceful palms and fragrant flowers. The New Haven firm of Gallagher & Reilly, mason builders, did the large amount of their sort of work necessary. Mr. James Reilly giving it his personal attention. Much of the fine wood-work, carving, &c., was made in New Haven by David H. Clark. The doors and windows were from the Derby Lumber Co., and the plumbing material came indirectly from the Peck Bros., so altogether the Royal Poinciana is in a way quite a New Haven institution! Not least among the charms of the place is the bathing pavilion on the ocean front of the hotel property. On three sides of a parallelogram inclosing a pool 150x200 feet are a double line of perfectly appointed bath-rooms. This great swimming place is supplied by constantly flowing sea water, varying in depth from two and one-half to seven feet; it is just the place for a quiet swim, while those who desire to may skip down across the sands and revel in the tumbling surf. As has been mentioned, the gulf stream washes up within a mile of the beach just here, which raises the temperature of the water to from seventy-six degrees to eighty degrees even in the winter months, and this warmth may be understood to be most congenial when by comparison we remember that on the shores of the sound very seldom, perhaps not more than on two or three days in August or early September, is the water anything like as warm. The bathing pavilion is arranged on a double extensive observation deck, and it is there the hotel guests spend the hours between eleven and one, themselves bathing or watching those that do. This is not all the bathing pavilion offers, for there is the excellent orchestra for the musically inclined to listen to; then the handsome little children with their shovels and pails, and many children of a larger growth, dabbling in the water for all there is of the ever changing, restless sea, and such a sea is this on the edge of the tropics; clear, bright and sparkling, and what a witchery of coloring; close in such tints of green, delicate beyond description, and further out in ever varying degrees, are the shades of blue, finally so deep as to become purple far off where the gulf stream steadily keeps its four mile ocean pace northward. Scarcely a day goes by but one or more steamships bound to New Orleans, the isthmus or Havana pass so close in shore that the passengers; then a general salute happens, colors on ship and pavilion are dipped and whistles sounded—a pleasant episode all round. Palm Beach is a good place to be lazy, but a much better place to be active, for there is every facility for all there is of hunting and the peaceful pursuit of fishing. Deer and gators are the large game, while quail and duck are really so common that the keen edge of desire to kill them is dulled. Sea-trout, channel-bass, pompano, grouper and some other bait fish abound within the still waters of the lake, while amberjack and king-fish are plenty off the ocean front of the hotel. In this matter of fishing, a noble and a peaceful, and one man the same afternoon was forty-three king-fish! And these catches, I learn, were not the largest of the season. There's one institution here, among the many, that will never do to speak of; indeed, it is worthy of an article all by its lonesome self, and that is Captain Bravo and his steamer, the Santa Lucia. They must be taken together; one can't imagine them divorced. The steamer is long, strong and narrow; the captain strong, broad (winded) and just long enough. The steamer's got a search light forward, a good engine and a great big stern wheel; the captain's got a pair of as handsome eyes as you can find anywhere (this I overheard a lady passenger say), a well knit physique and no wheels anywhere, even in his head. The Santa Lucia makes frequent trips across from the hotel to the terminus of the railroad on the west side of the lake. From two till five in the evening, as they call it down here, Captain Bravo gets together a company of people and takes them up a few miles to an island which is said to have been the veritable spot where the piratical buccaner, Captain Kidd, planted his treasure. Captain Bravo's passengers don't care a blame about Kidd, his land or his treasures; all they want is to hear Captain Bravo lie about them! And how cheerfully the captain does prevaricate. He will tell the most stirring Indian yarns about his father and Osceola, their close intimacy and their mutual hairbreadth escapes. It would be a good surprise to make that another year Captain Bravo will claim some one or two city fathers went shipmasters with Captain Kidd, with a word dovetail in nicely with the captain's present assurance that he knows just exactly where Kidd's boodie lies buried. Long life to the genial inventor of marvels, and may his stories never grow less! The shore of Lake Worth for a mile to the southward and two to the northward of the hotel is dotted with many fine villas, winter homes of the wealthy from all over the land. Among them one may find the place of Thomas Adams, Esq., of Brooklyn, with a frontage on the lake of one thousand feet; the property extends back to the ocean half a mile away, making about ninety acres. Mr. Adams has in process of construction a comfortable cottage amply shaded by stately trees and surrounded by a garden of flowers at once extensive and beautiful. Fruit trees of all the varieties that thrive here, the lemon, orange, coconut, guava, sapadillo, plum, &c., and a kitchen garden of several acres warrant an abundance of all these toothsome things. One cannot help reverting to the immensity of this whole enterprise, the coming but two years ago into this almost a wilderness and so promptly converting it into what it is to-day. Just across the river where the railway has its terminus at the village of West Palm Beach has sprung up in two houses a year ago—to-day a resident population of a thousand, with a dozen or more stores, two or more small hotels, an ice factory and other interests. The Jacksonville, St. Augustine and Indian River railroad is a well made road, furnished with passenger coaches second to none with train fast and frequent, and made up with all the modern railroading ever has. The efficient manager is Mr. Joseph Richardson, whose office is at St. Augustine. Palm Beach has been the mecca to which all pilgrims seeking health and rest turned their steps, this season particularly. One cannot help letting personally creep in when writing of a subject, the knowledge that the man who brought about so much. To one who hasn't seen Mr. Flagler, no doubt there is suggested a man busy to the verge of distraction and showing the wear of business affairs; to one who has seen him Mr. Flagler is nothing of the kind. Three-score years rest lightly on his shoulders, of medium height, world complexion, features regular, an earnest countenance—thoughtful surely, but not severe—and carriage graceful; may be that will do to give you some little hint of him. It is not with Mr. Flagler's personality that we have to do; anyway it seems to me we should only consider him and his great doings something as the educated musical world does a great singer. It is the voice they think of, talk of, digress and mourn when its melody no longer reaches the heart save as a memory. Around him Mr. Flagler attracts sides and assistants whose devotion is whole-souled and enthusiastic. Mr. Flagler is a lover of flowers; this fact and his general good taste dictated to him the name the hotel bears, by the Royal Poinciana is at once the grandest and most beautiful in the whole wealth of flora in this sunny land of flowers. AFTER THE UNATTAINABLE.

This Weakness is Noticed by Men in the Furniture Trade. (From the New York Herald.) "John," said a furniture salesman the other day to the mover whom he had summoned, "this bedroom set is sold, but it not to be delivered just yet. Move it out of the salesroom at once and store it somewhere till I want it." "What's the use of moving it till you send it up to me?" asked the purchaser idly. "Why don't you leave it where it is?" The salesman uttered a queer little laugh and said: "It is evident you were never in the furniture business, or you would not ask that question. If I should mark that 'sold' and leave it here in the salesroom in plain sight it would probably lose several good sales." "How so?" asked the purchaser, with an unbelieving look. "It illustrates a universal weakness of human nature," laughed the salesman. "Everybody wants what he can't get, and there is nothing quite so attractive to the average buyer as a piece of furniture that somebody else has bought before he came around. If I left that bedroom set marked 'sold,' half a dozen persons would say before night that it was exactly the set they wanted, and when they heard there were no duplicates they would fuss around enviously and nothing else in the establishment would satisfy them. "Eventually they would go off discontentedly and buy elsewhere, though the chances are that if there was no 'sold' tag on the set none of them would give it more than a passing glance, while a fair proportion of them would purchase other sets. It is a little human weakness, that's all. "So arises one of the tricks of the trade. When a dealer sells a piece of furniture of which he has no duplicates he hustles it out of the salesroom as quick as he can, let it lose him other trade. But when he sells a piece of which he has duplicates he puts a big 'sold' tag on it and leaves it in open sight as long as possible for a bait for others."

A Fight on the Reef in Old England—Described by George Meredith.

Choice of corners under the leaden low cloud counted for little. A signal was given, a man outside the ring eyed a watch, raised a hand; the two umpires were on foot in their places; the pair of opposing seconds hurried out cheery or bolt-business words to their men, and the champions advanced to the scratch, Todd's first, by the courtesy of Ines, whose decorous control of his legs at a weighty moment was rightly read by his party. Their hands grasped firmly; thereupon becoming fists of a hostile couple in position. And simply to learn which of us two is the better man! Or, in other words, with four simple fists to compass a patent fact and stand it on the historic pedestal, with a little red writing underneath; you never can patent a fact without it. But mark the differences of this kind of contention from all other—especially the parliamentary; it is an end, trial of skill, trial of stamina; nature and art; old English; which made us what we are; and no rancors, no vows of vengeance; the beaten man of the two bowing to the bit of history he has helped to make. Kittles had need to be confident in the skill of their lither lad. His face looked granite. Fronting that mass, Kit you might—not to laugh about for comparisons—call a bundle of bamboos. Ay, but well knitted springs, alive every inch of him; crafty, too, as you will soon bear witness. He knows he has got his task and he's the man to do it. There was wary sparring, and mirrors watched them. "Bigger fellow; but have no fear," the earl said over his shoulder to Madge. She said in return, "Oh, I don't know; I'm praying." Kit was on his toes, all himself, like one who has found the key. He fented, Quik as lightning, he landed a bolt on Ben's jib, just at the toll-bar of the bridge, between the eyes, and was off, out of reach, elastic; Ben's counter fell short by a couple of inches. Cheers for the first blow.—From "An Amazing Marriage," by George Meredith, in the April Scribner.

INDIAN FIGHTING COURAGE.

Terrors in White Settlements Who Run Away From Hostile Redskins. "It takes a special kind of courage to fight Indians," said Major Ragsdale of the "Little Gem" in Topeka. "They're pretty sure to surprise you and as hard to catch. Their yelling and whooping alone are enough to stampede men not trained to their style of fighting. Sometimes they fight under cover, and you catch a fire from an enemy you can't get a sight of, and again, where there hasn't been one to be seen, they seem all to spring out of the ground at once and charge you as though nothing could stand their onset. Then there's the knowledge that if you catch you alive you'll be skinned alive, or your life tortured out of you by slow degrees in a thousand other ways they can think of to make you suffer. There's many a stout hearted desperado, a terror in white settlements and not afraid to have a pistol or shotgun snap any hour of the day or night with a man of his own color, who doesn't count for a row of pins in an Indian fight. "Take Sam Brown of Nevada for a case in point. He wasn't afraid of any man that wore boots, and his was the terror of the mining camps everywhere he went. The Plute Indians got bad one time and a party was organized in the camps to go out against them. Sam joined the volunteers, and every body in the party and all that stayed behind were talking about the big deeds Sam Brown would do, and chuckling to think of the way those redskins would be wiped out when they ran up against him. "Well, when they came upon the Indians, things didn't turn out quite as they expected. It was the whites that got loked out in short order, and those that weren't left on the ground stampeded for safety. Sam Brown was one of the first ones to run, and the pace he set his horse at to get away from those redskins was something that best quarter racing in the way of reckless riding. As they stampeded down a canyon, every man trying to be the foremost to get away, Sam halted Joe McMurtie, who was riding a better horse than his: "Oh, Mac! Pull your horse a little so I can come up. We'll ride safer together. "McMurtie's answer to that friendly invitation was to bend down to his horse's neck, set in the spurs, and get out of that canyon ahead of Sam and back to Bodie as fast as hoofs could carry him. He knew Sam Brown, and that if that worthy once got alongside of him he wouldn't hesitate to shoot him off his horse so as to get a better mount for himself. After they all got back to the settlement he didn't go round to places where he was likely to meet Sam, lest it might stir him up to unpleasant recollections of their Indian campaign—people were that considerate of other's feelings in those days when the other happened to be Sam Brown."

Daisy Miller's Day is Over.

There are thousands of daughters of well-to-do mothers in this country who are brought up on the old aristocratic theory that a woman should study moderately hard until she is eighteen, then look as pretty as she can and devote herself until she is married to having what is called on this side of the Atlantic a good time. To be sure, in France the good time does not come until after marriage. And there are other differences, but the well bred lady

Saturday's Market Was Active and Strong Throughout. New York, March 30.—To-day the stock market was active and strong throughout. Sugar Refining, which had been comparatively neglected for several days past was taken in hand by its friends and advanced sharply. Jersey Central scored a net advance of two points, and New York and New England, which received a fair amount of attention, at advancing prices, was another feature. Of the less active stocks United States Leather preferred was conspicuous at a net advance of 1 1/2 per cent. at the highest price recorded for it. The weekly statement of averages of the Associated Banks shows no important changes. The banks have lost nearly $2,000,000 in lawful money, and their loans have been reduced by a little larger amount than that. These two changes have brought the deposits down $4,800,000, and the net result is a decrease in the surplus of $738,000. The closing of the stock market was strong at about the best prices. As compared with the closing prices of last Saturday the majority of stocks are higher. The most important net advances are in American Sugar Refining, 3 1/2 per cent.; New England, 3 1/2; United States Leather preferred, 3 1/2; Reading, 2 1/2; Atchison, 1 1/2; New Jersey Central, Louisville and Nashville, and Erie, 1 1/2 each; St. Paul, 1; Manhattan and Wabash preferred, 1 1/2 per cent. each. The noteworthy declines are in General Electric, 1 1/2 per cent.; Chicago Gas, 1 1/2; and Wheeling and Lake Erie preferred 1 per cent. Following are the closing prices reported by Princes & Whitely, bankers and brokers, 46 Broadway, New York, and 15 Center street, New Haven: Bid. Asked.

of social graces is the well bred lady, whether it be in London, Paris, Vienna or New York, and a ball room in one capital is essentially the same as in all the others, unless it be that over here the very young people are allowed to crowd in everybody else. There are thousands of mothers who are content that this should be the limit of their daughter's experience, a reasonably good education and good manners, four years of whirl and then a husband, or no husband and a conservative afternoon tea-drinking spinsterhood—and they are thankful on the whole when their girls put their necks meekly beneath the yoke of convention and do as past generations of women all over the civilized world have done. For the reign of the unconventional society young woman is over. She shocks now her own countrywomen even more than foreigners; and though, like the buffalo, she is still extant, she is disappearing even more rapidly than that illustrious quadruped.—From "The Art of Living—Education," by Robert Grant, in the April Scribner.

Saturday's Market Was Active and Strong Throughout.

New York, March 30.—To-day the stock market was active and strong throughout. Sugar Refining, which had been comparatively neglected for several days past was taken in hand by its friends and advanced sharply. Jersey Central scored a net advance of two points, and New York and New England, which received a fair amount of attention, at advancing prices, was another feature. Of the less active stocks United States Leather preferred was conspicuous at a net advance of 1 1/2 per cent. at the highest price recorded for it. The weekly statement of averages of the Associated Banks shows no important changes. The banks have lost nearly $2,000,000 in lawful money, and their loans have been reduced by a little larger amount than that. These two changes have brought the deposits down $4,800,000, and the net result is a decrease in the surplus of $738,000. The closing of the stock market was strong at about the best prices. As compared with the closing prices of last Saturday the majority of stocks are higher. The most important net advances are in American Sugar Refining, 3 1/2 per cent.; New England, 3 1/2; United States Leather preferred, 3 1/2; Reading, 2 1/2; Atchison, 1 1/2; New Jersey Central, Louisville and Nashville, and Erie, 1 1/2 each; St. Paul, 1; Manhattan and Wabash preferred, 1 1/2 per cent. each. The noteworthy declines are in General Electric, 1 1/2 per cent.; Chicago Gas, 1 1/2; and Wheeling and Lake Erie preferred 1 per cent. Following are the closing prices reported by Princes & Whitely, bankers and brokers, 46 Broadway, New York, and 15 Center street, New Haven: Bid. Asked.

Brief Mention.

High water to-day at 1:17 p. m. Buy a new house—R. E. Baldwin. The St. John's Catholic club will give a fair at Banquet hall for four days, beginning May 1. The St. Patrick's Y. M. T. A. B. society gave a very pleasant musicale at the society rooms last evening. Mr. and Mrs. George Merriman of Bristol went to Sachem's Head Saturday to occupy their cottages for the summer. The St. Aloysius Y. M. T. A. B. society are making extensive arrangements for an entertainment to be given for the building fund. Hubbell, Merwin & Co. have the carpenter work on the new addition to the new carriage room of the Winchester Repeating Arms company. The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Church Missionary association will be held to-morrow at 3 p. m. in Trinity parish building on Temple street. A. D. Baldwin & Sons are doing the mason work on four houses for Edward M. Clark and Clark & Thompson on John street, and L. A. Huntley is to build a two tenement house on John street for John Corcoran. Thomas Forsyth does the mason work. Services were conducted at the United church last evening under the auspices of the Men's Sunday evening club. Mr. H. R. Miles speaks. Subject: "A Fortnight in Oxford." He made particular mention of the summer school of theology, which was conducted there last summer for the benefit of clergymen. The discourse was very interesting and much enjoyed by the congregation present.

Seized by the Sheriff. Great excitement was manifested in Philadelphia a short time ago when a certain well known wholesale clothing manufacturer had his entire stock of clothing sold at public sale by the sheriff. Nearly $650,000 worth of goods was sold under the hammer in one day. Part of this enormous stock was purchased for 19c on the dollar. To turn this lot of goods into money it was ordered to ship the consignment to New Haven and throw them on the market for whatever prices they bring. The store rooms, 434 and 438 State street, under the Westmoreland hotel, has been expressly rented for the purpose, and the sheriff's sale stock of fine spring clothing will be offered to the public on Wednesday morning, April 2, at 9 o'clock. The doors will be thrown open and the public invited to take their pick of this stock of elegant tailor made men's and boys' clothing. The prices that will prevail at this great sale will enable everyone to clothe themselves and boys for mere nothing, and the most stupendous values can be secured. Everybody should avail themselves of the exceptional opportunity, as such a glorious chance seldom occurs. Sales will continue for ten days only, and everything must be converted into money in the specified time. To furnish a slight idea of the marvelous values that await you we quote a few prices: Men's business suits $2.95, worth $10; If these suits are not satisfactory return them in three days and get your money back. Men's imported Scotch cheviot suits will be sold at this sale for $4.45, worth $11. Men's silk mixed cassimere suits $5.25, real value $16.50. Men's English tweed and clay diagonal suits, in sack and cutaway style, of the latest spring make, will go at this sale for $7.35; cannot be duplicated anywhere under $18. Handsome spring overcoats of covert cloth, tweed and kersey goods, strap seams and stylish make, $5.75; worth $16. Extra fine custom made overcoats, satin lined and well worth $20, will go for $8.50. A good pair of men's pants for 59c. Men's striped cassimere pants for $1.15, worth $3. Men's English cassimere pants $2.25, worth $5. Fine tailor made trousers, in elegant new spring style, $3.15, worth $7. Children's suits for 96 cents. Children's knee pants, all sizes, 14c. Thousands of odd coats and odd vests at a mere trifle, and other values we have no space to mention. Be sure and attend this mammoth sheriff's sale stock distribution of fine spring clothing for men and boys. This will be the only genuine opportunity to clothe yourself for a mere song. For a very little money you can secure values never dreamt of. Remember the opening of the sheriff's sale stock in Wednesday, April 2, at 9 a. m. Be sure to be on hand to get first pick. All goods sold at private sale, from 9 in the morning until 9 at night, Saturday until 11 o'clock at night. Be careful to get in the right place. 434-438 State street, under the Westmoreland hotel, New Haven Conn. Care taken to purchasers.

Rushing through our big Dress Goods Room is very unsatisfactory. A glance can't begin to do as much for you as a little time spent in methodical study with the goods. Only a step from the street brings you to shelves and counters piled with plenty of pieces of soft shaded, demi-toned Suitings, prices beginning at 39 cents and ending at about $3.00 a yard. You'll like your Easter costume and pocket book better, for not missing this magnificent collection. For instance, 7 colors of Satin Faced Biège, at 75c a yard. Greedy stores ask $1.00 and more. Only good Black Dress Goods. No weavings. One robust value in 30 inch width, good color, costs $1.00 a yard. Name, Clay Diagonal. Why pay $1.50 for Fancy Silks when 75c to $1.00 will fill the bill? Pick from our pile of Fancy Silks in pretty colors and good styles, 5c a yard. Main Entrance, Left Aisle.

Fashion stamps the seal of approval upon Floral Neck Pieces for Ladies. Latest and loveliest of anything out. Combinations of silk and flowers. Sometimes more silk, sometimes more flowers. Violets on black, corn, cardinal, pink and light blue silk. Roses on same colors of silk. Forget-me-nots on light blue silk. Truly rich and dressy. Prices start in at 79c. each and rise gradually. Loe. Counter, Chapel St. corner.

ABOUT LININGS. Pure Linen Grass Cloth 20 inches wide in black, white, slate and natural at 10c. a yard. The 15c. sort. Pure Linen Dress Facing in black at 12 1/2c. a yard.
