

THEY WANT LIBERAL LAWS

MONSTER PARADE HELD YESTERDAY IN CITY OF NEW YORK.

It Was Reviewed by Police Commissioner Roosevelt Who Stood Bare Headed but Later Took Some of the Banners for Souvenirs—The Law, He Says, Will be Enforced.

New York, Sept. 25.—Fully 10,000 New Yorkers who proclaim themselves lovers of liberty and against the enforcement of the excise laws on Sunday joined in a parade this afternoon with brass bands and American flags and with allegorical floats showing liberty in mourning and a workman in the hand of the police for drinking beer on Sunday while a millionaire tipples at his club. Police Commissioner Roosevelt reviewed the parade. On reaching the end of the line of march the paraders adjourned to Sulzer's Harlem River park, where they listened to speeches advocating more liberal Sunday laws.

The head of the procession passed the reviewing stand at 3:30. Mr. Roosevelt stood with bare head and was accorded a hearty reception, and being almost instantly recognized by the men in line, he was frequently applauded. He laughed heartily at a number of banners in the parade bearing caustic allusions to himself. Some of the inscriptions were: "We don't drink strong tea." "Home rule for New York."

ON THE BALL FIELD.

Results of the Games in the Big League Yesterday.

At Brooklyn—Umpire Murray called to-day's game at the end of the sixth inning on account of darkness, so he claimed, but as the sun was shining and did not set for fully half an hour afterwards the Bostonians made a huge kick, but it availed nothing. The score: Brooklyn 2 0 0 0 1 1-4 Boston 0 0 0 0 2 0 0-2

Hits—Brooklyn 3, Boston 4. Errors—Brooklyn 2, Boston 3. Batteries—Daub and Grim; Bannan and Ryan.

At Baltimore—The champions defeated the Philadelphia to-day. The game was called on account of darkness. The score:

Baltimore 3 0 0 1 0 0 0 0-7 Philadelphia 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-1

Hits—Baltimore 8, Philadelphia 5. Errors—Baltimore 5, Philadelphia 2. Batteries—Hoffer and Robinson; Taylor and Clements.

At Washington—Washington won in the tenth inning to-day, when with two men out, Anderson, singled to right, scoring two runs. The score:

Wash. 0 0 1 1 0 2 0 0 0 3-7 New York 0 0 1 3 0 0 0 0 0 2-6

Hits—Washington 11, New York 7. Errors—Washington 1, New York 7. Batteries—Merrier and Maguire; Dooney and Doyle.

At Louisville—Heavy batting assisted by the Louisville numerous errors enabled Pittsburg to win to-day's game. The score:

Louisville 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1-4 Pittsburg 0 0 1 3 0 0 0 0 2-6

Hits—Louisville 8, Pittsburg 17. Errors—Louisville 5, Pittsburg 37. Batteries—MacFarland and Warner; Hawley and Mack.

At St. Louis—Coleman, an amateur, pitched wildly for the locals in to-day's first game, but had great speed. The score:

St. Louis 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 2 3-8 Cincinnati 0 6 2 1 2 2 2 0 0 2-16

Hits—St. Louis 16, Cincinnati 12. Errors—St. Louis 4, Cincinnati 5. Batteries—Coleman and Otten; Foreman and Vaughan.

Hits—St. Louis 13, Cincinnati 8. Errors—St. Louis 5, Cincinnati 5. Batteries—Breitenstein and Otten; Parrott and Gray.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

The monthly meeting of the chamber of commerce was held last night. President N. D. Sperry presided. The following delegates were elected to the meeting of the state board of trade that will be held in this city October 3: James D. Dewell, Henry Sutton, N. Easterbrook, C. L. Baldwin, Charles F. Bates, Charles Kleiner, J. C. North, G. H. Ford, W. S. Wells.

ANOTHER RECORD SMASHED.

New York Central Flyer Again Reduces the World's Record.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The New York Central flyer arrived in this city at 8:07 this morning, having covered the distance of 148 miles from Albany in 130 minutes.

This is at the rate of 68.30 miles an hour and smashes all records.

CONTESTS AT SYRACUSE.

State Democracy Gets One-Fifth of a Vote—Delegates Provoked and Leave the Hall.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Matters were in a chaotic condition this morning when the democratic statesmen got out of bed.

The convention was called to order at 11:25. The convention adopted the report of the committee on credentials giving the Grace-Fairchild democrats one-fifth representation. The Grace-Fairchild men left the hall at 12:27 amid cheers and jeers.

As a result of the conference between Senator Hill, William C. Sheehan, ex-Governor Flower and other leaders the following ticket was decided on and nominated: Secretary of state, Horace C. King of Kings; attorney general, Daniel G. Griffin of Watertown; state treasurer, Norton Chase of Albany; comptroller, J. B. Judson of Gloversville; state engineer, Dewitt C. Ward of Boonville, Oneida county; associate judge of the court of appeals, John B. Teller of Auburn.

Russell R. Stewart was nominated for state engineer on the first ballot, completing the ticket. The convention adjourned sine die at 2:19 p. m.

The platform adopted is as follows: The democratic party of New York in convention assembled makes the following declaration of its principles and policy. Home rule, the first essential condition of good municipal government.

Local jurisdiction and control over purely local affairs, no legislative meddling. Economy in public expense; no public money for private purposes or political jobs; strict audit of official expenditures; a low tax rate. Honesty in public office—no tainted legislators, no corrupt traffic in legislation; clean men and free agents; no hypocrites.

Equal and honest enforcement of all the laws; a proper observance of a day of rest on every Sunday; modification or repeal of laws unsupported by public opinion; no unjust sumptuary laws; no blue laws; recognition of the fundamental American principle of freedom of conscience; home rule in excise as in other matters within reasonable limitations established to protect the interests of temperance and morality—and an amendment of the excise and other laws by the legislature of the state which shall permit each municipality expressing its sentiments by a popular vote of a majority of its citizens to determine within such proper legislative restrictions as shall be required by the interests of the entire state what may best suit its special necessities and conditions.

The attempt of prominent republican politicians in the large cities of the state to repudiate their own platform are renewed evidence of their hypocrisy and dishonesty on the excise question. Equal taxation, no unjust discrimination, no favored interests, no partial legislation. Individual liberty, the right of all citizens to equal opportunities before the law, equal and exact justice to all men. Federal taxation for revenue only; no government partnership with protected monopolies, no meddling with the present reformed tariff to the injury and unsettling of business and industries. Sound money; gold and silver the only legal tender, no currency inconvertible with coin; gradual retirement and extinction of the greenback currency, no free and unlimited coinage of silver.

Strict construction of the federal constitution, rigid maintenance of the reserved rights of the states, no force bills. No entangling alliances with foreign nations, the vigorous enforcement of the Monroe doctrine, no jingoism. We invite the attention of electors to the humiliating record made by the republican party in its recent restoration to power in this state.

William Sulzer of New York, asked for the adoption of the following resolutions: "Resolved, that we extend our sympathy to the Cuban patriots and to all people struggling against oppression, and endeavoring to achieve their freedom and independence." It was adopted without objection.

A MASS MEETING TO-NIGHT

Of the Opponents of West Chapel Street—To be Held at Warner Hall.

It is evident that the residents of West Chapel street, who oppose street asphalt pavement, are not to be easily daunted. They have arranged for a small mass meeting to be held at Warner hall, at which protest will be made against the action of the aldermen Tuesday evening in reference to the matter.

A call was issued yesterday for all citizens and especially taxpayers to be present on that occasion and to hear the views of prominent taxpayers and authorities on the subject, as well as to discuss the matter themselves. Among the speakers are announced Henry T. Blake, E. P. Arvine, ex-Judge R. S. Pickett, Prentice W. Chase and others.

The residents and taxpayers opposed to asphalt intend to make, it is claimed, some revelations in reference to the permanent pavements which have been hitherto laid back.

The fact that special meetings of both boards of the common council have been called within a week is but one of the steps taken, they allege, to railroad the petition for sheet asphalt through. Many persons absent from the city who are opposed to sheet asphalt have been summoned home to protest. There will probably be a lively time at to-night's meeting.

THE NEW BOARD ORGANIZED

THE NEW BOARD OF EDUCATION HOLDS AN IMPORTANT MEETING.

Harry W. Asher Elected President of the Board—The Various Committees Filled—Recommendations of the District Meeting Approved—Site for a New School to be Purchased—The Composition of the Present Board.

The board of education held a meeting last evening for the purpose of organizing with the recently elected members and of electing a president of the board and members of the various committees for the ensuing year.

The meeting was called to order by the secretary, Mr. Day, and Mr. Morgan was appointed temporary chairman. Mr. Morgan announced that the next business in order was the election of a president of the board, and Mr. Morgan nominated Harry W. Asher for that position. A ballot was called for, and Mr. Asher's election was found to be unanimous. In taking the chair Mr. Asher said that it was with a deep gratitude for the honor conferred upon him.

He also he felt somewhat reluctant about taking the office on account of his youth and lack of knowledge of school affairs. He would, however, promise to perform the duties of the office as well as he knew how. The selection of the various committees then came up, and the usual custom of asking the various members their preferences for places on the committees.

Messrs. Moran, Stoddard and Connor were appointed a committee to select members of the regular committees. They were out a few minutes, and then reported the following list of committees: Finance committee, Messrs. Morgan, Hooker and Asher; school committee, Messrs. Moran, Hooker and Asher; buildings committee, Messrs. Betts, Connor and Manson; committee on books and supplies, Messrs. Farnsworth, Stoddard and Betts; committee on special instruction, Messrs. Manson, Morgan and Connor. The secretary was ordered to cast a ballot for the committees as reported.

The committee on schools then recommended that Miss Katherine Condell be appointed to teach in room 4 of the Welch school. The recommendation was adopted. The salary has not been decided upon yet.

The matter of appointing instructors in the night schools was brought up by Mr. Moran, and he moved that the committee on special instruction with the superintendent be empowered to appoint the instructors. The motion was carried, as was also one ordering the building committee to open such school as requested by the committee on special instruction.

The recommendation to place the "classics of children" series and the "Riverside series" was taken from the table and approved.

At the request of the building committee it was ordered that the force room in Boardman Training School be closed for repairs for about eight days. This will only interfere with four half sessions in this line of work for the pupils.

The various recommendations of the district meeting were then taken up and either approved or referred to the proper committees. Messrs. Morgan, Manson and Moran were appointed a committee to purchase a lot for a school building to be erected upon in the western part of the city, the cost of the lot not to exceed $5,000. It was also voted to empower the secretary to ask for the annual $12,000 for the town for free text books. The committee on special instruction was empowered by the board to purchase for Boardman Manual Training school as recommended at the district meeting, the sum expended not to exceed $5,000. On motion of Mr. Betts a proposition to change the time of meeting of the board from 8 o'clock on the evenings of the first and third Fridays of each month to 7:30 o'clock on the second and fourth Fridays of every month was tabled to come up for consideration at the next meeting, according to the rules. The meeting then adjourned.

The board is now composed as follows: William E. Morgan, Frederick A. Farnsworth, Henry Hooker, John J. Manson, William J. Connor, Harry W. Asher, Ezekiel G. Stoddard, James T. Moran and Fred A. Betts.

All the new members seemed to drop naturally into their positions at the board's table, and went at the work on hand like veterans, especially Mr. Farnsworth, who, when asked as to what committee he would prefer to act upon joyously replied that if glory went with those committees which did lots of work, he would be satisfied with less glory.

Catholics in Caucus. St. Louis, Sept. 25.—The second day's session of the Catholic Union Men's National union was mainly occupied in caucusing for nominees for national officers. The indications are that Rev. M. A. Conife of New York, will be elected.

WILL TEAR UP THINGS.

Waltham, Mass., Sept. 25.—Officer Joseph Flood, of the Waltham police department, has been notified by the seventy Italians at the New Cambridge water basin that unless they are given some money at once on their back pay accounts they will proceed to tear up things generally and destroy the roadbeds and the shanties in which they have been living.

WON BY A MARGIN.

Center Island, Sept. 25.—The yacht Spruce IV to-day captured the second Scowwaha club's challenge series for small boats, defeating Ethelwynn, the defender, by a margin of 23 seconds in a twelve mile race over a triangular course of two miles a side.

FRESHMAN WRESTLERS WIN.

A Jolly Time at the Sophomores-Freshman Wrestling Last Evening—The English Athletes Chanted—Yale Songs Galore—Fifteen Hundred Students Watched the Contest.

"Down in front! Down in front! Light-weight '98. Light-weight '98." These cries, intermingled with Yale cheers rang through the air at High and Wall streets last night when the Yale boys assembled for their annual sports-frolic wrestling. A jolly crowd led by seniors and juniors formed in line at Osborn hall at seven o'clock, and headed by the Governor's Foot Guard band marched to the Hopkins grammar school. Captain Thorne, of football fame, acted as time keeper, while Ives was referee.

When the collegians reached the campus several hundred sophomores and freshmen gathered on the battle field, and when the calls for warriors echoed through the street nearly 1,500 Yale students and their train of admirers crowded the ground and lined the fences which surrounds two sides of the enclosure.

The light weight wrestlers were called first, and cries of "Green '99" and "Holland '99" were heard. "Holland" was the ring name for ten minutes stand-two circular sons of Levi Yale entered the ring and stripped to the waist for the fray. Kellogg responded for '98, and Grace for '99. The dozen fellows who managed the affair helped their respective class champions to strip, and then rubbed them down until the word was given.

Two men, clad only in trousers and shoes, their white shirts and backs glistening with sweat, flickering light of torches entered the circle and facing each other after the preliminary handshake, stooped forward and walked stealthily about for a moment, then, seeing an opening, they clinched. Their bodies swayed in the uncertain light for a few seconds amid a breathless silence, and then came a heavy fall. The struggle was continued for the ground, each man clutching the other's hand and chest like huge hands of steel. Now Grace, now Kellogg, gained a slight vantage, and each class sent up cries for its favorite. Fifty-two seconds by Trainer Thorne's watch the contestants struggled for supremacy and then, with a mighty effort, Grace downed his man.

Ear-splitting shouts rent the air for several seconds and then all eyes were turned to the referee in a draw, much to the dissatisfaction of the crowd. The men locked on the ground, first Grace, now Kellogg on top, but neither able to down the other.

The third round was a good battle, and was won by Grace; time 1:28. Cries of "Down in front!" drowned the noise of the contest part of the time, while those in the outer rows of spectators stood up to see because of the multitude in front.

In the middle-weight class the boys who constituted the front ranks sat down and there was then comparatively no difficulty in seeing the contest.

"Clark '98 and Gloucivitch '99 were the competitors, and their battles were more tests of luring power and endurance than scientific moves and weighty strength. All three rounds were draws. Alternately one man would be underneath always face down, and his opponent could not turn him over. The warriors were roundly hissed and shouts of "Get up," "Give him a show," "Stick it out, fresh," and the like filled the air.

The bout in the middle-weight class was a battle royal. Both men were powerful, and when they met the shock was heard all around the enclosure. The '98 was the victor, and when they clinched and immediately fell heavily. They kicked and tumbled about the ring a few seconds, and then worked their way to one side, falling and kicking on the edge of the crowd. The spectators in the immediate vicinity sprang to their feet to give the wrestlers room.

The contestants soon separated and went to the center of the ring again. Alternately the same thing occurred, this time the wrestlers falling on a different side of the ring.

The third time they went at it, and in four or five seconds Monks had his man down on his side, and in fifty-three seconds from the start he had won a down.

Then Captain Thorne called for a cheer for the Cambridge athletes before the crowd separated, and his request was answered with a mighty cheer.

Forming in line the boys marched through High street, singing the good old college songs so familiar to New Haveners. They marched through High, Elm, York and Chapel streets to Osborn hall, where they disbanded, after a final song and cheer.

A MEETING HELD

At the Colonial Building at Woodmont.

About fifty prominent gentlemen of the state met at the Connecticut building at Woodmont yesterday, among them being Senator Joseph R. Hawley, Congressman N. D. Sperry, Hon. H. Wales Lines and Mr. Bradley, of the noted firm of Bradley & Hubbard of Meriden. James D. Dewell, Nathan C. Easterbrook, Rev. Dr. Anderson of Waterbury and many other well known men. They met to arrange a place for the future disposition of the property, and approved a report made on the subject. James D. Dewell presided. From the indications the disposition of the property will soon be arranged for.

JOLLY BIRTHDAY PARTY.

A jolly birthday surprise party was that given in honor of William Staude of 67 Tyler street, and his birthday, on Wednesday evening. The pleasant rooms were alive with happy young folks and their games and demonstrations of happiness. Music, games, dancing and an abundant supper were enjoyed. Among those present were: Miss Dorca Peters, Miss Etta Staude, Miss Annie Dietter, Miss Augusta Staude, Miss Ada Lynch, Ernest Pflieger, Erik, Henion, Charley and Chris Dietter, Mr. Henig, Mr. Getz, Mr. Ruch and others.

JOHN GENTRY WON EASILY

HE PLACED TO HIS CREDIT THE FASTEST HEAT OF THE YEAR.

Joe Patchen, Though, Gave Him a Good Race and Finished Under Gentry's Wheel in the Final Heat Under the Whip—Most Remarkable Time Was Made.

Dubuque, Ia., Sept. 25.—Six thousand people witnessed the three-cornered matches between John R. Gentry, Joe Patchen and Fidoal this afternoon. Gentry won three heats easily, equaling his mark of 2:03 1/2, and placing to his credit the fastest heat of the year and the fastest third heat ever paced or trotted in a race. Fidoal was the favorite with the spectators, but the other horses out-classed him. Patchen finished so easily in the first two heats that Curry was cautioned by the judges.

In the final heat he finished on Gentry's wheel under the whip. Summaries: John R. Gentry 1 1 1 1 1 1 Joe Patchen 2 2 2 2 2 2 Fidoal 3 3 3 3 3 3 Time—2:06 1/2, 2:05, 2:03 1/2. Time by quarters: First heat, 31 1/4, 1:03 1/4, 1:24 1/4, 2:06 1/2. Second heat: 31, 1:02 1/4, 1:24, 2:05. Third heat: 31 1/4, 1:02 1/4, 1:23 1/4, 2:03 1/2.

Good Government Club.

The Good Government club met at United church chapel last evening. Ex-Mayor Peck presided and William De Forest Dickinson was secretary. Among others present were Rev. Dr. Smyth, Dr. Potat, Principal Fox of Hopkins grammar school, and Rev. E. S. Lines. It was voted to increase the membership committee to three members from each ward, making the total membership forty-five. This committee is to report at the next meeting of the club, to be held next Thursday evening. When asked last evening if the club would put any candidates in the field for the December candidates, Dr. Smyth said it would not, but would endeavor to have the best men elected.

A Terrible Fall.

Bristol, Sept. 25.—Walter G. Plumb, a well known marketman on Main street, met with an accident early this morning which will probably result in his death. He went coon hunting, last night, with two companions, named Shubert and Payne. The hunters went to Marsh Ledge Rock, in Burlington, and at about 2 o'clock became separated.

Plumb, in trying to locate his companions, fell down a ledge a distance of fifty feet, and struck on his back. He was unable to move and lay there for two hours before he was found by Edgar Hough, who was also out coon hunting. Plumb was brought to his home here and Dr. Dietchman was summoned. He found that the injured man had sustained a concussion of the spine and fears a fatal result.

Norwich Track Record Broken.

Norwich, Sept. 25.—The track record of the New London County Agricultural society to-day was broken at the races at this city by Blizard, owned by C. P. Bradley of Meriden, Conn. Time, 2:18 1/2.

ANNUAL ROLL CALL

Of the Howard Avenue Baptist Church.

The annual roll call and harvest supper at the Howard avenue Baptist church was held in the church parlors yesterday afternoon and evening. About one hundred sat down to the supper prepared by the ladies. The meeting came to order about 8 o'clock, when reports from the societies and committees were read. The clerk of the parish read the following report. There are 157 members of the church; 13 have been admitted by letter, by experience 1, by baptism 18—a total of 22. The dismissions are: by letter 9, by death 1, with a total gain of 22. The death was that of Mrs. J. H. Miner, late of Spring street, who died last February. It was the first death in the parish since the church was organized. The church's benevolences for the year amounted to $234.85. The report from the Women's Benevolent society was as follows: The society has held forty meetings, made five quilts, tacked four comfortable, sent a barrel to Rev. Mr. Johnson of Whatcom, Washington. Their receipts for the year ending September 1, 1895, were $227.56. The officers are: President, Mrs. David Johnson; vice-president, Mrs. Charles Alling; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. M. A. Gage; managers, Mrs. Gage, Mrs. Ann Howard, Mrs. Morris Parmalee, Mrs. William Elkins, Mrs. E. Hull, Mrs. Lego; house-keeper, Mrs. Elkins; chairman of fancy work committee, Mrs. B. Croby.

Their receipts for the year amounted to $237.56. The Sunday school committee reported the following: Seven officers, seven teachers and 186 scholars, with an average attendance of 118. The net collection of the year was $124.63. They have given for church benevolence $38.50; for missions, $15; and for benevolence $27.02, making a total of $80.52. The Christian Endeavor reported very favorably, their being 39 active, 4 associate and 17 affiliated members. The King's Daughters have a membership of fifteen and have raised $30, of which $15 was expended for a new pulpit. The first meeting for the year will be held October 1. Rev. G. E. Nichols, pastor of the church, made very fitting remarks in reference to the church, as did Rev. C. B. Ford, pastor of the Howard avenue M. E. church and Temperance Evangelist Spler. The pulpit rail and pulpit were recently trimmed with wild flowers.

FAVOR BRICK SIDEWALKS.

Repeal of Present By-Law Concerning Sidewalks Asked For—Judge Baldwin and Anthony Carroll Opposed to Present Law—Permanent Band Stand for the Lodge—Other Municipal Matters.

Four members of the committee on ordinances met in the city hall last evening to consider a proposed amendment to the by-laws of the city relating to the laying and relaying of brick sidewalks, both of which are now by law prohibited. The only member of the committee absent was Alderman Blakestee, and among the citizens present were Judge Simeon E. Baldwin, Henry T. Blake, Alderman Francis S. Hamilton, Anthony Carroll, and a number of others.

The proposed amendment prohibits the relaying or repairing with brick any sidewalk, except by order of the court of common council upon the recommendation of the committee on streets.

Alderman Hamilton, chairman of the street committee, appeared in favor of the proposed amendment, and said that while he did not believe in brick sidewalks, still at the same time he did not think it was right to compel property owners to take up a fairly good brick walk and lay an entire new one, when by proper repairs the walk could be put in good condition.

Henry T. Blake argued against the amendment and also in favor of the repeal of the present by-law. He claimed that property owners should be allowed to repair brick sidewalks with the same material, and that while the common council had the power to designate the material to be used in places where no sidewalk existed, it had no such power in reference to the laying, relaying or repairing of old sidewalks; and further, that it was an injustice to compel a poor man to lay as expensive a walk as his rich neighbor.

Judge Simeon E. Baldwin also argued in favor of brick sidewalks, which he claimed to be better than dirt and flag-walks. He also denounced the attempt to compel property owners to lay any other kind of walk as un-American. He conceded that some of the brick sidewalks were not as good as they should be, but this, he said, because the walks were laid with poor bricks. He also related how his workmen had been ordered not to repair one of his brick walks, and the result was delay and increased expense. "Were I not a judge of the Supreme Court of Errors," said he, "I think I would have tested the legality of the ordinance in that case."

The proposed amendment and the by-law itself was opposed by Anthony Carroll, Michael Beegan, C. T. Umberling and William C. Dickerman. Mr. Carroll stated that he had been ordered to lay a concrete walk in front of some of his property, but, said he, "I won't do it, even if I have to carry the case to the highest court in the state."

In executive session the committee decided to postpone action on the subject until next Tuesday night, when there will be a hearing on the proposed ordinance relating to street sprinkling and the assessment for same.

BAND STAND ON THE GREEN.

The committee on band concerts held a special meeting last evening for the purpose of considering the petition for the erection of a suitable band stand on the central green. Alderman Parish and Councilman Bourke and Carlington were the only members of the committee present. The petition was favored by Alderman Keyes, representing the Governor's Foot Guard band, and Thomas Hopkin, representing the Second Regiment band. Mayor Hendrick was also present and spoke in favor of the petition.

The committee decided to take no action on the matter until after they had secured an estimate of the cost and will hold another meeting next Wednesday evening and formulate a report.

NEW QUINNIPIAC BRIDGE.

A joint session of the town and city committees on roads and bridges was held last evening to consider what action should be taken in reference to the new drawbridge ordered by the United States government to be constructed across the Quinnipiac river at Grand avenue. The bridge must be constructed and opened for traffic by December 31, 1896.

At the meeting last evening Selectman Ludington was elected chairman of the joint committee. After a lengthy discussion it was decided to instruct the city engineer to prepare specifications and advertise for bids for the immediate construction of the bridge. The city has been authorized to stand bonds to pay for the construction of the new bridge.

BOARD OF COMPENSATION.

The members of the board of compensation also held an executive session last evening. No action was taken in reference to either Laurel or Irving street assessments, but it was voted to lay the assessment for the Commerce street pavement, as recommended by the board of public works.

Runaway on George Street.

Shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon one of Smedley's teams ran away from in front of the new George street school, and before it was stopped had smashed an awning, two wagons and a hitching post. The team dashed down George street to Broad street, to Cedar street, to Congress avenue. Here a farmer's wagon was struck and a wheel knocked off, and another wagon was struck at the corner of Lafayette street and another wheel taken off. At the corner of Hill street and Congress avenue the team ran against an awning post in front of William Kearney's grocery store and knocked the awning down. The team then continued running, knocked down one hitching post and was stopped by some of the harness becoming caught in a second post.

OVER 7,000 MASONS ATTEND

THE DEDICATION OF THE MASONIC HOME IN WALLINGFORD.

A Great Day for Connecticut Masonry—An Elaborate Program—Speeches by Prominent Members of the Order—The Ceremony of Presenting Corn, Wine and Oil—The Twenty-second Masonic Home in the United States—A Big Lunch to the Grand Lodge and Guests—Grand Officers of Eastern Star Present—New Haven Singers—A Big Special Train From This City.

Wallingford yesterday was in its glory, and the fact seemed to be appreciated by everyone living in the town. The occasion was the dedication of the Masonic home, which was opened several weeks ago but had not been formally dedicated. All the incoming morning trains brought visitors to attend the ceremonies, until at 11 o'clock, the time of the beginning of the exercises, there were between 6,000 and 7,000 Masons and friends present from out of the town. The street leading from the depot back on the hill, where the home is situated, was continually thronged, and many houses along the way were elaborately decorated in bunting. As one approached the eminence on which the home stands and where the ceremonies were to take place, a most beautiful scene was presented. All the buildings connected with the home were decorated all around the outside in red, white and blue bunting and flags. These decorations, together with the continually moving crowd on the hill and the large white tent erected across the street from the home grounds, presented a scene of rare picturesqueness. The matter of a home for indigent Masons was first suggested in a sermon preached in Center church in this city by Rev. Ashbel Baldwin in 1797, before the grand lodge. The establishment of a home was next recommended by Luke A. Lockwood of Stamford in an address to the grand lodge in January, 1873. This led to steps being taken toward the erection of such a home, and at the same session of the grand lodge the first committee on the Masonic home was appointed. The grounds and buildings were purchased September 7, 1894.

The speaking of the day and other ceremonies were performed from a large platform built out from the front piazza of the orphan's building. The platform was covered with a canvas tent covering, and was decorated profusely in bunting. On the platform sat Grand Master Henry O. Warner of Milford, D. G. M., James A. Welsh of Danbury; G. S. W., A. C. Lippitt of New London; G. J. W., George A. Kice of Norwich; G. T., John G. Root of Hartford; G. S., J. H. Barlow of Hartford; G. S. D., F. W. Havens of Hartford; G. J. D., G. G. McNall of Greenwich; G. C., Rev. D. M. James of Fair Haven; G. S. S., F. S. Stevens of Bridgeport; G. Tyler, E. T. Main of Hartford; grand deputies, A. P. Fitch of Hartford, A. C. Wheeler of Naugatuck and B. F. Turner of Middletown, and Luke H. Lockwood of Stamford.

Among others noticed present were E. S. Quinard of New Haven, the oldest P. G. M. in the state; W. G. Grannis of Hartford, Harris Pendleton of New London, W. G. Bigham of Willimantic, Mayor Marigold of Bridgeport, Hon. M. B. Beardsley, F. B. Beecher, Mr. Goodsell, F. S. Stevens, C. H. Peat, Jr., Hugh Sterling and J. Johnson of New Haven; Past Master Rowe, F. A. Spencer, Norman Grannis and William G. Risley of Waterbury, G. E. Bunnell and Charles Baldwin of New Haven.

The exercises began yesterday at 11 o'clock with music by the Wallingford National band, which was in attendance during all the ceremonies of dedication. The grand marshal then proclaimed silence "in the name of the grand master of the Masons in the state of Connecticut." Silence having been obtained Rev. D. M. James of Fair Haven, grand chaplain, made the opening prayer. A hymn of thanksgiving, written by Brother William Edward Penney of this city, and dedicated to the home, was then sung to the tune of Gaudemus. The hymn is as follows

For the Fall

The Shoe question presents the one live issue. It's impossible to walk away from it. The question must be met, and we expect to carry the city and country by a handsome majority with our stock. All soles can find comfort in our Shoes, because they're a luxury in leather. A good Shoe shapes itself to the foot and does not make the foot shape itself to the shoe. That's our Shoe idea exactly, and we can give you something that'll belong to your foot as well as be just what's wanted for rainy weather; and at such low prices as $2.50 for a fine Bt. Dong. Button, That has the style of a Four Dollar Shoe.

DIRECTORS RE-ELECTED

Of the Old Colony Railroad. Boston, Sept. 25.—The old board of directors was re-elected at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Old Colony railroad to-day.

It was voted to authorize the directors to issue $2,000,000 of fifty year 6 per cent. bonds, to be either coupon or registered bonds or notes, or both, and to be issued in such proportions as the directors might elect and to be payable in gold if the directors deemed it best.

In speaking about this issue, President Choate said the New Haven road, the lessee of the Old Colony, was now carrying out the large projects of improvements which had been planned and the work had been rapidly pushed ahead and other improvements would soon be begun.

Of the $2,000,000 of bonds authorized to be issued at the last annual meeting, $500,000 had already been issued, $1,100,000 would be required to meet the bonds maturing next year, and $200,000 to pay off a note, thus leaving a margin of only $200,000 for all other needs.

Death of Mrs. Wiswell. Mrs. Louise Bishop, wife of William M. Wiswell, who died at her home in New York Tuesday, was a cousin of Charles S. Leete, president of the Mechanics' bank, and had other relatives in this city. She was a daughter of Thomas Chatterton, an old and well known New Haven citizen. She leaves a sister, Mrs. Long of New York. Mrs. Wiswell resided here until a few years ago and for a long time had spent her summers at Branford Point. The interment will be at Woodlawn.

Orange Celebration. Star of Elm City, L. O. L. No. 151, with invited brethren from Hartford Devotion L. O. L. No. 145 celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of the Coural Orange institution at their hall, Coural building, Tuesday evening, September 24. Stirring addresses were made by Rev. Weddings. Dennis Doyle of West Haven and Miss Lizzie Street, daughter of Patrolman Simon Street, were married at the Sacred Heart church at 7:30 yesterday morning. There was a large attendance at the church and at the reception, and the wedding gifts were exceedingly numerous. The happy couple left on a wedding trip.

Charles H. Hahn, the State street baker, and Miss Elizabeth M. Ritter, daughter of John Ritter of Orange, N. J. were married at that place yesterday. A large number of New Haven friends were present to witness the ceremony.

Largest Cake in the World. A mammoth cake weighing several hundred pounds is now on exhibition at the Boston Grocery, 328 Chapel street, corner of Temple. This cake is about 5 feet high, 4 feet wide and 2 feet thick. It was made by S. S. Thompson, the well known baker, and one of its ingredients is the famous Cottopest manufactured by Swift & Co. Slices of this cake will be served free to all who visit the Boston Grocery. Twelve cash prizes will be given to the twelve ladies who guess nearest the weight of the cake. Two charming and beautiful young ladies preside at the cake department.

Burned to Death. Hartford, Sept. 25.—Michael Boyle, aged forty-two, and Benjamin O'Neil, aged fifty-four, were burned to death this morning at Chester. The bodies of the two men were found in the ruins of a house in which they lived. It is thought the fire caught from one of the men knocking over a lighted lamp, as both men were drunk.

OLD COMRADES With Mr. Stahl in a Hard Fought Fight. Chairman Stahl, of the board of eight, has just received a letter from Friederichstadt, Germany, which stated that two of the men who defended the town from September 29 to October 4, 1850, against the Danish army, are still living there. One is named Buttner and the other Carl Michaelson. Mr. Stahl was among the defenders of the stormed town where he did valiant service. He is the only man now living in New Haven who was a soldier in the German army during the war between Germany and Denmark, in the middle of the century.

FIGHT WITH BURGLARS.

Rev. Mr. Hanna of the Baptist Church, Plantsville, Wounded in a Desperate Struggle—Cut in Eight Places. Southington, Sept. 25.—A desperate fight with two burglars occurred at Plantsville near this place at 4 o'clock this morning. In the struggle Thomas C. Hanna, the new pastor of the Second Baptist church of Plantsville, received six or eight knife wounds and had his neck seriously strained by being thrown over a marble top washstand. He is in a serious condition to-day.

The Rev. Thomas Hanna is a young man twenty-one years of age, a graduate of Bucknell university, and accepted a call to the Second Baptist church two weeks ago. He has, since his coming to town, been boarding with the family of R. W. Cowles of Summer street, near the depot. Mr. Cowles is a deacon in the church.

About 4 o'clock this morning Mr. Hanna, who sleeps on the first floor, was awakened by a noise in his room. He raised himself and saw two figures standing in the room between his cot and an open window. Thinking they might be some of the family he asked who they were. The figures made no response, but drew stealthily near to his feet suspecting their foul purpose in an instant and planted himself between them and the open window, shutting off their only means of escape.

At this one man drew a knife and made a lunge at the minister, cutting him in the fleshy part of the right forearm. Then began a fierce struggle. They were two men against one, but Hanna is young and agile. He wrenched the knife from his assailant, and in so doing cut himself in several places. They got the knife again, however, and would doubtless have killed him had not the deacon's family, hearing the noise, rushed in to his assistance. The two men made good their escape.

The police are looking for them in this vicinity, as they are thought to be in hiding here somewhere. It was at first thought that they had jumped the 5 o'clock freight for New Haven, but they were not on the train when it arrived at the Elm city.

AT DWIGHT PLACE CHURCH. Mr. C. A. Osborne to be Ordained to the Ministry to-day.

Mr. C. A. Osborne, acting as assistant pastor at the Dwight Place church, will be ordained to the ministry this afternoon. The services will be held in the chapel of the church at 3:30. The public are invited. The churches invited to sit in this council are all the Congregational churches of New Haven, the Congregational churches of East Haven, West Haven, North Haven, Orange, Westville, Whitteville, Mount Carmel, Woodbridge. The following named individuals are also invited: Rev. George P. Fisher, D. D., Rev. Lewis O. Braetow, D. D., Rev. William F. Blackman, Ph. D., Rev. Frank C. Porter, Ph. D., professors of the divinity school; also Rev. Franklin W. Fish, D. D., president Chicago theological seminary, Spencer E. Evans, acting pastor, Granby, Conn.

BOTH KILLED. Husband and Wife Found Dead on the Kitchen Floor of Their Home—In a Room Was a Revolver With Three Chambers Empty.

New York, Sept. 25.—Robert Fair, an insurance agent, forty years old, was found dead shortly before noon to-day in his apartments on the second floor of No. 507 Third avenue with a pistol shot wound in his left breast.

His wife, Maggie, aged thirty-five years, was also found dead, having been shot through the left temple.

The revolver was found in the parlor with three chambers empty.

The police of the city. Thirty-fifth street station reported it as a case of supposed murder and suicide.

The couple had been drinking for some time, it is said.

The bodies were found lying in the kitchen by Policeman John F. Clarke.

Dr. A. M. Stewart, who lives in the apartments under those of Fair told this story:

"The Fairs have lived here for five years. He was a perfect gentleman, and the couple were very affectionate. Last winter Fair had the grip and since then he had been very ugly. It was the same way when he had the grip two years ago. He was an agent of the New York Life Insurance company, and I think he insured the lives of children.

"Fair kept at work, but four months ago he began to drink and his wife followed his example. Fair told me recently that he had lost his agency, which had been paying him $50 a week. Last Saturday Mrs. Fair went out and did not return until last night. While she was away Fair kept on drinking, and broke a great deal of the furniture.

"He must have shot his wife and

Asylum for the maintenance and education of their homeless orphans.

They are now open to your inspection and I trust will meet your hearty approval.

Permit me to call your attention to the great object lessons which our ancient fraternity invites you to witness here to-day.

This home is the visible outcome and manifestation of that "charity which is the bond of peace and the perfection of every virtue" and the very corner stone and foundation of our institution.

Charity, as taught by us so freely and impressively in our rituals, now no longer exhibits itself only in glowing expressions of love and sentiment, but in these beautiful and substantial structures, provided with all appointments conducive to the comfort and happiness of its members and foster hereafter to be known as our "Masonic Home," suggestive to all the hallowing and comforting aspirations and influences which this word "Home" imparts to hearts bowed down to present infirmity and need and by cruel apprehensions for the future; or, bereaved by an irreparable loss of the love and succor of father and mother.

This home is also an object lesson of Masonic hope and Masonic faith.

Many men live in the present and for the present, and mainly for themselves. They are satisfied and contented if the wants and desires of themselves and their own families are provided for and supplied. Their charity is measured by occasional sparing gifts to the poor and needy whose appeal to their natural sympathy could not be comfortably or respectably refused.

There are others who live in the past, who find their happiness in what they or others have done in the interest of humanity and the higher life. They see no necessity for doing anything for posterity. They and the first class I have mentioned enquire with satisfied assurance what has posterity done for us that we should now do for it. Let the future take care of itself, we have done our share of good work in the past and are doing so now as occasion requires. They are entirely forgetful of what their ancestors have done for them or what the duties springing from the brotherhood of man require at their hands.

It is well that there is still another class, who, by faith, live in the future as well as in the past and in the present. These are the benefactors of their race.

The world is better in that they lived, inspired by charity and love of their fellow men, strengthened by an unflinching faith in the sure promise of God and encouraged by the cheering hope of joyful fruition they liberally and unselfishly provide for the administration of blessed works of charity commencing now and continuing through all future generations. This home and these broad acres of homestead are the realization and witness of the charity, faith and hope which inspired, strengthened and encouraged this last class I have mentioned.

Not by words, but by works ye know them. Twenty-two years of unswerving faith, cheerful hope and self-denial have resulted in this inspiring object lesson of God-like charity.

Again the raising of the flag of our country this day is another impressive object lesson of Free Masonry. It teaches us the duty of love of our country, loyalty to its interests and obedience to its laws.

Obedience is the first law of Masons as it is the first law of God. It commences at the cradle and ends in heaven in that perfect love which works unconscious obedience to the will of the supreme architect of the universe.

THE DEDICATORY EXERCISES.

"A Song of Friendship," sung by the assembled Masons to the tune of "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys Are Marching" evoked much enthusiasm and was received with applause.

The deputy grand master then addressed Grand Master Warner, requesting him to "dedicate and set apart the home to the purposes for which it is intended by the craft." When this ceremony was completed, William H. Alling, the architect, who designed the building, made his report, showing the Masons what he had done. Grand Master Warner responded for the fraternity, accepting the work of the architect and assured him of the approval of the fraternity of what had been accomplished. In concluding he said: "Those who in coming years may desire to enquire of you, need only to come here and look around them."

The prayer of consecration was then delivered by Grand Chaplain Rev. D. M. James. The impressive ceremony of consecration now took place, the grand master officiating.

In connection with these ceremonial remarks the corn was presented by the grand junior warden, the wine by the grand senior warden, and the oil by the deputy grand master, the grand master responding to each. This ceremony was followed by the invocation by the grand chaplain. The "Hymn to Charity," written by W. S. Myles of Hiram lodge No. 1, and dedicated to the Masonic home was sung to the tune, "America." The hymn is as follows:

Staff of humanity, This home we owe to Thee, Thy resting place, A Mason's Charity, Wide as the world shall be, Long as eternity, Free as God's grace. When age hath dimmed the sight, And manhood lost its might, Here refuge stands, Son of the Square and Plumb, Here brothers bid thee come, Till called to that last Home, Not made with hands. Almighty Deity, Key Stone of Masonry, Grant thou this prayer:— Ne'er from our Craft depart; Open each Craftman's heart; Receive us when we part, Upon the Square. Past Grand Master Luke A. Lockwood of Stamford, who is also president of the Masonic Charity Foundation of Connecticut, then delivered an impressive address, in which he said: MR. LOCKWOOD'S ADDRESS. This is the greatest Masonic event of the century in Connecticut. Nothing like it has occurred since the introduction of Freemasonry into this state in the year 1738. It is the greatest Masonic event because it marks a step in the progress of the institution, not a new departure but a new development and outcome of what already existed within it. The fraternity have met in convention many times to lay corner stones and to dedicate buildings, but never to dedicate buildings for the purpose to which these edifices have been piously devoted.

The event of this day is a most wonderful step in advance of all we have yet known in its history. It is a source of honor and just pride to consider the material progress Masonry has made. The tops of high hills and low valleys, secluded rooms in taverns and garrets have yielded, after centuries, to magnificent temples adorned by the beautiful handiwork of the artist and artificer, as places of assemblage of the craft for their work and instruction.

The root principle of all Masonry is the existence of God and His Fatherhood. From this fatherhood, logically flows the brotherhood of man, which perhaps more immediately touches us on this occasion. So clearly is this true that when our misguided brethren of the Grand Orient of France in their madness struck out of the constitution the declaration of the fatherhood of God, although reserving the declaration of the brotherhood of man, the Masons of the whole world struck out the Grand Orient of France from the brotherhood of Masons. They blindly refused to acknowledge His fatherhood, thereby denying their sonship, "avowing themselves to be "fill nullius," children of nobody. By this suicidal act they justly lost their Masonic inheritance. Disavowing their parentage they despised and rejected their inheritance.

Having briefly and in general terms outlined the development of the craft in material progress, in numerical strength and in its jurisprudence, Mr. Lockwood then spoke of the most important practical development in the line of benevolence. He said this development has this day manifested itself in these beautiful buildings dedicated as the Masonic Home of Aged and Infirm Brethren, their Widows and Orphans.

The virtue of charity as here manifested, is the duty arising from the brotherhood of man, which brotherhood directly flows from the fatherhood of God. Let us consider the development of Masonry in this line. The Mason is taught everywhere and most impressively the duty of relief. This duty is limited by no weekly stipend and in consideration of any weekly payment or any payment whatever, but is limited only by the need of the recipient and the ability of the giver. Many noble and unheralded acts of charity have been performed by the craft. Upon the ancient records occasionally appear donations for the relief of the needy. But these acts of charity were only occasional. No provision was made for relief of continuing necessity.

The Masonic Charity Foundation of Connecticut will never forget the words of sympathy and good cheer, the generous and noble deeds, and the substantial gifts of the Order of the Eastern Star, whose worthy officers are among our most welcome guests to-day, with their ability acquired by organization, the kindly sympathy of their nature, their peculiar powers of making a home a true heaven of peaceful rest and of developing and guiding the mind and affection of the young, this order will find its greatest mission and most satisfying happiness in making this home truly the home of the distressed and the bereaved.

We can establish a Masonic poorhouse, but not a Masonic home without the tender sympathy and the general and elevating influences of woman. Thus, my brethren, you see that a new development of a Masonic principle cannot in any way be un-Masonic; that the Masonic home is no new thing; that it is not established in violation of any Masonic principle; that in fact the home is the outcome of genuine Masonic charity. That it is a development of what has been in the mind and heart of the craft for a century at least.

That our duty is to give services to our distressed brethren, not mere alms, remembering his welfare as our own in our devotion to duty.

And that we should not despise nor undervalue the benevolent assistance freely offered to us by mothers, sisters, wives, widows and daughters of Free Masons, but wisely make use of all proper means to give effect to our benevolent intentions.

Brethren of Connecticut: The faithful prayer of your grand chaplain which ascended to heaven nearly a century ago has been answered. The answer is before you. Our Masonic Home has been established. Our brothers and sisters are even now with us rejoicing in their homes. This home is this day committed to us as a sacred trust. It stands complete and without debt. Our work is not yet finished. Its support rests upon us. Shall we be faithful to this trust? Let no brother say it cannot be done. Let not the magnitude of the work appal. Let each do as he is able, "not grudgingly nor of necessity."

Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify (not you), but your Father who is in heaven."

And then that prophesy and promise veiled from careless eyes in the esoteric of our order will surely be fulfilled and performed, for "Behold the builder, the possessor of all the world, Jehovah, Jah, shall establish us in plenty and in strength."

CONCLUDING CEREMONIES.

After music by the band the grand marshal proclaimed as follows: "By order of the most worshipful grand master, in the name of the fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons in the state of Connecticut, I proclaim that this Masonic Home for the aged and infirm brother, the destitute widow, and the helpless orphan, has been dedicated in ample form."

The doxology was then played by the band and the audience joined in singing it. An original and beautiful poem, "Masonic Ode," written by William E. Penney of this city, and dedicated to the Masonic fraternity, was read by Worshipful Brother Lucius P. Deming of New Haven; a selection is as follows: That mystic creed,

Framed when our race was young, Long ere the host of heaven With joy had sung The natal song of Christ, O'er Bethlehem's starlit plains, That like a golden chain, Deth gird the globe, And millions hold In bonds of brotherhood, That creed doth here Once more proclaim To all the world abroad, Its power to bless humanity, Through God.

This hour doth speak Of countless hidden altars Where still glows The flame that for Five thousand years, Through persecution, Darkness, hopes and fears, Hath never failed With steadfast rays to shine, Guarded and fed of Christ, By faith in the Divine, It speaks of fellowship In weal and woe On whose broad level Meet the high and low, Where crowns and honors Must be laid aside, And all men stand as brothers, Side by side:

A fellowship that meets The direst stress Of human want, and woe, And helplessness. Sweet Charity, sister of Hope and Faith, And greatest of the three! To-day we offer thee This, the fruition of Masonic love, Born of unselfish toil And tireless zeal, And which doth prove Thy power to life humanity above The mire of selfish greed Up to those holy heights Of pure self sacrifice Where still is seen The foot prints of The loving Nazarene.

How fair this scene, Behold the circling hills, The vales, the broad and pleasant fields, The orchards, waving trees, The placid lake, Beyond whose shores one sees Hundreds of pleasant homes And spires that rise Like solemn fingers Pointing to the skies! Safe sheltered here, Nurtured, sustained and blessed By the great brotherhood, Within whose breast Is kept the record Of its deeds of love, Whose aims are done in secret, Not for praise.

Here, through the coming days, Shall Hope's light shine again On faces where despair Had set its seal. Here youth shall feel The thrill of high resolve And noble aims, And fit itself for Duty's future claims; Here shall life's sunset sky With radiance shine, And peace divine Come gently down on silent wings To close the dimming eyes of age To sweet repose, In that last slumber Which no walking knows.

Surely the Master's blessing, Making rich and adding Naught of sorrow, Shall be yours, And your names live While the great brotherhood endures, And when life's work is done And ye are called Form labor to refreshment, Still shall such a thought This product of your strong And skillful hand, A priceless heritage To those whose feet Shall follow where you trod The rugged path That leads to Joy complete And endeth at The hidden throne of God.

After the reading of the poem John G. Root of Hartford made the speech presenting the flag in most appropriate terms.

Herbert E. Benton of New Haven made the speech of acceptance, and his address was exceedingly patriotic. He told how no man who was not a patriotic citizen could be a good Mason. The large flag was unfurled on the newly erected flag pole in front of the orphan asylum, while a song, "Our Flag is There," was sung to the tune of "Lauringer Horatius."

A weather vane was presented to the home by J. K. Coburn of Wooster lodge, No. 79, Judge Deming making the presentation speech.

The exercises concluded with the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the band, while the air was carried by the audience. The grand lodge then adjourned to an upper room of the building and was dismissed, it having been convened in the morning in the rooms of Compass lodge, No. 9 of Wallingford.

AND THEN CAME THE BANQUET.

The grand officers and invited guests then adjourned to the large tent across the street, where a sumptuous lunch had been spread under the supervision of John McCarthy of New Haven. To supply the coffee there were eight beverage prepared. The grand officers formed in line at the flap of the large tent to let the guests pass in first, and then entering themselves, sat down at the large table which was reserved for them with Grand Master Warner at the head of the table, and Senior Grand Warden Lippitt of New London at the other end. The ladies of the Wallingford chapter of the Eastern Star waited on the tables.

GRAND OFFICERS OF THE EASTERN STAR.

After the gentlemen had sat down the grand officers of the Eastern Star were announced, and came in amid a storm of applause. They were grand matron, Mrs. Mary C. A. Perkins of Bristol; grand patron, W. M. Gage of New Haven; A. G. M., Mrs. Annie L. Wolcott of New Haven; G. C., Mrs. Ida Fisk of Hartford; A. G. P. M. C. Combes of Bridgeport; G. T., Mrs. H. C. Haladay of New Haven; G. Martha, Mrs. Lucine Powers of Wallingford; G. E., Mrs. Ella Haslan of New Britain; G. C., Mrs. Antoinette Hamilton of Unionville; G. O., Mrs. H. W. G. Cornish of Naubuck; G. S., William L. Griswold of New Haven; P. G. Matron, Mrs. Amelia Leeds of New Haven.

AFTER DINNER SPEECHES.

After the dinner was over the grand master, who was toast master, called upon R. F. A. Hatch of Danbury, for a short speech. In his remarks, Mr. Hatch spoke of this being the twenty-second Masonic home dedicated in the United States. Other speakers were Grand Master Warner, Luke A. Lockwood, Mrs. Mary C. A. Perkins, Rev. Mr. James, Mayor Marigold of Bridgeport, George B. Bunnell, J. W. Mix of Yalesville, who proposed three cheers for Mr. Warner, which were given with a will; Senator Lyman H. Johnson, Judge Lucius P. Deming, W. W. Lee, president of the Veteran Masonic association of Meriden; Fred W. Smith.

The badges worn by the grand commandery, grand lodge and committee were very handsome ones, the colors being yellow, pink, green, orange, blue, red, crimson, fawn, etc. President Lockwood's badge was the best of the lot, a deserved compliment. The badges were lettered: "Dedication of the Connecticut Masonic Home and Orphan Asylum, Wallingford, September 25, 1895."

NTY-TWO YEARS AGO.

Sir Lewis C. Schiffley of Louisville, Ky., who was present, wore an apron which he wore at the dedication of the Masonic Home in Philadelphia twenty-two years ago. The apron has this fact inscribed on it, and was looked upon by those who saw it as a valuable memento.

NEW HAVEN SINGERS—THE BIG SPECIAL FROM NEW HAVEN.

'Did you know that the Connecticut Clothing Company have the largest stock of Clothing in the State? I never saw so much Clothing in a store as though they were going to fit out a large army; could not stay long when I went in there, but did not see a poor looking garment in the store,—and their prices are awful low. Pa was looking at some $12.00 Suits, and they showed him so many he had hard work to decide which one to take, but finally selected a Brown Mixed Three Button Sack Suit, and I tell you it is a beauty and fits him as well as custom made. He bought me one of those Victor Combination Suits, with two pairs of Pants and a Cap to match, for $5.00, and I think it is a better Suit than those I used to have that cost $5.00 for the Suit alone; and then I got a ticket for a Watch and Chain, and when Pa buys me an Overcoat I will get them. Won't I be a ducky, though? They are good watches, too, as the C. C. Co.'s warrant them for a year. If your Pa wants any Clothing, tell him not to make a mistake and go anywhere else. He can save money and get a better fit at the C. C. Co.'s.

Tom's mother bought his Black Sunday Suit there, and I heard her tell Pa that it is the best place in New Haven to buy Clothing.

The Springfield Republican feels obliged to allow that thirteen thousand new fourth-class postmasters during the last fiscal year wasn't exactly the acme of civil service reform.

Marshall Field, the great dry goods merchant of Chicago, says that liberal and honest advertising was the making of his fortune. "We have one rule in advertising," says Mr. Field, "never to advertise anything but the solid truth."

Colonel Van Hensper, of Dixbury, New York, has managed to get himself called eccentric by driving an eight-in-hand, made up of a splendid Spanish mare, two Alderney bulls, a Hambletonian mare, a young camel, two placid Indian ponies and a tame moose. These he drives to a sulky, to the edification of the small boy.

Queen Sophia of Sweden, whose fifty-ninth birthday has just been celebrated with much pomp and ceremony at Drottningholm Castle, Emperor William proceeding thither for the express purpose of tendering his congratulations and good wishes, is one of the most enthusiastic friends and promoters of the Salvation Army, a distinction which she shares with her niece, the Queen Regent of Holland.

It has been discovered in Massachusetts that the State laws regarding incendiarism do not cover freight cars. It is strictly no crime, it is said, to fire a freight car. The law specifies about everything else except steam cars, and as the word "building" was held not to cover cars in a case of breaking and entering, and the law on that score had to be extended accordingly, so it is held necessary now to extend the statute against incendiarism in the same way. The State fire marshal will ask the next legislature for a special act covering the defect.

Emperor William frequently goes about his capital in disguise, mixing incognito with all classes of his subjects. In the guise of a sailor he passed a day and a night in visiting the saloons frequented by sailors and common soldiers, discussing with the men whom he met the hardships and difficulties of their lot. He listened attentively to the stories and asked numbers of questions. He did not close his investigation until late at night in a low saloon he found himself among a company of drunken sailors who insisted on his dancing with them. His majesty drew the line at this and abruptly quitted the place, guarded by a couple of men who until that moment had appeared to be his half-intoxicated companions.

A correspondent of the Washington Evening Star calls attention to the popular mistake which credits President Lincoln with originating that famous phrase, "a government of the people, by the people, and for the people." It has been proposed that the part of the immortal address of Lincoln at Gettysburg, in which this quotation appears, shall be perpetuated upon the bronze tablet which is provided for in the act establishing a national military park on the battle field. This correspondent hopes that in case the sentence is thus perpetuated, quotation marks will be put around these famous words, to show that they were not original with Mr. Lincoln, and were not intended by him to be so understood. They belong, he says, to Henry Wilson of Massachusetts, once vice-president, who, in a letter addressed to James Redpath and others in Boston, written before Mr. Lincoln's inauguration as president, and three years before the Gettysburg address, said, "ours is a government of constitutions; a government of the people, by the people and for the people." This letter was dated November 27, 1850, and Lincoln's address was uttered November 19, 1863.

The peace resolution adopted recently by the French Socialists in their congress at Romilly is interesting in its reference to Germany. "Considering that peace is the indispensable condition of the development and triumph of Socialism, and that no one but a madman or a criminal would ever dream of hurling against each other nations equipped as modern nations are for death; considering, however, that armed peace is more and more tending to crush production and is leading Europe to bankruptcy, the national congress of the French Labor party joins the German Socialist Democracy in declaring peace between peoples to be its sole foreign policy. It charges the deputies of the party, moreover, to bring immediately before Parliament a bill tending to the reduction, by international conventions, gradually and simultaneously, of the time of active service in European armies." It was also decided to carry into department councils and municipal councils the same spirit of obstruction which has been so effective in the Chamber of Deputies, and never to lose an opportunity of putting forward Socialist candidates for any and every office which might become vacant from one end of France to the other.

HE MAY GET HERE. An attempt is to be made to transfer the street pavement matter from a committee of the Court of Common Council to the committee of the whole in the shape of a public meeting which is called for this evening. It will be an interesting meeting and a long one if all those who have the public interest at heart are present and speak their piece.

It is possible that the wild man of Winsted will reach this city in time to attend the meeting. He has left Southbury, and has been seen on the road to New Haven by a reporter of the Hartford Times, who took a photograph of him and sent it to his paper, wherein it was published last evening. The picture shows a very active, earnest man, clothed in hair and carrying a crow in his left hand. He knows that many who will take part in the discussion will be obliged to eat crow, and he is going to have a hand in providing it. When the Times man took him he was "legging it" rapidly and if his zeal and strength hold out he ought to make Warner Hall by this evening. If he does his appearance will certainly command attention, his zeal for the public welfare will command respect, and his thoughtfulness in bringing along some crow will command appreciation.

THE NEW YORK DEMOCRATS. The New York Democrats had a hot time of it in their convention at Syracuse but they got through without breaking anything but the peace. And that was badly broken. The most interesting part of the performance was the construction and adoption of the resolution concerning Sunday. It was a most ingenious sneak, and it shows what can be done when there is need. The resolution declares for equal and honest enforcement of all the laws; a proper observance of a day of rest and an orderly Sunday; modification or repeal of laws unsupported by public opinion; no unjust sumptuary laws; no blue laws; recognition of the fundamental American principle of freedom and conscience; home rule in excise as in other matters within reasonable limitations established to protect the interests of temperance and morality—and an amendment of the excise and other laws by the legislature of the State which shall permit each municipality, expressing its sentiments by a popular vote of a majority of its citizens, to determine within such proper legislative restrictions as shall be required by the interests of the entire State, what may best suit its special necessities and conditions.

This reminds us of the attempt made in this State last winter to introduce the great principle of local option into gambling. And it deserves exactly the same fate that that attempt met. The Republican party in New York, in spite of Boss Platt, took the right attitude in this highly important matter. And it will not be surprising if it finds the path of duty the way to glory.

A CRUMB OF COMFORT. There are so many things that one can catch from books in public libraries that it is comforting to be told that the danger of catching tuberculosis from them is small. The statement that a librarian of Omaha, Nebraska, has recently died of tuberculosis contracted from books which had been infected by consumptive patients has caused a renewal of the discussion concerning the degree of danger from contagion in this way. A Boston physician who was interviewed on the subject said: "I have never known an instance where there was any ground for believing that contagious diseases were carried by books in circulation in the public library. Throughout the year 1872 a severe epidemic of smallpox prevailed in this city, and it was my official duty to see every patient and to trace, if possible, the history of the disease. In no instance was I able to connect the infection with the use of books from the free public library." The circulation of the Boston public library is more than 2,000,000 volumes a year, necessitating the handling of many times that number of volumes by the library employees, yet in the forty-three years since the institution was established not a single case is known of disease being conveyed by means of the books from patient to library attendant. Of similar import is the finding of the American Library association, which has twice investigated this subject, and in neither instance was able to trace the spread of disease to the circulation of library books. Perhaps the experience of the Boston library is due in part to the preventive measures adopted by the directors. They have ordered that all books returned from homes known to be infected with contagious diseases shall be promptly destroyed. Even the process of disinfection is not used, except in the few cases where rare books that can hardly be replaced have suffered the danger of infection.

FASHION NOTES.

Accountant "Height Lines." Very handsome reception, tea and house gowns are being made for the stately matron and elderly woman of striped and Dresden brocade. They are cut princess with sweeping train and plenty of fullness at the back to relieve the too full outlines. Such a gown opens over a stomacher and petticoat of the same or contrasting material, and a cascade of lace sets from over the shoulders down to the hem of the dress following the edge of the over gown. Corresponding cascades from the waist outline the train. A fall of lace from a low frill about the neck fills in above the stomacher or vest, and adds still more to the grace of the perpendicular lines.

Coat and jacket hoodless vie with each other for first place in favor, the former coming out ahead generally in the more elaborate costumes. But if jacket hoodies are often relegated to the rear ranks of simplicity, it is not always the case, the jacket hoodies that are as ornate as that in this sketch are not uncommon. This one is made of silver gray India cashmere, and has a short basque and a narrow vest of moss green satin studded with small steel buttons. Basque and edges of the front are bordered with sequins. Over the shoulders are tabs of green satin heavily embroidered with sequins, and a big bow finishes the stock collar in front. The sleeves are trimmed with ribbon in the manner shown. The skirt is trimmed about the bottom with gray silk galloon and is lined with moss green silk.

Steel buttons make a very tasteful ornamentation for gray goods, but for elaborate dresses the rule is for buttons that are so costly as to fairly rank as gems. A sort favored now simulate miniatures set around with rhinestones. These are very handsome, but some women forget that they are suitable only to gowns planned for elegant occasions, and that they have no proper place on street dresses. FLORETTE.

In Boston, of course; Hicks—But, really, what kind of a looking girl is Miss Beekon? Wicks—Well, I can hardly say; you see, she didn't have her glasses on the day I saw her.—Boston Transcript. "That racehorse of yours seems well broke," said the man who stands around and looks on. "Yes," replied the melancholy owner of the animal, "but he isn't as well broke as I am."—Washington Star.

Hoax—I just saw Wigwag running down the street like mad. Joak—No; there was a man a block ahead of him who owes him $10 and I suppose he wanted a run for his money.—Philadelphia Record. "Can you tell me, professor," asked Grigebly, "what an 'extempore pianist' is? I see that the performances of such a pianist are advertised." "Certainly," said the professor. "Ex. out of tempo; an extempore pianist is one that plays out of time!"—Boston Transcript.

Punster—I say, Munster, you take excellent care of your books; they seem to be your best friends. Munster—They are. I can shut them up without giving offense.—Washington Times. "I wonder," said a young lady, "why Hymen is always represented as carrying a torch." To which her bachelor uncle sneeringly responded: "To indicate that he always makes it warm for people who marry."—Tid Bits.

DE LESSEPS' GREAT SCHEME.

The Great Promoter's Project for North Africa. The late Count De Lesseps was at one time engaged in a daring and attractive engineering scheme with which the public is not generally familiar. Its object was to create a new sea and thereby restore to fertility and civilization a large part of northern Africa.

Max De Forest, now of Nutley, N. J., a former officer in the French army, met his famous countryman at this time. "I met Count De Lesseps," he said, "in 1881 at Gabes, in southern Tunis, where I had been ordered with a squadron of cavalry. Shortly after my arrival he came with a surveying party to make soundings for the proposed interior sea. I had orders to place at his disposal both men and horses, and the discharge of this duty brought me into almost daily communication with him until his departure.

"The interior sea at that time aroused all his enthusiasm. He brought to bear the same persuasive powers that he used when promoting the Suez and the Panama canals and enterprises. To skeptics he always replied, 'It can be done, and it will be done if the government will give me the money to do it with.' He embraced the entire plain lying to the southward of the boundary line drawn from Gabes via Gafsa to Tamerza. The practicability of the scheme was supported by many facts. It was proved that an inland sea had covered in ancient times the area which it was intended to flood. The level of the land was generally below that of the Gulf of Gabes. Innumerable underground streams of fresh and salt water are found in the southern part of Algeria and Tunis.

"The water was to be supplied to the inland sea from the Gulf of Gabes. The tides would have a minimum depth sufficient to allow of the passage in all directions of light boats. But the most valuable result of the scheme, it was felt, would be to restore the ancient fertility of the country and to oppose a barrier to the sirocco, the deadly burning wind which piles up the desert sand about the oases and finally buries them.

"M. De Lesseps dwelt on these benefits with boundless enthusiasm and imagination. Buried cities would be unearthed, and the collection of El Jemna, now a crumbling ruin, but once approaching that of Rome in size, would be accessible to admiring tourists.

"M. De Lesseps left the work in the hands of the general staff of the French army, by whom it is now supposed to be carried on. Whether any progress is being made I do not know."—New York Advertiser.

Shooting the Chute.

[From Harper's Round Table.] Suppose you were to go down to the chute at Coney Island, you would see something like this: There is a big enclosure, with a high board fence around it, from which a huge incline stretches up. It looks like a toboggan slide, only far bigger than most. The man at the stile gate says, "Tickets, please." So you pay twenty cents for each ticket, admitting you to the grounds and one ride on the chute. Just as you go in you hear a roaring, rattling sound, and a boat comes rushing down the slide into the lake in front of you. You see the boat leap forty feet at a jump over the surface of the water, like some ocean demon, until it finally quiets down and allows itself to be paddled easily up to the bank. As the people in the boat are helped out by several of the fifty attendants dressed in sailor suits, you expect them to cry out some expression of disapproval, for you certainly heard them shouting out in a frightened manner as they rode down the chute. But no.

"Wasn't it perfectly splendid?" says one woman. "It beats tobogganing!" exclaims another.

"Let's do it again!" says a small boy. A little reassured, you move around with the crowd towards the entrance to the slide, and, after giving your tickets to the gateman, you all get into little cars—similar to those in use at Niagara Falls running down to the whirlpool rapids—attached to endless chains, which drag you to the top of the chute as slowly as the boats in the other part go rapidly. As you get a little more than half-way up, a boatload of people rattles by within ten feet of you, and you wonder again whether you will have the courage to make the first trial.

Once up, you follow the others around to the other side of the chute, where boats are sent down every fifteen seconds. You glance down the slide. It looks very long, and the water, which the steersman says is only three feet deep, seems very far away and very deep. At last, with a sudden gulp of courage, you jump in, holding tight the railings as the guard bids you. You see little streams of water bubbling up and trickling down every few inches or so along the slide, and 'way below the big pool of water looks yawningly upward. The boat-despatcher has his hand on the lever which holds the boat back. And now that is turned.

"Hold fast, ladies and gentlemen. Hats under the seat! Now, then, you're off!"

Quickly the boat rattles into the incline. A fraction of a second, and you are rushing along so fast that you almost scream. A second or two more, and you are going at the rate of seventy-four miles an hour. You have lost your breath, but the fresh air that rushes into your lungs gives you a delicious sensation. You feel as if you were flying through the air.

Boom! Splash! The boat strikes the water, almost jolting you off your seat, and whirling the spray high into the air. The people on the banks of the little pond whiz by, for the speed is still terrific, and the boat jumps forward in crazy leaps. After two or three of these spasmodic efforts the boat glides to the landing, thanks to the assistance of the man in the stern. Your breath comes back. You find you weren't hurt a bit, or even wet. You feel as if you jumped from the top of the barn into the lowest but softest hay-mow. You give an ecstatic gasp, this time of extreme delight, and

An Artist in Wax in Vienna.

[From the Pall Mall Gazette.] The Paris Debats relates an amusing story from Vienna. M. Weigt of that city is a man of original mind, and has long conceived that the vacuous gaze and alien smile of the wax figures used in fashion shops might be changed into something higher and nobler. The said figures are henceforth to possess a high educational value. Inspired with this idea, he abandoned the "veteras cerae," or ancient waxes of a primitive time, and copied the features of Mme. Ilika Palmaz and other leading artists. For M. Weigt is himself an artist in wax. This new form of realism took greatly, and the shops of nouveautes were the center of admiring throngs. But other celebrities began to appear in other shops; the fashion mart of Vienna was fast becoming a museum of famous men and women. M. Weigt found that his great idea was being adopted by a disloyal competitor, and he has therefore caused this offender to appear before the tribunal, to pay a heavy fine, and promise to destroy the plagiarized busts. It is a pity that this invention was not introduced into England before general election. A portrait model of our successful member in gala dress would have been a great hit, and the defeated rival, clad in crepe, would have made a valuable figure for the funeral warehouse.

Entertainments. HYPERION. "The Merry World," with its galaxy of jolly burlesquers and its strong indorsement of the most substantial kind, from New York and Chicago, will play a special engagement on Friday and Saturday evenings with a matinee on Saturday. The piece will be presented with the original big Canary & Lederer burlesque company, with its chorus of sixty in all, which has been appearing at the Casino for the last four months, together with the original costumes and scenery. As is well known "The Merry World" presents a burlesque from the successes of the last theatrical season. The idea was first introduced by Canary & Lederer, in this country in "The Passing Show," and at once became an enormous sensation. The present burlesque is even more abreast of the time than its predecessor, taking in the timely topics of "Tribby," "Sams Gene," and the comic opera from "The Little Trooper" to "Rob Roy." It will be a great show. There will be a matinee Saturday. Prices evening, $1.50, $1.00, 75c. Matinee best seats $1.00. Sale of seats now open.

Cissy Fitzgerald with her knowing wink will be at the Hyperion October 4 and 5, presenting "The Foundling."

GRAND OPERA HOUSE. "The Girl I Left Behind Me," which is at the Grand to-night and Friday and Saturday evenings, comes heralded as one of Frohman's greatest successes. It is a military drama of peculiar interest, interspersed with effective climaxes. The scenes are laid in the far west during an Indian uprising in 1890, the chief characters being a general, major, the general's daughter, a lieutenant's sister and two lieutenants, one the soul of honor, the other furnishing the villain role, and the story is one thrilling and effective, telling of woman's love and misplaced devotion, which is rectified, the true and worthy lover triumphing over the villain and patriot. The interest is intense in the third act. In this act the threatened attack on the post is to be made. General Kennan has promised to kill his daughter rather than have her fall into the hands of the foe. The attack is made, but reinforcements save the day and all is well. The last act rights all wrongs. Parlow's warlike is made apparent, and a general embracing of lovers ensues.

There will be 14 matinees, Friday and Saturday. Prices 10c, 20c, 25c. There will be four matinees weekly during the season, Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

"The City Sports" big show will be the attraction at the Grand the first half of next week. The company will be seen in an entirely new program, the Nelson sisters, the greatest living female acrobats, are still with the company, and will be seen in a new act. These will be matinees Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Old Glory," which comes to the Grand the last half of next week, is a story founded on fact and is replete with the most realistic and picturesque of stage settings. All are from the brush of that prince of scenic artists, Harley Mery. Matinees Friday and Saturday.

POLI'S WONDERLAND THEATER. Jerome and Alexis, with their wonderful hustling and acrobatic twisting specialty, are immense. The scenic and electrical effects are magnificent. Impersonating a frog and a lizard, Jerome and Alexis do their work amid scenic surroundings that represent a wooded glen studded with shady pools and murmuring streams, and that echoes to the music of the locusts and katydids chirping their evening songs, making the effect picturesque in the extreme. It is a brilliant and charming specialty, which ranks easily first on a bill that is made up of other great and attractive specialties. The performance as a whole is a very pleasing one, and has attracted large patronage all the week.

Next week a unique specialty in the way of art charming in full view of the audience. The market is full of cough mixtures, but one trouble with most of them is that when they do a little good the patient has to take so much that he gets to loathe the taste. The Pinea Balsam is superior to other cough remedies because it is agreeable to the palate and its good effects are immediate. In a few days an ordinary cough is gone altogether. Bronchitis and asthma are more stubborn, but they, too, are cured by Ely's Pinea Balsam. A remedy worth trying. Twenty-five cents is all it costs.

Edward B. Smith of Milford died Monday at his home at Wheeler's Farms after a long illness. He was seventy-six years of age, and was born in the same house in which he died. Forty years ago he conducted a store in the building now the First church, Milford, in which his son Samuel resides at the present time, but he preferred the life of a farmer, and returned to the old homestead, where he passed the remainder of his life. A wife, six daughters and two sons survive him. The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon, the Rev. Mr. Upson officiating. The remains were laid to rest in the Milford cemetery.

W. E. Booth of New York city has purchased of Mrs. Frances Gray the Continental hotel in Saratoga.

A SPLENDID DISPLAY. The Grand Annual Fall Opening of Millinery at E. Moses & Co.'s Big Store—Thousands of Ladies Attend—Opening Continues To-day.

The annual fall millinery opening of Moses & Co., successors to R. Ballerstein & Co at 841 and 843 Chapel street, began yesterday and all day long the store was crowded with the many patrons of this well known and highly enterprising firm. The firm have made greater and more extensive purchases of fall novelties than ever in Paris, London, and Berlin, and are prepared to show the latest productions in pattern bonnets and hats from the leading Paris houses, such as Poyauve, Vivot Linn, Faulkner, Josse, Dupont Louise, etc. They also have a most excellent line of their own workroom, which are models of excellent taste and beauty. The ladies say they are lovely, and they know.

Here is also to be found a most complete line of trimmings for hats and bonnets, including ribbons, flowers, and feathers. The display is very fine and immensely attractive. They also have a full line of caps, tam-o-shanters, school hats, and sailor hats. The opening will continue to-day and all the ladies will surely do well to inspect their most excellent and complete line of goods, which reflects the best and most tasteful there is to be found in the markets of the world.

Stony Creek Oysters. Direct from the growers best stock, a specialty with us; received fresh every day in the shell and opened to order. A variety of fresh and salt fish, clams, etc. People's Fish Market, 78 Congress avenue.

C. E. LONGLEY & CO., 101, 103, 105 Church Street, THE GREAT CLOTHIERS, READY FOR THE FALL BUSINESS. OPENING OF THE SEASON FOR THE MEN, YOUNG MEN, BOYS AND CHILDREN. EACH DEPARTMENT COMPLETE IN ITSELF.

In the Juvenile Department, beautiful little Suits made from Worsteds, Serges and Fancy Scotches, in all the various shades and colors, trimmed in many ways,—not too much, but enough to be effective and in good taste,—for $2.50, $3.50, $4.00, $5.00, $6.50, $7.50 and $8.50.

Handsome Reefers for $3.50, $4.00, $5.00, $6.50, $7.50, $8.50 and $10.00—3 to 15 years. For boys, 8 to 16 years, Short Pants,—a great variety of new fabrics,—Serges, Scotches, Clays and Diagonal Cheviots included, for $2.50, $3.50, $4.00, $5.00, $6.50, $7.50, $8.50, $9.00, $10.00, $12.00 and $13.50 per suit. We anticipate, and have prepared for, a great business in our Boys' Department this season.

For large boys or young men, 31 to 34 breast, we have a grand good line of Suits, cut in the different shapes, at prices ranging from $5.00 to $22.00 per suit. Our assortment for $10.00, $12.00, $15.00 and $18.00 is very large and particularly attractive. At these prices are included the fine Clay Diagonals, the Undressed Worsteds, Fancy Scotches and Cheviots, in both double and single-breasted sacks.

Fall Overcoats for men and young men, made from Covert Cloths, Clays, Serges, Undressed Worsteds, Vicunas and other suitable fabrics, many of them full silk lined, for $5.00, $6.50, $8.00, $10.00, $12.00, $15.00, $18.00, $20.00, $22.00 and $25.00.

Winter Overcoats $8.00 and up. We shall have more to say about these later. Our Suit Department for men and young men is crowded with the best goods that we have ever produced.

Black Clays still lead in popularity, and our $15.00 Clay Suit is the most popular of them all. They are the regular $22 grade for $15.00. One hundred and fifty new suits received for our fall opening—sizes 34 to 50—Coats cut S. and D. B. Sack, Cutaway and Regent.

Other lines of Clay Suits for $10, $12, $18, $20, $22.50 and $25. Fancy Scotch, Cheviot, Cassimere, Worsted, Heavy Serge and Diagonal Cheviot Suits for $10, $12, $15, $18, $20, $22 and $25. Coats cut in all the new shapes, and in stouts, slims, longs and regulars.

WELCOME one and all to our Sixteenth Annual Fall Opening.

Dry Goods Eloquence this fall,—we speak for the Big Store only—isso lofty in style, so deep in solid value, so shallow in comparative cost, that sight and touch leave talk in the shade.

Yale's Approval must be stamped upon every piece of furniture that goes out of the Big Store. Prices are a magnet, (that's true) but prices would be nothing if it wasn't for the college record that our Furnishings make.

There's Furniture here to meet sound judgment, no matter which way that judgment falls. This is just as true of Rugs, Carpets and all floor covers. One can't go wrong in selections.

The Upholstery Room is a trifle up-side-down, (being newly outfitted) but the salespeople are right-side-up and ready for service.

Birds And Feathers and all that relates to hats and bonnets, (trimmed or untrimmed), show, plainly that a skilled, artistic hand is behind the arrangement of this fetching Fall Millinery.

Why Is It that most Yale Men permit us to furnish their rooms and to supply their personal needs? Two main reasons. First: We have had nearly 50 years experience with the requirements of Yale College life.

Second: The power of unlimited capital in the purchase of immense quantities of marketable goods, always enables us to drop prices to the taking point.

ÆOLIAN Individuality in Playing. Everyone can play the ÆOLIAN but no two alike. Some play with more expression than others, even rendering Symphonies or Wagnerian Operas with better effect than the average orchestra.

With an ÆOLIAN in the home, the standard musical works are as available as the books of your library. In either case, it is simply a question of reading, or interpretation. Description is useless. One must see the Æolian to understand and appreciate it.
