

FOUGHT LIKE FIENDS

Another Horror Enacted as a Result of the Strike in the Pennsylvania Mine Regions.

36 WOUNDED; 9 WILL DIE

A DIRECT OUTCOME OF THE TRAGIC AFFAIR AT HAZELTON.

Only Polanders Concerned—Two Rival Factions Armed With Weapons of All Descriptions, Guns, Revolvers, Axes, Knives and Clubs, Engage in Two Hand-to-Hand Encounters—Several Hundred Were Engaged—First Battle Lasted More Than an Hour—It Was in a Hotel and the Floors Were Strewed With Wounded Men, and the Walls Were Covered With Blood and Shreds of Human Flesh—Second Conflict Even Worse—Constables Powerless—Twenty-Two Ringleaders Arrested—Many More Warrants Have Been Issued—All Charged With Assault With Intent to Kill.

Girardville, Pa., Sept. 27.—At least nine men received fatal injuries and possible two score others were more or less seriously wounded in a bloody riot here late last night and early this morning. The battle was the outcome of a quarrel over the Hazelton troubles.

Thirty-six men are known to have been wounded and about fifty more are being escorted by their friends, who fear that they will be sent to jail. Twelve of the ringleaders were brought before Justice Elias Kissinger and ten before Justice H. B. Johnson. All were charged with assault with intent to kill, housebreaking and rioting, and were held in heavy bail for court. Many more warrants have been issued, but have not been served as yet. Dr. Charles Schlesman attended to twenty-two of the wounded, nine of whom, he says, will die.

Dr. William Monaghan and Dr. Joseph Donaghue attended to fourteen others, and how many the other physicians cared for is not known. Three other men have been reported dead, but this cannot be verified as yet on account of the uncommunicative nature of the participants.

The story of the riot is as follows: Several hundred Polanders board at William Culacabage's hotel on Second street. Joseph Cavendish is proprietor of a hotel at the east end of the town, where several hundred more Poles make their headquarters. Bad blood has always existed between them for a long time, and the recent strike troubles at Hazelton embittered them still more. Last night matters came to a crisis. Culacabage, it is charged, and his followers, armed themselves with guns, revolvers, knives, axes and clubs, marched to Cavendish's hotel, where several hundred of their enemies were celebrating pay-day. The Cavendish men ascertained that their foes were marching on them, and, arming themselves hurriedly, awaited their arrival. After a demonstrative march the Culacabage contingent arrived and immediately stormed the saloon.

The men fought like demons, the shooting was fast and furious; axes, knives, clubs and other weapons were used with deadly effect. The battle lasted almost an hour, when the Culacabage gang was routed, leaving their wounded behind. Everything in the house was smashed, and the floors were strewn with wounded men. The walls were bespattered with blood and shreds of human flesh. After the routed rioters had returned to their headquarters the Cavendish men armed themselves to the teeth and marched to their enemies' rendezvous, where a battle still bloodier than the first ensued. The police force and the constables of the surrounding region were called to the scene, but were unable to cope with the rioting hordes.

SHOT DOWN WITHOUT REASON.

In Coroner's Jury Report on the Hazelton Tragedy.

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 27.—The coroner's jury which investigated the death of the striking miners at Lattimer met in Deputy Coroner Crowman's office to-day and after an hour's deliberation, rendered the following verdict: "That from the circumstances of the case and the evidence offered, the said Clement Placock and others came to their deaths by gunshot wounds on September 10, 1897, at the hands of Sheriff James Martin and his deputies and in this we, the jury, do all agree and we, Phillip J. Boyle, Thomas T. Thomas, Barton Freas and Peter McKirnan of this jury, do further say that the said Clement Placock with others, was marching peaceably and unarmed on the public highway, that they were intercepted by the said Sheriff Martin and his deputies, and mercifully shot to death, and we do further find that the killing was unnecessary and could have been avoided without serious injury to either person or property, and we find finally that the killing was wanton and unjustifiable, but in this we, George Maue and F. J. McNeal of this jury do not concur, and we, the jury, do further say that there was such strong suspicion of unlawful violence at the hands of persons unknown by this jury as to make this inquest necessary."

REV. MR. JAMES' RESIGNATION.

Will Finish His Pastoral Work Here About Nov. 1—Goes to West Virginia.

On Sunday last, at the morning service, Rev. D. Melancthon James read notice of his resignation from the pulpit of the Second Congregational church, Fair Haven East, the same to take effect on the first of December next, having completed the longest pastorate, known in the history of this church.

An ecclesiastical council will convene in October to take action on the subject. His letter is as follows:

To the Members of the Second Congregational Church and Ecclesiastical Society: Greeting: Nine years ago last July, on the first Sabbath in this month, I entered this church and occupied this pulpit for the first time. My official relation, as pastor, began September 1, 1888. Although this cannot be regarded as a long pastorate, yet it exceeds that of any former pastor during the forty-five years of your history.

Grateful for any kindness revealed and for any good accomplished during these nine years, I hereby place my resignation, as pastor, in the hands of the church and Society to take effect December 1st, 1897, and I respectfully ask that you unite with me in this action, at an early date, composed of such churches and individuals as may be mutually acceptable, to advise me in reference to terminating the pastoral relation.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 25th, 1897. The resignation of Mr. James is received with deep regret by all his parish, where throughout his nine years' pastorate he has endeared himself to his people.

Warm-hearted and sympathetic, he has been a constant visitor at the bedside of the sick and the dying among his neighbors and parishioners, while he is an eloquent and earnest preacher. It is his intention to take a season of rest for a couple of years, and to look after some business interests in Hinton, W. Va.

At this place he is a director and stockholder in the large coal and lumber firm of Wm. James' Sons' Co., founded by his father, the late Wm. James, in 1876.

His resignation takes effect December 1, but he will complete his work a month before that date, taking November as the month's vacation which he is allowed by the church.

Mr. James was born in Ebensburg, Pa. At 19 years of age his family removed to Kone, of the same state. His health was poor, and he went south and spent one year in the University of Virginia at Charlottesville, Va. From there he went to Macon, Ga., where he graduated from the Macon-Randolph school in 1888, and the Yale Divinity school in 1889, and his life since then has been passed in New Haven.

Last year he took a course in the Yale Law school for the purpose of general education. His wife is a southern lady, a native of Winchester, Va. Her father, Col. Denny, is at present visiting with them, her mother being dead. Col. Denny, since the death of his wife, has divided his time between visiting his daughter here and his son, a professor in Vanderbilt university, Nashville, Tenn., while his winters were mainly spent in Florida. Col. Denny has been visiting here for two months, and leaves Friday for Nashville to visit his son.

HOUSES MUST BE NUMBERED.

Matter Discussed at Mayor's Cabinet Meeting Last Night.

The monthly meeting of the mayor's cabinet was held last evening and attended by nearly all the heads of city departments. Several minor matters were talked over, but the most important matter discussed was that concerning the numbering of streets. One of the gentlemen present said that he had been embarrassed and annoyed by the lack of numbers on various streets. He also said that he had heard several persons complain of the same thing.

Some years ago numbers were assigned to each street, a number being given to each 20 feet of land on every street.

It was finally agreed by the meeting to direct the city engineer to transmit to the police department a list of those streets which have been laid out without numbers being assigned, with information as to which end of the streets the numbers begin on. The superintendent of police will then be required to give a list of these streets to those police officers in whose beat they are situated, with directions to notify those persons whose residences are without numbers, that numbers must be put on at once.

Shot His Sweetheart and Then Suicided.

Baltimore, Sept. 27.—Michael Simmons, a railroad brakeman aged 28, shot his sweetheart, Miss Jennie Long, aged 19, last night, and committed suicide to-day when he heard the police trying to effect an entrance to his hiding place. The girl may recover.

A committee of three was appointed, and drew up the following resolutions, which will be sent to Mr. Meserve:

As the committee appointed to draft suitable resolutions for the resignation and dismissal of the Rev. A. C. Meserve as pastor of the Davenport Congregational church, in view of the high appreciation of the work which our brother has been enabled to accomplish in this church during a period of 23 years.

In view of the satisfactory reasons assigned by our brother for his resignation, and the Christian spirit manifested by the church in accepting his resignation, we are compelled to acquiesce in the decision which they have come and respectfully advise the dismission of Rev. I. C. Meserve from the pastorate of the Davenport church.

Fall Races of the New Haven Driving Association This Week.

The New Haven Driving Association has secured large entries in the 2:22, 2:26, 2:32 and 2:38 classes for its meeting on Wednesday and Thursday, and judging from the excellent class of horses entered it should be one of the finest trotting meetings ever given in this state.

In the 2:22 class every horse is evenly matched, and it is a wise one who can pick the winner. The winner of this race will have to step better than 2:20 in order to land first money. In the 2:26 class, which starts Thursday, there are ten entries, including Geo. Page, Glendale, Jarenta, Little Jack, Star Eddy, Wallingford Boy and several other noted followers of the big circuit. This race should prove a close and exciting contest, the winner being in doubt until he has landed three heats. The track will be in fine condition both days, and some very fast work will result. The races will be called at 1:30 p. m. sharp.

WESTERN RAILWAY AFFAIRS.

Demoralization in Transcontinental Freight and Passenger Rates—Immigrant Business to be Handled Under a New Plan—Interstate Commerce Commission.

New York, Sept. 27.—A special dispatch to the Evening Post from Chicago this evening says:

The transcontinental rate situation continues to grow worse. The action of the Union Pacific in cancelling all traffic arrangements with the Oregon Short Line is looked upon as an attempt to boycott that line and the Oregon Railway and Navigation company, both in the matter of freight and passenger traffic. The consequence is that not only the western lines directly competitive with the Union Pacific, but the northern and northwestern lines, have entered the field and put in reduced tariffs. This is particularly noticeable in passenger rates. The Oregon Short Line and the Oregon Navigation company have put in rates from San Francisco via Portland to the east at regular California rates, which makes the rate from Portland and other north coast points considerably less. The Northern Pacific, in order to meet this competition, has put in a rate of $57 first-class from Tacoma to Chicago, a rate of $40, and on second-class a rate of $42, or a rate of $3.50. The Canadian Pacific and Great Northern have announced their intention of meeting these rates. So that it follows that in self-protection the Union Pacific will have to retaliate, and it is more than likely the northern lines will see them one better.

A meeting of the executive officers of the roads in interest has been called for tomorrow, but little hope is entertained that the outcome of the conference will have the effect of restoring normal conditions. The present position of organization is thought to be in the way of an immediate settlement of the difficulty, and until that company has been finally reorganized no compromise or pacific measure will be entertained. The western immigrant business is hereafter to be handled on a different basis from that in vogue heretofore. In the past the steamship agents sold the business to immigrant agents, and they in turn to the railroads, the latter bidding against one another for the business, the one paying the highest commission securing the traffic. This led to a considerably demoralized state of affairs in immigrant rates. A clearing house was then established with a view of making a distribution of the business among the lines interested. They paid a fixed commission to the immigrant agents, and matters were kept in a fair condition until one of the latter undertook to pay higher commissions, and his resignation was asked for and accepted by the clearing house. The western passenger association chairman then went to the steamship agents and secured an agreement that all business destined to points west of Chicago shall be turned over to the clearing house on Ellis Island, and there be distributed among the roads. This will do away with middlemen, and is believed will keep that business on a fairly stable basis.

The grain movement, although heavy, shows a decrease of 2,464,000 bushels from the previous week. As compared with last year, there was an increase of 1,724,000 bushels, and also a gain of 224,000 bushels over 1895, and of 3,449,000 bushels over 1894. Cars are in better supply, but there is no surplus, and the railroads have all the business that they can handle, and earnings are expected to keep up at about the present volume.

Deliveries of flour, grain, provisions and live stock at Chicago by the leading western roads during the past week, as compared with the three preceding weeks, were as follows:

Flour, barrels—1897, 60,738; 1896, 61,101; 1895, 63,183.

Wheat, bushels—1897, 1,337,000; 1896, 773,000; 1895, 374,000.

Corn, bushels—1897, 3,216,000; 1896, 2,078,000; 1895, 2,181,000.

Oats, bushels—1897, 2,486,000; 1896, 2,407,000; 1895, 3,020,000.

Rye, bushels—1897, 119,000; 1896, 68,000; 1895, 11,000.

Barley, bushels—1897, 137,000; 1896, 219,000; 1895, 815,000.

Total bushels of grain—1897, 7,255,000; 1896, 5,571,000; 1895, 6,371,000.

Corn, bushels—1897, 2,740,032; 1896, 2,056,048; 1895, 2,124,864.

Lard, pounds—1897, 610,570; 1896, 370,700; 1895, 378,270.

Hogs, number—1897, 143,833; 1896, 151,756; 1895, 130,077.

Cattle, number—1897, 32,167; 1896, 44,093; 1895, 80,367.

Sheep, number—1897, 94,375; 1896, 99,093; 1895, 80,367.

ABOUT CHANGE OF LIFE.

"I suffered for eight years, and could find no permanent relief until one year ago. My trouble was Change of Life. I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and relief came almost immediately. I have taken two bottles of the Vegetable Compound, three boxes of Pills, and have also used the Sanative Wash, and must say I have never had anything better help so much. I have better health than I ever had in my life. I feel like a new person, perfectly strong. I give the Compound all the credit. I have recommended it to several of my friends who are using it with like results. It has cured me of several female diseases. I would not do without Mrs. Pinkham's remedies for anything. There is no need of so much female suffering. Her remedies are a sure cure."—Mrs. ELLA KRINER, Knightstown, Henry Co., Ind.

By the way, the leading druggists tell us that the demand for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is simply beyond their power of understanding; and what is best of all, it does the work promptly and well.

EXPLOSION OF A LOCOMOTIVE.

Engineer Killed and Fireman Badly Injured—Passengers Shaken Up.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 27.—E. Bennett Mitchell, engineer, was killed, and John R. Cawley, fireman, seriously injured this morning by the explosion of a locomotive on the Northern Central railway at Georgetown, a few miles north of here. The victims were both residents of Harrisburg, and had been Pullman passenger service of the company for many years. Mitchell was thrown up the side of a mountain a distance of sixty feet, and was dead when found. Cawley was hurled in an opposite direction almost to the edge of the Susquehanna river. He was so badly scalded that it is thought that he will die. He was removed to the Sunbury hospital. Mitchell's body was brought to his home in this city.

The wrecked locomotive came out of the shops on Saturday afternoon, after an overhauling, and the railroad officials cannot account for the explosion. The boiler was blown 150 feet and alighted on a mountain side, which rises at an angle of sixty degrees from the track. The trucks were thrown into the river and the tender along the bank. All the cars, except the rear Pullman sleeper, were thrown from the track. None of the passengers was injured, although several were badly shaken up. The explosion occurred opposite a watch box, which was reduced to kindling wood, and the watchman badly hurt. The wires and tracks for a distance of 150 yards were badly torn up and telegraphic communication and travel were suspended for several hours.

METHODISTS ON TRANSFERS.

New York, Sept. 27.—The Rev. George L. Thompson of Shelton, Conn., addressed the Methodist ministers at No. 150 Fifth avenue, this city, yesterday, on the question, "How Shall Transfers Be Regulated?" The question was one of great interest to preachers in the metropolitan district. Most of the men who are invited from one conference to another are leading men, and if they are admitted they go to the big churches.

Under the system of rotation in the Methodist Episcopal churches this leaves the average clergyman a smaller chance of getting a parish. Mr. Thompson was in favor of making it even more difficult that it is now to secure transfers.

STROUSE, ADLER & CO. DEFEAT THE NEW LONDON ATHLETICS.

Score 5 to 4 After a Close and Exciting Contest—Clans in Great Form—Atkins' Brilliant Play Shuts Corset Boys Out in One Tanning With Bases Full and No Outs.

With the finest of weather, clear, cool and bracing, and a hard and solid field to play on for the first game of the series now being played by them, the Strouse, Adler company nine defeated the New London Athletics yesterday afternoon by the score of 5 to 4. It was a close and at times intensely interesting and exciting game. Claus put up a steady and clever game, and showed good judgment. His control was perfect in spite of the other side's effort to rattle him. Platt caught in his usual form. For the other side young Gung did very well, indeed, and was well supported behind the plate by Miller.

The first inning was, like most openings of ball games, simply a limbering up in which each side took the other's measurement. But the second inning was the greatest of the game. In it was made the cleverest and nearest play made on the New Haven grounds this summer. For the Strouse, Adler team, Lyons had hit safely between center and right, Mills had got a pass to first, and "Bobbie" Cameron, after an evasion from the bleachers, had laced out a single that filled the bases. It seemed well nigh impossible to keep the corset boys from tallying several runs. But instead of getting a case of rattles New London literally "did things" to the local team. Claus sent a hot bouncer to "Tommy" Atkins at short. Now, Tommy is quick and sure in most plays; he was doubly so yesterday. He slammed that ball home, where Miller caught the spirit of it and after touching the runner from third out he threw to first before Claus got there; then Rathbun with a lightning throw had that ball back to Miller again in a jiffy, and the third and last man was out, retiring the side with a whitewash. The crowd simply went wild; they all wanted to shake hands with Tommy. They yelled for all three of the players involved, and in spite of cold shivers laughed and danced and yelled lustily.

In the third inning the New London boys lost their nerve and played very poor ball. It started with Platt's hit to Atkins, who fielded well, but threw too low to first, letting the runner to second. McHugh hit a fly that dropped back of the pitcher with three infielders standing looking at it, all afraid to try for it for fear of interfering with one another. Then, to keep things lively, Frank Beecher got hit by a pitched ball. Madden followed with a bunt that forced Platt home, but only to die at the plate. But Smith banged out a two-bagger that carried in McHugh and Beecher. It was the second two-base hit for Smith in that game. Lyons followed with a hit to second that brought in Madden, and Mills placed one in right field that carried Smith home. Cameron's grounder into left added number five on Lyons' tallying. Claus sent his side out with a grounder to Atkins.

In the fourth inning New London scored one run after two men had been goose-egged, and a foul to third made the last out. Quick work shut out Ullman's team, too.

The fifth added not to the score of either, nor the sixth. The Strouse, Adler were unable to pile up any more runs, no matter how hard they worked, and in the seventh deep concern for the game was plainly manifest on their faces, for the time seemed against them. Lyons of the New Londons got his base on balls, Cantwell hit to Cameron, and Gung brought in Lyons with his hit into deep right. The rooters from along the sound then broke loose once more. They thought victory was coming their way, and Dr. O'Neil encouraged them as he walked up and down before the players' bench. At this point a bad break discouraged them. Cantwell led off too far at third and when Platt threw to Cameron he was snugly pocketed and in attempting to squeeze out got snuffed up. Then Atkins' hit to short was cleanly fielded and he was out at first, but Miller brought in Gung when Cameron got the ball in the eye on a bound at third. Patterson's hit to Mills made out number three. The score now stood 5 to 3 in favor of the Strouse, Adler.

Gung now got up steam and pitched in good form, with speedy delivery, so that he shut the local team out. The eighth gave the New Londons their fourth run when the bases were full and a man got home. It looked like a sure thing for them, but with two out Atkins' hit to third was too good a chance for Cameron and Beecher to get him out, and they did so. The last inning closed the game with a whitewash and left the corset boys on top with the score 5 to 4.

THE ELECTRIC AGE.

The intelligent and careful scientists of this age are often overwhelmed with the wonderful power manifested through electricity, and though one-half of its mighty forces are yet undiscovered and are yet hidden in the secret treasure house of nature, there is enough already known of electric forces to satisfy thoughtful scientific minds how and by what power the planetary worlds are kept in motion, and what forces keep our own beautiful earth revolving upon its axis.

Electricity and magnetism are the most mysterious and powerful agents known to man. Only the Divine Mind can measure the hidden forces of the electric world. Only the Infinite Electrician can solve the mysterious power which men can and have tried to fetter, but cannot wholly overcome.

Electricians may analyze, experiment and render the scientists valuable and boundless assistance in their researches and discoveries of this philosophic age. But as yet no human mind has triumphed over the One God mystery, which is slowly being revealed through the development of human knowledge, and understanding. This is the golden age for grand efforts and achievements in all branches of science and philosophy. Progress, research and scientific discoveries flash like electric lights along the line of years, and the new century will bring her crown of all human discovery, viz., the power to overcome atmospheric pressure and navigate the air.

Franklin's hand drew down from the clouds, and attracted from the atmospheric forces the sword of electric power called lightning, which has hung as an object of deadly fear suspended over human heads ever since the beginning, when God said "Let there be light."

Did Franklin realize when he drew down those flashes of electricity that he kindled a flame that was destined to illuminate not only his own age and nation, but the torch he lighted was destined to illuminate the long line of ages to follow? Did he dream that generations yet unborn throughout unnumbered ages would repeat his name as the immortal scientist who first bottled the flashes of electricity from the thunder-bolts of heaven, and thereby fitted a golden key to nature's securely locked mysteries?

With all his ambitious dreams and noble desires for the mental development and spiritual progression of man, Franklin did not dream of the triumph he had achieved.

The "Tree of Knowledge" placed in the first garden must have been electricity. Historical records do not say what nature the first fruit was. An electrical ball and a golden apple may have deluded Adam. The serpent might have been forked lightning, and he, through fright, mistook the nature of the serpent. Adam after he left the garden was possibly tempted to look back with regret upon the glory and ease he was leaving behind, and beholding the lightning still flashing over the gateway of Eden, he continued his flight.

After a long term of years he thought the matter over, and possibly laid the blame upon Eve, who defied herself as but she could by telling the story of the serpent. Her imagination enlarged the facts and surrounded the whole affair with interesting mystery, which has descended from age to age, and gathering new interest as it rolled along the ages. This is, however, the first authentic report upon the nature of the tree which bore the fruit which so disagreed with the internal arrangement of the first man Adam.

The tree remained unknown till the electric discoveries of the nineteenth century illuminated that dark chapter in human history, and not till one of our modern electricians was reading of the "sword of flame" which guarded the entrance of Paradise, did it strike the mind of the inventor that electricity was the tree in Eden, and the electric sword over Paradise was chain-lightning, or electric force presented in some other form, which kept the human family from the joys of an earthly heaven.

A Franklin's bottled lightning has completely revolutionized business methods, and well nigh revolutionized the mind of all scientific minded people. The innumerable advancement of electric science shows that no one man, and no generation of the human family, can be justly credited with the grand discoveries in electricity. We must go back even to prehistoric ages to find among the astrological and astronomical students of by-gone worlds the successful utilizers of this same mighty electrical force, over which modern scientists and philosophers are now rolling up their learned eyes in perfect bewilderment. The ancient scientists are fathers of the grand discoveries which are being unearthed by modern philosophers.

The ancients should be slightly credited, and justly so, too, with many of the great discoveries which are connected with electric forces, and which sciences now being utilized by modern reason and judgment, bid fair to revolutionize and enrich the world.

Who shall tell of the midnight lamps, the pale students, whose wasted lives and fruitless years attest to their zeal in the cause of human knowledge and scientific discovery? They lived, loved, suffered and died, leaving foot-prints by which other less gifted scientists have found God in His Electric Habit: for the Supreme Creative force and power is electricity.

When men first took the line of march toward the gold fields of California many embarked their all in an unknown venture. They knew the gold was there and meant to find it. They started from all parts of the country. Active zeal and a desire to triumph inspired their efforts and served them for eternal struggles through all the difficulties that lined their way. Still they moved onward.

All along the great trail across the boundless wastes of the great plains and sandy prairies were thickly scattered the bones of animals, and sometimes human forms lay uncovered to bleach in the burning suns and fierce rains beating down upon the dry alkaline deserts called the "Western prairies."

Men, as they passed those brainless skulls and bleaching bones, thought with a sigh that the onward march of civilization and human progression demands its sacrificial altars and its human victims. And so it is with the scientific researches and discoveries.

The men who did all the weary struggling, who burned the midnight oil and wasted mental and physical strength in their tireless zeal, died one by one along the desert of investigation. The whole broad highway across boundless wastes and fruitless plains, the bleaching bones and brainless skulls attest to the pain and disappointments of weary, restless souls, who beat against their mental fetters till the cage wasted away, and their souls went forth on mysterious electric currents to find the great battery, from which all electric forces of life, light and vitality have their immortal principles.

God, the first cause, the battery from which all powers of life and light are transmitted to scientific and philosophical discoverers who are the inferior dynamo-electric machines through which all systems of electricity will be hereafter utilized by human thought and inventions.

Man is nearing his Maker now; ah, yes; the human is surely reaching the altitudes of the Divine Mind, and all branches of knowledge are being opened for human progression through discovery. The bones of early discoverers may line the way. Those who found their trail and foot-prints have been heedlessly gathering fruit of other's planting. They gathered up the records of the dead, and with keener vision and fresher zeal, because unwearied in the race. They are successful, and claim honors that should cluster around the life works of the nameless dead.

The careful student in the science of electricity is compelled to acknowledge that his lot has fallen in an age of great and rapid progression. Mysterious events, grand investigation and achievements in scientific discoveries create within him a desire to demonstrate the power and penetrate still further into what is still "an undiscovered country" to scientists and electricians of all classes.

This may be and often is called the "golden age" in the world's history. Scientific discoveries in departments of knowledge have made the fact sure that this is a grand age for human progression in art, science and philosophy of all kinds. Mental, moral and religious branches of science are shining out upon humanity all their wonderful beauty and virtues, fairly and clearly defined, with broad fields and avenues open to all phases of human investigation and advanced minds, developed and still developing in all branches and departments of knowledge, find themselves knocking in vain at the gates of the kingdom. The flaming swords above the gates are mysterious weapons men fear to handle. There is death in the touch of electricity, like all Divine mysteries; there is a point beyond which no man can pass.

The tree of knowledge still bears forbidden fruit when it comes to electromagnetic science. Viewed from present standpoints, electromagnetic science is still in the morning of its existence. It has not passed beyond the "first day," notwithstanding all our most flourishing cities are illuminated with electric lights and nearly all their streets are alive with cars propelled by unseen forces, called electro-dynamics, which is electricity fettered by human inventions. "A monster in chains" is an old philosopher who stood spell-bound, watching the street cars as they moved rapidly and gracefully along without any visible means to cause their motion.

Poor Place for Economy.

Your teeth are poor subjects on which to practice economy. Your teeth begin the work of preparing food for your life. The money you pay your dentist is well spent, and the money you pay for Pearly-dento will cause no regrets. Pearly-dento has the endorsement of dentists because it is neither a worthless nor a harmful mixture. It possesses a wealth of merit, both as a dentifrice and a remedial agent. It stimulates the gums, counteracts soreness at the roots of the teeth, neutralizes the acids that encourage decay, and acts as an antiseptic.

Besides this, Pearly-dento cuts and removes all grease and is a soft polish for the enamel. The gritty tooth preparations ought no more to be used on the teeth than sand on silver. Pearly-dento is a polish, not a grindstone.

F. M. BROWN & CO.'S OPENING.

These Are The Correct Dates. It is hardly necessary to call attention to the error which appeared in F. M. Brown & Co.'s opening days announcement yesterday, that the dates would be October 29th and 30th, when everybody knows September was meant.

There will be no doubt about the beauty of the styles, however.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

Hyperion Theater. An appreciative and tickled audience witnessed the performance of the "Tarriyown Widow" at the Hyperion, last evening. There's a snap and dash to the play which instead of wasting all its energy in the first part, as in many farces, carefully reserves its forces, so that the finale is the result of a goodly amount of latent vim, which has been smoldering and breaking out here and there during the entire performance.

Joseph Hart, in the leading role, Benjamin Bascom, was all that could be asked for. He scored a decided hit in his "Songs of Songs" in the second act. The rest of the cast was excellent.

"THE PRISONER OF ZENDA."

The brilliant romantic drama, "The Prisoner of Zenda," will be presented at the Hyperion to-morrow (Wednesday) evening. It was the good fortune of that prince of modern romance writers, Anthony Hope, that his most famous work, the one upon which his reputation is founded, should fall into the hands of so ingenious a play-maker as Edward Rose. The company to present "The Prisoner of Zenda," like all of Daniel Frohman's companies, is first-class.

As a story or play "The Prisoner of Zenda" is alike enjoyable, though it may be argued that it has gained much in its dramatic form in the little prologue, so cleverly arranged by Mr. Rose, and which, from a purely dramatic standpoint, is the most artistically contrived and best fashioned portion of the work. The play is exquisitely mounted. All the properties, even to the nails, are the same settings used in the prolonged run of this play at the Lyceum theater, New York. The company, headed by Howard Gould, includes many of last season's cast, and has received universal commendation for artistic and clever work. Sale of seats now open. Prices as usual.

"THE PROPER CAPER."

There will be a lively night at the Hyperion theater when Charles Frohman's comedians present the Parisian farce, "The Proper Caper," next Thursday night. The farce has had an extended run in Paris, and is now in its third year at the Vaudeville theater. It has been secured by Charles Frohman for his annual comedy production. The splendid cast which Mr. Frohman has put into it includes Thomas Burns, Henry Bergman, Robert Cotton, Frank Doane, Charles Stanley, Richard Bennett, Douglas Lloyd, Robert Jenkins, Amelia Bingham, Alice Fischer, Kate Mack, Mrs. E. Wood, Blanche Burton, Mark Berg, Mrs. Brooks, Adelle Klein and others. Sale of seats now open. Prices as usual.

"THE GIRL FROM PARIS."

Edward E. Rice's "The Girl from Paris" comes Friday evening and Saturday matinee and evening, October 1 and 2, at the Hyperion theater. The musical comedy has just completed a run of more than three hundred nights at the Herald Square theater, New York city, and is now in the height of one of the most remarkable engagements ever played in London, where it has been presented for more than one thousand times at the Duke of York's theater and is still attracting large audiences. "The Girl from Paris" will be presented here in the magnificent manner that is characteristic of all of Mr. Rice's productions and with a company that includes plays of the highest quality. Prices—Sale of seats open Wednesday. Prices—Matinee, $1, 75 cents, 50 cents and 25 cents; evening, $1.50, $1, 75 cents and 50 cents.

THE OPERA "PENIKESSE." Rehearsal in the Hyperion To-Night at 7:45. Another rehearsal of the comic opera "Penikesse," which is to be presented by local talent in the Hyperion, October 8 and 9, was held in the Insurance building last night. The chorus and principals are doing excellent work, and, with the careful training given them by Mr. C. E. Macomber of Boston, the opera will undoubtedly be given with tremendous success. A rehearsal of the ladies of the chorus will be held this afternoon in the Insurance building, and to-night at 7:45 a full rehearsal will be held in the Hyperion. It is very urgent that all members of the chorus be present at rehearsal from now on, as it is nearing the presentation.

FUNERAL OF MISS LAIB. The funeral of Miss Christina Laib took place from the residence of her sister, Mrs. Frederick Schwichtenberg, on Peck street, Fair Haven, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The deceased leaves a host of friends. Rev. E. H. Fisher of the Zion Lutheran church of this city, of which the deceased was formerly a member, officiated at the house and at the grave, paying a high tribute to the deceased as a Christian. The pallbearers were H. Hoffman, Carl Neubauer, Herman Hopp and Frederick L. Neube. The floral tributes were very beautiful. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

An exceedingly interesting and very able paper was read before the Historical society last evening by Mr. W. S. Wells, ex-admiral of the National Association of Naval Veterans, on "A Trip to Jerusalem." A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Wells for his paper. The meeting was the opening one for the season of the society.

A Large Washing may be quickly done in cold water with ordinary soap if you use C. C. PARSONS' HOUSEHOLD AMMONIA. It removes perspiration stains, purifies and bleaches. "Job's Birthday" —the date be cursed!" So a tired-out and exasperated woman speaks of Monday—wash-day. And so, probably, would every woman who celebrates it so often in the old-fashioned, wearing way. Though why they do it, when there's a better way that can't be found fault with, is a mystery. You'd better celebrate the death of the day, by using Pearlina. You wouldn't recognize it—with its ease, comfort, cleanliness, short hours, economy in time and in things washed. Don't let prejudice against modern ideas stand in your way. Don't wear yourself out over the wash-tub just because your ancestors had to.

"How long are women beautiful?" is a question that is going the rounds. One answer to it is, about five feet.

It is said that the operatives in the big cotton mills of Massachusetts, especially the girls, have taken up with the once characteristic southern habit of snuff-dipping.

A Chicago horse took a woman's hat from her head and ate it. No wonder. The cats often feel tempted by the animals that are interested among the herbage on women's hats.

It has long been known that it is not more dangerous to travel than to stay at home. Last year 586 persons were killed in the city of London alone by falling out of windows or from buildings, and during the same period the railroads of all Great Britain killed only 586.

Mrs. Kaye, who has just died near Leeds, England, invented the metal boxes in which fares are still deposited by passengers on omnibuses and horsecars in Great Britain and her provinces. Before them turnstiles were used in entering cars, and Mrs. Kaye, being inconvenienced by them, as she wore a corset, set her wits to work and devised the box.

Cats are to be dropped from the German military establishment; they have now an allowance of $4.50 a year apiece for training, medical care, food, and badges. They are employed to protect the depots of military stores from mice. Professor Loeffler, however, having discovered a typhus bacillus fatal to mice, this will be substituted for the cats.

A foreign letter tells of a French medical student who failed in his examinations and thereby lost his exemption from military duty. And then knowing that if he served his two years in the army he would have no chance to make up his deficiencies in scholarship he proceeded to kill his father so that as a widow's son he would be exempt from conscription. He did not succeed in making his mother a widow, however, and the father, recovering from his injuries, used his utmost efforts to save his son from the penalty of his deed. The result was a ten-year sentence for the young man.

The Nebraska State Journal tells a story of a Lincoln man who is a church member, and who has been in the habit for some years of taking his son to the circus, ostensibly to see the animals. The son is now fifteen years old, and he recently announced to his father that he was big enough to go alone. The father was taken considerably aback, for he had not counted on being deprived of the excuse for going this year he had always used before. "Why do you want to go alone?" the father asked. "I don't know," replied the boy, in a reticent manner. "Yes, you do," said his father. "You wouldn't tell me that you want to go alone without a reason." "Well, papa," he said, "I want to stay out in the animal tent longer than you do."

People can be "too fresh," but they can also eat too much salt. The New York Journal of Hygiene discusses what it calls "the salt habit"—the excessive use of salt in food. Some salt is necessary in food, perhaps, but many persons take it on articles with which it is unnecessary. They want their meat, fish, potatoes, melons, butter, tomatoes, turnips, bread, etc., positively salty. They hold that salt "brings out the flavor," and consider it in the same class with sugar—as a sweetener. The result is that the skin and kidneys are excessively taxed to get rid of the salt, and both are injured by it. Few people have healthy skins, and it is believed that many cases of derangement of the kidneys are due to the salt habit.

One of the most common objections to the use of rubber in its various applications is its quality of crumbling or breaking after it has been in use a while, this being characteristic of all varieties of the article. A number of ingenious methods for the prevention of this inconvenience have from time to time been proposed, but, according to the San Francisco Scientific Press, the most reliable of these seems to be the least complicated, namely, the occasional immersion of the rubber articles in a 3 per cent. solution of carbolic acid. Though a very simple and inexpensive process, rubber tubing treated in such a manner is found to remain in excellent condition, even after many years of use; in fact, rubber bands given an occasional carbolic acid bath are practically indestructible, instead of being really worthless without such treatment.

A PINK RECEPTION. The season for pink teas and such will soon open. The committee called into being by the recent school district meeting visited the board of finance yesterday afternoon at a special meeting of the board held for the express purpose of entertaining the distinguished visitors. There was "heap talk," and after the talk the committee was politely yet definitely informed that the board of finance didn't feel that it was its duty to "finance" the school district just now, and the attention of the committee was courteously called to section 167 of the document which is holding up New Haven.

The action of the board of finance was exactly what it was expected to be. The board has troubles of its own, and it cannot be induced to adopt the troubles of others unless the new charter distinctly and unequivocally says it must. So the school district hasn't profited by the performance, and it is difficult to see how politics has.

A WINDY CHANGE. If the stories that come from Kansas and some other western States are half true there doesn't seem to be any need of emigration from those States to the Klondike. It appears that there is more money in Kansas than can be used. Mr. Breidenthal, State bank commissioner, says that he is constantly receiving letters from small banks asking whether they have the legal right to refuse to accept deposits. Under the law last winter no bank may loan more than four times the amount of its capital. Where many banks have a capitalization of $5,000 deposits run up towards $75,000, all above $20,000 being surplus above the legal limitation of loans. Mr. Breidenthal says that this is general throughout the State in towns of but a few hundred or a thousand population. He cites an instance out of many where a bank with $5,000 capital in a town of 250 people has loaned out $20,000 and has $44,000 deposits still remaining and more coming in daily. He has notified this and other banks that they may refuse deposits if they desire.

What a queer "turn-around" it is. The Kansas Populists and calamity-howlers of last year have changed into bloated moneyed men this year. And the most curious feature of the whole business is that they seem to like the once-hated money. It makes a difference whose pocketbook it is in. SOME PLAIN TALK. There is one southern newspaper that doesn't see any need of smooth and hypocritical talk about the dastardly attempt to assassinate the negro postmaster at Hogansville, Georgia. It is the Huntsville (Alabama) Tribune, and it is a Republican newspaper. It says: We don't believe in putting an odious, objectionable negro on any community as postmaster. And if it is done by a lot of dirty politicians, we don't know but what a few shots in his shoulder or leg, to remind him that all decent sensibilities are not dead in the southern breast, and that he has to behave or get another wound is a good thing. We won't lie about this matter, we believe that the shooting was political, and that it was done because he was a mean, objectionable negro. We believe it is manlier to stand pat on that hand and say the shooting was excusable, and will be done again. There are some unwritten laws inscribed upon the human breast that we respect, and whose enforcement we will always tolerate. Truly there is nothing in a protective tariff, a sound money, or a progressive policy, which advocates or tolerates insulting a community, and it may be put down that in event such a thing is ever done by the Republican administration it was the result of deception.

In its very frank remarks the Huntsville Tribune doubtless correctly voices southern sentiment. And what shocking sentiment it is that excuses a murderous assault on a victim of race prejudice.

FLOORING. Builders and others will be much interested in the result of some careful investigations made to determine the comparative durability of different flooring. The Scientific American says that in these tests an ordinary iron rubbing wheel was used, like that employed by stone workers for rubbing a smooth face on marble or sandstone, and the samples to be tested to blocks of sandstone, laid face downward on the rubber wheel, which revolved at the rate of seventy-five revolutions a minute, being supplied with sharp sand and water. The blocks to which the floorings were cemented were of equal weight, so that the rubbing was effected under nearly the same pressure in all cases. Curiously enough, the material which resisted best this severe trial was India rubber tiling, which, after an hour's rubbing, lost only one-sixty-fourth of an inch of its thickness; and, next to this, English encaustic tile gave the best results, losing only one-eighth of an inch in an hour's treatment. The artificial stone known as "granolithic" was third, losing three-eighths of an inch, while North River bluecastles lost nine-sixteenths of an inch. All the marbles wore away very rapidly; a piece of marble mosaic disappeared entirely in thirty-five minutes, while solid white Vermont marble lost three-fourths of an inch in an hour. Most of the wood flooring resisted abrasion better than the marble; thus, white pine lost only seven-sixteenths of an inch under treatment that removed nearly twice as much from solid marble; yellow pine about like white, and oak lost more than either of the pines.

No test was made of the material which is used to make political platforms.

FASHION NOTES. A Law Made to be Defied. The famous dress designers whose names we all know are insisting that street skirts must trail. But what do sensible women care? They simply won't have it. It is all very well, if you can afford it, to have one swagger tailor dress made in smooth face cloth, in delicate tint of putty, biscuit or gray, with just the blend of ornamentation and severity that makes the tailor reception gown. This dress may trail, and you may wear it to the reception in the afternoon as late as 5:30 with the air of having "just stepped in." In reality you will have arrived in a pri-

At noon precisely the signal guns boomed out, and we sprang to the charge. From the very first our colonel blundered. He failed to obey his orders; he led us wildly in a wrong direction, under the very guns of one of our batteries. The hills in front of us flamed and roared with hostile fire, and our men were beginning to fall, but this disturbed us less than the confusing order which sent us now this way, now that. It seemed as though the regiment was doomed to disgrace, if not to destruction. Then it was that we discovered the heroic character of our lieutenant-colonel. Ignoring his incompetent and now helpless superior, he calmly assumed command, and there, in the face of the enemy's fierce fire, halted the regiment on a certain object. Of course, an untrained man may be an athlete, but the word is generally used in the more special sense. Therefore under this category will not be included those who "go in for exercise" as distinguished from "athletes." And now what is it to be "healthy?" It is easier to say what it is not than what it is. A man may be a fast runner, a fast ear, splendidly muscular and agile, yet need not be "healthy" as the writer understands the word. It sounds like a paradox, but a man may be able to lift tremendous weights, to put on a terrific spurt at the end of a long and punishing race, to send in his left with amazing force and rapidity, and yet be absolutely delicate. In short, physical strength and health, often as they have been considered synonymous, have very little to do with one another.

vate carriage, and your heart will be away under your belt at the mere thought of being obliged to allow the trailing skirt to actually trail, even from doorstep to curb. As for actually allowing a real walking skirt to trail, no dictate of any one is going to make us do it, not the "us" who have any real taste.

The limit of our concession to this senseless demand is the skirt that just touches at the back as does the dress of the accompanying sketch. This gown was regarded by its designer, too, as "the limit" in the other respects that make a street rig desirable. It was beige suiting, the skirt showing a deep yoke shaped top-finished with three wide ticks. The goods overlapped at the left side seam, where was a trimming of buttons joined with narrow cord loops. Around the hem was a wide band of beige silk passementerie. The bodice had a jacket trimming of deep ticks, and button-trimmed bretelles were on the shoulders. The same button garniture appeared on the sleeves, and belt and turned back cuffs were of the passementerie.

A stunning wrap for a tailor street rig is a conching ulster of putty cloth. At the shoulders it turns down in a deep rever that is almost a cape. Above this the jaunty collar of the tailor rig and the perfect linen show. The ulster fastens double-breasted at the bust, and slants away till the garment hardly laps below the waist. Such a garment is open to many practical objections, but a rig cannot be stunning and everything else, and, at least, no one can say, with the display made of the under rig, that you have on an old "dowed" of a dress under your conching coat. easy reach and took a bite of it. "Well," he exclaimed, rapturously, "you're a peach!"—Chicago Tribune.

A FIRST CHARGE. At noon precisely the signal guns boomed out, and we sprang to the charge. From the very first our colonel blundered. He failed to obey his orders; he led us wildly in a wrong direction, under the very guns of one of our batteries. The hills in front of us flamed and roared with hostile fire, and our men were beginning to fall, but this disturbed us less than the confusing order which sent us now this way, now that. It seemed as though the regiment was doomed to disgrace, if not to destruction. Then it was that we discovered the heroic character of our lieutenant-colonel. Ignoring his incompetent and now helpless superior, he calmly assumed command, and there, in the face of the enemy's fierce fire, halted the regiment on a certain object. Of course, an untrained man may be an athlete, but the word is generally used in the more special sense. Therefore under this category will not be included those who "go in for exercise" as distinguished from "athletes." And now what is it to be "healthy?" It is easier to say what it is not than what it is. A man may be a fast runner, a fast ear, splendidly muscular and agile, yet need not be "healthy" as the writer understands the word. It sounds like a paradox, but a man may be able to lift tremendous weights, to put on a terrific spurt at the end of a long and punishing race, to send in his left with amazing force and rapidity, and yet be absolutely delicate. In short, physical strength and health, often as they have been considered synonymous, have very little to do with one another.

HEALTH AND ATHLETICS. What is precisely meant by the words "athletic" and "healthy?" The former may be dismissed in a word or two. By an "athlete" is meant the "trained" man, he who undergoes special preparation for a certain object. Of course, an untrained man may be an athlete, but the word is generally used in the more special sense. Therefore under this category will not be included those who "go in for exercise" as distinguished from "athletes." And now what is it to be "healthy?" It is easier to say what it is not than what it is. A man may be a fast runner, a fast ear, splendidly muscular and agile, yet need not be "healthy" as the writer understands the word. It sounds like a paradox, but a man may be able to lift tremendous weights, to put on a terrific spurt at the end of a long and punishing race, to send in his left with amazing force and rapidity, and yet be absolutely delicate. In short, physical strength and health, often as they have been considered synonymous, have very little to do with one another.

What then do we mean by being "healthy?" Briefly, it may be said that the healthy system is that of which all the parts work in perfect harmony. Such a system requires a very great shock, indeed, to throw it altogether out of gear; it has great recuperative powers, which tend to make up any deficiency caused by carelessness or disease. The healthy system possesses, moreover, great elasticity, and works vigorously to throw off any evil germs before they have got a footing. Health is a good deal more than the absence of disease; it is emphatically an active condition. And its distinguishing sign is adaptability. The really healthy man is he who, after catching a slight cold, goes to bed, sleeps soundly and wakes up perfectly well in the morning; who easily recovers from any unusual strain upon his organization, who can stand extremes of climate, privation and hardship; who is not permanently upset by even a violent departure from his ordinary course of life; who does not trouble much about what he eats and drinks, so long as it is wholesome; this is a healthy man. He may or may not be what is rather erroneously termed "strong;" that is a trifling matter. Whether he is strong in another and truer sense of the word may be judged by those who know how often your great strong athletic fellow succumbs to a complaint which the so-called "weakling" manages to struggle through.

To return to the athlete. Can any one who has any real knowledge of the subject deny that, judged by the standard which has been laid down, the athlete will, as a rule, be found wanting? Let us take the oarsman as typical of the amateur athlete. To look at the young "varsity" oar is to get an impression of a man thoroughly hardened to wind and weather; to whom such things as colds and chills were unknown. But is it so? Most emphatically, no! How often do we hear of his being temporarily incapacitated through some trifling mishap or indisposition? How often is he laid up? How often "off color"? How often down with something serious? And especially is this noticeable when he is a little older and has left off training regularly. If one casts one's memory back through the years, how many once brilliant athletes can we call to mind as having broken down and died untimely deaths?

We can think of many, but the name of those who have not died, but have just managed to keep alive after struggling through long and painful illnesses, is legion. Allusion is not here made to specific complaints—such as heart disease—brought on by over-exertion, although this is not infrequent. But what is meant is rather the general weakening of the system, the loss of that "spring" and energy which are so essential to a man who has to fight against illness. As with the oarsman so with the running man. The latter is particularly prone to little injuries to his feet and legs, and in him the results of training are shown very graphically. For an ordinary man the cure of a sprained ankle or strained tendon is a matter of weeks; for the trained man it often means for months on the shelf. So long as things shape a normal course he appears to be in perfect health; directly the unexpected occurs one sees that he does not possess the stamina and recuperative energy he so badly needs.—St. James' Gazette.

BASEBALL NEWS.

The results of yesterday's games, with the exception of the Boston-Baltimore game, which may be found on the first page, were as follows:

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Washington - Defeats New York. New York, Sept. 27.—Based on balls by Meekin, and errors behind him, were responsible for the Senators' runs. Mercer pitched a good game, and the Giants were only able to hit him effectively in one inning. Except for a running backward and one-handed catch, the game was featureless. Davis was injured in the fourth inning, being hit in the stomach by Tucker's knee. He recovered shortly, however, and resumed play. Score: Washington, 0 0 0 0 3 0 0—3—7—4 Washington, 0 3 0 0 0 3 0—6—5—2 Batteries, Meekin and Warner, Mercer and Maguire.

Pirates Win From the Colts. Pittsburg, Sept. 27.—It was Chicago's game up to the seventh inning, after which the Pirates found the ball and batted in the winning runs. Attendance 1,300. Score: Pittsburg, 0 0 0 0 0 2 3—5—13—1 Chicago, 1 0 2 1 0 0 0 0—4—7—3 Batteries—Hawley and Merritt; Thornton and Kiltredge.

At Last the Browns Beat the Reds. St. Louis, Sept. 27.—For the first time in two years the Browns took a game from the Cincinnati. The game was a pitcher's battle between Brettenstein and Donahue. A fumble by Corcoran and another by Ritchey cost the Reds the game. Attendance 500. Score: Cincinnati, 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—4—8—2 St. Louis, 0 2 0 0 3 0 0 0—5—7—0

STATE LEAGUE.

Derby Wins Another. Derby, Conn., Sept. 27.—Crushing defeats seem to be in order in the Derby-Meriden series, as to-day's game was a case of turning the tables for Saturday's defeat, as the home team won out 13 to 3. There was a large delegation of Meriden "rooters" present, but before the game was over they were rooting for the "Angels."

Brown pitched for Derby to-day, and he will also pitch in the game at Meriden to-morrow, when Derby hopes to win and thus secure the "Nutmeg" cup. Corcoran was touched up for two home runs and three two-baggers. Kilken played in right to-day in Farmham's place, and covered the position well, and his stick work was good. The score: Derby, 2 1 1 2 1 0 5—13—13—3 Meriden, 2 0 0 1 0 0 0—3—8—3 Batteries, Brown and Manning, Corcoran and Thiesen.

The nominating committee reported the personnel of the board of managers for the ensuing year, and also gave that board power to increase its numbers. The board is as follows: A. At the meeting last night plans for the coming season were discussed informally, and the report of the treasurer accepted. The report shows that the finances of the movement are in excellent shape, and that there is a considerable balance in the treasury—in fact several hundred dollars.

At the meeting it was stated that ten courses would be given this year of a wider scope than what has been attempted heretofore. It is expected that Prof. Woodrow Wilson, of Princeton, and others quite as eminent in their respective fields, will be among the lecturers. Prof. Winchester of Wesleyan, and Prof. W. L. Phelps of Yale, are also to be invited to take courses.

Messrs. Hiller and Stetson were appointed a committee to devise plans for increasing the membership of the association.

ST. AGNES' HARVEST FESTIVAL. Very Pleasant Social Event Given by the Young Ladies in St. Aloysius' Hall.

The young ladies of St. Agnes' T. A. and B. society gave a harvest festival last evening in St. Aloysius' hall that was a complete success in every way. About five hundred were present and enjoyed a varied programme of great interest. The society is a very progressive one of 130 members, and is doing very good work. The large hall was tastefully and lavishly decorated last evening, and the musical programme rendered was as follows:

Miss McDonough sang a number of negro melodies and received a storm of applause, being encored repeatedly. George Liddell's vocal solos were appreciated, and so was Joseph Lilley's rendering of a selection on the piano. The St. Aloysius' Glee club is always good, and with ladies and gentlemen alike is a prime favorite. It was, as usual, well received last night. Miss Margaret Healy's readings were of a high order of excellence and were greatly enjoyed.

The officers of the lodge are: President, Miss Kate Molloy; vice president, Miss Rose Early; treasurer, Miss Ryan; secretary, Miss Gebhardt; financial secretary, Miss Flood; sergeant-at-arms, Miss Connors.

As regards the granting of a pension to Mr. W. Smith, ex-superintendent of the New Haven fire alarm telegraph system, all now depends on the report of the physicians. If the physicians decide otherwise, he will not be pensioned.

Registrar Preston has received a letter asking that New Haven be represented at the meeting of the American Public Health association's convention, to be held at Philadelphia, Oct. 23-28. It is desired that all of the vital statisticians should meet there and adopt some uniform method of classification.

Under the new law, Mr. Preston turns all of his records over to the state board of health, and therefore is not a statistician any more. The request will be turned over to the board of health.

ST. CECELIA SOCIETY GROWING. Young Ladies Will Hold Father Matthew Celebration and Also Harvest Carnival.

St. Cecilia Ladies' T. A. and B. society is composed of some of the brightest and pleasantest young ladies in this city, and that is saying a good deal. Last evening they held their regular semi-monthly meeting, at which eight new applicants were received, and the delegates to the recent state convention made their reports.

A committee was appointed to make suitable arrangements for a Father Matthew's celebration on October 11. A social event also, in the nature of a harvest carnival, will probably be given in St. Patrick's hall on Wallace street on October 18. A varied musical programme of a high order will be rendered, after which there will be dancing and light refreshments will be served.

After the meeting last evening the young ladies in a body adjourned to the harvest carnival of their sister society, the St. Agnes.

The officers of St. Cecilia are: President, Miss Mary Sullivan; vice president, Miss Annie Kelley; recording secretary, Miss Mamie Noonan; financial secretary, Miss Hannah Driscoll; treasurer, Miss Edna Miller.

Nervura! King of Medicines.

Member of Congress Powers, Formerly Judge of the Supreme Court, Pronounces Dr. Greene's Nervura a Most Valuable Remedy.

The Highest Endorsements by Prominent People Given to Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy that were Ever Given to any Medicine in the World's History.

MEMBER OF CONGRESS H. HENRY POWERS, EX-JUDGE OF SUPREME COURT.

No other medicine in the world is recommended so highly, so strongly and so earnestly and by so many well-known and prominent people as Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It is recommended to the sick by almost everybody, as the surest cure. It is recommended to the healthy as the greatest of all health restorers. It restores vigor, strength, to the first, overworked and worn-out body. It makes pure, rich, natural blood and strengthens and invigorates the nerves of those who are nervous, nervous-headed and nerve-shattered.

Here, for instance, is the recommendation for the people to use Dr. Greene's Nervura by one of our greatest statesmen, Hon. H. Henry Powers, Morrisville, Vt., Member of Congress and Chairman of the Committee on Pacific Railroads, Member of the Committee on Elections and President of the National Education Association. For sixteen years he has taken his seat in Congress as Judge of the Supreme Court. He has also been State Senator and Speaker of the Vermont House of Representatives. Surely there can be no higher testimony in favor of a remedy than the personal words of so distinguished a statesman and eminent a judge, and we doubt not that his testimonial and encouraging recommendation to those who are out of health to use Dr. Greene's Nervura, will result in the cure of everyone who reads these lines for his advice will certainly influence all to immediately use Dr. Greene's Nervura.

WILLINGDON HAPPENINGS

Well Known Resident Disappears—Damage to Water Service—Business and Pleasure—Many Personal. There was much conversation about town yesterday and last evening regarding the disappearance of one of our well known residents, who has been away for over a week and whose whereabouts are not known. There are many rumors about what he is doing, but it is probable, and judgment should be reserved until more light is thrown on the matter before reaching any rash conclusions.

SPECIAL TAX MUST BE LAID

THE INCOME OF THE AVERAGE COLLEGE PROFESSOR.

To turn to the material side of things, the assurance of a fixed income is a source of permanent satisfaction, however disproportionate the income to the service that is rendered. To be sure, the salary of a full professor, the country over is little if not less than two thousand dollars. In the larger universities it may rise to three thousand dollars or something more, but the men who receive above four thousand dollars are so few as scarcely to affect the general average. Aside from the bare possibility of a call to a richer institution, the college professor is not likely to be earning more at fifty than at thirty. Unlike most other professions, there is here no gradual increase of income, to give tangible evidence of a man's growth in power. Unless one has taken the Northern Farmer's thrifty advice, and "gone where money lies" when he married, his outlook as he faces old age is not reassuring. Pensions are extremely rare; college trustees are forced in most cases to be as ungrateful as republicans. The cost of living has steadily risen in college towns, keeping pace with the general increase of luxury throughout the older communities. Here are exceptions, but upon the whole the scale of necessary expenditure for a man fulfilling the various social duties required by his position is constantly growing greater. The professor's incidental income from books and lectures is ordinarily insignificant. When he has paid his bills he finds his margin left for charity and tithing. If he smokes at all, he invents ingenious reasons for preferring a pipe. He sees the light-hearted tutors sail for Europe every summer, but as for himself he decides annually that it will be wiser to wait just one year more. Once in a while he will yield to the temptation to pick up a first edition of a good print, but Adams and Rembrandt proofs are toys he may not dally with. In short, his tastes are cultivated beyond his income, and his sole comfort is in the Pharisaical reflection that this is better, after all, than to have more income than taste.—Bliss Perry in Scribner's.

FINANCIAL

Yesterday's Stock Market Was Inactive, but Prices Held Firm. New York, Sept. 27.—The stock market to-day showed a very marked falling off in activity, the total sales of stocks reaching only 370,000 shares. The diminished activity was in part due to the observance of the Jewish New Year holiday by many brokers and operators. But there was a disposition on the part of many large interests to stand aside for the time being and allow prices to take their own course. Prices rose after the opening in sympathy with the quotations received from London and there was buying also for local account here. Later some traders professed to be disappointed at the size of the increase shown in the August gross earnings of Omaha and that stock was sold down sharply. The decrease in the freight tonnage shipped eastward from Chicago last week was also used as an argument for a depression of prices. Rock Island was one of the stocks under special pressure. The market receded below Saturday's close under these influences, the decline in Rock Island extending to 1/2, but only to fractional amounts in other stocks. There was also a recession from the heat at the close, so that the extreme advances during the day considerably exceeded the net gain. The market advanced in the afternoon to the highest point of the day. The money market continued to attract the greatest share of interest as the future course of speculation is felt to largely depend on the supplies of money. The tone of the market was somewhat easier to-day, but there was little demand for shipments of currency to the interior continue in large volume and it is believed this demand will not be exhausted for some time yet. Several of the leading banks in the city already show their reserve reduced below the 25 per cent limit and several others have almost exhausted their surplus reserve. It is believed that a further contraction of loans to a considerable amount will be necessary to provide against withdrawals for use in the interior. In looking for relief from possible stringency to imports of gold it is felt that the comparative ease of the London money market must be considered in a measure, the rate being kept down by the surplus of gold being sent to the Indian government in floating its loan. Russia and Austria-Hungary continue an active competition for gold and there is a large balance in the Bank of England which Japan has the power to withdraw. The foreclosure sale of the Union Pacific and the withdrawal of $30,000,000 or $40,000,000 of cash which it will necessitate is a matter that looms in the perspective of the money market situation. Under these conditions it is believed that there will not be immediately any such resumption of activity in stock speculation as has characterized the market for many months past. To-day's net advances run from a fraction to over a point in the active shares. Consolidated Gas rising 1/4; Sugar 3; and C. C. and St. Louis preferred 2 1/2. Minneapolis and St. Louis rose 1/4 and Baltimore and Ohio a point. Railway bonds declined early in sympathy with stocks, but recovered later. Total sales, $2,500,000. United States four, coupon of 1907, advanced 1/4 bid. Following are the closing prices reported by Prince & Whitley, bankers and brokers, 46 Broadway, New York, and 15 Center street, New Haven:
