

SUCCESS OF AMERICA Full Truth of It as to Philipines Produces Curious Effect in House of Commons. EQUILIBRIUM OF NATIONS

NEW FORCE MAY UPSET ALL PREVIOUS CALCULATIONS. Members of the British Parliament See That New Developments Are Expected and Dwell Upon a Naval Power Whose Friendship Would be Vital in the Face of European Hostility.

London, May 10.—The Daily Chronicle says: "The full truth about the success of America in the Philipines has produced a curious effect in the house of commons. It is as if a new world portent had appeared, a new force upsetting all previous calculations as to the equilibrium of nations. Members who were most enthusiastic about the American cause see that new developments are expected. Others dwell upon a new naval power whose friendship would be vital in the face of European hostility. It is a critical moment."

The Hong Kong correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says: "The British in Manila have forwarded a petition through the British consul to Vice Consul Seymour, (commander-in-chief of the China station), for further naval assistance, and it is anticipated that additional vessels will be sent there on Wednesday. The British consul is working in thorough harmony with the American commander; but it is felt that the overwhelming British commercial interests require supervision by a force sufficient to keep the Spaniards and natives in check."

There is a desire here to advocate a British acquisition of the Philipines, thus completing the chain of British possessions from the Straits Settlements by Borneo to the colony. It is felt here that the occupation of the Philipines by any other great European power would be most dangerous to British interests. Business at Manila is at a complete standstill, but the Spaniards are not likely to surrender until the city is blown to pieces. The British inhabitants, however, are confident that the trouble will soon be over."

SAMPSON'S FLEET. Navy Department Does Not Expect News for Several Days.

Washington, May 9.—There is the best authority for the statement that, to-day having passed without a report from Admiral Sampson, the navy department does not expect to hear from him within several days. The authority for the statement is fully acquainted with Admiral Sampson's plans, and the remark would seem to indicate that the admiral, having failed to find the enemy at the place expected, had turned his attention to the alternative project. What this is cannot be ascertained. It is evident, however, that the department is under no apprehension as to the safety of the American squadron nor of any vessel of the fleet.

TRYING TO PROVISION PORTS. Spaniards Cable Jamaica Merchants for Cargoes of Food.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 9.—The Spaniards are trying to provision the forts of eastern Cuba before the blockade begins. To-day the merchants here received cable requests from Santiago and Manzanillo for cargoes of food. It is represented that there is time yet to market large quantities of provisions. Two schooners have been chartered here, and one has been chartered at Montego Bay.

REPORTS OF ENGAGEMENTS. Three Reach Key West but Are Not Confirmed.

Key West, Fla., May 9.—10:30 p. m.—Three separate reports of engagements of United States warships reached here to-night but thus far details are wanting. One rumor is that the cruiser Montgomery has captured two prizes off Cape Haytien after a sharp battle with two Spanish gunboats and put into St. Nicholas slightly damaged. Another says that the tug Osceola of the Mosquito fleet was fired upon near Havana, and the third is that three Spanish gunboats fired upon the United States torpedo boat Winslow at Cardenas, but were repulsed by the Winslow after one had been disabled.

The Vicksburg to-night brought in a fishing smack. Both are lying out and owing to the regulations no details can be ascertained. The Spanish schooner Severito was captured by the gunboat Dolphin while trying to make her way into Havana harbor early this morning. The Norwegian steamer Brattsburg with cattle attempted to run the blockade, but was held up with a blank shot and turned back here.

PROMINENT MEN APPOINTED. Given Positions in Volunteer Army—John Jacob Astor.

Washington, May 9.—Many of the civilians appointed to the staff positions in the volunteer army are well known. John Jacob Astor is one of the wealthiest men in the United States. Curtis Guild is editor of the Boston Commercial. Walter Bouve is captain of the First corps cadets of Boston. Charles N. Miller is a son of the president's old-time friend in Canton. Frederick M. Alger is a son of the secretary of war. James G. Blaine, jr., is the only surviving son of the famous statesman. W. B. Allison is a nephew of the senator. Nicholas Sonn is surgeon general of the Illinois militia. F. A. Hill, named as E. J. Hill, is the son of Representative Mr. Hull. He is a New York lawyer. Mr. Hull is the son of Representative Hull, a Des Moines lawyer, captain of a National Guard regiment and a guardian of national repute. C. H. Ribble is a West Point graduate, served in the army for eight years and has practiced law for the past twelve years. Charles L. Jewett is a lawyer living at New Albany, Ind.

FOR THE INSURGENTS. Government Sends Vessel Laden With Arms, Ammunition and Supplies.

Tampa, Fla., May 9.—The steamer Gussie of the Miller line, chartered by the government for use as a transport, will sail for Cuba before morning loaded with arms, ammunition and supplies furnished by the United States government for the use of the Cuban insurgents. A company of 100 United States troops from the First regiment of infantry will accompany the expedition and aid in guarding the landing of the valuables and will, if necessary, proceed into the interior. The expedition will be in charge of Captain W. H. Dorat, General Miles' aide, who has just returned from Cuba. The Gussie has on board between 6,000 and 7,000 Gussie rifles, about 200,000 rounds of ammunition and several hundred boxes of provisions, consisting principally of canned meats and bread. The utmost secrecy is maintained regarding the point of landing, but in view of Captain Dorat's recent landing near Havana where he communicated with the insurgent leader, Delgado, it is believed that the expedition will be headed for a point not far from Havana.

TROOPS IN TAMPA. No Order Yet Received for Their Immediate Departure.

Tampa, Fla., May 9.—It can be stated on the best of authority that no order for the immediate departure of troops from Tampa has yet been received and that none is expected at present. While officials here believe it very probable that the plan of campaign has been completed, no movement of a large body of troops from here is possible for several days. It will take some time to prepare the transports and, moreover, nearly half the supplies necessary for the army of invasion have yet to be received. At the present rate of progress, and taking into account the time necessary for landing the troops, it is hardly possible that any movement can take place before the end of the week, or even later.

"FORCED TO RETREAT." What an Official Dispatch from Havana Says of Two American Ships.

Madrid, May 9, 9 p. m.—An official dispatch from Havana asserts that an American cruiser and a large torpedo boat attempted to force the Cardenas channel and opened fire on the Spanish gunboats Antonio Lopez, Ligera and Alenta. After a half hour's engagement the American warships, the dispatch says, were "forced to retreat."

AN IMMEDIATE CAMPAIGN. EVIDENCE THAT WAR DEPARTMENT HAS THIS IN VIEW.

Expect to Make it Short, Sharp and Concise—Systematizing the Work of Mobilization—Probably About One-Third of the Entire Army Called for by the President, or About 40,000 Troops, Will Constitute Force to Take Part in First Cuban Service—Troops for the Philipines.

Washington, May 9.—The war department to-day informed the country through the press just where the various state volunteer organizations are to be concentrated. It is the first time that any official statement has been made as to the points of concentration themselves. The order as published by the department is thought in some quarters to warrant the assumption that it contemplates a speedy movement of the United States military forces than was originally planned. The war department officials refuse to say anything on this point, but there is every evidence that they expect a short, sharp, conclusive and immediate campaign. It is also to be noted that preparations made by the quartermaster's department and the commissary's department, so far as disclosed by actual orders, indicate that provision is being made for mobilizing, transporting and feeding many thousands of men outside of the United States.

With a view to systematizing the work of mobilizing the forces and putting them in service, the war department has planned a scheme which, it is believed, will very much hasten the work of getting the men together and equipping them, while avoiding any congestion of the railroad traffic. As soon as one regiment is mustered, that regiment will be ordered at once to the point selected for concentration. In this way the government will be relieved of any great rush. It is the expectation that the first regiments organized and reported from the states will be sent to Chattanooga, thence going to Cuba via Mobile, Tampa, New Orleans and Galveston, for expeditions will be dispatched from each of these ports.

The governor of a state will have no hand in the destination of the regiments. Their destination will depend upon the promptness with which the volunteers are organized and are ready for transportation. Probably about one-third of the entire army called for by the president, or about 40,000 troops, will constitute the force to be sent south to take part in the Cuban service, following the regular army forces. These troops will be the first to receive their equipment, just as was defined in General Miles' circular issued to-day. When they are organized, equipped and concentrated, the government will be ready to equip the second contingent, namely the forces about equal to another third of the total called for. Thus it will be noted from a study of the concentration orders that six regiments and two troops of New York volunteers are assigned to duty under command of the department of the east, commanding coast defenses and reserves, which probably will result in their employment in New York harbor and along the ports of Long Island Sound. Likewise in the case of Pennsylvania and Vermont two battalions are assigned to duty in the department of the east, which will place them along the shores of Delaware river.

When these are equipped, the government will turn its attention to the third class, comprising the last third of the 125,000 volunteers called for. It is the sincere hope of the war department that it will not be called upon to fully equip these troops before hostilities are at an end, but the work of preparation is proceeding on the contrary assumption. This third division will constitute the second reserve to be drawn upon for reinforcements whenever needed and it is possible the men will never be called upon to leave their own states.

After those of the first class will come the troops to be sent to the Philipine Islands. The responses so far received from the mustering offices continue to be very encouraging. The following telegram to-day from Governor Clough to Adjutant General Corbin shows the state of feeling in the west: "State Camp, St. Paul, Minn.—Troops all mustered in and I believe we have three regiments that are second to none—the Twelfth, the Thirteenth and the Fourteenth regiments. All anxiously awaiting to go to the front. Please do not overlook Minnesota, the star state."

A FAILURE. Robert Lindblom Driven to the Wall by Wheat's Fluctuations.

Chicago, May 9.—One failure was reported to-day as the result of the fluctuations in the wheat market. Robert Lindblom, one of the best known operators on the board of trade and president of the civil service commission, assigned immediately after the close of business this afternoon. The assets and liabilities of the firm, as reported, were $100,000 and $125,000 respectively. The failure was attributed to the condition of the wheat market and the fact that he was suddenly called upon during the day to provide margins for traders in barley amounting to $40,000. Mr. Lindblom was unable to respond to the call. It is said that arrangements may be made with the creditors so that he can resume business.

DARTMOUTH-BROWN DEBATE. New Hampshire Collegians Win the Subject and Speakers.

Hanover, N. H., May 9.—Dartmouth won the first Dartmouth-Brown debate to-night, having the affirmative side of the question: "Resolved, That apart from legislation New England textile industries will be able to maintain themselves." The Dartmouth speakers were Frederic Yucasovitch Bennis, '98, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Henry LaBaron Sisson, '98; Middlebury, Mass., and Ernest Park, '98, of Seaboard, N. H. The Brown debaters were Smith Lewis Miller, '98, of Charlotte, N. H.; Edwin Farahan Green, '98, of Newton Center, Mass.; and George Edward Walker, Lawrence, Mass.

FIRE AT YALE FIELD. Main Grand Stand Totally Destroyed Last Night.

The main grandstand at Yale field was totally destroyed by fire last night. It was undoubtedly the work of incendiaries as nothing of an inflammable nature was ever kept in or about the building. George Reynolds, the superintendent of the field, lives directly across the road from the stand. He said that he made a tour and thorough inspection of all the stands about 10 o'clock last night and everything, so far as he could tell, was all right. About 12 o'clock he was awakened from his slumbers by a loud crackling noise and on going to the window saw the stand a mass of flames. He hurriedly dressed and rushed out of the house, giving the alarm as he went. He quickly discovered a strong odor of kerosene and the flames were of such a nature as would indicate that oil had been spread over the front part of the structure. With the assistance of the few neighbors who soon gathered and formed a bucket brigade, the superintendent managed to keep the new stands, which have recently been placed adjoining both ends of the main stand, from being destroyed. There was a strong wind blowing from the north, but fortunately it came from such a direction that the flames were driven across the field towards the diamond instead of into either of the new stands. The roof of the building soon fell in and dragged with it the supports of the tower. This caused the clock to fall with a great crash. In just about an hour after the fire was discovered the grand stand was reduced to ashes.

By the time the stand had fallen the Westville Hook and Ladder company had arrived on the scene and went to work heroically to assist in saving the new stands. At one corner of the burned stand was a small hydrant and from this water was secured to enable them to keep a bucket brigade in operation. Several men gathered and took old clothes, and soaking them in the water managed to drown out some of the flames that were slowly creeping along the structure. The new stands were damaged to the extent of about $50. In the destroyed stand were kept the materials used in keeping the field in condition and they were all lost. Among them were a one horse mower, a two horse mower, two smaller mowers, picks, hoes, rakes, shovels, hammers, saws, etc., of the property of the corporation and valued at about $700. Beside these Superintendent Reynolds had several hundred dollars worth of materials in the building. There were two dressing rooms in the building and two dressing rooms of the baseball team had articles of wearing apparel in them. A portion of the fence, which encloses the field, was burned, as was also the small structure at the entrance used by the ticket taker.

The heat was so intense that it blistered and almost set fire to the residence of Superintendent Reynolds and several men were kept busy for a while pouring water on the front part and roof of the house. The burned building was so situated as to be out of the limits of the New Haven fire department and although it was saved out by an alarm from box 613, at the corner of Chapel and Norton street, they did not go beyond the bridge on Derby avenue. Some members of the Westville department brought several hundred feet of hose along and tried to get a stream of water on the fire by attaching the hose to a plug in a soap works situated about 500 yards from the grand stand, but their efforts were unavailing. The loss is about $5,000, including the burned grand stand, the farming materials and damage to the new stands. Quite a large number of students and citizens were attracted to the scene by the light which illuminated the heavens.

AT CAMP HAVEN. Men Fail to Pass Examination—Captain Beach's Battery.

Camp Haven, State Military Reservation, Niantic, May 9.—To-day has been a red letter day for the boys rendezvoused here, and for the first time since assembling here, sun-shine brightly throughout the entire day. It was a welcome change and the transition from the gloom of the tent to the open air was marked as the change in nature. Despite the trying conditions the camp shows a very healthy and cheerful appearance. Three or four patients at the hospital are confined with only trifling ailments. Two hundred and fifty persons were examined to-day and 107 passed the physical tests. The examination of Co. D, of the 10th Maine, was completed, but all the men failed; and Co. G, South Manchester, were next taken in hand, and though the entire company had not been examined, it is believed that the result will be the same. The company included many operatives in the mills, and there will be a much greater number than will undoubtedly fall. According to special orders issued, to go into effect immediately, the number of corporals will be reduced from twelve to six. Captain Beach's battery from New Haven is made up of workers and they are aiming to exceed the neighbors in their report. They have no uniforms yet, but nevertheless they are assuming a soldierly appearance and their progress, as was shown this afternoon when they were given the first lesson in their duties in the setting up exercises, and the officers were pleased to see the company. Captain Beach has been recruiting to-day and eight men were added from New London. It has been decided that the recruits will be paid the regular State pay while in camp and also be furnished with transportation to and from the camp. The recruits have been sent at the Y. M. C. A. tent and 800 letters were mailed to-day.

A NEW MOVE. Plan Proposed to Have Hawaiian Question Settled by Powers.

Washington, May 9.—Representative Johnson of Indiana has introduced a resolution authorizing and empowering the president to appoint three commissioners to meet a like number of commissioners appointed on the part of each of the governments of Great Britain, Russia, France, Austro-Hungary, Japan and China, to meet in Washington to carry out a practical plan to formulate, consider and report to their respective governments a plan for the neutralization and independence of the Sandwich Islands and the prevention in the future of any nation taking possession of said islands either directly or indirectly.

MARTIAL LAW IN SPAIN Will be Gradually Extended Throughout Country Owing to Serious Conditions.

A MOST SIGNIFICANT FACT THE MILITARY PARTY IS REGAINING LOST STRENGTH. But for Necessity of Getting War Credits Voted in Cortes Sagasta Would Have Decried Suspension of Constitutional Guarantees, Thus Placing the Whole Country Under Military Jurisdiction—Premier Admits Situation is Serious Which, Unfortunately, Cannot be Concealed.

London, May 10.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "Martial law has been proclaimed in Seville and Saragossa and will gradually be extended throughout the country, owing to the serious conditions existing. The most significant fact of the present moment is that the military party is regaining its lost strength. At a meeting to-morrow the cortes will invite the military leaders to attend their session. The Biarritz correspondent of the Daily Mail, dilating upon Spain's internal trouble, says: "But for the necessity of getting the war credits voted in the cortes Senor Sagasta would have decried the suspension of the constitutional guarantees, thus placing the whole country under military jurisdiction. The difficulties for the poor people are worse than those of the government. The latter by various expedients can raise money; the former are unable to obtain either food or employment. The wages of the laborers are too small to buy sufficient food for themselves and their families. In the mines of Estrada Manua and other places the miners are nearly famished. Meanwhile speculators make corners to raise the price of food and industry is paralyzed. In the Balearic Islands thousands of workmen are living on alms. Catalonia though the richest region in Spain, has suffered most deeply from the loss of the Cuban market. The Catalan manufacturers recently tried to place their goods in the Philipine Islands. They were beginning to succeed; and their exports to Mania and Hilo were increasing rapidly. This promising condition of things has been blighted by the war. The Catalan manufacturers have to forego the market only in Morocco and the South American republics; and commercial relations with these are not yet fully developed."

The warehouses are filled up to the ceilings with goods which will have to remain there till the war is over; and thousands of workmen, famished with hunger, will easily become the prey of political agitators and complicate the social and political situation of the country. The work of the political agitator is daily becoming more manifest as the plight of the people becomes more hopeless. The republicans declare that the moment the telegraph announces a new disaster for the Spanish arms, the great mass of the country will rise and sweep away everything. The Carlists say that if there are fresh disasters they will seize power. Therefore the key to the situation is war news. The Carlists are well organized. The republicans are divided by differences of programmes and the political ambitions of their party leaders. Weyler is waiting for his own chance and will venture nothing unless absolutely assured of success. The report that Weyler had arrived at an understanding with Marshal Campos is untrue. They are not even on speaking terms."

The Madrid correspondent of the Morning Post says that he has had a long interview with Senor Sagasta, in the course of which the Spanish statesman said: "The sad events at Manila have saddened all Spaniards, but have not made them lose heart. We can say with confidence of this disaster that nothing has occurred to wound our pride. Much has been said regarding the causes of the catastrophe, but all the discussion has been beside the question. The truth is that we were too few and were overwhelmed by the great superiority of the enemy's forces and by the fortunes of war, which, unhappily, went against us. "In the present juncture there is no time to lose. It is useless to delay. We must reserve all our strength and all our energy for to-morrow. Our duty is to unite in order to vanquish our enemies and to uphold the honor of Spain. It is necessary to secure that end, for the government to have the support of all without considerations of party and exclusively on patriotic grounds. Parliament, too, must grant the government the resources required."

"Now, this is precisely what grieves me. I believed that the first cannon shot fired by the United States against our troops would be a signal for the union of all Spaniards, but all are equally affected by the assault of the United States. I was mistaken. Certain parliamentary groups are in disagreement with the government. In such difficult times some are even ceaselessly intriguing; others are full of reticence, and all has been done in the name of the fatherland. Efforts have been made to assuage the monarchy at every point. "Our political adversaries attack the government when they criticize the acts of the crown while war is pro-

TO PRINT MAYOR'S MESSAGE. DEFENCE BY ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT OF STREETS.

Councilmen Did Not Follow Aldermen's Lead—Councilman Shepard Thought That Birds Were Flattering—Favorable Action on Chapel Street Paving—Business of Last Meeting of the Old Board.

The councilmen at the last meeting of the old board, held last night, instead of tabling the mayor's message, as was done by the board of aldermen at its last meeting, voted to table the document for printing in the journal of the board. The assistant city clerk announced, as he took up the message for reading, that it had come from the board of aldermen with no endorsement. Councilman White moved as soon as the reading had finished that the message be tabled for printing in the journal. Mr. White then began a lengthy speech, in the course of which he severely attacked Alderman Dewell for that gentleman's criticism at the last meeting of the board of aldermen of the portion of the mayor's quarterly message which referred to the "unjust criticism of the board of education." Mr. White was recently appointed assistant superintendent of streets by Mayor Farnsworth. He said: "I wish to say a word or two about the reception of the mayor's message at the last meeting of the aldermen. I was present at that time and was amused at the reception which the document received. It was almost like a red flag flaunted. I don't know what to call it. A number of members got up and expressed opinions, as they had a perfect right to do. When the gentleman from the Third and from the Seventh got up and said that they disagreed with the mayor, it was all right. I don't believe in some of the message myself. The gentlemen from the Third and Seventh gave illustrations as to why they disagreed with the mayor, yet a little later came a voice out of the east saying, 'Mr. President, I would like to hear that paragraph about the board of education read again.' The mayor said that the board of education resented unjust criticism." He then said that the board of education had not been criticised enough and that the children's heads had been filled with stuff not practical. Well, I will be as honest with him as with the others. He has a right to his criticism, but I propose to analyze his remarks. I suppose you all know to whom I refer. The gentleman is too young to have parents go to him for advice as to their children's education, therefore his views must be based on personal reasons, that is, he probably knows of one child who was turned out of school with his head full of stuff of no use to him in the world. There is one thing that the board of education can't do and that is to furnish brains to scholars. I believe that no man has a right to stand on this floor and say anything about members of the council, or of the city government, or about citizens, who can't prove it. I want to say that I am prepared to substantiate and prove every statement I make here to-night. I believe that all lawyers will agree with me that the burden of proof rests with the one who brings the charges. Well, I assume the responsibility publicly and I mean this. I am serious. I am ready to substantiate it on this basis: I will allow the gentleman to whom I refer to select a physician, the president of the board of councilmen and the president of the board of aldermen to each select one. Then I want to be present and when they open his head if they find brains in it I will acknowledge that I am wrong."

WORK OF CONGRESS. The Promotion of Dewey and Voting of Medals for Men.

Washington, May 9.—Fitting tribute was paid by the senate to-day to Rear Admiral Dewey for the magnificent victory he achieved in the battle of Manila bay. A message from the president was received recommending that a vote of thanks be extended by congress to Rear Admiral Dewey and the gallant officers and men of his command. Without a word of debate and without a dissenting voice the senate agreed to the resolution carrying into effect the recommendation of the president.

A bill was presented increasing the number of rear admirals in the navy from six to seven, in order that the president might nominate Admiral Dewey to the highest position in the navy within his gift, and that, too, was passed without dissent. In addition, a joint resolution was unanimously agreed to directing the secretary of the navy to present to Rear Admiral Dewey a sword of honor and to have struck, in commemoration of the battle of Manila, a bronze medal for each of the officers and men who participated in the fight. The resolution appropriates $10,000 to enable the secretary to carry its provisions into effect. The bill offered last Friday authorizing the postmaster general to establish postoffices at military posts and camps in order to facilitate the delivery of mail to soldiers was reported favorably by the postoffice and postroads committee and unanimously passed. Subsequently an amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill was agreed to appropriating $50,000 to carry the bill into effect. The postoffice appropriation bill was under discussion during almost the entire session. At a late hour it became evident that the bill could not be disposed of to-day and an adjournment was had.

IN THE HOUSE. Washington, May 9.—The greater part of to-day in the house was consumed by war measures. The recommendation of the house committee that a vote of thanks be tendered Rear Admiral Dewey was followed quickly by a unanimous vote and with equal concert the house passed the bill creating an additional rear admiralship for the hero of Manila. The bill providing for the organization of the volunteer engineer brigade and enlistment of 10,000 volunteer troops immune to tropical diseases was passed after two hours' debate. The principal ground of opposition presented was found in the features giving to the president the appointment of all officers. The senate bill authorizing the army to distribute food among the suffering Cubans and to arm the Cuban people was passed.

WAR REVENUE BILL. Banks to be Licensed $100 and Brokers $50 a Year.

Washington, May 9.—When the senate finance committee adjourned to-night the consideration of the war revenue amendments to the war revenue bill had been almost entirely completed, although there were some puzzling problems still unsolved, one of which was the manner of dealing with proprietary medicinal articles. There will probably be a uniform tax on all these. The committee has decided to place a license upon banks at the rate of $100 a year and upon brokers at the rate of $50, but has not yet determined whether the professions shall be licensed or not. On life insurance companies the tax has been increased five fold. It is estimated that this tax will bring $1,000,000 in revenue. A tax on bills of lading was also adopted, as were the provisions for taxing all dealings in futures, including bucket shop operations. The bill as it will be reported will contain a provision requiring that memorandum of all dealings of this character, however small, and that a two cent stamp be placed upon the memorandum. The democratic amendments will be taken up to-morrow and there is very little doubt that they will be adopted, as Senator Jones of Nevada has indicated his purpose of standing with the democrats on all the principal changes they suggest. It is probable that the consideration of the bill may be completed to-morrow, but it is not probable.

The bill providing for the organization of the volunteer engineer brigade and enlistment of 10,000 volunteer troops immune to tropical diseases was passed after two hours' debate. The principal ground of opposition presented was found in the features giving to the president the appointment of all officers. The senate bill authorizing the army to distribute food among the suffering Cubans and to arm the Cuban people was passed.

WAR REVENUE BILL. Banks to be Licensed $100 and Brokers $50 a Year.

Washington, May 9.—When the senate finance committee adjourned to-night the consideration of the war revenue amendments to the war revenue bill had been almost entirely completed, although there were some puzzling problems still unsolved, one of which was the manner of dealing with proprietary medicinal articles. There will probably be a uniform tax on all these. The committee has decided to place a license upon banks at the rate of $100 a year and upon brokers at the rate of $50, but has not yet determined whether the professions shall be licensed or not. On life insurance companies the tax has been increased five fold. It is estimated that this tax will bring $1,000,000 in revenue. A tax on bills of lading was also adopted, as were the provisions for taxing all dealings in futures, including bucket shop operations. The bill as it will be reported will contain a provision requiring that memorandum of all dealings of this character, however small, and that a two cent stamp be placed upon the memorandum. The democratic amendments will be taken up to-morrow and there is very little doubt that they will be adopted, as Senator Jones of Nevada has indicated his purpose of standing with the democrats on all the principal changes they suggest. It is probable that the consideration of the bill may be completed to-morrow, but it is not probable.

"Now, this is precisely what grieves me. I believed that the first cannon shot fired by the United States against our troops would be a signal for the union of all Spaniards, but all are equally affected by the assault of the United States. I was mistaken. Certain parliamentary groups are in disagreement with the government. In such difficult times some are even ceaselessly intriguing; others are full of reticence, and all has been done in the name of the fatherland. Efforts have been made to assuage the monarchy at every point. "Our political adversaries attack the government when they criticize the acts of the crown while war is pro-offices, or factories, are peculiarly liable to female diseases, especially those who are constantly on their feet. Often they are unable to perform their duties, their suffering is so intense. When the first symptoms present themselves, such as backache, pains in groins, headache, dizziness, faintness, swelled feet, blues, etc., they should at once write Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., stating symptoms. She will tell them exactly what to do.

GRACE B. STANBURY, Pratt, Kansas, says: "I suffered from intense pains in the womb and ovaries, and the backache was dreadful. I had leucorrhoea in its worst form. This I dragged along. At last I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. Her answer came promptly. I read carefully her letter, and concluded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking two bottles I felt much better; but after using six bottles I was cured."

Hall, member of the good roads commission, said to-day that the last public meeting of the commission would be held in the court house, New Haven, May 24, and from present indications the meeting would be a rouser. Mr. Hall perfected arrangements for the meeting last week, and said that some fine arguments in favor of the good roads movement were to be made at that meeting. The people in and about New Haven are heartily in sympathy with the scheme, and are using every means and putting forth every effort to make it a decided success. After this meeting the commission will hold several meetings, probably in the capitol at Hartford, when the highway commissioner and other state officials will be present to discuss the matter with the commissioners. At these meetings the report to be presented to the next general assembly in January will be formulated."

SPAIN'S DEFEAT IN 1866

A BROOKLYN MAN'S STORY OF THE CALLAO BOMBARDMENT.

The Outrageous Betrayal of Hospitality in Peru by the Spaniards and Their Attack on Callao After Having Bombarded Defenseless Valparaiso.

On May 2, 1866, Spain's armada suffered its final and overwhelming defeat on the western coast of South America. Never again was Spain to have a foothold on the continent where her possessions had been so vast.

While making a thorough study of the Inca antiquities in Peru, Dr. Augustus Le Plongeon, now living in Brooklyn, resided in that country eight years, and took part in the stirring events. He gives the following account of Spain's crushing defeat:

"1864 a squadron of three Spanish frigates, of sixty guns, suddenly appeared at Callao. These ships were the Villa de Madrid, Commander Gonzalez; El Triunfo, whose commander's name I do not recall, and La Blanca, Commander Topete, an uncle of the Spanish consul-general recently in New York.

"Those who have lived among the Peruvians know how hospitable and generous they are. The Spaniards were believed, cordially welcomed as brothers who had returned after a prolonged absence; feted by the best society in Lima, where banquets and balls were given in their honor; treated by the government as envoys of a friendly nation, and every facility for learning all about the country, its public monuments, institutions, and so forth, was given them.

"After eight or ten days, during which nothing that could make their visit enjoyable was omitted, the Spaniards left their hosts with many a hand clasp and loud expressions of their wishes for the prosperity of the republic. The officers said they were going toward California, and were seen to start northward. But no sooner were the ships out of our sight than they changed their course and went south direct to the Chinchoa Islands, whose guano, exhausted in 1872, then made them the treasure house of Peru.

"When the action of the Spaniards became known in Lima the indignation of their generous entertainers knew no bounds. A state of consternation also prevailed when it was rumored that Callao would be bombarded. General Antonio Ezet, the president, was at the head of the fleet to rescue the islands so as to fill the contract for guano. To fail to do this would have proved exceedingly detrimental to the country.

"In the council chambers of the Cabildo (city hall) the foreigners residing in Lima held a meeting, at which the traveler George E. Squires, then commissioner of the United States to Peru, presided. It was resolved that a protest should be sent, in the name of the foreign merchants, to Mazarredo, Spain's plenipotentiary with the fleet, and on the Chinchoa Islands, against the treacherous action of Spain. This was done, but did not produce the desired result. Spain was there to insist upon the payment of an indemnity, and the ships did not move off until one of them was mysteriously destroyed.

"How it was done? Well, after a few days two or three citizens went to Pisco, a small port opposite the Chinchoa islands, hired a fisherman's canoe and its owner, and at early dawn visited the Spanish squadron to see how it appeared in the morning mists. Before the sun was up an outside accident happened to El Triunfo, although afterward officers and crew declared the calamity occurred inside the ship. There was a fine illumination which first lit up the riggings, then caught the hull, and the Spaniards were so pleased they jumped overboard to have a better view of the spectacle. The Triunfo was towed a short distance from the other ships; it burned to its water line and sank where it can be seen to this day in calm weather.

"Two or three days later the other ships sailed south to Chill, but the news of their doings had reached the place; therefore its ports were closed and war declared against the Spaniards. Guayaquil followed the same course; and not one country on the western coast allowed the Spanish ships to take water. For this and for wood they had to go to Juan Fernandez.

"About half past three the Berenguela, commanded by Captain Peguela, had to be towed to her anchorage. In her side she had a hole big enough for a cart and oxen to pass through and there was a fire on board. At four o'clock a shell from La Blanca struck the top of the southern turret and exploded 300 pounds of powder, placed there by order of Don Manuel Galvez, Minister of War, against the advice of the officers. The turret was split, the guns dismounted, and eighteen or twenty men killed. Only one finger of Senor Galvez was found, and recognized by a ring he had always worn.

"The boys on shore twice set fire to the Almazan by making the cannon balls red hot before firing them. The Spaniards behaved well enough—they were brave—but proved themselves miserable gunners. Mendez Nunez, on the bridge of his Numancia, was slightly wounded by splinters from the brass wall which was hit by a ball. At 5 o'clock he gave the order to cease firing. The last shot was from shore, from the south battery at La Blanca, as she was retreating. Unhappily, the man who pointed the gun aimed a little too low, and the missile fell about six feet behind the ship's stern."

"From first to last I took an active part on shore, and can testify to the tactics of the Peruvians as well as of our United States allies. About 350 brave men perished on land, not struck down by the Spanish fire direct, but by the cobblestones which covered the shore and which, scattered by the cannon balls, did dire work. If Dr. Johnson, chief surgeon on the Vanderbilt, or any of the officers on board at that time are still living, they can corroborate my account. Dr. Johnson may also remember the wound of Captain Gonzalez of the Madrid when he and I stepped on the deck of that ship to present the compliments of Commodore Rodgers and offer our professional services for the wounded seamen.

"Gonzalez received us courteously, accepted our offer, and said: 'I am glad to have had to fire a shot against the city. That cannon ball spared my feelings. I am a republican, and my soul revolted against firing, but as a military man I should have had to do it had not this saved me, pointing to the ball that had done such effective work. We visited the other battleships also, last of all the Numancia, which we left at 9 o'clock at night in one of the fogs common at that season, and with difficulty found our way back to the Vanderbilt.'

"The Spanish ships remained at their anchorage about eight days making repairs, then departed in a very crippled state. On its homeward voyage the armada was still further damaged and scattered by tempests, as is even the elements entered a protest against Spain's crimes. Nevertheless, the Spaniards claimed, as usual, that they had been victorious.

"Thus was Spain finally ejected from Peru by the dauntless courage of its patriots and a few United States citizens. It was for the Spaniards a shameful defeat—300 guns silenced by fifty poorly mounted cannon, but the men who handled these were inspired by the holy love of progress and freedom."—New York Sun.

of their magnetism. Among the new acts introduced none met with more favor than that of "Little Chip," the versatile character comedian. "Chip" does one of the most pleasing acts ever seen here. For five years he was featured in all the principal music halls in England. He is the smallest and youngest performer on the vaudeville stage. He is an especial favorite among the ladies and children. The famous team, Boyce and Black, gave a new black-face act, which took the house by storm. They are conversationalists and dancers, and kept the audience roaring the whole time they occupied the stage.

The boxing was better than ever. George Munroe, the clever little New York bantam, who is a great favorite in this city, and Charley Kelly put up one of the hottest four-round fights ever seen in New Haven. This bout was well worth the price of admission. George Siddons met an unknown whom he outpointed. The amateur bouts were as usual exciting and interesting. The boxing in barrels kept the audience convulsed. This is one of the funniest acts ever put on a stage and must be seen to be appreciated.

of their magnetism. Among the new acts introduced none met with more favor than that of "Little Chip," the versatile character comedian. "Chip" does one of the most pleasing acts ever seen here. For five years he was featured in all the principal music halls in England. He is the smallest and youngest performer on the vaudeville stage. He is an especial favorite among the ladies and children. The famous team, Boyce and Black, gave a new black-face act, which took the house by storm. They are conversationalists and dancers, and kept the audience roaring the whole time they occupied the stage.

A BIG SHOW COMING. Flynn and Sheridan's Big Sensation Double Show will be seen at the Grand opera house next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with the usual matinee. The company is composed of twenty white artists and fifteen creoles. There are two distinct shows given, one by the white and one by the creole company. The big sensation is composed of spectacular, comedy, vaudeville and burlesque, and introduces quite an array of talent. On the Klondikers, a musical burlesque, closes the show and serves to introduce the entire company, consisting of ten comedians and twenty-five handsome girls attired in gorgeous costumes.

Summer prices will prevail—10 cents, 20 cents and 30 cents; matinee, ladies and children 10 cents to all parts of the house.

Poll's Wonderland Theatre. The large audiences at matinee and every performance in the Wonderland yesterday attested with great delight the excellence of the feature show. The merit of the performance is superb for any house and at the Wonderland, where the regular price of admission is so small the offering of such a show is really wonderful. Miss Pearl Andrews, in her dialect mimicry became immediately a great favorite. Howard and Emerson, in their clever act, which opens with musical comedy and leads up to a fine exhibition of moving picture illustrations of excellent songs, was another hit. Manning and Prescott, the happy acrobats, made everyone laugh with their comedy, and A. O. Duncan, the ventriloquist, was a most emphatic hit. The biograph showed an excellent series of new war views and Zazel and Vernon performed a wonderful bar act with a comedy boxing bout that is very amusing. The pictures of the Yale boys were lustily cheered, and the other members of the cast, who include Mattie and Pat Rooney, Reed and Halvers and Ford and Dot West, were very acceptable. Prices 10c and 20c; ladies in the afternoon, ten cents.

A Washington paper asserts that "the secretary of war has issued credentials to sixty-nine journalists and fourteen newspaper men."

The empress of Germany has made the remarkable discovery of 150 girls to whom she could give the domestic golden cross for having lived forty years in the same family.

The biggest sign in the world is said to be on the hillside of an islet off the Grand Canary, northwest Africa. It is several hundred feet above the level of the sea and contains the words "Grand Canary Engineering company" in letters each fifteen feet wide and thirty feet high, each bar of the letters being three feet three inches broad. The sign is 750 feet long.

The city of Cleveland, Ohio, which pensions its old and disabled firemen, has enacted a new law by the terms of which second wives or the children of such will not enjoy the benefits thereof on the pensioner's death. Fire and Water says a mischievous practice has long obtained in that city, young girls marrying widowed pensioned firemen for the sole purpose of receiving the pension after the fireman's death.

A Berlin beer seller, whose wife recently died, was present not long ago at a convivial gathering of widowers, and mentioned the fact that his wife's coffin had cost him $60. A manufacturer of coffins, happened to be present, offered to furnish as good an article for $15, and the beer seller at once declared that he would take a thousand coffins at that price. Not long afterward the manufacturer sent the coffins, with a bill for $15,000. But the court has just ruled that the order was given in fun, and did not constitute a valid contract.

A certain large manufacturing company in Philadelphia is engaged in bidding for the contracts to be given out by the quartermaster's department of the United States army, and the other day the manager of the concern told his office boy to look up the proposals advertised in the papers, so that he could send in a bid. The boy got a paper and looked through it carefully, page by page, a dozen times. Finally he went to the manager and showed him the marriage column, saying: "I can't find any proposals advertised, but here are some marriages; will they do?" The manager succeeded in recovering in a short time, and asked the boy what he meant by that. "Oh," said the lad, "I know they publish marriage licenses granted and marriages, so I thought they might publish proposals, too."

A German military critic has been adding up the grand total of the continental armies and after noting that what is meant by tens of millions, he tries to bring home to his readers in another way the colossal growth of modern armaments. If, he says, we could have all the armies of the continent on a war footing and drawn up in one long procession, with their guns and ammunition and baggage wagons, the column would be rather more than 24,000 miles long and, marching day and night, it would take nearly a year to pass a given point. To maintain this immense host costs $187,500,000 per annum, or $327,500,000. It is interesting to note that the capital value of the British navy at the present time exceeds $170,000,000. The first cost of the fleet which led to the downfall of Napoleon was but $50,000,000. The fleet then comprised between 480 and 490 fighting vessels.

A striking feature in the management of the new underground railroad in London will be the systematization of speed. The entire length of the line is five and one half miles, the transit service being carried on by thirty-two trains of seven cars each, the seating capacity of each train being 336 passengers; the average speed of the trains is to be fourteen miles an hour, including 20-second stops at each station, the maximum speed between stations to be thirty miles an hour, the running at first being on a 2 1/2 minute headway. Now, in order to obtain these speeds with the smallest expenditure of cost, an interesting experiment has been resorted to in the construction of the tunnels; that is, instead of building them on a level or with constant grades from station to station, the separate tunnels which carry the tracks are run in a series of dips, the train upon leaving a station immediately starting down an incline, so that gravity shall add to the acceleration of its speed. Each train without the locomotive will weigh, it is estimated, as many as 105 long tons, and with the locomotive some 117 long tons, but with the dipping tracks only 100 horse power will be required for each train.

THE YANKEE. At last the Yankee is coming into his own. The Spaniards call all the people of this country, irrespective of race, color or previous condition of servitude, "Yankee pigs." Many European papers speak of us all as Yankees. Papers all over this country are printing things about the Yankees, meaning all of us. And there is no protest anywhere against the wide spread of the Yankee mantle. It has been well said that originally the Yankee was a New Englander; then he was a soldier of the Union army. Now he is every blessed citizen of the United States.

The Spaniards are all right now and evermore, and Uncle Sam knew what he was about when he got himself pictured as a Yankee. And let us not forget that Commodore Dewey is a sure enough Yankee.

WHERE ARE THEY? The Spaniards don't seem to be anxious to find the ships and armies of the United States. For weeks there have been rumors of Spanish cruisers all over the world until the seas seemed to be as thickly dotted with them as an archipelago on a small map is with islands. The Spanish squadrons were going to blow up New York, Boston, New Haven and other first-class places. They were going to clean out the flying squadron of the United States and the other squadron that was blockading Cuba. They were going to capture all the American ships in the Mediterranean. They were going to get the Paris and the Oregon. And most alarming of all, they were going to meet Commodore Dewey on his way from Hong Kong to Manila, and blow him and his ships sky high.

So far the rumors and the alarms have not been justified. Spanish warships looking for trouble are as scarce as hens' teeth. It seems to be clear that if the United States expects to have trouble with any of the Spanish warships it must find them and then make them fight. Commodore Dewey found some, and there is now an opportunity to look at their remains. Admiral Sampson is looking for some, and though he has not had much luck in his search so far he is persevering and may find some, even if he has to go a long distance to do it. There must be a severe struggle in these days between the boasted Spanish valor and Spanish prudence. Up to date the prudence seems to be having the best of it. If the mountain will not go to Mahomet, Mahomet must go to the mountain, and there are indications that he is about to start.

SUBSTANTIAL FRIENDSHIP. Our friends in England are much pleased by what happened at Manila, and they are saying some very friendly things. And it is well to remember now and hereafter that English friendliness toward us hasn't been all talk. England's refusal to join the representatives of the other powers in a vigorous representation to the United States just prior to the passage of the Cuban resolutions prevented our action from being hampered by the powers' interference. Great Britain declared neutrality immediately after the Spaniards had dismissed Minister Woodford and thus set the example for other nations, cut the Spaniards off from coal supplies and checked any tendency for joint action by the powers. Great Britain refused last week to join in a naval demonstration in the West Indies which was alleged to be intended to show Spain and the United States that the views of the powers were not to be overlooked, but which was really to be a warning to the United States alone. And it is understood that assurances have been given the American ambassador to Great Britain, unofficial in character, but indicative of the purpose of the British government, that if any European nation or nations try to limit the "money value or territorial extent of America's compensations" for the war with Spain, Great Britain will openly "stand up for us."

Blood is thicker than water this time, sure enough.

VALUABLE ISLANDS. The London Spectator urges the United States to keep the Philippine Islands and undertakes to show how easily we could do it with a negro army of 20,000 men, paying the cost out of the revenue from the islands. European powers like Russia, Germany and France may object to our approaching so near to China and mixing ourselves up with the far Eastern question, but England will welcome us, the Spectator says, and "Europe," it adds, "cannot attack the Americans without our permission." The Philippines seem to be worth having. Captain John W. Merritt, of San Francisco, who has traded with the islands for more than forty years, says there is no calculating the wealth of them. Most of the products brought to this country are coffee, indigo, sugar cane, tobacco (a government monopoly), spices, pepper, pina linen made from the pineapple fiber, hats and cordage. But locked up in the many mountains of the islands are millions of tons of iron, copper, coal and sulphur. As for the timber, there is nothing to equal its quality and quantity. The Spanish have never been able to develop the islands, and the Chinese had not sufficient means to put their full productiveness to the test. There is some gold to be found in the sands of the hundreds of rivers, but the Philippines are not exactly a Klondike. Captain Merritt says that with American methods, improvements and good Yankee business sagacity the islands could be made to yield ten times as much as they do at present.

It is not at all certain that the Philippines are valuable enough for us to keep, but they are certainly worth something to sell or give away.

FASHION NOTES. Skirt Lining That is Transferable. The drop skirt so much talked of is really the petticoat skirt over which the unlined outside skirt falls. Strictly speaking, the two skirts should be on one band, but the economy of having them entirely separate is clear. The drop or under-skirt should be just the least bit longer than the outer one, but if one drop skirt is to be worn with several outer skirts it would very soon show wear at the edges. It is advisable then to make the drop skirt distinctly the shorter—almost petticoat or ankle length—and to have the outside skirt reinforced at the hem by an inside duff ruffle that must match the color of its own skirt exactly. Unless such a ruffle is set on the inside the skirt is likely to hang in at the hem where it comes below the under or drop skirt. The drop skirt may be lined and stiffened like a regular dress skirt, but that is not necessary, and it may be to all intents and purposes just a petticoat, made a little fuller than usual and fitted with especial care about the hips, since any fault of cut there would interfere with the set of the outer skirt.

These bright inner skirts make a fine contrast with outer demure, though what with the liking for trimmed skirts and for gay colors for plain ones, there is often enough no demure outside or in. But plain skirts are still many, though there is a noticeable increase in them of goods of large figures. Big plaids, the sort of which detractors speak as horse blanket plaids, are favored for plain skirts, though happily the accompanying bodice is rarely of the same stuff. A swaggar street rig of this sort is shown herewith. A light weight beige woolen stuff plaided with green, pink and blue was in its skirt, and the jacket bodice was dark blue cloth. Its short basque was cut into points in front and was ornamented with buttons and cord loops. These, in larger size, were repeated on the fronts, which opened over a vest of white silk velvied with a very ornate jabot of cream Valenciennes. Cord and button trimming also appeared on the epaulettes.

A Protest Against a Protest. To the Editor of the Journal and Courier: In your paper of May 4 I read a protest against a poem which appeared April 29.

It might be well for "A Subscriber" to read the account of the battle of Manila, as seen by a Herald correspondent, which was given in your paper yesterday. If "A Subscriber" reads carefully he or she will notice that the cry which burst from five hundred throats was "Remember the Maine!" And would those men, at that supreme moment, be likely to cry "Viva Cuba libre?" No! Blood is thicker than water, and it could hardly be supposed that American sailors would forget their own national brothers and remember a foreign land.

"A Subscriber" regrets "the publication in such a paper as the Journal and Courier" of these verses. Is there any good and plausible reason why it should be regretted? And is not the "Subscriber's" protest as good a cause for regret as the poem which appeared? A CITIZEN.

A Nest and Complete Continent. To the Editor of the Journal and Courier: Although it is not necessary to state what is already known, yet as it will not take a great quantity of paper and ink it may not be amiss to write out the thought that is in your correspondent and say plainly and truthfully that the Journal and Courier is always excellent, that is, over all and above all. Its editorial columns, its war and local news, its excellent typographical features enrich every number and as a consequence it is always interesting to its army of readers. No one misstates or obscures the fact to say that no better or more satisfactory news paper is published in the state of Connecticut. C. W. B.

An Apology.—Under the circumstances of time and place, it being near the end of the century and in New York, the editor could do nothing but offer an apology, which he did in these terms: "Owing to a crush of advertising, the denial of our most important news is crowded out this morning. It will appear in the next issue without fail."—Puck. FROM DEATH TO LIFE. Experience of One Buried Under an Avalanche of Snow and Ice. From life to death and back again to life was the experience of A. Miller Portland in the recent Chilkoot catastrophe. Mr. Miller arrived in Portland yesterday feeling fairly well, yet he has not entirely recovered from the effects of being buried beneath tons of snow and ice. He suffered internal injury that for a time gave the physicians doubt as to the ultimate turn of the case, and he looks pale and feeble. Many pounds of flesh as one of the least regretful features of his narrow escape. Mr. Miller was caught under the large slide that extended over a mile along the trail at the Scales, being at the time, with over 100 men and women, fleeing from what was known to be imminent danger. After more than two hours of unconsciousness, during which time Mr. Miller was thought by many to have taken a permanent abode in the shadowy realm, he was finally revived through the good offices of his friend, F. B. Holbrook of Portland, and Dr. Maple, the government physician who rendered such valuable services to the unfortunate.

About 11 a. m. Mr. Miller, with Mr. Holbrook and a party of over 100, left the Scales, a long rope being used by the party in the same manner as by mountaineers. This was mainly for the protection of the women, although some of the men found it valuable in clambering down the steep, treacherous trail. Shortly after 11 Mr. Miller says he was suddenly made aware of the great avalanche by a terrific rumble and roar from above. No one could see it; in fact, the driving snow made it impossible to more than see the trail beneath their feet. From the time the first roar was heard until the avalanche engulfed the party was only a moment. Most of those holding the rope were struck while still bending forward to protect their faces from the blizzard, the mass of snow simply crushing down to the trail. Mr. Miller started to turn for a backward look when caught, and was pressed down on his side in a cramped position. When narrating his sensations at that time, he said:

"It is hard to tell how I felt. I realized our danger first, before seeming to contemplate that I was facing death. Knowing how we had rescued many during the day from smaller slides, my first thought was the chances for being rescued. My chest felt like it was fitted into a cement tomb, permitting no expansion. My fingers, hands, arms and limbs were pinched so that it would have required great exertion to move either. Rescue I knew must come soon or never, and I thought of the linemen who had gone on ahead a short time before, and of any that might have been above the slide, as the only ones from whom we could hope. My breath grew shorter, I tried to blow against the snow to enlarge the little place where I breathe. Each slight exertion warned me that I would rapidly succumb if I did not remain perfectly quiet. Then I was terrorized with the thought of suffocating. It occurred to me that this had always been a manner of death for which I held a peculiar horror. To be pinioned rigid, crushed by tons of snow, slowly dying, while life and happiness were a few feet above my head! As I felt weakness growing my thoughts turned to my wife and children. I saw them in their home, all happy and contented, and then, as they were thrown into mourning for me in that very position in the snow. My mind then reviewed their financial condition, and as I realized that they would be provided for I felt a sense of relief. Regretting that I must pass from them, yet happy to know they would be well, I left them to thing of the final pang. A stupor grew on me, without pain, until it was as though a physician held to my face an anaesthetic that took away consciousness and life.

"When I revived Mr. Holbrook held me by the collar and was vigorously chaffing me. My surprise was great to know I had again come to life, and it required moments to reassure myself that there was no mistake. But then the pain began. It was easy to die, but life came hard. After one impulse to know what had become of the money in my pockets, part of which belonged to another, my time was occupied with sharp, pricking pains through my limbs and oppressive feelings in my chest. As the blood started through the veins and arteries my agony became so great that I almost regretted that they had broken my peaceful sleep. In due time I began to recover, thanks to the considerate work of Dr. Maple, and finally was able to get out again."

When the rescuers dug Mr. Miller from the seven feet of snow burying him he was thought to be dead and was laid out. Mr. Holbrook recognized him and commenced the resuscitation that restored life after more than two hours' work. Mr. Holbrook, being nearer the rear of the party, was covered up only to about his shoulders, from which position he succeeded in getting to the surface. Others at different positions were covered deep, and will not be brought to light until the sun melts the snow. Mr. Miller and his party were about three-fourths of a mile below the Scales when caught, the trail at the place being in the bottom of a gully. A peculiar condition, and one which may be instructive to others similarly placed, was that of the number rescued shortly after being buried, those showing evidence of struggling violently were the ones that could not be rescued. Many of these had scratched their own faces in a terrible manner, and one torn an eyeball from the socket. Those who kept quiet were the only ones revived at all. One or two when they came to life were raving maniacs for a few minutes, which Dr. Maple explained to be a waking in the same sense of fright in which they sank to unconsciousness.—From the Portland Oregonian.

TO PRINT MAYOR'S MESSAGE

This was seconded by Councilman Cronan. Councilman Gifford raised the point that the message came from the mayor and not from the aldermen, and that a motion to concur with the aldermen in regard to it was out of order. President Burton declared the point well taken, and ruled Mr. Stein's motion out of order.

Mr. Stein then moved to table the message, Councilman Cronan seconding. President Burton ruled that the members from the outlying wards had no vote on the question. A vote on Mr. Stein's motion was then taken and resulted as follows: Those voting in favor of the amendment, Messrs. Stein, Cronan, Kinstry, Brown and Coffey—5; against the amendment, Messrs. Fullerton, Fuller, Beers, Liefeld, Cooney, Wrinn, Burgess Dowe, Ford, Dowe, Cullinan, White, Loveland, Porter, Isbell, Stewart, Thorpe, C. E. Burton and Shepard—18.

On motion of Councilman Isbell it was voted to close debate on the question. A vote was then taken on Councilman White's motion table for printing, and it resulted as follows: Ayes—Messrs. Fullerton, Fuller, Beers, Liefeld, Cooney, Wrinn, Burgess, Gifford, Dowe, Cullinan, White, Loveland, Porter, Isbell, Stewart, Thorpe, C. E. Burton, Shepard, Coffey—19. Nays—Messrs. Stein, Cronan, Kinstry and Brown—4.

It was voted to concur with the board of aldermen in recommending to the board of finance the recommendation from that board that only $5,000 of the $18,000 in the account of paving streets to the account of repair of streets. It was voted to adhere to the previous action in regard to the issuance of $270,000 worth of bridge bonds and to concur with the aldermen in regard to the repairing with crushed stone of Edgewood avenue and Blatchley avenue.

When the report of the committee on streets recommending favorable consideration of the mayor's recommendation that Chapel street be paved with vitrified brick was read some debate ensued. The aldermen, when they considered the matter at their last meeting, voted to give the petitioner, the mayor, leave to withdraw. When the report had been read last night Councilman Fuller of the street committee said that only seven out of a hundred or more property owners on Chapel street appeared to speak against the paving with vitrified brick at the hearing held by the street committee. He said that these seven were not opposed to paving Chapel street between York and State streets, but that they were opposed to vitrified brick being used and desired something cheaper. He did not believe that a committee should be controlled entirely by a few citizens in regard to a matter which applies to the city as a whole, and thought that the wishes of so small a number ought not to delay public improvements of this kind. In conclusion Mr. Fuller said: "The aldermen voted to give the petitioner leave to withdraw. There was no petitioner."

Councilman Brown, a member of the street committee, said that vitrified brick on the Chapel street hill would be a bad thing for horses. He said that he had ruined a horse by driving on the asphalt pavement this year and that he did not wish to ruin another. He said that while only a few persons appeared at the committee meeting to oppose the paving as recommended, no one appeared in favor of it, although the meeting was advertised.

Councilman Shepard—"It appears to me that some one wants to sell brick."

Councilman Fuller—"I object to any such insinuations. I do not think—" President Burton—"The gentleman from the Eleventh has the floor." Councilman Isbell—"I don't think that accusations should be made against the members of the street committee."

Councilman Shepard—"The birds seem to flutter. I should like to see the street repaired, but I think that the order to pave it with vitrified brick should be assigned to the legislative burying-ground with so many of Anthony Carroll's petitions which have been sent there."

The motion to concur with the aldermen was lost 9 to 8, the members from the outlying wards not being permitted to vote. It was then voted to accept the report and adopt the recommendation. A vote was taken to concur with the aldermen in adopting the recommendation of the committee on claims that $150 be allowed to E. A. Ankettel for injuries received by falling on an icy sidewalk. A resolution was passed providing for the appointment by the mayor of a committee to consist of two aldermen and three councilmen to consider the advisability of having band concerts on the green this summer.

A number of recommendations from the street committee which had been on the table since June, 1896, were indefinitely postponed. This closed the work of the old board of councilmen and a resolution was passed tendering to President Burton the thanks of the members for his able presidency of the board during his term of office and presenting to him the gavel which he has used as presiding officer.

Councilman Brown, in behalf of the minority members of the board, thanked Mr. Burton for his fair treatment of them in his decisions as chairman. Mr. Burton responded to these evidences of esteem in a few appropriate remarks. A vote of thanks was then tendered to the city clerk, the assistant city clerk and the page.

It was finally voted to authorize President Burton to appoint a committee of three members to arrange for a banquet to be held by the retiring board. A vote to adjourn was then taken. A FIRE-RESISTING CEMENT. This new fire-resisting cement has lately been subjected to a careful test in Germany, and an official protocol has been issued concerning its behavior which bears the signatures of several architects, engineers and other experts. The trial was conducted in a wooden house built for the purpose, the walls and roof of which, and an iron girder supporting the roof, were coated with an inch-thick layer of asbestos. The structure was partly filled and surrounded outside with a mass of shavings and wood chips soaked in petroleum, and the whole was set alight and allowed to burn for about three-quarters of an hour. The fierce conflagration was then extinguished by means of hose, when it was observed that the asbestos showed no sign of either cracking or peeling. When it was at length chipped off in various places both the iron and wood of which the structure was composed were found perfectly intact. It may be mentioned here that the huge fireproof curtain which separated the stage from the auditorium at the late "greatest show on earth" at Olympia, London, was coated with asbestos. The source of this new fireproof compound has already been explained in our columns—Chambers' Journal.

FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Foote pleasantly surprised.

Forty years ago yesterday Miss Pauline Thompson and Charles B. Foote were married at the parsonage of the old South Congregational church by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Noyes.

Mr. and Mrs. Foote's home, 263 Howard avenue, last evening, by a surprise reception arranged by their children.

About sixty friends of the family were present and the evening passed only too rapidly with instrumental music, recitations and selections from the graphophone.

A beautiful collection was served during the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Foote were remembered by the deacons and trustees of the church who presented Mr. and Mrs. Foote with a handsome easy chair.

The chair was formally presented by Deacon A. W. Minor in a neat little speech with a few fitting words. Other gifts which will be highly prized by Mr. and Mrs. Foote were a handsome rug made by their niece, Miss Minnie Benedict, and a silver pickle fork by Mrs. A. Dusenberry.

These scenes, though intensely comic, paled before Thiers' antics when fear made him the assailer instead of the assailed. No lie so glaring, no pretax too flimsy, no step too mean, no combination too absurd that held out the slightest chance of satisfying his wrath and allaying his white-livered pother.

And, inasmuch as the most subtle of his devices were too transparent to impose upon the merest child, his anger increased not at their frustration, for no one troubled to frustrate them—but at their being published. He never forgave Mme. Rouher for having made him the laughing stock of the whole of France.

When the "vice-emperor," as her husband was ironically called during the empire, took up his residence once more in Paris, Thiers immediately dispatched a number of detectives to keep watch. One evening it suddenly poured "cats and dogs," and Mme. Rouher sent umbrellas for every single detective, apologizing at the same time for providing only cotton ones.

"Madame regrets," said the servant in his mistress's name; "but times are too bad for silk ones. She bade me tell you, however, that when the emperor returns you shall have silk ones to watch M. Thiers."

The Imperialists at the Cafe de la Fax did still better. They treated the dozen "mouchards" told off to report upon their doings like men and brothers, and supplied them more than liberally with refreshments.

Then Thiers burst out into frantic rage. "I really believe these mountebanks of Imperialists are trying to make a fool of me," he screamed one night at the top of his falsetto voice to the Marquis Philippe de Marsa, who, though an avowed partisan of the fallen regime, was a frequent visitor at the presidency.

At Versailles in virtue of his mother having married the Comte Roger du Nord, a staunch republican and friend of Thiers, Thiers roared louder than ever, exclaiming: "I really believe those mountebanks of Imperialists are trying to make a fool of me."

"Absolutely, M. le President," was the quiet reply, "they are not only trying, but succeeding."—London Saturday Review.

A North Dakota Farmer's Strategy Brings Him Abundant Returns.

A farmer on the Fort Rice reservation, about ten miles below Bismarck, N. D., on the Missouri river, has a liberal supply of wild geese, both dead and alive, as a result of an experiment upon which he has been pondering for some time, and which worked to his entire satisfaction and greatly to the disadvantage of the geese.

The reason for the flight of the great Canada geese from the south to their summer haunts in the north has begun, and thousands of the honkers stop at different places along the river en route.

The same day, in the morning, a black with the great frocks of geese, and they make short pilgrimages from the bars to the fields of the farmers adjacent to the river for feed.

They remain several days in the locality and furnish abundant amusement for sportsmen.

At the farm of the man in question there is a huge sand bar projecting into the river, but so far from the shore that no hunter can steal upon the geese which congregate there near enough to be shot.

Aware of their immunity, large flocks of the birds settle there every morning and sun themselves for several hours, and then migrate to the interior for food.

Having observed the movement of the geese for several days the farmer resolved to accomplish by strategy what he could not accomplish by stealth, and every morning before the arrival of the birds he distributed about a peck of corn about the bar.

Upon the return of the geese this would be speedily devoured, and the process was repeated every morning for several days, greatly to the satisfaction of the geese.

Last Saturday night the farmer came to the city and secured a quart of the best alcohol, which he said would be sufficient to saturate a peck of corn quite thoroughly.

ECZEMA FOR YEARS CURED

TWO REMARKABLE CASES. I have been an intense sufferer from Eczema for five years. I tried medicines, four doctors, and could not get cured.

I had Eczema for seven years, and my scalp was in a bad state. Three inches of my hair was covered with a dry scab. The itching was so bad I thought it would drive me mad.

I used five bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVINE, five cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and five boxes of CUTICURA SALVE, and I was completely cured.

YORK ASSEMBLY.

Closing Reception Given in Warner Hall Last Night.

The closing reception of the York assembly in Warner hall last night was by far the most brilliant of the series which has been held during the winter season.

About 100 couples of young people attended. The hall presented an unusually pretty appearance, being tastefully decorated with flags, bunting and potted plants.

ARMORY NOTES.

To Join the Artillery—The Wyandotte still waits. Bugler Frank Reed of the Light Guard has been transferred from that company by consent of Captain Wood and will enlist as a bugler in Captain Beach's battery of heavy artillery.

Captain Allen at the armory is refloating in a new national flag which will soon float from the flag staff of the armory in place of the old one which is badly torn.

A history of the Sarsfield Guard with biographical sketches of prominent members of the famous company is being written by Amos Atwell.

A party of naval reserves will make the trip to Boston on board the Wyandotte whenever that warship leaves for Boston. A tug was expected to take her there yesterday, but up to a late hour last evening the tug had not shown up.

They were about as impatient for the sailing orders to be given as according to all accounts the members of the Flying Squadron are to receive sailing orders. It was reported that the monitor would leave its sandbar at 12 o'clock last night.

Brief Mention.

High water to-day, 1:23 a. m. Mrs. Dr. Allen and son of this city are guests of Deacon E. C. Hungerford in Chester. The monthly conference of Lutheran ministers of this section was held in this city yesterday. The annual meeting of the Odd Fellows' home of Connecticut will be held at Waterbury on Tuesday evening, May 17. Miss Belle Garner, a nurse in the New Haven hospital, is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Garner of Torrington. Mrs. J. R. Johnson of Woodmont, who has been spending several weeks with Mrs. Lines in New Milford, returns to Woodmont this week. The chamber of commerce meets to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. President George H. Ford will deliver his annual address and announce his appointments for the standing committees for the ensuing year. The meeting which Mayor Barlow of Waterbury has called for the purpose of organizing a league of the mayors of the state will be held in Mayor Farnsworth's office in this city at 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. With mining of the Race, the narrow strait which serves as the principal entrance to the sound, which will be completed within a few days, Connecticut's shores will be made perfectly safe from invasion by a Spanish force. At Osborn hall last evening, before a large audience, Prof. Frank Saunders gave a highly interesting lecture on "Assyria." Several views of Assyrian sculpture and friezes from their temples were shown and explained by the lecturer. Henry E. McDermott, who was operated upon at the New Haven hospital Sunday for appendicitis, was reported by the hospital physicians last night to be much better and getting along finely. It is now thought that his recovery is only a question of time. Tobias H. Hendee, many years ago a resident of New Haven, died yesterday in East Hartford of old age. His age was eighty-six years. He was born in Tipperary, Ireland, and was of French Huguenot descent and well educated. He came to this country in 1849, coming to New Haven. The engagement is announced of Dr. Frederick E. Wilcox of Willimantic and Miss Catherine L. Rose of Mansfield Center. Miss Rose has many friends and well wishers in New Haven. She was a resident here recently for some time, while pursuing her musical studies and sang in St. Paul's church choir.

A MERITED TRIBUTE.

The New Britain Record pays the following merited tribute to the late Dr. Douthett, a physician, who formerly lived in New Haven, and has relatives here, and who though young had already won marked honors in his profession: The tribute which the common council paid to the late Dr. Douthett at its meeting Wednesday night was well deserved. Dr. Douthett was a painstaking and conscientious official. Without doubt he was one of the best chairmen the board of health ever had. He was not any more able, perhaps, than other men who held the office, but he paid strict attention to his duties. Dr. Douthett's monthly reports to the common council showed that he fully understood his business and was familiar with all the laws of health and sanitation. He made many good and sensible recommendations that the health department and the city would do well to remember and keep in sight. Dr. Douthett had some very sensible ideas about the disposition of sewage and his death at this time is a loss on that account. He was also deeply impressed with the necessity of having a building where cases of contagious disease could be isolated and cared for should an epidemic ever break out here. Dr. Douthett was at all times courteous and obliging and those who knew him regret his death most.

Falling Leaves.

Fluttering, falling autumn leaves, O'er thy death humanity grieves; Shapely hitherto, girt with strength, Spent are thy beautiful lives at length. Tremulous, fading, dying leaves, Mortality from thee receives; Wisest lessons, both sad and sweet, Whilst thou art scatter'd 'neath our feet. Flickering, time-worn, weary leaves, Memory thee a garland weaves; Shonest, thou art fair and bright, 'Twill keep when thou art fled from sight. Whispering, feeble, rustling leaves, Already art thy garnered sheaves Collected, and thy task is done; No more may be performed or won. Finish'd, 'e'en as a tale is told; Beautiful once, but now grown old; Time has wither'd ye, lovely leaves; Heaven alone the loss retrieves. Heaven another life bestows, The germs of which it will unfold. When in due season vernal leaves Shall bud and burst; this faith perceives. —Ella Antoinette Hotchkiss. (Republished by request.)

Mr. Timm, pastor of the Lutheran church on George street, of which deceased was a member, officiated and made very feeling and appropriate remarks in both German and English. The deceased was well known in Bridgeport, his former home, and in New York, where he took an active part in politics, being a member of Tammany Hall. Mr. Hurd married Helen, second daughter of P. T. Barnum, and for a long time after was an active partner of Mr. Barnum and the manager of the museum in New York. Previous to this he was in the harness business in Bridgeport with Robert D. Bissett. Mrs. Caroline S. Hewet of 162 Golden street, Bridgeport, is a sister of the deceased. The funeral services will occur at his late home in New York city, after which the remains will be brought to Bridgeport for burial in the Mountain Grove cemetery.

LOOK FOR HARBOR LINES.

Major Leach's Notice to Mariners. The following notice concerning the issued to mariners by Major Leach of the United States corps of engineers: The entrance to New Haven harbor will be obstructed by submarine mines, the planting of which will begin not later than the 11th day of May, 1898. After the beginning of operations the channel cannot be navigated with safety except through a gap left for that purpose. To facilitate the commerce of the port and promote its safety under the new conditions, the following regulations, which have received the approval of the secretary of war, are published for the information and guidance of all concerned: First—All vessels drawing more than four (4) feet must pass within 300 feet of the south west ledge light house, headed for the black buoy entering and for the Townsend's ledge buoy leaving the harbor. Pilots should note the bearings of these ranges for use in case the buoys are removed. Second—Steam vessels must run at low speed for a distance of one-half mile each side of the line joining the breakwaters. Third—No vessel will be permitted to anchor between the breakwaters and an east and west line through the old lighthouse at Light-house point. Fourth—Tugs with vessels in tow must take them one at a time alongside through the gap and must not drop them until made fast to dock or securely anchored north of the line through the lighthouse or one-half mile outside the breakwaters. Fifth—Subject to these regulations, vessels may pass through the mine field whenever the lighthouse can be seen. Sixth—Masters and pilots disregarding these regulations in any particular will assume all risk of destruction of their vessels by the explosion of a mine and will render themselves liable to be fired upon by the batteries. Smith S. Leach, Major, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A.

FAIR HAVEN HAPPENINGS

BURROGH ELECTION YESTERDAY PASSED OFF VERY QUIETLY.

Only One Change in Last Year's Ticket—George M. Baldwin Elected Warden—Miss Melle Meikle to be Married to S. M. Christie—Personal and Social Mention.

The borough election passed off very quietly yesterday. Only one ticket was out and the number of votes was 53. George Linsley was moderator and Frederick R. Tuttle box tender. The ticket was the same as last year with the exception of one of the names. The ticket elected is as follows: Warden, George M. Baldwin. Burgessess, R. G. Davis, Giles W. Clark, Joel M. Bradley, Augustus W. Wright, Charles G. Keeler, H. M. Shannon. Clerk, Charles E. Bray. Treasurer, Orton A. Rose. Assessors, Charles W. Hemingway, Asa L. Chamberlain, Frederick H. Hemingway. Collector, Lewis A. T. Blake. Bailiff, Charles N. Mack. Miss Melle M. Meikle, niece of William M. Meikle of the east side, and S. M. Christie will be married at her home in Jersey City this noon. Miss Meikle is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Meikle and has visited her for several summers. Mr. Christie has been employed as compositor on several New Haven papers and is now employed by the New York Tribune. William Robertson of Chambers street is very ill with pneumonia. Miss Edith Stepp of East Haven, who has been seriously ill for several months, is now improving. The local oyster planters say it is not probable that Sunday's northeast storm injured the oyster beds, as the most severe wind was at the time of high water. The planters have not yet had time to examine the oyster farms, but they are confident but little damage was done. The danger from such gales is that the mud may wash on the beds and smother the oysters. Assistant Postmaster J. N. Rowe who until recently has resided at the Four Corners will retire from office Saturday, his term having expired. He intends to engage in the real estate business. Schooner Henry Clay, which sank in East Chester bay, N. Y., Sunday, is well known here, having freighted several cargoes of building materials for W. A. Warner & Bro. The vessel was bound from Kingston, N. Y., to Bridgeport with flagstones. The Clay is an old craft, a small two masted schooner. The steamer Onatonic, which loaded in the lower harbor with seed oysters for Providence, was compelled to put into New London to ride out the storm. The schooner J. C. Havens with a similar cargo and bound to Narragansett bay, also put into New London. Charles J. Aldrich has purchased of John J. Brennan 33 feet of land on Chatham street. Frank Willoughby of this city has moved with his family to the John Adams' place on High street, East Haven. Merrick M. Russell and Levi L. Bradley of East Haven are serving on the jury of the present term of the court of common pleas, criminal side. William Dennison, aged fourteen years, who resides at 261 Blatchley avenue, and who has operated upon for appendicitis, died Sunday evening at his father's residence at the above number. He had been ill about a week, and the operation was performed two days ago. He gradually failed after it and soon passed away.

AN AUSTRIAN DOGBERRY.

The Vienna men of law have recently distinguished themselves in a unique manner. A Wachau peasant had been caught in the criminal act of throwing stones at rabbits. He had not hit them and the rabbits had decamped without so much as suspecting the attack. But the peasant was hauled before the high courts of justice. His defence was that the rabbits had been close to his garden, and that he had only tried to frighten the greedy rodents off his cabbage. All the same, he was condemned to three days' imprisonment. The peasant appealed against the sentence, but in vain. If a rabbit had been killed, said the authorities, the peasant would certainly have stolen it, and stealing a rabbit was an unlawful action. And thus the man from Wachau went to prison for three days, and the wise judges of Vienna have bounded into fame for their new method of applying the "if" and "an" theory.—Westminster Gazette.
