

FRICITION IN ARMY REVEALED

THE SWEEPING CHARGES OF MAJOR GENERAL MILES.

Some Important Correspondence of the War Department During the Santiago Campaign Made Public and Much Light Thrown on a Serious Condition of Affairs—Leaking of Miles' Plans for the Porto Rican Expedition and the Mutilation and Suppression of Telegrams.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 29.—The Star today printed a three column exclusive dispatch from J. D. Whelpley, its special correspondent, who has just returned from Porto Rico, bearing upon the Miles-Alger war.

On this instance, however, no question of veracity need arise. General Miles himself, even if he so desired, could not conceal the proof of all he said. It is written in the records of the war department and it needs only a clearing away of inconsequential matter to tell the story clearly and in full.

He charged General Corbin with sending a secret dispatch to General Shafter contrary to this. He charged the war department with mutilating and even suppressing parts of the whole of certain messages in their transmission to the public, thus putting him and his relations to the army in a false light to the people at home.

It needs only a glance at the official records of the war department to show each and every one of these charges to be true and to throw much additional light on the situation. That he was in command of the entire army when in Washington is, of course, evident. That he did not resign this supreme command when he went to Tampa, and that it was he who was treating with the Cubans for co-operation in Cuba, is shown by the numerous telegrams exchanged with General Garcia.

Headquarters Fifth Army Corps, in camp near Santiago de Cuba, July 4, 1898.—There seems to be no reasonable doubt but that General Pando succeeded in entering Santiago last night with his force, said to be about 5,000 men. This puts a different aspect on affairs, and while we can probably maintain ourselves it would be at the cost of very great sacrifice and loss.

General Lawton reports that General Garcia, who was to block entrance of Pando, informed him in a cable message that Pando had passed in on Cebrera road. Lawton says cannot compel General Garcia to obey any instructions which he proposed in any position where they will have to fight, and that if we intend to reduce Santiago we will have to require twice the number we now have. I sent a message to Admiral Sampson asking if he proposed entering the harbor, so as to give us the assistance.

SANTIAGO'S FINANCIAL AFFAIRS.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Adjutant General Corbin has received the following cablegram from General Shafter under date of Santiago: "I have transferred all business relating to customs over to Major General Lawton. There has been collected, with the exception of a small amount in July, $102,093. $90,000 has been paid out, leaving $12,093 in the treasury. The expenses of the customs house have been cut down from $40,000 per annum to $28,000, and that in time can be materially reduced. These collections are all under the minimum tariff, including a large reduction in tonnage. The economy and efficiency which has characterized the business of the customs have been brought about in a great measure under the supervision and good management of Mr. Donaldson."

Hobson in Santiago. Santiago de Cuba, Aug. 29.—8:30 p. m.—The steamer Segurana arrived this morning, bringing Lieutenant Richard D. Hobson, who will superintend the efforts to float the sunken Spanish cruisers Cristobal Colon and Infanta Maria Teresa. Lieutenant Hobson had an enthusiastic informal reception from General Lawton, with whom he will be quartered while in Santiago. The Segurana brought also Captain Leigh and forty men of the signal service corps, who will relieve Colonel Greene. Work will begin at once on the military telephone and telegraph lines along the coast of eastern Cuba. The Segurana brought a cargo of fresh beef.

DEATHS AT CAMP WIKOFF.

Fourteen Occurred Yesterday—Two Likely From Yellow Fever. Montauk Point, L. I., Aug. 29.—Fourteen deaths occurred at Camp Wikoff today. Private Josephs died of an overdose of morphine. He was troubled with cramps in the stomach and took the poison. Where he obtained it is not known. There were two deaths today among the men suspected of having yellow fever and detained in the quarantine hospital. The medical department has not announced that they died of yellow fever because of a dispute between the doctors as to what the fifty-three men in the hospital are suffering from.

Mustering Out of Volunteers.

Washington, Aug. 29.—At 11:30 o'clock to-night general orders relating to the mustering out of the volunteers and the granting of furloughs were promulgated by Adjutant General Corbin. To those officers and men who have served beyond the limits of the United States leaves of absence and furloughs for sixty days will be granted, respectively, while to those who have not served outside of the country the leaves of absence and furloughs will be limited to thirty days.

FINDING OF A WOMAN'S FOOT.

Recalls the Strange Disappearance of Miss Bertha Mellich. Essex, Aug. 29.—The finding of a woman's foot in a meadow running along the bank of the Connecticut river near Post's lighthouse in Deep River has recalled to mind the strange disappearance of Miss Bertha Mellich of Dayville from Mount Holyoke seminary last November. The foot was found standing upright in the mud and was encased in a black stocking and low shoe. The flesh was in a badly decomposed state and the foot appeared to have been separated from the remainder of some body by the process of decomposition. It had evidently been in the water for a long time and must have been left in the meadow at some time when the water of the river was very high. Coroner French has saved the shoe and is investigating the case. The tall grass of the meadow, which runs along the river bank for about a mile, will be searched for other portions of the body.

FOR A PEACE JUBILEE.

Leading Philadelphia Citizens Meet and Take First Steps. Philadelphia, Aug. 29.—Representative citizens, bankers, merchants, manufacturers, professional men and committee members from all the leading clubs and trade associations met in Mayor Warwick's office to-day and took the first steps towards holding a peace jubilee in this city. The meeting was called at the instance of Mayor Warwick, and it was decided to appoint a committee of one hundred citizens to formulate plans and fix upon a date. The latter will probably be about the middle of October and the committee was instructed to make the celebration national in character. President McKinley will be asked to attend.

A. O. W. ASSESSMENT ILLEGAL.

Opinion Rendered by Attorney-General Knott of Massachusetts. Boston, Aug. 29.—In an opinion rendered to-day Attorney General Knott declares that the 50 cent war assessment levied by the grand lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen in this state is clearly illegal. In his opinion Mr. Knott says: "A corporation has no right to levy assessments on its members for the purpose of paying the proceeds to a foreign corporation for the purpose of paying benefits to persons not members of a Massachusetts corporation." Further on in the opinion he says: "The allegiance of the grand lodge to the supreme lodge must be subordinate to its obligations under the statutes of Massachusetts."

Woman Taken Into Army.

Washington, Aug. 29.—To-day, for the first time in the history of the American army, a woman was appointed a member of the medical staff. Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee, wife of Professor W. J. McGee of this city and the daughter of Professor Simon Newcomb, formerly of the naval observatory, was regularly sworn in as an assistant surgeon.

MERRITT TO GO TO PARIS

THE ANNOUNCEMENT MADE AT THE WAR DEPARTMENT.

Will Give Peace Commission the Benefit of His Experience in the Philippines—Original Plan to Send Dewey Changed Because the Admiral Represented That He Could be of Greater Service at Manila.

Washington, Aug. 29.—It was announced this afternoon at the war department that General Merritt was to go to Paris to give the peace commission the benefit of his experience in the Philippines. The original plan had been to send Admiral Dewey to Paris for that purpose, but this was changed upon representations from the admiral that he could be of greater service at Manila than in Paris. Whether or not General Merritt will return to the Philippines has not yet been determined; that will depend entirely upon the state of affairs in the islands when the peace commission concludes its labors. The choice of a route is left to himself, but it is expected that he will be in Paris within sixty days at the latest.

Manila, Aug. 29.—Major General Merritt, the commander of the American troops, in conversation has avoided a declaration of his policy and gave the impression that he is undecided about the possibility of arranging to retain the Philippine Islands, although personally he seemed to favor that policy. General Aguinaldo has court-martialed the offenders in the Cavite affray, and they have been sentenced to death, but it is reported that they were afterwards reprieved at the request of General Anderson. The insurgents wish to send a delegate to Paris, even if he is not admitted to the conference. The Spaniards are said to be frauding the Americans in the matter of issuance of rations to the prisoners.

YALE FOOTBALL.

No Games Will be Played the Coming Season in New York. New York, Aug. 29.—For various reasons, some of them business reasons, the Yale Athletic association has decided that the football eleven shall not be seen in any games in the metropolis. A game had been scheduled for New York between Yale and the Carlisle eleven on October 29. Yale consulted the Carlisle management asking whether they would be as willing to play in New Haven, and upon receiving a favorable reply announced that the game was off so far as New York was concerned. It is barely possible one or two college elevens will play in New York during the fall season, but neither Yale, Harvard nor Princeton is likely to be seen here in competition.

KANSAS CAPTAIN REED.

Taken by Sheriff to Answer for Deserting Confederate Graves. Washington, Aug. 29.—Captain Louis C. Duncan, surgeon of the Twenty-second Kansas regiment, is held by the sheriff of Fairfax county, Virginia, to answer to an indictment charging him with deserting Confederate graves at Bull Run, near Manassas. It appears that Dr. Duncan, whose case has now become famous, was not sentenced to five years' imprisonment, as reported from Camp Meade, Pennsylvania, but escaped much more lightly at the hands of the military court, there being a lack of evidence to prove that he actually took part in despoiling the graves. A clash between the state authorities and war department may result.

1,000 MINERS STRIKE.

Leave Work Because of the Discharge of a Hungarian. Hazleton, Pa., Aug. 29.—One thousand men employed at the Evans and the Colerain collieries at Beaver Meadow and Colraine, operated by the A. S. Van Winkle trustees, went out on strike to-day. The cause of the strike is alleged by the men to have been the discharge of a Hungarian laborer, who is said to have refused to pay for the company doctor. The officials of the company deny this assigning incompetency as the cause of the man's dismissal. It is probable that a committee of the strikers will meet the officials to-morrow for a conference.

Strikers Won Their Point.

New York, Aug. 29.—The 500 machinists, employed in the printing press shops of Hoe & Co. returned to work to-day after a five weeks' strike, instituted for the purpose of abolishing piece work. The men returned to work on daily wages basis.

Can Makers Strike.

Lube, Me., Aug. 29.—A strike of fifty can makers in the sardine factories at this place threw out of work 550 other help late this afternoon. The demand was for two cents per case advance. The owners have refused to advance wages.

An Infernal Machine.

New York, Aug. 29.—What appeared to be an infernal machine was left at the office of the New York Journal to-day. As it had a suspicious look the package was handed over to the police. The bureau of combustibles will examine the machine to-morrow.

Mobile, Ala., Takes Precaution.

Mobile, Ala., Aug. 29.—The Mobile board of health to-day quarantined against Galveston, Texas, and Franklin, La., on account of yellow fever at those places, and also wired Governor Johnson to enforce the state quarantine.

MEETING OF SOCIAL SCIENTISTS.

Hon. Simon E. Baldwin Addresses the American Association.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 29.—American Social Science association began its general annual meeting here this evening. It will continue in session five days. The annual address was made by the president, Hon. Simon E. Baldwin, LL. D., of New Haven, Conn. The president's opening address was in the "History of American Morals." He said that whatever was peculiar in the seventeenth century came from New England. The Old Testament dominated their conception of God and rule of duty. Their early literature was one of creeds and sermons. It was intolerant and provincial. The eighteenth century brought in a better, but not one more pure. It was revolutionary, free, patriotic. The American newspaper was invented—our first real contribution to the literature of the world. That became a censor of men and manners. We entered the nineteenth century in the position of a nouveau riche, concerning the Indian "I do not think that the Americans, as a people, can fairly be charged with any lack of morality in their general course of dealing with the Indians, from the beginning to this day. They bought their lands instead of seizing it; they offered them education; they built their churches. They were the stronger and the wiser; and the weaker race has fallen away before them. That was inevitable.

The fall of slavery was thus described: "It is true that the war was not begun, nor even waged to suppress slavery. But it is true also that all men saw that the suppression of slavery might follow. And it is true that to many in the north it was a holy war from the outset, because they regarded it as a struggle for the freedom of every American, white and black. So the destruction of the Maine was not the cause of our war with Spain, but it lay behind the cause. It waked the sentiment of vengeance, which had to be appeased. Popular feeling gives the life to war, and shapes its end. The north had convinced itself, I think rightly, that it was not responsible for the sin of slavery, but it knew that slavery was sin. The south had convinced itself that slavery was an inheritance from the past; for which the present generation was not responsible; that universal emancipation meant either anarchy or negro supremacy; and that the only rule of safety was to let things be. The conviction of the north was one of principle; that of the south one of expediency."

Passing to the factory system, he said: "He who spends his life by a factory bench, he whom we call an operative often more than a man, is in grave danger of regarding himself as little but a mechanical appliance, and hardly thinking it worth while to strive to build up an individual character and reputation. Temptations come to him, that are unknown to the farmer, the artisan in his isolated habitation and solitary toil. The mutual dependence of the operatives in a factory—each useless without the rest—throw them naturally into combinations in trades-unions and lodge rooms, and sets up a new ethical standard."

"What is morality?" he said toward the conclusion of his address. "If it be conformity to the standards of conduct prescribed by what for the time being is the ruling sentiment of the country, the age of the Puritans was let things be; that of the Revolution or of the civil war. How has it been with ourselves in these days of trial, of great deeds and new ambitions, or national extension by conquest, of the excitement of glorious victory in new fields? We have been educating ourselves into new beliefs. We are possessed by them—ruled by them. We believe that our country is not measured by the breadth of the continent; we believe that the islands that fringe its coasts and those remote still, which in unfriendly hands might threaten its security, may rightfully, as occasion offers, be incorporated into the United States. We believe that our people have duties of humanity towards other peoples—duties that may justify a war to free them, by the strong hand, from bad or cruel government. We believe that the United States is something more and greater than the states which are united under their flag, and that the American people may acquire a holy territory anywhere upon the globe, which is needed to serve their navy or promote their commerce. Are we the better, morally, for these beliefs? Do they make us more regardful of the rights of others; more charitable in our construction of others' conduct; more helpful of our own?"

At the conclusion of President Baldwin's address Rev. Frederick Stanley Root of New York, the general secretary of the association, submitted his annual report. In the course of which he emphasized the fact that the mission of this particular society is the discussion and investigation of all subjects pertaining to social science and that its traditional policy is never to commit itself to any dogmatic declaration of belief in regard to the questions which may come under its examination. With reference to the membership of the association, the secretary reported that since the association last met there have been added to the roll 145 new names, thus making the total census of the association little short of 400. Among other recommendations the secretary suggested that the society establish in New York a local habitation which might serve as the general headquarters of the association. He also recommended that a greater effort should be made to invite distinguished speakers from abroad, men like Prof. Bryce of Monroe, Conway, or Dr. Ernest Engel. His father suggested that a strong effort should be made to include more women in the general membership of the association.

CZAR'S PEACE PROPOSITION

WILL PROBABLY CONSTITUTE A TURNING POINT IN HISTORY.

This the Opinion of St. Petersburg Newspapers—Germany Will Consent to the Conference But Expects Little to Come of It—French Newspapers Distrust Generally the Practicability of the Czar's Scheme.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 29.—The newspapers here declare that the czar's manifesto will probably constitute a turning point in history. The Novosti says: "It stands to reason that the disarmament question cannot be solved without a previous removal of the causes for the armaments. The conference must accurately determine the respective pretensions of the nations and propose means for a peaceful arrangement, and it may come to pass that at the close of the nineteenth century a liquidation may be effected of the international politics which are so prolific in troubles and dangers." The Novoe Vremya remarks: "All true friends of peace are naturally on the side of Russia, but it is impossible to guarantee that some of the western cabinets will not raise objections, prompted by the fact that the armed peace which has existed since 1871 is the main source of their international strength."

The Videmostki expresses the opinion that the note of the czar is essentially "an attempt to introduce the element of trust into international relations. Whoever believes in the creative power of ideas propounded with conviction and clearness must rejoice that the note brings a new and beneficent course into the world's life and groups anew the participants in that life."

ATTITUDE OF GERMANY.

Will Accept Conference But Expects Nothing of It.

London, Aug. 30.—The Berlin correspondent of the Daily News says: "Germany will accept the suggested conference, but expects nothing to result from it. Mr. Jackson, the secretary of the American embassy, does not believe in the practicability of the proposal. He assures me that, speaking for himself only, he felt sure that America would not permit the Philippine question to be submitted to such a conference, nor did he believe that it would be possible for any power to begin the work of disarmament."

"The subject was long on the mind of Emperor Frederick, who feared the time would come when Europe, exhausted by militarism, would be at the mercy of the industrial competition of the United States. A diplomat assures me that Emperor William intended to resort to the subject of disarmament while at Jerusalem in the coming autumn to attend the dedication of the Church of the Redeemer. In addition to taking the wind out of the Kaiser's sails the czar is the only Russian sovereign who has traversed Siberia and he must have seen such a population of political malcontents as might easily be induced by American, Japanese and English influences to declare for independence."

"The greatest objection to the circular is that such a clever person as Count Muraviev signs it. According to various correspondents of the Daily News the Russian emperor's proposal is the revival of a project of Alexander III. of Russia, which was mooted to Emperor Frederick of Germany, but not publicly, owing to the passionate state of public feeling in France on the subject of Alsace-Lorraine."

THE CZAR'S SCHEME.

Its Practicability Distrusted by French Newspapers Generally.

Paris, Aug. 29.—The French newspapers generally distrust the practicability of the czar's peace scheme and clearly indicate that France would make the restoration of Alsace-Lorraine pre-requisite to her participation in the conference. The Temps says: "It is to be hoped that Europe, like France, will consider the czar's proposal in a spirit similar to that whereby it was inspired. Nevertheless, it must not be forgotten that if France owes it herself to aid in such an attempt there is another portion of her moral patrimony which she cannot abandon without abandoning the very reason of her existence. France cannot forget the eloquent words exchanged between the czar and the president regarding the rights of peoples and justice. Count Muraviev's circular seems a rejoinder to Mr. Goshen's speech, whether or not it was so intended. Therefore it lacks neither witness nor appropriateness. However, it would be singularly belittling the inspiration and meaning of the proposal to see nothing else in it, or even to connect it with a wish to hamper from the outset the condition of an alliance between the United States and Great Britain. What will the Germany of William think of the initiative of Nicholas? The prince will hardly care to play second fiddle."

The Liberte remarks: "The gravest questions which demand solution involve France and the czar has undoubtedly considered these complications and has consulted the powers interested. It is to be presumed he has reason to believe his views will triumph."

The Gazette de France says: "Russia made us go to Kiel. To-day she leads us to a conference which will sanction a readjustment of 1871."

DEATH OF CHIEF HUBBARD.

Passed Away in Philadelphia Early Last Evening.

William H. Hubbard, superintendent of the New Haven fire department, passed away last evening at the home of his wife's mother in Philadelphia, where he had been for several weeks. Death was due to progressive, pernicious anaemia. Superintendent Hubbard had been a sufferer from this disease for some time, but had only been seriously ill since July 9. At that time he obtained leave of absence from his duties as superintendent and went to Philadelphia in the hopes of recuperating his health. He continued to grow worse instead of better until last week, when his condition became alarming. Several consultations of physicians were held, but all in vain, and the end came at 6:08 last evening.

Superintendent Hubbard was born in New Haven, October 4, 1844, and had since resided here. After receiving his education in the public schools he became a carpenter and joiner, being employed by Nicholas Countryman, who had the contract for the Joiner work in the building of the city hall. He assisted in the erection of the present city hall, and when the civil war broke out he enlisted in the Fifteenth C. V., many of whose members were residents of this city. His term of service with the fire department dates from February 5, 1867, at which time he was appointed hoseman of the Phoenix Hose company No. 1. He resigned from this position on March 30, 1869. After a few months, on July 1, 1869, he was reappointed hoseman of steam No. 1. On April 3, 1872, he was appointed chief assistant chief engineer for a term of three years. This position he held for the succeeding thirteen years, or until December 1, 1885, when he was made permanent captain of steam No. 2. On January 1, 1892, he was appointed fire marshal and assistant chief. This was when A. J. Kennedy was superintendent of the department. On the resignation of Superintendent Kennedy, September 4, 1897, Mr. Hubbard was appointed to succeed him, and held this position up to the time of his death.

Mr. Hubbard leaves, besides his wife, a son, Walter J. Hubbard, and a daughter, Mrs. Walter N. Church of this city. The deceased was a member of Admiral Foote post, G. A. R., City lodge No. 38, I. O. O. F., and the A. O. U. W. The remains will be brought here for interment, leaving Philadelphia on the Colonial express at 7:50 this morning. As yet no arrangements have been made for the funeral. Superintendent Hubbard was the third chief of the New Haven fire department since it became a full-pay department, and is the first one to pass away.

MCPARTLAND WHIPPED DAILY.

Hard Fight of Twenty-five Clean Rounds in New York.

New York, Aug. 29.—Kid McPartland of this city got a well earned decision over Jack Daly of Wilmington, Del., after fighting twenty-five clean rounds before the Greater New York Athletic club to-night. The last time these two met Daly got the decision on a foul in the seventeenth round at the Lenox Athletic club and since that time McPartland has always claimed that he had Daily whipped them. He insisted that on their next meeting he would demonstrate his superiority over the Delaware man and he did this very effectively when the opportunity presented itself to-night. Both men were in splendid form and showed that they had trained carefully when they stripped in the ring. The bout was a hard, foul work and was one of the cleanest and cleverest exhibitions ever given under the Horton law. There was little to choose between the men at the end of the bout, but as McPartland had done more leading than his opponent the referee decided in his favor. At no stage of the contest were there any signs that the fight would not last the limit.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Report of Committee on the Raising of Revenues.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 29.—The special committee appointed by the supreme lodge Knights of Pythias to investigate the matter of changing the plan of raising revenues, made its report this afternoon. It reported in favor of a per capita tax on each member of the subordinate lodges for the purpose of paying the expenses of the supreme lodge, but left the amount blank. The present plan is to pay the expenses out of the receipts from the sale of supplies. Another special committee will also report in favor of reducing the number of members of the supreme tribunal to three persons.

PUT-IN-BAY QUARANTINED.

Six Cases of Smallpox Among Servants of the Hotel Victory.

Columbus, O., Aug. 29.—The following telegram has been received by the state board of health: Put-in-Bay, Ohio, Aug. 29.—Everything here quarantined. Have at present six cases of smallpox, five very mild; four cases of chickenpox, also mild; one case of smallpox, bedfast, all among colored servants of the Hotel Victory; none among guests or islanders. So far checked. Have left only harbor open to trade. Hotel Victory closed."

Justifiable Homicide.

Boston, Aug. 29.—Justifiable homicide was the verdict in substance of Judge Perkins, this morning, in the case of Frederick Weeks, the special Brookline police officer who shot and killed John Sullivan a week ago, the latter being found in the basement of Dr. H. R. Stocum in the night time. Weeks was assaulted by Sullivan while trying to arrest him.

LEIGH WON THE PRIMARIES

SECURED 49 DELEGATES TO TOMLINSON'S 36 YESTERDAY.

One of the Hottest Primary Fights Held in the City in Many Years—Fierce Contests in All the Wards and a Big Vote Polled—Two Tickets Were Out in All But Two Wards.

In the democratic primaries held yesterday afternoon and last evening Walter Leigh won out by six delegates after one of the hottest primary fights waged in this city for many years. He carried the Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Ninth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth and Fourteenth wards, which have a total of forty-two delegates in the town convention which is to elect delegates to the county convention. Tomlinson carried the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Eighth, Tenth and Fifteenth wards, which have a total of thirty-six delegates. Leigh thereby winning by six delegates. In nearly every ward there were two tickets in the field at the primaries, the only exception being in the Thirteenth ward, where forty-five votes were cast and there was no opposition to the Leigh ticket, and in the Fifteenth ward, where forty votes were cast, with no opposition to the Tomlinson ticket.

In the Third ward one of the fiercest contests was waged. The contest there was between James E. McGann and his supporters, who worked for Tomlinson, and those opposed to the so-called machine, who supported Leigh. Although the McGann faction won out by ninety-eight votes, the anti-machine crowd, composed mostly of young democrats, were well pleased last night over a gain of about ninety-five votes over the showing they made against the machine at the last previous primary.

In the Sixth ward the Tomlinson forces were led by ex-Alderman E. A. Rourke, against whom the Leigh faction was bitter because he came out for Tomlinson after, as it is alleged, he agreed to support Leigh. The Leigh forces were marshalled by Alderman Henry E. Norris and John E. Douchan. The Leigh ticket won by 105 votes. The Seventh ward, which has ten delegates to the town convention, was won for the Leigh ticket by 115 votes, the winning faction being led by Alderman John J. Hogan. In the Eighth ward the Tomlinson ticket won out by six votes.

As regards the probate delegates, F. Callahan appears to have the delegations from all the wards but the Third, Fifth and Ninth, and in these wards there are splits. Colonel Callahan appears to have the town convention by a large majority. As for representative Daly got the decision on a foul in the seventeenth round at the Lenox Athletic club and since that time McPartland has always claimed that he had Daily whipped them. He insisted that on their next meeting he would demonstrate his superiority over the Delaware man and he did this very effectively when the opportunity presented itself to-night. Both men were in splendid form and showed that they had trained carefully when they stripped in the ring. The bout was a hard, foul work and was one of the cleanest and cleverest exhibitions ever given under the Horton law. There was little to choose between the men at the end of the bout, but as McPartland had done more leading than his opponent the referee decided in his favor. At no stage of the contest were there any signs that the fight would not last the limit.

The vote in the various wards on the two tickets, Leigh and Tomlinson, so-called, was as follows:

Table with 5 columns: Ward, Leigh, Tomlinson, M.J., J.J. and 5 rows of data.

*No opposition. The delegates by wards are as follows:

Leigh—Fifth ward 4, Sixth ward 5, Seventh ward 10, Ninth ward 6, Eleventh ward 5, Twelfth ward 8, Thirteenth ward 2, Fourteenth ward 2; total, 42.

Tomlinson—First ward 3, Second ward 5, Third ward 9, Fourth ward 9, Eighth ward 5, Tenth ward 3, Fifteenth ward 6; total, 36.

The town convention for the election of delegates to the shrievalty convention will be held in St. Aloysius hall to-morrow night and the town probate convention in Arion hall on the same night.

Walter Leigh figured out last night that he needed two more delegates in the county convention to secure the nomination for sheriff. He is confident of carrying the Meriden primaries, and with the nine delegates which he expects to get there it would now seem as though his nomination was assured.

The delegates elected in the various wards are as follows: FIRST WARD. State—Edward J. Maher, David S. Wiser, Charles H. Brockett; alternate, Lewis J. Gaynor.

Congressional—Evelyn L. Bissell, Frederick Bellows, Patrick Tierney; alternate, William Morris. County—Albert Widmann, A. Frederick Hunte, James E. Keisher; alternate, P. S. Stanford. Judge of probate—C. T. Driscoll, George Stanford, James Fitzsimmons; alternate, John E. Teston. Justice of the peace—Thomas H. McCaffrey, James F. Sullivan, Jr., William Reilly; alternate, Joseph Mitchell. Senatorial—Mark A. W. McGrath, John C. Miles, James H. Kelley; alternate, William Morris, Jr. Representative—Joseph C. Cook, Frederick Syner, Augustine S. Clair; alternate, Michael K. Grady.

IN AND ABOUT THE COURTS

GEORGE H. REYNOLDS SUED FOR MALICIOUS LIBEL.

George C. Burdick Bound Over for an Attempt to Defraud the United States Treasury—Busy Day for Judge Cleveland—Several New Suits Filed in Civil Side City Court—Entries of New Cases in Superior Court.

William H. James of this city has brought suit in the superior court against George H. Reynolds of Orange, claiming $5,000 damages for malicious libel. The case is returnable at the coming term of the superior court, civil side, which opens next week Tuesday. It will be remembered that James was arrested and tried for incendiarism. He was suspected of having fired the Yale grand stand.

He now sues Reynolds, claiming that the latter told one Fisher, who had charge of the structure, that he (James) set fire to the building. James claims that his character and reputation were damaged thereby, and that he was obliged to expend $300 in preparing a defense for his trial, at which he was acquitted.

FOR MAINTAINING A NUISANCE. Edward Cunningham and Frank J. Nuzzenholz, arrested upon complaint of residents in Allington upon maintaining a nuisance, were tried in the Orange court yesterday. Cunningham owns a slaughter house where cattle are killed for a number of Hebrew provision dealers, and Nuzzenholz killed cattle there and allowed the refuse to rot in the sun. The former was fined $15 and the latter paid a fine of $5.

BURDICK BOUND OVER. The case of the United States against George C. Burdick of Brookfield was tried in this city yesterday. On August 8 the defendant was bound over by United States Commissioner Wright, and in default of $1,200 bonds, was committed to jail.

It is charged that he presented to the United States treasury department for payment, a fraudulent claim for the expense attending sickness and burial of Levi Burdick, a pensioner. The total claim was for $101. The complaint states that the total expenses were only $26.

After taking of testimony, Commissioner Wright found probable cause and the defendant was bound over to the United States court. The bond was fixed at $1,000.

JUDGE CLEVELAND'S COURT. Several months ago complaint was made before Judge Cleveland that Mrs. Maria Louise Chapman of this city was a dipsomaniac and addicted to the intemperate use of narcotics and stimulants. At that time after examination, Judge Cleveland ordered that she be placed under the advice of Dr. Stearns of Hartford, but did not order that she be committed to Dr. Stearns' or any other sanitarium. It is an injustice to Mrs. Chapman to say that she was confined to the sanitarium, as she has never been near the institution, but on the contrary has spent the greater part of the summer at Stockbridge, Mass., in the Berkshires. She has been attended by her maid and has made several visits to New Haven. Through her attorney, Judge Lynde Harrison, an appeal has been made from the order issued by Judge Cleveland.

Wallace S. Moyle and Burdett S. Adams have been confirmed as executors on the estate of the late Dr. C. B. Adams, by Judge Cleveland. Both were named as executors in the will. H. W. Crawford and Wallace E. Clarke will be appraisers. The executors were placed under bonds of $7,000. The estate is valued at $16,000. The inventory on the estate of Miss Jennie C. Lambert, sister of Dr. Lambert, has been filed in the probate court, and it shows that Miss Lambert left an estate of $12,686.74. The appraisers are B. L. Lambert, an uncle, and Theodore B. Wilson. There was $9,506.22 in real estate.

Lorenzo J. Mattel was yesterday morning appointed trustee upon the insolvent estate of A. Rappunno, grocer on St. John street.

There is only about $50 in the estate and Judge Cleveland notified Mr. Mattel that he assumed responsibility for all bills for settling the estate if he accepted the appointment. Mattel took it just the same.

Charles Z. Batley and Gataho Bruno were appointed as appraisers.

NEW SUITS IN CITY COURT. A number of new suits have been brought in the civil side of the city court.

Edward J. Hoadley of Hartford has brought suit against Charles E. Woodward for $550 on a note alleged to have been given January 4, 1896.

Thomas B. Griggs of Brookline, Mass., has sued C. W. Clark & Son on a note of $896.25 alleged to have been given to the Monson Maine State company and indorsed to the plaintiff on January 6, 1898. The suit is for $1,000.

Richard H. Tyner has brought suit against J. Gibb Smith company to recover $100. It is alleged that October 24, 1896, the defendants owed S. Dreznier & Sons of this city $150 for painting and that Raphael Myerson garnished that money for $100 due him from Dreznier & Son.

Thomas F. Bourke has brought suit for the foreclosure of a $4,000 mortgage on property on Rosette street belonging to Abraham Beloff. The W. A. Beckley company, New England Brick Exchange and George Brown of this city, all of whom claim to have mortgages on the property, have been joined as defendants.

Frank A. Corbin has brought suit against Henry Ives on two notes given it is alleged in March, 1894, for $50.62 and $56.55 respectively. A suit for $100 has been brought against the Forsyth Dyeing, Bleaching and Laundry company by the Chatfield Paper company through their attorney, J. Birney Tuttle. Attachments were served on Thomas G. Forsyth and Mrs. F. K. Hickok, officers of the company.

The suit is the first of the kind that has been brought in nearly forty years. It is instituted under the statute which provides that an action can be brought against officers of corporations where it can be proved that said officers have not filed the condition of the firm with the town clerk as provided by law.

Constable Siebert attached property on State, Lawrence and Mechanic streets. The Chatfield company held stock amounting to $81.56 in the dyeing company.

CITY COURT—Criminal Side, Judge Dow. Luigi De Angelis was in the city court yesterday; for resisting the policeman while they were raiding his saloon Sunday afternoon. He was fined $3 and costs.

Wilbur Duncan was fined $5 and costs for theft.

James Laflin was fined $2 and costs for drunkenness.

Mary Smith and Thomas Flanagan who were tried for drunkenness, had judgment suspended.

William Duley was fined $2 and costs for being drunk.

Andrew Landona and Ellen Slater were charged with breach of the peace. Judgment was suspended in both cases because of Landona's general good character.

Thomas Johnson and William Joseph for sleeping in railroad cars, were each fined $2 and costs.

CITY COURT—Civil Side. Entries of new cases for the civil superior court, the next term of which opens a week from to-day, are unusually heavy and several interesting actions have been filed, including many divorce cases. Those thus far entered are as follows:

Ellen E. Adams of Seymour vs. Emery E. Adams of Seymour, action for divorce and alimony, for cruelty; attachment of $2,000. Lucy D. Alford of New Haven against Charles H. Alford of New York, action for divorce because of desertion.

Beckley Co. of New Haven against Henry Hoogert of New Haven, attachment in $3,000 to recover a bill of goods. Ira W. Beers of Hamden against Mary L. Diekerman, administratrix of the estate of Marietta Beers, late of Hamden, plaintiff claiming $780 for care, nursing, services and groceries which deceased had promised to pay.

Joseph W. Betts, formerly of Lincolnshire, England, action for divorce on grounds of adultery and desertion. Carmela Cavo of New Haven, action for divorce on ground of intemperance.

Robert McCabe of New York against the Baldwin & Lamkin Co. of Milford, attachment for $5,000 to recover on an account. Raffaele Cafiero against Rosa Laferio, suit for divorce on grounds of adultery. Jennie E. Dayton of Prospect against Warren Dayton of Wallingford, action for divorce on grounds of desertion. Anthony DeGreef of New Haven against Margaret DeGreef of New York, action for divorce, grounds desertion. May Emily Downs of New Haven against William Cash Downs of New Haven, action for divorce, grounds, intemperance and cruelty. Benjamin Frankel of New Haven against James J. Grady of New Haven, attachment in $3,000 to recover $750 for services rendered. James J. Leary of New Haven against C. D. Palmale, E. I. Brown and H. C. Rowe of New Haven, to recover $771 for goods. Marcella M. Getler of Meriden against Frank S. Fay of Meriden, administrator, to recover $1,000 for expenses and services. Josephine Gibbons of New Haven against Henry Gibbons of New Haven, action for divorce on grounds of intemperance and cruelty. Winifred A. Gleason of Ansonia against Eugene Gleason of Ansonia, action for divorce, grounds intemperance and cruelty. Lawrence F. Grady of New Haven against Wolf and Fannie Alderman of New Haven, to recover on a note for $500.

William J. Hoffman of New Haven against Jennie Hoffman of New Britain, action for divorce, grounds, cruelty. N. W. Hubinger of New Haven against Lyman H. Johnson of New Haven, action to recover on a note for $2,000. Alfred H. Hurlbut of New Haven against Alfred and Mary Holt of New Haven, to recover on notes aggregating $14,000. Daniel W. Lamb of New Haven against Ida A. Lamb of New Haven, action for divorce, grounds, adultery and desertion; Guy Lamkin of Boston prays for the appointment of a receiver for the Baldwin & Lamkin Manufacturing Co. of Milford. C. S. Mersick & Co. of New Haven against Hayes & Bourke of New Haven, to recover $2,500 for goods sold. C. S. Mersick & Co. of New Haven, to recover $3,500 for goods sold. Joseph Miller of Wallingford against Metropolitan Rubber Co. of Wallingford, action in $5,000 damages for injuries received in the performance of duties. Henry G. Newton of New Haven against Middletown Street Railway Co., action in $10,000 damages for injuries received, November 29, 1894, by an accident to a car run by company, on which the brake broke and the car descended the hill. Yale college corporation against George W. and Mary Denny of New Haven to recover a note for $5,400.

OBITUARY.

Death of Robert Shannon. Robert Shannon, sixty-five years of age, died at the Springside home, yesterday of thrombosis of the heart. He had been an inmate of the institution seven years. He was a widower and leaves a sister, but her residence is not known.

FUNERAL OF ANN HOLDWRIGHT. The funeral of Ann, wife of Francis Holdwright, took place at her late residence, 242 Cedar street, yesterday forenoon and later at Sacred Heart church. Rev. Father Fitzgerald as celebrant spoke highly of the Christian character of the deceased. The bearers were John Carberry, Michael Killoy, Patrick Bennett, Patrick Hickey, Eugene Sheehan and Michael O'Conner. The interment was in St. Bernard's cemetery. The deceased was eighty-six years of age, and her husband is about ninety years old.

FUNERAL OF HELEN REARDON. The funeral of Helen Reardon took place at her late residence, 181 Plymouth avenue, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and at Sacred Heart church at 3 o'clock. Rev. Father Synott was celebrant. The bearers were Patrick Scadden, Henry Fink, M. R. Ensoec, John Burke, Martin Coffey and John Halpin. The interment was in St. Bernard's cemetery.

FUNERAL OF MRS. LYNCH. A very large throng of sorrowing friends were at St. Mary's church yesterday morning attending the funeral of Mrs. Catherine Lynch, wife of Daniel Ford of 237 Mansfield street and mother of Rev. John H. Ford of the Dominican order. She was ill about two weeks, suffering from a complication of troubles, and her death was a surprise.

Mrs. Ford was born in Ireland, but in childhood settled in Inwood and later in Barrytown, New York state, from whence she removed to this city, where she has resided for over thirty-five years. She was of a retiring disposition, thoroughly devoted to her family and a devout member of St. Mary's church.

One son, Rev. John H. Ford of St. Vincent Farrar's church, New York, and one daughter, Sister Eleanor of Lancaster, Ohio, both Religious in the Dominican order; her husband and two daughters, Misses Catherine and Nellie Ford, survive. Mrs. Ford lost three children—the eldest, Mary, some years ago; Timothy about four years ago and Miss Emma Ford, a well known teacher, who died last October.

The solemn high requiem mass was very impressive. Nine priests of the Order of St. Dominic were present. The celebrant was Rev. Father Ford, O. P., priest of the deceased; deacon, Rev. Thomas McGovern of New York; subdeacon, Rev. H. A. McClellan. The following members of the Dominican order were present: Rev. Fathers E. J. Farmer, T. H. Justa, H. A. Hincze, L. J. Lockingen, M. L. Heagan and Thomas McGovern.

Professor Rice was organist, and Schmidt's mass was finely rendered. The quartette was composed of Mrs. John Canary, Madame Oertel, Messrs. Grabb and Sheehan. At the offertory Mr. Grabb sang "Requiem" by Giozza, very finely. At the conclusion of the requiem chant was most impressively sung by the nine clergymen and choir. On the casket rested floral tributes from the family and friends, and a large basket of exquisite white flowers from the Ozanum Reading circle.

FUNERAL OF MRS. CUTLER. The funeral services of Mrs. Ellen L. Knight, wife of Everts Cutler, were held yesterday afternoon at her late residence in the Kensington at 254 Orange street. A funeral sermon was preached by the Rev. Harry E. Peabody, assistant pastor of the Church of the Redeemer, as Rev. Dr. Smyth, pastor of Center church, of which she had been for a quarter of a century a member, is absent from the city. The pallbearers were Lieut. Gov. J. D. Dewell, Frank S. Bradley, John Peck and Franklin S. Bradley. There was a large attendance of the friends and acquaintances of the deceased. The interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

DIED IN WESTVILLE. Mrs. Warner, wife of Charles H. Warner, the grocer, of 1096 Main street, Westville, died shortly afternoon yesterday of typhoid fever, aged thirty-five years. Mrs. Warner was attended by Dr. Marsh for some time recently, as her health had been very poor. She contracted the whooping cough, which left her very weak, and then her two children caught the disease, and what with nursing them and the debility of her own sickness she was in no condition to withstand the attack of typhoid which followed.

EFFECT OF EXCLUDING SIGHTSEERS. Mechanics and Workmen Able to Work at Navy Yard Without Interference.

New York, Aug. 29.—The effect of the new order excluding sightseers from the vessels at the navy yard was very apparent to-day as the mechanics and other workmen who are making repairs on the different ships were able to work without any interference. Drydock No. 2 was thoroughly cleaned to-day and the battleship Iowa will be docked there to-morrow if the tide is high enough.

Admiral Sampson arrived in the yard in the afternoon and went at once to the flagship New York. Captain George A. Elliott of the United States marine corps returned from Cuba to-day and reported immediately to Admiral Francis Bunnce. Captain Elliott had charge of a company of marines who were sent to land at Guantanamo from the United States transport Panther.

WOMAN'S BOARD MEETING. Grace Hospital Woman's Board Called Together for This Afternoon.

There will be a special meeting of the Woman's Board of Grace hospital this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the hospital. This meeting is called not only for members of the board, but for all ladies interested in the Grace hospital, and the good work to be done there among the sick soldiers, for the coming of the poor, sick men has brought great opportunities to the ladies of New Haven. They can aid in supplying the much needed money, linen, towels, garments, crockery, etc.

It is hoped that there will be a large attendance so that a plan of work can be decided upon.

THE ENGLISH SPARROW AND THE ENGLISH TROUT.

The English sparrow is one of the most unattractive birds, we should say the most unattractive were it not that pictures of the apteryx and the dodo suggest that it is impossible that the avian family may contain specimens more ill-bred and generally disreputable in appearance than he. Both these, however, we believe, are extinct, having perished like the ichthyosaurus of "innate homeliness, and have been set aside in the scheme of evolution as imperfect and mistaken conceptions." The English sparrow therefore remains the most ill-conditioned, disagreeable-looking and unpleasant-mannered of all the birds.

It would be unfair to compare him with our song-sparrow, for he makes no pretension to musical skill and frankly admits that his voice is harsh and strident and fit for scoldings, bickering and insults only, but compare him to our familiar "chippy." The feathers of the English bird—it is not possible conscientiously to use the word "plumage" in connection with him—the feathers of the English bird are of a dull color and look dirty and faded; his clothes have never been brushed. His heavy bill, coarse head, hunched-up shoulders, pug-nosed beak and stumpy tail, with two feathers pulled out, one turned sidewise, suggest that the pronunciation of his name, "sparrrr," is correct, for, like a professional prize-fighter, he is always quarrelling out loud and practicing "the preliminary objurgations." Compare all this to our chippy, whose plumage is neat but not gaudy, whose form is the refinement of elegance and whose air and manner is the perfection of unobtrusive, cheerful courtesy. His outline is the perfection of grace and adjusted proportion. Observe him as he goes systematically through the woodbine on the piazza in search of noxious insects; how thoroughly and neatly he works, neither inviting nor soliciting your observation. There is no "lost motion" about the chippy, but all the movements of the English sparrow are jerky and aimless, as of some feebly pulled machine. In the scheme of creation and is working for one.

Much the same contrast holds between our brook trout and the imported English trout known as the "brown trout." Of course all trout are beautiful, but the English fish is chunkier and blunter, the curve of the back, which in the American is said by artists to be the most beautiful and graceful animal nature, is flattened slightly by the increased size of the head. The colors are all toned down and subdued by the slight but all-important degradation, which marks the line between the work of the great colorists and the successful imitators. In disposition the English trout is at once sullen and voracious and is an insatiable cannibal. The American trout, it is true, is not wholly free from blame in this regard, but he does not devour the young of his own race in the wholesale and promiscuous way that marks the feeding of his English cousin.

The contrast between the typical caricatures of John Bull and Uncle Sam is not altogether without justification in fact. There is a tendency in this country to produce a slimmer, more active and elegantly formed animal than the English prototype. We have no wish to lessen the international good feeling between the two great branches of the English-speaking people, but we must say firmly that the pug-nosed and procreative English sparrow is an ugly-looking bird and an unmitigated nuisance, without brains enough to teach him to go south in winter or breast enough to make him worth eating.—Hartford Courant.

CONDITION OF THE TREASURY. Washington, Aug. 29.—To-day's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balance, $282,009,211. Gold reserve, $19,152,694. Net silver, $10,907,190. United States notes in the treasury, $149,875,725. Treasury bills, $4,406,627. Total receipts this day, $1,975,480; this month, $39,010,814; this year, $2,827,923. Total expenditures this day, $1,026,000; this month, $51,610,000; this year, $126,874,475. Deposits in national banks, $62,413,385.

EIGHTH ANNUAL OUTING. To Be Held Soon by the James J. Reynolds Association.

The James J. Reynolds association will hold its eighth annual outing early next month and a meeting will be held in Washington base on the evening of Saturday, September 10, to complete arrangements and decide upon the date. The outing will be held at Morris Cove either at Mr. Reynolds' place there or at Gillem & Quinn's hotel. Athletic games will be a part of the programme and it is intended to make the occasion a thoroughly enjoyable one. The officers of the association are: James J. Reynolds, president; R. G. Stott, secretary; and treasurer, Thomas F. Lowery; committee of arrangements, Joseph Shaw, Patrick F. Butler and James J. Reynolds.

A VALUABLE FIND. A document of considerable interest to the members of the North Stamford Congregational church was found recently in the Hezekiah Davenport house, one hundred and eleven years old, on Davenport Ridge. It is a transcription of the original covenant and articles of faith made in 1787. The brown old document was carefully prepared and can be very easily read. The finder was Milton Davenport, a descendant and relative of several of the clerks of the church. He now lives in the old place, which is considered one of the oldest habitable houses in Stamford. At each end is a large chimney. On the first floor are the great open fireplaces, and in the kitchen, at one side, is the old brick oven, where the Thanksgiving turkey and Christmas goose, with pies and cakes innumerable, of all kinds and flavors, were baked over a hundred years ago. On peeping into its dark and cavernous interior one can imagine that one hears the flutter of the ghostly wing or the squeal of an infantile pig—most pig being a popular dish in those days.—Stamford Advocate.

$3,000,000 IN GOLD ABOARD. Sydney, N. S. W., Aug. 29.—The American steamer Alenda, Captain Von Otterdorp, sailed to-day for San Francisco, having on board $3,000,000 in gold.

GRAND ELECTRICAL DISPLAY. At the Triennial Conclave of Knights Templar.

The grandest electrical display in the history of the world will be on view in Pittsburg, Penn., during the week of October 11, when the Knights Templars hold their twenty-seventh triennial convale in that city. Some of the special designs will be as follows:

Heroic-sized revolving figure of St. George and heroic-sized figures of ancient Knights Templars, both on foot and on horseback. Mosaic crosses and heraldic emblems of all kinds will also be shown. One prominent building will show illuminated portraits of Dewey, Hobson, Schley, Wheeler, Roosevelt and other heroes of the Spanish war, with their names in electricity at the base of each picture. On the roofs of the highest buildings in Pittsburg and Allegheny will be placed powerful searchlights, and in the streets will be located at regular intervals brilliantly illuminated arches. There will be no darkness in either city throughout the week.

Arrangements for the convale are progressing rapidly and growing in importance each day. A band of 1,000 pieces made up of various brass instruments during the week is an important feature of the programme. Grand Commander Henry H. Kuhn is in receipt of letters from the grand commanders of the various states promising a very large attendance. President McKinley, it is said positively, will be there, and probably Vice President and Mrs. Hobart as well.

N. E. O. P. CONFERENCE. State Meeting to Be Held in This City To-day.

An important meeting of the officers and deputies of the New England Order of Protection is to be held at 139 Orange street, to-day at 4 p. m. Forty-five deputies have been invited. Grand Warden J. W. Chapin will preside. The local deputies are: Elm Tree lodge, W. H. Ely; Beacon lodge, Charles Jones; Centennial, William Sumidson; Charter Oak, C. A. Tourtelotte; Gladstone, W. C. McIntosh; Fort Hale, E. G. Sargent; Queen of Elm, J. J. Wooster.

MORE SICK SOLDIERS MAY COME

To Take the Place of Those Why Rejoice and Leave New Haven Hospital. Owing to the large number of visitors to see the sick soldiers at the New Haven hospital Sunday afternoon and the excitement attendant on the large crowd many of the sick men were somewhat tired and were not quite so well yesterday. The hospital authorities have therefore decided not to allow so many visitors again until the soldiers become stronger and to guard against undue excitement. Some of the men are already so nearly recovered that they desire furloughs in order that they may visit their friends. Superintendent Starkweather at the hospital has, however, no authority to issue furloughs and many of the men being regulars are obliged to abide strictly by the army regulations. Notice of the requests for furloughs has therefore been sent to General Joe Wheeler in command of Camp Wickett, but no reply had been received from him last night. It is thought that when some of the soldiers now at the hospital leave others will be brought over from Montauk Point.

The Grace hospital authorities have sent word to Camp Wickett that some sick soldiers could be accommodated there. They were told that if it was decided to send any sick men they would be notified by telegraph when the patients left the camp. No further word has been received concerning the offer of Grace hospital.

TRUMPET TIGERS.

Sullivan and Munro took first and second prizes in the ten mile clipper road race over the Pequot course on Saturday. They both rode Orange Head Tigers and both broke the course record for ten miles held by Sullivan of 30:10, Sullivan's time being 28:10 and Munro's 28:25.

A select moonlight excursion will be given to-morrow evening on the steamer Hildegarde to Pawson park under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Junior Bible association of the Grand avenue Congregational church, of which Miss Maude Kelly is president and Miss Daisy Parker secretary and treasurer. Thaddeus S. Coleman is the instructor of the association, and he has greatly assisted the young women in the arrangements for the excursion.

The steamer will leave Woodward's wharf in Fair Haven promptly at 8 p. m. and will arrive home about 11:30. Cars will be waiting to carry the excursionists to East Haven or to the city. Tickets have sold most encouragingly and a pleasant trip seems assured.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACES.

Warm Heats and Large Attendance at Readville. Readville, Mass., Aug. 29.—The grand circuit opened to-day at the Readville track under the most favorable conditions, good weather, warm heats and a large attendance. Two races were completed and three heats ran off in another before the day's sport finished. All the events were fought out vigorously, a number of them being won by the narrower kind of a margin.

The interest of the day centered in the 2:11 trot and with a big purse, every heat was a fight for a finish. Bingen was the favorite and while he took the second heat in the fastest time of the day, 2:09 1/2, which was also a new mark for him, Tommy Britton succeeded in beating him out by taking the other three heats. Britton, however, was hard pressed in every one, Georgianna being right at his nose in the third heat and Han McGregor almost catching him in the fourth. Alcida showed up well in the second heat, but had no show in the others.

The youngsters of the 2:30 class had a lively time in their first heat, Charley Herr, a young colt of Alfred S., getting the heat in a close finish. He dropped the rest to Laurels, but won the third and fourth heats.

The three heats that were run off in the 2:30 purse were also exciting, the favorite, Flirt, being almost distanced in the first heat, but took the next two in a rattling finish.

Star Pointer, 1:59 1/2, who has been on the track since last Wednesday was out this morning and made a number of fast miles.

Albatross, another guileless wonder, went a half mile in 1:05 1/2. Summary: Three-year-olds — 2:30 Class — Purse $3,000.

THE FOOD FOR TROOPS.

For troops in garrison, the regulations provide for one hundred men 125 pounds of fresh beef, or 125 pounds of fresh mutton, or 75 pounds of bacon, or 137 pounds of salt pork; when it is not possible to procure any of these, 87 pounds of dried fish, or 112 pounds of pickled fish, or 112 pounds of fresh fish, in breadstuffs, 112 pounds of flour, or in lieu any one of the following: 112 pounds of soft bread, 100 pounds of hard bread, or 125 pounds of cornmeal and 4 pounds of baking powder.

The same number of men also receives 15 pounds of beans or 15 pounds of peas, 10 pounds of rice or 10 pounds of hominy; 100 pounds of potatoes are supplied; though sometimes the amount is reduced to 80 pounds and 20 pounds of onions added, or the issue will be 70 pounds of potatoes and 30 pounds of dried fish, or 112 pounds of pickled fish, or 112 pounds of fresh fish, in breadstuffs, 112 pounds of flour, or in lieu any one of the following: 112 pounds of soft bread, 100 pounds of hard bread, or 125 pounds of cornmeal and 4 pounds of baking powder.

Troops on the march are obliged to accommodate themselves to a reduced ration, and their haversacks at times are the only larder, and all they boast is hard bread, bacon, coffee, sugar and salt. These ingredients, by means of a tin mug, tin plate with a handle to make into a frying-pan, and its cover, they must make into food to keep soul and body together till something better is furnished.—American Kitchen Magazine.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

"The Rugged Earl" was most acceptably presented at the Hyperion last night and was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. The plot was not an unusual one for comedy drama, but the lines were full of that sparkling, sly Irish wit which makes an Irish play so enjoyable. Andrew Mack fitted well in the part of the Earl of Kildare. As a generous, noble minded fighting Irishman he was well received by the audience. His songs are beautiful and will remain popular as long as he sings them. His supporting company is of the best and there is no weak point in the cast. But Thad Shine and Josephine Lovett were especially good. Little Miss Georgia Florence Oip, as Una Fitzmaurice, won the hearts of the audience as her first appearance. She was very natural and unaffected. The scenery was fine and won the approval of the audience in each act. The soft green of the Irish glens and hills were suggested in a very pleasing manner by the scenes of the first and third acts. The show will undoubtedly draw well to-night and to-morrow, even though the warm weather continues.

Among those at the opening night from New York were: Messrs. Rich & Harris, Charles Frohman, Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger, Charles Osgood, E. D. Shultz, James Ford. Two interested spectators also who occupied seats in the balcony were Wilbur Lackey and Theodore Gurt Sayre from New York.

"A Reign of Error," the new play written by John J. McNally for the Roger Brother, and which will be seen at the Hyperion theater on Monday evening, September 5, contains a plot replete with new and novel features. It will be void of the cut and dried specialties. The musical features will be fine and the company is well selected.

Grand Opera House.

About the most versatile comedian in the black face line is George Evans, now playing at the big theater in Crown street. His makeup is the most ridiculous combination of misfits ever seen on the stage, but his continuous flow of bright witty sayings and stories which he rattles off at a 2:30 clip make him the great favorite here. Mr. Evans' style of humor is original and very refreshing. His songs are queer parodies on the latest popular melodies. His humor is spontaneous and the audience is laughing in spite of itself.

"Mulligan, the Fiddler," the title of the twenty-minute comedy presented by Conroy and McDonald, is a series of highly amusing pranks and oddities, the best of the kind of Irish funnisms. The cast is as follows:

Mulligan, the fiddler... John H. Conroy
Tommy Riley... Charles M. McDonald
Johnson, Davenport and Lorella, the football players and the farmer, are remarkable acrobats, at once original and entertaining. The comedy, "A Wife by Advertisement," presented by Hugh Stanton and Paulone, is one of the best comedies seen here in a long time. It belongs to a high class order of the refined skits of the vaudeville and the funny complications arising from a misunderstanding of an advertisement.

The sweet singing by Bryant and Elton is a feature of the performance. One has a clear soprano of good compass and the other a powerful contralto. Both sing musically the sweetest melodies. Edwards, Kernell and Williams in their comedy, "A Night Out," were well received at both performances yesterday.

A strong number on the programme was the comic solos by Miss DeWitt. She certainly is an artist in the wind jamming line. The Gleasons introduced a novelty in the dancing line that was of interest to all lovers of this particular style of amusement. The Melrose Brothers appeared in a nerve testing acrobatic number, which won for them the title of champions of America. Popular prices prevail at the Grand and during the season ladies will be admitted to all parts of the house for ten cents. Bicycles checked free.

Poll's Wonderland Theater.

A large audience was delighted at the Wonderland last evening. Manager Poll gave a gem of a show, a feature of which was "Captain Impudence," the comedy played by Edwin Milton Royle and his clever wife, Seline Pether Royle, assisted by a capital company.

Clean and bright, it has amusing situations galore, has a plot and is daintily set with pretty staging and beautiful costumes.

Charles Grapevin and Miss Annie Chance made a hit in a sketch that dispensed the German comedy, and Mr. Grapevin, Miss Chance's fine voice and the neat dancing of both and Mr. Eldridge's are a roaring success. Everybody was delighted with the fine singing of the Troubadour Trio, in melodies of a popular character beautifully harmonized. To cap the climax Dave Met

Look out for him. A smooth fellow has been in Boston selling what he warranted to be canary birds of a superior grade. Of course they did not sing at first; canary birds with strange surroundings never do. But it soon developed that they were nothing but sparrows—real hand-painted sparrows, cleverly fixed up to resemble canaries.

We have lately been told that salt is not as good for the human body as it was once thought to be. But C. Godfrey Gumpel, an English scientist, who has spent twenty-seven years in studying the effect of salt upon the body, and is about to publish a book which he thinks will be revolutionary, attributes diphtheria, apoplexy and various other diseases to a deficiency of common salt in the system.

Experiments with sugar rations for soldiers were tried during the last German manoeuvres. Ten men were subjected to the sugar diet, while another ten received exactly the same rations as the rest of the army. The men chosen for the special diet were weak corporeally. According to the official report, the weight of the sugar men increased during the manoeuvres more than that of the men on the ordinary ration. "It was proved that during long marches the feelings of hunger could be kept down for a longer time by the use of sugar, that the sugar people suffered less from thirst than the others, and that a few pieces of sugar sufficed to still thirst for a considerable time. It was also observed that symptoms of exhaustion or of sunstroke were quickly overcome by a small ration of sugar."

Mr. John Steele, of Nebraska, Kan., familiarly known as "Coal Oil Johnnie," is visiting the scenes of his former fame in Venango county, Pennsylvania. He says all the stories regarding his immense wealth, attained from oil, and the free dissipation of his fortune are without foundation. That his total income in the earlier days of oil's boom was a royalty in the McClintock farm production. Mrs. McClintock, its owner, had saved $60,000 from the royalty, and she left it to him. He invested the money in a business block in Meadville, leaving a balance unpaid. Oil then dropped from $4 per barrel to fifty cents, he was unable to meet his obligations and turned the property over to other parties at a great loss. Mr. Steele says he was only nineteen years old when all the sensational stories were written about him, and he was a little lavish with his money, as a boy would naturally be.

They are at work in other countries than this trying to find a substitute for rubber. In Germany a process devised consists of an oxidization of linseed oil and then adding to it prepared jute refuse or some substance of fibrous character and otherwise worthless. The resulting substance is said to possess many of the characteristics of genuine India rubber, and can be used for the manufacture of certain articles where the pure material has been previously employed. In France also a substitute for rubber has recently been invented and has been named textiloid. It consists of resinolite and various admixtures. The resinolite is obtained by treating oil with three or four times its bulk of metallic carbonates and then with nitric acid. This is followed by saponification, precipitation by means of an acid, and dissolving in alcohol or ether. The mixture comprises one hundred parts of resinolite, twenty of zinc, oxide of manganese, etc., and sixty parts of methylated spirits. After an interval of several hours the mass is worked and kneaded for an hour or more and then compressed while warm.

Even if Li Hung Chang should lose his yellow jacket for good he would still have something left. For instance, he possesses a robe of skins of the red fox with fur varied in tint of the richest, reddest amber. In the golden parts are set the bright black foot of the fox, with the smoother and darker red of the leg above each black foot. Another robe is of pieces from the back of the "cross fox," so joined that they appear to be taken from some much larger animal. These are left the natural color, a cold gray and yellowish brown, but set in a bed of fur dyed chocolate color. In still another garment the Chinaman has succeeded in creating what is apparently a new animal. The robe, like all the others, is in the shape of a cross of five cubes. Each of these squares appears to be the skin of a single animal, dark puce color on the outer edges, with irregular circles of minute white dots in the center, increasing from an indistinct grayish brown on the outside to clear white in the inner circles. This apparently natural ornament might deceive any one who did not know the actual colors and limits of all natural furs. On examining the back of this robe it is seen to be made up of minute pieces sewn together in concentric circles, the pieces being no larger than those in the tessellated pavement now so commonly seen on hall floors. It is, in fact, a piece of fur mosaic.

A FINE FIGHT. The Lelsh brothers have been rather quiet in politics during the last few years, but they haven't been very quiet in politics during the last few weeks. Much interest has been felt in the very lively campaign they have been conducting in this city. This campaign culminated last night, and the report is that they correlated a majority of the delegates. If this report is correct they have accomplished a notable political feat, and added much to their reputation for efficiency. They are what would be called "hustlers" in the West, and it can fairly be said in their favor that they are open and "square" in their hustling. Their fight against the Democratic machine here has been a hard one, and their victory will have important consequences, whether they win or lose in the county convention.

THE CZAR'S SINCERITY. The wise ones are asking, Is the Czar's note sincere? We don't see why it isn't likely to be quite as sincere as any move that has lately been made by any of the Powers. The Czar has never shown any desire to be "a war lord." He knows that his own country needs peace in order to develop its resources and become truly great and safe. He knows that some of the other Powers are staggering under their military burdens and need relief from them. He knows that the "general European war" for which Europe has been and is preparing would be very disastrous. And he knows that peace is a more civilized condition than war. There is no good reason to believe that his note is simply a trick to defeat the war party in England and there is ample reason to believe that it was inspired by true patriotism and a deep regard for the good of all the world.

DISCIPLINE. It is said that officers at the War department deprecate the manner in which complaints have been made in the newspapers on the ground that the whole matter will discredit the American army and have a bad effect on discipline. The soldiers, they say, will be made to believe that they are being badly treated, that they are being imposed upon, and at some juncture it may result in mutiny and insubordination for the reason that the troops in case of some order which seems especially hard, will take matters into their own hands, claiming the people are with them. It is claimed that if the stories are all true it will indicate that the American army is of really little account and cannot bear hardship. This is an ingenious and ingenious way of looking at things. Perhaps it isn't altogether good for "discipline" that the treatment of the soldiers is receiving such attention from the newspapers and the people. But neither is it good for discipline that they have had such treatment. And isn't it well for the bosses of this great, free and unconquerable country to be made to understand that there are discipline and duty for them as well as for the men in the ranks?

MORE BACHELORS THAN SPINSTERS. Probably most people have the notion that there are more "old maids" than "old bachelors" in this country, and most people are wrong. It has been discovered by the government that these are the correct figures: 5,427,767 bachelors and 3,224,494 spinsters. We have long been taught to believe that Massachusetts is an especially unhappy hunting ground for spinsters, but the old facts are that there are 226,655 bachelors in the State, while only 212,255 females are "unattached." New York has 120,000 more bachelors than spinsters, and the only State, in fact, which has an excess of female celibates over male celibates is California, in which there are 59,456 of the former and 23,829 of the latter. In Idaho there are 14,974 bachelors and only 1,412 spinsters; in Colorado, 83,448 unmarried males and 16,160 unmarried females; in Wyoming, 16,182 bachelors and 1,457 maidens. In the State of Washington there are 81,537 forlorn single men, with only 9,151 spinsters to select from. Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Mexico, North Dakota, South Dakota, Oregon, Texas, Montana and Utah all show a large excess of unmarried men. If unmarried women really want to be married it appears that their best chance is in the boundless and bounding West. But perhaps they are not so anxious as the comic papers try to make out that they are.

FASHION NOTES. An Attractive Compromise. The difference between the fluffiness that has prevailed all summer and the extreme severity of most fall tailor rigs is so great that midway models are especially attractive. One of these is shown here, a light brown cashmere dress whose skirt made concession to the liking for trimming in two ruffles around the hem. The bodice had a draped front drawn into a knot at the base of the yoke. This was ornamented with a bow of the same goods, similar bows topping the sleeves. Yoke and collar were separate and of white tulle and bands of embroidery. The trim of bows, one at the bust and the others at the shoulders, was a quaint device. Those at the shoulders furnished for the sleeves a capping of which there are now few acceptable sorts, so rapidly has this but recently universal masking passed out of use.

Summer belles have done a deal of running about bearded, and the indications are that they will keep up this practice in a measure. Already it is said that fashionable young women will discard headress as often as possible, that they will attend the theater and all evening affairs hatless, with the glory of their glossy locks undimmed. Filmy bits of lawn and lace will, perhaps, rest lightly on her head in carriage or car, for some of the swells ride about in cars a lot. Their latest notion is to hire an "express car," which makes no stops and takes no passengers except those hiring it, yet runs along the same route as that followed by the plebeian car wherein five cent fare folk ride. The pompadour is responsible for this sudden opposition to hats. A perfect pompadour is as becoming an outline and background to the face as a hat can possibly be, and the perfect pompadour is injured by any hat. If the no-hat craze injures the milliners, they will insist on their customers cutting the bang, and then! But women will be slow to cut their front hair again, or at least they ought not to be drawn into it easily. FLORETTE.

RATTLES. "And did he fall on his knees when he proposed?" "No, but he was so rattled that he stepped on the cat and fell on his neck."—Indianapolis Journal. "I asked her if she thought she could learn to love me." "And she?" "She said she couldn't—because she was already studying Spanish and learning to swim."—Detroit Free Press. "That man Cutter has no business doing hospital work in a fever district."

THE AIMS OF THE CUBANS. I have been unable to obtain an expression of opinion from General Gomez himself, who is particularly shy of newspaper correspondents, as he claims that they have invariably misrepresented him; but from members of his staff and officers of his command, who have expressed their opinions—and forcibly at that—I am satisfied that they represent his views as well as their own. One officer on Gomez's staff, who speaks English well, told me, just after he had had a long talk with his chief, that if they were only going to exchange one set of masters for another, they would indefinitely prefer to remain under Spanish rule for their language was the same, their habits the same, and their blood the same to a large extent; while on the other hand, the Americans would take much more out of the country than the Spaniards had done.

There can be no question but that, in Cuban military circles at least, the good faith of the American government is very much doubted, and officers are asking themselves if they will have to fight on when the Spaniards have evacuated the island. Gomez himself shows that he is uneasy with regard to the situation, for his temper, which is invariably bad, has for the last few days become almost unbearable. He rules every one with a rod of iron, and the slightest infraction of his ever-changing orders means instant and severe punishment, ranging from death down to being "bucked," which consists of your legs and arms being tied to a rifle in such a manner as to render you incapable of walking, or doing anything but sit like a trussed fowl ready for the table.

Gomez is not a native of Cuba, having been born in Santo Domingo, and, in fact, he served as a lieutenant in the Spanish army against the Dominican patriots when fighting for their liberty. From what I have seen of him I should say he was a man of more than ordinary ability, excessively ambitious, whose desire is to go down in Cuban history as a Washington or a Bolivar. I do not think I am misjudging the man when I say that his great ambition is to be the first president of "Cuba Libre," when the island is in

TORPEDO GUNS AFLOAT AND ASHORE.

Torpedo guns, when used in land defenses, should be looked upon as auxiliary and supplementing the fixed submarine mines defending a harbor. The mines may be removed by various methods of countermining, and, once removed, are difficult to replace, particularly in the presence of an enemy. Not alone may the submarine mines be removed by the action of the enemy, but in the course of an action they may be removed by the defence in endeavoring to blow up the enemy's fleet maneuvering in the harbor. The fire of torpedo guns can, in such cases, be directed on that portion of the torpedo field where the mines may have thus been removed.

When the firing is from a fixed platform, as is the case in shore defenses, it has been shown to be extremely accurate. Where the ranges can be ascertained, as it likely to be the case in so-called fortifications, the great accuracy of firing which has been shown to be possessed by the pneumatic torpedo guns should make an attack, coming within their range of fire, extremely hazardous. As an example of the accuracy of fire obtainable from shore, the writer would mention that of some trials at Shoeburyness. Three rounds were fired at about twenty-two hundred yards, of which two rounds struck the same hole in the sand, the other being two or three yards from this. At thirty-five hundred yards five shots out of six were placed in a space no larger than a billiard-table.

In an official test of three fifteen-inch guns in San Francisco harbor, seventy-five per cent. of the shots fell, at a range of five thousand yards, in a rectangle measuring three hundred and sixty feet by ninety feet. The contract requirements were only thirty-four per cent. within such a rectangle. A rectangle of two hundred and ten feet by one hundred and twenty-five feet would have contained all the rounds fired. In considering the torpedo gun on shipboard, criticisms have usually been made because of the difficulty of firing from an unstable platform, but other guns afloat are subject, in a great measure, to the same objection. The high-angle fire of the torpedo gun is often cited as an objectionable feature, but it has some advantages which are not ordinarily conceded. Among these are the following: High-power guns, with their flat trajectories, have as their target only the vertical projections of the over-water hull of the ship. A very slight change of the angle of elevation of these guns produces very considerable change in the height at which the shot would strike the target. With the change of about one-fourth of a degree of elevation at one mile range, the shot would go under or over the point aimed at, a vertical distance of about twenty-three feet.

The pneumatic gun, however, with its high angle fire, has as its target the vertical projection of the over-water hull of the ship, the entire deck and a zone around the ship's front to the forty feet, according to the charge. A change of angle of elevation of one degree would make a change in the range of only about sixty yards. Thus, with a slight variation due to changes in elevation, and the greater size of the available target presented, the chances of securing effective results are more than fair.—Captain E. L. Zalinski, U. S. N., in Cassier's.

THE FIRST MEN TO DIE WERE THE HUGE, knotty-muscled firemen. We lost half a dozen of them, and then the big down-east deck-hands—men that could handle a barrel of flour as easily as a washerwoman manipulates a flatiron—began to go. Very few of the small men died, although nearly all of them had the fever badly. Out of twenty-seven coal passers, boardlight were huge men, and the remaining nineteen were of ordinary size or under the ordinary size. Seven of the big coal passers had to be buried at sea, and not a man of the small lot went over the side with the shot tied to his feet. Among the officers of the navy, too, the same line of argument holds good. The small, trim officers of the navy are not fact free. Consequently his rage at the idea of the Americans annexing the island or holding it for a number of years can be understood. The little gray, keen-eyed Santo Domingan seemingly loves but one thing on earth, and that is power.—Los Villos Letter, July 29, to the London Standard.

BIG MEN VS. LITTLE MEN.

"When the war is all over and the army and navy medical departments get down to the work of gathering and comparing statistics on fatalities caused by disease and wounds," said a naval surgeon of great experience, who is now in Washington on furlough, "I am confident it will be found that the small, slight men who have been through the campaigns, both by field and flood, will be found to have been the best endurers of hardships. This is a fact that I have often observed. The big, hard muscled, well-developed men go to pieces under severe hardship and succumb much quicker to epidemic disease as well as to the ordinary ailments of life than do the small, frail-looking chaps. Of course, no really frail men get into the army and navy, but the service has always been filled with plenty of men under ordinary sea, whose appearance with their clothes on causes men not familiar with the subject to wonder how they ever passed the physical examinations required by the army and navy.

"These undersized but perfectly sound men, both in the army and navy, are the best for hard service. They may not be able to do such big things, but for long service full of trouble and worry and genuine hardships they are incomparably better than the big fellows, who look as if they might be able to outlast any three of the smaller men. I've often noticed that in practice marches by naval landing parties the little fellows have invariably shown the best of the argument when it comes to heavy, double-time work under hot, tropical sun. I've seen huge sailors and marines drop out of line in sets of fours under such circumstances, while the small, trim blue-jackets and sea soldiers stand to the game through everything, and very rarely fall to the rear. Army surgeons tell me, too, that in rough campaigning in the west the smaller men are invariably shown themselves to be better resisters of hardship than the big fellows. They say that among the doughboys, or infantrymen, when a big stature and flesh and muscle are always among the first to throw up their hands and ask for transportation in commissary and quartermaster wagons, while the small men trudge on doggedly.

"Another thing the army surgeons tell me that might seem peculiar to those who haven't been in any military service is that the soldiers recruited from the cities are invariably better endurers of hard campaigning than the soldiers recruited from the country districts. It might naturally be thought that countrymen, used to open-air work and hopping over furrowed fields, would prove themselves away ahead of the city lads when it came to keeping in line on forty-mile-a-day marches over western country, but the army surgeons say that the countrymen are the first to complain of sore feet and to cast their eyes longingly upon the wagons and ambulances at the rear. 'D'rather have command of a company of Bowery boys and city wharf-rats any time,' said one of the army surgeons to me not long ago, 'than a stout lot of big raw lads just out of farm school who are used to sore feet and don't appear to have the nerve to keep their heads closed about it and wait for their soreness to pass off, but they break for the sick report right away. The city lads get their teeth down hard and grin and bear it.'

"Aboard ship in the navy I've noticed ever since I first went to sea, which was a matter of nearly thirty years ago, when it came to keeping in line on long marches, the big fellows and smaller men is taken with the same trouble that ails the big man, the smaller chap invariably becomes convalescent long before the big man begins to men. "In cases where ships I have been attached to have been afflicted with epidemics and half a ship's company have gone down I've observed that the chances of the small men recovering have always been almost twice as great as the chances of the big men. This is particularly true of fevers that hit ships' companies in tropical waters. A large, heavy man is twice as liable to get the fever known as 'coast fever,' for example, as a small man, and he is twice as liable to die from it, too. For example, about fifteen years ago the old navy wind-jammer a big blue-jacket was working her way up the coast of Central America, when pretty nearly all hands got the coast fever. The big men were the first to get into the sick-bay, but the disease was of a peculiarly violent character on that occasion, and within a week after the disease came over the side about three-quarters of the ship's company, fore and aft, boys and men, were on the flat of their backs.

"The first men to die were the huge, knotty-muscled firemen. We lost half a dozen of them, and then the big down-east deck-hands—men that could handle a barrel of flour as easily as a washerwoman manipulates a flatiron—began to go. Very few of the small men died, although nearly all of them had the fever badly. Out of twenty-seven coal passers, boardlight were huge men, and the remaining nineteen were of ordinary size or under the ordinary size. Seven of the big coal passers had to be buried at sea, and not a man of the small lot went over the side with the shot tied to his feet. Among the officers of the navy, too, the same line of argument holds good. The small, trim officers of the navy are not

Weather Changes.

For the past month or two we have had such a spell of weather as people in this section of the country are seldom called upon to endure. It has been too hot to work and therefore there has been little demand for tools. We have sold a great many tools, but they have been chiefly the kind used for making hot weather refreshments, like Pickle, Ice Shavers, "Peelers" and "Aero-mills," Freezers, Lemon Squeezers, etc. These goods are still in demand, but there has been such a decided change in the weather that we have ventured to make a display of Mechanics' Tools in our show window. This display gives some idea of the very large line of these goods which we carry in stock, and prices will be found as low as those of any dealer in the State for goods of the same quality. MADISON NOTES. The whist party in behalf of the H. H. society is to be given in the Memorial hall on Wednesday evening of this week. As these parties are very popular a large number are expected. Many of the people visiting in town have already joined these parties. All are invited.

The republican caucus to appoint delegates to the several conventions will be held in Memorial hall next Monday evening.

Judge Edward Willard of Scranton, Pa., is spending a few days at his old home on Liberty street. His time is spent mostly fishing, which is one of his favorite sports.

Among the arrivals at the Hammonasset house on Saturday were W. Sheldon and son of New York city, Enoch S. Wood of Hartford, William Eddy and son, S. Zander, Julius Twiss, treasurer of the National Savings bank of New Haven, and T. J. Ackerman, William R. Mackay and family of the Silver Plate Co. of Meriden, Conn.; H. S. Ashton of Buffalo, Robert Godson of New York. About seventy-five now are stopping at the hotel.

George Lausett and family of New York, who have occupied the Dowd cottage the past season, leave this week for home. Mr. Lausett, who is a member of the Daly Theater Co., has made many friends and acquaintances who will be glad to see him next summer in Madison.

Workmen have commenced the erection of a large boarding house to be erected on Waterbury avenue to be opened early next spring. The owners are from Bristol, R. I.

A large number of private guests were entertained all along the shore over Sunday, thus showing the popularity and good will of the people that are spending the summer here. A large number have already made arrangements for next year.

W. S. Hollingsworth of New York entertained a large party over Sunday. His cottage is one of the pleasantest on the shore.

Mr. Norton of Middletown, who has the Newworth cottage this summer, caught the largest blackfish so far this season on Saturday on a reef. It weighed eight pounds.

Blackfish are quite plentiful and some large catches are being made. A musical entertainment is to be given in the chapel parlors this evening for the benefit of the library. Miss Myra Crutenden of Washington will assist.

WILD CARROTS.

They Are Growing in Great Abundance This Year—The Law Quoted.

The growth of wild carrots this year has been very abundant. This fact is owing to the unusually heavy rainfall this summer. Though it is said that the growth of the weed is more abundant in Litchfield county than in any other county of the state, there is not a county but that has a crop that is a source of great annoyance to the farmers.

There is a law on the statute books that is calculated to prevent the growth of wild carrots and other weeds. It was passed some years ago at the instance of the farmers themselves and for their protection, yet they are the violators of it. The law reads as follows:

Section 1574. "Every owner or possessor of lands shall cut down all wild carrots and Canada thistles growing thereon, or in the highway adjoining, so often as to prevent their going to seed; and upon failure so to do, any person aggrieved, or any citizen of the town wherein the lands are situated, may complain to any grand juror of said town, who shall thereupon forthwith notify such owner or possessor of such complaint. And said grand juror shall be paid for such service from the treasury of the town ten cents for each mile of travel in giving notice. And if said owner or possessor shall neglect to comply with the provisions of this section, he shall be fined not more than five dollars, nor less than one dollar, for each and every neglect after said notice. And the expense of the grand juror who served the notice shall be included in the costs of the prosecution."

It will be seen that the law holds the farmer responsible not only for the wild carrots growing on his land, but for those that may be growing on the adjoining highway. Highway Commissioner James H. Macdonald, who travels all over the state inspecting roads, sees more wild carrots growing in fields and on the sides of highways than any other person. He is of the opinion that if a determined effort was made to observe the law in the different towns the state would soon be rid of the wild carrot nuisance.

NEW HAVEN DELEGATES.

The Letter Carriers' National Convention.

Beginning on Monday, September 5, and continuing for the remainder of the week, the National Association of Letter Carriers will hold its annual convention in Toledo, O. The delegates from this city are James Murphy, Edward Coogan and Christopher Saunders of the local association. The delegates will start the latter part of the week.

The national association is the legislative body for the great army of letter carriers throughout the country. Its membership numbering one thousand on a basis of representation of one delegate for every twenty members in the several branches. The only questions of moment scheduled for the convention this year are the regulations covering the mortuary benefit organization of the association, and the question of holding state convocations. Instead of national conventions each year.

MERCHANTS' DAY. At Savin Rock Yesterday—Features of the Day. Merchants' day was celebrated yesterday at Savin Rock. It was the first day of the kind, but will be repeated next year and will become an annual feature of the Rock. Frank Wilcox, chairman of the committee in charge, had made a strong effort to have a successful day and was pleased with the result. The colored troupe in the grove played their afternoon performance before a large crowd. On the ball grounds the shore front and grove teams struggled over the deciding game, each team having won one of the previous contests. After the smoke of the battle had cleared away, it was discovered that the shore nine had won by the score of 13-4. Malone of the State league umpired the game. After the game a number of athletic sports were held, which proved to be exciting and amusing. The wheelchair race was not as popular as some of the others and drew only two entries. The race was won by Jack Dwyer, who received a box of cigars for his prize. There were ten entries in the potato race, first prize in which was a gold chain and pocket watch. Ed Seery won this race. The race which made the hit of the day and caused an unusual amount of amusement was the pie eating contest. One white and three colored men entered and started to devour whortleberry, blackberry, raspberry and cherry pies. One colored man started in with a rush, but soon retired, knocked out by sickness. A little pickaninny, who had the sympathy of the crowd, ate well and finished second. The white man caused much amusement by pushing the pie to the edge of the table with his nose and stooping down on his knees to eat it there. The winner, Charles Harmon, first ate the top crust and then the sides and finally the bottom crust. He was rewarded by receiving a dollar in gold and a pair of silver sleeve buttons. George Damon won the sack race from four others, and secured a silver headed cane. The three-legged race was won by Robert McDonald and Edwin Raffie, each of whom received a handsome briarwood pipe. Ten entries were made in the greased pole contest. John Welsh of 485 Columbus avenue and Michael Hurley of 482 Columbus avenue tied for first place. Each received a silver dollar. There were over twenty entries in the shoe tying contest. Each boy took off his shoes and all were thrown into a barrel and then tossed about and dumped out. At a signal the boys started from a distance and each selected his own shoes from the heap put there on. The winner, Joe Austin, received two pairs of sleeve buttons. In the evening the merchants illuminated their places of business with lanterns and the grove was brilliant with the display of electric designs of different colors. The electric fountain will add to the beauty of the scene. Atwater's orchestra furnished music during the afternoon and evening. The prize waits in the evening attracted a great amount of attention and many entries.

ELKS' DAY. To-day's is Elks' day at Savin Rock and visitors are expected from Bridgeport, Torrington, Waterbury, New London, Meriden, and Hartford. The New Haven and Waterbury lodges will play their second game of the year. They are to play for the silver cup offered three years ago. NATIONAL TYPOTHETA. Wilson H. Lee Returns from Milwaukee—His Work in Behalf of New Haven. Wilson H. Lee of the firm of Price, Lee & Adams, compositors and printers, returned yesterday from Milwaukee, where he attended the sessions of the National Typothetae. Mr. Lee represented the Connecticut Typothetae. He was accompanied by Mr. Adams, his associate in business, and by E. H. Parkhurst of the E. B. Sheldon company, who represented the New England Electrotypes. For several years Mr. Lee has been indefatigable in his efforts to have the presidency of the national organization conferred upon a New Haven man and he has been successful. Last Wednesday, when the annual election of officers was held, C. S. Morehouse, of the firm of Tuttle, Morehouse & Taylor, was chosen to be president. Mr. Lee is said to be quite enthusiastic over his victory, as he is quite confident that this election will be a great advertising card for New Haven. The national meeting is extensively advertised and is largely attended. All printing establishments as well as other business houses are sure to receive a benefit from the sessions of the national organization which will be held here next August.

Financial. The Stock Market. New York, Aug. 29.—Prices of stocks broke sharply to-day and showed depression throughout. The first rally showed considerable vigor, but later in the day the recuperative power of the market became more feeble and the close was barely steady at slightly above the lowest. Net losses ranged from 1 to over 2 per cent. in almost all leading stocks. There was a growing disposition to realize profits both by professional traders and by outside holders. The latter was shown by the steady stream of selling orders that came from the commission houses all day. Professional traders quite generally took the short side of the market and the bears sold with growing confidence, the demand to cover at the close being very light even with the substantial reduction of prices. There is evidence of a large growth of the powerful trading element which has lightened its holding of stocks and is anxious for lower prices to buy back again. There was manipulation at the opening to fix a lower level of prices. The some of the leading stocks the opening was about the lowest of the day. Others held quite firmly for the greater part of the day's session, but eventually yielded to the persistent demonstration of the bears in other stocks. Buying for the London account was a distinctive factor in the firmness in a number of international favorites, notably Southern preferred, Erie first preferred, Denver preferred and Norfolk and Western preferred. There was a steady absorption of stocks at the decline, which was especially marked in Burlington and St. Paul. This seemed to be the result of buying orders below the level of the market for traders' account as well as from commission houses. The same thing was evident in the Pacific and other stocks here and there throughout the list. The tendency to sell was undoubtedly due to the prospects of tight money. The minimum rate for call loans was held at 2 per cent. and 3 per cent. was paid in some cases. In sympathy with the money market and with the increasing supply of grain and cotton bills, actual rates for sterling exchange declined 1/2 cent in the pound. The London money market was marked up a sharp fraction to-day and there was buying of more notes than that in stocks. Some of the speculative bonds that have been recent favorites showed marked reactions and heaviness predominated in all issues. Total sales $3,725,000. Unsettled States 3 1/2 per cent. declined to 3 1/2 in the bid price and 3/4 on actual transactions. The new 4 1/2 coupon sold at 126 3/4, a decline of 3/4, but the closing bids excepting for the 3 1/2 were unchanged.

Brief Notes.

High water to-day, 10:19 p. m. Two-family house $2,600—R. E. Baldwin J. Bernstein, salesman at Howe & Stetson's, and wife, are taking an extensive trip through the country. Dr. and Mrs. Frank H. Wheeler of Crown street are the happy parents of a fine boy, who arrived at their home yesterday. Steamer 6 responded to a still alarm at 34 Newhall street yesterday, where the chimney of George W. Griffith's house was in a blaze. No damage was done. Mrs. Foster, president of the W. R. C. of Admiral Foote post, is quite ill at her home, 220 Howard avenue. Her recovery is hoped for by her many friends. Thaddeus S. Coleman of 272 Ferry street returned last night after a pleasant vacation at South Kent. Mrs. Coleman, her son Donald and her mother, Mrs. Dowd, will return Thursday. John McKay, secretary of the English & Mersick Co., and family, have been sojourning for some time in a cottage by the sea at Mansfield grove, and will return to their city home in a few days. A fine concert will be given at the Morris Cove chapel to-morrow night, the 31st, for the benefit of the chapel organization. Mrs. Frank Reynolds, a fine singer of Hartford, who is stopping for the summer at the Pequot, will assist and Miss Holbrook and Miss Grace Holbrook will be the pianists. R. C. Hart will recite and others will participate. Miss Emma Hart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hart of Whalley avenue, who has been visiting Mrs. Stephens, her aunt, Mr. Hart's sister, in Cobourg, Can., will return home this week. The young lady reports having had a delightful time in her majesty's Canadian dominions. Mrs. Stephens has been sojourning in Cobourg for the last three months. Patrick Lee of this city, whose parents reside on East street, near Beach street, is in town on a seven days' furlough. He has an excellent position on the United States steamship San Francisco. His boat is at Norfolk, Va. He is in fine health. He brings along a photograph of himself and his ship. He is represented as standing on guard over a hole made in the ship by a Spanish shell. He has seven months more to serve and intends to re-enlist for three years more. He is warmly greeted by his many friends. This is his second visit home since he enlisted twenty-seven months ago. His father is one of the musicians of the Second Regiment band.

SAVIN ROCK.

Notwithstanding the fact that all the theaters are open the public still look for amusement at the shore, as was evinced yesterday afternoon when the large and spacious enclosure was packed to such an extent that it necessitated the help of several employees of the Winchester avenue railroad to place more seats in and around the enclosure to accommodate the large crowds anxious to see Gorman's Alabama Troubadours, who present one of the finest and strongest bills of the season. They shown the southern darkey from the plantation up to the present day and while doing so introduce several pleasing and catchy melodies, such as are heard on the plantations, and the cake walk proved one of the best features, for the dusky belles and beaux strive hard to win the prize. Two performances daily will be given during the week and no one should miss seeing this great aggregation of colored artists.

LIGHTHOUSE POINT.

That impressive pomp and circumstance of war the impregnable battery defense of New Haven at the Point—made fair to become a reminiscent example of the wild wasteful extravagance of war since the czar of all the Russias has seen fit to twine the olive branch of peace in his regal crown. This notice of the czar is too sudden, however, for the Point to abandon that auxiliary of battle campaigns, the balloon. As Professor La Ronx, the great American aeronaut, had already completed his preparations to make an ascension daily at the Point at 4:45 p. m. till further notice. To-day his pet goose, Sagasta, makes the ascension with him. The goose will hang very high at the Point, therefore, this afternoon, making his descent alone safely. Professor La Ronx offers a prize of $1 to the person who catches and returns the goose to him.

BASEBALL.

National League. Pittsburgh, Aug. 29.—Tannehill had his fatal lining in the fourth, when six hits and two errors won the game for Boston. Score: Pittsburgh... 1 0 0 0 0 0 1 0-2. Boston... 7 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-8. Hits—Pittsburg 8, Boston 12. Errors—Pittsburg 2, Boston 1. Batteries—Tannehill and Shriver; Lewis and Bergen.

AT ROCHESTER.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 29.—The Grooms had on a batting streak to-day and found Jones and Wilson easy. The errors were numerous and costly on both sides. Attendance 600. Score: Rochester... 0 1 3 0 3 2 1 0-12. Cleveland... 0 0 1 0 2 2 0 0-7. Hits—Brooklyn 15, Cleveland 8. Errors—Brooklyn 4, Cleveland 4. Batteries—Kennedy and Ryan; Jones, Wilson and Criger.

AT CHICAGO.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—The Orphans' winning streak was checked to-day by Rustie's grand pitching. Thornton was also in great form and both teams put up a perfect fielding game. Attendance 4,400. Score: Chicago... 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-1. New York... 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 1 0-2. Hits—Chicago 2, New York 4. Errors—Chicago 0, New York 0. Batteries—Thornton and Donohue; Rusie and Grady.

AT LOUISVILLE.

Louisville, Aug. 29.—The Colonels took the third straight from the Senators to-day. Dineen was touched up rather lively, while Cunningham had the Senators at his mercy. Attendance 500. Score: Louisville... 3 0 0 0 1 1 1 2 8-8. Washington... 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0-1. Hits—Louisville 11, Washington 7. Errors—Louisville 2, Washington 4. Batteries—Cunningham and Kittridge; Dineen and Farrell.

AT CINCINNATI.

Cincinnati, Aug. 29.—The Reds gained what seemed to be a winning lead in the eighth, but the Phillies pounded Damman in the ninth and won out. Attendance 1,800. Score: Cincinnati... 0 0 0 1 0 1 5 0-7. Philadelphia... 0 0 0 0 4 0 0 4-8. Hits—Cincinnati 12, Philadelphia 10. Errors—Cincinnati 2, Philadelphia 1. Batteries—Damman, Breitenstein and Peitz; Donahue and Murphy.

State League.

Danbury, Aug. 29.—Bridgeport and Danbury played two games this afternoon. The first game lasted eleven innings and was finally won by the "Hatters" by the score of 2 to 1. The second game resulted in a row, in which stones and fists played a prominent part. Fred McGarr had given Danbury McGarr permission to call the second game at 5:45 so the Bridgeport team could catch a train. At the end of the seventh inning the score stood 6 to 5 in favor of the visitors. In the eighth inning Bridgeport went to the bat first and played their half of the inning without scoring. Danbury then went in for their half, but with one man out the umpire called the game, as it was 5:45. This gave the game to Bridgeport and was the signal for the trouble to begin. There were about 1,000 people in the grand stand and nearly the whole crowd made a rush onto the field and surrounded Empire McGarr and the visiting players. In the mix-up that followed McGarr was struck several times. Several police officers rescued him and escorted him to the dressing room, but the crowd was not contented and several hundred people waited for McGarr and the Bridgeport players to again make their appearance. When they did appear they hurriedly boarded a car for Bethel amid a shower of stones, apples and nearly everything the crowd could lay hold of. The next time the Bridgeports play here they probably will be accompanied by a detail from the Rough Riders. The score: Bridgeport... 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0-1. Danbury... 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 1-2. Hits—Bridgeport 6, Danbury 7. Errors—Bridgeport 2, Danbury 4. Batteries—Giblin and O'Rourke; Morris and Phelps.

Second game:

Bridgeport... 0 0 0 2 4 0 0 0 0-6. Danbury... 1 1 1 0 2 0 0 0-5. Hits—Bridgeport 9, Danbury 7. Errors—Bridgeport 2, Danbury 4. Batteries—Dunleavy, Giblin and O'Rourke; Cain, Crawford and Phelps. *Game called in second half of eighth inning to allow Bridgeport to catch a train. Danbury had one man out.

AT WATERBURY.

Waterbury, Aug. 29.—Meriden had a streak of hitting this afternoon and experienced very little trouble in defeating the home team. Mansfield for Waterbury was touched up for twelve with a total of thirteen hits, giving the lead to the visitors. Meriden took the leading on the start and was never headed. Waterbury made quite a spurt in the eighth inning, but could not tie the score. Fred McGarr, who pitched for Meriden, was also hit well, but he managed to keep the hits scattered. The score: Meriden... 1 0 0 2 0 0 2 3 0-8. Waterbury... 0 1 0 0 0 1 0 3 0-5. Hits—Meriden 12, Waterbury 10. Errors—Meriden 3, Waterbury 3. Batteries—McGee and Theisen; Mansfield and J. Connor.

TENNIS.

Miss Atkinson Defeats Miss Wimer. Queens Royal, Niagara, Ont., Aug. 29.—The championship round of the ladies' singles in the international tennis tournament was finished here this morning. On Saturday darkness had stopped the match between Miss Juliette Atkinson, the champion, and Miss Marie Wimer, the challenger, at the point score one set all and the match was continued this morning. Miss Atkinson won the next two sets and match and the international trophy presented by George E. Moore of Brooklyn. Score: Ladies' singles, championship round: Miss Juliette Atkinson, Brooklyn, beat Miss Marie Wimer, Washington, 19-5, 7-9, 6-4, 6-3.

A CENTURY RUN.

The Meriden Wheel club had a "century run" to Southport last Sunday. Messrs. Fidler, Curtis, Wood, Minkwuz, Allen and Grant left the club house at 7 a. m. They reached Savin Rock at 8:30, and Southport about an hour later. Dinner was had at Bridgeport and the party arrived at Meriden about 5:30 p. m. The roads were in excellent condition and a hot pace was kept up during the entire journey.

MEDALS FOR PACEMAKERS.

Wheel Club Riders Rewarded By Mrs. Allen. W. B. Allen, Arthur Underwood, Hal Brainard and A. M. Curtis, the four Wheel club riders, who paced Mrs. A. M. C. Allen from New Haven to Hartford in her great record ride from New York to Boston, have received handsome gold and enamel medals from Mrs. Allen, in recognition of their excellent pacemaking in her behalf. The medals make very pretty souvenirs of this memorable ride.

THE NEW FUTURE FOR AMERICANS.

The question of what new territory and what increase of responsibilities the close of the war may bring is one that concerns the women of the country quite as much as the men, for whatever new lands we undertake to govern, some Americans will have to live in, and not only American men, but American women. We have annexed Hawaii, and of course our army and navy will have to be represented there, and the wives of officers will make their homes there for longer or shorter terms, as they do now in the army posts of the West. So it will be in Puerto Rico, so for a time at least in Cuba, and so in the Philippines, unless we manage to escape the charge of those uncomfortable islands. There are new experiences in sight for many American women—new opportunities, new duties, and new trials and separations. Perhaps there is in store for American mothers that desolating experience which English women in India have so long had to endure—the parting from young children sent home from tropical countries to grow up and be educated at home.—Harper's Bazar.
