DISCUSSION OF MEASURE CON-TINUED IN THE SENATE.

Senator Turple Denounced Maritime Canal Company as the Most Venomous and Effective Opponent of a Real Canal Enterprise-Its Scheme One of Confiscation-A Canal from the Treasury to the Empty Coffers of the "Beggarly Corporation" Its Aim He Charges.

Washington, Dec. 13 .- To-day's session of the senate was largely consumed in the discussion of the Nicaragua canal bill. The measure was called up heap to one side. The giant uprights by Senator Morgan at 2 p. m. and at his request a communication was read from Minister Merry, transmitting the remonstrance of the United States to the president of Nicaragua against any change in the status of the canal matplaced at $30,000. It is feared that all ter and also a statement from Hon. W. H. Grace, chairman of the executive committee of the syndicate which has recently obtained an option on the The downtown district suffered right of way across Nicaragua in opposition to the Maritime Canal company's enterprise.

Mr. Turple addressed the senate upon the Nicaragua bill, saying that no one could excel him in zeal in advocating the isthmian canal, but while he saw the vast advantages of the proposed waterway he was also fully aware of return to the method of setting type by the difficulties of putting the plan for a canal into execution. He was not opposed to the canal as much as he was erated to heat the metal and the work opposed to the scheme of the Maritime Canal company and he denounced that company as the most venomous and effective opponent of a real canal enterprise. He did not believe it possible for that company, with its bad odor, to construct the canal, and he held that the Maritime company should get out of Rev. Wm. Haligan, for many years of the way of the genuine canal enterscheme of confiscation. The object of United States and the empty coffers of that beggarly corporation." Mr. Turple asserted that the government could not lawfully guarantee the Maritime company's bonds as proposed. The case was not parallel to that of the Pacific Railroad company, as in those cases the bonds were made directly payable to the company. As to the possibility of foreign jealousy operating to prevent the construction of the canal by this government, Mr. Turpie clared that there was no civilized nation that would not be pleased to see the canal constructed. The Maritime company had been guilty of innumerable frauds, but even if it had not, he would not support the pending bill because of the failure to provide for th ownership of the canal by the United States to construct the canal.

Mr. Turple renewed his plea for s postponement of the question until the Nicaragua canal commission should re-port. He said he had favored the appointment of this commission because he knew no commission could report in favor of the Maritime company. Information was wanted on three points, of the feasibility, time and expense and the senate had a right to this information before acting upon the bill. Turple closed for the day with a motion for a postponement of further consideration of the bill until January 10, by which time the report of the commission would be received.

Mr. Morgan antagonizing the motion, pleading for the continuation of the debate saving there were many points which light could be thrown by the Walker report. He denied that the maritime company had ever applied to the United States for assistance but on the other hand, the application had been only concession. He declared, in answer to a suggestion by Mr. Turple, that it would never be possible to get an agr ment binding the United States, Nicaragua and Costa Rica, because of Costa Rica's suspicions of Nicarago Costa Rica knew perfectly well that Nicaragua was desirous of nothing so much as the downfall of Costa Rica cessions and when Mr. Turple interrup ted him with his statement that this was not an explanation of amity wards Nicaragua he retorted that Mr. Turple was growing sentimental on the subject. He declared that Mr. Grace's purpose in getting a new contract was to build a canal but to own it, to hold up the government. He denounced this concession as "a rascally con-Mr. Grace had called on him twice in one day without being invited and had money to build the canal from L ing and was there a senator who would be willing to see the canal placed und the control of foreigners. The senate at 5 o'clock went into executive session and at 5:55 p. m. adjourned.

Washington, Dec. 13.-The house today passed the District of Columbia appropriation bill without a single amendment. The national disease of Americans is Indigestion or in its chronic form, dyspepsia, and for the very reason that it charged with neglecting to send their is so common many people neglect tak- children to school. The cases were coning proper treatment for what they consider trifling stomach trouble, when as a matter of fact, indigestion lays the foundation for many incurable dis-eases. No person with a vigorous, healthy stomach will fall a victim to consumption. Many kidney discases and heart troubles date their beginning from poor digestion; thin, nervous people are really so because their stom-achs are out of gear; weary, languid, faded out women owe their condition to imperfect indigestion.

When nearly every person you meet is afflicted with weak digestion it is not surprising that nearly every secret patent medicine on the market claims to be a cure for dyspepsia, as well as a score of other troubles, when in fact, as Dr. Werthier says, there is but one genuine dyspepsia cure which is perfeetly safe and reliable, and moreover, this remedy is not a patent medicine, scientific combination of pure pepsin (free from animal matter). vegetable essences, fruit, salts and bis-It is sold by druggists under muth. name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. PROPERTY ATTACHED FOR $30,000 In a Suit Brought Against Edward E. Bristol.

Property on Court sireet, Wooster street, Clark street and Crown street, belonging to Edwad E. Bristol, was attached yesterday for $30,000 in a suit brought against Mr. Bristol by Hermonia E. Lyon, in which damages to the amount of $25,000 are claimed. The plaintiff is a daughter-in-law of the late Dr. Lyon. In the complaint it is alleged that on September 20, 1397, the plaintiff was residing with Mr. Bristol and that he was her confidential advisor in whom she placed great trust and whose advice she was accustomed to accept. At that time her property was held in trust for her by General S. E. Merwin, who under the terms of the trust was directed to sell the property when opportunity offered and turn over the proceeds to Mrs. Lyon. It is then alleged in the complaint that on September 29, 18-7, the plaintiff gave Mr. Bristol $18.- by Rev. George Dougherty, mas'er 000 with which to buy the property in his own name, the agreement being ten; and there were present in the that Mr. Bristol was to transfer the property to her when she demandel such trans er. It is further alleged that on October 11, 1897, the defendant Yesterday Judge Studley decided that brought to the plaintiff a paper for her deed. She also alleges that on October 22, 1897, she had $4,000 in different savings banks and that the defendant told her that he could get a better rate of interest than that what she was reelving and on that representation she drew out the $4,000 and turned it over to him, he giving her what she supposed to be his note, but which later was found to be a note signed by E. S. Button, a person to the plaintiff unknown. In conclusion it is alleged in the complaint that the property purchased from the trustee was not transferred to

ADJOURNED MEETING OF YALE CORPORATION HELD YESTERDAY.

Resolutions Eulogistic of the Revered and Distinguished President Dwight Adopted-Resignation Takes Effect at End of the Current Academic Year- Miss Annie Olmstead. Minute in Reference to Professor Brush Also Adopted-Other Business.

At an adjourned meeting of the Yale nation of President Dwight was accepted by the adoption of the following report of a committee appointed on November 17:

The committee to which the president's letter of resignation was referred by the corporation respectfully reports, recommending the adoption of the fol- later. lowing preamble and resolutions:

Whereas, at a meeting of the corpor ation held November 17, 1898, the revered and distinguished president of the university, in a written communication, laid before it the resignation of his office, to take effect at the end of the current academic year, in view of the fact that he had reached the age of seventy years and had long set for himself that limit to his administration;

And Whereas, urgent representations on the part of the corporation and of its committee have failed to persuade him to postpone, as the fellows would unanimously desire, the date at which he proposed that his resignation should take effect:

Therefore, Resolved: That the corporation, in deference to President Dwight's matured decision and the reasons for it existing in his own mind, reluctantly accepts his resignation in accordance with its terms.

Resolved, further: That in the judgment of the corporation, the administration of President Dwight has abundantly vindicated the wisdom of those who, twelve and a half years ago, at a critical moment in the history of this institution, called him to undertake it, and it will be a memorable period of that history in all future time. Entering upon his office just as the transition be used to make a joyous Christmas from college to university became an for them at the Bathel December 28 will accomplished fact, he has guided the be gratefully received. Nor do these figures more than proportionately indicate the advances which have been made in all directions.

In the progress thus exhibited, the personal character and personal service of President Dwight have been a most significant factor, and with noteworthy disinterestedness and devotion he himself has given to the university considerably more than $100,000, or more than twice the amount of the remuneration to which his office was entitled,

The members of the corporation, in this retrospect, mindful with all of the many years in which Dr. Dwight was a diligent, a scholarly and a sympathetic instructor, and of the grateful remembrance in which he is held by his students, find it difficult adequately to express their appreciation of his efforts in behalf of the various departthe university or their sonal regard for him. They desire. however, to place upon their records and to give to the alumni and the pullic at least this testimony to what he has accomplished, in justice to themselves, to the several faculties, and to commonwealth, in the midst of which be has lived and wrought a great public service with eminent integrity, fidelity, and success. Into the well-carned retirement which he has chosen there will follow him the heartfelt wish of them all that his remaining days may be tranquil, that his life may be prolonged, that he may richly enjoy every possible recompense of an honored and useful career.

The following minute was also adopted in reference to the resignation of Professor Brush:

This body receives and accepts, with profound regret, the resignation of Professor George J. Brush as director of the Sheffield Scientific school. In so doing, however, it desires to put on record its regard for him as a scholar. as a teacher, and as a man, and furthermore its appreciation of the great work which he has accomplished during his long term of service. From the date of his induction into his professorship in 1855, he has given himself up, with untiring energy, to the cause of education in this institution, and has brought to its service both scientific and pression on his face told him he had business qualifications of the highest expected much lighter punishment. order. It is to his unwearied and unselfish efforts that the department of the university of which he has been the head owes largely its development and prosperity. The success that has crowned his efforts is as visible to all as it is gratifying to us, and must be to him: for it is seldom the case that it is permitted to any one to witness dur ing his own lifetime results so conspicuous, of ability, energy, and unswerving devotion to a high ideal. The Scientific school, which owes so much to him for its present flourishing condition, is a monument of his labors that speaks more strongly than can any words of ours; yet we should feel that we had been unfaithful to our own convictions, if we did not ourselves bear testimony to the unselfishness, the zeal and the efficiency which he has uniformly displayed during his more than forty years' connection with the university. Our good wishes will continue to follow him in his retirement, attended with the hope and belief that the inspiration which has enabled him to accomplish so great results with of the grape-sugar which results from means so inadequate will remain with preparing the starchy parts of the those who succeed to his cares and rethose who succeed to his cares and responsibilities.

This story comes from Devonshire, England. A village artist and sculptor. who lately was commissioned to redecorate the interior of a small village church, upon being asked by the irate vicar why in the world he had represented the cherubim and the seraphim with great tears rolling down their plaster cheeks, replied, with child-like simplicity, that according to his praver book both the cherubim and the seraphim were wont to cry continually.

Consul Pirie of Munich advises American traveling agents in Germany to discard American methods in dealing with buyers. Engagements should be made ahead, as access to buyers is much more difficult than in America. An admission that the buyer "knows it all" is a trump card. There is a large business in the manufacturing centers in iron fittings, engineers' sunplies, etc. In southern Germany the market is good for boots and shoes, labor-saving machinery of all kinds, and chairs, particularly rocking chairs. The consul says he has not seen one of the limit the membership to one hundred latter in the city.

A complicated situation can sometimes be much simplified by an apology. It is related that two leading teetotal lights of Kirkaldy, Scotland, were returning not long ago from a highly successful temperance meeting and managed to get upset. The local editor observed in his report that "fortunately both gentlemen were sober at the time." They did not appreciate this tribute, and a strong letter was written to the editor. The next issue contained this apology: Messrs. ---- and

THE TROUBLE IN HAVANA.

More trouble in Havana, which is not at all surprising. It is surprising that the change which is going on in Cuba is going on with so little friction. The Brooklyn, Texas, Castine and Resolute have been ordered to Havana, and of the city. The trouble yesterday was an accompaniment of the funeral of disturbance Sunday night.

Of course it will take time and patience and perhaps some severity to thoroughly pacify Cuba. The Spaniards there don't feel good and perhaps some of the Cubans feel too good. But they must not and will not be allowed to kill each other. There has been enough bloody work in Cuba during the last few years. It is now time for peace and a reasonable regard for human life and

UNLIMITED.

It is not to be "Sons of the Revolution, Limited." At the meeting of the Sons of the Revolution at the New Haven House yesterday the scheme to and fifty was unanimously voted down. So anybody who is a true son of the Revolution can be made a Son of the Revolution without regard to whether he is the one hundred and fiftieth or the one hundred and fifty-first. This is right, and in accordance with the principles of freedom and equality for which the Fathers of the Revolution fought and bled. The only aristocracy which the Sons of the Revolution should seek to establish should be an aristocracy of patriotism and character worthy of themselves and of the Fathers of the Revolution.

So it will not be necessary now to start The Society of the Sons of Adam,

CAMP SONGS AND CALLS.

"On Monday a long, lean, slab-sided Georgia hog inadvertently strayed into the New York camp, and the soldlers immediately gave chase," writes Will Chamberlin, one of northwest Missouri's gailant soldier boys. "The frightened brute made a run for his life, and as he was close to the line would probably have made a 'get-away' had he not fallen into the Missouri well, from which he was rescued by two or three Missourians and carried in triumph body else has done in dealing with such past the sweating New Yorkers. The pig was taken to Company G and put in a tent to cool off and be kept out of sight. After a while the owner showed up and wanted to make trouble. The last I heard the farmer and the hog were in the guardhouse, and the officers were trying to find out the authors of the mischief. In the forenoen Company G men were calling 'Who got the pig?' and would then answer, 'Company,G': then 'Who's all right?' answer, 'Company G.' In the evening after the taken a hand in the game, some one in another company would shout 'Who stole the hog?' followed by the answer. 'Company G': then 'Who had to give him up?' and all over our camp, over in New York, way down in Maryland and out in Nebraska regiments you could hear the refrain 'Company G.' G had nothing to say. It was not their evening to talk. Everybody is tired of bacon. It's all right for a while, but when you get a great big piece for each meal, fat and greasy, and have to eat it or do without, it bears out the maxim that 'familiarity breeds contempt,' so when a wagon loaded with fresh beef drove up in front of the commissary department the other morning it was received with cheers. Cries of 'Beef! beef! beef!' and 'Throw the sowbelly in the creek' could be heard all over the camp.

"The men carry wood to the 'had a good home and I left, left,' or 'left a wife and sixteen children, left, etc. The left comes when they step out with the left foot, you understand. The men detailed to dig ditches, etc., are constantly greeted with Soldier, will you wor? Sold er, will you work?" The ludicrous sticks out everywhere, but plenty of the serious and pathetic shows up to remind us that life is real and that this job is not all a picule. Once in a while you see a man open a little ye'low Union envelope, stand and stare, or lean against a tree as if were stunned, or some one handed the minous black-bordered envelope stand and look at the ill omen before opening it as if to put off the bad news as long as possible. The Vermon was a threemaster, which did a tramp business, Built in Buffalo in 1850, she was for many years regarded as one of the best craft on the lakes. Late in the fell about fifteen years ago, she unloaded a cargo of grain in Buffalo, and reloaded with package freight for Chicago. She was about to sail one rough November night. Just before the lines were let off, one of the seamen saw a rat run over the hawsers to the wharf. In a moment another was seen. The seaman called others of the crew to see the unusual sight. Between fifty and seventy-five rats poured out of the ship and took refuge along the wharf. The crew refused to sail but the captain the best at any price was obstinate, shipped a fresh crew and sailed forthwith. The ship was ost with all hands. The Idaho, a fine passenger steamer, foundered in Lake Erie in November, 1897. Out of her crew of twenty-one men nineteen were drowned. Just before the vessel left her moorings a swarm of rats crawled over the hawsers to the wharf. This vas known to part of the crew, and four men deserted at the last moment. Similar stories are told of other wrecked vessels, and an old lakeman says; "It has been proved a hundred There are a whole lot of things in this world that we don't know anything about. Rats live in the very fibres of a ship. They see what we can't see. When the timbers are hollowed and the seams open, these little animals know that the ship is unsafe, and they desert it."-Household

NO IMPORTANT CHANGES

Will be Recommended by Special Com-mittee in Regard to Estimates. The special joint committee of the court of common council appointed to consider the list of appropriations recconsider the list of appropriations recommended by the board of finance, met linst night to hold a public hearing. The only citizens who appeared to be heard was ex-Judge Rufus S. Pickett, who thought that a sufficient amount should be included in the appropriations to provide for street sprinkling during the coming summer. He said that the people of the city were astonished that an 18 mill tax had been recommended and were saying that it was no wonder an 18 mill tax would suffice if public necessities such as street sprinkling were to be cut off. He said that the people ity about equals the noted would rather pay more of a tax and "Wiesbaden preserves" of get their money's worth in public necessities and conveniences.

The committee went into executive session and discussed proposed changes in the estimates as presented by the board of finance, but decided upon no definite changes to recommend to the common council aside from the transfer of $600 from the contingent fund estimate to item for band concerts already voted upon. It is practically assured, however, that the committee will recommend the change of the item "crushed stone pavement, $7,500" to read "re-pair of streets, $7,500." No action was taken in regard to the request of President Ames of the fire board for an addition of $6,000 to the appropriation for the fire department. The committee will hold another meeting before the joint meeting of the aldermen and councilmen to be held Friday night to act upon the estimates. FOR STEALING SHOES. William Jackson was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Hackett for the theft of a pair of shoes from Herman Goldberg, a shoe merchant, on Congress avenue.

MR. JEFFERSON'S REMARKS ON LOWELL.

'A lady who attended the lecture delivered by the Rev. Charles E. Jefferson, D. D., president of the Union The ological seminary, New York, in the United church Sunday night on the subject, "James Russell Lowell as Seen in His Lectures and Poems," says of presence the attractive element of a melodious voice of rare carrying power. ship its own thought of God," he says. The lecture was an able and apprecia- Again, "Man cannot be God's outlaw if tive portraiture of the author of the "Bigelow Papers," and the audience paid the speaker the compliment of the most unwearled attention.

After touching upon the great poet as ways put his own personality into his writings, the speaker quoted Lowell as At that best academe, my mother's saying that every poem he wrote was to him a letter to all the persons he Thrice in my life have truly prayed held dear. Lowell, he said, like the Thrice, stirred below my conscious other five of the great New England poets-Longfellow, Holmes, Bryant, Emerson and Whittier-was first a preacher, then a poet. He loved the Nor know I which to hold worse enebeautiful, but he held it always in subjection to the law of righteousness. At the age of forty-one Lowell said he had preached enough to get down from the pulpit and go around among his parishioners, but, he added, that he could not for New England was all meetinghouse when I grew up."

Lowell, said the lecturer, was deeply religious by nature, yet he was not fond of going to church. At twentyfive, he said, "I am affected less by the outward forms of religion and more by a feeling of confidence in God," At fifty, "I take a great comfort in God; I think he likes us and would not let us get so often at the match-box were not his universe fire-proof." Of speculators in religious thought, he says: "When they tell me I can't know certain things, I ask them how they can certain chapters in the Old Testament for all that science tells me I can know. Lowell had no mercy on the modern writer who drags his readers down morally. "No one should write a line," he said, "that he should fear to have his daughter read."

At fifty-nine the faith of the man was strong, "Supposing we don't know," he said, "There is not much one does know, after all. One doubts one's own identity sometimes, and the very ground one walks on." Lowell said of himself that he combined two utterly distinct characters. Half of me is mystic and enthusiast and the other half is humorous." He was visited by visions, but he never carried his mystisism into the realm of superstition. With spirit-knockings and similar forms of "spiritualism" he had no sympathy. "I think God never takes needless trouble with us," he said. Many of Lowell's poems are saturated with the spirit of the gospel. A believer in Christ, he yet had little good to say of the visible church. He had zero. been disgusted with the coldness and impiety of the church of his youth. enthusiasm manifested over the project "The church," he said, "is the great of many a city out of Wallingford as bulwark of pracical Paganism which must be reformed." Slavery he considered a foul blot, a most terrible disease, an awful outrage, a most dangerous wrong. Back in '51 Lowell said, "Such an error as the slave law weighs me down without a bound and makes me unable to work well." Lowell has been boy to want to become a man. There accused of being an Anglo-manlac, a cynical, un-American pessimist. Yet when he was well off and could prevent from Europe he wrote "The more I see it he would hesitate before he rushed of the old world the more I like the into uncertain conditions of affairs and new." From Madrid he wrote, "I like be contented to walt awhile in that America better every day." He never state where his cares and anxieties are hesitated to criticise English pretense few. and snobbishness. And it was because he loved his own land that he never hesitated to criticise its mistakes.

"If I am not an American, whoever was," he exclaims, "but democracy itself is no more sacred than is monarchy. It is man that is sacred-his duties, his opportunities. It is not his rights which make man sacred. Let us all work together to make democracy possible. It is no invention to go by itself like perpetual motion."

The lecturer gave a delightful wordpicture of the influence for good which was exerted upon the character and writings of Lowell by Miss Maria White, whom he married. "The years from twenty-one to twenty-five, were the time when his nature ripened the most and when he was most prolific as a poet. He writes of her, "She fills my ideal; I mean to live as a man beloved by her should live." In March, 1844, they were married. In 1853 Mrs. Lowell died. He does not refer to her death in his letters.

Sorrow plays an important part in the development of our poet. In 1847 and Dr. Suilivan, a committee his little girl Blanche died. A little later he wrote the poem, "The First Snow-Fall." In the spring of 1850 his crest surrounded by thirteen stars and later he lost his little boy Walter and ion. The date has not been selected, the following year his wife died.

At twenty-two Lowell said, "I do not fear criticism, as I love truth." The ety's constitution limiting the member- great poem which embodies his love of ship in the state society to 150, was truth is "The Present Crisis." This defeated by a unanimous vote after a | was written when he was twenty-nine lively discussion as to the expediency and is as popular as any of his poems of the proposed limitation. During the It closes with the frequently-quoted who woud keep abreast of truth; president, Hon. Daniel N. Morgan of Lo! before us gleam her camp-fires; we ourselves must pilgrims be; Launch our Mayflower and steer boldly through the desperate winter sea." Next to love of right, said the speak r, we must place Lowell's love of nature. He loved it because it spoke to him of spiritual things, His love of country was great. Patriotism rose with him to the level of a passion. The greatest poem he ever wrote was the 'Commemoration Ode," which he read at the Harvard commencement, July 21, 1865. This poem begins on a high level, yet ascends higher and higher to

"Oh, beautiful, my country, ours once more; Smoothing thy gold of war-dishevelled

This poem expresses some it: "The speaker added to a scholarly thing of the religious belief of Lowell at fifty years. "Each age must wor-

He was so determined that the invention should be put to a practical test that he put all his own money into it, borrowed as much more as he could and when he needed more to finish the construction, he took other strenuous steps to obtain money enough to complete the Monitor. When the wonderful achievement of the Monitor was heralded through the world, Bushnell found it easy enough to take up his totes. His great service to his country and great self-sacrifice in performing it, will render his name immortal. He

Farmer Tarr Says the Cold Snap Will Last Several Days. Last night was the coldest thus far this season and if the prognostications of Farmer Tarr are to be relied upon, the worst is not yet. He said last night that the probabilities were that the cold spell would last for three or four days and that the thermometer would reach the lowest point either this morning or to-morrow morning. The area of the cold wave is of wide extent, from as far west as the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic scaboard, while the weather south is unusually cold for that section. There is freezing weather on the Gulf coast and has been for several days. The cold snap will be accompanied with clear weather and Mr. Tarr stated last night that no trace of snow was in Early last evening the thersight. mometer registered as low as 28 below zero in the northwest and the mercury was below zero through the lake region and Vermont. It was expected at the local weather bureau that it would reach zero in New Haven this morning. At 7:30 last night the mercury stood at 15 above, and at 10:30 at 10 above and at that hour it was falling.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE. One little ten-year-old boy will have a hole in his stocking as a result of an experience he had yesterday and should be thankful that his fortune was no worse. He was riding on a wagon on Chapel street yesterday afternoon when a jolt of the wagon, which was moving rapidly, threw him from his seat and one of his legs was caught between the spokes of one of the wheels. caught he was carried along with the wheel. Fortunately he was so small that his body passed between the wheel and the body of the wagon without catching. He was picked up and car-ried into Hull's drug store, where it was found that his injuries consisted of the hole in his stocking and the loss of considerable skin. Quite a crowd collected, but the boy was able to go on his way after a little evidently more affected with fear of what his parents would think of that hole in his hose than by the fact that he had had a narrow escape from a broken limb.

LAW AND ORDER LEAGUE

SEMI-ANNUAL MEETING HELD HERE YESTERDAY.

The League's Aims and Projected Work -Features of the Report of Secretary Thrasher-Gambling and Immoral Places-103 Cases Brought in the Last Six Months-Only One Acquittal.

A regular meeting of the board of directors of the Law and Order league was held in the league headquarters in the Benedlet building yesterday afternoon. Of those present were President George Austin of Woodstock, Vice President Rufus E. Holmes of Winsted, Secretary S. P. Thrasher, Treasurer Pierce N. Welch and George S. Palmer of Norwich.

The semi-annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were made and approved. Future plans were discussed. The league proposes to be prepared for any attempts that the enemy may make to orippie the work of the league. It is thought that an effort will be made to have a bill passed by the legislature which will change the laws in respect to the working of the league. The league proposes to prosecute their work with much vigor and energy.
In his report, Secretary Thrasher makes a detailed statement of some of the more important events in which the league has been conspicuous. He speaks of the work of the league in Chester, West Haven, Woodmont, Meadow's End and in Wallingford, He also says:

"Again, it has come to be recognized that the law enforcing machinery of the state is effectively alert wherever the Law and Order league is active. Well intentioned and efficient officials welcome the assistance which we give, while the corrupt and inefficient have wholesome fear of the expose which naturally follows any specific work on our part. So it is that no report, however explicit, can properly or fully set forth the worth of this organization to the people of this state, or to the state,

'A most pernicious form of gambling has sprung up in this state during the past few years. It is carried on by means of slot machines. The machines are expensive and intricate in mechanism, and are so constructed as to be enticing to the player and profitable to the keeper. Their possession is clearly an offense under the statutes. In many places their owners have been successfully prosecuted and the machines destroyed. Thirteen were destroyed by the New Haven police department a short time ago.

"We have been the means of causing the disuse of fourteen large machines during the period covered by this re-

"Our agents have investigated one hundred and twenty-two places at the request of citizens and officials. One hundred and three complaints have been issued at the instance of the league. Twenty-five raids have been made, resulting in the seizure of nearly nine hundred gallons of liquors, which have been destroyed as the law directs. The offenders have paid five thousand, five hundred and fifteen dollars in fines and forfeited bonds.

"It may be remarked with a degree of satisfaction, that of the one hundred and three cases brought into court at the instance of the league, during the period covered by this report, only one has resulted in acquittal. We have operated in nineteen different towns, and in nearly every instance have been results.

"In view of the foregoing record for so short a time, it would seem that we have not yet reached a point where we can in any way relax our vigilance or energetic efforts in behalf of law enforcement. We owe it to our constituents that we 'be not weary in wellbeing.' '

POLO.

New Haven Defeats Providence by the Score of 5 to 4.

Over eighteen hundred people went to Bowling hall last night and saw the Providence Grays conquered in one of the greatest polo games that has been witnessed for many a day. The crowd went in anticipation of seeing one of the best contests of the season, and in this they were not disappointed. Cunningham was absent from the ranks of the Grays, but his place was ably filled by Canavan, who played a game that was beyond criticism. Canavan's place was ably filled by Farrell, who played as he never played before, and along with Hefferman was in a great degree the means of keeping down the home team's score. Farrell also caged one goal for the visitors.

In the first period both teams played for all they were worth. New Haven had, if anything, the best of the play in this period, but Hefferman defied all the well directed efforts of Bone and Whiting to get the ball into the cage until Whiting caught the ball off Farrell's foot and poked it into the cage amid great applause.

In the second period the Blues started out in great shape and the Grays had they may feel assured of luxurious acto act on the defensive. After repeated efforts Whiting was rewarded with another goal. Two minutes later Bone was successful in again scoring with a beautiful back shot, which Hefferman seemed unable to stop. In less than ber shop, refreshment buffet, and a two minutes more Bone, who was working very hard all through the game, was rewarded with another goal by a quick drive from the side, for which he was roundly applauded. Just before the gong sounded Canavan passed the ball to Pierce. Lations tried to intercept Pierce, but "Dickey" caged the ball

The third period opened with Providence playing a very swift game. Farrell caged the next goal for the visitors. It was a clever play and he was roundapplauded. The home team took a trace, but Hefferman was a stone wall and the drives of Bone and Whiting availed nothing. Hefferman smiled as these two players were driving the ball at him. Pierce caged the next goal formation apply to ticket agents, or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant Genbe playing in his old form. score now stood a tie-4 to 4. With the commencing of the fourth period the most exciting part of the game was played. At one time the ome team would have the ball and against the visitors would have it. The ome players had it the majority of the ime, and they banged and banged at Hefferman, who simply grinned and ent the ball back. At last little "Billy" eydon drove one to Hefferman, which e was unable to stop and this ended the game with the score 5 to 4 in favor f the home team.

The features of the game were the goal tending of Hefferman, who is con-sidered the best goal tender in the business; the playing of the home team. especially the Bone and Leydon, and the playing of Pierce and Farrell for the visitors. The sumamry of the game

Every one remembers the magnificent passenger train which the Pullman Pal-Car Company exhibited at the World's Fair, Chicago, and subsequently at Atlanta, Nashville, and Omaha. By special arrangement the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has secured this model train for its personally-conducted tour to California. It will be the first trip the train has ever made in service, and as it will be the home of the tourists throughout the entire tour, commodations. The train is lighted by electricity, and is made up of composite. dining, sleeping, compartment, and library-observation cars. Among its conveniences are a bath room, bar-declined five points on reported demoralization in the sugar trade. In the carly dealings moderate fractional advances here followed the improvement in London, where the public were buyers of Americans. Subsequently stocks became quite reactive but sales, particularly in the standard stocks, were well taken on actual investment and semi-investment purchases and covering of short contracts. Rallies ensued, particularly among the early sufferers, and around delivery hour gains were considerable. The Atchison issues recently brought to the front by prominent interests were sustaining factors. The vulnerability of Sugar was largely responsible for the extreme irregularity of the market. The traders hammered alization in the sugar trade. In the

THE PUBLIC TO CHOOSE. In What Play Would You Prefer to See Modjeska!

'As most everyone is aware Madam Modjeska, possibly the greatest living exponent of the tragic drama, at least on the English speaking stage, is book-ed for an engagement in this city in the near future. Her manager anxious to make the event a popular as well as a profitable one, is desirous of learning the preference among local playgoers concerning the various plays in her repertoire this season. To this end he invites all intending patrons to send in their choice of plays; and the plays which receive the greatest number of votes will be duly presented. Modjes-ka's repertoire consists of the following dramas and tragedies: "Mary Stuart,"
"Magda," "Camille," "Antony and Cleopatra," "Macbeth," and "As You Like It." By mailing your selection to the manager of the theater it will be duly recorded and the advance representative of his arrival will be governed in making his announcements, by the Judge L. P. Deming to Lecture in Saybrook-Surprise Party Tendered Harold Kellogg-Quiet Wedding To-day of Mrs. Minnie Bishop and F. J. Chatterton-Other News.

The Fair Haven Choral society will give a concert to-night at 8 o'clock in the parish house of Grace P. E. church. The concert promises to be a great suc-cess. The chorus sings superbly, and with the other artists, both vocal and instrumental, it will be quite a treat for the people. The concert will begin promptly at 8 p. m. Besides the rendering of the cantata, "The Gypsies," by J Beecher, which the chorus sings with precision and a full volume of tone, under the able direction of William J Kraft, there will be solos by the following artists: Miss Catherine Murphy soprano; A. Langer, violin; F. S. Ham-ilton, Jr., bass solo, and also a whistling solo; E. B. Beers, baritone; Master Edwin Arthur Kraft, pianist.

Ex-Judge L. P. Deming has been re quested to give one of his illustrated lectures in Saybrook. He has lectured there before and much to the edification of his audience. He expects to deliver his new lecture on the West In-dies, which is of especial interest in view of the recent war with Spain.

Dr. Frederick S. Waterbury, formerly of Fair Haven, is very ill in Chicago and his father, Superintedent William A. Waterbury, has gone on to see him. Hattie H. Everett has purchased of Julius H. Morris seventy feet of land on Cove street.

Lulu B. Hemingway has purchased of Nathan A. Palmer fifty feet of land on Quinniplac avenue.

A surprise party was tendered Harold Kellogg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willett H. Kellogg of Quinnipiac avenue, on his birthday anniversary. Supper served to the young people and the gathering was greatly enjoyed by all. Those present were May Jerome. Gladys Crossley, Iva Cripps, Lottle Cripps, Leslie Tyler, Eddle Roberts, Herbert Barnes, Harold Barnes, Lijah Ball, Jane Ball, Winifred Thompson Jessie Davis, Louie Davis, Roy Farn-ham, Dwight E. # "Brownie" is Introduced.

"BROWNIE" dressed in her Yale blue blanket and jingling bells went to meet the school children yesterday and a royal welcome she received. To-day she will visit the schools which she was unable to visit yesterday and so on un-til she has become acquainted with all the little boys and girls in town. Who is "Brownie"? Why "Brownie" is our Shetland pony that we are going to give for an Xmas present to the little boy or girl receiving the largest number of votes. Each 25 cent purchase entitles the customer to the vote. The voting stops Xmas Eve, so that "Brownie" can go to her new owner on Christmas Day. Be on the lookout for her.
