

BATTLE AT LADYSMITH

The British Advance in Force and Drive Back the Boers.

BOTH SIDES LOSE HEAVILY

THE BOERS REPORTED TO BE THE GREATER SUFFERERS.

Their Guns Range Further at First but Are Eventually Silenced by Big Pieces Brought up by Naval Reinforcements from Warship Powerful—The British Lose Guns Through a Stampede of Mules—Two Battalions Missing.

London, Oct. 30.—The war office here has received a dispatch which says General White has fought an engagement, presumably with General Joubert's forces, which was pushed back after several hours fighting. The British lost about 100 men and the Boer losses were much greater. The Boers were in larger numbers and had better artillery.

General White's dispatch which was dated at 4:30 p. m. to-day reads: "I employed all the troops here, except the obligatory garrison before the works. I sent a mountain battery, the Royal Irish Fusiliers and the Gloucesters to take up a position on the hills to clear my left flank. The force moved at 11 yesterday evening and during some night firing the battery routes stamped with some of the guns, which, however, I hope to recover. These two battalions have not yet returned, but are expected this evening.

"I detailed two brigade divisions of field artillery and five battalions of infantry, aided by cavalry, under General French, to attack a position upon which the enemy, yesterday mounted guns. We found the position evacuated but our force was attacked with considerable vigor by what I believe were General Joubert's troops. They had many guns and showed in great numbers. Our troops were all in action and we pushed the enemy back several miles but did not succeed in reaching his laager. Our losses are estimated at between eighty and one hundred, but those of the enemy must have been much greater, the fire of our guns appearing very effective.

DETAILS OF THE BATTLE.

British Scheme Well Devised but Failed in Execution.

Ladysmith, Oct. 30, 6 p. m.—An advance was made at dawn to-day with the object of shelling the Boers from the position which yesterday they had taken and a number of guns, on reaching the spot, however, it was found that they had evacuated the position. The British continued to advance and the movement developed into a reconnaissance in force. The enemy were posted on a range of hills having a frontage of about sixteen miles.

The British force was disposed in the following order: "On the right—three regiments of cavalry, four batteries of the Royal Field Artillery, five batteries of infantry; in the center—three batteries of the Royal Field Artillery, two regiments of cavalry and four infantry battalions, and on the left—the Royal Irish Fusiliers, the Gloucestershire regiment and the Tenth Mountain battery. This force had been detailed to guard our left flank at a late hour last night. General White's plan of operations was that, as the movement developed, the force constituting our center, which was disposed under cover of a kopje about three miles from the town should throw itself upon the enemy, while the left flank was being held by the Fusiliers and the Gloucesters. The scheme was well devised, but failed in execution, owing to the fact that the Boer position which forced our objective was evacuated.

military quickly reduced the volume of the enemy's fire but the attack delivered on our right flank was the principal one and the column was compelled to change. The Boer attack had been silenced for a time, and our infantry advanced, covered by cavalry. The enemy now began to develop a heavy counter attack, and as they were in great numerical superiority General White gave orders for the infantry to be gradually withdrawn. The movement was carried out with great steadiness and deliberation under cover of our guns, which made excellent practice. Some shells were thrown into the town from the enemy's forty-pounders at a range of over 6,000 yards, but no damage was done. The engagement lasted several hours and resulted, on our side in casualties estimated at from ninety to one hundred. The Boer losses must have largely exceeded this total. The attack was admirably delivered by our right; and the Boers were fairly driven out of one of their strongholds near Lombard's Kop. It was not possible, however, to push the success much further, as beyond that point lay a long broken ridge, affording every kind of natural cover. Of this the enemy took the fullest advantage.

Our shells failed to dislodge the Boers; and, as our infantry moved forward in extended order, they came under a heavy and well directed rifle fire, the effect of which was soon apparent. General White, who was with the cen-

ACCIDENTS OF CORRESPONDENTS.

An Indecisive Reconnoissance—Boers Could Not Be Enticed Out.

London, Oct. 31.—The Daily Telegraph has the following account of the Ladysmith engagement from its special correspondent at the front: "An indecisive reconnoissance occurred to-day. General Sir George Stewart White advanced before daybreak (Monday) with all the available forces from Ladysmith, moving toward Tinta Inyoni. Two brigades were under Colonel Ian Hamilton and Howard, and another, with General Sir Archibald Hunter, went toward Bulwan, while two regiments, guided by Major Ayle, marched on our extreme left beyond the old camp. The Boers were found to be in great force at all points. Although we had seven batteries of artillery, their fire fell entirely to crush that of the enemy until our infantry, the Fifth Lancers, pluckily rode across the enemy's front and opened a retreat. This failed, however, to entice the enemy out, the Boers only replying with a shell fire.

"This flank attack so developed that Colonel Hamilton had to reinforce our right with three batteries and the Gordon Highlanders, the Devonshire regiment and the Manchester regiment. At intervals our artillery then changed front and a severe artillery duel then ensued, the guns generously supporting the reinforcing infantry as they advanced. Two batteries remained in action against the twenty-pounder, and the quick-firing guns of the naval contingent came into action. The enemy had numerous field pieces, machine guns and a one-hundred-pounder. General White in the afternoon withdrew his forces upon Ladysmith. The losses on the Boer side were considerable."

The correspondent of the Times at Ladysmith says: "The action seemed to be proceeding satisfactorily when at 7:15 a. m. the enemy in large numbers, with field guns, Maxims and thirty-seven millimeter guns, began to develop a heavy attack on Colonel Grimwood's infantry. The cavalry brigade had moved up on our right, holding the parallel ridge over against Colonel Grimwood's position and practically acting as infantry. In the meantime our batteries kept down the siege gun fire upon Ladysmith with shrapnel. At 9 o'clock the enemy resumed to me a lull, as our reserves moved up, but suddenly the engagement reopened, as the enemy on our right brought further artillery to bear. Colonel Grimwood, who, with the three advance battalions, had held the ridge for five hours, suddenly fell back across the open upon our right. The Fifty-third battery pushed forward to cover this withdrawal. Severe casualties occurred at this phase. The Fifty-third battery held on against a cross fire of rifles and quick firing guns until the infantry were clear. The teams of the two guns were damaged and the battery eventually retired, made up teams being sent to extricate the two guns. The cavalry, remaining unsupported, were forced to fall back also.

"Then began a general retirement on Ladysmith. The guns, which had been covering the Devonshire regiment stoutly covered the final withdrawal. The enemy did not press, but showed themselves on their positions in great numbers, only to find that the naval brigade from the Powerful had removed. Two quick-firing guns were at once placed in position, under cover of a redoubt; and in five rounds they silenced the enemy's forty-pounder.

"The troops were back in Ladysmith by 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The casualties caused by the enemy's artillery were not severe. The mountain battery on the left reported that it had suffered through a stampede of mules. Our artillery, cavalry, mounted infantry and volunteer cavalry behaved splendidly in difficult circumstances. Dr. Jameson and Sir John Willoughby arrived to-day and were spectators of the action."

GERMAN NEUTRALITY.

Emperor's Message to Royal Dragoons Taken as Official Assurance.

Berlin, Oct. 30.—Emperor William's farewell message to the British Royal Dragoons, of which regiment he is honorary colonel, on their departure for South Africa, expressing his majesty's hope that all might return "unhated and well" is generally taken as a proof of Germany's official neutrality. One of the evening papers referring to the despatch points out its high political significance and says it is the best answer to "Pan-Germanic league, Anglo-phobia and predictions of foreign intervention in which Germany is to play a leading part." The Evening Courier says: "The repeated foreign effort to involve Germany into interfering in a question absolutely foreign to her national interests have palpably the sole object of discrediting her policy. Germany declines the role of acting-manager in foreign interests detrimental to her own."

Report of Ladysmith's Surrender.

London, Oct. 31.—The report sent out from a Holland source and published in a despatch yesterday from Berlin that Ladysmith had surrendered was not taken seriously here and later news showed the thorough inaccuracy of the statement.

VICE PRESIDENT'S CONDITION.

Mr. Hobart Suffers a Relapse and Recovery is Doubtful.

Paterson, N. J., Oct. 30.—Vice President Hobart, who has been ill at home here, suffered a relapse this morning. He had a succession of choking spells, resulting from an imperfect action of the heart, an old affliction, complicated with inflammation of the stomach. Mr. Hobart has not been able to attend to his private affairs for the past two or three days and an intimate friend has been given a power of attorney to sign checks and attend to other matters of that character. One of the physicians in attendance at 6 o'clock to-night said that while the condition of Mr. Hobart was serious, he was better than at any time within the last twenty-four hours.

Vice President Hobart has been ill ever since the close of the last congress. Dr. W. E. Newton is responsible for the statement that between 11 o'clock last night and 2 o'clock this morning Mr. Hobart's condition was more critical than it had been at any time during the eight months he has been more or less ill. After the passing of the critical period at 2 o'clock this morning he rested easily until daylight, when he began to gain strength again and during the day he was in good spirits and improved somewhat. During the day he had been able to sit up in bed and he was able to talk with Mrs. Hobart and her son, Garrett, Jr.

Dr. Newton refused at this time to make any definite statement as to the cause of Mr. Hobart's illness. He said, however, that the report that Mr. Hobart's mind was in any way affected by the illness was untrue. This statement was also made by members of the family and by Hobart Tuttle, the vice president's secretary. No one is admitted to Mr. Hobart's house. All callers, even the neighbors, are referred to Dr. Newton for replies and only Mrs. Hobart and her son are allowed to see the sick man.

Hobart Tuttle is quoted as saying that Mr. Hobart's condition was not critical this evening, although he admitted the case had taken a serious turn last night. Mr. Tuttle was kept busy replying to telegrams of inquiry during the day. Among those who vied to know Mr. Hobart's condition was Secretary to the President Porter.

A. A. Wilcox, Mr. Hobart's life-long friend and law partner, said this evening that he feared the vice president had not long to live. He refused to enter into details relative to the malady from which the distinguished patient suffered, but his idea was that it was necessarily fatal, although not immediately so.

Dr. Newton called at the Hobart residence at 6 o'clock and remained but a short time. Just before he left Mr. Hobart fell asleep. It was not needful to administer drugs and Dr. Newton said the sleep was natural and refreshing. Mr. Hobart has not been out of his house in two weeks, and in consequence of his illness is said to be very feeble.

At 10:30 o'clock word came from the sick room of the vice president that Mr. Hobart was conscious and had recognized those around him. A few minutes later Mr. Hobart was asleep and resting quietly. Dr. Newton, who visited him at 11 p. m., said that his condition was apparently improved. Only the immediate members of the family and the nurse were at the Hobart house at the time. Dr. Newton said that he had no fear of the death of the distinguished sufferer to-night.

Paterson, Oct. 31, 2:30 a. m.—The house of Vice President Hobart, which has been in darkness a considerable portion of the night, is now lighted up from the top floor to the basement. Policemen are on guard in front of the residence and everything points to some serious condition in the sick chamber.

After he had gone the loss of the tin box was discovered by Mr. Von Soosten.

FROM FILIPINO STRONGHOLD

SPANISH COMMISSION RETURNS AFTER MONTH'S ABSENCE.

Rebels Refuse to Release Prisoners—Americans Well Treated, Spaniards Ill-Treated—Lieut. Gilmore Held at Binang—Agutinaldo at Tarlac With 3,000 Troops—To Continue War.

Manila, Oct. 30, 10:30 p. m.—The Spanish commission which entered the insurgent lines a month ago with money to relieve the wants of several thousand military and civil Spanish prisoners, returned to Angeles to-day. The commissioners report that they spent most of the time in Tarlac and the vicinity, where there are some 600 sick Spaniards in the hands of the enemy. The Filipinos ill-treat and ill-feed them and refused to release them in the hope of compelling Spain to recognize the independence of the islands. From Tarlac to Bamban, about two-thirds of the way, the commissioners traveled by train, on the Manila-Dagupan railway. The remainder of the journey from Bamban to Angeles they made on foot, escorted by handsomely mounted Filipino cavalry. They were received between the outposts by a member of General MacArthur's staff and were brought by train to Manila.

There are fourteen American prisoners, they say, at Tarlac, all of whom are well treated. Lieutenant J. C. Gilmore of the United States gunboat Yorktown, who fell into the hands of the insurgents at Balera, on the east coast of Luzon last April, where the Yorktown had gone on a special mission to relieve the Spanish garrison, is at Binang. The commissioners have brought a letter from the widow of the late murdered General Luna, who wishes to avenge the assassination by Agutinaldo's officers, and who asks a personal interview with the military governor.

According to their statement Agutinaldo, who is still at Tarlac with 3,000 troops, wishes to continue the war, although he has a high opinion of the American officers and soldiers. General Lawton he calls "El General de la Noche" the night general, because that commanded has attacked him so often in the darkness that he never knows when to look for him. Agutinaldo is said to be well supplied with arms and ammunition and he is able to get plenty of rice from the northern provinces.

With the Spanish commissioners came a large number of women and children, bringing a wagon train load of baggage. These are the families of eight prominent officers of the Filipino army, who recently applied to General Otis for permission to send their families to Manila. Upon the receipt of the military governor's reply, the nature of which has not been disclosed, the women and children started under escort from Tarlac for the American lines. When they arrived to-day General MacArthur compelled them to halt about a mile beyond our outposts, where they remain while their credentials are being examined.

TESTING WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

Message Transmitted from the Sea to New York.

New York, Oct. 30.—The cruiser New York and the battleship Massachusetts left their anchorage in North river to-day and went out to sea for a test of wireless telegraphy by the Marconi system, under federal supervision. The work was designed to compass interchange of messages between the Massachusetts, which went far out to sea, and New York, and between the vessels and a shore base at Atlantic Highlands. By courtesy of Captain Chadwick, who is in command of the New York, with whom Admiral Farquhar is sailing, a representative of the Associated Press accompanied the expedition.

At 4:10 a message addressed to the Associated Press, New York, over the signature of its correspondent, was handed by the operator of the wireless telegraph at Atlantic Highlands to the Postal Telegraph operator in the Highlands signal tower for transmission to the Associated Press offices, 195 Broadway. Delivery of the message was made by the Postal people from their offices at Murray street and Broadway at 4:30 o'clock. The message read: "The Associated Press, New York—On board New York, at sea, thirty p. m. Massachusetts going out for long distance transmission. Marconi test been working with Massachusetts successfully. Answer O. K."

The signature was imperfectly transmitted, either through the air or on the land line. Error was made in two of five letters of the correspondent's name. The elapsed time from the dating time of the message to its receipt at the destination was one hour. Of this twenty-nine minutes was consumed in the land transmission and delivery in New York and possible five minutes in delivery from the wireless base to the land operator in his signal tower. With the exception noted, there was no error of spelling in the message. At 5 p. m. the New York was anchored off Highland Islands and the Massachusetts had gone off shore.

ADmiral Dewey to Marry.

Announces His Engagement to the Widow of General Hazen.

Washington, Oct. 30.—Admiral Dewey announced to some of his most intimate friends to-night the fact of his engagement to Mrs. W. B. Hazen of this city. Mrs. Hazen is the widow of General Hazen, formerly chief signal officer of the army, who died about ten years ago, and is a sister of John R. McLean, democratic candidate for governor of Ohio. Mrs. Hazen has no children and since her husband's death has made her home with her mother. She is a woman of large means, about forty years of age and popular in the best social circles of Washington. The date of the wedding has not been fixed.

The news of the admiral's engagement first became known to-night when the admiral announced the fact to a few of his friends. Later he visited the Lafayette Square theater and while there communicated the news to some of his near friends, and to Secretary Long, who occupied one of the boxes. The understanding is that the wedding will take place some time during November. Rumor has connected the names of the admiral and Mrs. Hazen for some time. It was at the house of Mrs. McLean, the mother of Mrs. Hazen, that the admiral stopped when he came to Washington after his return from Manila. Previous to his departure to take charge of the Asiatic squadron two years ago he had been a visitor at the house. The admiral's wife died in 1872. General Hazen, the former husband of Mrs. Hazen, died January 16, 1887, and a son from their union died last year. A sister of Mrs. Hazen is the wife of Captain Nicoll Ludlow of the navy.

SHOT THROUGH THE BODY.

Member of Company A of Waterbury Severely Injured at Target Practice.

Waterbury, Oct. 30.—During target practice by teams from Companies A and G, Second regiment, at the local range this afternoon, Charles E. Smith, a private in Company A, who was tending targets, was shot in the back. The ball passed through his body, entering between the fourth and fifth ribs in the front and splintered the fourth rib in front as it passed out. It is not thought that the lung was penetrated and no fatal results are anticipated.

Smith was supposed to show his flag when he stepped from behind the butts and he claimed he did so, but as the men were firing from a distance of 600 yards his signal was not seen. After he was shot he walked about 300 yards before he was able to attract attention to his condition. The teams were made of about twenty men and officers. An accident almost exactly similar occurred at the same range two years ago without any serious result.

Flaherty led and as they came together Kearns planted a heavy left below the heart and the Lowell man dropped. Flaherty's seconds jumped into the ring and claimed a foul. There was much excitement. A physician examined Flaherty and the blow was a fair one. The bout was then awarded to Kearns.

AN OVERDOSE OF MORPHINE

DEATH OF DWIGHT W. BISSELL OF NORTH STONINGTON.

At Grace Hospital Yesterday Afternoon—Taken There from the New Haven House Where He Took the Morphine—Was a Member of the Yale Academic Class of 1889—His Mother and Sister Missionaries in India.

Dwight W. Bissell, a member of the Yale academic class of 1889, died at the Grace hospital about 5:30 yesterday afternoon as the result of taking an overdose of morphine. This is the opinion given last evening by Dr. M. C. White, the medical examiner. The general opinion of those who knew Mr. Bissell is that it was a case of suicide, although there is a possibility that he had intended to take a small dose of morphine and by mistake took an overdose. The indications are that he took about five grains.

Shortly after noon yesterday some friends and classmates of Mr. Bissell called at the New Haven house, where he was staying, to see him and on being shown to his room they discovered him in a condition bordering on unconsciousness. Mr. Bissell could talk some at that time, however, and requested that his old classmate, Dr. Arthur S. Cheney, be sent for. This fact of his requiring a physician is looked upon by his acquaintances as indicating that he took the large dose of morphine by mistake.

When Dr. Cheney arrived at the New Haven house Mr. Bissell had lapsed into unconsciousness and the physician directed that he be sent to Grace hospital. There every possible effort was made to revive him, and at one time he was somewhat revived, but soon lapsed back into unconsciousness, from which it was impossible to arouse him. He died at 5:30. His wife was communicated with late in the afternoon and came to New Haven, accompanied by her aunt. She was nearly prostrated by the sad occurrence, but bravely bore up and was with her husband when he died.

Mr. Bissell registered at the New Haven house last Thursday and had been there since. He registered from New York. Since Thursday he had met many of his old friends here, and in renewing old acquaintances had been up nights and lost considerable sleep. It is considered very likely that in order to induce sleep he took some morphine and incautiously took too much. The indications were that a physician was called about an hour after he took the morphine.

Shortly after leaving college Mr. Bissell married Miss Mary Wheeler of North Stonington, a member of the prominent Wheeler family of that place and well known and highly respected throughout the state. His father, Lemuel Bissell, was a missionary in India and died about ten years ago. His mother and sister are now missionaries in India, and he leaves two brothers, who live in California. He was thirty-five years of age.

ROBBED OF NEARLY $50,000.

Wealthy St. Louis Man Held Up on a Street Car.

St. Louis, Oct. 30.—Robert B. Jennings, secretary and general manager of the Broadway Cable company, was held up to-day on a street car near the corner of Washington avenue and Broadway, and robbed of $1,043 in cash and $48,735 in negotiable paper. The thieves escaped. Mr. Jennings was coming from the Boatman's bank, where he had drawn the money to pay off his men. When boarding a car to go to the company's office three men pushed him into a corner and took the money. A man who saw the robbery got a good look at one of the robbers, of whom he gave a description to the police. Several years ago Mr. Jennings, who is an elderly man, was robbed in a similar manner. His assailants were captured and are now serving terms in the penitentiary.

LAST NIGHT'S POLO GAMES.

New Haven Races at Springfield—Meriden Beats in Providence.

Springfield, Oct. 30.—The local team defeated the strong New Haven polo team to-night in one of the fastest games ever seen in Springfield. The playing was fierce from the start, and the home team won strictly on their merits. Al Swords made his debut to a Springfield audience and played a great game, though in no way superior to the fine cage work of Latons. The score: Springfield 7, New Haven 5. Stops—Latons 41, Swords 23, Rushes—Hilpon 14, Bone 1. Fouls—Bartlett, Leyden, Connell 2, Whipple. Referee—Lusk. Timer—Welch. Springfield lost one goal on fouls.

Providence 6, Meriden 4.

Providence, Oct. 30.—The polo game between Providence and Meriden to-night was earnestly contested and it had a fighting finish when Meriden made a spurt that cut the lead to a single goal and fought hard to wipe out the lead completely. White's goal ending was a bright feature. Team work and fine passing by the home club decided the game. The score: Providence 6, Meriden 4. Rushes—Cunningham 8, Warner 5, Griffin 1, Pierce 1. Stope—Heffernan 23, White 35. Fouls—Farrell, Murtagh. Referee—Manning. Timer—Perrin.

IN AND ABOUT THE COURTS

COMMITTEE'S DECISION IN WEST HAVEN MATTER.

William H. Moore's Petition for Damages Against the Borough Dismissed—Shoemaker Smith Questioned by Creditors—Witness Jailed for Contempt in City Court.

The following cases have been assigned for trial in the court of common pleas this week: Tuesday, Raffaele Cirella et ux. vs. Vincenzo Ferri et ux.; Johnson & Brother vs. John Merrill; Pietro Amorelli vs. John Landino; Wednesday, Sarah Knot vs. the City of Derby; Timothy J. Fox vs. the City of New Haven; Thursday, City of Ansonia vs. Catherine Harris, Patrick Dugan et al. vs. Annie McPartland, William S. Downes et al. vs. the City of Ansonia.

MOORE'S PETITION DISMISSED.

Ex-Senator James Graham, Town Clerk George H. Thomas and Cyrus W. Tuttle as a committee appointed by Judge Shimon E. Baldwin of the superior court to decide upon the claims of William H. Moore of Main street, West Haven, in his petition for damages against the borough, filed a report yesterday morning, which decides that the benefits and damages caused by the straightening of the street are equal. This brings to an end another of the petty grievances in which the borough has been involved. The history of the case is this: Last spring it was voted to improve and straighten Main street in West Haven. To carry this project out it was necessary to take away about eight feet of land belonging to William H. Moore. Before the improvements were started a committee, appointed by the board of wardens and burgesses of the borough, investigated the matter and rendered a decision that the benefits and damages were equal.

Mary Maloney of 33 York street was fined $2 and costs of $8.82 for quarreling with Mary Reynolds, a neighbor.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

Some of Them in Cases Argued in This City.

The supreme court at Bridgeport has just given several decisions in cases that were argued in the October term of the court in this city.

In the suit of H. C. Judd & Root against the city of Hartford, which went up on appeal by the defendant, the court finds no error. This was an action brought in the superior court to recover for wool that had been destroyed by the setting back of water from the sewer on High street into the cellar of the plaintiffs. Opinion by Judge Baldwin.

In the suit of Linus B. Wales against Charles B. Graves, which went up on appeal by the plaintiff from a decision rendered by Judge Peck in the court of common pleas, the court finds no error. This was an action brought to recover on a subscription for a book which the defendant refused to accept on the ground that it did not meet the representations. Opinion by Judge Hall.

In the suit of the Farmington Savings Bank against B. E. Curran and others, the court finds error. The judgment of the superior court is set aside and the case is remanded. The action was brought by the plaintiff to foreclose on property in Meriden. The plaintiff had no title to a portion of the land it sought to foreclose upon. The opinion is by Andrews, C. J.

In the appeal taken by the United States Envelope company from the assessors of the town of Vernon, the court finds error and reverses the judgment of the superior court. The complaint was demurred to in the superior court because of the claim that the appeal had not been taken in form. The superior court sustained the demurrer and the appeal was taken from the decision of the final judgment for the town of the final judgment for the town which followed. The opinion is by Judge Hall.

In the suit of John Anderson against Truman Cowles, an action for alleged false arrest, tried in Litchfield county, the court finds error and orders a new trial. The opinion is by Andrews, C. J.

In John R. McDonald Cleveland's appeal from probate, a Litchfield county suit, the court finds no error. The appeal was taken because the lower tribunals failed to remove a conservator. Opinion by Judge Torrance.

NEW HAVEN COUNTY.

Henry S. Chase and others, administrators, vs. Aaron A. Benedict and others. Error in part. Cause remanded for correction. Opinion by Judge Hemmesley; all concur.

This was an interpleader to determine the title of the respondents to a trust fund. Brought to the superior court in New Haven county and tried before Judge Shumway. The facts were found and judgment was rendered in favor of the respondent, Charles C. Road, executor of the will of George H. Benedict, deceased. Appeal by the other respondents for alleged errors in the rulings of the court.

Louis D. Griggs and others' appeal from probate. No error. This was an appeal from the order of the probate court refusing distribution. Brought to the superior court for New Haven county on the first Tuesday of September, 1897. Judgment was rendered affirming the decree of the probate court. The appellants, May C. Griggs, Aaron A. Benedict and Charlotte R. Benedict, appealed.

CREDITORS QUESTION SMITH.

Lawyers representing creditors of Emerson R. Smith, the former shoe dealer of Chapel street, examined him in the office of Referee in Bankruptcy Newton yesterday forenoon for two hours. In the schedule filed by Smith he named as creditors his wife for $1,000 and his wife's sister and a Mrs. Staples of this city for small amounts. The debts are represented by notes for money loaned. Lawyers William A. Wright and B. E. Lynch represented the inquiring creditors, and lawyer L. E. Jacobs Mr. Smith. The first meeting of the creditors of Simon L. Simpson was also held yesterday afternoon.

CITY COURT CASES.

Charles A. Wright, employed by Peck and Bishop, caused a stir in the city court yesterday morning by refusing to answer questions put to him by Judge Dow. He was a witness in the case of Charles A. Henderson, colored, charged with assault by Foreman Alfred Scarlett of Peck & Bishop's. Judge Dow sent him to jail for ten days and fined him $10 and costs for contempt of court.

In the case against Henderson there seemed to be a feeling of fear among the witnesses. They were afraid of losing work on the one hand and of getting a severe beating on the other. From that fact Judge Dow concluded that Henderson had viciously used a large pair of shears and that the assault might have been serious. He sent Henderson to jail for thirty days and fined him $50 and costs of $12.31.

John McCarthy was charged being a common drunkard. The case was continued.

John F. Sullivan, a longshoreman of James street, was fined $2 and costs of $3.11 for stealing a sweater, the property of Captain Jacobs, the commander of a canal boat which is discharging a cargo at Mill river.

Edward H. Shea was fined $5 and costs of $8.29 for resisting Sergeant Doherty on Grand avenue Saturday night. A charge of drunkenness against Shea was nolle.

The recent meeting of the board of government at the Odd Fellows' home at Fairview was an important one and nearly every man who has since the founding of the institution been connected with its management was present, and the affair was much in the nature of a reunion.

The reports of the various officers showed clearly the benefit the home has been to the invalid members of the order, thirty-six of whom with their wives have resided there during the seven years of its existence. Financially, the home is in a very gratifying condition. It owes nothing and has over $50,000 deposited in various banks in the state.

Charles B. Ware of New London has been the president of the board of managers since the home was opened, and his tireless energy and care was fittingly remembered. At the conclusion of the business meeting Zebulon R. Robbins of Norwich, a member of the board, made a speech very complimentary to Mr. Ware, and at its end he presented him, on behalf of the home, with a handsome purse in which was a brand-new $100 bill.

The presentation was heartily applauded and when Mr. Ware rose to respond he was greeted with loud applause. His response was worthy of the gift and his appreciation of it was very apparent. The members went to Fairview on the 1:50 train on the Groton branch, which stopped at that station for their convenience. It was the first train ever over the road that stopped there.

DISEASE FROM RIVER WATER.

Hartford People a Little Frightened Over the Condition of Affairs.

Hartford, Oct. 30.—There has been some increase of disease in this city attributable to the use of Connecticut river water, but not as much as was anticipated. It was feared by physicians that the compulsory use of water from the river would produce many cases of typhoid fever, but they have been happily disappointed. Those who feared an epidemic of typhoid attribute the city's escape from it to the fact that people have been fully warned and have boiled the water as well as used it sparingly. Many persons have arranged for a supply of spring water for the table. Thus much less Connecticut river water has been drunk than was expected.

There is considerable general sickness in the city and the hospital is full. There is not a private room vacant in the building and not many beds in the wards. This is attributed more to general atmospheric and climatic conditions than to the use of Connecticut river water.

"Say," said a slangy man, "there goes a guy that's daffy. He's bug for true."

"Why?" said the man to whom he was speaking. "I thought that fellow was bright. Is he a bug?"

"Bug? Well, ask me. If you'd drop insect powder on him there'd be a sudden death."—Memphis Scimitar.

CUTTEN BEGINS TO PLAY.

PRESSURE BROUGHT TO BEAR UPON HIM BY GRADUATE COACHES.

Sharp Practice Yesterday—Large Crowd of Students at the Field Yesterday—McBride Calls for More Coaches.

Yale men take their defeat of Saturday philosophically and make no complaints. They admit that they were beaten by a better team, but have also set to work in grim earnest to remedy the faults that Columbia's superior playing made evident in their own form. The old Yale spirit is aroused, and this week and next will see things hum on the football gridiron.

The management has not heard from as many coaches as was hoped, but replies are of such a nature that indications point to a numerous company of old players returning by the end of the week for the remainder of the season. Yesterday Head Coach Rodgers was assisted by Murphy, Thorne, Bull and Louis Hinkey.

The enthusiasm which the defeat developed in the student body was the most pleasing feature of the afternoon's practice. Three hundred strong, a company mainly seniors and juniors, marched into the field enclosure singing Yale songs, and upon taking their places in the cheering section repeatedly made the field ring with their cheers for Captain McBride and the leading players. When Cutten appeared in football uniform they sent up a deafening cheer.

Cutten, last year's center, will probably yield to the pressure brought to bear upon him by graduate coaches and alumni, who feel that the parson player is better than Cunha, and as he is still enrolled as a student in the graduate department he is eligible to play. If Cunha proves his superior Cutten will be as happy as if he himself made the eleven again. He hopes to "wake up the Hawaiian giant" and make him play in a manner worthy of himself, to quote Cutten's own words. He would not consent to play at all until he saw that his services were needed. Cutten has not been in playing uniform this year at all, but despite that fact he developed one whole half and part of the second. He was taken out, then, as he felt groggy, not being quite in trim. A few days of the exercise will put him back in his last year's early form and he will then give Cunha a lively tussle. As it was, he made the big chap look about him lively. Cunha, being in good condition, stood the fight better in the long run, but had his hands full until Richardson took Cutten's place on the varsity side.

In the first half the varsity had but little difficulty in scoring a touchdown by straight football, but in the second half, when a number of substitutions were made, Cutten going out, also Olcott and Brown at guards, Stillman at tackle and Thomas at end, the college side had better success and came near scoring on the varsity.

Fumbling was the main trouble yesterday. Fincke and Cutten not working well together. Practice will probably do much to remedy that, however. As to the general work of the team yesterday it must be admitted that it was ragged and uneven. The interference was poor, and the team play was not well worked up. To remedy this and to introduce some formations that will be effective the secret practice of one-half daily will begin to-day.

Two men who have hitherto played half-back were used yesterday as ends. Chadwick and Roby were the men and both showed the lack of knowledge of the position. Both are fast and fierce tacklers, and he hammered into good ends, though they lack the essentials now. Thomas and Gould were far superior yesterday. Schweppe was rested.

Preceding the regular lining up the two rush lines faced each other and McBride and Auchincloss by turns punted the ball down the field to a relay of backs in the back field. By pairs the main line of backs and the tacklers were run down under the kicks to nail the man who tried for the ball. The catching of the punts was lamentably weak, with the exception of the work by Richards, Fincke, deSaules and Duppe. Sharpe and the lesser lights seemed to be too nervous to get the ball. Coach Thorne lectured Sharpe roundly for his eagerness to get the ball on the run. He told him to run the risk of losing a gain in distance rather than to sacrifice a sure catch. The varsity side lined up as follows: Cutten, center; Brown and Olcott, guards; Stillman and Francis, tackles; Thomas and Winter and Gould, ends; Fincke, quarter; Sharpe and Adams, half-backs; McBride and Auchincloss, full-backs. Substitutions were made in every position except that of Francis in the second half. Keen was taken out for an injury to his right leg, which has once before been seriously hurt. It may prove of small consequence, as he felt able to continue, but Robinson, the trainer, would not permit it.

The remainder of the week will, if plans are carried out, find the eleven worked along the lines of developing interference and formation plays that will drill the men in team play.

INTERESTING MEETING

At the Odd Fellows' Home—Grand Secretary Botsford.

Grand Secretary Botsford of the Connecticut I. O. O. F. was able to be out again and at his office yesterday. He was reported as seriously ill in one of the papers on Saturday. He came home Friday night from attendance upon the annual meeting at the Odd Fellows' home in New London, not feeling well, having taken cold, and on Saturday he had his physician called in. On Sunday he was feeling much better and yesterday he transacted business at his office as usual.

The recent meeting of the board of government at the Odd Fellows' home at Fairview was an important one and nearly every man who has since the founding of the institution been connected with its management was present, and the affair was much in the nature of a reunion.

Professor Parker's Interview.

H. E. Kriebel, the well known critic of the New York Tribune, had something to say about musical criticism and composer's in yesterday's Tribune. The following reference was made to Prof. Parker's recent utterances as voiced in an interview with a Pall Mall Gazette man which has provoked so much comment:

One of the precious tribe got into conversation with Prof. Parker a few weeks ago in England, and, discovering that the composer of "Horn Novelties" considered the beauty and grandeur of Brahms' "A German Requiem" a "fact" which "all the writings of all the critics" could not alter, answered with characteristic bluntness: "To my mind the 'Requiem' has cowardice for its psychological basis and dullness for the quality of its utterance." Mighty fine mouth-filling words, truly; but what do they mean? Prof. Parker replied that he didn't believe there was any psychological basis to the "Requiem." It was absolute music that came from the heart and head of Brahms; no more. But he might have asked wherein the psychological cowardice of a composition could lie. In the music? Is one tune or succession of chords readier than another for a Balklava charge, a Gogoltha or the hemlock? Is John Peter and a whine or a whimper? If Vernon Blackburn were to say so he would make himself the laughing stock of musical England, for while Brahms reflects the sentiments of those portions of his text which deplore death as the common lot of man it also gives inspiring utterance to the words of comfort interspersed with them and takes jubilant flights, becoming, indeed, "the voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of many thunders, saying, 'Alleluia, for the Lord God Omnipotent Reigneth!' in contemplation of the triumphant outcome of the universal tragedy.

If, then, the cowardice is not in the music it may be in the text. That quarrel Mr. Blackburn may have with the realist, and Solomon, with Isaiah, and Sainis, Matthew, John, Peter and Paul, the last of whom, it may be said, even in the fact of the new critics, was quite as brave a rhetorician as Vernon Blackburn in the lines contributed by him to the text of "A German Requiem."

Professor Parker's Interview.

H. E. Kriebel, the well known critic of the New York Tribune, had something to say about musical criticism and composer's in yesterday's Tribune. The following reference was made to Prof. Parker's recent utterances as voiced in an interview with a Pall Mall Gazette man which has provoked so much comment:

One of the precious tribe got into conversation with Prof. Parker a few weeks ago in England, and, discovering that the composer of "Horn Novelties" considered the beauty and grandeur of Brahms' "A German Requiem" a "fact" which "all the writings of all the critics" could not alter, answered with characteristic bluntness: "To my mind the 'Requiem' has cowardice for its psychological basis and dullness for the quality of its utterance." Mighty fine mouth-filling words, truly; but what do they mean? Prof. Parker replied that he didn't believe there was any psychological basis to the "Requiem." It was absolute music that came from the heart and head of Brahms; no more. But he might have asked wherein the psychological cowardice of a composition could lie. In the music? Is one tune or succession of chords readier than another for a Balklava charge, a Gogoltha or the hemlock? Is John Peter and a whine or a whimper? If Vernon Blackburn were to say so he would make himself the laughing stock of musical England, for while Brahms reflects the sentiments of those portions of his text which deplore death as the common lot of man it also gives inspiring utterance to the words of comfort interspersed with them and takes jubilant flights, becoming, indeed, "the voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of many thunders, saying, 'Alleluia, for the Lord God Omnipotent Reigneth!' in contemplation of the triumphant outcome of the universal tragedy.

If, then, the cowardice is not in the music it may be in the text. That quarrel Mr. Blackburn may have with the realist, and Solomon, with Isaiah, and Sainis, Matthew, John, Peter and Paul, the last of whom, it may be said, even in the fact of the new critics, was quite as brave a rhetorician as Vernon Blackburn in the lines contributed by him to the text of "A German Requiem."

It is estimated that more than 15,000 deer have been killed in Maine this month.

The widow of General "Stonewall" Jackson is living at Charlotte, North Carolina, in poor health and very needy circumstances. She is also nearly blind. The "Daughters of the Confederacy" and camps of Confederate veterans are raising money to help her.

A hotel in London has put forth the announcement, "No Music," as a device for attracting guests. The manager declares that people are getting tired of eternal harmony (or what passes for such) while they dine, and that conversation unaccompanied is more soothing.

There's nothing like paper. According to the Engineer, an American firm is turning out a large quantity of paper tiles for roofing purposes. They are said to be hard and tough, and the glazing somewhat resembles Japanese lacquer. They are said to be cheap, and can be made in any color or shape to suit the purpose.

A man was brought into the Springfield, Massachusetts, police court the other day, charged with neglecting to support his wife. He pleaded guilty, and was fined $20. Thereupon his neglected wife stepped up to the clerk's desk and paid the fine, which was promptly refunded to her, under the provision of the law relative to non-support cases, which provides for the payment of the amount of the fine imposed on the husband to the wife when the court so directs.

The current year promises to make a record in the matter of the organization of new national banks, that is, dating from the 1893 panic. At least 85 institutions have applied for or have taken out national charters this year, and the number of national banks for the first time since 1892 will show a large gain in the aggregate number of institutions. The capital of the banks organized or in the course of organization amounts to $12,000,000, while the decrease owing to liquidations or failures is only $2,600,000 making a net gain in the live capital of $10,000,000.

A London paper tells a new story of Father Stanton of London. Bishop Creighton not long ago visited his church, St. Alban's, High Holborn. Immediately after the service which he attended was over he made several attempts to talk to him, but the wily Father talked so incessantly himself that it was impossible to get a word in edgeways. When seated in his carriage, however, the Bishop managed to say: "I like your service, Stanton, but I don't like your incense." "Very sorry, my Lord, very sorry," rejoined Father Stanton, "but it's the best I can get for the money—3s. 6d. a pound!"

A recent meeting of Confederate veterans moved the Wilcox, Georgia, New Era to the following flight of eloquence: "Who is it that has done so much to keep alive the spirit of patriotism in our midst? A veteran, and one of those veterans who fought for existence, snatched freedom from the grave and loaned hope to the archangels to fan the throne of God. In the estimate of peoples and nations who love liberty and hold to Lost Causes that were dear to their hearts, J. Fleet Foster must ever stand pre-eminent, rightly demanding and forever receiving the unrestrained and enthusiastic plaudits of all true patriots."

Proposals are being entertained by the French military authorities for a new weapon called the pistol saber, which, if adopted, will be put in use in several cavalry regiments. This is an ordinary saber provided with a small firman lodged in the hilt. On encountering a resistant surface the blade recoils and discharges a pistol, a recoil about a tenth of an inch being sufficient for the purpose. The shot will, it has been ascertained, penetrate a steel breastplate. It is expected that the new weapon, which weighs only one-third more than the ordinary saber and which, of course, when the pistol is not loaded, can be employed in the usual way, will prove very serviceable, particularly in engagements between bodies of cavalry.

Tan shoes are common enough now, but time was when only the naughty little boy or girl knew much about the tan slipper.—Boston Transcript.

FROM GLORY TO GLORY.

The people of this country will be deeply interested in the announcement that Admiral Dewey has been as fortunate in love as he has been in war. With a new house and a new wife he will be able to enjoy life in Washington, and as long as he lives he will be cheered by evidences of the gratitude and admiration of his countrymen. May he live long to be cheered by them. His is the reward of merit, and the more his merit is contemplated the larger and more solid it looks.

MORE FIGHTING.

No confirmation has been had of the startling report received in Berlin from Holland that the whole British army at Ladysmith has surrendered, and that the troops are now prisoners of war, but there has been a battle near Ladysmith in which the British were not as successful as they had hoped to be. The Boer artillery and the Boer troops were well handled, and at last accounts the British were falling back, having failed to carry out their plan.

It is evident that the British need the help that is on the way to them, and there may be no decisive movement until that help arrives unless the Boers force the situation. Why they have not done so before now is not clear, as they will have no chance of success when all the English troops arrive and attack them in earnest.

ANOTHER SESSION.

This evening the intelligent committee which is investigating the system of supervisors in the public schools of New Haven will meet again. The session promises to be interesting. The investigation is making good progress, much better than there was reason to expect when it began, and when the intelligence of the committee was so unjustly assailed. There is no doubt now about the intelligence of the committee and no doubt about the fitness of some of the questioners who appear before the committee. It is already pretty well established that it is not an impertinence for taxpayers to want to know how their money is spent, and it is evident that there is much uncertainty in the public mind about some of the educational things that are called "frills." Perhaps this investigation will not settle all the questions that have arisen, but it will do some good. Indeed, it has already done some.

PLEASING EXPANSION.

The Trans-Siberian railroad will, it is expected, be finished next Spring. The part which United States skill has played in its construction and equipment is interesting. In 1896 everything for the railroad work was being supplied by England and Germany and the Russians had no idea that we could compete with those countries. The English thought so, too, and were charging a big price. As our goods were offered at a much lower price, in some instances only half the English figure, the Russians decided to make a trial of them. That a trial was all that was needed is shown by the fact that we have now virtually driven the English and Germans from the field. We have a monopoly of the nails and structural iron used. Forty locomotives are now on their way and sixty more will soon follow. Thousands of cars, passenger and freight, have been ordered. American steel rails to the extent of 50,000 tons will be laid in Manchuria, and large orders are being filled here for electric supplies and material for equipment of cars and stations. Railroad cross ties from Oregon, tools from Ohio, steel rails and locomotives from Pennsylvania will make parts of this great railroad and its furnishings.

And having got hold in Russia the United States will keep hold by furnishing the best supplies at reasonable prices.

CEMENT BREAKWATERS.

The cement breaker at Marquette is one of the most interesting government works on the great lakes, as it is the pioneer of a new class of construction, being the first breaker built of natural cement. When the work was begun many engineers doubted if the natural cement could be used in place of Portland, which sells at about three dollars a barrel, and which is altogether too expensive for such work. But experience has proved that, mixed with a small quantity of Portland, it answers every purpose, and, indeed, so well has the early built part of the breaker withstood the severe tests of wave action and climate to which it has been subjected that the government has undertaken a great deal larger work of the same kind at Duluth. The alternating heat of summer and the terrific cold of winter have not cracked the cement, waves have not affected it in the least, and ice and logs which have battered it for weeks at a time have scarcely more than scratched it. It is calculated that the first year after a block is put in it will be cut down three one-hundredths of an inch by these agents, but that the abrasion is less year after year, till, when time has been given for the cement to harden thoroughly, it becomes practically nothing. Engineers say the structure will be standing in good serviceable condition one hundred years from now. Twelve years is the average life of the old-style, wooden-cribbled breaker filled with stone. As the cost of the concrete structure is but little in excess of the other it is easy to see the economy to the government in the new style.

FASHION NOTES.

Ende to Still Faultfinders. The left hand gown of the two shown herewith is, in its material, representative of many stylish dresses. At top and bottom was black broadcloth, while the princess polonaise was red cloth. The cloths may be of almost any shade; so they are two the result is in touch with this fashion. On the red stuff of this gown were bias folds and black silk frogging. That was all the trimming, and its scantiness was correct, for the two-cloth gowns are not freely trimmed. A bit more of adornment is now seen than there was when these dresses first appeared, and one stuff may be striped rather than of solid color, but the general scheme of the pictured suit is safer. In cut, too,

It was one of an abundant sort, this because the princess polonaise may be worn by many to whom the entire princess gown is too trying. With the companion figure to this is displayed one of the many gowns that designers have offered as new to their critics. Stylish women have commenced to tire of cloth gowns, complaining that they are monotonous. So forth come novel arrangements to still these faultfinders. The novelty of this dress lay in the arrangement of all but the plain front and sleeves. There were series of deep pleats, each pleat finished with an embroidered design in black soutache. Sleeves and front were green velvet, the pleated portions green ladies' cloth. The criticism that leads to such output can hardly be considered an indication of a coming change that will displace cloths. They have too firm a hold and deserve that hold too well. The faultfinders, though women of means who spend much on their attire, are more finicky than influential in fashion changes. FLORETTE.

It is Very Comfortful.

It is very comfortful. When your hand gets' in your eye, And the crow feet in your eyes have come to stay. Just to feel her little hand Smoothin' back each silver strand. While you meet her lovin' look and hear her say. "My dear, it seems as though Every year you live you grow Handsomer than in the golden day"; Then you look up at your wife And you think in all your life You never heard a sweeter word of praise. But the tear drops will arise To your dim old faded eyes. And you kiss the gentle hand, still white and soft, and smile; While you try to tell her how You loved her then—love her now. Put bless me! the words will come at all; For just then there comes to you The trials she's gone thro'. And borne without a murmur for your sake. You can only bow your head At the lovin' things she's said. While your poor old heart will only ache and ache. But she knows what ails you then, And she kisses you again, sweet and low. "Life's a sight more hopes than fears, And you're a sight more smiles than tears. And the years seem ever brighter as they go. Yes, it's comfortful, you know. When your step is gettin' hilt And you're slidin' down life's hill a'mighty fast. Just to feel her little hand Smoothin' back each silver strand. While she tells you that she'll love you to the last." —The Los Angeles Herald.

of sauteine boiled down with thyme and bayleaf. Peacocks are also cooked, but are so expensive as to be found only in the best hotels and the houses of the rich. A favorite way of fattening poultry here is to put them in barrels and stuff them with walnuts and cornmeal for several days before they are killed, somewhat as Americans fatten turkeys for Thanksgiving—such savages we mortals be in all parts of the world! Just before Christmas, all over Cuba, turkeys are driven from door to door through the city streets, in droves of from forty to one hundred, for people to make their own selection. Guinea hens, guinea pigs, mountain rats and a variety of small birds enter into the festive menu. Beef, mutton and pork killed the day before are being used, often cooked as soon as killed, because they cannot be kept in this warm climate. For the same reason reputable Cuban cooks will never buy fish unless they are alive, and the markets have big tanks full of fish swimming about. Shrimp, lobsters and mussels are very small here, and the little tasteless oysters grow on the submerged branches of shrubs and trees along the coast; therefore, instead of buying them by the peck unshelled, or by the quart or can, as at home, you go to market and get a branch of oysters, as if they were cherries.

Terrapin and turtles are fine enough to make up for the lack of oysters, and the crabs are better than the best found in the lower Potomac—which is saying a great deal for them. Land crabs, especially, grow great size, and their bodies stand high from the ground on their enormous claws. They burrow in holes, and their clumsy locomotion is like that of a man who has looked too long upon the wine when it is red. Cooks feed these monsters on cornmeal for several days before they are to be dropped into boiling water or oil. Cubans are adepts in pastry, but they never make pies. Their desserts are principally of fruits, uncooked and in compotes, with too much sweetness for the American taste. They make puddings and cakes, also, and a kind of custard called "flam," compounded of eggs, milk, cornstarch, with lemons or bananas and a dash of red wine. Everybody in Cuba who has a cent to spare eats "monte casado" (ice cream) at least once every day, usually just before going to bed. Few make it in their houses, but send to the pastry shops for it, just as the bread rolls are sent in for breakfast. Another strange but delicious dessert, whose mysteries I have never been able to fathom, is called tortona, and is found only in the best cafes. It looks like a slice from a slab of pink tinted ice cream, but is not ice cream at all, though very cold. —Santa Clara Correspondence of the Philadelphia Record.

Opening Meeting of Cadmus Literary Club—Death of George A. Talmadge of East Haven—Rev. A. F. Irvine to Start Mission Movement in Seventh Ward.

The first meeting of the season of the Cadmus Literary club was held with Mrs. Ella Emery on Blatchley avenue. The exercises included a paper prepared and read by Mrs. Frederick Sanford on "The South African Question" and a paper on "President Kruger" was read by Mrs. William Hall.

George A. Talmadge died at his home in East Haven Sunday at the age of forty-nine years. He was a native of Fair Haven and resided here until a few years ago. He leaves a widow and three children. He was a son of Orin Talmadge of Fair Haven. He had been ill for some time with Bright's disease. The funeral will take place from the home of the deceased this afternoon.

Rev. A. F. Irvine of the Second Congregational church has in contemplation the inauguration of a mission movement in the Seventh ward and outlined his plans to his congregation on Sunday. His plan is to unite with another church society in carrying out the enterprise. It is expected that a meeting will be held in a few days to discuss the project and to provide ways and means. There is no Protestant church in the neighborhood and Mr. Irvine believes there is a good field in the territory for the inauguration of mission work.

A schooner has been waiting at Chincontague, Va., nearly ten days to load a cargo of oysters for Miles Tuttle. No loading could be done owing to the bad weather, but it is expected that the oystermen began putting oysters on board yesterday.

The gates which admit the water to the ponds of the Consumers' Ice company near Quinnipiac avenue have been shut down to flood the pond preparatory to cold weather; but the ponds will not fill very much until there is rain. A large quantity of ice is cut at the ponds every winter when the weather is suitable for ice making.

officer, and W. J. Weld was secretary. After prayer and approval of previous records the treasurer, Pierce N. Welch, presented as his report to the general fund, receipts from individual subscriptions, church and Sunday school offerings, various funds and other sources of income $4,994.59, and payments of $4,512.96 for rent, repayment of loans, salaries, taxes, insurance and sundry expense account, with a balance of $281.63 on hand and no unpaid indebtedness.

As chairman of the building fund committee Mr. Welch reported receipts of $6,561.59 and payments of $5,448.74 most of which has been invested for future use. There is also over $1,000 on hand ready for investment or use.

The report of the financial secretary, Prof. F. R. Honey, showed over $3,000 received during the past year from nearly 500 individual subscribers, besides offerings from twenty-two churches of six different denominations. The cash receipts for the building fund during the past year were reported by Prof. Honey as over $6,000, with pledges amounting to $4,000 more, an increase of $10,000 to the building fund for the new Mission hall.

Upon report of the nominating committee there were then elected the following officers for the new year: President, Rev. Dr. Gilbert, pastor of Trinity Methodist church; vice president, Rev. Stewart Means, rector of St. John's Episcopal church; secretary, W. J. Weld; treasurer, Pierce N. Welch, president of the First National bank.

Five directors were elected as follows: John T. Sloan, J. Y. McDermott, A. E. Lines, Charles L. Baldwin and Levi C. Gilbert. The full board consists of fifteen directors elected in groups of five for three years each.

Brief reports from the different departments of the work of the association were then made by Rev. Mr. Mossman, general superintendent; Miss Fume, the lady missionary; Miss Scott, missionary visitor; Mrs. Finken of the Mothers' Daughters; General Perigo, of the Boys' Brigade, and Mr. Brooks of the Friendly visitors. Opportunity was also given for questions by any member of the association in regard to any part of the work, and much interest was expressed by those present. The meeting was closed with prayer by Rev. Dr. Brown.

ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING

Of the City Missionary Association Held Yesterday.

STOVE WEEK

We find that we are overstocked with "Golden Rod" and "Starling" self-feeding stoves. In order to dispose of them rapidly we have reduced their price to range from $17.00 to $23.00 each and in addition, furnish free (for this week only) pipe and zinc to go with them.

These lines of stoves are too well known to require introduction. They are base burners with draw center grate, full nickle trim, and are as ornamental as useful. One will have to see them to appreciate their value.

Our Terms of "ONE DOLLAR DOWN AND ONE DOLLAR PER WEEK" if you so desire.

of the stereopticon, and given after a very successful performance. The idea is unique and the result very charming. Johnson and Dean, a genuine "jolly" team, bring down the house. De Haven and Mal, the clever children, who sing and act delightfully, were made favorites at once, and Lillie Western astonished and delighted the musicians with her playing of many instruments. Her xylophone work is superb. Excellent vocal solos and trios are given by the Comopolitan Trio in their musical comedy, and Deaver's Marionettes, as usual, afforded a wealth of amusement. Mr. and Mrs. Neville in comedy, Gilbert Sarnoy, monologue, and the Virginia Trio complete the bill. Prices 10 cents and 20 cents; ladies at matinee 10 cents.

A Special Meeting of the Board of Directors Held Last Night. A special meeting of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. was held last evening in the secretary's room. It was thought that some plan would be outlined or that further arrangements would be made for going ahead on the Y. M. C. Secretary Lotze said last night that the subscriptions would be taken up at once and at the next meeting a report to the public would be made. The meeting adjourned indefinitely.

GOLD FRET ALASKA.

San Francisco, Oct. 30.—The steamer Bertha arrived here to-day from St. Michaels with 375 passengers, most of whom are from Cape Nome district. The aggregate wealth of the Bertha's passengers is placed at over $2,000,000. The miners say the district is far richer than the Klondike, though not so healthy. The sanitary conditions are reported to be worse than at Dawson.

The Bertha brought down the body of Fred Griffin, formerly of Omaha, who committed suicide at Cape Nome on account of sickness.

Several of the Bertha's passengers are suffering from typhoid pneumonia and were removed to hospital's stretchers.

DEMAND INCREASED WAGES.

Mill Operatives of Fall River Want 10 Per Cent. Advance. Fall River, Mass., Oct. 30.—The mill operatives of Fall River, through their representatives in the textile council, have asked for an increase of 10 per cent. in their wages, to take effect Monday, November 13. The manufacturers through their committee replied that they had no power to grant the increase asked for, but would refer the request back to their association for instruction.

The conference was presided over by President Chase of the Manufacturers. It lasted three hours, and the proceedings were harmonious and the discussion full. The request was for an increase of 10 per cent. on the old basis for 25c a yard for regulars. It was represented by the textile council that the market conditions favor the request. The reply of the committee of manufacturers was decisive and against granting the request, based on margins. It was set forth by the manufacturers that the margin is now 7 points lower than was the case when wages were increased last spring. They admitted that the price of cloth is higher, but cotton costs two cents per pound. The margin figured from prices of cotton and cloth last spring was 7 1/2c, while it is now but 6 1/2c. The native textile council said these margins, as in the past, have been reckoned on a basis of regular prices, which now form less than 10 per cent. of the goods manufactured here now. It was also urged that the price of the regulars from which the margin is reckoned is held far lower compared with the other grades of goods produced from the loom. The fair thing, they urged, was to make the price of regulars equal in comparison to the odds, say 2 1/2c, when the price is 2 1/2c, and then figure. A margin would then be shown equal to that point, the last winter, when a restoration was granted to the help.

The manufacturers in turn said that the extra price for odds, in many instances, was a result of holding the goods on speculation; that they might have lost by holding; that the employees in that case could not have been asked to share the loss; that the operatives have no right to share in the result of a successful speculation. They also claimed that figured regulars at 2 1/2c, even the margin would fall nearly a point short of what it was when wages were raised last winter. The textile representatives insisted that the present condition when odds and special grades are selling so high, it is perfectly fair to urge for an increase. The manufacturers' committee contended that the mills could not make fair returns to stockholders if the increase would be granted. However, they were to-day's conference, but were present to hear what their employees had to say and report to the association.

The decision of the manufacturers' association and its reception by this city of mill operatives, will now be awaited with interest by the cotton manufacturing interests of the country.

TRAEGER'S REJUVENATED.

To Be Formally Opened To-morrow Night as the Groveland Hotel. The old "Traegers" on Chapel street, adjoining the Graduates' club, will be formally opened to-morrow evening by Ambrose McPhelimy of Danbury, brother of William McPhelimy, proprietor of the Groveland Hotel in that place, throughout the state. The new proprietor of Traegers was for many years associated with his brother in the conduct of the Groveland and is a hotel and cafe man of experience. The restaurant of the popular old Chapel street cafe will be made an especial feature under the new management and Bernard Pere, former chef of the Hollywood hotel at Long Branch, has been engaged as chef. He is well known as the friend of epicures and was for some time with Brown's chop house, a former New York resort. Mr. McPhelimy starts out with the intention of making his cafe one of the best in New England is prepared to cater to the best class of trade of that kind in New Haven.

The new Traegers will be given the name "The Groveland Hotel." An elaborate buffet lunch will be served at the opening to-morrow night and Fred Guilford's orchestra will furnish music. The opening night will be marked by other interesting and pleasing features appropriate to a first class and up-to-date place of the kind. Mr. McPhelimy intends to make it the Delmonico's of New Haven and is certainly well equipped to carry out that idea.

In the spring seventy-five rooms for gentlemen will be opened and equipped with all modern conveniences to meet a long standing demand for a first class gentlemen's hotel in this city. It is expected that on the occasion of the opening to-morrow night there will be present well known men from New York, Boston and cities of this state.

BUILDING PERMIT ISSUED.

For an Addition to the Whittemore Building. Fire Marshal Gladwin yesterday afternoon issued to Dr. Frank H. Whittemore a building permit to erect an addition to the Whittemore building on Chapel street, opposite Osborn hall. The cost of the addition will be about $4,500.

GEN. OTIS AS A CIVILIZER.

Let me escape the censor for a while and endeavor to let in a little light on the official life of the Governor-General of the Philippine Islands. He lives in a palace and walled city. His is a life of ease, and outside of his sensitiveness over newspaper criticisms from home troubles are few. For the criticisms of the Manila papers he has no fear, nor cares he for those of his subordinates. His word places a newspaper man in Bilibid prison, and his word will court-martial a free-spoken officer. Any newspaper man who dared to utter a word against any act of Gen. Otis, or his wife, would find himself in Bilibid within an hour.

He is a nautocrat. No one can see him except through a maze of red-tape second lieutenants and majors, and if he is an American it is doubtful if he ever gets to see him at all. But any foreign person—from a Chinese opium-joint proprietor to a European renegade—to him he is all suavity.

This American refuses to hear petitions from honorably discharged soldiers for a license to engage in business of any kind, by which they might be able to get a living, yet when he first assumed his office he made it a point to impress upon commanding officers of troops that if any of the privates desired to secure their discharges and remain in the newly acquired country he would do all in his power to further their interests. This declaration, which he has utterly repudiated, was made when he was anxious about his status with the government, and his idea was to secure the good will of these officers in their homes communities. Since Alger "fixed him" permanently he has haughtily declared that he never uttered that remark.

How far he has gone in his repudiation may be inferred from the fact that now any foreigner—Chinese, Filipino, renegade European—what not—anything but an American ex-soldier or civilian—can get a license to do anything, sell anything, and keep any kind of a place, and he has appointed to positions in the palace, in the customhouse, Captain of the Port's office, and in all other offices of the government except the postoffice, beach-combers, renegade aliens, and riff-raff of all nations, while a poor ex-soldier has begged for employment in vain.

The appointments made by Gen. Otis to the judiciary of Manila are in keeping with the rest of the misrule. All the magistrates are Filipinos—at least names of the government they serve their knowledge of the American law nil. These men who do not even speak English, to try any case, either of unruly soldiers! Think of it! Some of their decisions are so ludicrous that I will illustrate. Of course, it is understood that when the Otis government is concerned their decision is for that side, no matter how flagrant the abuse of law.

An amusing case was that of a Chinaman, wealthy man, who had bought from the Commissary a lot of beef represented to him to be sound. He attempted to sell the beef, and one of the inspectors(?) had him arrested for selling unsound meat. The Chinaman quickly proved that the United States officer sold it to him as good. Now here the little Philippine Justice got into a quandary. If he called the Commissary, Gen. Otis might interfere; if he discharged the Chinaman, there might be trouble. Just then came an officer from the palace—a wink, a word, and the Chinaman was free and the Commissary was saved a court-martial!

Gen. Otis is very careful of his health, as he has been having theridway and meat around the walled city cleaned and ditched, while about the hospitals are reeking, filthy tributaries of the Pasig, and through the new Manila runs a branch of the Pasig, just behind the post-office, which is a mass of floating filth. The contractor who has the cleaning of Manila's streets—a foreigner, of course,—has about twenty-five brown men and three little carts in a city of nearly half a million people, and with streets narrow and constantly vehicle travel one can imagine their condition. On a hot day after a rain the smell is like that of a cesspool.

All over new Manila, and even in the walled city, are to be found the worst kind of dives and gambling dens, every one of them licensed by Gen. Otis. On the Escolta, the main thoroughfare of new Manila, are to be found hundreds of rum-shops, wide open, where every day thousands of soldiers congregate. The grim German, whose outspoken antipathy to the present government is offset by the beer and villainous liquor he sells, often has murder done in his place—every day he has serious

BIG METHODIST GATHERING

PROGRAMME FOR THE MID-YEAR ASSEMBLY IN BRIDGEPORT.

Clergymen of New York East Conference Will Meet for a Two Days' Session—Bishop Vincent to Lecture, and Rev. J. M. Buckley to Talk About "Christian Science and Faith Healing."

The mid-year assembly of the New York East conference is to be held at the First M. E. church, Bridgeport, next week Tuesday and Wednesday. The first of these mid-year meetings was held a year ago at Stamford, and more than half the clergymen of the New York East Conference attended. Rev. H. E. Burnes, formerly of New Haven, pastor of the First M. E. church, Bridgeport, is making arrangements for the entertainment of the members who will remain here through the two days.

There are to be some prominent speakers, among them Bishop John H. Vincent, who will give his lecture entitled "The Law of the Unit." Bishop Vincent is to speak upon the spiritual aspects of the Twentieth Century Spirit Offering Movement. President Raymond of Wesleyan university and H. H. Benedict of New Haven are to speak upon the educational and financial aspects of the same subject. Professor Sanders of Yale and Professor Buell of Boston university are to speak upon Old Testament and New Testament topics, respectively, and Rev. W. C. Blakeman will discuss "The Secret of Kipling."

Dr. Joseph Pullman, formerly pastor of the Bridgeport church, will discuss Clark's "Outlines of Theology." Three minute addresses are to be heard from Revs. O. F. Bartholow, H. E. Burnes, G. S. Eldridge, A. S. Kavanagh, J. W. Maynard, G. C. Peck, A. McRossie, F. B. Stockdale, C. P. Tinker, and F. B. Upham. Drs. A. E. Blake and C. S. Wing, the latter formerly of New Haven, will talk upon "Some Things I Wish I Had Known at the Beginning of My Ministry." There will also be a discussion upon the subject, "Some Things the General Conference Ought, and Some Things It Ought Not to Do." Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley, the talented orator, will lecture at the closing session on Wednesday night on "Christian Science and Faith Healing," a subject that he has handled on previous occasions in an interesting manner. There are a number of other addresses scheduled during the session. Next to the general conference this is the biggest gathering of the year in Methodist circles in the New York East conference.

CAPTAIN CRANDALL DROWNED.

Aged Skipper Who Participated in Transatlantic Yacht Race of 1898 Drowned. New London, Oct. 30.—After spending a long life at sea Captain James Crandall, aged seventy, was drowned yesterday morning off Eastern Point, only a short distance from his home. Captain Crandall was a Seventh Day Baptist, and after resting from his labors Saturday started out as usual Sunday morning in his small sloop to look after his lobster pots.

While he was sailing near Black Ledge the three-masted schooner Wandrian, with coal, from New York for Nova Scotia, came into collision with the sloop and sank her almost instantly. Captain Crandall could not swim and kept up for only a few seconds. A boat was lowered from the schooner, but no trace of the captain was found. He was sailing master on the schooner Magic, previous to her winning the America's cup. For nearly eighteen years Captain Crandall was on the Fleetwing.

Captain Crandall, Captain Thomas Beebe of this city, and Captains Wood and Hazleton of New York were sailing masters of the Fleetwing in the race with the Henrietta and Vesta, from Sandy Hook to the Needles of Cuxhaven for a purse of $20,000. During the trip the Fleetwing encountered a gale that swept Wood and Hazleton and several of the crew overboard. The Henrietta managed to escape the gale and won the race. Captain Crandall's latter days were spent on fishing vessels.

TO-NIGHT'S POLO.

Springfield Will Oppose the Blues—The Game Should be Fast and Close. New Haven and New Britain are now running neck and neck in the contest for first place in the National Polo league, each team having won three out of four games played—a record to be proud of for the first week's work. But for the absence of Captain Whiting at Hartford on Saturday night it is generally conceded that the Blues would have won. Whiting was suffering from injuries received in Friday night's contest.

The New Haven team has certainly shown the pace in the first week's play, and if they can maintain it there is little doubt that the team will be leading the league most of the season. Their team work is almost perfection now and can hardly be improved on, and all that is wanted is simply to keep it up. All going well, another three victories should fall to the Blues this week. Springfield last season felt an uneasy prey both at home and abroad. What they will do this season can better be told after to-night's game. The Blackbirds are composed of speedy and scientific players, and the game at the rink to-night ought to please every crank. From the advance sale of seats another large attendance is assured at to-night's game. Tickets can be had at Weil's cigar store, Chapel street, up to six o'clock.

DIVIDENDS OF $42,000.

Hartford Street Railway Company's Showing for a Year. Hartford, Oct. 30.—The showing made by the Hartford Street Railway company during the past year is one which must be gratifying to the stockholders and the management. From the report for the year ending June 30, filed with the railroad commission, it is shown that dividends of $42,000 were paid in addition to an outlay of $123,171.71 for construction and equipment. The magnitude of the business is shown by the fact that during the year 12,396,948 passengers were carried and the receipts were $618,913.33.

ADDRESS BY PRES. HADLEY.

Mass Meeting of University Students Interested in Debating. President Hadley addressed a mass meeting of the students of the university in Osborn hall last evening. The meeting was called with the object of presenting to the students the desirability of entering into the field of debate. Besides President Hadley, Professor William G. Sumner was present and also spoke.

The plans of the debating teams for the coming year were outlined by the officials of the Yale union. Representatives of all the debating societies of the university were present and offered remarks. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Yale Debating union, the name for the consolidated debating organization of the university. President Hadley's remarks were received with much evidence of enthusiasm. He outlined skillfully the great value of forensic training to the young man, and showed it to be within the grasp of all. He himself was one of the founders of debate in Yale. It is believed that the influence of the meeting will be widespread.

MRS. MARY E. BEACH DEAD.

Former Well Known New Havenite Passes Away in Derby. Mrs. Mary E. Beach, wife of Nelson M. Beach, died at her home in Derby Neck on Sunday night about 11:30 o'clock, aged eighty-three years seven months and twenty days. Her death was due to a general breaking up of the system. She had been sick some time, and for the past week her death had been expected daily. Mrs. Beach lived in New Haven ten years of her life, and was very well known here. She was born in Derby March 9, 1816, and was one of the best known citizens of that place. She leaves besides her husband five sons, a sister and a brother. Mrs. Beach was a woman of remarkably strong character and won the love and admiration of all who knew her.

HORSE GUARD'S BALL.

To be Given on Thanksgiving Eve This Year. The ball committee of the Horse Guard met at the conclusion of the drill last evening and fixed upon a date for the company's annual ball. They have decided to hold it this year on Thanksgiving eve. The committee will spare no pains to make the event a successful, as well as enjoyable one. They will invite Governor Lounsbury and his staff and confidently expect an invitation which they will extend to the first company of the Guard to be accepted. The ball will be held in the armory, which will be beautifully decorated for the occasion. A full brass band will furnish music for dancing.

GAME ABOUT WINSTED.

Hunters report game birds quite abundant in the woods about Winchester, Norfolk and Colbrook, and in other towns in northwestern Litchfield county. Several strings of game were brought into town Saturday. A small deer, a young one evidently, was on the trolley track between Winsted and Burrville on Friday, but the animal took fright at the car when it was perhaps one hundred feet or more distant, and ran off upon taking a look at the car.
