FUNERAL OF MRS. EMIL LOOS.
 A Large Concourse of Friends Present at the Services Saturday Afternoon. The funeral services over the remains of the late Christina, wife of Emil Loos, took place Saturday afternoon. At 2:30 o'clock services were held at the late home of the deceased, 90 Nicoll street, and at 3 o'clock at the Zion German Lutheran church, corner of Davenport avenue and Ward street. There was a large concourse of relatives and friends present to pay a last sad tribute of respect to the deceased. Rev. Edward H. Fisher, pastor of the church, officiated at the house and at the church. During the course of his remarks Rev. Mr. Fisher paid a high tribute to the deceased as a Christian lady and exhorted the mourners and others present to follow in her footsteps and lead an exemplary Christian and God-fearing life and prepare to enter the kingdom of God. The children of the parochial school sweetly sang a fitting song, the choir rendered the song, "Neher, Mein Gott, Zu Dir," which was an appropriate selection for the occasion, the solo part being sung by Miss Augusta Weidner, and Otto Craemer feelingly sang the tenor solo, "Es Ist Bestimmt in Gottes Rath." Rev. William Koepchen, the former pastor of the church and a friend of the family, officiated at the grave. Interment was in the family plot in Evergreen cemetery. The flower bearers were Lenhart Heilmann and Hugo Knecht, and the pallbearers were Otto Craemer, Ernst Craemer, Charles Stephan and John Stephan. The floral offerings were many and beautiful and included a pillow with the word "Wife" from the husband of the deceased, a pillow with the word "Mother" from the children of the deceased, a large harp with the word "Sympathy" from the fellow employees of Mr. Loos at the Marlin Firearms company, a crescent from the ladies' society of the church, of which the deceased was a valued member, a panel of pink and white carnations from Ludwig Wolf and family, and numerous others from relatives and friends. William F. Stahl was the funeral director in charge.

ENTERTAINMENTS.
Hyperion Theater.
 With the simple announcement that Sousa is coming with his famous band the rush for seats is invariable, for the people grow more fond every time Sousa comes, and more resolved to be on hand the next time. There is always something new to electrify, a matter that the great leader apparently as much enjoys in providing and the people do in hearing. Sousa is said to be loaded with novelties on the present tour preparatory to a European concert tour. Among them are two marches of his own, "The Man Behind the Gun" (from Christ and the Wonderful Lamp) and "Hands Across the Sea." The special soloists are Miss Bertha Bucklin, violin, and Miss Blanche Duffield, soprano. The band soloists include Arthur Pryor, trombone, and Franz Hell, flugelhorn. The only appearance in this section this season will occur to-night at the Hyperion. Seats now on sale. Prices $1.75c, 50c.

Grand Opera House.
 Mirth and music will be charmingly blended in the performance of that most delightful of comedies, "All the Comforts of Home," which is to be given at the Grand Opera House to-night and to-morrow night by Miss Mable Edwards, Guy Taylor Bennette, and a specially select company of players, coming directly from New York. "All the Comforts of Home" just prior to this company being sent on a road tour was revived Christmas week as the holiday attraction of a leading New York theater, and the phenomenal business done was convincing proof. If proof were needed, that William Gillette's bright conception had retained its hold on the affection of those who love to laugh, and go to the theater not to be elevated or educated, but to be amused. This company not only comes to us with metropolitan prestige, but has the advantage of Mr. Gillette's supervision and the elaborate equipment which Mr. Frohman gave the original New York production. The interpolated specialties are an added feature, and so also to feminine beholders at least, will be the costly Worth gowns worn by Miss Edwards. Don't forget the special matinee to be given Tuesday, as there will be no matinee Wednesday. Seats now on sale. Regular prices.

Poll's Wonderland Theater.
 At Poll's this week is all that makes the vaudeville show popular—singing, dancing, novelty, acrobatics, a little sensational marksmanship, pretty girls galore and everything clear and bright. Five of the acts are head lines. Sam, Kittle and pretty Clara Louise Morton will give their new up-to-date sketch "The Dancing Admiral." The Quaker City quartet, superb singers and comedians, will be the musical feature. Stinson and Merton in an absurdity called "The Unexpected" are sure of a laugh every half minute; Stephens and Taylor, two cracker-jack comedians will play "Mrs. Smith's Baby," and Lottie Fremont will introduce her "Jew Pickanninies." The sharp-shooting act of Coleman and Mexis is credited with being the wonder of the day, a magnificent display of skill in legitimate shooting, with no fakes. Tina, a pretty child who was taught to sing and dance by Barney Faagan, promises a treat, and the Marinellas in wine acrobatics, and Wood and Ray in comedy sketch will complete the bill. Prices, matinees, 10c and 20c; evenings, 10c, 20c, and 30c. Ladies at matinees, 10c.

Appropriate to the Last.
 "We are organizing a new illuminating gas company," said the promoter. "Give me a good name for it."
 "Something classic?" asked the professor, to whom the question had been referred.
 "Yes, but not too all-fired classic."
 "Well, how would 'Eusebius' do?"
 "That's capital!" rejoined the promoter, as the significance of the title gradually dawned upon him.
 The name was adopted accordingly, and a few months later the gas trust, responding to what seemed to be an invitation conveyed in the last two syllables of it, bought the new company out.—Chicago Tribune.

MOODY AND MARTINEAU

THE TWO DISCUSSED BY REV. W. F. DICKERMAN.

Similarity in the Lives of Two Great Men—Both Imbued With the Highest Sense of Christianity—Non-Sectarian in Their Teachings.

At the Church of the Messiah yesterday morning the pastor, Rev. W. L. Dickerman delivered a very interesting discourse on "Dwight L. Moody and James L. Martineau." He spoke in part as follows:

"How different were the molds in which these two men were being cast. They arrived at the same spiritual conclusion by different modes of logic, but in real practical righteousness they were practically one. Very early in life Moody left home and went to work in a store in Boston. He was an impressionable young man, and deeply religious in his make-up, which accounts for his coming, while yet young, under the influence of a band of evangelists and thus entering evangelistic fields. He was the last in the line of great revivalists, undoubtedly, although his methods were very much different from those of the old evangelists. Moody never approached a town in which he was to conduct evangelistic services, unless everything had been prepared for his coming—the millinery, the Sunday school, the choir, all had to be in readiness. This methodical manner of insisting upon thorough arrangement was undoubtedly responsible for a large measure of the success which Moody achieved.

"Moody's meetings were always noticeable for their enthusiasm, but they were noticeable also as much for the absence of that fanaticism which marked other meetings of the same sort. This was mainly due to the calmness and forcefulness of Moody's preaching. His discourse was notable at all times for the absence of fine theological distinctions, and for its simplicity. It was ever free from threats and from the coarse phrases of other evangelists.

"Mr. Martineau was a man of strong contrast to Mr. Moody. He was a man of great industrial habits, who wrote and printed constantly. He was intense in his attacks upon the enemies of Christianity and one of the strongest defenders of the Christian cause. Moody and Martineau seemed to have been reared upon a common plane; both were imbued with the highest sense of Christianity. Martineau was ever thoroughly alert to the great questions of the day and perhaps no man ever did more to combat the materialistic agnosticism of his day. It is thought, indeed, by many that he practically saved England from intellectual chaos during that period when men of agnostic views were coming to the front. He was never in favor of any sort of sectarian movement, for he felt that the church should be entirely above any division, and he therefore steadfastly refused to attach himself to any sect. Here all Moody and Martineau met here a striking resemblance to each other. Moody, although a Congregationalist, was so free in his teachings that people, unless they knew, were always at a loss to know to what sect he belonged."

ENCAMPMENT AT WINSTED.

State G. A. R. Meeting to be Held There Next May. Hartford, Feb. 4.—The council of administration of the Connecticut G. A. R. held a meeting at the United States hotel Saturday afternoon, when Winsted was selected as the place to hold the thirty-third annual encampment in May. The invitation came from Palmer post.

Letters were received from the Grand army posts in New Haven and New Britain—Admiral Foote and Stanley—to the effect that it would not be convenient for the encampment to be held under their auspices this year.

CAPTAIN WILKINS NO BETTER.

Captain Wilkins' condition remains about the same at Grace hospital. He is suffering from a cancerous growth, and while it is not thought that there is any immediate danger, his ailment is thought to be incurable. He is not confined to his bed, but can sit up and on pleasant days walks about the hospital grounds. The physicians will not, however, permit him to go out on cold days. While there is no perceptible change in his condition, he is daily growing weaker.

DEATH OF MISS ROBINSON.

A Hartford dispatch says: Miss Eliza Trumbull Robinson, daughter of the late Lucius T. Robinson and granddaughter of Governor Joseph Trumbull, died Saturday morning at the home of her brother-in-law, Major Louis E. Cheney, from the effects of an apoplectic shock. Death was sudden. Week before last she was one of the assistants at the Post Guard, carnival and was apparently in the best of health.

The strongest, purest, most efficient and wholesome of leavening agents. Not lowest in price, yet the most economical; in 1900, as in the past, indispensable to the work of the pastry cook.

The New Year brings prosperity almost unsurpassed in the history of the country.

For every one there is money enough to buy that to eat which is pure, sound, good, wholesome.

Why should we use cheap, impure, unhealthful articles of food? There is no economy in them; they endanger the health, they may cost life. There are reported almost daily cases of sickness caused by eating cake, puddings or biscuit made with the cheap, alum baking powders.

In all articles for food buy and use only the best. The good health of the family is of first consideration.

Alum is used in baking powders because it is cheap, costing less than two cents a pound. It is a corrosive poison. Think of feeding it to children! Yet the manufacturers of well-known alum powders are actually denying that they contain alum.

A ROYAL PALACE IN THE MARKET. The crown lease of Eltham court and palace, which forms one of the most interesting links with the past which has ever passed into the estate market, is advertised for sale. Its history dates from the time of Edward the Confessor (1042-65). At that time the manor belonged to the crown. It was granted by William the Conqueror to his brother Odo, Earl of Kent, but reverted to the crown. While the date of the erection of the palace is uncertain, it is known that it was a royal residence from 1270 to 1628. "John of Eltham," Edward IV, Edward III, Richard II, Henry IV, Henry V, Henry VI, Edward IV, Richard III, Henry VIII, Henry VIII, Mary, Elizabeth and James I. all resided at the palace. It was there, also, that Edward III held his parliament, Richard III entertained the captive King of France, Henry IV was espoused to Joan of Navarre, and Edward IV's daughter Bridget was born. After passing through other royal hands, the palace came into the possession of Sir John Shaw. It is one of the three parks known as the Middle Park that the "Middle Park Plate" takes its name. The present house retains the old name, and part of the original palace is still standing.—London Chronicle.

SURPLUS STOCK SALE!

See the Yellow Tag Sale of Furniture.

A Making Way for the Store Superb.

Yes--We are going to be a more splendid as well as a bigger store. We never rest. January is inventory month and with early February, brings the dullest days of the year. Now it's over. As a result we see confronting us what is left of the great heaps of merchandise--that were bought to oppose the startling price advances.

Surplus Stock Amounting to $51,928

Second.- We can change the dullest days of the year into the very liveliest--and we will.
Third.- The store is undergoing big changes that have created upheavals in all the stocks.

Cottons Collapse.

Prices themselves, figuratively, are away down south. We're selling them in bales, while on New York exchanges the prices of raw cottons is soaring.
36-inch Brown Sheetings, worth 8c, at 5c.
Another grade of 36-inch Brown Sheetings, worth 9c, at 6c.

Some of the Changes:

These are all in progress. It will be some days before the work is completed and ready for your approval—we hope, also, for your admiration.
The Clocks and Sets go into the most elegant quarters in New England, Mahogany finishing, after the Colonial style.

Flowers and Feathers closer neighbors of the Millinery.

The Corsets take their place near the Muslin Underwear.
The Linens come over to nearly where the books were and extend away back to Center St.
The Shoes go into their new parlor—where they were before, but more room.

2 in Dress Goods

Two features. Fine materials—every thread. Just because they're left over, they have to undergo the reduction. Before this, prices were double.
All wool checks, mixtures and silk and wool novelties. Former prices 50c to 60c. Now 25c.

Shoe Surprises

Women's rubbers. Every pair has protected toes and heels, giving twice the usual wear.
Low cut rubbers, 35c
Storm rubbers, 39c
Three hundred pairs of our regular lines of $2.00 shoes, box calf, laced, kid, button and laced. Closing out at $1.59.

A Curtain Crisis.

This is another proof of what we often feel called upon to do in the way of a price sensation. The inventory is responsible for it. It discovered a stock altogether too big for this time of year. And down they come. There are 39 patterns of Nottingham lace curtains. In some instances there are only three pairs of a pattern. But they represent every style in the higher grades of curtains, such as Irish Point, Brussels, Renaissance. 3 yards long, 60 inches wide, edges are all overlapped and stitched.

Bed Spreads.

White Crochet Bed Spreads, worth 65c, going at 10c less than that—55c; others quoted at 90c go to you at 70c; and another style worth $1.00 is a chance at 75c.

Wash Goods

Prices that Wash.
It occurred to us that an ante-opening move in wash goods would have a great deal of interest for our public. It's a matter of surplus stock though, or there never could be such prices. The chances are certainly timely. Your's going to pay more later.
Real French Organdies, the 37c kind. Just for this sale, 12 1-2c.

The Season's Silks--at 49c.
