IN AND ABOUT THE COURTS

CASE OF M'CORMICK VS. SMITH HEARD YESTERDAY.

Charge of Malicious Prosecution Against the Oyster Dealer.

The suit of James A. McCormick and wife against Riley T. Smith, a member of the oyster firm of Jeremiah Smith's Sons, was begun in the superior court yesterday.

The action is brought to recover $5,000 damages for alleged malicious prosecution. Attorneys Charles H. Fowler and John Elliott, appearing for the plaintiffs. In his opening statement to the jury Mr. Fowler said that Mrs. Lydia McCormick, two years ago kept a student boarding house, and being in need of money to buy furnishings, asked for a loan from Mr. Smith. She got two blank notes and brought them to Mr. Smith. He refused to loan the money, saying that he might need it in his business, but offered to endorse a note for her for $150. She tried to get the note discounted at the Mechanics' bank, but the loan was declined. She did succeed, however, in selling the note to the late Edward E. Bristol, the Court street liverman, who put it in the New Haven National bank before it was due for collection. He met Mr. Smith on the street about that time and spoke to him about the note. Mr. Smith denied that he endorsed the note. Mr. Bristol then went to City Attorney Frank J. Brown, also since dead, and asked for the arrest of Mrs. McCormick for forgery. The arrest was made, but the case was never presented in court. Mr. Smith, in order to avoid the notoriety of the case, paid the amount of the note to Mr. Bristol. Then Mrs. McCormick sued Mr. Smith for malicious prosecution. Mr. Smith says now, and expects to be able to prove in court that the note is a forgery. It seems that the note which was offered to the Mechanics bank and that sold to Mr. Bristol were two distinct pieces of paper. The first, Mr. Smith says, he endorsed, but he repudiates the other. Henry L. Hill, the expert accountant, and Dr. A. J. Wolfe of Hartford, have been summoned as experts for the defendant. Lawyers William H. Ely and Howard C. Webb are counsel for the defendant. The examination of the defendant had just been finished when court adjourned yesterday.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

The common pleas court, criminal side, with a jury, will come in on Tuesday next, on which day the following cases will be tried:

Bridget Gardner, violation of the liquor law; Charles Wilkhaas, theft; Thomas Barry, theft; Annandine A. Advani, (the prince from India), defrauding hotel keeper; Daniel F. Brophy, assault.

TRACY WITHDRAWS HIS APPEAL.

Andrew Tracy, the elderly jeweler of 413 Grand avenue, who was fined $7 and costs in the city court Wednesday, on the charge of theft, and who appeared to the common pleas court, withdrew his appeal yesterday and paid the fine and costs.

CITY COURT CASES.

In the city court yesterday morning Carlo Frisco, a grocer of 496 Columbus avenue, paid $10 and costs for violation of the Sunday observance law, on a plea of guilty.

Thomas A. Early, who struck Michael Passig in a saloon at Broad and Oak streets Wednesday night, was fined $3 and costs.

John C. Whalen, John R. Dorsey, Thomas J. Fox and Thomas C. Mallon, the four hoboes arrested on suspicion of being the ones who tried to break into a house on Fillmore street, were before the court.

Frank W. Wade, a soldier vagrant, was given ten days by Judge Dow yesterday morning, and George W. Harris, another soldier tramp, was held over.

Henry Croell, a young man who came from Providence and was working his way back there from New York, was held because the police received a telegram saying that his relatives would send money on for him to get home. Herbert Loftus, another Providence man, was the possessor of $1.25 when arrested, and as he could not be accused properly of not having visible means of support, he was told to go his way, and did so rejoicing.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

Hyperion Theater.

"The Only Way," a dramatization by Freeman Wills, of Charles Dickens' novel of "A Tale of Two Cities" will be acted at the Hyperion on Saturday night. Henry Miller and a special Frohman company to appear in the interpretation. During the last season this play was immensely successful in London, and the London play critics expressed the opinion that "The Only Way" was the best dramatization of the Dickens novel ever staged, although numerous attempts had been made by others than Mr. Wills to foist the stirring and engrossing tale of the French Revolution. Manager Charles Frohman secured the American rights of the play in order to utilize it as a new vehicle for Mr. Miller, who had proved immensely successful as a star in "Heartsease" and "The Master," as well as "Hamlet." As Sydney Carton, the hero of Dickens' thrilling story of the French Revolution, he has made the greatest success of his career, and the play has duplicated the enormous success it had in London, where it played for over a year. His supporting company is probably the best of any before the public to-day. It includes among others J. H. Stoddard, D. H. Harkins, Byron Douglas, H. A. Weaver, Jr., William Haverill, Gertrude Finney, Margaret Dale, etc. Mr. Frohman has given the play a magnificent outfit of scenery and costume. The advance sale of seats is now open. Prices $1.50, $1, 75c.

Grand Opera House.

"Lights of Home" is indeed a comedy drama of every day life, and a play of human interest. It is strong, well written and depicts a story which appeals in a most thorough manner to the inmost nature of every one who witnesses it. The first performance of a three nights' engagement was given at the Grand last night and judging from the enthusiastic applause the piece struck

A BRILLIANT WEDDING.

One of the most brilliant weddings and most notable social events in a long period in this city was the wedding yesterday of Sara Tracy Whitney and Dr. Leonard Curten Sanford, which took place at Center church at 12 o'clock noon. The church was filled with guests, and the decorations of the church for the occasion were very beautiful. Entirely around the church festoons and ropings of southern smilax hid the galleries and posts almost from view.

The entire pulpit was banded in with palms, with white hydrangeas and Easter lilies, used in pleasing profusion. Palms had also been used below in banking in the stairs leading to the pulpit, and the open space in front so that all that was to be seen as one entered the church was a most attractive bank of green relieved with the white.

While the guests were being seated Prof. H. W. Parker, who presided at the organ, delightfully played the following fine programme of music: "Triumphal March".....Lemmens "Prayer and Benediction".....Gullmant "Cortege Nuptiale".....Dubois "In Paradisum".....Dubois

At the entrance of the wedding party Prof. Parker played the wedding march from "Lohengrin."

First came the six ushers, all former Yale men, who were: Charles Howland of New York, Dr. John Howland of New York, Thomas Bayard of New York, Dr. John A. Hartwell of New York, Dr. Sherwood Ives of New York, and J. Sanford Bacon of New York, followed by the six bridesmaids, Miss Adeline Sanford of New Haven, a sister of the groom, Miss Van Winkle of New York, Miss Sage of Albany, and Miss Carolyn of San Francisco. Two maids of honor, Miss Henrietta E. Whitney, sister of the bride, and Miss Harmonie Twichell of Hartford, preceded the bride, who entered on the arm of her father, meeting Dr. Sanford, accompanied by his best man, Herbert Parsons of New York, at the altar.

The bride entered the church with her father. Her gown was of white satin, tucked up to the skirt with flounces of white Valenciennes lace worn by her mother at her own wedding. Small sprays of orange blossoms fashioned the last flounce of the lace at the side. The yoke and sleeves were also of the lace with a jabot of the same, and she wore a veil which was very becoming, carrying a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Her only ornaments were a necklace set with tiny emeralds from which was suspended a large emerald pendant surrounded with diamonds and a skeleton brooch of diamonds in the shape of a heart.

Dr. Newman Smyth, assisted by Dr. Joseph H. Twichell of Hartford, performed the ceremony, using in part the Episcopal service. Mr. Whitney gave his daughter in marriage. Both the clergymen wore gowns, and Dr. Smyth wore the red stole and Dr. Twichell the white, their insignia of office.

Prof. Parker played very softly during the entire service and the wedding party came down the aisle to the strains of the wedding march from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream," finishing with the postlude by West.

Following the ceremony at the church a wedding breakfast was served by Sherry of New York at the bride's home on Whitney avenue to about one hundred guests, which had been beautifully and elaborately trimmed by Champion. The wedding gifts were a very beautiful array. Dr. and Mrs. Sanford after their wedding trip will reside at 218 Crown street.

ESTATE OF WILSON WADDINGTON.

The inventory of that part of the estate of Wilson Waddingham that comes under the jurisdiction of the Connecticut court, as appraised by Henry D. White and John B. Carrington, was presented to the probate court yesterday. The inventory amounts to $6,500. Administration papers have been taken out in New Mexico and Kansas City. On this account the appraisers were prevented from taking account of property belonging to the estate within these jurisdictions.

Mr. Waddingham held stock in innumerable companies that owned immense tracts of land in the southwest. A good deal of the stock was hypothecated, and at the present time it is extremely difficult to find out just how much the estate is worth.

At the same time, in hundreds of families where economy decides the choice, Ivory Soap is selected. Thus its purity attracts the rich; its economy attracts the poor. The Carpet Industry here is not the making, but the selling of carpets. We regret if the extraordinary rush during certain parts of the day caused any slight inconvenience. The only way we could prevent it would be to raise the prices again. But we set out this week to do things in an extraordinary way and the prices, in view of our word, must hold for a while at least.

CAUCUSES HELD LAST NIGHT

(Continued from First Page.) Hoadley favored Mr. Fyler or Mr. Betts, to this J. D. Dewell, jr., replied, saying that Mr. Hoadley was for Fyler. Mr. Dewell said: "Mr. Farnsworth is for Fessenden, and I ask him if Fessenden has not followed the same practices which he now charges against Mr. Fyler." The ballot resulted as follows: Matthewson 111, Hoadley 63. For next delegate Frederick Stebert received 102 and James White 73. For sixth delegate John M. Crampton received 101, William Patterson 58. The last two delegates, Charles F. Merwin and Leo H. Herz were chosen by a viva voce vote.

The Twelfth Ward. The republicans of the Twelfth ward held a caucus last evening at Polar Star hall to elect delegates to a town convention, which is to select delegates to the state convention. Charles G. Denison was chairman and Lewis L. Bradley secretary.

For first delegate the ballot was as follows: F. S. Tompkins received 68 and was declared elected. W. S. Compton had 29 votes.

For second delegate, Charles Soderberg received 75 votes and was elected. Frank Ryan received 19 votes and W. S. Compton 4 votes.

There was a motion made to use the check list in the remainder of the voting. It was opposed by Thomas Guerdink, who said the did not believe anyone was voting who did not have a right to vote. By a large majority the caucus voted to proceed with the balloting.

For third delegate John F. McVeigh was elected. E. Carlson and Seymour F. Barnes were also elected.

This is a Warner delegation and favor Betts for the state central committee.

Wall Paper.

Economy in decoration does not rest with dollars and cents but with the wall paper man's appreciation of the house. We bring out every good point about a house. We get out of that house all there is in it. "Cheap" care and thought are expensive. Our new shop is large and so is our new stock of Wall Paper. See them both.

"The Shop," CHAS. P. THOMPSON, 68 & 70 Orange St.

ALL GOOD ROADS LEAD TO "THE CYCLERY." ONE BETTER KIND...

In the whole range of Bicycle goodness there is always one best,—one that stands just a little ahead of all competitors in finest style and general excellence. We are not alone in our opinion as to the one standing first, as it is generally conceded that the Cleveland is just a little ahead in the race for supremacy. Price—$40, $50.

AT HOWE & STETSON'S.

NEW HAVEN, FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1900.

When You Buy Underwear, You Must Depend Upon the Dealer.

You must have absolute confidence in your store. All-wool should mean all-wool, half-wool should mean half-wool, all-silk should mean all-silk. The majority of purchases are unable to tell exactly the composition of the garment offered, therefore confidence in the store is absolutely necessary.

We endeavor to deal with you fairly, in this respect and would prefer to keep the goods rather than have you purchase under a misapprehension. We firmly believe this store gives to you a larger assortment of the most reliable makes, and the best underwear values for the money, than any store in this section.

"Seconds" are never sold as "firsts"—a failing indulged in by too many stores—and prices range from the lowest goods of merit, to the very best. Our syndicate purchasing facilities are superior to any other store in New Haven, and we are enabled to purchase, through our syndicate corporation, from manufacturers who do business with jobbers only and who, will not sell to retailers direct. This means more than you realize. Below we give you a faint idea of the range and kind of garments to be obtained here.
