CHAFFEE SENDS THE NEWS

OFFICIALS THRILLED WITH EXUL-TATION AND EXPECTANCY.

Troops May Now be Within Striking Distance of the Chinese Capital-A London Dispatch from Shanghai Declares They Were Only Twenty Miles Distant on Saturday.

Washington, Aug. 13 .- The American commander in China, in a dispatch of just three words, received at the war ceived the following message, dated department late this afternoon, sent a thrill of exultation and expectancy throughout official quarters by announcing his arrival at Ho Si Wu, only thirty-three miles from Pekin, last Thursday. The last heard from him before this was at Yang Tsun, which had been captured after a hard fight and word of his movements since then had been eagerly awaited. Thursday he was eighteen miles beyond Yang Lang Fang, the place where Admiral Seymour's expedition met such terrible resistance and turned back, had been left behind. The battle of Yang Tsun was fought on the sixth and the advance on Ho Si Wu was accomplished on the ninth days' march of eighteen miles in three days. This was four days ago and at the same rate of progress Chaffee is even now fairly within striking distance of the walls of Pekin, It was a consummation which the war department had awaited calmly, and stirring as the news was that American force was now nearing the gates of the imperial city, Secretary Root and Adjutant General Corbin evinced no surprise, as it accorded with calculations, although the advance has been more rapid than was expected.

The dispatch from Chaffee, conveying so much in so few words, is as fol-lows: Che Foo, Aug. 10.

Adjutant General, Washington: Tenth arrived Hos Pt Wu (Ho Si Wn!) yesterday.

CHAFFEE. Word of the advance soon spread throughout official quarters and in the enthusiasm of the moment a report got about that this was the day for the actual arrival at Pekin. But the war department had not a word of the advance beyond Ho Si Wu. It was deemed hardly likely the march to Pekin should have been made since last Thursday. At the rate of progress, six miles a day, made from Yang Tsun to Ho Si Wu. about twenty-four miles would have been covered in the last four days and up to to-day this would still leave the internaional forces nine standpoint, the advance to Ho Si Wu was of the utmost importance, not only strategically but also in showing that communication was open back to Che Foo, that the expected opposition from Chinese hordes had not been sufficient to prevent the steady forward movement and in the influence it would exert upon the Chinese government. Brief as the dispatch is, it conveys much information beyond that specifically contained in its few words.

Although it is not stated what force has arrived, the war department accepte it to mean that this is the international force which first took Pelt Sang and then Yang Tsun. It has gone steadily forward along the left bank of the Pei river, keeping on the main road which skirts the river bank. At Yang Tsun the railway crosses the river and branches off to the west. Now that the forces have left the railway far in the rear, they are depending upon the high-way and the river. Ho Si Wu is a place of considerable size and the largest town between Tien Tsin and Ching Chia Wan. The latter place and Tung Chow are the two cities of considerable size in the line of advance after leaving Ho Si Wu. It is surrounded by orchards and gardens, and is not a place likely to have afforded opportunity for strong defense. It is the highest point on the Pel river where the river water is depended on, as the native wells are the source of supply on the balance of the route to Pekin. As it has taken five days for General Chaffee to make the advance to Ho Si Wu it is evident that wire communication is now open to the front. This was hardly to be expected and the safe arrival of the mesof the chief sources of congratulation among officials is that the fancied or at least have not prevented the international column from drawing close to the gates of Pekin.

Shortly after this dispatch arrived another message from General Chaffee, far more lengthy, gave the melancholy result of the fight at Yung Tsun. casualty list is given in detail, with the additional information that the dead had been buried at Yang Tsun and that the wounded had been sent back to the hospital at Tien Tsin.

WOODBRIDGE HEALTH OFFICER

Takes Action for Abatement of an Al leged Menace to Health.

Dr. J. W. Barker, health officer Woodbridge, received Saturday a petition signed by a large number of residents of the town, protesting against the continuance of an alleged nuisance at the old match shop down on the Seymour turnpike, near the Seymour line and it is at the upper pond that the nulsance exists. The petitioners state that the water in this pond has been drawn down so low that only a narrow stream flows through its center; that the muddy bottom of the pond is exposed with some thousands of dead fish lying there. The stench from this is almost unbearable to the people who have summer residences on the hillside above the pond.

Health Officer Barker, after a conference with Health Officer Hoadley, yesterday issued an order which was served on Mr. Botsford, who has a saw mill ing him to abate the nuisance on or before August 16. The summer residences around the pond are owned mainly by New Haveners; who have already carted away several cartloads of the dead but were unable to do more towards helping matters.

THE CHINAMAN'S INFERENCE. The Chinese in Australia would, as a rule, probably have something to say about Outlanders' grievances. Still, in the even of the law they are treated as the white man's equal, and the greatuse them. This is exemplified by a magistrate sitting in an up-country township near Brisbane. The accused, a Scot by birth, was a prosperous hotel keeper. In 1879 he had been one of a party of excursionists who had visited Hawarden and been privileged to witness Mr. Gladstone fell a limetree. He was fortunate enough to secure a good sized chip, which he afterwards treasured up as one of his most sacred possessions. When he emigrated to Queensland and became a flourishing inn keeper the chip was kept on the mantlepiece of his sitting room, and was regarded by him with much the same feelings as the Luck of Eden sang his first bass solo at precisely 5:12 that fatal glass. One day, however, be sent a new Chinese servant into the room to light a fire. John, seeing the It was blazing up when his master entered the apartment. First having pulled out the precious relic, and burned himself badly, the Scot fell upon th Mongolian and beat him severely. For this he was summoned by the Chinese servants and very heavily fined by the magistrate, who possibly had opinions of his own on politics. Now the precious relic, slightly charred, is kept in a glass case, while the Chinese servant will not easily be persuaded that the Hyperion Theater.

Corse Payton, whose advent into this city was accompanied by a most welome cold wave, opened a week's engagement at the Hyperion yesterday and at both performances there were crowded houses. All lovers of good, clean comedy dramas will not miss seethis week, for this organization is cele-xcellence of their performance. As is well known, Mr. Payton carries verything for his performances from the scenery to the smallest piece of bric-abrae. An innovation introduced during the action of the play is a refincluded among whom are the Flood Bros. in a most excellent comedy acrobatic act: Charles Farrell in whistling specialties, and the famous Cardownie sisters in their highly interesting international dance. The opening performance yesterday afternoon was Frohman's success "Aristocracy," which was given a most excellent presentation. In the evening "The Prodigal Daughter" was the bill, and it was given in detail, including the celebrated racing scene. The ompany which Mr. Payton has gatherd around him is one of exception merit and includes Miss Etta Reed, who is so well remembered here for her excelent work last season. Miss Sadie Radcliffe. Miss Marie Casmere, Sydney S. Toler, George Hoey, W. A. Mortimer are all deserving of special mention. Of the work of Mr. Payton it is hardly necessary to speak, as he is so well known that comment is unnecessary. He simply repeated his fine work to the delight of all. The costumes which Miss Reed wears are models of the dressmaking his life. art and includes many of the latest importations, and the ladies should not niss seeing these as Miss Reed has over sixty different dresses. The opportunities afforded in connection with the orange tea" to be given by Miss Etta Reed on the stage of the Hyperion theater this Tuesday afternoon, after the matinee, are many. In the first place it will give to those who attend the performance a chance to meet Miss Then again it will present the privilege of going behind the scenes upon the stage, an object of great curiosity to the average theatergoer. I had many children in my school, and they had many questions-so many questions. The one I gave you was one of them. They were to present me with an album to-day because I am leaving to try to get work in the city. I ran away from them. I was afraid of more questions. Could you, sir, retain your right mind if you were suddenly asked by an imp of six

As soon as were over laughing a boy who once lived in Beloit asked me:

"'Why?' I asked, eager to be over "Because he has an eye, but no head."

"Personal application of that joke was made to me at once." "I am patient," continued the schoolmaster, shying a stone at his satchel, which stood by the readway, "but such trying to educate drove me nearly wild. ORDERS FOR PAVEMENTS high school, "a simple building costing only about $250,000 to adjoin the Board-

92 1-2 cents per yard for Syracuse brick. Syracuse brick had been laid and tested for a number of years in the streets enumerated by the director, while the Catskill brick has not been tried before. The mayor asked the common council to determine what brick should be used -Catskill or Syracuse brock-referring to none of the brands exploited here.

Director Troup's communication quoted section 156 of the charter as his excuse for recommending that Church street, between Elm and Chapel, be paved with brick manufactured by the New York Brick & Paving Co., (Syra-cuse brick) at the price of 92 1-2 cents per square yard. The section of the charter referred to is in relation to the letting of contracts to the lowest bid-The director states that the reason for the change is that there has been a great deal of fault found with the Catskill brick by the common council members and that the mayor had requested him not to have any more of the Catskill brick laid until the common council has an opportunity to take action in the premises. Mr. Troup says surpass, the most skilful of men. in closing his communication: "The the first book of the Odes of Ho nayor is of the opinion, and I concur with him, that the best interests of the city can be subserved by laying the brick of the New York Brick company on Church street between Elm and Chapel streets. This brick has been laid on York street and on Ashmun etreet, between Gregory and Munson in all those places." After action on these communications as mentioned above the resolution for investigation of the peculiar circumtract was let to the highest bidder, was that the best thing to do was to con-cur with the aldermen and that the adopting the resolution. Mr. Harkin's mayor vetoes the resolution to investigate, which involves an investiga-tion of his own part in the affair.

The committee's report recommending the laying of a crushed stone pavement in Blatchley avenue was accepted and the order passed in concurrence like action being taken on the order for paving of Cassius street with crushed stone, and for a crushed stone pavement in Edgewood avenue

Winthrop avenue and Hobart street. The street committee recommended that an iron shale vitrified brick pavement be laid on Chapel street between York and State streets. Councilman minor moved that the order be tabled until the appropriation was made and it was so voted. The order for the appropriation was then read and referred to the committee on appropriations. The street committee also recom-mended an order for a granite dimension block pavement, with iron shale vitrified brick gutters, to be laid on rown street, between State and York streets. Councilman Holliday asked if that is the same kind of pavement that was laid in Temple street. He was informed that it was not: that the Temple street pavement was asphalt block. while the recommended pavement in this order was granite stone block. Councilman Minor moved to amend to order vitrified brick instead of granite block. Councilman Harkins asked that referred back to the committee Dr. Minor's motion to substitute vitrified brick was carried. Mr. Harkins of Bears the the street committee stated, at the request of Councilman Wheeler, that the committee recommended granite block secause Crown street carried the heavi est traffic of any street in the city, and the committee thought that some heavy pavement like granite stone block would therefore be the best for that street. Councilman Hewitt moved to table the Crown street pavement order as amended by Dr. Minor, but the motion was declared out of order by Acting President Dawson, who said that the amended order for vitrified brick had been adonted, although no vote on the amended order had been taken, Councliman Dawson evidently acting under a misapprehension. Mr. Hewitt appealed from the decision, but the chair was sustained. Councilman Minor moved that the original order as amended be tabled, but the chair said that the order had been disposed of, but finally agreed with dissenting members that no vote had been taken on the amended order. Mr. Hewitt seconded Dr. Minor's motion to ta-ble the amended recommendation. The motion to table was then carried, and the order is tabled until the appropriation is reported by the committee on appropriations. This last order, amended to conform to the amendment in the paving order, was referred to the committee on appropriations.

The next recommended order for payement was for an iron shale vitrified brick pavement, with cement filling, in Temple street, between Elm street and Congress avenue. Councilman Minor moved that the order be tabled and it was so voted, the tabling, as in the case of the previous order acted upon, being until a report is received on the appropriation, which, under the charter, must be made before any order can be legally passed. The appropriation order was referred to the committee on appropriations. The committee recommended that Elm street, between York and State, be repaired with crushed stone. Councilman Wheeler moved an amendment to substitute asphalt block in the order. Mr. Wheeler's motion was not second-ed. Councilman Minor moved to amend of vitrified brick on the street between the points named. The vote on this amendment was a tie and the chair de cided that the amendment was lost, Mr. Harkins moved that the committee report be tabled. Dr. Minor moved to refer the matter back to the committee The amendment was not seconded and

Mr Harkins' motion prevailed. The communication from the board of finance requesting the common council to pass the order for the issue of $450,090 worth of bonds for the board of education was read. Councilman Wheeler moved "to concur with the aldermen." He said that the board of edneation contemplated erecting a new man Manual Training school." Wheeler spoke in favor of passing the order. His motion to concur with the aldermen was passed and then he mov-ed that the committee from the councilmen consist of Messes, Hewitt, Hos ley and Donnelly, but this motion was not seconded and he withdrew it. Mr. Wheeler was evidently under the impression that the aldermen had referred he matter to a committee, but instea of this the aldermen voted to table the whole matter, and the vote to concur makes the same disposition of it.

Concurrent action was taken in regard to the appropriation for the Busholution concerning outhouses erected on the streets by contractors, the resolution for filling fire reservoirs and on the committee report on the compensation for members of the fire depart-

SOME CURIOUS AUTOMATA.

Of all the inventors of mechanical curlosities. Jacques Vaucanson certainly the king. In the ingenuity of the first book of the Odes of Horace we read that Arckytas manufactured a wooden pigeon, which, actuated by a mechanical movement, flew from place to place. This, however, was nothing as compared with the automatic fly John Muller, and manufactured by which flew around the table during a streets, and at the junction of State dinner, and alighted upon the hand of and Chapel streets for a number of its owner and manufacturer, to the dinner, and alighted upon the hand of and Chapet streets for a number of years and has given good satisfaction great astonishment of his guests, in all those places."

Philippe Camus describes an extraordinary automatic group which was specially constructed for the amusement of Louis XIV. It was a minute coach, to stances connected with the letting of the contracts for the paving of East Grand avenue and Church street, as to why the brick contracted for were rejected and why the Grand avenue conand then became quiet and started off on a trot. The coachman stopped in read. Councilman Minor moved that it front of the king, and the lackey jumpbe tabled. Councilman Harkins thought | ed from his seat and, opening the door handed out a handsomely dressed lady who walked toward His Majesty, samatters should be investigated. He luted him ceremonlously, presented a moved to concur with the aldermen in petition to him, and then re-entered the The lackey closed the door and coach. motion to concur was adopted, and the jumped upon his box, the whip snapped investigation will now be held unless and the horses galloped off.

Vaucanson did better still. His automatic duck was, to connoisseurs, an obect of admiration. The bird waddled off in search of food, and picked up and swallowed the seeds that it met with. These seeds, says an article in "Biographzic Universalle," through a series of triturations that facilitated the introduction of them into the intestines and caused them to accomplish all the phases of digestion. It was impossible to distinguish this duck from a living one. It splashed about in the water and quacked at pleasure. Vaucanson's mechanical flute player so was a marvel. It was a life-size figure, clothed in the fashion of the period, and standing alongside of a oken column, upon which it slightly leaned. It was capable of playing a dozen different airs with remarkable To effect this result, there was a system of weights that actuated a bellows placed in the interior of the automaton, and through an invisible tube, forced air to the flute, where it acted in the usual way upon the stopple of the opening. In order to obtain the modulations, and, consequently, omplete air, the fingers of the automaton were movable and closed the holes of the flute hermetically when at rest, and also rose and replaced one another through the traction exerted by (Continued on Sixth Page.)

PEACE EDICT

OFFERED CHINA BY Royland Perry, Company K. AMERICAN GOVERNMENT.

Cessution of Hostilities Promised if Force of Allies is Permitted to Go to Pekin to Bring Away the Foreigners

Washington, Aug. 133 .- The department of state to-day made public the reply of the United States government to Minister Wu's communication, delivered on Sunday morning, notifying the appointment of Earl Li Hung Chang as envoy plenipotentlary to negotiate with the powers. This reply was sent to Minister Wu at five o'clock Sunday afternoon, and is as follows:

"Memorandum." Touching the imperial edict of Augues 8, appointing Li Hung Chang envoy plenipotentiary to conduct negotia-tions on the part of China, with the powers, and the request for a cessation of hostlittles, pending negotiations, communicated to Mr. Adee, by Mr. Wu on the 12th of August, 1900. The government of the United States learns with satisfaction of the appointment of Earl Li Hung Chang as envoy plenipo-tentiary to conduct negotiations with the powers and will, on its part, enter upon such negotiations with a desire to continue the friendly relations so long existing between the two countries. It is evident that there can be no general negotiation between China and the powers so long as the ministers of the powere and the persons under their protection remain in their position of restrain and danger, and that the powers cannot cease the efforts for the delivery of these representatives to which they are constrained by the highest considerations of national honor, except under an arrangement adequate to accomplish a peaceable deliverance. 'We are ready to enter into an agreement between the powers and the Chinose government for a cessation of hostile demonstrations on condition that a sufficient body of the forces composing the relief expedition shall be permitted to enter Pekin unmolested and to escort the foreign ministers and residents back to Tien Tsin, this movement be ing provided for and secured by such arrangements and dispositions of troop ts shall be considered satisfactory by the generals commanding the forces composing the relief expedition.

which we could not leave our posts.
"I consider it my duty to point out as indispensable to our journey, that the ailied troops sent as an escort should be of sufficient force to protect 800 Europeans, including 200 women and children, and fifty wounded. It appears that the journey to Tien Tsin at the present season of the year is dangerous, owing to lack of means of commu-

INDUSTRIAL DEPRESSIONS. The decline in the prices of iron and steel and the prevalent dulness in the demand for other staples lend peculiar interest to an article in "The Engineering Magazine" for August by George H. Hull. The writer argues with considerable force that industrial depressions are not due, as has been sometimes supposed, to presidential cam-paigns, transfers of money from one country to another or to other causes which can be regarded as local. The fact that these mysterious and 'amentable situations often occur in more than one country at the same time strongly suggests that the source of the evil is

Mr. Hull thinks that he has found the true expalnation in those abnormal tacles, and said: "My boy, I don't think you ought to review a novel of rises that have occurred in the price of pig iron which are popularly known as mine, any more than I ought to review booms." That metal is required by the builder of railways, bridges, ships and modern office structures and shopa. It is needed by the maker of machine tools, textile and agricultural machinery, many forms of vehicle and sorts of hardware. The consumption increases much more rapidly than the population, and this change in ratio promises to continue for years. But it is a singular and highly exceptional fact that while enough of other staples-lumber, stone, brick coal, cotton and wool for instance-to last for a year or two are either in sight or are readily accessible to the producer, there has not been more than a twenty-three days' supply of pig iron ahead for more than ten years. Hence when business picks up and a demand sets in the buyer of iron becomes alarmed lest he fall altogether to obtain what he wants. Thus a more rapid and abnormal advance takes place in priors than is possible with any other commodity. After the boom begins the manufacturer runs on old contracts for a time. Of course, he gets orders at new prices, too. But as soon as there is a conspicuous advance a number of business enterprises come to a standstill, waiting for a reaction. And even a moderate concession fails to restore confidence. Thus a variety of industries begin to experience paralysis. Inasmuch as the temporarily improved demand has led the manufacturer of pig from to enlarge his plant and output, the decline in prices leaves him in a bad predicament. Two cartridges already had been removed from the magazine of the rifle, and it is supposed that in attempting to remove another it was discharged. Here in the Pine Tree State the barn is generally attached to the house, many times the most imposing part of the building. Such a barn was reached just as the clouds showed us a sample of their business in Noah's time.

The owner of the barn made us welcome not only to it, but his house also. Immediately we accepted his invitation and took possession of his dining room. From a basket we covered the table with substantial proof that "man does not live by bread alone." we were enjoying ourselves to the full a second time fair sky and wind lured us onward. After a short ride we were at Kennebuckport, the loveliest of lovely spots.

ABOUT ANIMALS.

Attacked by a Gray Squirrel—A Large Woodchuck.

It was a strange experience that the gardener employer by C. A. Cowes of Ansonia had one morning recently. He was picking up some sweet apples from a tree, when a large gray squirrel put in an appearance. He did not waltthe man to kry to capture bim, but started to capture the man. He alighted on the latter's shoulder at the first jump and set his teeth in his neck, at the same time digging into his neck with his claws. The gardener ssized him to pull him from his neck, when the squirrel fastened his teeth in his hand, biting it severely. The man was so severely bitten that he had to go to the doctor's office and have his wound cauterized and dressed. It is supposed that the squirrel must at some time have been tame and was used to men, for he showed no fear, as the timid animals usually do.

"Chuck" Gladwin of Middletown has beaten all previous records in the woodchuck killing, especially as far as size concerned. Friday while coming from Long Hill district to the city be saw two woodchucks engaged in a flerce fight in a field a short distance from the road. Mr. Gladwin procured a club and had no difficulty in approaching the an imals, as their whole attention was chsorbed in the fight. Mr. Gladwin wolded the club with good effect and succeeded in dispatching both of the woodchucks. One of them was the largest ever killed in that vicinity. It weigned fourteen pounds. Ordinarily these aniwhen full grown, about eight pounds. By some they are considered very choice eating, and in some sections they are trapped exclusively for food.

YESTERDAY'S BALL GAMES

WATERBURY WINS A GAME FROM THE BLUES.

Drove in Five Runs in the Ninth Inning and Won by the Score of 10 to 7-Ashe

It's a cold day when Waterbury deground, so it was up to the Connorites o do the trick yesterday, and they did t handily by the score of 10 to 7. New Haven had the game well in hand up to the ninth inning, when after one man was out the visitors started in to pound Ashe all over Savin Rock, and they only stopped when five hits and ave runs had been scored, making the score 10 to 7 in their favor. Ashe was in the box for New Haven, and held the visitors flown to five hits up to the last round. His pitching was not wonderful, however, and but for the good work of Freil, Fitzmaurice and Bone in the outfield, the hit column would have been much larger. Freil caught two short flies in right field that brought the spectators to their feet. They were labeled hits, but Friel sprinted at a ten second gait and grabbed them about a foot from the ground back of first base. He kept up his great batting streak, and with his three hits, one a two bagger, he drove in four of New Haven's seven runs. He himself made two runs, so his record was about equal to that of last Thursday when Freil was responsible for all the runs made by his team. New Haven had a chance to size up

Cassidy, the new shortstop, yesterday. He falled to make a hit or a run, had two put outs, four assists and made two errors, one of which was partly ex-Cassidy might have been triffe nervous, but he handles himself well and should make a good man. Donnelly didn't electrify the crowd by his wonderful playing, he, too, having a couple of errors and a glass arm. Battam apparently wanted to keep up with the other infielders and contributed his two errors to the column, making an even half dozen. Fitzmaurice and Bone covered plenty of ground in the outfield, and the former poked out three singles. Clancy pitched for Waterbury, and at times was hit rather hard. The game Mrs. H. E. Gladding and son Daniel, dragged along until the ninth inning, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs., and after Clancy went out, Ashe to move toward the gates. Mills was next up and made a single. Fitzpatrick was hit by a pitched ball, and Weisbecker singled and immediately stole second, Miller scoring. With a man on second and third Roger Connor. came to the bat and with three balls and two strikes against him, he poked the next over second base and scored the two men on bases. Drew then made hit and Roger scored. On Marshall's hit Drew went to second and scored on Pete Klernan's single. It then began to rain and of course it was Waterbury's game to end the inning and have New Haven finish their half of the inning as otherwise the game would have reverted to the eighth in which care

New Haven would have won. The New Haven players then began to kill time, but unfortunately the rain ceased and all they could do was to Rattam sont a safe one between sec ond and third and advanced to second first on a close decision and "Percy" about five minutes to find a but that would suit him. He ought to have taken another minute and picked out a better stick for on just four balls pitched he struck out, leaving Friel on first and Battam on third. A number of Waterbury carnks were present and were enthusiastic over the victory of their team.

Hopkins was the umpire vesterday and his decisions were generally fair This afternoon the Printel team and Gus Ruhlin will be the attractions at Savin Rock. Publin will umpire part of the game and will spar three rounds with Matty Matthews.

Striking Episode in New Britain's Quiet Streets.

New Britain, Aug. 13.—Residents and passershy on West Main street were interested Saturday night about 8 o'clock in an episode which took place on the corner of West Main and South High streets. A young man came riding up the street on his bicycle and stopping at the corner placed his machine against the curb. Then stepping over to the fence he spoke to a young wo-man, who had evidently been waiting for him there. The couple had been talking but a moment when another woman armed with a rawhide whip sprang out from the shadows on South High street and running up to the couple began to lash the woman over the back with the whip. There was venom in her blows and the sound of them and 0 the cries of the woman who had been attacked could be heard all over the neighborhood. The man tried to take the whip away, whereupon she turned her attention to him, giving him several lashes across the face.

Before any one came up the woman with the whip fan down South High street. The other two followed her example, the younger woman decamping in such haste that she left her hat lying on the sidewalk. Before she had gone far the young man rode back on when the police arrived they could not be found. There is no clue to their

as a Child. Hartford, Aug. 13.—Thomas Glover often gave pennies to little Ida Vibbert, and when Ida bought the candy she told her mamma that Mr. Glover was a real nice man.

That was as much as thirty years ago when Glover was already married and Ida was a child of ten.

Since then there has been vicissitudes, Ida grew up unloved by man-at least to the extent of a marriage proposaland when old enough, took a queer job -attending patients in the retreat for usane, which position she held for twenty-three years.

Meanwhile Glover, who worked at Colts', and later at Pratt & Whitney's became fairly presperous and afflicted with an invalid wife. Mrs. Glover got paralysis of the facial nerves and was a great sufferer. One night she woke up and told her husband she was going to die. He ran for the doctor but she died predicted. That was on February Glover then lived at sixty-five Hudon street, and when his wife was burjed he sought a housekeeper. He asked Ida's mother to take the position, bu the old lady was too busy and suggested that Ida would do all right. This arrangement was adopted and was so sat isfactory to Glover that on Saturday he married Miss Vibbert at New Brighton, S. I. Neither said a word here about the proposed marriage. Glover, who got a job in Elizabethport, N. J., sold his house and went away. Friday Miss Vibbert packed her trunk and said she was going to visit friends. The first visit was to Magistrate Croak at New Brighton, where the ceremony was performed. Glover was formerly a council-man in Hartford.

ANOTHER DROWNING CASE.

A small boy who was near gave the alarm and a search was immediately instituted for the body. For three-quarters of an hour men and boys in boats dragged the river with grappling irons before the body was recovered. Meanwhile the mother, crazed with grief, came running to the pler and could searcely be restrained. With her was her other child, a little boy, and the terrible grief of the two was heartrending as the search for the little body was carried on. When the body was taken at last from the water the mother had to be literally carried from the spot.

The family had come to New Haven to escape the terrible heat of the great city during the past few days. DEAD IN A ROWBOAT.
