SAVING CHINA'S INTEGRITY

ANOTHER AGREEMENT REACHED BY THE POWERS.

Further Individual Concessions Will

Washington, Feb. 21.-At the instance of the United States government the mother gat talking together in the prispowers have accepted the principle that no further invidual concessions of territory in China shall be sought or ob- to cheer the anxious trio by informing tained by any one power without international assent. This agreement appiles not only to Tien Tsin, where there and three against Kennedy. There was her some rivalry exhibited in the no basis for the rumors, however, and has been some rivalry exhibited in the effort to obtain concessions for foreign settlements, but to all other Chinese on in the jury room. When recess was points. The state department began this movement some time ago.

It is surmised, though no admission on that point can be obtained, that the Island. A large crowd remained awaitconcession opposite Tien Tsin, including the railroad terminus caused the initiation of this movement. It was conceived that all of the powers might be willing to subscribe to a general principle which promised upon its face to maintain the rights of all against selfish individual efforts. After the department had addressed each of the powers on the subject the answers received from nearly all of them were an acceptance of the American principle.

So hereafter if any nation seeks to secure room for its individual settlements or like privileges, in ports or elsewhere in China, the application must be approved by the other powers before the Chinese government will be permitted to assent even if it so desired. There is another and very important part of the agreement and it is that the present is not the most opportune time for asking new concessions. cannot be determined at this moment whether the conclusion above announced is retroactive in effect.

ABOUT "SOROSIS" SHOES.

B. Greenwood Says They Give Perfect Satisfaction.

A. B. Greenwood, of No. 814 Chapel street, whose name is associated with absolute integrity in shoe dealing, desires still further to call the attention of the New Haven public to the merits of the "Scrosis" shoes. Mr. Greenwood has the exclusive sale of this celebrated shoe, and after years of experience can find no better make for women that will give such thorough satisfaction. A more comfortable, a more beautiful or as perfect shoe has never been worn or seen The modeling and draughting of all Sorosis shoes, as well as certain pecu liarities of construction, prevent that common trouble, the flattening of the arch of the foot. They support the in-step and make walking easy.

Mr. Greenwood guarantees to furnish these perfect fitting shoes, satisfactory in every respect, at a price much less than any similar shoes were ever sold. The uppers are of the finest kid, all materials, of the best, and the highest grade of hand work and most advanced of machine processes are employed. The welts are hand sewed, and the finish and details of the shoe are of the greatest nicety and perfection. In any case will gladly refund the money shoes are returned for any cause of dissatisfaction before being worn. But nobody is ever disappointed with the "Sorosis" shoe.

In the House and Senate yesterday a number of bills were reported back om committees. Two bills to amend the New Haven city charter were reported in the Senate by the committee on cities and boroughs. One bill provides that the civil service board of New Haven may appoint as clerk a person not a member of the board, the salary of the position not to exceed $500 per year. The other bill for charter amendment reported on yesterday was one to amend the act concerning street pavements in this city. The bill is as

Section 2 of the act concerning permanent pavements in the city of New Haven approved April 28, 1898, is hereby amended by inserting after rd "named" and after the word "be" in the 13th line of said section the words "except crushed stone," so that said section as amended shall read as follows: "Benefits and damages shall be laid under the control of the court of common council and assessed by the bureau of compensation of the city as provided in the charter of such city for or against the owners of property abutting upon or adjoining the streets on which such pavements are conetructed, which assessment for such benefits shal not exceed per lineal foot of frontage 55 cents for dimension granite block pavement; 60 cents for as-phalt pavement; 50 cents for vitrified pavement, and 20 cents for cruehed stone pavement.

The two bills after being reported on favorably by the committee were tabled for the calendar and printing.

Sentagr Burton, of Ansonia, chairman of the committee on railroade, yesterday received and submitted a petition from James D. Dewell, Watson D. Coe W. F. Merrill, T. Attwater Barnes, H. C. Warren, M. ### MANY OTHER EVENTS.

Washington's birthday will be the occasion of several state table among which are those of the Sons of the American Revolution, in Bridgeport, the Union Prisoners of War, in Hartford, the Odd Fellows' Veteran association, in New Haven, and the letter carriers' in Waterbury, besides the annual athletic meet of the Y. M. C. A., in Waterbury.

For the first time in many years, Yale will fail to officially recognize the day and recitations will be held as on every other day. This will not, as at first through, prevent the cane rush, however,

Among those from New Haven who will attend the S. A. R. convention in Bridgeport are General George H. Forti, General E. S. Greeley, Professor Chandler and Judge Hotchkiss.

The following address has been issued in reference to to-day's celebration:

To the people of New Haven: A committee composed of representatives from various organizations of this city has arranged for exercises at the Hyperion this (Friday) afternoon in observance of the anniversary of the birth of Washington. To meet the expenses of the celebration, subscriphave been asked from many of our citizens, resulting in responses more or less liberal-the latter rather than the former. Believing that the plans of the committee receive their strongest support where they are best understood, and recognizing the necessity of placing matters pertaining thereto in the clearest light before the public, this address is issued.

From its very inception, the movement has aimed to secure a more strict observance of our national holidays, to stimulate the interest in matters patriotic, to arouse and intensify reverence for the flag, to instill love for our country.

We believe that reverence for the flag s not alone the admiration of its eauty, nor the display of its colors; It is the veneration for it, the eagerness to fling it to the breeze, that chivalry which prompts us to render due homage of it, that determination to protect it.

We believe that love for country is not the passive acceptance of its protection, not the enjoyment of its priv-lleges, not eulogy for the government whose policy may be in accord with our tenets; it is the discharge of the responsibilities which citizenship imposes, the

The committee in charge of the celebration this year, the committees of enhance their own reputation, not to provide the public with free entertainment, but to carry out a far different plan; with regard to school children, to supplement the efforts of their teachers; with regard to the parents, to supple-ment the efforts of their children. It is the former—the pupils of our public schools—whose desire for historical knowledge has been aroused by sympathetic teacher, who will receive inspiration in the idea that what they learn in school is a part of the thought of the outside world. It is the latterthe fathers and mothers of these scholars-who will renew or affirm their own principles and ideals in the studies and ambitions of their children.

The people of New Haven can assur themselves that they cannot attend the celebration and not hear to the treasured words of song and story; cannot listen to that message sent to the American people over a century ago, and not recognize that it is for them to-day; cannot see that veteran of the war, cannot enjoy his portrayal of its scenes and incidents, and not feel the enthuslasm of his experiences; cannot hearken to the appeals of the orator, and not long for opportunities to follow as he leads.

Such are the purposes and plans the committee. It remains for the people of New Haven to provide results. W. C. Dickinson, Chairman Washington Celebration Committee. February 21, 1901.

FIRE IN DAVENPORT CHURCH PARSONAGE.

During the funeral of the deceased firemen yesterday morning an alarm of fire was sent in from box 45 at the corner of Greene street and Wooster Place. There was considerable excitement for a time as the locality is in the district of steamer 4, of which Captain Condren was formerly in charge The fire was in the parsonage of the Davenport church. It is occupied by Rev. G. F. Prentiss, and Mr. Miller, of the Warner, Miller company. It was first discovered by the maid who had gone to the cellar to empty a waste basket. The fire department sent a stream of water into the cellar and with the aid of the chemicals the fire was soon extinguished. From one corner of the cellar was drawn out several boxes and four or five barrels of straw and excelsior that had been used for packing purposes These materials had been in the cellar since last September, and one of the boxes were used for waste papers, burned matches and other inflammable materials. Fire Marshal Gladwin, upon investigating the cause, found a number of unburned matches in this box, where apparently they had been broken and thrown away without destroying the heads. The family has been troubled a great deal with mice and it is thought that they got into this box and set fire to the matches by gnawing them, which is frequently done.

The damage will amount to about $200, being mostly caused by smoke.

KILLED AT DERBY YESTERDAY.

John Frishing, a brakeman on the Derby division of the Consolidated road, who resided at No. 36 Asylum street, this city, was killed at Derby yesterday afternoon by being caught between two cars. He was instantly killed and he was terribly mangled. The remains were brought to thie city last evening and taken to the undertaking rooms of

TO CURE THE GRIP.

Advice of a Famous Physician.

First and foremost, REST.

Take care of yourself. Your already weakened nerves want rest, and must have it. If the attack is severe, go to bed and remain there. More fatalities result from neglect of this precaution than from any other cause.

Eat sparingly. Your digestive organs are in no condition to take care of large quantities of food.

Drink plenty of pure, cold water. It allays the fever, stimulates the kidneys to action and opens up the pores of the skin. Keep the bowels open with Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills.

Take three doses of Dr. Miles' Nervine per day, and if you cannot sleep take an extra dose at bed time. To further control the fever, and to overcome the peculiar aches and pains of grip, use Dr. Miles' Pain Pills. They act quickly and effectually, and no bad effects result from their use. These remedies have been thoroughly tested more than a million times, and their efficiency is thoroughly established. They never fail to give relief. Dr. Miles' Remedies can be found at any drug store, and they are sold on a positive guarantee that first bottle or package benefits, or money refunded.

In spite of "modern sanitary science" small-pox has evidently got a good hold in New York. Superintendent Dillingham of the Health department has issued this warning: "The danger is acute, something must be done if the city is to be spared a terrrible visitation. I cannot make my expression strong enough to fit the danger. Let the people be warned."

the fact that one of Mr. Gladstone's hobbies was to seduce the people of the United Kingdom into making and eating jam, and suggests that the perniclous practice may account for the pro-Roer sentiment in Parliament and for the decadence of the army. "Tempted to abandon beef, and driven to give up beer by fear of arsenical poisoning, what wonder," asks the Star, "If England is no longer Merry England!"

They are listed only in Boston, and most of them are owned there.

A new system of State canals, the boats to be run by electricity and to be 150 feet long and twenty-five feet wide, with a draught of ten feet, and to travel in fleets going from Albany to Buffalo in less than three days, is the plan presented by State Engineer Bond and a board of engineers to Governor Odell. The system is to be built for $7,000,000 less than proposed by the Canal commission appointed by Governor Roosevelt. The canals will be able to carry 15,000,000 tons of freight in a season of seven months.

Trouble enough. The Duke of Devonshire, presiding at the meeting of the Furness Railway company in London, attributed the serious depression in the English iron and steel industries to American competition, and predicted that the competition would become more acute, especially in rails, in which further depression was inevitable. He declared that with coal at its present enormous price it was hopeless to try to meet the competition in foreign steel. Sir Christopher Furness, M. P., in an address to the shareholders of the Stephenson company of Newcastle, said that the American locomotive trade has increased while the British trade has decreased 25 per cent.

In his will Verdi says this to young composers: "I would have placed, so to speak, one foot on the past and the other on the future, because the music of the future causes me no alarm. I would have said to young disciples: Practice the art of fugue constantly, stubbornly until your hand is sufficiently strong and free to bend the notes to your will. Address yourself to composition with confidence; see to it that your part-writing is good, that your modulations are free from affectation. Study Palestring and some of his con temporaries, then pass on to Marcello, and pay special attention to recitative. Go hear a few performances of modern works, but do not be dazzled by the numberless harmonic and instrumental effects, nor by the chord of the diminished seventh, a danger, also the refuge of those who cannot without its aid compose four consecutive bars of music. ON PEAKS OF ERROR.

Next to being charged with "the atroclous crime of being a young man," we suppose the most damning charge that a man can be burdened with is that he has made a mistake in his work. Human nature is so free from mistakes his work he becomes so uniquely conspicuous that he seems to have separated himself from the human family. Judge Cable is not charged with being a young man, but it is said, or insinuated, that he has made a mistake in the treatment of one of his law cases. If he has this differentiates him so from other lawyers that he is, of course, entitled Situntions, Wants, Rents, and other small to be jumped on with celerity, enthusiadvertisements, One Cent a Word each in sertion. Five Cents a Word for a full week friendly members of his own profession who have never, or hardly ever, made mistakes seem to be willing to join in If Judge Cable is just now supposed to be standing, sitting or lying lonely on a peak of error with no other peaks of error in sight he has but to lift his downcast eyes to see that there are other such peaks, and that he is not on the highest. Some very curious mistakes have been made in the practice of the law and in the seat of judgment in this neighborhood. Recent law reports contain references to them, and, strangely enough, some of those who have been throwing stones at Judge Cable are mentioned in those reports as located in glass houses on peaks of error. If we are not mistaken all the recent judges of the Court of Common Pleas are so mentioned, and also the judges of the City court. Moreover, several good lawyers not on the bench are put into prominence in the books. They have our sympathy, for while we know it is not human to err, we think it rather inhuman to stone those who happen to set themselves apart from humanity by erring.

AN INTERESTING THEORY. Mr. Brooks Adams in the Atlantic Monthly puts forward the interesting theory that the Chinese crisis had its real beginning in March, 1897, not on the shores of the Yellow sea, but in ed last year, aggregating in value more Pittsburg, Pennsylvania. On that date was accomplished the wonderful consolidation of mines, foundries and railroads which enabled our producers of iron to undersell Europe, and then at one bound, says Mr. Adams, "America bestrode the world," Europe, adds Mr. Adams, realized instinctively that she material abroad, but to pay the cost of transport. "She nerved herself for resistance, and this resistance took the form of a new transportation system which would open up the East. Within a year from the triumph of Carnegie the rival nations had emptied themselves upon the shores of the Yellow sea. An November, 1897, Germany selzed Klao-Chau; a month later the Russians occupied Port Arthur, and the following April the English appropriated Wei-Hal-Wei."

LIFE LONGER IN ENGLAND. England is a better place to live in than it used to be. At least, people Sir Frederick Haines and Sir Neville live longer in it. J. Holt Shooling, a well known English actuary, says that during the last sixty years the lifetime of English people has been largely increased. He says that when Queen Victoria came on the throne the expectancy of life of a male child born at that time would average under forty years. This has now grown to an average that will not fall far short of fortysix years. As regards female life, the average sixty years ago was forty-two years, and this has advanced until, at the present time, it will be more than forty-eight, possibly forty-nine. He also figures that nearly three years has been added to the working lifetime of each male, and that for females there has been a gain of over two and a half years in the most valuable part of life. His statements are based on the carefully prepared statistics of the English life tables.

This is decidedly encouraging to those who want to live in England as long as they can. Possibly a similar state of things exists in this country, although children here do not honor their fathers and mothers as much as they should.

DIFFERENT IN RUSSIA Students at Yale and other universities in this great, glorious and comparatively free country may well thank their stars that they are not students in Russia. An affair at the university in Kieff illustrates how students have to toe the mark in Russia. Two of the students stole the jewels of some music hall singers with whom they had become acquainted. When this disgraceful fact became generally known their fellow-students assembled, to the number of a thousand, in one of the lecturehalls to discuss the reason of the low ering of the moral atmosphere among the undergraduates as illustrated by the offense-one that had never before been heard of among them. All the speakers attributed it to the demoralizing policy cised in the universities. As the hold-graduates an official "investigation" followed, and the university authorities announced that five of the students who had taken part in the proceedings would be incarcerated for five days, while thirty-two others would be reprimanded. But two of the five-Tseretelli and Pokotilov by name-declined to submit to the official sentence, preferring to leave the university altogether for three ears-a measure put before them as an alternative. Next day several hundred undergraduates assembled at the railroad station to see Tseretelli and Pokotilov off. Several enthusiastic speeches were delivered, and revolutionary songs sung in chorus. Another meeting of students was summoned, and about five hundred assembled. After discussion it was resolved to ask the Rector of the university to meet the students for the ourpose of receiving the following demands: (1) That the punishment by means of the penitentiary cell should be abolished: (2) that Tseretelli and Pokotillov should be reinstated; and (3) that the three others should be pardoned. The Rector, after long refusal to listen to the students at all finally denied all their requests, and a force of police and soldiers took the names of all present at the meeting. Later on sixty of the students were sentenced to serve as pri- you can have that pink slik shirtwaist vates in the army and 450 were expelled from the university.

The young gentlemen of Yale can 'sass" the government with impunity. The Mustang of the Plains Disappear-Perhaps this is the principal reason why they don't often do it.

The Nomination of Judge Cable.

(Hartford Courant.) We trust that nobody is taking seri in New Haven to overturn the nomination of Judge Cable for the Common Pleas court and set up in his place a Democrat. It is something that a legislature, Republican by a majority of 167, would never think of doing. The suggestion is preposterous. Judge Cable is not a stranger to the bench. He served with credit as City court judge in New Haven, and will do equally well in this position. The animus of the movement against him is so evidently personal disappointment that nobody will be taken in by "petitions" or any other device. You can get a petition for anything signed so long as people willing to circulate it. The situation is right here: Judge Cable has been nominated by the caucus of his was made unanimous; nobody offered a protest; he is a man of experience and popularity. The Courant does not believe in having such positions filled by the General Assembly, but that has nothing to do with the selection of Judge Cable. Judge Hotchkiss, if choswould be elected in the same way. It is known that a little coterie who imagined themselves the whole thing had a different candidate. To defeat Judge Cable these influences start up a movement nominally for a Democrat. but really for "anything to beat Ca-It cannot amount to anything,

THE VANISHING CAYUSE.

ing Like the Buffalo. Twenty years ago, or even ten or five years since, the mustang and the jack rabbit were two of the commonest pests in the west. On every plain and meea, in each spot where a particle of green feed found a livelihood beneath the shelter of a dusty sagebrush or a thorned mesquite, the little, hardy, shaggy cayuse and the long eared, alert and rapid jack rabbit browsed in peace and quietude. A rider across the arid wilds of the great southwest could count, if he lesired, hundreds and thousands of the ously this attempt of certain elements a jack hurried away from the path of the traveler, a gray streak, scurrying over the sand and gracefully sailing over obstructing brush-the kangaroos

Now not a mustang can be found in a day's travel, or a week's, and only an tony of a desert ride. Ten years ago two hundred thousand mustangs were scattered over the ranges in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona. As the bicycle grew in favor the horse decreased value, and the mustang became an outcast and an outlaw. He intruded on the cattle ranges and was shot for his pains, the cowmen intent on the saving of feed for their stock. He ventured amid the sheep flocks and the coyotes feasted on his carcass. Everywhere he was a worthless reprobate, an interloper, and valuable only as a target for breeding the species grew smaller, and the mustang's finish was perceivable The extremely low price of high grade eastern horses but the cayuse out of service, and his only haven of refuge was among the Indians. The red men harbored him, fed him and tamed him. and to-day on the reservations can be found the last of his race, disappearing as did the buffalo, but from a different cause. His extermination was rapid and somewhat of a mystery. Many stockkmen attribute it merely to degeneration, but closer observers assert that many thousands of the ponies of the desert were surreptitiously converted into canned beef, and are even now being served over eastern tables and army messes as a select product of the cattle is no more, and has been replaced by a higher and finer breed of the equine species. Over plains where once roamed the vast herds of mustangs-which, by the way, were doubtless the offspring of horses brought over soon after the Spanish invasion-now feed as fine horsefiesh as can be found anywhere in the world. Several years ago a great importation of Oregon mares, the sturdy stock of the rough northwest, was sent south. At the same time a number of fine stallions from Kentucky and Indiana were shipped to the southwest. The outgrowth has been that Texas and Arizona are rapidly becoming known as important factors in the horse trade. The offspring has been a well proportioned, strong and extremely hardy horse. Over the rocky hills and the gravelly plains the horse of the south-west has had his travelling, and developed his strength and capability for ough work. The dry, healthful climate has developed his lung power, and in the South African war English officers found the American horse of the south-west the strongest, hardlest and fastest in the rough work of the Boer to him. In many localities cattlemen are evolving into horsemen, and the steady demand and high prices promise well for a business that five years ago

As to that other pest, the jack rabbit, his extinction is only a matter of no great length of time. Civilization is crowding him out, and the aborigine is slaughtering him, and between two fires he cannot last long. The dogs of the settlers are thinning him out, and jack hunting is a popular sport. A fleet pair of greyhounds in a half day's hunt have been known to kill half a hundred rab bits, and the Indians slaughter them at even a more rapid rate. Rabbit hunts among the redskins are frequent occurrences, and sometimes hundreds of reservation reds will participate in the chase. Such a sight is one never to be forgotten by an easterner. Usually spreading over a wide territory, the Indiane gradually close into a small cirback and forth they are either killed by the blunt arrows from the Indian bows or are finally rounded up in a compact mass, where they are clubbed to death. Sometimes a different method is pursued, and with relays of horsemen the rabbits are run down and killed. In wiry, wild horses, and from every brush either case the result is the same, and a Sometimes many hundred rabbits are slaughtered, and between this cause of decrease and the gun of the white hunter the jack rabbit, in spite of the remarkable fecundity of the species, is doomed to eventually become a past infrequent jack breaks in on the mono- feature of the life of the southwest .-

FUNERALS OF FIREMEN

WHO MET DEATH IN PACKING HOUSE FIRE.

hurches Yesterday Taxed to Accomo date the Crowds-Heartfelt Sympathy Expressed for Relatives of the Four Firemen-Fire Alarm Called Out Company of Captain Condren During the

On all sides yesterday, both at the funerals and in all the households of New Haven, was expressed the deepest and most heartfelt sympathy for the relatives of the four brave framen who went to death on Tuesday morning of this week in the conflagration which destroyed the old Judson packing

From the most humble citizen to the head of the city government all for the moment laid aside their other cares to remember the dead and pay a highly deserved tribute to their faithfulness. The churches where the services over the remains of the dead were held were taxed to their utmost to accommodate the crowds of mourners. All present bared their heads in true forrow as they heard the solemn words of the funeral ervice being read.

At St. Patrick's church the body Captain Joseph E. Condren was taken. The hearse containing the heavy oak casket stopped before the door of the church just as the bells were striking the hour of ten. On the steps leading to the church were the policemen lined on either side and, with their clubs brought to "present arms" they stood while the flower bearers and the ers carrying all that was mortal of the late beloved captain passed.

The policemen closed in after the mourners and the solemn procession proceeded up the alsle of the church. The casket had just been moved into its place at the end of the sisle when from the city hall fire bell, as if paying its last tribute to the memory of the fire fighter, came the signal No. 45, calling out the company in which Captain Condren had been the head.

The service was a very impressive The mass was celebrated by the Father O'Brien, with the Rev. ther Finnigan as deacon and the Rev. Father Russell as sub-deacon. The offertory was sung by James Geddings, a fireman from No. 7's house, the selection being Rhebina's "Ave Maria." The Gregorian mass was sung by the choir.

After the mass the Rev. Father Russell paid a glowing tribute not only to memory of the dead captain, but to four deceased as well. He spoke of the honesty and uprightness of the deceased, both in his every day and in his home life. He spoke of his qualities as a Christian and said that in his other duties he did not neglect his du-

Speaking of the firemen as a body Father Russell told of their taking eir lives in their hands every time they responded to an alarm, "Heroes" he called these men, and "heroes they are," said Father Russell, "just as much because they lost their lives in trying to save those miserable walls as if they had died on the battlefield or in trying to save human lives There was scarcely a dry eye in the congregation when the Rev. Father Russell finished his remarks.

Immediately after the solemn mourners left the church and the solemn procarry the flowers. A large pillar was will be slight. The Firemen's Benevo sociation, a large wreath from Chief Fancher, who sent a like one to each of the other funerals, a broken column bearing the words "Comrade," a shield from the A. O. U. W., a pillow marked "Papa," and another one marked "Brother." In addition to these there were innumerable smaller pleces. The pallbearers were all firemen and were Captain Langley, Captain Hurley Thomas Sheridan, Thomas Tyndell, J. E. Kelly and J. F. Griffin. In the firemen's detail were also Lieutenant Barrows of the dead captain's company, Lieutenant Davidson, Samuel O. Nash Richard Connor, and W. Weldon.

The entire squad was under the command of Assistant Chief Perkins The police detail was in charge of Sergeant Gibson and was composed of Patrolmen Welch, McManus, Allen, Hollinger, Turbert, P. Smith, Sessier, Hayes, Coonan, Watrous, Cannon, and Ledwith.

Marching down Grand avenue, as they came to the station house where the deceased was in charge, the procession passed the men of the station drawn up in line and standing at "Uncover" as the body of their late captain was carried by. Sergeant Gibson paid a tribute to the men by saluting them as he passed with his squad.

An incident in connection with the alarm of fire which struck as Captain 'ondren's body was placed in position tha Coy. in the church, is the fact that the men at the Artizan street house had just Williams, which was to pass their house. The men had to hurry back to their apparatus and a moment more were speeding away to fight a fire which might add them to the list of prave men who had lost their lives.

FRANK WILLIAMS' FUNERAL. The funeral of Frank Williams was seld at his late residence, 361 Blatchey avenue, and later a solemn requiem ess was said at St. Francis' R. burch. The church was crowded to the doors with the friends and acquaintances of the decepsed. There were eight of the fellow firemen of the ceased under the charge of Ca Chapman of Engine No. 2 that led the procession. There were twelve policenen in charge of Sergeant Doherty. Ray, Father Kennedy was the cele-brant, Rev. Father Blake the deacon, and Rev. Father Bacon the sub-deacon, The music was Schmidt's mass and was sung by a quartet from the choir of St. Francis' church, consisting of Miss Albina Blondin, Miss Rohan, William Rohan and William Connolly. The pallbearers were Lieutenant James of engine No. 2, John East, John Goodwin, William Coughian, Frank Noyes, and L. Coates. The pallbearers were

Frank Hines, J. Keyes, and M. Freyer. There were some very beautiful floral tributes, the one from Fred Hunt being a cluster of pinks and roses. The cousins of the deceased sent a floral harp made of red roses, and the company to which the deceased belonged sent a large "Gates Ajar." There was also a bleeding heart formed of roses, and many other handsome floral tributes. The deceased was laid in a broadcloth covered carket and his remains were seen by his friends and acquaintances at his late residence. He lay upon his right elde as if asleep, and save for the ruise at the side of his face the releath of their friends. The remains were interred in St. Lawtence cemetery, and they were escorted by over thirty carriages containing the relatives and friends of the deceased. FIREMAN W. J. REILLY.

The pervices over the remains of Fire William J. Reilly took place first from his late home at 18 Nash street, and later from St. Joseph's R. C. The celebrant of the mass was the Rev. Father Daly, Father Corcoran acting as deacon and Father Hartigan ng sub-deacon, Father Daly spoke highly of the deceased as a man, a fireman and a husband. In his remarks he also paid tribute to the memory of the other dead men, and also to the firemen and policemen in general. The interment as in St. Lawrence cemetery.

The bearers were Captain Charles H. O'Neil, who was in charge of the squad of firemen, and Firemen John R. Smith. Frank C. Lee, E. O. Allen, J. A. Ham-Thomas Sheahan, Brighan Payne, J. F. Miller and Ruben Boyd. The policemen at the funeral were inder command of Sergeant Kleiber and were from stations 3 and 4. They were Policemen Stowell, Lippincott, Hyde, Cook, Gallagher, McQueeney

Bellman, Murphy, Doolittle, O'Connell Burnham and Good. The floral tributes were magnificent and showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

FIREMAN F. N. HALE. At 3 o'clock in th afternoon the services over the remains of Fireman Frederick N. Hale were held at his fa-ther's residence at 5 George street, West Haven, and the Interment was in

Oak Grove cemetery. The detail of firemen was under command of Captain John W. Camo and was composed of G. Barrows, J. Smith, J. Griffin, M. Welden, F. Lee, J. Kelly, and J. Redmond. The detail of police was from the central station and sta tion 3. It was under command of Sergeant Williams and compor 1 of Po-Sessier, Allen, Coonan. Smith, Welch, Hayes, Hyde, and Stow

The services at the house were very julet, impressive and simple. There were no church services. There were many beautiful floral tributes.

The complete list of flowers sent to Captain Condren's funeral follows: Pillar, "Papa." his children: standing wreath, Mary Reardon; myrtle wreath, nieces and neplews; broken column, "Comrade," firemen; design, A. ### PERSONALS.

Mrs. E. P. Green has recovered from an attack of the grip at Canaseraga, N Y., by the use of Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

Among the victims of the grip epi-demic, now so prevalent, F. Coyle is now recovering at Canton, O., by the use of Dr. Miles' Nervine and Pills.

W. E. Nihells, of St. Louis, Mo., who was down with grip, is reported much improved. He used Dr. Miles' Nervine and Pills.

The friends of Mrs. L. Denison will be pleased to learn of her recovery from grip at her home in Bay City, Mich. through the use of Dr. Miles' Nervine

Everybody says that J. W. Udy is looking splendid since his recovery from the grip at his home in Des Moines, Ia. They all know that Dr. Miles' Nervine was what cured him. Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. De-Wacle, who has passed the three-score milestone, had a time with the grip; but when seen at his home in Roscommon, Mich., the other day, he said Dr. Miles' Nervine was what cured him. At nearly three-score and ten Mrs. Galen Humphrey was fighting against odds when the grip attacked her; but she took Dr. Miles' Nervine, and now her neighbors in Wareham, Mass., remark on how well she is looking. After an illness of five weeks from the grip, Mrs. Harriett Jackson is again about and looking fine. She began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine after the fourth week. Her home is in Bowling Green.

The first rank was | yesterday, has been brought to the New conferred on two of New Haven's Haven hospital for careful treatment. prominent citizens, and the third rank In attempting to climb to the seat of was conferred on one candidate.

There were visitors present from every city lodge of the order, and there were present also a number from Bran-ford and Stony Creek. A few visitors from New York state were also at the meeting. At the conclusion of the meeting a fine banquet was served.

America lodge is one of the largest and most popular of any in the order, and nearly every night they meet at least one rank is conferred on a candi-date. The members always has a good time at the meetings in the way of a nquet or an entertainment.

Last Tuesday evening, in the Odd Fellows' building, on Crown street, the Past Chancellors' association of the Knights of Pythias celebrated the thirty-seventh anniversary of the instituon of the order. This was the second celebration of its kind and was a very one. The attendance was large and the programme of entertain-ment during the evening was greatly enjoyed. The meeting and entertainwas followed by a banquet at and Their Importance to Fair Baven and the City-The M. Seward Co.-A Fine Concert Other Notes.

Fair Haven is in the throes of industrial expansion. The people of Fair Haven East have concluded that there must be some manufacturing enterprizes in that district in order to bring back the business of former years. Just now, the move is to get the M. Seward & Son Co. to locate their factory there, if possible, but it is understed that if this is not a success there will be an attempt to land some other industries, The Deming property, formerly the A. L. Chamberlain & Co.'s store, is looked upon as the most advantageous site. It ias a three story brick building, with land fronting on East Grand and Quinciplac avenues, and a wharf privilege in the rear. It is understood the property can be bought for $7,000, or about the cost of building the big store. Representatives of the company went yesterday to East Haven to examine several properties which it was thought would be well adapted for factory pur-poses. With Fair Haven East and East Haven bidding, extra efforts will be offered the company to locate over this way. The merchants are much interested, for such an enterprise would improve trade.

VICTOR HUGO ET SON SIECLE. Lecture by Gaston Deschamps at Yale

Last Evening. The university literature lecture on

"Victor Hugo et son Siecle" was delivered in French by M. Gaston Dechamps of the Paris Temps last evening at the Art school.

Mr. Deschamps impressed his audience throughout his lecture by a most fascinating style of delivery. He was very intelligible, his enunciation being especially clear and his style simple The readings, also, with which the lecture was interspersed, were effectively

He was introduced by President Hadley and responded cordially, expressing his pleasure at finding himself in the studious atmosphere of Yale, In opening his subject he dwelt particularly on Hugo's early years, in order to show their effect on the development of the great novelist's powers of expression. From his fifth to his twelfth year he dwelt with his parents in Italy and Spain. To these years of his life Hugo never tires of alluding, and the scenery and circumstances in which he lived made an impression upon his mind which his later writings fully reveal. The lecturer showed the influence upon Hugo, of Chateaubriand, who gave him much of his coloring in words and phrases, also his reverence for the architectural past of France, shown in the Odes and Notre Dame de

But for all his varied powers of expresion, Hugo is not simply a stylist. He goes further than that; his novels and poems contain a reflection of the national life of France. In his poetry, which is the most varied and attractive of the French tongue, he helped to build up the Napoleonic legend. volumes of his verse contain one or more poems in praise of Napoleon, until finally he uses the elder Bonaparte in contrast and reproach to the young-His hatred of Napoleon III was described, and a detailed account of Hugo, the statesman, in the poet was

Mr. Dechamps said that many might suppose Hugo, on account of his many political works, was merely a poet of political life. This is, however, far from the fact. He is above all the poet individual life. An extensive view in Hugo's work shows his delight in painting the domestic side of life. In his tender words he reflects the past, his youth, his ambitions, his friends, and personal sorrows. In the last years of his life family trials, the death of his wife and sons, had left to him only his grandchildren, in whom his whole affection was centered, out of which affection he wrote his humorous poem on "The Art of Being a Grandfather." From the "Odes!" hardly a year passed by without a song to the pleasures of the quiet fireside. Mr. Deschamps concluded by showing the lesson which Hugo offers to the twentieth century in that he drew his material for literary work from his own life and national surroundings. Deschamps said that he was particularly fortunate in being able to present this thought in America, because here so strongly perfected, and that there is no reason why we should not now pro duce a poet such as Hugo was for France to crown and glorify our own national existence. During his stay in America M. Deschamps will lecture before the Cercle Francaise of Harvard on French Drama." He intends to travel extensively and will return to France some time in May.

M. Deschamps was born at Nelle, Deux Sevres, in 1861. In 1885 he was received as a fellow of the University of Paris, and was sent to L'Ecale Francaise at Athens, where he devoted himself to archaeology, explosing several regions in Asia Minor. He began his literary career by writing for the Journal des Debals. On his return to Paris he joined the staff and later became managing editor. In 1892 he was anpointed head of the cabinet, but soon returned to his literary activity, succeeding the late Anatale France as literary critic of Le Temps.

M. Deschamps has published several works of note, including his archaeoloeighteen and forty-five for charter and "Sur les Routes d'Asle." There is gical studies "La Grece d'aujourd'hui" same will be two dollars and fifty cents a volume on "Morivaux" in the series f Great Authors of France, and "Les Hommes et Les Livres' about different authors and their works. He has written also a novel of contemporary Parisian life called "Chemin Flauri" and book on the socialistic movement "La Malaise de la Democratie." During his stay in New Haven M Deschamps will be entertained by Dr.

E. B. Reed.

STOCK MARKET FEATURES

As Reviewed by the House of Prince &

Whitely. New York, Feb. 21.-The prevailing sentiment before and at the opening of to-day's market was on the same plane as existed for some days past. was no positive encouraging news, nor were there any signs that the recently proposed consolidations and amalgamations of interests in railroads and the industrials, particularly the steel industries, would not be carried through, nor were there any tangible signs of an immediate advance in money rates, but, nevertheless, the feeling of a lower range of values, for a time at least, remained unchanged. The reduction of one-half per cent, in the Bank of England rate caused a better trade outlook in Europe and here, and an undoubtedlarger short interest in the market than for some time evidently had no influence on the mind of the speculative operators, for our opening was weak and prices were lower all around. The London market was somewhat indifferent at the opening, but bankers tell us in this market for European account was very good.

With encouraging news from China and South Africa we may look for an Improvement, not only in financial, but commercial directions also, and the latter are imperative almost in order to strengthen the former. It should not be forgotten that large capitalistic interests who a few weeks agol were known to be largely interested on the long side are still favoring the market, and if the final consummation of deals

Foreign exchange was easy at unchanged rates. The known movement of money so far would indicate a cash gain for the banks.

Wheat does not act very enthusiastically on the long side, although tele-grams from Chicago continue of a bullish tenor. Cotton is more settled after the March liquidation and the European trade news is good. The crop movement is small and short interest large. Prices bid fair to go higher.

The stock market in the last hours showed evidence of slightly better sentiment. It could not be called strong, but whenever a desire to cover shorts became manifest prices rallied and the advances were maintained well up to the close. A summary of the report of Agent Preston on the work of the year is as

By the figures below it will be seen that less than 12 per cent. of the wandering class required assistance, and those were largely women, or runaway children. That there are many vagabonds frequenting the city, is apparent to all observers, and so long as shelters are many and attractive, the facilities for prolonged stay will be accepted. By making the round of the institutions now available, a clever vagrant can secure several months' shelter without doing much work, a condition not conducive to the public welfare, as is indi-cated by the increased number of petty thefts reported, of which not less than 50 per cent. are, according to police estimates, committed by out of town men.

One central lodging house, under the direct supervision of the police, where all of the wandering class co handled, would greatly facilitate their proper care, weed out the criminals. and assist the worthy men to employment, but so long as new enterprises are multiplied, the better the opportunity for the vagabond. The cast will be an exceptionally strong one, and includes Miss Lillian Allen Phillips as Johnny Howard, the drumbrightest and popular Yale men, plays Mart Howard, and Miss Edith May Root appears at Mrs. Elliott. The military details have received special attention and the popular military company, the Sarsfield Guard, Co. C. C. N. G., under command of Captain J. F. Donovan, will appear at every performance in the great camp and battle Another feature will be the scenes, and a cannon will be used in the great battle scene and fired at every performance. Special new scenic effects have been arranged for this production by George Miller of the Hyperion. The performances are to be given on Monday night for the New Haven Register newsboys, and on the evenings and matinees during the week the hospitals, orphan asylums and fraternal orders will be benefited.

A word of praise is due George K. Jewell, the manager, who is indefatigable in his efforts to make the coming event a roaring success. The big stage at the Hyperion will enable the association to put the play on in better form than ever, and a first rate production will be the result. Another addition this year will be the Pickanning sextette comprising six juveniles of unmistakable talent. They must be seen to be appreciated. The advance sale of seats is now running merrily on, and everything indi-cates a most successful engagement. Prices, orchestra and parquet, 50c, 35c; dress circle, 50c, 35c, 25c; family circle 10c. There will be no changes from these prices for any performance. Grand Opera House,

The early weakness of the market began to change to recovery when support was manifest in the steel stocks. The weakness was quite acute at one time, the steel stocks leading the decline as they did the recovery. Many of the prominent railroad stocks were down between 1 and 2 points, the grangers, Pacifics, Southwesterns and some of the coalers being conspicuous. Burlington, Kansas introduction of two horses in one of the and Texas preferred, Erie 2d pref., and Rock Island were notably weak. These stocks were all conspicuous in the raily. also a number of the most important railroad stocks were lifted a point above last night. There was very large demand for the Southern Railway stocks and for the Wabash securities. The Southern Railway stocks each advanced 2%. The continued ease of the money market was an influence in driving the shorts to cover, as it was expected that there might be a flurry in money incident to the demand to carry over until next Monday. All who have read the work can appreciate what a difficult task beset Mr. Brady when he endeavored to present the gorgeous scenery and stage settings. The wonderful "fete de champetre" at Willowsmere, at which the prince mystifies all by his power is artistically shown with all the splendor of nearly 1,000 electric Hights, introducing an ingenious electrical ballet. The third act allows of some pretty antique settings, showing "The Hall of Willowsmere." There was some tragic acting in this hall, also some fine emotional work by Miss Dodd. On the whole this may be summed up as the best production ever seen in this city at 1 popular prices.

Charles Kent's impersonation of Prince Lucia Rimanez, who goes about the world as a prince, but who, as a matter of fact is his Satanic Majesty, was very good. ### The New Bicycles Bicycle Parts.

To those who ride and those who expect to get new wheels this year, there will be no special news in saying that we practically do the bicycle business of the city. It is already known The records of last year are yet fresh in memory.

But it will be interesting to say that many of the new Newports are in. The Newport, you know, is the wheel of the year. This year we have an unusually fine showing in juvenile wheels-we're particularly strong there. We want you to see them-we're ready to show them.

We used to carry severa makes in wheels. Season after season, however, the Newport which we have sold for many years has so improved and gown in favor that its all round superiority has virtually crowded the other wheels out. Each year now see a most marked increase in the sales. The Newport is the high type wheel of the times.

Bicycle Parts.

In 1901, as in previous seasons, we shall lead in the display of bicycle parts. More than anything else, this side of our bicycle business will establish anew the popular opinion of the "Corner of Sports," namely, that it is the only completely stocked sporting goods store in New Haven. And we always talk low price.
