but short and decisive fight was made on both, but both were defeated overwhelmingly. Citizens were not inclined to spend even comparatively small sums in building new roads, even though their necessity was unquestioned. Regarding the schools, three were asked for, but a motion for the appropriation of "not to exceed $8,000" for the first school so paralyzed the voters that they downed it at once, and adjourned before a peep had been offered concerning the other two. It was the old fight between the north and south ends of the town, and the north won. The argument is that the south end

Some merriment was created by discussion of article 3, "to change the method of paying town bills." Downes presented a motion, which was carried, allowing the selectmen more time between the presentation and payment of bills against the town. bills have increased in number from 450 to nearly 1,200 in the past ten years, and he said the selectmen had to pay of Albert Durfee, charged with vagrancitizen asked why, if that was the case, the town had to employ auditors. Articla 4 drew out a new story involving Walter Scott Miller, the colored New Haven attorney, now in jail pending trial for alleged irregularities. The town of Hamden had for some time been aiding in the support of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Frey, but on investigation resulted in the disclosure that they owned the little place on which they lived, worth perhaps $1.500. Three years ago this was deeded to Miller's wife, on some basis of remuneration yet indefinite, and later the property was involved in several other mort-gages, greatly to the distress of the old couple, who are poor but worthy. The town voted yesterday to take Frey's property, give him a life inter-Mt. Carmel Bolt company's

The question of changing the route of Cooper lane so that the two hills might be avoided, giving farmers thereabouts decided advantages in teaming over present conditions, provoked a long and spley discussion and was finally defeated by indefinite postponement. Residents in that section strongly urged the motion, claiming that other portions of the town received improvements without opposition, and that they were entitled to some consideration. Mr. Flight spoke for the petitioners, calling on the voters not to go back on the folks that live on the hills. But Clifford Munson spoke so energeti-cally against the measure that he carried the day. He claimed that the road could not be built for less than $1.000, and would prove very expensive to maintain owing to the swampy nature of the ground. First cost, to his mind, was immaterial, but he deplored the consequent expenses. A standing vote was called for and the motion was indefinitely postponed by a vote of 119

The matter of establishing a curb line on Dixwell avenue attracted considerable attention and created some mirth. A motion was offered placing the curb line at eighteen feet from the fence line, which was finally carried. But it developed that the water com pany has already established hydrant on the supposition that the town would vote a 24-foot curb line. Therefore, if yesterday's 18-foot vote is carried out these hydrants now in place will be six feet in the highway from the curb. Mr. Reilly, the butcher, remarked that he guessed with "two trolley tracks, a lot of thim bolkes and a few more of thim mo-biles or what the devil youse call 'em," the street would be none too wide for traveling purposes,

The school house proposition for a building at the south end, "at a cost not exceeding $8,000," followed. For a moment there was breathless silence, as the figure was read. Advances may not be as fast as the average operator has been accustomed to lately, but conditions as they to-day exist warrant higher values, and in time will so prove. ENTERTAINMENTS. Hyperion Theater.

In Miss Viola Allen's new play "In the Palace of the King," is a scene at the climax of the fifth act that is described as being particularly thrilling. Lauretta H. Babcock, Mrs. John H. Philip II. in the scene previous has stabbed Cardinal de Torres. Don John was in the room at the time and, indeed, it was at him that Philip aimed the blow. Philip compels Don John to assume the guilt on the plea that D. Shelton, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Smith, should it become known that the king had killed the cardinal, the pope would make war upon Spain. Neither Don John nor the king are aware, however, that Don Dolores, Don John's sweet-heart, was hiding in the room during this catastrophe. The secret, however, is known to the audience. In the scene following the stabbing Don John acknowledges the crime before the entire court, whereupon Dolores, to the amazement of all, mounts the throne and announces that she was in her lover's bed-chamber when the crime was committed. She tells the courtiers that Don John is innocent, but withholds the name of the true author of the crime. Grand Opera House. Admirers of old time minstrelsy enjoyed a genuine treat at the Grand opera house last evening, when Banta Brothers' minstrels held the boards. This clever company presented an excellent entertainment made up of the regulation first part, olio and a closing skit in which the entire company are seen. They all display more than ordinary ability and are carefully chosen for their respective parts, the only hitch in their entertainment being slight traces of nervousness with some of the artists, but this will undoubtedly be overcome when they become mor familiar with the footlights, H. E. Button acted as interlocutor, while Messrs. Southerton, Banta, Crocker and Banta were the end men and each seemed very much at ease in their rapid exchange of jokes and witticisms, some of which were decidedly original and very clever. The honors of the first part were about equally divided between F. A. Crocker and A. W. Banta both receiving repeated encores, to which they gracefully responded, and individual hits were also made by Mr. Southerton in his rendition of "Chicken," H. T. King, "The Spider and the Fly," E. F. Strong, "Dinah," Brace, "Answer," and A. E. Skinner, "Ma Black Pearl." In the olio are seen Southerton and Banta in a short eketch entitled "Just a Little Nonsense," and it is a grand conglomoration of fun making nonsense, Banta Brothers in a thoroughly up-to-date musical sketch, Clancy and King in Hebrew impersona. tions and jokes, Pickett and Hevrin, hand-to-hand balancing and acrobatic comedy, and the Bijou mandolin and

One of the results brought about by the opening of Chicago's drainage canal is the lessening of the fish supply at the Chicago end of Lake Michigan. The fish, attracted by the clearing of the water at the mouth of the Chicago river, are swept along by the swift current, which they cannot stem, and pass through the river on into the canal and so proceed to the Mississippi. In such great schools are the fish passing from the lake that they have given the Chicago river for the time being the reputation of having more fish than any other river in the world. The lake fishermen, their occupation gone, divide their time between selling balt to the amateur fishermen, who line the river, and condemning the acts of men father down the river and the canal, who catch the fish, big and little, with nets, and violate all the laws on Hartford, May 16 .- The statute revis- ulations. on committee of the general assembly has, after long consideration, completed the new joint stock corporation law and will report it soon to the house The bill purposes to enact a general corporation law to cover all cases of incorporation, so that the flood of private charters will cease. In the senate to-day business was of a minor nature. THE HOUSE The intestate estate bill giving such estates of children to parents instead of brothers and sisters came up for discussion this morning and was pass ed after the longest and most general debate thus far of the session. Mr. King tried to get the matter postponed towards the end of the debate for two years in order to have the matter thoroughly ventilated in the meanwhile, bu the temper of the house was too heated on the question and after a number of flery speeches Mr. King's motion to postpone was killed. Mr. King was himself attacked by Mr. Willes, of Vernon, who suggested that his move was only to kill the bill.

Mr. King, who has been one of the greatest supporters of the measure, in-dignantly denied this insinuation, and dignantly defined this intercon-pleaded with the house for postpone-ment for the purpose of better under-standing the measure. It was passed, however, over his request to delay by an overwhelming vote.

Mr. Freeman, of Hartford, opposed the bill and said that it changes the law of the state that had been in operation for over two hundred years. said that only one or two men came be-fore the committee in favor of the bill, and that the main idea was to make this state conform to the laws of other states. Mr. Freeman said the legislature ought not to change the law unless there was a great demand for it. He said judges of probate were much

Mr. Atwood, of New Britain, favor ed the bill, as did Mr. Staples, of Bridgeport. Mr. Williams, of Glastonbury, Judge Banks, of Fairfield, Mr. Pelton, of Clinton, Mr. Hitchcock, of Woodbury, and several others also fa-

Mr. Whittlesey of Danbury, who in-troduced the bill discussed it at some length. He said that thirty states had this law and Connecticut was the only New England state that was behind hand in the matter. He was applauded at the close of his speech.

Mr. Hitchcock of Woodbury offered an amendment placing parents with children in the line of inheritance. Mr. King reviewed the question in Reed of Stafford supported Mr. King, and a vigorous debate immediately en sued on the question of putting the matter over two years. Mr. Willes said that to leave the bill for another assembly would be to kill it. Mr. Pearne of Middletown said that to continue the matter for two years would be "to put it in the cemetery in the northwest corner of this building."

and asked Mr. King not to insist on his motion. Mr. King said that he very much re gretted that any insinuation had been made that his motion to put the bill over two years was for the purpose of killing the bill. IN PORTO RICO.

Views a Big Conflagration-Horseback Ride Through the Country.

Dwight E. Bowers of this city, exment, who is in Porto Rico whither he enjoying a pleasure trip, witnessed the encore destruction by fire of the great warehouse at San Juan. He went down to the wharf, following a crowd, to witness the departure on a steamer of a brilliant wedding party, the bride being the daughter of the governor genal, and her wedding having just taken place amid great eclat. As the steamer was just departing Mr. Bowers with others noticed a puff of smoke issuing from the big warehouse, and oon saw another issuing from anothpart of the building. It took the throng of people about a minute to size like sheep to places of safety. The big warehouse was on fire and inside of fifty minutes was a mass of smoking ruins. Attorney General Harlan of Porto Rico had all his household goods in the warehouse. These were also destroyed ..

Lieutenant Bowers is having a delightful time on the island and is getting pretty well acquainted with Porto Rico, and with the remote postoffices of this island, as he took a horseback ride pretty much all over the island in the said remote postoffice districts. He took the ride having for his guide his friend, Postoffice Inspector McDonald, a prominent postoffice official, who was making an official tour of the offices. The affair was one of the most successful of its kind ever celebrated by the lodge, both from a standpoint of attendance and of pleasure and it will long be remembered by all who attended. The hall itself looked very pretty trimmed as it was with different colored buntings and along the sides and on the stage were placed numerous palms from Champion's establishment that lent to the beauty of the occasion. Nearly all of the past grand masters of the lodge whi are living were in attendance with their families and there were also present members of the other city lodges, Hiram, Trumbull, Adelphi and VERTICAL PENMANSHIP AGAIN Something over a year ago the New York city board of education, after a somewhat protracted discussion in the course of which the members effectually demonstrated how little they knew about the modern teaching of penmanship in the schools, passed a decree intended to discourage the teaching of the so-called vertical penmanship. STATE FIREMEN.

Hartford Man Will Probably Be Chosen President of the Association. Tuesday and Wednesday, May 21 and 22, will be firemen's days in Hartford, as the eighteenth annual convention of the Connecticut State Firemen's association will be held in Saengerbund hall in that city on those days. The last convention was held Wallingford a year ago and the legislative committee appointed at that time will report on the success which has attended its efforts. The legislature has granted its petition increasing the annual state appropriation from $8,000 to $10,000 and reimbursing the association's treasury by $2,500, which had been used for charitable purposes.

The association was formed primarily for the promotion of the interest of the firemen and for maintaining the best service and equipment but it has grown into a benefit organization for widows and orphans of men killed sis in addition, a vice-president from each county, Hartford's representative being E. O. Goodwin of East Hartford.

The association will convene at 2 p. m. Tuesday, a meeting of the executive beard being held at 11 a. m. Two business sessions will probably be held Wednesday, at 10:30 a. m. and 2 p. m.

The Veteran Volunteer Firemen's association will give a ball Tuesday evening in the Auditorium for the entertainment of the state firemen and other entertainments are planned.

Almost the first business of the convention will be the election of a president and other officers for the president and other officers for the coming year. John R. Davis, the present first vice-president, will probably be elected president. He is engineer of No. 3 company on Front street, has been identified with the association for ten years, has served several times on executive board and was county the vice-president for two years, previous to his election to the first vice-presidency. Mr. Davis is very popular in the association and its interests are very dear to him. His successor in the *vice-presidency will probably be T. A. Gobel, now county vice-president from Litchfield.

There are 7,000 members from over 200 fire companies in the association. About 200 delegates will attend the convention and there will be about 40 department delegates and fire chiefs from all over the state. Mayor Harrison will welcome them.

It is stated that the Allis, Fraser & Chalmers and Gates Iron Works plants have been operated night and day during the past two years, and have from lack of capacity declined in that period as much business as they have been able to accept. The company's net profits for the fiscal year to end May 1, 1902, are estimated sufficient to pay dividends at the rate of 7 per cent. on the authorized preferred stock and about 4 per cent. on the common stock. If allowance is made for the economics expected from consolidation, it is estimated that the company in this period should earn 7 per cent. on both classes of stock. The ncreased business expected to follow the completion of the additional Allis works, now in course of construction, will, it is estimated, bring the profits up equivalent to 8 per cent, on the preferred stock and 10 per cent. on the mmon stock and also make a material addition to the surplus account. The authorized preferred stock is $18,250,000, mon stock, share for share, at the option of the holder, upon any first day of May until and including May 1, 1921. The great bulk of the tools in all of these are comparatively new, having been put in within the last seven or eight years, and all the works are in good condition and running

The security of the Preferred Stock, WITHOUT ANY CONSIDERATION FOR THE ADVANTAGES ACCRUING FROM THE CONSOLIDATION. Cash Capital. $10,000,000 of which sum $2,500,000 will be expended in the erection of an additional plant to double the present capacity of the Allis Works. Valuation as above of existing plants owned in fee and free of Hen.

9.985,000 Total present value of tangible property, $19, 885,000

The total issue of Preferred Stock against this property is 16,250,000 than their valuation as above stated, and of which total issue there will be more than 61 per cent, in cash, and the balance will be in property that produces much more than the cumulative dividend to which the Preferred Stock is

Of the total Preferred Stock, $7,850,000 has been accepted by the original Companies in lieu of cash, in part payment for their properties to be conveyed to this Company. The remaining $8,400,000 is now offered for sale to provide for the discharge of existing mortgages and for part of the above-mentioned Cash Capital, the remainder thereof being provided by the sale of Common Stock already consummated,

The accounts of the several concerns have been examined by Messrs Jones, Caesar & Co., chartered accountants, who certify "that the combined profits of these Companies, in each of the last two fiscal years, after making full provisions for depreciation and bad debts, but without charging interest and management salaries, exceeded the amount required to pay seven per cent. dividends upon $16,250,000 Preferred Stock, whilst for the last fiscal year the profits, as above defined, considerably exceeded such amount." It was not until the last year that the new works of Fraser & Chalmers came into full operation The net profits for the fiscal year ending May 1, 1902, are estimated by the chief officials of the respective companies, without any allowance for increase of manufacturing capacity, or for the economies of consolidation, or increase of prices, at sufficient to pay dividends at the rate of seven per cent. on the $16,-250,000 Preferred Stock and about four per cent. on $20,000,003 of Common Stock. Including the economies from consolidation confidently anticipated by these authorities, the net profits for the same period should exceed the amount required to pay seven per cent. dividends on both classes of stock.

The same officials similarly estimate that upon the completion of the additional Allis Works, now in process of construction, the profits will be equivalent to eight per cent. on $16,250,000 of Preferred Stock and ten per cent. on $20,-00,000 of Common Stock, with a material addition to the Surplus Account.

The Allis, Fraser & Chalmers and Gates Iron Works plants have been operated night and day during the past few years, and have, from lack of capacity, declined in that period as much business as they have been able to

The business of these concerns, with more than fifty per cent. increase of capacity and ample cash capital, will be conducted by the Messrs. Allis and Reynolds, of E. P. Allis Company; W. J. The regularity of the incorporation of the Allis-Chaimers Company and the validity of the issue of its securities are certified to by Messrs. Strong & Cadwalader, of New York, and Messrs, Pam, Calhoun & Glennon, of Chicago.

The accounts of the Company will be regularly audited by Chartered Accountants.
