Indianapolis, March 2.-Prince Henry of Prussia went up Lookout mountain Cook county criminal court. Burnett, to-day and after viewing the ground where the Union and Confederate armies met in conflict and hearing afresh the story of the battles, resumed his journey to the north and west. Leaving Chattanooga over the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, his train ran through a corner of Alabama and then turning to the north, hurried across Tennessee with a short stop at Nashville, through Kencucky with brief stays at Louisville and Bowling Green and up into Indiana to another brief halt at Indianapolis, where the course was changed to the westward again and on the tracks of the Vandalla line, his train to-night is on the reach for St. Louis. His reception in the south was hospitable and demonstrative. The negroes manifested great curiosity as to the prince and they interested and amused him.

He had an opportunity to hear them sing at Nashville and was greatly pleased at the experience. Paterson, N. J., March 2 .- This city, so recently swept by fire, is now about overwhelmed by flood. The quarter ocrupied by the houses of the poorer class s inundated. Hundreds of families have been made homeless by the overflow of the Passaic river and the country for miles around the city is under water. So far but one death has been reported.

The great peril now is that the Spruce street raceway may overflow, in which event a fearful loss of property in the manufacturing districts is sure to en-The raceway supplies water power for most of the mills along the water front. The city authorities instructed engineers to open a new channel with dynamite if necessary. At I o'clock this afternoon the water in the raceawy was within three inches of the danger point but four hours later it was reported that it was receding.

The district for a mile along the river front and nearly half a mile in width is covered with water which in many instances reached to the second story of the dwellings. THE POLITICAL ACTIVITY OF GOV-ERNMENT EMPLOYES.

Attitude of Civil Service Commission Toward the Question-No Worse to Say Employes Must Contribute Toward Campaign Expenses Than to Say They Must Not-Coercion Not to be

Washington, March 2.-The attitude of the civil service commission toward the political activity of government employes has been defined in letters Commissioner Foulke has sent to Postmaster McMichael and R. Francis Wood, both of Philadelphia. In his letter to Mr. Wood, the substance of which also stated in the letter to the postmaster, Mr. Foulke says:

We object to certain solicitations for contributions, made by those in authority, because they, in effect, are coercing the political action of employes; but would it not also be coercing the political action to tell them that they should not contribute and that they must take no part whatever in a campaign? For myself I have in years past always given a modest contribution for political purposes, and I shall not cease to do so in the future because I hold office, but I do not intend to give any more or less on that account, and I do not want my example to be construed as an intima tion to any employe of this office that he is to give or not to give, or that he that he may not as freely give to the faction opposed to me in my own party as to the faction not opposed to me, if he so desires. 'As to campaign contributions, it seems to me that the purpose of the law is to see that they are really voluntary not actually or impliedly coerced; and as to political action and activity. it seems to me the purpose of the law is that a man should be free to do what he likes in office as well as out of it, with the limitation that it must not inre different, but, speaking for the terfere with his official duties nor in the service to which he belongs. A century of British rule has been the latter particular any attack made upon that service, or upon the administration of which it would form a part, would necessarily be in derogation of sound discipline. We, who are strong believers in the merit system, should not take so extreme a view that it could not be sustained in principle and would not be justified by public opinion.

A BOROUGH MEETING In West Haven Town Hall To-Morrow

Night. The regular meeting of the borough will be held in the town hall, West Haen, to-morrow night and it is expected that matters of importance will come up before the board. One of the maters to be discussed will be that of the streets. The recent heavy snow and rain storms have proved to be bad ones or the borough people, and a great deal of trouble has been caused by them. The streets were in such a condition that it was impossible to throw off the great quantities of snow and siush that accumulated in the gutters during the days of the storm.

Warden Kimberly says that something must be done to do away with this trouble, and it is probable that the matter will be brought up to-morrow

Damage in and Out of the Borough-Signs of Spring-The Borough Grand List Summary-Personals, Etc.

The flood of Friday night was the greatest on record, on the plains at From all sections come com plaints of flooded cellars and of damage done thereby. On the corner of Cherry street and Hall avenue the cellar of J. W. Lane's store was flooded for the first time since the building was erected over thirty-five years ago, At 10 o'clock Friday night Cherry street, north of all avenue was almost a raging river and was flooded to the depth of over two feet in the roadbed and for a distance of 1,000 feet the water was eight inches deep over the sidewalks and rushing with great force through the yards and gardens in the vicinity to the old gully at Washington street, which has recently been stopped up from its usual course to the late. The result was that a good sized lake was formed with water from five to fifteen feet deep and only the fact that the rain stopped and consequently the water subsided prevented the old course of the gully and probably part of Washington street from being washed away. The water on Cherry street and vicinity was the highest on record, and a like situation of affairs was experienced on Meadow William street and vicinity, as well as South Colony street, and other portions of the borough. Only the prompt action of T. F. Daly and a few others in getting out at midnight and banking up in some places and shoveling out in others prevented several of the cellars of bus iness blocks on Center street being flooded. Morse, the baker, claims he was damaged fully $500 by the water getting into his bakery and storehouse. Other claims for damages will be made from different sections largely caused by the fallure of the authorities to have the gutters cared for and cleaned out when they should have been. The hor ough may have saved a few dollars by not doing its duty in preparing for the flood while it had time to do so, but in the end it may prove to have been illtimed and expensive an attempt at

The terrific rain storm of yesterday morning did hundreds of dollars worth of damage to the streets of Wallingford. On Saturday the warden had men at work turning the current of water from melting snow off Cherry street in to Silk street and across Washington to shops. When the rain fell yesterday this temporary waterway did not suffice to carry the water away fast enough and in a short time a space from ten to fifteen feet wide and six feet deep was cut in Cherry street for a considerable portion of the way. The greatest damage, however, was done on Silk street. That portion of the street which is between Washington and Cherry streets, was washed away entirely to a depth of from four to seven feet onto a vacant lot near by. DR. FRISSELL'S ADDRESS.

AN INTERESTING DISCOURSE AT UNITED CHURCH LAST EVENING.

How the Negro and Indian Are Seing Taught to be Self-Supporting at Hampton Institute-Work Enlarging by

Last night was Hampton Institute light at the United church and the edifice was thronged to the doors. Dr. H. B. Frissell, principal of the school, de livered an address appertaining to the work being done for the negro and Indian races at that institution. General Amrstrong was its founder and its object is to enable the colored race to become self-supporting by teaching them the rudimentary principles of education and giving them a practical knowledge of farming and the auxiliary crafts, such as wheelwrighting, blacksmithing, etc. Its purpose was to stop the black man from going to the cities and keep him in the country, to stop him from going to the north and keep him in the south. It is a center around which many small colonies of graduates have sprung up and by example and precept have imbued other members of their race to a desire to become property owners, cultivate the soll and become independent and respected citizens Booker T. Washington is one of the graduates and the school at Tuskege was modeled after the school at Hamp There are besides, a thousand other graduates, over 60 per cent. of whom are teachers. Hundreds are liv ing upright lives in obscure country places and such examples as these are corely needed. There has been recently started at St. Helena, Va., an experiment station, the outgrowth of Hamp ton, where hundreds of colored youth are taught to live decently and work intelligently. Twenty years ago there were counties in Virginia where jails were filled with negro thieves, but as a result of the grand work initiated by General Armstrong there are negro jails in that state to-day, and he amount of land owned by negroes alone has increased one-third. Besides the negro, the disinherited

Indian is also taken care of at the inplexy. A number of years ago he was stitute. It is now twenty-five years engaged in the saloon business down since the first Indians were brought there. There were forty of them sent by the government to St. Augustine. the stone structure was built on East | hands were stained with the blood of the white man and they were to be punished. Three years afterwards seventeen were sent to Hampton to be taught the handlerafts and agriculture. Miss Mallory, formerly of this city and Frederick C. Kennedy, a wheelwright, Miss Sperry were in charge of them. well known to New Haven people, and also taught the religion of Jesus Christ, At first when they were put to bed at the institute instead of getting into it they would crawl under it, and when finally induced to sleep on their mat tresses they would roll the sheets up and put them under their heads instead of putting the same over them. they were taught how to make their beds, how to sleep comfortably, how to keep clean, how to dress and finallybecome proficient in many of the arts f civilization. Neverthless, the struggle against old traditions and barbar ous ideas was tremendous. To-day out n the Indian country two-thirds are self-supporting. Here and there may be seen a church a school room, a shop a home and like the negro the Indian has learned to cultivate his land. More has been accomplished within the last twenty years than in the one hundred years previous. Instead of supporting soldiers to keep the red man within bounds the government now appropriates $2,5000,000 each year to sustain Indian schools. Through these schools he ahs become less of a burden to the gov.

Some of the most successful negro farmers in Virginia have been girls the have gone out of the Hampton institute. No girl is allowed to graduate unless she can cook a decent meal, and make the dress she graduates in. ost of tuition is $70 a year, the students earning their own board by applying the proceeds of the trades they earn to that object. There are several New Haven residents who contribute several scholarships each year. The corps of instructors is so large, however, that it requires $80,000 a year to carry out the work. In concluding Dr. Friesell said that we ought to aid all races, but none so much as the red and black races, "We have taken his liberty from the negro and from the Indian we have taken away his land." Rev. Dr. Munger concluded the exercises by an urgent plea for contributions to further aid the work being carried on by Dr. Frissell.

The exercises were interspersed by hymns which were sung by the Hampton quartette, which consisted of the four following young colored men from the Hampton institute: F. W. Crawley, J. A. Bailey, A. D. Watson and A. M. Meeks. Their singing was greatly appreciated.

The Charity Organization Society of New York has received from one of its patrons a unique collection of antique cameos and intaglios, which will be placed on sale by special arrangement with Tiffany & Co. for the joint benefit of the society and the Provident Re-Hef Fund. These stones are known as the Poniatowski gems, and were first collected by the kings of Poland. The collection consists of 1,200 intaglios, containing an immense variety of figures, groups and heads cut on carne-Hans, sardonyx, etc., and inscribed with names of Greek artists. A portion of the specimens are the work of genuine Greek art, and another portion are copies. NEW MEMBERS AT GRAND AVENUE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Fifty-six Persons Were Received Into Fellowship Yesterday, Making 105 Since the Coming of Rev. Mr. Chalmers

-New Baptismal Font-Other News.

Yesterday was a very important day for the Grand avenue Congregational church. In the morning at 10:30 the usual communion service was observed and the occasion was made memorable by the large number of new members received into church fellowship. Despite the severe storm, the church was crowded with worshippers. There was an interesting address appropriate to the occasion by the pastor, Rev. Andrew Burns Chalmers, after which the new members were welcomed. It is customary for the pastor to give teh hand of fellowship, but owing to the large number to be received, this part of the service was performed by the deacons. Of the fifty-six members received, thirty-six were by profession of The new members included thirty-one women and twenty-five men. This makes 105 new members received since the coming of Mr. Chaimers as pastor last fall. The total membership of the church is now 860.

Mr. Chalmers made announcement that a member of the church had given a baptismal font, which would be installed at the next communion, the first Sunday in May. It is to be a beautiful work in white marble and of artistic merit. The font is now being carved. The name of the donor is not be announced until the font is in place, in

The late Deacon Willis Hemingway was present at this church for the last time four years ago next Saturday. As a fitting memorial of the event, his daughter, the widow of Rev. Joseph Cook, had the pulpit platform handsomely decorated with cut flowers and palms. Mr. Hemingway was for many years deacon and treasurer of the church.

The names of the members received during Mr. Chalmer's ministry here are given below: The following persons were received yesterday into fellowship: Eugene H. Rowe, Elmer L. Gilbert, Mrs. Elmer T. Gilbert, George D. Chittenden, Mrs. George D. Chittenden, Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, Mrs. George Voght, Mrs. Jane Wicksell, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight S. Tyrrill, Everett R. Bishop, Mrs. Edward C. Porter, Miss Idella Howard, Miss Annie M. Smith, Robert W. Juniver, Mrs. Robert W. Juniver, Mr. and Mrs. Sigmund Bauer, Thomas H. Matthews, Mrs. Thomas H. Matthews, Clayton Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Bertram A. Lester, Mrs. Martha A. Bristol, Miss Ruth L. Bristol, Edwin H. Broden, Mrs. Edwin H. Broden, Mrs. Lillian M. Davis, Clarence M. Davis, Mrs. Mary E. Cram, Joseph R. Sturges. Mr. and Mrs. Leonidas C. Seward, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Newbold, Mrs. Christina Watson, Daniel B. Watson, James B. Watson, Miss Jeanie G. Watson, Miss Florence May Barrows, Miss Ida R. DeMatty, Miss Melinda N. Rich, Miss Grace E. Hofacker, Harrison E. Doty, Mrs. Harrison E. Doty, Melvin F. Doty, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan I. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Mehaffy, Mr. and Mrs. James Frederic Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Homer H. Shepard and

John S. Sanford. A welcome social will be held in this church on Wednesday evening of this week, from 8 to 10 o'clock, for the over hundred new members who have been received during the past three months. Every member of the church, both old and young, is expected to be present and all others who attend the church will be welcome. There will be no charge for admission and nothing sold. Light refreshments will be served by the Young Ladies' league and the Girls' Aid society. The affair will be under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society and all members of the standing committee with their wives or hus bands and all members of the society's committee with their wives are supposed to be exofficio on the reception committee. The reception committee consists of Miss Hattie Denison, chairman; Mrs. H. D. Franklin, Mrs. John Hewitt and Miss Minnie Goodsell. The social will be held in the Sunday school room and the parlors.

The New Haven Congregational club is to meet in this church Monday evening. March 17, and it is expected that Governor McLean will be the speaker

At the Grand avenue Baptist church, vesterday morning, the communion service was obeseved and nine new members were received. The pastor, Rev. E. W. Stone, made an appropriate address and gave the right hand of fellowship to the new members. Seven of the new members were received on confession of faith and baptism and two by letter Others who have been baptised are expected to be received at the next communion.

Schooner Wideawake of Portland, Me., from Narragansett Bay for Fair Haven, stranded on Kaulkner's Island early Saturday morning and will probbe a total loss. The cargo consists of about 2,500 bushels of oysters consigned to H. C. Rowe & Co. Rowe made arrangements Saturday with the Scott Wrecking company of New London to pump out the oysters into a barge and tow to Fair Haven. The barge was expected to go to the vessel yesterday and save the cargo, if the weather permitted.

DAMAGE BY THE STORM

Washouts in Several Parts of the City

-Bridge Carried Away. So far as could be learned last night no great amount of damage resulted from the storm of yesterday morning, but there are a number of places which were damaged to a considerable extent by the storm of Friday, which damage is estimated will amount to about $4,000. There was quite a washout in Chapel street just west of the West river bridge. There the road was carried away for a space about seventyfive feet long and fifteen feet deep. In the same vicinity on Edgewood avenue there was another washout near the street railroad bridge which spans the This caused the street railway some bother and cars were not run over this line for several hours. A gang of men was put at work and they soon filled in the places scooped out by the rush of waters and gave the rails a 11TH AND 12TH WARD NEWS safe bed. Traffic was resumed Saturday night and yesterday everything was moving along nicely. A small bridge at Eaton street, which spans a small stream on the Foxon road, was carried away by the water. There were numerous small washouts in Fair Haven, one being at the Fair Haven depot, another in Clifton street, another in Burr street and another in North Front street on the bank of the Quinnilac river. Many streets at the foot of the Heights had gullies and large holes worn in them by the force of the water, None of these streets is impassable but some of the gullles are quite deep.

STATE LIBRARY COMMITTEE.

nteresting Annual Report Just Issued An interesting report has been made by the Connecticut public library comnittee appointed by the state board of education composed of Charles D. Hine of New Britain, chairman, Miss Caroline M. Hewins of Hartford secretary, Storrs of Seymour of Litchfield, Nathan L. Bishop of Norwich and Edwin B. Gager of Derby.

The report covers a period from January 1, 1897, to January 1, 1901, and gives much valuable information concerning the establishment and mainte nance of free public libraries in different parts of the state. The aim of the committee has been to establish free libraries where none exist, to convert subscription Ilbraries to free libraries, to encourage and aid small libraries, t select and purchase books for school H braries, to create in every way a demand for good books, to issue documents relating to books and libraries and other means of public and schoo education. The report contains a list of published matter which has been circulated by the committee and names of the towns which have adopted free libraries, together with the amount of money appropriated for the purpose by them. able included also shows the amount of money paid by the state each year for books since the law providing for such payment was passed and shows a gain from $564.13 in 1894, to $5,343.78 in During 1900 the committe made

Dur- HISTORY OF THE VOYAGE ON A ing the stop here the desire expressed by the prince to hear some of the old plantation negro songs of the south was reatified, the negro jubilee singers from Fisk university singing three of thos tuneful melodies to the manifest enjoyment of the prince. One of the singers was a member of the organization when It made a tour of Europe some years ago, and, having been teld this, Prince Henry, after the first song, reached over and shook hands with her, making reference to the visit to Berlin. During the rendition of the songs his highness asked Governor McMillen, who was standing by him, what their purport

"They are revival songs," replied the governor. 'What are revival songa?" queried the prince, and the governor entered into a few explanatory remarks conerning the old-time negro and his pic-

As the special train pulled in a band struck up, but the loud cheers of the crowd almost drowned its notes. The prince appeared, touching his cap in recognition, and the special committee boarded the car After the usual formalities Mayor Head delivered his welcoming speech, during which he presented a blokery cans cut from "The Hermitage," Andrew Jackson's old home. MESSAGE 1551 MILES AT SEA.

Marconi Also Proves His Ability to Send Exclusive Dispatches, William Marconi reached New York Saturday on the steamer Philadelphia, after a trip that was for him one of the most important since his experiments with wireless telegraphy began, for he succeeded in receiving aboard ship a sentence sent from the station at Poldhu, Cornwall, England, when 1, 551.5 miles from that station. This bear all previous records for the transmission of wireless messages by over a thousand miles. He also received signals, such as were received last December in Newfoundland, at a distance of 2,099 miles, or about the same distance is in December. These signals are to him as satisfactory a test as the sending of messages. Mr. Marconi was accompanied on this trip by H. S. Saunders, one of the directors of the Marconi company; Wilfrid Blaydes, his private secretary; T. Vyvyan and J. D. Taylor. The latter tion of stations on this side of the Aterators in the party. Mr. Marconi went Philadelphia, showing the course of the ship and the points at which messages were received when these officers were in the receiving station of the ship should be no shadow of doubt as to its genuine character.

At that point, 2,099 miles away, only But that is as good a test as any message. If 'S's will come, any words will ome. The 'S' is easy to send; that's thy we use it. And I shall keep on using it in my experiments. It satisfies me. Now, since December the Cornwall tation, whence these signals were sent has not been strengthened. As this ciut in the Atlantic is about the same stance from Cornwall as the station ce had in Newfoundland, it seems to show that the power of the Cornwall station is just about enough at present to carry a message two thousand miles. It will be greatly strengthened soon. It ems to me only a question of power to send a mestage around the world." Another satisfactory and important feature of the experiments made on this rip." continued Mr. Marconi, "was the act that our receiving instrument was o trined with the transmitting instruments at Cornwall that not one of the asages sent was received by any other boat, and we could neither hear er speak to any ship in midocean. If St. Louis had been beside us when e were receiving messages from Engand, she could not have read one Not even the S's were received by any other boat, were they?" he ask-I, turning to one of his assistants,

'I didn't hear any," the assistant an-ered, also laughing. "Of course," Mr. Marconi went on, we could not answer the messages af ter we were a couple of hundred miles out, for our instrument was only of low power. Had we had a second instrument tuned to the other instruments on the liners we could have both kept our own secrets and talked with bonts. But there was no need of that Experiments should be kept as simple as possible,"

The inventor then explained how the station at Cornwall sent messages as the Philadelphia moved further and further out to sea. He had many of the messages taken down on a strip of tape and dated and certified to by the captain and chief officer of the steamship. "They might have been more interesting, I must admit," he said, read ing one that came over five hundred miles. "Stiff so'west breeze; fairly beavy swell." "And this one, sent a few hours later, sounds like a hymn he loughed, reading, "May every bless ng attend you and your party." ed messages were received at 1,032.3 at 1.163.5 and finally at 1,551.5 miles rom Cornwall. This last message read "All in order. SSSSSS. Do you understand?" The letter S continued be sent at regular intervals, and received by the ship, till February 26 when the last S's were recorded and certified by the ship's officers at a dis tance of 2,099 miles. This discovery was made in 1862 after searching for nearly two years. Later the Resolute and the Alert, the boats in which Franklin's party made the trip north, were disovered and the English government gave the boats to Dr. Hall to be sold for the benefit of the men who went out with him. The two boats were brought back to New London and there sold to Williams & Havens. Both yeasels were afterwards used for whale fishing. The Alert was renamed the Eamarte and the Resolute kept the same name. About five years after the Eamarte was sold to Williams & Havens she was dismasted in a about 500 miles north of Newfoundland and all on board were lost

50 Business Years.

The Crowning Event in a Successful Business Career of Half a Century.

The power, the prestige, the enterprise, the enthusiasm, the experience of fifty years crowded into a month! March of 1902 is to be a memorable month in the annals of merchandising. In one sense we have been preparing for this month since the Store first opened the door at 65 Chapel Street, back in '52. But practically we have been planning next four weeks will quote and building and buying for more than a year. The results are evidenced by the extraordinary anniversary features that were announced for Saturday—that are announced oday—that will be announced every day through the month.

But there is another phase to the semi-centennial observance. Every day is now bringing us congratulatory words that it would be positively and good wishes from our old patrons and those merchants with whom we have for so many years sustained the pleasantest sinful not to take advantage business relations. These messages of good will strike an appreciative and responsive chord and are more gratifying; we could add that in the spirit of the occasion numbers of our friends among manufacturers, importers and cummission the future. houses have accompanied their letters with proffers of anniversary bargain opportunities -- without an idea of profit -- which we, in the same spirit, are now turning over to our public.

Three New Taffeta Ribbons made for the Half Century Sale, 25 Cents.

This is how it happened. The manufacturers with whom we had sustained long and pleasant business relations, in the most cordial way have asked to be permitted to share in the anniversary. They have sent us messages of greeting, and they have backed them up with ambassadors in the form of bargains from which all thought of profit has been eliminated. The opportunity comes but once in 50 years.

In this spirit one of the ribbon mills set aside three looms to make three brand new ribbons for our Half-Century Sale. One is a satin taffeta with single polka dots. The second is a satin liberty orocade with floral figures. The third has three crepe stripes divided by satin cords. Colors are cream, white, light and medium blue, mais, helio, turquoise, nile, cardinal and black. They have never been quoise, nile, cardinal and branches, And they 25c up go on sale in the Half-Century Event, at
