INCREASE IN PRICE OF COAL TO RETAIL DEALERS.

Statement by the Reading Road—Price During Strike Was Never Advanced by the Operators—Declare Now That With the Fifty Cent Advance the Price in Philadelphia Should Not Exceed $6.75 Per Ton—Unfair Advantage Taken by Retailers.

Philadelphia, Oct. 23.—In view of the resumption of mining of anthracite coal the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Co. to-night issued the following statement:

The Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company.

Philadelphia, Oct. 23.

C. E. Henderson, General Manager:

Dear Sir: The reports of the superintendents in charge of the mines show that, as a result of the strike, the mines and mining plants have sustained considerable injury, and their respective working organizations have been impaired.

You will, therefore, add to the circular price 50 cents per ton—this additional price to continue until the first of January, 1903, by which time we hope to reach a normal condition of mining and production.

Notwithstanding the fact, during the strike, no coal was sold by our company at an advance over the circular price, the price has been unreasonably advanced to the public by some retail dealers.

George F. Baer, President.

In pursuance of instructions contained in the above letter, circulars have been issued, taking effect October 24.

An effort will be made to arrange the distribution of coal so that parties in need may at least receive a small portion of their wants, and with this purpose in view, dealers will be requested to restrict the amount which will, for the present, be sold to any consumer within the limits of his reasonable immediate requirements.

The opinion is expressed by Mr. Henderson that the prices for white ash, egg, stove and chestnut coal, delivered to householders in the city of Philadelphia should not in any case exceed $2.75.

Many of the dealers have already expressed a willingness to comply with the wishes of the Reading company in this respect, and Mr. Henderson has no doubt that practically all of them will heed the request, and charge only reasonable prices to the public.

General Price Circular. Number 3, 1902.

Philadelphia, Oct. 24, 1902.—Taking effect this date the prices of this company's coal, delivered on board vessels at Port Richmond, Philadelphia, for shipment to Port Liberty (New York harbor) and beyond, subject to our printed conditions of sale, will be as follows:

NEW YORK (PORT LIBERTY). Broken Egg, Stove, Chest. Free white ash... $4.75 $5 $5 $5

THE MOLINEUX TRIAL.

Strong Point for Defense—Barnet Letters Ruled Out.

New York, Oct. 23.—A strong point was scored by the defense in the trial of Roland B. Molineux to-day when Justice Lambert ruled out the Barnet letters.

Justice Lambert decided that as evidence the letters must be excluded as improper, but that he was willing to admit them simply as a standard of comparison in handwriting.

Meriden, Oct. 23.—Attorney Patrick T. O'Brien was nominated for judge of probate at the democratic caucus to-night.

Miss Roosevelt Not Engaged.

Washington, Oct. 23.—It is authoritatively stated that there is absolutely no foundation for the report from Little Rock, Ark., regarding the engagement of Miss Alice Roosevelt, daughter of the president, to John Greenway, of Hot Springs.

MORE TROUBLE THREATENED.

Report That Stationary Engineers Will Refuse to Handle Coal.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—President Morton, of the International Association of Stationary Engineers and Firemen, stated to-day that all members of the association all over the country would be ordered to refuse to handle any anthracite coal until every member affected by the anthracite strike is reinstated on the basis on which the miners returned to work.

The brotherhood has a membership of 14,000 and has local unions in 114 towns and cities. President Morton declared that his organization was in a position to shut out hard coal in all cities where it had local unions, and said that such action would be taken, if necessary, for the protection of members of the union who had lost their positions on account of the anthracite coal strike.

This is President Morton's view of the situation. "According to all reports from the eastern mines, our men are getting the worst of it, and while the miners are being reinstated, they are left out in the cold."

President Morton added: "Our organization does not propose allowing its members to be victimized, and as we cannot call a strike at the mines, non-union men seeming to be in possession of the jobs, we will attempt to secure the reinstatement of our members by shutting out anthracite coal wherever we can."

"Although it is true that a majority of the firemen are members of the miners' union, because they were forced into that organization, they have retained their membership in our union and have already asked for our assistance. We propose to give it to them."

NO THIRD TICKET.

Economic Party to Confine Its Nominations to Sherlevity Contest.

F. J. McKerness of this city was last night placed in nomination for sheriff by the Labor-Economic party of this city. With this announcement there was given to the press the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Labor-Economic party has decided to confine its nominations to the office of sheriff of New Haven county, and to conduct the election by means of the use of masters to be used on the regular tickets nominated by the other political parties; and hereby nominate Frederick J. McKerness of New Haven for the office of sheriff of New Haven county.

A "NONSENSICAL PROPOSITION."

German Comment on Carnegie's Proposal for a United States of Europe.

Berlin, Oct. 23.—Andrew Carnegie's suggestion in his inaugural address as rector of St. Andrew's university, Scotland, yesterday, on his reinstatement at that office, that Emperor William organize the "United States of Europe," was received with laughter by the Germans.

The Post, though saying the idea is utterly chimerical, thinks Mr. Carnegie complimented the German people and the emperor by supposing they could carry out the project.

The Lokai Anzeiger says: "The only way Germany can make head against the American danger is for Emperor William to continue his energetic influence in developing the country economically."

BRITISH ESCAPE MAD MULLAH.

Colonel Swayne's Force Reaches Place of Safety.

London, Oct. 23.—A message received at the foreign office to-day from General Manning, dated Berbera, capital of Somaliland, announces that the force commanded by Colonel Swayne, which was threatened with destruction by the army commanded by the Mad Mullah, has reached Bobote in safety.

General Manning's message adds: "Colonel Swayne's force was not attacked during its retirement. The situation, consequently, is more satisfactory, but do not cancel the orders warning a Punjab regiment to be in readiness in case it is wanted, as further developments must be awaited. The wounded are all doing well, and no anxiety concerning the wounded officers is expected to-day and will go forward to-morrow."

This news from Somaliland caused great satisfaction here, and relieved the keen anxiety felt as to the fate of the British expedition. General Manning's message was promptly forwarded to King Edward.

Troops Start from India.

Simla, India, Oct. 23.—Besides the Second Bombay Grenadiers and the Bombay infantry regiment, which sailed for Somaliland to-day, the Twenty-ninth Baluchis have been warned to be in readiness.

Threw Himself in Front of Train.

Waterbury, Conn., Oct. 23.—A man of fifty-five years, supposed to be Joseph Hickey, a carpenter of Terryville, threw himself in front of a southbound freight train at 2 o'clock this afternoon and was instantly killed. His head and right leg were severed from his body. At the moment a deep gash was found in his throat showing that he had attempted to take his life only a few days ago. He was killed on the Naugatuck division above Waterville.

RESUMPTION OF MINING.

WATER AND OTHER OBSTACLES CAUSE SOME DELAY.

Mine Superintendents Not Willing to Take Any Chances Until All Parts of the Underground Workings Are Safe—The Number of Mines Throughout the Entire Anthracite Region Now in Operation Given as One-Third.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 23.—The resumption of mining throughout the anthracite region was not as general to-day as was expected. Unlooked-for difficulties were encountered in the shape of water and accumulated gas, and dangerous roofs, which threatened to fall and entomb the workers, were also discovered in many of the collieries.

The mine superintendents would take no chances, and the mining of coal was put off until all parts of the underground workings can be made safe. This will take a few days yet, and in some cases it will take weeks before some of the mines can be put in full operation. Although work was carried on in some mines which are not considered in the best of condition, no accidents were reported for the day.

From reports received from the entire anthracite region the number of mines in operation is given as a little less than two-thirds of the total number, but the output of coal was less than half the normal.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company took the lead in the production. Their collieries are in better shape than the mines operated by the other large companies. An increase of at least twenty per cent. in the output may be expected to-morrow.

About one-half the mines of the Delaware and Hudson company are working, and the output of these in operation was light.

The Lehigh Valley Coal company operated about one-half of its mines with a full force of men. The Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company mined coal in several of its big mines, but all its collieries will not be in condition to resume before Monday.

As was to be expected, there was more or less dissatisfaction among the old employees over the reopening of the mines. Where it was decided not to resume work for a few days the men took their seasonal vacation.

It looks as though the union engineers were going to have some difficulty getting back their old places. At nearly every mine where the striking engineers made application for work to-day they were told that there were no vacancies. A large number of carpenters are also out in the cold.

A delegation of carpenters waited upon President Mitchell to-day and told him of their grievances. The chief of the miners' union advised his callers to wait a few days and see if employment would be offered them.

President Mitchell believes that when general resumption takes place there will be few of the mine employees idle.

The firemen are being taken back in larger numbers than any of the other steam men. That is because they are experienced and they take the places of men who are not so capable. The only friction reported between union and non-union men was at several collieries in the Wyoming region, where the miners objected to be lowered into the mines by non-union engineers.

President Mitchell was busy at headquarters to-day getting the miners' side of the case in shape for presentation to the arbitration board.

Great preparations are now under way for the celebration of Mitchell day in this city on October 23. National Board Member John Fallon has charge of all the arrangements. He will be chief marshal of the parade, which promises to be the largest demonstration of miners ever held in the coal region.

ARBITRATION COMMISSION.

Members All in Washington Ready for Meeting Today.

Washington, Oct. 23.—All the members of the arbitration commission appointed by the president to investigate and report on the conditions in the anthracite coal region of Pennsylvania are now in the city preparatory to the initial meeting to-morrow morning. Judge Gray of Delaware, one of the latest arrivals, in an interview to-night expressed the hope that the commission would complete its duties before Christmas.

Miners Would Not Sign Contract.

Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 23.—Following is a copy of the agreement which the employees of A. Pardee & Co. were asked to sign before returning to work, and which they refused to do:

"As a condition precedent to my employment by A. Pardee & Co., I do hereby solemnly promise not to interfere with or molest in any way any non-union men or any other men now at work or who have worked during the strike, or who may work hereafter for my employers, and I do further agree to work with them as with any other employee."

NEW YACHT MEASURING SCHEME.

New York Yacht Club Adopts Important Changes.

New York, Oct. 23.—The New York Yacht club adopted to-night the report of the committee appointed in February last to revise the present racing rules with reference to the measurement of racing craft. The principal change effected is the introduction of the factor of hull displacement, with the factors of lengths and sail area previously considered. The formula, as it now stands, reads as follows:

"Length multiplied by square root of all sail area, divided by five times cube root of displacement." Directions with reference to the measurement of the various sails in all craft are given.

The committee of measurements, which consisted of S. Nicholson Kane, C. Oliver Iselin, W. Butler Duncan, Jr., A. Cass Canfield, Edward Morgan, Archibald Rogers and several others, announced in its report that it had corresponded with designers and builders in Europe and America, to whom questions were addressed relative to the advisability of the club changing its rules, to the possibility of formulating rules which would result in a wholesome type of boats adapted to yachting in this country, what system of measurement would be conducive of best results and to the possibility of forming an international standard.

The New York Yacht club elected Emperor William and Prince Henry of Prussia honorary members to-night. King Edward has long been on the club's rolls.

BOER GENERALS QUARREL.

De Wet Said to Favor Abandoning Further Efforts to Collect Funds.

London, Oct. 23.—Generals Botha De Wet and Delarey failed to attend Lady Cook's dinner to-night, and the cause is supposed to be connected with quarrels which have arisen between them. They were all eighting in London to-day, and up to the last moment they were expected at Lady Cook's.

It is reported that General De Wet wants the tour of the generals, including the trip to the United States, to be abandoned, and that all three are disappointed at the financial results so far obtained. General Botha, however, is said to be anxious to make a further effort to collect funds. A warm discussion on this point is believed to have occurred between Generals De Wet and Botha.

General Delarey is said to have remained neutral in the matter. General De Wet's presence is considered necessary for the success of the tour, and if he persists in returning to South Africa it is not unlikely that the whole tour will be abandoned.

MUNSEY BUYS BOSTON JOURNAL.

Takes All Stock of Evening, Morning and Sunday Paper.

Boston, Oct. 23.—Frank A. Munsey, of New York, has bought from Stephen O'Meara and his associates all the stock of the Journal Newspaper company, which owns and publishes the Boston Evening, Morning and Sunday Journal. Mr. Munsey will develop the property extensively in all departments and directions, the new Journal building, which is almost ready for occupation, adding materially to that end. Charles M. Palmer, the newspaper broker of New York, who also represented Mr. Munsey in his purchase of the Washington Times and the New York News, says that this purchase is in line with Mr. Munsey's own policy of establishing a chain of strong newspapers under one ownership at important points throughout the country.

NEW SPANISH MINISTER.

Felicitous Addresses Between Him and President Roosevelt.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Senator Don Emilio De Ojeda, the recently appointed minister of Spain to the United States, formally presented his credentials to President Roosevelt to-day. As the usual exchange of felicitous addresses, the president and Senator Ojeda chatted pleasantly for a few minutes. Minister Ojeda's address in part was as follows:

"The friendly relations which of old time existed between Spain and the United States having been renewed upon a footing of constantly increasing cordiality, it is at this time the principal object of the government of his majesty to cultivate, by all the means within its reach, those movements of trade and commerce between the two countries which at the same time that they contribute to the increasing development of their material prosperity, create the mutual solidarity of interests and the intimate contact between them which should constitute for the future the firmest and the most durable foundation of the amicable relations between the two peoples."

President Roosevelt's reply was as follows: "Mr. Minister—Recalling the warm friendship which from the earliest days of our national life existed between the United States and Spain, it gives me sincere gratification to welcome you as the envoy of his majesty, the King of Spain, and to accept the royal letter you bear accrediting you to that capacity. The assurances heretofore given by your distinguished predecessor, and reaffirmed by you, that the principal aim of his majesty's government is to strengthen the good feeling now happily renewed and becoming more marked with the passage of time, and to contribute to that end by developing in all ways within its power those movements of traffic and intercourse which tend not alone to mutual benefit, but to the closer relations and the more intimate association of the two countries, find an earnest response on our part. Satisfying alike the purposes of this government and the wishes of the people of the United States, I offer you cordial co-operation in all that may tend to realize our common desire for lasting amity and increasingly advantageous intercourse."

Threatened Strike on Union Pacific.

New York, Oct. 23.—A meeting of the directors of the Union Pacific Railroad company was held at the office of the company here to-day, and the demands of the trainmen who have threatened to strike were considered. Nothing was made public as to what, if any, action had been decided upon.

JUSTICE PREVENTS FIGHT.

QUICKLY QUELLS COLUMBIAN UNIVERSITY STUDENTS.

Sophomores Stopped from Breaking Up a Meeting of Freshmen—Grant Judge of the United States Supreme Court Steps in Between the Two Classes—Grabs the Ring Leader.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Justice Harlan of the United States supreme court, who is a member of the faculty of the Columbian university law school in this city, last night interfered and prevented a class fight between the freshmen and sophomores. Justice Harlan is a giant in stature and, although sixty-nine years of age, he is still vigorous and active, golf being one of his daily exercises. The youngsters were no match for him when he entered the arena.

The anticipated contest was the result of the announcement of the freshmen class that it would hold its first meeting last night in Jurisprudence hall. This announcement acted as a suggestive challenge to the sophomores to break up the meeting, if possible. After the regular lecture of the evening the first year men undertook to open their meeting when the sophomores made a charge against the door of the hall. At this point Justice Harlan in commanding voice ordered the combat to cease. The sophomores paused for a moment, but were evidently not disposed to obey the order, for they immediately began a second assault.

It was then that the eminent jurist took a personal hand in the fray. He reached over the heads of the assaulting party and seizing the leader of the forces by the collar, dragged him from the pile. The jurist then directed the second year men to disperse with the desired effect.

STEEL WORKERS' PROPOSITION.

One Counter to the Owners' Which Will Be Accepted.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 23.—The proposition made by the American Tin Plate company to the tin workers of the Amalgamated association which has been under discussion for the past five or six months has been met with a counter proposition, which was made to-day by the delegates representing the tin lodges of the association in special convention here. The counter proposition provides for a general reduction in wages of 3 per cent. The proposition of this company was that the men should work up the orders to fill the draw-back trade at a rate of 25 per cent. below regular rates of wages. It is stated to-night that the American company will accept the counter proposition without hesitation.

On the counter proposition made to-day the vote showed 41 delegates in favor and 27 against. The proposition was at once forwarded to the American Tin Plate company, and a reply is expected to-morrow.

The object of the reduction is to enable the American manufacturers, who order large amounts of tin plate which is imported into this country and after being made up into packages for other products is again exported thus saving a rebate of 90 per cent. in the tariff paid upon it under the Dingley tariff bill. The greater part of the plate purchased for the Standard Oil company and manufactured in Wales, where wages and conditions are such that the cost of the plate delivered in this country minus rebate on tariff is much less than the cost of American tin plate.

ARRESTED IN WALLINGFORD.

New Haven Militiamen Accused of Theft—Brought to This City.

George W. Lane, a florist, about twenty-five years of age, living on Campbell avenue, West Haven, and a member of the New Haven City Guard, when in Wallingford yesterday and while at the depot awaiting the arrival of the train for New Haven, walked up to a young lady standing at the depot with F. C. St. Clair of Meriden, and grabbed a bracelet from her wrist. Sergeant Landy of Colony Street's staff was standing near at the time and saw the incident. He asked Lane to hand the bracelet back and the request was refused, whereupon Landy, who is a supernumerary of the local police force, placed Lane under arrest and brought him to New Haven.

FOR METHODIST MISSIONS.

Nearly $300,000 Raised Yesterday—Anonymous Gift of $100,000.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 23.—A number of interesting addresses were delivered at to-day's session of the general Methodist missionary convention. The sum of $250,000 had been raised at 11 o'clock to-night for Methodist mission work. The scenes during the raising of the money were of the greatest enthusiasm. The subscriptions were called for at the end of two fine addresses by S. Earl Taylor, field secretary of the Epworth league, New York city, and John R. Mott, leader of the student movement throughout the world. Both speakers had made earnest pleas for funds to further mission work. Dr. John F. Goucher of the executive committee then sent subscription cards throughout the large audience. Immediately afterward Bishop Thoburn arose and speak from a chair, said that he was authorized to state if the conference would subscribe $100,000 that he had $100,000 pledged by a gentleman whose name he would not disclose. Thereupon the collectors began to receive the return from the cards and it was a fusillade of contributions that was heard from the recording secretary's desk. Sums ranging from $5,000 (the gift of an unnamed woman in Boston), down to small sums of money were heard for the greatest portion of two hours. Many of the contributions were in thousands and five hundred dollar groups and were from the various conferences and districts of the Methodist Episcopal church. Personal contributions of $1,000 were frequently sent to the desk.

When the sum of $100,000 (exclusive of

The dedication exercises at the monument took place at 4:30 o'clock. There were two large platforms erected around the monument, 350 school children occupied one and song under the direction of Mrs. Preston, musical director in the schools; the other was occupied by the speaker, invited guests and committee.

The exercises at the monument opened with the singing of "America" by a chorus of 350 pupils of grades 6, 7, 8 and 9 and high school of the Central district accompanied by the National band.

The surrender of the monument to the Arthur H. Dutton post was next made by the president of the day, Attorney C. A. Harrison, the unveiling of the monument being done by Miss Margaret Tibbits.

Commander Lewis A. Northrop accepted the monument in the name of Arthur H. Dutton post, which is dedicated by the customary G. A. R. dedicatory ritual which included the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the children's chorus with the National band accompaniment.

The oration by Rev. Watson L. Phillips of New Haven followed. Mr. Phillips called the oration "The Message of the Monument."

Dr. Phillips in this admirable address said in part:

"Why are we here? Why have you builded this monument? What mean ye by these stones? When the monument to Robert Burns was completed in the city of Edinburgh his mother is said to have exclaimed, 'Ah, Robbie, Robbie! ye asked them for bread, and they bae gien ye a stane.' That was the cry of a fond, proud mother who knew that recognition had come too late to heal the heart often bruised by unkindness and neglect.

"Republicans are ungrateful we are told. That is not altogether true in America, at least in her treatment of the dead and living heroes of our civil war. The hundreds of millions of dollars of pension money which have gone to comfort crippled veterans, widows and orphans, the many attractive soldiers' homes, the fond, proud mother who knew that recognition had come too late to heal the heart often bruised by unkindness and neglect.

"The monument is a tribute to the brave men who died that their country might live. It is a tribute to the brave men who died that their country might live. It is a tribute to the brave men who died that their country might live.

FOOTBALL NEWS OF INTEREST

CHANGES WERE IN ORDER IN YALE LINE-UP YESTERDAY.

Some of the Big Men Were Given Tests - Scrub Team Scored Twice on the Varsity - Harvard Improving - News from Princeton and Columbia.

Glass and Goss were not in the open practice on the Yale field yesterday afternoon. Hogan was played for the greater part of the time on the scrub team, and when he was finally taken back on the varsity team he was placed at left tackle instead of right tackle, the latter being his regular position. Chadwick was in the game for the first time in several days. Kinney was played in Hogan's regular position and Bowman was at full-back. In Bowman Yale probably has the full-back who will play against Harvard and Princeton. Neal was doing some light work. His knee was supported by a brace. Wilhelm was again at Neal's regular position.

The scrub team lined up against the varsity eleven on Yale's ten-yard line. Captain Chadwick gave the scrub team eight downs in which to push the ball over the goal line. The scrubs did the trick in just six downs. Again the ball was placed on the varsity's five-yard line, and the scrubs scored a second time.

Trainer Murphy is watching the men with all the keenness for which he is noted. Some of the players are considered as very near the "fine" line, but their physical condition could not be looked after by a more competent trainer.

HARVARD IMPROVING.

Cambridge, Oct. 22.—Harvard's football eleven is showing a marked improvement. The work of Putnam behind the line is exceptionally good. Secret practice was begun this afternoon. The team will hold these daily affairs "behind closed doors," and tricks and new formations will be given more attention than ever. Harvard's coaches announce that they have a strong line, which is Yale's great forte, and the crimson team will be taught a great variety of new plays to combine with the line-bucking.

AT PRINCETON.

Princeton, Oct. 23.—The hardest kind of work was indulged in by the Princeton team to-day. The men were literally "worked out." A few new signals were adopted for the game with Columbia on Saturday. All ball, Princeton is not up to the standard, and the coaches are very uncertain as to the kind of showing the Tigers will make on Saturday.

COLUMBIA READY.

New York, Oct. 23.—Columbia is ready to fray with Princeton on Saturday. To-day the men were worked hard, and at the close of the practice the coaches expressed their entire satisfaction with the work. Light work of brief duration will be in order on Friday.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

Hyperion Theatre.

"When 'The Cowboy and the Lady' was first produced in New York it raised no end of enthusiasm for its delightful unconventionality, breeziness, humor and stirring climaxes, so a rare dramatic treat may be expected when S. Miller Kent will present this brilliant play at the Hyperion to-night. The scenes are laid in Colorado, and the characters are interestingly diversified. There is no lack of the comic element, and brilliant flashes of wit illumine the dialogue, while the strong dramatic scenes hold the audience spellbound and call for acting of a high order. An excellent company surrounds Mr. Kent. Mr. Kent has spent most of the time during the last twelve years in Frohman's stock companies, taking prominent parts in such plays as "Jane," "The Foundling," "Confusion," "Hearts Are Trumps," etc. He also played the part of Albert de Moresert one thousand times in "Monte Cristo," in which James O'Neill played the title part. Seats now on sale. Prices $1.00 to 25 cents.

Andrew Mack appears at the Hyperion to-morrow night. This charming young player will appear in Sayre's delicious comedy drama, "Tom Moore."

A LITTLE ACCIDENT

Saved a Lot of Money. Food that will safely and surely carry a man through exhausting mental work is worth knowing of. A man in St. Louis, Mo., says: "In my work, it is necessary to begin at seven o'clock and work straight through without lunch until two p. m. You can readily see that this is a strain on the ordinary person, and I was frequently worn out and sick with hunger and weakness. On numerous occasions when two o'clock came round I was so utterly exhausted and unstrung as to be forced to lose the remainder of the day, and that carried with it a loss of money." The first package of Grape-Nuts came into our house a little over a year ago by accident. There has been one by design ever since that time. Almost immediately after beginning to use Grape-Nuts, I felt its good effect in my ability to work those long hours in comfort. There was no sickness or weakness, and no loss of time from exhaustion. In my business, it is also necessary to work every Wednesday night of each week. The change from day to night work and then back again is certainly no light call on the reserve force of any one, and my invariable preparation of this task is a generous saucer of Grape-Nuts and cream, a light lunch but a most sustaining one. An old friend was visiting me recently, and while eating the evening meal, I was extolling Grape-Nuts to him. He rather doubted the deliciousness of the food. My three children, aged four, six and eight years, were at the time watching a large cream cake on the table, and enjoying in anticipation the treat. I asked the three which they would prefer for dessert—cream cake or Grape-Nuts. Without hesitation, they answered in chorus, "Grape-Nuts." My friend was convinced. The only breakfast the children have is Grape-Nuts and rich milk, and you could not find a more healthy trio." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

which he will present for the last time on that occasion. "Tom Moore" is quite the neatest, most intelligently built play ever handed over the footlights as straight from the "old" sod, for as a rule the stunning "inventions" of the modern writers of plays of this type are beyond hope of intervention or common-sense hints. It requires the services of twenty-five players to present the pretty play. Seats now on sale. Prices $1 to 25 cents.

"The Power Behind the Throne," the highly successful romantic play by Theodore Kremer, founded on Schiller's classic "Love and Intrigue," will be given its final presentation at the Hyperion next Monday evening. Mildred Holland portrays the character of Arla, daughter of a court musician, and her opportunities are markedly strong. The production is under the management of Edward C. White, who gives promise that the costumes will be handsome and historically correct, and that the scenic settings will be magnificent and a prominent feature. The supporting company is large numerically, and is declared to be of an even excellence. Seats now on sale. Prices $1.00 to 25 cents.

The production provided by Miss Viola Allen's managers for her presentation of "The Eternal City" by Hall Caine, at the Hyperion next Wednesday and Thursday night, is said to be one of the most magnificent seen on the stage in many years. All the scenes are from well known places in Rome, and are produced with life-like fidelity. The costumes are absolutely correct in every detail, those of the Papal Guard and Swiss Guard being purchased in Rome. They are said to be very imposing. Miss Allen's supporting company is one of the best that has been brought together in recent years, and includes such well known performers as Edward Morgan, Frederic DeBelleville, E. M. Holland, C. Leslie Allen, George C. Boniface and W. E. Bonny. Seats on sale Monday. Prices $2.00, $1.50 and $1.00.

Grand Opera House.

W. E. Nankville's "Village Parson" opened a three nights' engagement at the Grand Opera House last evening. There will be the usual Saturday matinee. The play is a dramatic story well told, the scenery and costumes being excellent. The story is one combining great emotion, relieved by a degree of comedy. F. Howard Lange as the Parson is excellent, as are also Harold Vosburgh as Bud Gordon and Alfred Rowland as Felix Gordon. Richard Thompson as Andy Thorn was all that could be desired. Miss Bayonne Whipple as Fern Godley and Miss Grace Wilmette as Gretchen Van Crans captivated their audience by their clever acting. Miss Bertha Downes and Miss Mamie Barber are other well and favorably known members of the cast. Baby Findlay, the clever child actress, also appears. The entire production is one of merit. Some exceedingly pretty young women will help to form the pleasing pictures that add to the charm of the burlesque of "Wine, Woman and Song," which opens at the Grand Opera House next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, with matinee on Wednesday. Bonita with her Cuban and African maidens will head the olio, a feature of more than ordinary interest, and in a new and novel singing act, with scenic adjuncts of a gorgeous character, Bennett and Rich will be seen in "At Camp Life in the Philippines." "Mlle Vida, direct from the Folly Bougeur, Paris, in her sensational swinging change act; Gaffey and Shuby, musical artists, and the Yale Duo, artistic club manipulators, will also appear. In the olio of the show are seen some of the best performers on the vaudeville stage to-day.

Poll's Wanderlust Theater.

The leading features of the fine bill at Poll's are Dolle and Milton Nobles in the comedy sketch "The Blue Grass Widow." Lively and pleasing, it is a winner. The surrounding olio is a good one—John Ford, the great dancer; Maddox and Wayne, two lively young fellows, in conversational stunts that they term "The Messenger Boy and the Theatrical;" Burke, Moller and Teller, a trio of the best there is. They have a most pleasing sketch, "The Professor and His Pupils." Some impersonations by Dan Burke are great. Howard and Bland have a skit, "A Strange Boy," which has Bert Howard in some of his piano playing that is marvelous. He has some good imitations, one especially of the great Padrewski. Billy Carter has a good monologue and excellent banjo selections. George Hussey, with the ventriloquist act, presents taking novelties. Two daring and sensational fellows are Wills and Hassan with their novel and wonderful head balancing and hand acrobatic work and astonishing stair stunt. They are watched with intense interest. The vitagraph views are excellent. Prices: Evenings, 10, 20 and 30 cents; afternoons, 10 and 20 cents; ladies at matinees, 10 cents.

CHARGED WITH THEFT.

Patrolman Lawlor Cleverly Captured Two Culprits Yesterday.

Patrolman Edward Lawlor of the Grand avenue station did a clever piece of work yesterday and as a result of his efforts two men are behind the bars charged with theft. They are Daniel Callahan, living on Grand avenue near Ferry street, and Patrick Gleason, a gentleman of leisure who is at home anywhere he hangs his hat. He frequents saloons where he can do odd jobs for a drink or two. It seems that Callahan, who is a brackman on the Consolidated road, is quite fond of liquor and on Tuesday he filled up on the fluid. In the course of his wanderings he went into the house of Mrs. Hill and her daughter at 485 East Chapel street. Mrs. Hill is employed in a Chapel street restaurant and the daughter in the clock shop. It seems that Callahan remained in the house for a short time and when he left he took along an automobile coat valued at $19.50, a clock worth $4.50 and a skirt. On their return home after their day's work Mrs. Hill and her daughter discovered the loss and reported the matter to Sergeant Bowers at the Grand avenue station. Patrolman Lawlor was assigned to the case and recovered the coat in a Grand avenue saloon, where Callahan had pawned it for a few drinks.

COLONEL HAMILTON DEAD.

He Was Commanding Officer of Third Regiment.

Danlson, Oct. 23.—Colonel William H. Hamilton, aged forty-seven, of the Third regiment, C. N. G., died at his home here to-day of Bright's disease after an illness of nine months. He was a captain in the Spanish war and later advanced to the colonelcy of the regiment. He was also in charge of the state free employment bureau at Hartford up to the time of his illness.

ENGLISH CAVES.

Results of Some Recent Explorations in Derbyshire.

During the last two years explorations on a large scale have been carried out in the five great limestone caverns near Castleton, in the Peak of Derbyshire, by a local organization, the Kyndwr club. The object has been partly scientific research and partly the sport to be enjoyed in subterranean adventure, the club consisting chiefly of rock-climbers, whose special abilities and experience have proved particularly useful in cave work. Several interesting and important discoveries have resulted; and, even where this was not to be looked for our knowledge of these huge cavities, of their mode of formation, and of the nature of their water system has been increased by careful observation and measurement. The limestone country south of Castleton, like certain parts of Yorkshire and Somerset, is honeycombed with cavities of all shapes and sizes, most of which are probably still unknown, since of the five greatest caverns three were discovered by miners and have no natural entrance. Early in the nineties the eminent French speleologist, M. Martel, visited the district hurriedly, and examined these caverns in a cursory fashion, drawing up a series of charts showing roughly both plans and elevations. Much of this was based on conjecture; yet his experience and shrewdness were seldom at fault, and many of his guesses have now been verified, while the charts have been useful as a provisional basis for more extended work. It was in September, 1900, that the club had its first experience of cave-work, making a descent into Eldon Hole, a waterless fissure 200 feet deep, with an inner cavern 65 feet deeper. This chasm has had local fame as one of the wonders of the Peak ever since Hobbes wrote his "De Mirabilibus Paecl," and its bottom seems to have been reached by several adventures from the time of Elizabeth onwards. Our party of seven was equipped with nothing but ropes, the idea being to get down, if possible, by the simple methods used in rock-climbing. The result of the enterprise was a rather disagreeable adventure; a serious disaster was narrowly averted, and the hauling party found it so difficult to get the three men out who had descended that one man actually remained inside the hole nearly nine hours. Taught by their mistakes the members organized a more scientific exploration a few months later, stretching a heavy cable across the mouth of the hole, with a seat attached to 200 feet of rope running over a trolley. The galleries and chambers that seem to have been accessible in 1770, when John Lloyd, F. R. S., wrote an account that hardly tallies with our observations, were not rediscovered, having, perhaps, been blocked up with debris. The inner chamber, domical in shape, and thickly encrusted with stalagmite, was carefully examined, and an attempt made to measure its height with a balloon. It is about 90 feet high, and like the hole itself, appears to have been formed by the widening of joints in the limestone, without the agency of running water.

No exist was discoverable at the bottom. With the experience thus acquired, the party thought themselves equal to what promised to be a far more serious and dangerous undertaking—an exploration of the so-called "Bottomless Pit" in the Speedwell mine. This subterranean cavity was broken into in the eighteenth century by a lead-mining company, who had bored a perpendicular shaft not far from Peak Cavern. Subsequently, they drove a level 750 yards long from near the Winnat Pass, and tapped this chasm of unknown height and depth from the other side, bridging the gap by a causeway built on the precipitous slope. Tourists are nowadays conveyed in boats along this level to see the marvels of the "Bottomless Pit." Our work in this and the other caverns was done chiefly at night, so as to avoid such specters. Beyond the discomfort and slight risks of being let down through a steadily increasing jet of water on to water-swept rocks, the explorers met with no difficulties or dangers. The total depth of the chasm was found to be 85 feet, a pool, 22 feet deep, occupying an area of 27 by 14 yards (a raft was constructed to get the soundings); and no other caves or galleries were discovered, but probably felt short by hundreds of feet. Rokoets were sent to a height of 108 feet of the roof of this prodigious chamber. Most interesting were the specimens of the fauna obtained by Dr. Lyster Jameson. These comprised gnats, earthworms, beetles, "springtails," and various crustaceans, all wanderers from outside; a blind mite (probably Gamassus), two flat worms (Planaria alpina and Polycelis cornuta), an almost colorless "water-flea," with eyes (Gammarus), all thoroughly naturalized in their subterranean habitat; and, most interesting of all, three blind species that have probably been isolated in this sunless pool for hundreds of generations. Lipura ambulans, Tomocerus tridentiferus and Lipura intermis (Tullberg) — L. Wright (Carpenter), which occurs in the Mitchellstown Cave, Ireland, but has never hitherto been found in any English cave.

The exploration of Peak Cavern, or the Devil's Hole, proved exceedingly interesting. A new entrance was discovered into the interior from Cave Dale, through a nearly vertical rift, 117 feet long, produced by the gradual widening of joints. It is, of course, of no interest except to the speleologists, as the man who climbed down it was supported all the way by an Alpine rope. Then a cavity in the roof, near the cave-mouth, which had been marked as a shaft or aven on Martel's chart, was climbed by means of a series of ladders wedged across; and a finely encrusted chamber was revealed, the only part of this cavern where stalactite deposits of any size or beauty are known. More important discoveries were made beyond the utmost point reached by Martel and other explorers. A collapsible boat was propelled through a watery tunnel, or siphon, as he had described it. Beyond this a cave was discovered with a second tunnel, which narrowed so much that the boat could not get through to the end, and the explorers, laden with the limelight, photographic apparatus, etc., had to wade the rest through several feet of water and mud. A series of vaults and corridors, with a branch leading to a big swallow, was then explored. But the most unexpected find was a roof that these forgotten caverns had actually had human visitors at some remote period. It was a wooden sled with iron runners, water-logged, and full of gravel, evidently used for carrying ore. The local histories are replete with information about the mining industries of the past, but no reference can be found as to mining here or as to any knowledge that this series of caves existed. The sled is now lying at the cave-mouth, but ought certainly to be placed in the museum of a local town, after expert opinion has been obtained upon its date and origin. In the series of caves opened up by the Blue John Mine also we penetrated further than any earlier explorers. Martel's conjecture that a certain steep tunnel formed a communication between the upper and the lower series of caves was found to be theoretically correct. Also, a large cave, of complicated structure, that lies below the deepest point shown on his chart, was reached by wriggling through a hole like a rabbit-burrow, 70 feet long and 40 feet deep. It had been reached by a daring explorer in 1857, but was not found again for nearly half a century. A watery tunnel and vertical shaft, magnificently adorned with curtains and pendant masses of stalactite, were explored here; and observations were carried out in the upper series of caves. There several members made a dangerous climb of 130 feet, up a chasm in the roof, where the finest display of stalactite and stalagmite ever yet seen in the caverns of the Peak was found encrusting the walls of the rift for nearly 100 feet. The Bagshawe cavern is not connected, theoretically or actually with the other caverns. Its ramifications extend for miles inside a hill overlooking Bradwell Dale, and were discovered through lead-mining. The parts shown to visitors have the reputation of excellent all the other caves in their wealth of natural beauty, and passing wonders were said to be concealed in its further recesses. Martel explored an upper series of caves beyond the dungeon, where the ordinary visitor stops. Below this deep chasm a lower series was discovered last year; and in the course of several explorations involving prodigious labor, and no small risk, a number of extensive passages, and their communications with the tunnel traversed by the Bradwell River, have been traced to their end. Two or three caves, exceptionally rich in stalactites, were found in the line of these passages, but as it is necessary to go through a chain of small lakes, and to crawl on one's face through stretches of rocky clefts, few people are likely to see their beauty. There, as in the other caverns, our researches were the means of dispelling an accumulation of myths; but, on the other hand, the stories based on our adventures, and discoveries that have appeared in several publications show that myths grow now quite as marvelously and swiftly as in days gone by.—London Times.

The nursery, the kindergarten and the higher departments were represented by a throng of bright and cheerful little people. One little fellow in the nursery was singing all the afternoon, as if in recognition of all the good things in store for the orphans as well as for himself.

'Open house' was held from 2 until 6 in the afternoon. Money was received by the committee delegated for that purpose and exercises of a very different nature were held in the different departments.

OPEN DOOR IN CHINA.

FRANCE, ENGLAND, AND GERMANY IN AGREEMENT.

Important Accomplishment of Plan for Simultaneous Evacuation of Shanghai - The United States Advised and in Full Sympathy With the Plan.

Paris, Oct. 23.-From authoritative sources the correspondent of the Associated Press has learned that France, Great Britain and Germany have concluded an agreement providing for the military evacuation of Shanghai by their forces. The negotiations have also brought about an important extension of the open door policy, as urged by Secretary Hay.

Germany then proposed that China be asked for assurances of equality of treatment of the powers. China gave these assurances, and the officials here say this branch of the agreement amounts to an extension of the open door policy in the Yang-tse-Kiang region.

The date of the evacuation of Shanghai is expected to be settled in a few days.

The official North German Gazette of Berlin on October 21 said: The conditions proposed for the evacuation of Shanghai were that they should be carried out simultaneously by all concerned, and its subsequent occupation by one power would give the others the same right.

The date of the evacuation of Shanghai is expected to be settled in a few days.

this morning by W. L. Spencer, aged 46, a former mail carrier between this city and New London, as he was going from his house to the store of J. F. Rogers, the present mail carrier.

A few weeks ago Spencer lost his position as mail carrier and it is said he blamed Mr. Williams for his removal. He and Mr. Williams had quarreled over a wagon which Spencer secured of Williams.

As Mr. Williams was passing a barn near the Nelson Williams place, Spencer is said to have appeared with a huge club. Mr. Williams says he threw up his hands and said "Kill me." Spencer is alleged to have replied: "By God I will." He then, it is alleged, beat the old man unmercifully with the club.

A few moments later Williams appeared at the house of Mr. Rogers and fell in at the door bleeding and unconscious. He was attended to and later regained consciousness, but it is believed his skull is fractured.

As there is no grand juror here Spencer could not be arrested, but the matter has been reported to State Attorney Lucas at Norwich.

Dr. Harris of Norwich has been summoned here to attend Mr. Williams. The injured man is very wealthy and has a large family here.

Financial. YESTERDAY'S STOCK MARKET. Foreign Exchange Again the Governing Feature. New York, Oct. 23.—Foreign exchange was again the governing feature of the stock market to-day. There was considerable speculation in exchange because of the slightly higher rate for sterling in Paris and the resistance offered by the local market to the volume of bankers' bills put out during the morning.

Little can be said for the stock market, which was duller and more narrow than on any previous day this week. Some speculative activity was shown at the opening in Baltimore and Ohio, Reading, Erie, Atchison, Pennsylvania, St. Paul, Missouri Pacific and the St. Joseph and Grand Island securities, all of which scored light advances.

One of the disturbing features was a report of labor troubles on the Southern Pacific system. Call money ruled at 4 to 5 1/2 per cent., most of the day's loans being made at the higher figure. No change was reported in time money rates.

Some of the speculative issues in the bond market were heavy, but the movements were without importance, excepting in the Washab debentures. The general list was irregular and dull. The total sales, par value, aggregated $1,795,000.

United States two and three advanced 1/4 and the new fours declined 1/4 on the last call.

WALLINGFORD.

Yesterday was the greatest day Wallingford has seen for many years and it will be long remembered. A full and complete report appears elsewhere in this issue. The crowd that was in town has not been equaled since the tornado time. Owing to the lateness of the trains the line of march was somewhat late in starting. The procession was as already noted in the papers and presented a very pleasant sight. One of the prettiest and interesting features of the parade was the joining of the three hundred or more children at the Main street schoolhouse in the march up North Main street. The school children attracted much attention and marched well, being all provided with small flags. Another feature of the parade which attracted much attention was the company of Horse Guard, who made a fine appearance. The T. A. B.'s with Colt's band in the lead made a fine showing, as did the fire department and in fact all who participated in the parade. There was an ample supply of eatables in the armory, town hall, Temperance hall and the Congregational and Baptist church parlors and if any of the visiting company went away hungry it was through oversight, as there was an abundance of provisions ready to be dealt out.

The selectmen and town clerk will be in session to-day from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. to make new voters.

A. L. Post is entertaining his son, Walter A. Post, of Stonington, Mass., and Miss Grace F. Taylor of Brockton, Mass.

There were more brass bands in town yesterday than ever at one time since the town was settled.

General Henry B. Carrington of Hyde Park was one of the notables here yesterday.

Kenneth Hubbard is home from Wesleyan to remain over Sunday.

Elizabeth R. Hall was seventy-six years of age on Wednesday.

Claude Fitch's line play of "The Moth and the Flame" will be the attraction at the opera house this evening. One other feature of yesterday's parade was the appearance of Pat O'Brien, a well known character in Meriden, who followed the Foot Guard in the line of march the entire route. Pat did not have his organette which he usually has out every St. Patrick's day in Meriden and Hartford.

More Talk About Your New Hat.

CONTINUING, we wish to call attention to the facilities and advantages we enjoy for doing special order work in millinery.

These are important. When you buy a hat ready-trimmed you can see about what you are getting. When you order a hat built according to your preferences, a great deal depends upon the taste and judgment of the trimmer.

Of course you take no chances, because you never need pay for anything here that you don't like. But it's the hat that you want—not a disappointment, even if disappointment costs you nothing in money.

Now, it is only the simple, honest truth to say that we can, and do, satisfy women of even the most exacting tastes in the hats we turn out. We have the best designers and trimmers that money will buy—we hunted through a dozen cities to find them. Their work is more than satisfactory—it has those little touches of skill and taste that delight you.

This is true, not only of the new hats we make, but of the refinishing, re-trimming and freshening-up of old hats.

And the work does not cost much. Common-sense prices, with nothing added for the touch of genius or the extra prettiness.

Children's Clothing. A New Department.

Our success with the "F. B. Q." clothing for men has encouraged us to open a department for the sale of children's clothing on the same general lines.

We shall sell clothing for little boys that possesses snap, style and "difference"; just as the F. B. Q. suits and overcoats for men differ from all other ready-to-wear clothing in the same way.

We shall sell suits for children that give the utmost possible wear. No cotton-mixed goods are allowed in the department. Everything is all-wool, silk-stitched, hand-finished and good.

But don't get the idea that things are dear. On the contrary, while we shall have no absurdly little-priced suits (because they mean shoddy materials) we present our line as being in truth
