

IN SESSION UNTIL MIDNIGHT

HOUSE AND SENATE STRUGGLE TO DO BUSINESS.

Filibuster in Both Branches of Congress Continues—A Few Measures Passed—Aldrich Bill Apparently Doomed as Far as This Session is Concerned—Philippine Bill May Replace It Today.

Washington, March 2.—The senate today passed the general deficiency bill after four hour's consideration and after it had been amended in several particulars. An amendment by Mr. Rawlins calling for an appropriation of $50,000,000 to further the work of irrigating the arid lands furnished material for considerable discussion. Mr. Rawlins contending that the surplus in the treasury could be better used in this manner than by turning it into the national banks. The amendment was rejected on a point of order.

When the Aldrich financial bill was taken up Mr. Teller continued his remarks begun Saturday. He was followed by Mr. Carmack, who replied to some criticisms of a recent speech by him on the subject of murders in the Philippines. During the course of the day the conference report on the fortifications appropriation bill and the Alaskan homestead bill was agreed to.

The immigration and omnibus public building bills were sent to conference. After a brief executive session the senate at 6 o'clock took a recess until 8 o'clock.

Mr. Morgan got the floor soon after the night session began and held it for nearly two hours. While speaking he observed Mr. Aldrich smile and called attention to it. Mr. Aldrich jestingly remarked that he was smiling because Mr. Morgan was not talking on the Panama canal. Mr. Morgan replied that that had no connection with the financial bill except the stealing part of it, which is in Paris.

Mr. Bailey made a strong plea against filibustering and said that four great measures had been defeated by filibustering against the statehood bill. He mentioned that bill, the two treaties and the financial bill. He and other senators said it was evident that the Aldrich bill could not pass.

Mr. Tillman convulsed the senate by declaring that Mr. Quay, "the most astute politician in the United States," had hounded the democrats on the statehood bill, using it to defeat trust legislation. Mr. Quay denied this, saying he had pressed the statehood bill before the anti-trust campaign began. Mr. Aldrich said the obstructive tactics surprised him and that he wanted the country to know where the responsibility rests should the bill fail.

The conference report on the post-office and the agricultural appropriation bills were agreed to and the bills sent to conference. At midnight the senate adjourned.

SCENES IN THE HOUSE.

Floor Looks as if Snow Storm Had Struck It.

Washington, March 2.—From 11 o'clock this morning until late to-night the house struggled laboriously against the democratic filibuster working steadily to wind up the necessary business of the session. Despite another special rule adopted early in the day legislation proceeded at a snail's pace. Roll call followed roll call on every proposition. The voices of the reading clerks were worn out by the ceaseless calling of the roll and several clerks from committees have been drafted to help out. Since Thursday last when the filibuster was inaugurated there have been over sixty roll calls against fifty-seven for the entire long session lasting from December 1, 1901, to July 3, 1902. The members also show the effects of the heavy strain but they are sticking to their posts. To-night the great hall presented a disheveled appearance. The floor was strewn with bits of paper looking as if a snow storm had swept through the hall. In the galleries among the spectators were many weary watchers interested in bills doomed to failure, but still hopeful to the end. The proceedings were continued several times as the leaders of the respective sides crossed swords. Their tempers had not been sweetened by their long vigil and frequently the sparks flew.

The conference report on the Alaskan homestead bill and the immigration bill were adopted, the omnibus public building bill and the general deficiency appropriation bill were sent to conference. The O'Brien bill to prohibit tobacco dealers from giving prizes; the bill to provide for a delegate from Porto Rico, the bill to advance Colonel Gorgas to the rank of assistant surgeon general, and the bill for the relief of Lieutenant Handforth were passed. That was the net result of the session up to 9 o'clock to-night.

The house also adopted the conference reports on the postoffice and agricultural appropriation bills and shortly before midnight at the end of a continuous session of almost thirteen hours, took a recess until 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

FATE OF ALDRICH BILL.

To be Laid Aside To-day for the Philippine Measure.

Washington, March 2.—The Aldrich financial bill probably will be laid aside when the Senate meets to-morrow and Senator Lodge will move the consideration of the Philippine tariff bill and try to get a vote thereon, although it is generally regarded as impossible to get a vote on it at this late day in the session.

Schmittberger and Titus Promoted. New York, March 2.—Police Captains Schmittberger and Titus were to-day promoted to be inspectors.

QUIET IN WATERBURY.

$200 Reward for Apprehension of Men Who Attacked Car Crew.

Waterbury, Conn., March 2.—To-night was a comparatively uneventful one in the trolley strike. The board of aldermen at their meeting to-night voted to offer a reward of $200 for information leading to the apprehension of the men who waylaid the crew of a Waterbury car last week or those who made the midnight assault upon Prosecuting Attorney Durant. The police are still without a clue to the perpetrators of either crime. This evening two iron plates were fastened to the rails on South Main street in the vicinity of Clay street with intent to wreck a car. They were discovered before any damage had been done. One window was broken by a stone thrown on the same line. No violence is otherwise known to have occurred.

STRIKERS AFTER AUTOMOBILES

Waterbury Men in Hartford Inspecting Machines.

Hartford, March 2.—Three of the Waterbury strikers were in this city today inspecting large automobiles, and it is believed that they have practically agreed upon the purchase of a large steam machine. The dealer who owns the vehicle expects that the deal will be closed this week. The machine is worth $650.

PAPERS IN INDIANOLA CASE

SUBMITTED TO HOUSE BY POSTMASTER GENERAL.

The Correspondence Showing Threat Against Mrs. Cox Who Was Forced to Abandon the Postoffice—Persistent Efforts of the Mayor's Brother-in-law to Get the Appointment.

Washington, March 2.—Postmaster General Payne to-day forwarded to the house all the papers in the case of the Indianola, Miss., postoffice, which postoffice was discontinued by the administration because of the forced abandonment of the office by its negro postmistress, Mrs. Minnie V. Cox. The correspondence shows that A. B. Weeks, a brother-in-law of Mayor Davis of Indianola, began his candidacy for the postoffice against the negro incumbent as far back as April 7, 1902, when he began sending a long series of letters and telegrams to the department. The papers include an extract from a letter of a postoffice official dated February 23, 1903. In this letter Mayor Davis of Indianola is quoted as saying that if Mrs. Cox should again take charge of the Indianola postoffice "she would get her neck broken inside of two hours."

On January 3 last John C. Dougherty, United States special attorney at New Orleans telegraphed to Assistant Attorney General Pratt at Washington "that there are numerous negro county and municipal officers serving under democratic administrations throughout the southern states." Mayor Davis of Indianola wrote the fourth assistant postmaster general on January 3 last requesting copies of all letters written the department regarding the postoffice and stated that the postmaster was requested by all of the citizens to resign, that no threats were made, that she was "perfectly willing" to give up the office. Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow declined to furnish the copies of the letters. The correspondence shows that A. B. Weeks wrote the department several letters during last April, in one of which he requested that he be appointed at once and in a letter dated May 30, 1902, he stated that he was anxious to get the appointment, supplementing this only July 2 with a letter urging his own appointment and giving the causes why it should be made. On September 19 he wrote the fourth postmaster general that there was a determined effort on the part of the people to make the postmaster resign or give up the office in some way because she is colored and requesting that his application be remembered. On October 9 Weeks wrote the president that he had the assurance of Mrs. Cox, the postmaster, "that she will forward her resignation in the next few days," and pressing his own application on the ground that he was the only republican at Indianola and later he forwarded a petition of colored citizens of Indianola and vicinity in behalf of his appointment. "In January 1 he wrote the president that the postmaster had abandoned the office; pressed his claims for the appointment and said that he would be glad to have the president wire him to qualify. Later he wrote the president asking that the postoffice be re-established, stating that Mrs. Cox would not take charge of the office again and urging his own appointment.

The papers show that several other candidates applied for the office on October 3 understanding that Mrs. Cox had tendered or was about to tender her resignation.

Postoffice Inspector Fitzgerald on December 15 submitted a detailed report relative to the circumstances which caused the people of Indianola to order W. V. Cox, a railway postal clerk, and two other persons to leave that place, presumably on account of their color.

The Appropriation for Lillooalaki Stricken Out.

Washington, March 2.—The conferees on the sundry civil appropriation bill have agreed to strike out the senate amendment for the appropriation of $200,000 for the payment of the claims of ex-Queen Lillooalaki of Hawaii and also the appropriation of $350,000 for the extension of the immigrant station at Ellis Island.

DELAWARE DEADLOCK ENDS

TWO SENATORS ELECTED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

J. Frank Allee, an Addicks Man, Gets to Long Term and L. Helser Ball, a Regular Republican, the Short-First Time in Four Years the State Has Had Full Representation in the U. S. Senate—Pressure Brought to Bear from Washington.

Dover, Del., March 2.—For the first time in four years the state of Delaware this afternoon secured full representation in the United States senate. At a special session the state legislature elected State Senator J. Frank Allee, union republican, to the senatorship which expires in 1907, and Congressman L. Helser Ball, regular republican, to the term expiring in 1905. The selection was undoubtedly due to pressure from Washington brought to bear upon the regular republicans in the legislature, who have all along opposed the election of J. Edward Addicks, or any of his adherents, to the United States senate.

Congressman Dick, of Ohio, came to Dover to-day in the interest of republican harmony. He established headquarters at the Hotel Richardson, where prior to the joint session of the legislature he received a delegation from each republican faction. He advised the acceptance by the regular republicans of the union republicans' proposition, agreed upon in Philadelphia Saturday, that a union republican be elected to the long-term senatorship and a regular republican for the short term, Addicks himself being eliminated.

Anticipating the likelihood of an agreement between the republican factions, Democratic State Chairman Saulsbury presented a proposition to the regular republicans agreeing to use his influence for the election, with the aid of the democrats, of two regular republicans to the United States senate. This proposition was approved by the advisory committee of the democratic state committee, but was not ratified by the democratic legislators in caucus.

In the meantime a compromise was effected between the regular republicans and the Addicks (union republican) forces, resulting in the selection of a senator from each faction. The three (Continued on Third Page.)

ROOSEVELT'S ATTITUDE.

Endorsed by Cincinnati Ministers Regarding Negro Appointments.

Cincinnati, March 2.—Following the publication of President Roosevelt's letter to Clark Howell, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, in which the president set forth his attitude as to the appointment of colored men to federal offices in the south, the Methodist Ministerial association here to-day unanimously adopted the following: "The ministers of the Methodist Episcopal church in Cincinnati and vicinity, in their weekly meeting assembled, hereby record their grateful appreciation of the attitude taken by President Roosevelt in his letter published this day, March 2, 1903, concerning certain phases of the Afro-American problem in the south. We rejoice in the sanity, the courage, the temperateness and the humaneness which appear in the utterances of our beloved president on this theme, and pray for God's blessing upon him in all his burdens and trials."

Addresses in commendation of the president were delivered by Bishops Cranston and Walden, Levi Gilbert, editor of the Western Christian Advocate; W. P. Thirkield, corresponding secretary of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Educational society, and others.

SCATTERING THE LADRONES.

Nineteen Killed and Many Wounded in One Fight.

Manila, March 2.—A detachment of scouts under the command of Lieutenant Nickerson attacked and defeated a body of ladrones near the village of Marquina, Luzon, seven miles from Manila, yesterday. After an hour's fighting the ladrones were scattered, and nineteen were killed and many wounded. There were no casualties on the side of the scouts.

The constabulary last Wednesday surprised and captured the stronghold of the ladrones in the mountains of Abay, Luzon, where a force of ladrones attacked a small detachment of constabulary on February 20. The constabulary on Wednesday met with some resistance on the part of the ladrones, who were defeated with a loss of ten killed and four captured. The ladrones' stronghold and supplies were burned.

Brigadier-General Sumner, commanding the department of Mindanao, telegraphs that he expects trouble along the military road north of Lake Lanao, Misamis. He says that the Datus of the Sultan of Mindanao are friendly and anxious for peace, but are unable to control sections of their unduly followers. General Sumner has warned the soldiers to avoid any conflict and to carefully guard against surprises.

Election in Guilford.

Guilford, March 2.—A citizens' ticket which was placed in the field here met with no opposition at the borough election to-day. The result was as follows: Warden, George P. Rolfe; clerk, Harry Monroe; board of burgesses, William P. Hill, J. C. Potter, George Spencer, Edward Elliott, Robert Marshall and Walter Spencer.

NO ONE SHOT OR SHOT AT.

Reports of Grave Disorders Among Maine's Crew Unfounded.

Washington, March 2.—Animated by reports of grave disorders among the crew of the new battleship Maine, the navigation bureau to-day telegraphed to Captain Letzow, commander of the ship, to ascertain the facts. He replied this afternoon as follows: "Newport News, March 2.—Eighteen men absent without leave, having left the ship while in dock. No one shot or shot at." Admiral Taylor says that, considering the fact that the Maine is just newly in commission, with a strange crew, the number of absentees reported (they are not set down as deserters) is exceedingly moderate.

CAUGHT IN FLY WHEEL.

Shocking Death of a Stafford Springs Superintendent.

Stafford Springs, March 2.—Arthur Stebbins, for many years superintendent of the Stafford Springs Electric Light and Gas company, was fatally injured early this evening while repairing some machinery in the power house. Mr. Stebbins was standing near a fly-wheel and in an attempt to fix a slipping belt he was caught in the wheel and whirled around to his death. His body was terribly battered. Mr. Stebbins is survived by a widow and two children.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

MAYOR RECOMMENDS THAT THE SECRETARY OF WAR BE ASKED

To Permit This City and Town of Orange to Decide on Kind of Bridge for Kimberly Avenue—Voted to License Stationary Engineers—Four Voting Machines to be Used Here in April Election—Report of Street Railroad Investigation Committee Read—Other Matters.

The board of aldermen met last evening with the entire board present with the exception of Aldermen Frederick, Conway, Brennan, Hosley, Baldwin, Walsh, Diekerman and Hilton. A communication was received from Mayor Studley disapproving of the action of the board of aldermen at their meeting in granting the contract for the printing of the board's journal to George D. Bone. The mayor stated that he was under the impression that the printing of the journal was a matter which the board of aldermen would have the right to determine, and upon further consideration he had deemed it advisable to secure the opinion of the corporation counsel, which he now transmitted to the board.

The opinion of the corporation counsel then followed and enumerated the bids for the work, Mr. Bone's being the highest and being accepted by the board, as his work was well done in the past and his price was not unreasonable. But the charter provides for awarding the contract to the lowest bidder after due advertising in the case unless some special good reason exists for not doing so. The reason given by the board for its action is considered sufficient.

By an aye and nay vote the mayor was sustained. The following was then submitted to the board: March 2, 1903. To the Honorable Board of Aldermen, New Haven, Conn. Gentlemen: I desire to call your attention to the matter of the building of a bridge at Kimberly avenue, over West river.

For several years the matter has been the subject of an order issued by the honorable secretary of war which directed that a drawbridge be erected. Recently I received a notice from the honorable secretary which indicated that a permanent bridge would be ordered in place of the drawbridge at any time. After falling to secure any information as to what height he proposed to order the bridge I was informed by the United States engineer's office that the bridge recommended by the engineer would be twenty-three feet above high water. Assuming that the tides are six feet that would necessitate a bridge twenty-nine feet above low water mark.

The mud at low water is estimated to be thirty feet deep. The great weight of the superstructure would necessitate going to a firm foundation. This would make a height of about fifty-nine feet from the firm foundation to the bottom of the mud.

MERWIN VS. MERWIN.

Case Settled in Superior Court Yesterday.

The case of John W. Merwin of Milford vs. Samuel O. Merwin and William H. Merwin of New Haven and Hardy L. Merwin of Milford was settled in the superior court yesterday after long years of litigation. The settlement was an amicable one and was agreed to by all the persons concerned. It was that a judgment for $1 damage with no costs should be entered for the plaintiff.

The litigation was over some shore property at Merwin's Point and has been heard in both the superior and supreme courts.

THE "FEETERS" CELEBRATE

125TH ANNIVERSARY A FESTIVAL EVENT LAST EVENING.

Lieutenant Governor Roberts Saluted With the strains of Old Homestead—Comradeship Ruled the Hour—Soldiers Are the Only Citizens Who Face the Music.

Our major's name was Johnson, A good, brave Yankee man. He carried his sword like a soldier's son, And kept well in the van.

The 125th anniversary of the Second company Governor's Foot Guard was celebrated last evening with a banquet at the Tontine hotel. About 100 sat at the tables. The decorative scheme was of the patriotic order, the resplendent folds of Old Glory being artistically festooned about the walls, the portrait of Washington adorning the north wall while that of President Roosevelt adorned the south facing that of the Father of His Country. The flag of the state of Connecticut was unfurled along side of the national emblem behind the speaker's table. During the serving of the menu, which was served in the usual unexcelled style of Mine Host George White the excellence of which was commented upon by nearly every speaker of the evening, an orchestra rendered enlivening airs which were often joined in by the guests. Mr. White's assistant manager, Mr. Nolan, was also complimented for arrangement of some of the details. "Selling Kindling Wood," "The Good Old Summer Time," and "Swannee River" resounded sonorously through the hall accompanied by the stentorian voices of the merry soldier boys. On this occasion discipline and conventionality were thrown to the winds, comrades played tag with decorum and the outflow of wit competed in effervescence with the bubbling of sparkling wine. At 9:30 the toastmaster, Major Johnson, called upon all present to pay a silent tribute to those members of the guard who gave the counterpoint to the Great Commander, and who have joined that larger comradeship in the ranks of the eternal army of human spirits. The assemblage arose and stood in silence for sixty seconds by the clock, thus paying in silence a tribute to the dead comrades.

Letters of regret were read from B. F. McNeill and William Neely, two members of Major Johnson's staff, who are at present in Florida, and L. R. Cheney (Continued on Third Page.)

REPLY FROM RAILROAD CO.

To Enquiry Regarding Building an Orange Street Trolley Line.

Attorney Harry W. Asher last evening received from Lawyer George D. Watrous a reply to Mr. Asher's note of enquiry, asking if the Fair Haven & Westville Railroad company would build a branch line of their road through Orange street if the committee of citizens of which Mr. Asher is chairman would obtain the necessary authority on the subject. Mr. Asher when interviewed last evening said he had received a most courteous letter from Mr. Watrous in reply to the committee's representations. The letter stated that the board of directors of the railroad company had at a meeting discussed the subject at length and had decided that under existing circumstances they felt that they could not accede to the proposition. The reasons therefor were that the road had a great deal of important work on hand which would occupy the entire open season this year, such as the completion of its portion of the extension of the line to Derby and the double tracking of its Congress avenue line rendered imperatively necessary by the project on foot of building a bridge over West river on the route of the company's Kimberly avenue line. Moreover the directors felt that an extension through Orange street would be unprofitable now and for years to come, there being two parallel lines in that section, one on State street, the other on Whitney avenue. As to having a trackless trolley line on Orange that was thought to be impracticable.

Mr. Asher represents as chairman the committee appointed by a meeting of residents of Orange street and vicinity held one evening last week at Mr. Asher's law offices to consider the matter of having additional transportation facilities.

CONDITION OF CROPS.

General Summary for February by Weather Bureau.

Washington, March 2.—The weather bureau's general summary of crop conditions for February is as follows: "With excessive precipitation and low-average temperature in the southern states, the month has not been favorable for farming operations in that section, but with lighter precipitation and only slightly deficient temperature, the Ohio and Upper Mississippi valleys experienced more favorable conditions. In California the first part of the month was abnormally cold, but the latter part was more favorable.

"Winter wheat was well protected with snow covering during the severe weather from the 15th to the 19th, and the reports at the close of the month indicate that the crop is in very satisfactory condition. In portions of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky, however, the crop has sustained some injury from alternate freezing and thawing, while lowlands have suffered to some extent from overflows in the Lower Ohio valley."

BURDICK MURDER CASE.

Examination of Wife and Mother-in-law of the Victim.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 2.—Nearly four days have elapsed since the body of Edwin L. Burdick was found in his home with his skull crushed. During that time the district attorney's office and the detective force of the city have worked night and day on the case. Several hundred persons have been questioned but to-night there does not appear to be the remotest possibility of an arrest.

RECENT BATTLESHIP ACCIDENT.

Ensign Wortman Charged With Culpable Inefficiency.

Washington, March 2.—Five specifications are contained in the charge of "culpable inefficiency in the performance of duty" preferred against Ensign Ward K. Wortman, who is to be tried by court martial at Pensacola, Fla., next week for alleged responsibility for the accident on the Massachusetts some weeks ago in which nine men were killed by the explosion of an eight inch gun. Briefly it is charged that the ensign ordered the breach of the gun to be opened for the purpose of returning to electrical fire while the lock remained cocked; that he failed to exercise due precaution in returning to electrical firing; that he was guilty of negligence in failing to cause the bolt of the gun to be eased down before ordering the breach opened; that he was guilty of "culpable negligence" in allowing the target practice to be conducted while the lanyards were let out and hooked to the triggers of the combination locks and finally that he ordered the breach of the eight-inch gun to be opened without assuring himself that the breach of the left gun was closed.

IN AND ABOUT THE COURTS

ACCOUNTING OF THE MARY DOOLITTLE ESTATE ASKED FOR.

Criminal Common Pleas Adjudged to March 17—Civil Suits Brought Yesterday—City Court Matters.

Vernal W. Bates, manager of the L. C. Bates company, butter dealers on George street, and Mary Doolittle, 378 Doolittle street, have been sued by Mrs. Arthur Hadden, a nurse. The suit is over a bill for nursing amounting to $203.58.

Peter Curry has brought suit in the same court against William Ryan, claiming damages of $500. The suit is over an alleged unpaid judgment of $300.

Mrs. Amelia Krick asks $1,000 damages from the city for a fall on a city sidewalk in which she was badly bruised. The accident occurred on February 22, 1902, at Grand avenue and State street.

CRIMINAL COMMON PLEAS ADJUDGED. The March session of the criminal common pleas court was opened yesterday morning by Judge Hubbard, but he at once ordered an adjournment until March 17, owing to the absence of Judge Cable, who has gone south for his health.

IN THE PROBATE COURT. A petition for accounting on the estate of the late Mary Doolittle, widow of Tilton E. Doolittle, will be argued in the probate court March 9.

Yesterday E. P. Arvine filed a petition for such an accounting, and his action is said to be based upon a desire to collect sundry debts due New Haven persons by some of the heirs of the estate.

It is said that the petition reflects in no wise upon the management of the estate by the administrator, Attorney William L. Bennett.

NOVELTY COMPANY FILES AN ASSIGNMENT. Through its counsel, J. P. Goodhart, of East Haven, filed an assignment in the probate court yesterday. Philip Goodhart is nominated for trustee of the concern.

The company is a merger of the East Haven Manufacturing company and the American Introductory company, of New York. The joint concern has been engaged in making novelties in East Haven.

The president of the company is William H. Hoesley. The liabilities amount to about $6,000 and the assets are about the same.

IN THE CITY COURT. Virginia Miner's Case Nolle—Fitzgerald Fined $24.

Fresh from the Pocahontas coal mines of Virginia, Edward Chabrac, formerly a resident of this city, was before the city court yesterday morning on a charge of idleness. The case was nolle.

FITZGERALD FINED $24. James Fitzgerald, proprietor of a saloon at 156 East street, was fined $10 and $14.65 costs in the city court yesterday morning for violating the Sunday liquor law. Four frequenters of the place, John Sullivan, John Boylan, John Johnson and James Mack, who were cornered by Policeman Lonergan in a single-handed raid, were also fined costs of $14.65. Fitzgerald escaped at the time, but was arrested on a warrant yesterday.

OTHER CITY COURT CASES. The cases of Fritz Gutierrez, James A. Douglas and Martin Winterfeld for not properly caring for their respective families, were continued in the city court yesterday until the 31st of this month, nisi.

Nolles were entered in the cases of Adam Ambrosia, held for minor thefts, and in the case of Dennis T. Toole, held for gaming.

Hugh G. French and Guy T. Stetson, the Yale students arrested for snow-balling, were fined $2 each and their cases were continued until this morning to pay.

Daniel Sullivan, held for drunkenness, was fined $5. Mary McGuire, who was held on a similar charge, was sentenced to thirty days in jail.

OBITUARY NOTES. Edward F. Howard Buried—Last Rites Over Remains of Unfortunate Young Yale Man.

The body of Edward Ford Howard, the Yale man who was found dead half way down the precipitous side of East Rock cliff on Saturday afternoon, was taken to his home in Montclair, New Jersey, Sunday. The remains, which had been at Burwell's undertaking establishment on Chapel street, went in charge of his brother, Frank M. Howard, who arrived here Saturday noon and joined in the search for the young man.

The funeral services were scheduled to be held late yesterday afternoon from the residence of his father, General John R. Howard, of 111 South Mountain avenue, in Montclair. Six of the fellow-members of young Howard's Sheffield Scientific school secret society, Berillus, went to Montclair to act as pallbearers, and other classmates who were close friends of the young man went to attend the funeral. The services were in charge of Rev. Dr. Amory J. Bradford, pastor of the First Congregational church, which the Howard family attend regularly. Dr. Bradford first heard of the death of young Howard Sunday morning just before leaving the parsonage to preach in the church. As a prelude to his sermon Dr. Bradford spoke feelingly of the young man.

Wife Agains. The many friends of John Blount will be pleased to learn that he has entirely recovered from his attack of rheumatism. Chamberlain's Pain Balm cured him after the best doctors in the town (Montclair, Ind.) had failed to give relief. The prompt relief from pain which this liniment affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by all druggists.

man's death. Several of the congregation thus first heard of the affair and many wept while the pastor was talking. One of the sopranoes was so affected that she left her place in the choir.

Among the members of the Sheffield Scientific school junior class there is a feeling of deep sadness at the premature death of the young man, who was universally beloved by members of his class and who was one of the class leaders in scholarship.

The junior class of the Sheffield Scientific school yesterday afternoon held a meeting and adopted appropriate resolutions of condolence and sympathy. They will wear the usual mourning badge.

Coroner Eli Mix said yesterday afternoon that there would be no further investigation into the affair, unless new evidence came to light. He said: "There is nothing suspicious in the case, so far as I have been able to learn."

MRS. JOHN NORRIS. The funeral of Mrs. John Norris, who died last Friday, was held at her late home, 593 East street, yesterday afternoon at 2:30, Rev. Dr. E. S. Lines officiating. The interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

Mrs. Norris was fifty-four years old. She will be much missed by her many friends, by whom her virtues and good news will long be remembered. She leaves two sons, Henry J. Gussman and William F. Gussman, and one daughter, Mrs. John Coggeshall, and seven grandchildren.

FUNERAL OF MRS. CLINTON. The funeral of Mrs. Clinton will take place from her late residence, 1914 Whalley avenue, this afternoon at 2:30. Besides her husband, Mrs. Clinton leaves three children, Edson E. Clinton, Miss Daisy Clinton and George H. Clinton, all of whom reside at home. Mr. and Mrs. Clinton, with their family, lived for many years on Howe street, where Mr. Clinton was in the grocery business, and have many friends in this city. Last May the family removed to Westville, where they now reside at 104 Whalley avenue.

Mrs. Clinton was taken ill last September with diphtheria of the liver, to which disease she succumbed. She was fifty-five years and eleven months old and was Miss Mary L. Bradley before her marriage.

FUNERAL OF MISS GRANT. One of the largest attended funerals held in this city during the past six months was that of Miss Anna L. Grant, which took place Sunday afternoon from her late residence, 31 Shelter street, at 2 o'clock, and from services at St. Francis' church at 2:30. The deceased was about twenty years old and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Grant. She leaves a host of friends to mourn her death, which occurred Friday after a short illness. The services at the church were conducted by Rev. Father Blake and the burial was in the St. Lawrence cemetery. The floral tributes were both many and beautiful. The pallbearers were Alexander Fraser, Arthur Mullen, James J. Coffey, J. B. Sullivan, Edward Finigan and Henry Booth; the flower bearers were John Coffey, James Sullivan, Joseph Malone, Frederick Cronan and Henry O'Brien.

MRS. RACHAEL S. BUELL. Mrs. Rachael S. Buell, wife of Deacon Julius Buell, of Killingworth, died in this city yesterday morning at 7 o'clock. Mrs. Buell was formerly Miss Rachael S. Everts and taught in the Webster school, in this city, for eleven years. She will be kindly remembered by many friends. The funeral will be held in Clinton to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock and the burial will be in Killingworth.

MARGARET T. HYNAN. The body of Miss Margaret T. Hynan was found in the canal near the Baltic cotton mill, Norwich, Sunday. She had been missing three months. It is believed she committed suicide. The young woman had been demented for some time prior to her disappearance. She was a daughter of Jeremiah Hynan, a well known seaman of Norwich.

ELIJAH DOOLITTLE. Elijah Doolittle, a well known citizen of Bethany, died there Sunday of pneumonia. He was ill but a few days and death was unexpected. Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been completed.

WILLOUGHBY N. FORD. Willoughby N. Ford, of Southington, aged eighty-one years, died at his home on Wolf Hill Sunday afternoon after several months' illness from injuries received from a fall from a cherry tree. Besides a wife, Dianthy D. Ford, one son, William, and two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Smith and Mrs. Downs, of Springfield, survive him.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the house and will be private.

MRS. H. V. HEMMING. Mrs. Henry V. Hemming, of 48 Shelton avenue, died suddenly Sunday at the home of Mrs. L. P. Thomas, 157 Greenwich avenue. Mrs. Hemming was making a call upon her friend, when the attack occurred which resulted in her death. She is survived by her husband, Henry V. Hemming, employed by the Winchester Repeating Arms company, and a son, Raymond M. Hemming, employed at Charles H. Loomis', 833 Chapel street.

JESSIE MAY TYLER. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Tyler, of 152 Nash street, have the sympathy of their many friends in the loss of their infant daughter, Jessie May, whose death occurred on Sunday. The family formerly resided in Branford. The funeral will be held to-day, and burial will be in Bridgeport.

DEATH OF OLD SOUND CAPTAIN. Captain Jay Clark died at the home of his sister, Mrs. D. A. E. Sherwood, in Greenwich, Sunday night, in his eightieth year. Two sons, one of whom Cold's Are Dangerous. How often you hear it remarked: "It's only a cold," and a few days later learn that the man is on his back with pneumonia. This is of such common occurrence that a cold, however slight, should not be disregarded. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. It always cures and is pleasant to take. Sold by all druggists.

lives in Brooklyn, survive him. Captain Clark for many years commanded boats running between New York and Bridgeport and New York and New Haven.

FUNERAL OF ALEXANDER PAGE—BURIAL IN PUTNAM. The remains of Alexander Page, who died suddenly at Trinity church Sunday evening, will be removed from Graham & Co.'s undertaking rooms to his residence this morning, and to-morrow morning there will be prayers at the house, Rev. Dr. Lee officiating, and the remains will then be taken to Putnam, Conn., for interment. The deceased was a native of Putnam and formerly resided there. He was a member of Dwight Place Congregational church.

MRS. ELLA BOARDMAN. Mrs. Ella Boardman, forty-six years old, a resident of Branford, died at the New Haven hospital yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Boardman was brought to the hospital on February 14, very ill. Her husband is a farmer in Branford, and the couple were very well known in that place.

THE OLD RELIABLE

ty-fifth ballot was taken at noon and resulted in no election. The vote was as follows:

Long term—Addicks 21, Saulsbury 21, Dupont 8, Higgins 2.

Short term—Addicks 19, Kenney 21, Higgins 8, Elliot 2, Richardson 2. No election.

After the ballot a recess was taken until 2:30 o'clock.

After the agreement between the union and regular republicans had been reached the union republican legislators met in caucus and named J. Frank Allee as their candidate for United States senator. The democrats in caucus voted unanimously to vote for one regular republican, but were unable to agree on the proposition to vote for two regular republicans.

In expectation of a settlement of the senatorial difficulty, politicians and prominent men from every section of the state were present at today's sessions of the legislature. The election of Messrs. Allee and Ball was announced to an audience that filled the house of representatives to suffocation. The noise and confusion on the part of those who came to witness the proceedings was so great that many of the legislators became bewildered and apparently did not know how to vote when the roll was called. The appearance of Congressman Dick in the hall was the signal for wild and prolonged applause. During the voting he occupied the seat of Representative Townsend, and beside him in the seat of Representative Jones, sat Mr. Addicks. The latter evinced much satisfaction when the result of the vote was announced.

When the roll had been called at the afternoon session Senator Sparks moved that the ballot for long and short terms be taken together. Senator McNulty offered an amendment that the legislators vote for the long term only. The amendment was lost. Representative Holcomb, dem., moved to adjourn. Speaker Ellison refused to entertain the motion. Mr. Holcomb appealed from the decision of the chair. The speaker paid no attention to the appeal. Becoming angry, Mr. Holcomb said:

"If you are going to crown your work of infamy by showing to the world that you are afraid to treat one another fairly we want to put you on record."

By this time the speaker's platform was crowded with Addicks adherents and prominent regular republicans who were coaching Mr. Ellison. Mr. Holcomb's appeal was lost. Senator Braswell moved the election of the two senators, J. Frank Allee for the long term and L. Heister Ball for the short term. The roll was called, the ballot resulting as follows:

Long term—Allee 30, Saulsbury 17, J. H. Hughes, dem., 1, Woodburn Martin, dem., 1, A. E. Sanburn 1, E. W. Tunnell, dem., 1.

Short term—Ball 21, Kenney, dem., 19, B. A. Hazell, dem., 1, E. R. Cochran, jr., dem., 1. Allee and Ball were elected.

At the conclusion of the balloting Speaker Ellison announced the election of Messrs. Allee and Ball.

Mr. Addicks was the first to congratulate Senator Allee, and the latter followed by a procession of legislators and spectators.

THE "PEETERS" CELEBRATE

of the First company Governor's Foot Guard of Hartford.

Major Johnson, toastmaster of the evening, proceeded to introduce the speakers of the evening. When Lieutenant Governor Roberts was presented, who, in the absence of Governor Chamberlain, who was prevented from coming owing to illness, rose to respond to the toast "Connecticut" he was saluted by applause accompanied by the harmonious strains of the "Old Homestead" and "Mr. Dooley." The greeting was whole-souled, good natured and soldier-like.

The lieutenant governor said that of all citizens the state should do more for the soldiers, because they have done more for the state. He also said that America is more indebted for its advance and progress to the soldier than any other element among its citizenry. He took advantage of the occasion to express his appreciation and that of the governor's for the splendid escort duty done by the guards at the inauguration.

The next speaker was Colonel Smith of the First company of Hartford. He stated that all classes of American citizens were patriots, loved their country and worked continually for its welfare, but when a crisis came, the soldier was the one who had to face the music. (Great applause.)

Mayor Studley was the next speaker. He said honorably that when the guards marched to Boston one hundred and twenty-eight years ago, he stayed at home sewing wood, and when they returned they elected him mayor so that he could welcome them on their anniversary.

In the absence of ex-Mayor Harbison of Hartford, Walter Garde favored the company with several solos, which were immensely appreciated.

Other speakers of the evening were: Lieutenant Buckley, "First Company, Governor's Foot Guard"; Lieutenant S. L. H. Ward, "The Old Guard, New York"; General E. E. Bradley, "The C. N. G."; Colonel C. W. Pickett, "The Press." The colonel made a great hit when he said that as a newspaper man he believed in advertising and the best advertising investment the state of Connecticut could make was to send the governor's guards to represent the commonwealth at the Louisiana Purchase exposition. Speeches by Sergeant James C. Twining, "The Rank and File"; ex-Major Clark, "The Second Company, Governor's Foot Guard"; and Chaplain Phillips of the Foot Guards closed the exercises for the evening.

Some of those noticed at the tables were: Coroner Eli Mix, Professor Benjamin Jepson, Frank S. Hamilton, ex-Mayor A. C. Hendrick, Henry Fresenius, William Price, Fred Whipple of Bridgeport, Henry Parrish, General Henry S. Peck, Captain John Shuster, Major Alexander Hooker, Major Benjamin Brown, Major Clark, Colonel Isaac Ullman, General Ware, Frederick M. Drey, Albert L. Johnson, John R. Murray, John A. Isbell, William J. Toukin, Louis Fitzchutts, Captain A. P. Kirkham, members of the company from Ansonia.

BRITISH FOREIGN RELATIONS.

Gloomy View by Roseberry—The Alliance With Germany.

London, March 2.—Venezuela was brought up in the house of lords today on a motion of Baron Tweedmouth, liberal, asking for further papers on the subject. He complained that the recently published blue book did not clearly set forth the exact statement made to the United States government with reference to the blockade and said the despatches contained in the blue book did not correspond with the statements of Premier Balfour and the other ministers. Baron Tweedmouth remarked further that there was little cause for congratulation on the outcome of the affair and the co-operation with Germany, which he classed as an alliance with a power whose claims, methods, policy and ulterior objects in that part of the world were different from those of Great Britain.

Foreign Secretary Lansdowne in reply defended the co-operation with Germany and said his majesty's government had excellent reasons for knowing how the United States was likely to regard the action taken. Throughout the negotiations, Lord Lansdowne added, not one word had been written by the United States government which was untruthful or unfriendly.

Lord Roseberry, who followed, described the Venezuelan blue book as being "massive, meagre, and reticent" and said the money received by the allies represented the proportion of the benefits accruing to them. Lord Roseberry added that he did not believe the United States would be satisfied with Great Britain's delay in approaching that country. His lordship took a gloomy view of British foreign relations.

After further discussion in which the Duke of Devonshire, Earl Spencer and the Earl of Selborne participated, Baron Tweedmouth's motion was withdrawn and the house adjourned.

Tax on Sleeping Cars Legal.

Washington, March 2.—In the supreme court of the United States today an opinion was handed down by Justice Holmes in the case of the Pullman Co. vs. Wirt Adams, state revenue agent of Mississippi. The case involved the validity of a special state tax on sleeping cars which the Pullman company resisted on the ground that the law is an interference with interstate commerce. The law was sustained by the Mississippi supreme court and today's opinion affirmed that judgment.

"Terry" McGovern Seriously Ill.

New York, March 2.—"Terry" McGovern, the puglist, who is to fight "Young Corbett" in San Francisco on March 31, is seriously ill at his home in Brooklyn. He is suffering from a severe attack of the grip and is under the care of two physicians.

The meeting between McGovern and Ryan, arranged for Thursday in Philadelphia, has been declared off.

Patrick's Motion Denied.

New York, March 2.—Recorder Goff today gave a brief opinion denying the motion made some weeks ago by counsel for Albert T. Patrick, convicted of the murder of Millionaire William Marsh Rice for a new trial pending the decision of the court of appeals, before which the case now stands. The recorder later said the appeal papers before the court of appeals will not be ready for two months or more and that the decision will probably not be had before fall.

Chicago Gas Men Strike.

Chicago, March 2.—As a result of the discharge of thirty-eight employees who became members of new unions formed in the meter department and among the statement takers, all the union workers employed by the People's Gas Light and Coke company were ordered on strike today. The company employs 2,500 men, only a small per cent. of whom are union workers. About 250 men are affected by today's strike.

Stamford Bricklayers on Strike.

Stamford, March 2.—The threatened strike of bricklayers and plasterers belonging to the local union took place today. Seventy-five men went out. They demand an increase of pay from $3.50 to $4 a day, and also a Saturday half-holiday with pay.

Pittsburg Painters on Strike.

Pittsburg, March 2.—In accordance with the action taken at last night's meeting of the Pittsburg division of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, about 1,000 painters struck today for an increase in wages from $3.25 to $3.60 per day. Work was suspended on many buildings in course of erection, but on the large structures there will be no stoppage, the contractors having signed the scale.

NUMEROUS STRIKES.

Two in Philadelphia—Gas Men Out in Chicago.

Philadelphia, March 2.—Two strikes, involving three thousand hands, were begun here today. Four branches of the United Garment Workers of America, including coat operators, tailors, pressers and buttonhole workers, struck for better conditions, shorter hours and recognition of the union. The carriage and wagon workers and painters quit work because of the refusal of the employers to grant a minimum wage scale of $2.50 for a nine-hour day and a 10 per cent. increase on piece work. More than one thousand men are idle.

VICTORY FOR CITY OWNERSHIP.

Ithaca Citizens Vote to Take Over Water Works.

Ithaca, N. Y., March 2.—Today's election on the question of municipal control of the waterworks of Ithaca resulted in an overwhelming victory for city ownership, there being 1,355 votes in the affirmative and only thirty in the negative. Yesterday and today five persons died in and around Ithaca, all of whom contracted typhoid fever in the city.

SMALL ELECTIONS IN STATE.

Republicans Win in Shelton—No Contest in Torrington.

Torrington, March 2.—There was practically no contest at the borough election held here today, the regular citizens' ticket being elected. Following is the result: Warden, George D. Workman; burgesses, W. H. Dayton, Frederick D. Fuessnick, George H. Branan, Edmund Wall and James L. Farley; clerk, B. D. Higgins; sheriff, Charles Stickle; assessors, Patrick Gleason and George Cook.

Shelton, March 2.—The regular republican ticket was successful in the borough election held here today. William Krue, rep., defeated Z. C. Beard, dem., for warden. F. B. Beardley, the retiring warden, was elected treasurer.

General Strike Threatened.

St. Louis, March 2.—Unless certain demands for an increase in wages on the Washab system east of the Mississippi river are granted by to-morrow noon it is probable that a general strike will be instituted.

NOMINATES G. C. HOLT.

Name of New District Judge Sent to Senate Yesterday—His Active Professional Career.

Washington, March 2.—President Roosevelt sent to the Senate today the nomination of George C. Holt as United States district judge in the district recently created in southern New York. Mr. Holt is a well known lawyer of New York and was endorsed generally by the bar of New York city.

George C. Holt was born in 1842, of New England parentage, in Oswego county, N. Y. His childhood was spent in Connecticut. He was graduated at Yale university in 1866, being graduation orator of his class and directly afterward engaged in journalism in New Haven, remaining in this work for about a year. He then took a course at the Columbia Law school, from which he received his degree in 1869. Since then he has been engaged in the practice of law in New York city.

HARBOR COMMISSIONERS MEET.

The harbor commissioners held a meeting in city hall last evening. Nothing but routine business was transacted.

ponies well known in Persia to-day. The Persian horses cannot, then, have been the ancestors of the thoroughbred, though it is quite possible that their superiority was due to their having a cross of thoroughbred blood, for already by 800 B. C. Solomon imported horses from Egypt (Kings 10), and "so for all the kings of Syria and for all the kings of the Hittites" Egypt could not breed horses, neither could she have got them from the Arabs, who bred none even a thousand years later. But she could and did get them from the Libyans, who from the dawn of history are masters of the most famous horses. Cyrene sent the best horses to the games of Greece Pindar, Pyth. IV., etc.) It is noteworthy that it was in the same century as the founding of Cyrene that the four-horse chariot and the race horse were added to the Olympic events. The Phoenician settlers at Carthage found the Libyans using these beautiful horses, and when they struck coins placed a horse or a horsehead on them as the badge of Libya, and used a similar type on their coins struck in Sicily, whither, doubtless, they carried the Libyan breed. This accounts for the extraordinary fame of the horses of Etna and Syracuse, and the famous steeds of Tarentum. It is now clear that the Arabs never owned a good horse until they had become masters of North Africa, and the Barbary horses, from which are sprung our own racing stock through Lord Godolphin's Barb, North Africa, therefore, and not Arabia or any other part of Asia is the original home of the thoroughbred.

"Now, though the pedigree of the cart-horse type can be traced to the coarse, thick-set little horses of Europe and Asia, the wild ancestor of the Barb is yet to seek, for Africa has no wild horse, such as tarpan or Przewalsky's, though she has an ass and four zebras, including the quagga, now extinct. Can the Barb be sprung wholly or in part from a zebra? Arab foals at birth constantly have zebra markings, sometimes retained when full grown, as by Professor Ewart's Arab Billy Fatima. Strabo, too, notices that the horses of the Libyan Garamantes have longer hoofs than any other horses. Professor Ewart's hybrids from Burchell's zebra and various mares show the markings, not of a Burchell's zebra, but of a Somaliland zebra, from which it has been inferred that the remote ancestor of both Equus caballus and Burchell's zebra was striped like the Somaliland and mountain zebra. But is it necessary to go back so far? May not the Somaliland zebra stripes in the hybrid dam in each case had a certain amount of Barb blood in her, which was derived from either the Somaliland zebra, or a closely allied species? I have crossed a Muscovy drake with a common white duck, derived from the common wild duck, with the result that all the offspring are colored, and their coloring resembles that of the mallard. No one would say that the hybrids show a reversion to a remote common ancestor of both mallard and Muscovy, for it is obvious that the coloring is simply that of the white duck's immediate ancestors. Authorities like Captain Hayes have pointed out the great similarity in form between Burchell's and the Somaliland zebra to a well-bred horse, i. e., a horse that has Barb blood in him. He therefore suggested that the Barbary horse, from which he had shown all the fine horses of the world have sprung, was derived either from the zebra or northern Africa, or, as is more likely, from some very closely allied species, now extinct, which Przewalsky's horse, may have had castors on its hind legs like Equus caballus."—New York Evening Post.

THE THOROUGHBRED. Its Origin Likely to be Found in Barb Blood or the Zebra. In a paper read by Professor Ridgway before the Cambridge (England) Philological society recently, the author said that not only, as had long been observed, did the Homeric Greeks drive the horse before they rode him, but that the same was true of all ancient peoples—Egyptians, Canaanites, Assyrians, Aryans of Rig-Veda, Umbrians, Celts—and that the explanation of this was given by Herodotus who, in speaking of the Sisyngae, the only tribe north of the Danube whose name he knew, said that they had small horses, with large, flat noses and very long hair, which, though not able to carry a man, were excellent under chariots; "wherefore they used chariots," "Dion Cassius," said Professor Ridgway, likewise says that the Britons used chariots in war, because their horses were "small though active." The description of the horses of the Sisyngae tallies exactly with the abundant remains of the primitive horse of Europe, eaten in great quantities and delineated on antlers by the men of the stone age. He was a small animal, about ten hands high, with a big head. Even after domestication, he remained very small, as witness bits of bronze and horns found in Swiss lake dwellings, the shoes found at Silchester, and in camps on the Roman Wall, etc. Authorities agree that from this primitive horse has been developed the cart horses of the continent and these islands, while our blood horses have come from an eastern stock of slight build and smart appearance. Our problem is to ascertain the original habitat of this superior horse. He has not come from Upper Asia, as the Mongolian pony is taken as the type of the coarse, thickest horse from which sprang the cart horse. The Mongolian pony probably represents the Scythian horses, which continued to be of a small size down to Strabo's time, and they were derived either from the tarpan or Przewalsky's horse. The Mongolian pony, though surefooted and enduring, is slow of pace. Neither China, Siam nor Burma have any indigenous horse answering to the blood horse. India could never breed horses, says Marco Polo, in whose time India was supplied either with Mongolian ponies from Yunnan or with Arabian ponies from Persia, Aden and other Arabian ports. These Arabs fetched enormous prices, equivalent to two hundred ponies. It has hitherto been universally held that Arabia is the original home of the blood horse. This is a baseless assumption. In the Old Testament, the Arabs are never mentioned as riding anything but camels and asses. Though the author of Job knew of the war horse, yet Job did not own a single horse, his equine possessions consisting of five hundred she asses. Herodotus (vii. 87) enumerates the nations (including the Libyans) that supplied cavalry to Xerxes' host, but the Arabs only furnish a camel corps. Agathangides (cited by Strabo) describes the Arabs as camel keepers.

"Finally, Strabo (Hor. A. D. 1) expressly states that neither the people of Arabia Felix nor those of Arabia Petraea bred horses. Naturally, then, Scouras, after defeating the Arab king Aretas, put on his coins Aretas leading his camel. It is clear, then, that down to the Christian era the Arabs bred no horses. It is therefore clear that though the Persian kings in the fifth century B. C. bred the largest and best horses in Asia, these were not of an Arab strain. These horses were kept largely in Armenia, and are described by Strabo as similar to the Parthian horses, and as differing from the horses bred in Greece and the other kinds of horses known in the Roman empire. There can be little doubt that they were the same horses as Marco Polo found in great numbers in Armenia (1270 A. D.) known as Turkauns, the Turcoman

ITALIAN MARIONETTES.

It remained for the Italians, however, to bring marionettes to their highest state of development, and wonderful indeed is the ingenuity of their shows. We saw a remarkable eleven-year-old Italian give a fantoccini last year under the colonnades of the Municipio at Orta. On carefully examining the dolls we found them to be not entirely made of wood. The head was of paper mache—light and capable of feeling the slightest impulsion, and provided with a hinged lower jaw arranged to imitate the movements of talking. The body and limbs were wooden; the arms, legs and neck of lead, or leaded so as to readily obey the laws of gravity. All the strings destined to move the arms and legs united inside the body and issued together from the head. A metal rod connected the latter with the operator in his "castell," and by it the marionette could be moved about the stage.

The play dealt with peasant life, relating the trite story of a country lass who, despite the allurements of the city and the attentions of a great gentleman, remains true to her rustic swain; of Rosalia, her mother, and Pietro, her father—a cobbler with just enough work to keep his family from starvation, and the voices of their hungry children calling from behind the scenes for "polenta, polenta!" At another show I saw a shepherd in his goat skins do a drunken scene upon his still that for low comedy was absolutely unimitable, and well do I remember a dancing giant who dropped first his arms, then his legs, and finally his head, each of which, with the body, became a separate waltzing figure.

Some years ago, for now the vogue has almost died away, the Italian nobles gave fantoccini shows in their private palaces—plays reeking with escapades of the Roman magnognori and political satire that dared not show its face on public boards.—Ernest G. Peixoto in Scribner's Magazine.

APPLES KEPT SOUND FOR SIXTEEN MONTHS.

A. J. Forsythe, of Nineveh, Ind., has sent to the News an apple gathered in October, 1901. It is of the Graywheat variety, of which he has two trees. They are hardy and good bearers. He gathers the apples in October and puts them in barrels until cold enough to put away for the winter. Then he puts them in other barrels, with about four inches of dirt on top, and covers with planks so as to keep the dirt dry. About the first of April the apples are taken out of the barrels and placed in the cellar. In this way he can keep a harvest of apples until the harvest of the next year. Forsyth thinks his way of burying apples is the best way to keep all varieties of apples. He would like to know if there is another apple which has kept as long and is as sound as the sample here described.—Indianapolis News.

THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

Its decisions have always been in harmony with and sustaining the proposition that this republic is a nation acting directly upon all its citizens, with the attributes and authority of a nation, and not a mere league or confederacy of states. The importance of this cannot be overestimated, and will be appreciated by all who compare the weakness of the old confederacy with the strength and vigor of the republic under the present Constitution.

In the light of our marvelous development and the wondrous growth of this republic to the first place in the family of nations, one may well pause to consider what would have been our history if the decisions of the supreme court had been adverse to this rule of nationality. Suppose that the court had held that, because the Constitution did not in terms grant the power to charter corporations, congress could not charter a national bank, where would have been our great financial system? Suppose it had ruled that a state might impose a license on every importer from foreign nations; that it had supreme authority over all the navigable waters within its limits; that its courts could take from the custody of United States officials any person arrested for an alleged violation of Federal law, and that there was no power in the supreme court to review the judgments of state courts adverse to rights claimed under the Federal Constitution (and the questions presented in these cases were, under the strict language of the Constitution, debatable), where would have been the vigor and strength which exist in our national government, and which have been among the strongest supports of national progress? Reflections such as these will give some idea of how much the supreme court has by its decisions affected the life of the republic.—Justice Brewer in Scribner's Monthly.

JAMES TIERNAN.

The funeral of James Tiernan, who died Saturday in Waterbury at the home of his son, Patrick Tiernan, 48 Ayre street, took place at the Church of the Immaculate Conception at 9:30 yesterday morning. The remains were then brought to this city and were taken from the depot to the St. Bernard cemetery for burial.

FOR WOMEN

Much That Every Woman Desires to Know

About Sanative Antiseptic Cleansing

And About Curing Ulcerative Pains and Weaknesses.

Too much stress cannot be placed on the great value of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills in the antiseptic cleansing of the mucous surfaces and of the blood and circulating fluids, thus affording pure, sweet and economical local and constitutional treatment for weakening discharges, ulcerations, inflammations, itching, irritations, relaxations, displacements, pains and irregularities peculiar to females. Hence the Cuticura remedies have a wonderful influence in restoring health, strength and beauty to weary women, who have been prematurely aged and invalidated by these distressing ailments, as well as such sympathetic afflictions as anemia, chlorosis, hysteria, nervousness and debility.

Women from the very first have fully appreciated the purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy which have made the Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills the standard skin cures and humour remedies of the civilized world. Millions of the world's best people use Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening and soothing red, rough and sore hands, in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations and ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sanative, antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves, as well as for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery.

Dr. Sarah Barney of Franklin, New Hampshire, had a consumptive woman patient whom she was anxious to cure. So she employed her to drive her carriage, thereby securing an excellent coachwoman and effecting, by the outdoor life, a complete cure of the disease.

Bishop J. W. Hamilton told some young Methodists at San Francisco last week that he saw no harm in mixed marriages, white and negro or white and Chinese, and as a pastor in Brooklyn he had often solemnized them. "Such unions are illustrative of the sweeping away of caste lines which should occur in the church," he said.

The Watts bill, which has passed both houses in North Carolina, permits the manufacture and sale of liquor only in incorporated towns, which may vote on the question of dispensary, prohibition or license. In the final debate on this measure strong efforts were made to have it amended so as to give local option to unincorporated towns. One amendment set the limit of population at 200, and another at 300, but both were defeated.

One of the youngest-looking old men in the English House of Commons is Sir John Gorst. He is now getting on to seventy, but he has a brisk step, his complexion is ruddy and he speaks with the same brightness, self-possession and acidity which he displayed in the eighties. He attributes his extraordinary youthfulness to the fact that he has for years followed the advice given him by the late Sir Andrew Clark, the celebrated physician, and has, under all circumstances, remained nine hours of every twenty-four in bed.

There are generous women in Kansas. Recently, at Emporia, James Higgins, a brakeman, secured a judgment of $25,000 from the Santa Fe for the loss of both legs. Just before the rendering of this judgment his wife had begun suit for divorce. In this suit she did not ask for alimony. Since the husband secured his judgment the friends of the wife have been urging her to amend her divorce petition and ask for a share of the spoils. This she refuses to do, saying: "I'm glad Jim got the verdict. He's poor, and I hope he gets every cent of the money. I don't want any of it." Yet Mrs. Higgins is poor herself and has to work for a living.

The will of the late Archbishop of Canterbury indicates that the day when bishops used to amass huge fortunes is past. Dr. Temple left only $218,000, a sum which represents but slightly more than his income as archbishop for one year. There is certainly no other profession in England other than the church in which a man of Dr. Temple's ability, who worked like a slave for nearly sixty years, would have made so little money. His predecessor, Archbishop Benson, left almost twice as much, viz., $35,000, which, oddly enough, is also the sum left by Archbishop Tait. The largest fortune left by any bishop of late years was the $72,000 which Dr. Walsham How bequeathed.

Professor Cunningham, who has been appointed to succeed and serve under his old teacher, Sir William Turner, in the chair of anatomy in the University of Edinburgh, is the greatest authority upon giants. He is at present occupied in elaborating the proofs of his belief that a giant is a morbid phenomenon. A man or woman who is more than six feet five inches, or, at the outside, six feet six inches, cannot be regarded as merely abnormal, the professor thinks. He has shown that the mental characteristics of giants—easy good nature, sloth and poor intelligence—are those shown by victims of a rare disease of overgrowth called acromegaly. This is due to enlargement of an appendage of the brain, and Professor Cunningham has personally examined every giant skeleton in the British and Continental museums, and found that the little cavity in the skull corresponding to this part of the brain is enlarged in all of them.

NATURE-STUDY IN LYNN.

The school children of Lynn, Massachusetts, are going to do some "nature-study" this year, have some fun, and incidentally make a little money. The brown-tail moth troubles Massachusetts, and the Lynn Board of Trade is going to get the children to trouble the moth. It has agreed to award to any class of boys and girls who will pursue the moth the following sums: For every 1,500 nests up to 7,500, $1; for every 1,250 nests thereafter up to 12,500, $1; for every 1,000 nests thereafter up to 16,500, $1; for every 750 nests thereafter up to 19,500, $1; for every 500 nests thereafter up to 25,000, $1. The fanatics of the schools are to destroy the nests. Any class that wins the full prize will make $28.

The brown-tail moth will do well to move out of Lynn if it wants to persist. When the Lynn school-children get after it they will ravage it even as it has ravaged Massachusetts trees and things.

TOO MUCH CONGRESS.

Yesterday the President issued a proclamation calling an extraordinary session of the senate to begin on Thursday of this week, the day after the end of the Fifty-seventh congress. It is possible that both branches of the Fifty-eighth congress will have to be called together. The talk in Washington is that the Democrats want to bring this about. The Democrats, who claim to be the real friends of the people, solemnly say that an extra session is needed because the Republicans have failed to enact in the numerous remedies that have been applied to the trust evil anything of potency. The people of the country are demanding more, and congress should be called to take up the question when there is ample time for its thorough consideration. Another reason why the Democrats want an extra session is the necessity they see for a revision of the tariff schedules.

It is to be hoped that the President will not be forced to call the Fifty-eighth congress together. The people have had enough of congress for a while, and it is evident that the members now squabbling in the national capitol have had enough of each other. It is astonishing that congress can't behave better than it has been and is doing. It should have noticed and followed the example of the Connecticut legislature, which is quiet, courteous and efficient.

EXTERMINATORS.

The Brooklyn Eagle often has interesting and important political news. It now announces that William J. Bryan's defiance to the East, expressed in interviews and speeches while he was touring New York, New Jersey and Maryland last week, is to be met in warlike fashion by the "reorganizers" of the Democratic party. Those Democrats who oppose Bryan and who advocate the reconstruction of Democracy with Bryanism expunged are about to carry that issue into the South and West. One of the principal battlegrounds will be the State of Nebraska, where Mr. Bryan still retains, nominally at least, the control of the machinery of his party. It is proposed to crush Mr. Bryan's influence in his own State and to prevent at all costs his control of the Nebraska delegation to the next Democratic national convention. Recent developments have convinced the Democratic leaders of the East, nearly all of whom are classed as reorganizers, that this plan is not only essential, but feasible. It had been conceded even before Mr. Bryan's latest invasion of the enemy's country that heroic measures were likely to be necessary before harmony and stability could be restored to the party. Since he has again spoken and proclaimed his resolution not to yield either his principles or his leadership, the last chance for amicable adjustment has admittedly disappeared. All the important leaders of Democratic thought and the masters of the party machinery in the East are now agreed that the future of the Democratic party can only be assured by the extermination of Bryan as a political quantity. That undertaking is approached with entire confidence by the leaders of the reorganization movement, who hold, in addition to their vast fund of experience and wisdom in party management, financial and kindred resources so vast as to be almost incalculable in their influence on political events. And so forth and so on. Brother Bryan evidently intends to do some exterminating himself, and there are indications of a high old time. The higher the merrier, and the better for the country.

INTERESTING, IF TRUE.

It is evident that the United States will need all its smartness to keep up with the procession of the Powers. The latest is that England, our great, good and loved friend, has been trying to get control of the rich Yangtze-Kiang valley in China. This information was brought to Washington by an American naval officer. The commander of the British Asiatic squadron, it is alleged, proposed to the Viceroy of the provinces embraced in the Yangtze-Kiang valley to authorize the government of Great Britain to occupy the forts which command the Yangtze-Kiang river and to maintain a British fleet at Chin-kiang. These proposals, which were submitted last November, according to the report, came to the knowledge of a German consul stationed near the Viceroy's official residence. He promptly informed his government, which has now persuaded the Viceroy to give assurances to Germany that he will take no action contemplating the alienation of Chinese territory to Great Britain. Thus, it would appear, the alleged plans of the British government to establish a protectorate over one of the richest portions of the Chinese empire have been checkmated temporarily. But the American officer who brought this important information to Washington is quoted as authority for the further statement that the British government has not withdrawn the proposals of its naval commander. The inference is that John Bull intends, if possible, to acquire territorial rights in the Yangtze-Kiang valley, if he can do this without risking dangerous complications. If this is true, or is going to be true, of course the United States will have to have a "policy" about it. It is remembered that in a note to the Powers two years ago Secretary Hay made this definite statement in respect to the attitude of the United States toward China: "Our policy is to preserve Chinese territorial and administrative entity, protect all rights guaranteed to friendly powers by treaty and international law, and safeguard for the world the principle of equal and impartial trade with all parts of the Chinese Empire."

At the Gates of Night.

There are two gates that guard the Night—The one where shadows creep, And in hisbes come crooning low, Full-throated, soft and deep; Where twilight reaches forth her arms To all by Day oppressed, And bids them into happiness, Serene upon her breast. And from that gate, all dark and cool, The night road stretches far, By palaces of sweet content, Where many dreamings are; Where blind may see and dumb may speak, And sad ones laugh and sing; Where hungered ones may drink and eat, The pauper be a king.

All through the Night the good road goes, O'er valley, plain and steep; Along its sides, in grandeur, rise The citadels of sleep. And many things there be that soothe And comfort us and bless— But best of all the blossoms fair Of rich forgetfulness.

EARLY ROMAN PANTHEISM. Analysis of Roman funeral rites and of the archaic formulae therein preserved even as late as the republican epoch, and inquiry into the origin of the objects which formed the essence of early Roman home life, are beginning to open vaster horizons to our view, and to disclose the religious idea of the Italian folk who founded Rome. Their pantheism afforded them the consolation of regarding the departed spirits of their dead as vital energies reabsorbed by the Spirit Universal—a spirit all pervading and everywhere operative in natural phenomena and in the efforts of new generations to come to the birth. Lares, and, the gods propitious, summoned their parents to the evening meal; Roman brides placed a coin on the fire of the nuptial hearth; and Roman families laid aside their mourning whenever a child was born to the household. Much of the value of the recent work in the Forum consists in the light it throws on the inner nature of the great people who so long ruled the ancient world, and who in household, temple and burying ground had ever present a deep sense of the unbroken harmony and unity underlying the ceaseless transformation of the universal energy.—Giuseppe Boni in Harper's Magazine.

CAPTAIN JAMES H. WOODHOUSE PASSES AWAY.

In His Eighty-third Year—A Prominent Fair Haven Citizen for Many Years—Sketch of His Career—Other Notes.

Captain James H. Woodhouse died at his home, 27 Perkins street, yesterday noon in the 83d years of his age. He had been in feeble health for years but was confined to his home only since the first of the year. He was a native of Whettersfield, where two brothers and two sisters survive. He removed to Fair Haven about fifty years ago, and for thirty-five years had resided in the house in which he died, a fine residence which he built. Captain Woodhouse went to sea at the age of eighteen years and followed the water until about thirty years ago. He sailed for years in the foreign trade; also in the whaling business and later in large schooners in the coasting trade. In his early voyages he sailed entirely in the old time square-rigged craft and had commanded many a vessel. When he left the sea he built schooners in Fair Haven and on the Connecticut river and launched quite a fleet. One of the schooners bore his name. He has sailed around the world and been in many foreign ports. Captain Woodhouse had collected a great number of curios of the sea and of foreign ports. He built quite a number of houses in this city. Captain Woodhouse was fortunate in his vessels, which were particularly successful during the war of the rebellion. His wife, who was a Miss Bradley, died last September. He leaves a daughter, the wife of Dr. Frank H. Wheeler of this city. Captain Woodhouse was the oldest member of Hiram lodge. His son, James Woodhouse, died about five years ago. His father, Humphrey Woodhouse, like himself, was a sea captain. Mr. and Mrs. Woodhouse had been married more than fifty years. The funeral will be held on Wednesday at 2 p. m. The funeral of Mrs. Jane Perry of 77 Pierpont street took place Saturday at 2 p. m. The services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Sage, pastor of the First Baptist church, of which the deceased was a member. The burial was in the East Haven cemetery. The family were remarkable for their longevity. Mrs. Perry's father lived to be ninety-eight and her mother was ninety-nine years of age. She was one of twelve children, all of whom lived to be older than herself (eighty-six years and six months), one brother having reached the advanced age of 103 years.

The regular meeting of Quinnipiac Hook and Ladder company will be held at the engine house this evening. George C. Bradley, the milk dealer, has been confined to his home on Quinnipiac avenue for two months with grip and rheumatism. He is now able to get out a little.

At the East Pearl street M. E. church Sunday four members were received on probation and two by letter.

Large congregations attended religious services at the Grand avenue Baptist church Sunday morning and evening. At the communion service in the morning the pastor, Rev. E. W. Stone, gave the right hand of fellowship to one candidate. In the evening the right of baptism was administered to a man and his wife.

The Motherhood club met at Bushnell hall, Ferry street, yesterday afternoon. The address on "Home Occupation for Children" was by Mrs. F. K. Sanders. The estate of the late Herbert E. Van Name has sold the two-story frame dwelling on Sherman avenue at the foot of Maple street to James M. Woolson. The house was not yet completed when Mr. Van Name died at his home on East Pearl street.

Among the new houses to be erected this spring is a three story house on Perry street. It will have a store on the ground floor and tenements above. The cost of the new house will be about $5,000. The house is for Hugh L. Finnegan. The postoffice department has issued orders for an additional round trip of mail on the Fair Haven and Westville road between East Haven and Short Beach. The new service began yesterday. Provision is also made for an extra trip from East Haven to New Haven.

Harry B. Winters of Lombard street, the motorman who was badly injured in being struck by a car in front of the car house on Grand avenue last week is reported to be improving by his physician, Dr. C. H. Robbins. Winters suffered a concussion of the brain.

The funeral of Miss Anna L., daughter of Michael J. and Mary Grant, was held Sunday afternoon from the residence of her parents, 31 Shelter street, and later from St. Francis' church. The services were largely attended. Miss Grant, who was in the twenty-first year of her age, had a large circle of friends and her death has caused sorrow in many hearts. She leaves besides her parents, two brothers and a sister.

ENTERTAINMENTS. Hyperion Theater. ANDREW MACK AT HYPERION TO-NIGHT.

At the Hyperion to-night we are to have another delightful night with that very talented young comedian, Andrew Mack, who will be seen in a new play, which is also from the pen of Theodore Burt Sayre, who wrote the actor's famous "Tom Moore." In the new play Mr. Sayre has brought the players to this country and made Mr. Mack a United States hero, as well as the only Irishman in the cast. Andrew Mack is a noted actor. Crowded houses meet him at all times, which speaks volumes for the young player's ability. And then he signs, not that he cares to do so by any means, but the public knows he has a good voice and they intend to hear it whether he likes it or not; it's a way that audiences have about them, do ye mind! Well he has a voice that is simply hearing, high and pure as a bell. Note, he signs songs of his own composition in a manner that charms all listeners. And his company, many will doubtless remember the excellent company he brought with him last year, it was very frequently mentioned after he had gone. Well—the same company will be in his support the coming engagement with but a few exceptions. Among the many who will be remembered are Robert Payton Gibbs, Gies Shine, Richard J. Dillon, Edward Hixon, Hugh Cameron, Harry P. Stone, Thomas E. Jackson, Edward Alken, August Wilke, Johnny Cooke, Frankie Cooke, the Misses Frances Ring, Maud Beverly, Maggie Fielding, and Vivian Martin—names that will last in one's memory for the good work they have done in the past. Seats now on sale. Prices $1, 75c, 50c.

ROBSON ENGAGEMENT CANCELLED. Last evening Mr. Bunnell received news from D. V. Arthur, the manager, that owing to severe illness, Stuart Robson will not appear at the Hyperion on Wednesday night.

Denman Thompson and his always admirable "Old Homestead" will be at the Hyperion on Saturday next, matinee and night. Of this quaint, delightful old New England idyl nothing new can be written, any more than of some of the older classics, for the play is as fresh as ever though a New England one. It has no peer among American domestic dramas. It stands for what is good and wholesome, true and honest in New England life. Cy Prime and Seth Perkins, the two old "cronies," rivals in love, are impersonated this season, as usual, by Charles Carter and Charles H. Clarke, who evoke uproarious laughter and applause. Mrs. Louisa Morse, who next to Denman Thompson himself is the oldest member of the company, is still in the role of the aged spinster Aunt Matilda, and all the others, including Frank Knapp, Fred Clark, Gus Kemmerlee, Annie Thompson and Ethel Ormonde, are said to be excellent. The singing of the double quartette is promised to be a very attractive feature of the performance. Seats on sale Thursday. Prices $1, 75c, 50c.

Southern plays always seem to meet with popular favor here in the north and there is a manifest interest in everything where southern life is portrayed. This is especially so in that most excellent and stirring drama, "At Piney Ridge," from the pens of David Higgins and Georgia Waldron. It has met with popular favor since its introduction and the presentation in this city last season, such a favorable and lasting impression on the minds of New Haveners that they crowded the Grand opera house to its capacity last night.

"At Piney Ridge" presents a story of human interest, with the serious side mingled with a most acceptable and wholesome vein of humor. There is a thrilling and touching love story interwoven and the whole piece is exceptionally good.

Mr. Higgins and his talented wife are making a short tour this spring and they appeared in the principal characters last night.

The frequent outbursts of vociferous applause and other demonstrations of enthusiasm gave convincing evidence of the genuineness of its reception. At "Piney Ridge" will be repeated to-night and to-morrow night, with Wednesday matinee.

"Why Women Sin," the latest successful melodrama of New York society life, which plays at the Grand opera house on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, is a tale which is soul stirring in its pathos, intensely dramatic in its tragic incidents and side-splitting in its comedy and situations. The portrayal of the various characters, the realistic and most magnificent scenic effects, the startling and sensational climaxes that delight and thrill must be seen, the most illustrious pen being unable to give a fair description of this stirring and luxuriously equipped production. The cast is superior and of the interest of the audience is heightened by the rise until the fall of the curtain. Matinee Saturday.

Harry Clay Blaney, the popular little comedian, who has made a big hit in the role of "Willie Live," the war correspondent in "Across the Pacific," is to play a three days' engagement at the Grand opera house commencing Monday, March 3, with matinee Wednesday. It is said that Mr. Blaney is supported by a better company this season than he has ever had before.

With George Neville presenting the fresh farcelet, "A Cold Deal," the show at Poli's scored an immediate hit last night.

This comedy is a laughable affair and had the audience in roars. The funniest idea is a novel one and the fellow who is given the cold deal does not seem to enjoy it.

A novelty musical turn is that of the Karsys, with their giant myriophone, a huge instrument giving forth excellent tones. Their wonderful instrument was invented and patented by Mr. Karsy and is the only one presented to the public.

The Karsys play other instruments in a most skillful manner.

The three Nevaroes with acrobatic and barrel jumping feats are wonderful performers. The young fellows are clever and the young lady is very pretty.

Gavin and Platt have an elaborate stage setting of a gypsy camp, and both are clever vaudevillians with a good sketch, "The Stolen Kid." C. W. Littlefield with his imitations is a crack-a-jack.

Ferguson and Mack with an uproarious offering, "The Dimple Sisters," are of the fast and furious fun makers.

Anna Cullen, the dainty comedienne, with some good songs and a charming appearance scored.

James Cullen with some good talk and hits of a local nature made good.

The vitagraph closes with good views.

The Sufferers From Colds are numbered by Millions, not including those whose annoyance by association amounts almost to suffering.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

of the bridge. At each end of the bridge this structure would have to be practically a solid one from the foundation to the roadway, and would be probably a little over sixty feet.

The expense as nearly as can be estimated at the present time will be $250,000 or over, and about double what the expense would be if a drawbridge were ordered.

I am informed that about nine years ago the town of Orange voted in favor of a permanent bridge, the idea being as I suppose, that a bridge would be erected which would be but little higher than the one now in use. That would be the least expensive of any bridge which could be ordered.

Nothing has been done during the term of the present city administration until the recent notice came from the secretary of war of intention to change the order from a drawbridge to one for a permanent structure.

I have been notified that damages to the amount of $40,000 at least will be claimed on the New Haven side of West river, and one of the officials of the borough of West Haven informs me that $40,000 in damages will probably be claimed on their side.

A meeting of the warden and burgesses of that town will be called for Tuesday evening to consider this matter.

If a permanent structure is ordered for the height named the cost of maintenance, including interest on bonds, will be about $3,000 more per annum for Orange and New Haven than if the drawbridge is ordered placed there.

The persons who own property along West river have an interest in its unobstructed navigation for obvious reasons. The street railway company is interested in having a permanent structure because of the frequency of its car traffic, stoppage of cars and the increased danger to their business by having a drawbridge to cross.

It seems to me that the people who have to pay for the bridge also have an interest, and that the rights of all should be taken into consideration, and some reasonable plan adopted which will give the greatest benefit and the least damage to all.

From such information as I am able to get I am inclined to think that the honorable secretary of war may not order the bridge of the height recommended by the engineer, namely 23 feet above high water; but I am unable to get any reliable information thereof. I do not dare assume that he will do so.

I therefore regard it as my duty to call the attention of your honorable board to the situation for your advice in the premises.

I would recommend that your honorable board by unanimous consent pass a resolution requesting the honorable secretary of war, in view of the situation, to make his order in the alternative, leaving it to the city of New Haven and the town of Orange to decide by agreement among themselves whether the structure shall be a permanent one or a draw bridge. I would urge immediate action because I understand that the honorable secretary is liable to dispose of the matter at any time after March 4.

Respectfully submitted, JOHN P. STUDLEY, Mayor.

Unanimous consent was refused on the acceptance of this communication. An aye and nay vote was then taken on the question which stood 12 to 8 against its acceptance. As this was less than a two-thirds vote of the body the communication of the mayor was accepted.

The following offer was then received and by vote accepted, it being left to the registrars of voters to designate in what wards they should be used.

To the Honorable Mayor and Court of Common Council of the City of New Haven, Conn.: Gentlemen—This company hereby offers to lease to your city a sufficient number of United States Standard voting machines to equip two wards in the city of New Haven for the city election of April next at $50 rental for each machine, and transportation charges from Jamestown and return, and necessary expenses.

We make this offer with the expectation that a trial of this method of voting will be the method of your citizens against its acceptance. As this is less than a two-thirds vote of the body the communication of the mayor was accepted.

Should the city adopt and contract to purchase these voting machines before July 1, 1903, the amount paid for rental can apply upon the purchase price.

Very truly yours, United States Standard Voting Machine Company, Treasurer.

Alderman Minor then asked what funds were left for the opening of new streets, and Chairman Freeman, of that committee, stated that when the $3,000 appropriation for the opening of Second street had been paid there would be about sixty cents left, which could be expended on the extension of Pearl street, if it was so voted to extend.

The report of the committee on both houses was then read and tabled for printing. The committee stated that, after a careful consideration of all the available places in the Fifth, Sixth and Seventh wards, it had found a suitable location on St. John street, 45x100 feet, which could be bought for $50 a foot, or the entire ground for $1,400.

The report of the special committee on street railway investigation was read and tabled for printing. The report was lengthy, and the most important passages follow:

To the Honorable Board of Aldermen of the City of New Haven: Your special committee appointed to investigate street railway fares and service in other cities and consider the question of reduced fares for New Haven, report as follows:

A public hearing was held in order to give all citizens an opportunity to be heard and a few availed themselves of it.

In regard to the fares charged in other cities, your committee finds that there has been an agitation in many cities for a reduction of fares, and that a number of concessions have been obtained by the threat of competition.

In the city of Detroit one line gives eight tickets for twenty-five cents with transfers over its single fare. Five cents is charged for a single fare, and this entitles the passenger to transfers on the other lines. Between 5:15 and 7 a. m. and 5:15 and 6:15 p. m. eight tickets for twenty-five cents are used on the other lines.

the actual capital invested, and the experience of other cities shows that when franchisees are open to competition four and three-cent fares are offered.

The chairman of your committee went to Cleveland, O., to discuss this question with the Hon. Tom L. Johnson, who is the conspicuous authority on street railroads. Mr. Johnson was asked whether it was probable that capital could be obtained to give three-cent fares in New Haven if a franchise for a new company could be obtained. He replied that his offer to the city of Cleveland might be cited as an example of what might easily be obtained for New Haven.

It has been shown, where reductions in fares have been made, that the increased traffic offsets the loss through reduction, and we believe that it would be practicable and profitable for the New Haven line to give a four-cent fare. If this cannot be secured, we favor the acquisition of the street railway lines by the city, believing that either under municipal operation or by leasing the lines under careful restrictions, a three-cent fare could be obtained.

In addition to the above various appendices were filed giving additional details as to the Detroit three cent fares, price of tickets in Montreal, the contest in Columbus, O., and a tabulation of the earnings, expenses, etc., of the Fair Haven & Westville railroad in illustration of the theory presented that a four cent fare would be adequate for dividends.

Alderman McGuinness then made a motion that when the board adjourned it should adjourn for two weeks from last evening. This was carried.

The majority and minority reports of the committee on ordinances in reference to the licensing of stationary engineers were then read. This matter has been delayed for some time, and there were a large number of people present last evening who were interested in its adoption.

The majority report was opposed to the appointment of a licensing committee, but favored the appointment of an inspector whose duties should be the inspection of the engineers and seeing that they were competent men, while the minority report favored the petition.

Alderman Dawson moved the adoption of the minority report, and Alderman Strong amended the vote for the adoption of the majority report. The amendment was lost by a vote of 15 to 6, and the minority report was then accepted by the same vote. The ordinance was then declared carried.

Assistant Clerk Martin then started to read a communication in reference to some new ordinances to regulate carriage rates and the licensing of drivers. It was in reference to restricting the city and enlarging the distance one can ride for fifty cents. He was interrupted in his reading by a motion to adjourn, which was carried.

AN OPEN LETTER

To Director of Public Works James B. Coe.

New Haven, Conn., March 2, 1903. James B. Coe, Esq., Director of Public Works:

Sir—At the hour of 11 o'clock—exact time on Saturday forenoon, February 28, 1903, an incident in which many suffering persons were interested took place at the Chapel street bridge, over Mill river, to which your attention as a superior official—in rank—and having authority over the many city bridges and highways, is respectfully and earnestly called.

The draw at the hour previously mentioned was opened for a steam tug and a coal barge making a small-like progress. After these small craft had eventually succeeded in getting below the Yale boat-house the draw was still kept open, placing a blockade on the trolley service, and an everything having occasion to cross this much-used bridge, in anticipation of some brick scow or other vessel from Barnesville bridge or the English wharf that might in the course of time want to go through to the harbor below.

Apparently the management was too lazy or indifferent to manipulate the draw in a correct manner and relieve the congestion which was accumulating every moment. The cold February rain was falling in sheets and torrents, to the great discomfort of many pedestrians and others. There were at least fifty horses, on the east and west sides, that for nearly an hour were kept painfully and cruelly shivering in a wintry and merciless-pelting storm. The necessity for this wrong and cruelty did not exist, and was not in evidence.

Please be so kind as to thoroughly investigate, and take notice of the above statement of facts. Yours truly, C. W. BRADLEY.

WINTER CARE OF TACKLE.

"It is a source of great surprise to me," said a veteran angler, "to find that some men have any tackle at all left over from the preceding year, when I see the careless way in which they treat it. Rods are dumped hastily into some garret corner, often dry and hot enough to warp a telegraph pole. Lines still wet from the last day's fishing are tossed into an envelope to mildew or are left to run on the reels. The reels themselves, put away damp, uncleaned and without oil, are, of course, bound to rust and give poor service the following season. Hooks are tumbled in with the damp line, the steel to corrode, the gut to dry and crack and split. When the unfortunate, who thus leaves things to care for themselves, loses a big fish on the opening day of the next year's sport by the sudden parting of a rotten line, he breaks into a torrent of abuse directed against the innocent tackle maker, and goes straight to some shop to buy a complete new outfit, deploring that last year's stuff is never good any way.

"Now, all of this can be, and should be, avoided. An hour or so of care at the end of the season will insure the preservation of rod, hooks and lines. Every rod joint should be carefully straightened before it is put up for the winter. The tips, especially, are bound to be more or less set from the constant downward strain. The remedy for this is to lay them on a flat board and tack leather strips across, holding them down to the plane surface. By keeping them damp a few days you can readily warp them into proper shape. Next give a good rubbing down with a mixture of powdered pumice and sweet oil to take off the cracked and broken surface of the old varnish, and then two thorough coats of thin varnish, allowing plenty of time for the first coat to dry before applying the second. You must always look to see that the guides and whipping are complete and in good order, and repair any frayed or loose ones before putting on the preservative. This dressing fills all the pores of the wood and shuts out all decay. Then lay the rods and their cases on a shelf in some room of moderate temperature. Stand them against a wall in a bad practice, as it tends to bend and set the wood.

"Reels must be carefully taken apart, cleaned of all rust and grit, and oiled. Lines should be removed from the reels, first wiped off with a damp cloth, and when dry with an oiled one, and then wound on a flat bit of board. Hooks should always be dipped in oil before being stored away, and grease will also keep the gut smells moist and pliable.

"Artificial flies require more care than all the rest of the outfit put together. A whole army of buffalo bugs, moths and slaters are on the lookout for the soft feathers and silks. Take every one out of the hook, and after laying in the sun for a few hours to kill any chance germs or eggs, wrap in camphorated paper or in plain tissue paper and sift thoroughly with powdered camphor gum. Then pack them away in a red cedar chest if you have or can procure one, and no prowling vermin will destroy that outfit.

A CROWDED HOUSE AT THE HIRSH STORES.

All day yesterday and until late in the evening the spacious Hirsh stores were crowded by a good natured throng of people who knew well what they had gathered there for and knew equally well that they would find just what they were in search of. As is very generally known the fifth subscription wholesale tailoring event was "on" yesterday at the Hirsh stores, and the people from far and near testified their appreciation of that fact by visiting that famous clothing house and availing themselves of the extraordinary advantages offered during a few days of the present week. To-day there will without doubt be another large crowd there, and the same conditions will continue up to the closing of the sale. It is no exaggeration to say that the Hirsh brothers have revolutionized the clothing business in this city. Their enterprise, business sagacity and liberal dealings with the public have made their name and fame "household words." The public believe their words knowing that their words and their deeds correspond.

DANCE TO-NIGHT.

For Congregation B'nai Scholom's Benefit.

An informal dance will be given this evening in Harmonie hall for the benefit of the Congregation B'nai Scholom under the auspices of the ladies' society of that synagogue.

It is expected there will be a large attendance.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE IN WALLINGFORD.

Wallingford, March 2.—Robert King, aged twenty-five years, attempted suicide by shooting this afternoon. Physicians attending him state that his recovery is doubtful. King was employed at R. Wallace & Sons' factory and for the past few months has been acting strangely.

REQUISITION GRANTED.

Governor Chamberlain yesterday granted a requisition by the governor of New Jersey for the custody of Walter S. Miller, who was delivered into the custody of Mr. Cherry, a New Jersey officer. Miller is wanted in that state for forgery, and is now in jail in this city.

Brief Mention.

High water to-day, 1:16 p. m. Alfred W. Converse has been commissioned postmaster at Windsor Locks, and John L. Elliott at Clinton. Wilbur W. Smith has been confirmed as postmaster of Seymour. Bishop Wells of Spokane is expected to address the monthly meeting of the Woman's Church Missionary association to-day at 3 p. m. in Trinity parish building, Temple street. The state board of health will hold a special meeting this evening in this city for the purpose of discussing matters concerning health legislation submitted at this session of the general assembly. Mrs. Lester of Wooster street entertained the members of her whist club at her residence last Friday afternoon. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Russell of Quinnipiac avenue next week Friday. Mrs. Frank R. Luckey will entertain the Thimble club of the Humphrey street Congregational church at her residence corner Humphrey and Orange streets to-morrow afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock.

THE ALTAR OF FRIENDSHIP.

Its Delightful Presentation at the Hyperion Last Evening. Last evening witnessed the initial performance here of one of the most enjoyable plays produced this season. That intangible pair, N. C. Goodwin and Maxine Elliott, were the stellar attractions. It would seem almost superfluous to enlarge on the so well-known capabilities of these world-popular artists. "The Altar of Friendship" is a comedy written by Madeleine Lucette Ryley, the author of that other Goodwinian success, "An American Citizen." The Goodwins have done well to return to the field of their original success, which is essentially comedy, where poignant humor, keen and delicate, bolts full away. In this play Mr. Goodwin has an excellent medium for the whimsicalities of his wit. Mr. Goodwin's acting is too well known to need further lauding. Suffice to say his interpretation, always tending to the essence of things, was perfect. His humor, so naive, natural and appealing, plays back with all the art of the perfect actor to the more sober aspect of the play. His work is the lightning skill of the fencer—keen, flashing, clear-cut. There are but too few facets to the average American actor. Goodwin spells very near perfection in comedy. The work of Miss Maxine Elliott, always most pleasing, proclaimed her one of the most perfect and finished comedienne of the stage. Her discrimination is most excellent, her presence charming. The story of the play is a happy one. Mr. Goodwin plays the part of the young fellow with the generous, open-hearted, happy-go-lucky disposition which is so thoroughly his own by birthright. The character is that of one burdened with the misdeeds of another, but who in the end, through the essence of his own sterling worth and character, emerges clean and free from all stigma. While in this turmoil of unjust suspicion he enters into a mock engagement with a young American girl. Both he and the young woman, Sally Sartoris (Miss Elliott), realize that the mock betrothal so thoughtlessly entered into has become to them of a dangerous sweetness. She determines to break it off, but in the end learns of the sacrifice Arbuthnot (Mr. Goodwin) has made to save the honor of his sister's husband. There is an explanation of all that ends happily. It is in the little love scenes that the Goodwins appear at extremely good advantage. The audience was one of the largest and most representative of the season.

There is one rational way to treat nasal catarrh: the medicine is applied direct to the affected membrane. The remedy is Ely's Cream Balm. It restores the inflamed tissues to a healthy state without drying all the life out of them and it gives back the lost senses of taste and smell. The sufferer who is tired of vain experiments should use Cream Balm. Druggists sell it for 50 cts. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York, will mail it.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

ITEMS OF INTEREST CONCERNING NEW HAVEN PEOPLE

And Other People Known in This City

—Local Social Events Here and Elsewhere.

Lawyer Charles E. Graves of this city, treasurer of Trinity college, Hartford, will leave with his wife this week for a month's stay in Florida. The time will be spent principally at St. Augustine, Miami, Palm Beach and on a journey on the Indian River. They will be away about a month. F. S. Chapman, Yale '04, who was recently appointed to an important position as engineer of dredging and marine surveys in the Philippines, has just left his home in Saybrook for that place. He called on friends in this city on his way to New York. He will sail from San Francisco on one of the steamers of the Japanese line. He will remain in the Philippines for several years. The Holy Name society, which was organized in St. Patrick's parish Sunday afternoon, starts off with a membership of 250. The following officers were elected: President, William J. Cronin; vice president, John J. McMahon; secretary, James Devine; treasurer, John J. Hogan; chaplain, Rev. John Russell. The New Haven Musical Protective association has unanimously elected Louis Felsburg and Frank Fichtl delegates to the international convention of the American Federation of Musicians, to be held at Indianapolis in the late spring. Mr. Felsburg is president of the local union and Mr. Fichtl, treasurer.

Mrs. H. E. Lyon of Prospect place, who has been seriously ill in Florida, is slowly recovering at Orlando, that state. The many friends of Mrs. John Reilly of Main street, Branford, will be sorry to learn that she is in a very weak condition and a trained nurse has again been called in to care for her. Yesterday afternoon Dr. Cheney of this city was called in consultation with Dr. Gaylord. The Pequot council will give a whist for the Pequot club members at the home of Mrs. Ell Mix in George street, Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. James Galligan of Stamford and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Regan of Meriden were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Regan of East Main street, Branford. To-morrow evening the first of a series of Lenten song cycles, arranged by Madame Tealdi, will be held in her studio. H. G. Perkins and family of this city have occupied the lower tenement in Dr. Tenney's house on Laurel street, Branford. Mrs. Perkins and children, who have been visiting in Nova Scotia, arrived here Saturday. John Hays Hammond of South Africa came to this city yesterday afternoon and met President Hadley of Yale. Mr. Hammond's stay in this city was a very brief one. He arrived on the noon train from New York and left early in the afternoon. D. F. Kelly, C. F. Brennan and J. F. McNamara, the committee of the Knights of St. Patrick to arrange the annual St. Patrick's day, have not as yet decided upon the list of speakers who are to respond to the toasts. George Frisbie entertained the Entre Nous Whist club at his home on Orchard street, West Haven, last evening. To-morrow morning Miss Rebecca D. Beach will begin her series of lectures on the civil service reform in room 1, 139 Orange street. The subjects of these talks are as follows: March 4, "Introductory and Historical, from the Adoption of the Constitution to the Annexation of Texas"; March 11, "Slavery and Legislation After the Civil War"; March 18, "Progress Under Difficulties at Home and in Great Britain"; March 25, "Resume—Practical Aspects of Civil Service Reform: What Women Can Do."

Among the recent guests in town was William Farrell of Chicago, who spent several days with his mother at Branford Point. Mr. Farrell came east in the interest of the manufacturing firm with which he is identified. The Holy Name society of St. Mary's church, Branford, will attend vespers in a body and will be addressed by their organizer, Father Thuente, of St. Mary's church, this city, next Sunday evening. Miss Elizabeth Bird of Chastnut street, Branford, is reported as being quite ill, but latest news is more encouraging. Harriet J. Mansfield, widow of Benjamin F. Mansfield of New Haven, has sold an undivided two-fifths interest in a lot containing about one acre, with buildings, at Short Beach, to Harriet E., wife of Thomas J. Beers. The property is bounded by lands of Henry Lanphier, Samuel Foote, Nancy E. Linsley and George W. Lanphier. Myron Ailing of Pawtucket, R. I., spent Sunday with his family at the home on First avenue, West Haven. Ray Welford, who has been visiting his parents on Center street, West Haven, left yesterday morning for Philadelphia, where he is attending the dental college. Attorney Samuel E. Hoyt is to become associated with Attorneys York and Wolf and will hereafter occupy offices with them in the First National Bank building. Mr. Hoyt will be associated with Mr. York as the representative of the American Surety company in this city. The Misses Katherine and Josephine Collins of Chapel street have just returned from a ten days' visit to New York. While there they purchased some very choice real estate at Borough park, Brooklyn, N. Y., the property of J. B. Cannon of 27 Broadway, N. Y. The Misses Collins' property adjoins that of Senator Reynolds of New York. The Charles Babcock place on Hine street, West Haven, has been purchased by R. S. Baldwin of Derby, who will remove to the borough with his family about May 1. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bostwick start to-day for California. They will go via southern route and return by northern route. They will make short stops at principal cities and points of interest, returning home about May 1.

EXTRA SESSION OF SENATE

PRESIDENT ISSUED PROCLAMATION YESTERDAY.

Called to Meet on March 5—Public Interests, He Says, Require This Action.

Washington, March 2.—The president issued the following proclamation to-day: "By the President of the United States of America. "A Proclamation." "Whereas, public interests require that the senate should convene in extraordinary session; therefore, I, Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim and declare that an extraordinary occasion requires the senate of the United States to convene at the capitol in the city of Washington on the fifth day of March next at 12 o'clock noon, of which all persons who shall at that time be entitled to act as members of that body are hereby required to take notice. "Given under my hand and the seal of the United States at Washington on the 2d day of March in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and three and of the Independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-seventh.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT. "By the President, "JOHN HAY," "Secretary of State." An effort was made to-day to secure an agreement to vote on the Aldrich bill, but several democratic senators refused to consider the proposition and it was stated by some members of the minority that there would be sufficient debate on the measure to prevent a vote during this session. Immediately upon convening to-day the senate, on motion of Mr. Hale, took up the general deficiency bill. RESULT OF COURT MARTIAL. Three Privates of Waterbury Company Discharged. In orders issued by the adjutant general yesterday Private William J. Mulvey and Lester J. Traver of Company A, Second Infantry, C. N. G., are discharged for the benefit of the service. Private James Horan, Company A, Second Infantry, is discharged dishonorably from the military service of this state in accordance with sentence of field officers' court martial of February 1903. ELECTION OF W. P. CURTISS. To Begin Duties With New Haven Trust Company on April 1. A meeting of the trustees of the New Haven Trust company was held at noon yesterday and W. Perry Curtiss was made a trustee and elected to the offices of vice president and treasurer. Mr. Curtiss has been connected with the Trademans National bank for the last sixteen years. He will assume the duties of his new offices with the Trust company on April 1. IN NORTH HAVEN TO-NIGHT. Programme for the Grange Meeting. The programme for the grange this evening, March 3, is as follows: Papers, "The Best Breed of Poultry and Why I Think So," F. B. Munson; "My Method of Caring for Chickens," Mrs. H. Blakeslee; "Which is More Profitable, Cows or Poultry?" C. H. Thorne; recitations, C. H. Morse; "John Jumper, Old Gray and the Incubator," Susie Jacobs; readings, Mrs. A. B. Brockett; George Blakeslee; cornet solo, G. A. Sherman; piano solo, Mrs. E. Spencer; Egg and chicken sandwiches, with coffee. Professor Stoneburn of Storrs Agricultural college, manager of the poultry department, will be present and address the grange. READ IT THROUGH. 'Twould spoil This Story to Tell It in the Headlines. To use an eighteenth century phrase, this is an "or true tale." Having happened in a small Virginia town in the winter of 1902, it is a story very much of the present. Up to a short time ago Mrs. John E. Harmon of Meigs Station, Va., had no personal knowledge of the rare curative properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. "Last January," she says, "my baby took a dreadful cold and at one time I feared she would have pneumonia, but one of my neighbors told me how this remedy had cured her little boy and I began giving it to my baby at once and it soon cured her. I heartily thank the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for placing so great a cure within my reach. I cannot recommend it too highly or say too much in its favor. I hope all who read this will try it and be convinced as I was." For sale by all druggists. If it's a bilious attack, take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and a quick recovery is certain. For sale by all druggists.

THE GOUNOD SOCIETY. The quartet selected by the musical committee of the Gounod society has aroused comment in musical circles and in the journals of Boston and New York. These centers could offer no greater attraction, for a superb rendition of St. Paul, than the advertised programme. The 250 voices of the Gounodists under Mr. Agramonte, the Boston festival orchestra, and the selected quartet of soloists ought indeed to arouse enthusiasm. Even the least musical seem to show curiosity this season as to the result. Miss Anita Rio, the soprano for St. Paul, is the heroine of an amusing fight at the present moment between two large city churches. The Brooklyn Washington avenue Baptist church allowed Miss Rio to name her own salary after an hour of intense enthusiasm on hearing this thrilling soprano. Miss Rio signed for $1,500 for a year. "She could have commanded any salary within reason," the committee declared after securing their star. Then the West End Collegiate church bounded up in fighting trim. They had selected also Miss Rio. The discussions for settlement will reach the courts. Meantime the Gounodists are pleased that this sought after singer is to be heard here at the best possible advantage. Mrs. Ruth T. Burnham, the contralto, has no rival in the concert field that her managers even consider as dangerous. Her voice, full cultivated and essentially a feminine contralto, without "mannish" qualities, is a wonderful pleasure to hear. Ellison Van Hoose, tenor, and Dr. Carl Dufft, bass, complete the quartet. Both these male voices are dramatic, intense and finely cultivated. From every indication a full house will add to the brilliancy of the annual oratory concert of the Gounod society and inspire singers and orchestra to the best possible work. The sale of tickets at the Hyperion will begin as follows: To guarantors, Monday, March 16, at 9 a. m.; to members of church and purchasers of the advance vouchers, Monday, March 16, at noon; general public Tuesday, March 17, at 9 a. m. "Clara," said my aunt to her little daughter, who had been spending the day with a little neighbor, "were you a good girl during your visit to-day?" "I don't know, mamma; I just had so much fun that I forgot to pay any attention to myself," replied Clara.—The Little Chronicle.

MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS for Children. Mother Gray, for years a nurse in the Children's Home in New York, treated children successfully with a remedy now prepared and placed in the drug stores, called Mother Gray's Sweet Powders for Children. They are harmless as milk, pleasant to take and never fail. A certain cure for colic, indigestion, head-aches, teething and stomach disorders and remove worms. At all druggists, 25c. Don't accept any substitute. Sample sent FREE. Address: Alfred S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Fifty-first Anniversary Sale

A Typical Malley Demonstration and Planned to be the Most Important Bargain Event of the Year.

Take a look at the facts— Here's practically a whole storefull of goods, with a large per centage of new Spring things, opened up to you at bargain prices right at the beginning of the busiest buying time of the year. That's a "Malleyism", and in such Malleyisms you must be satisfied with results—not reasons. However, there is this explanation of the affair to give; A year ago we opened our "Half Century" Sale. It gave us a March business nearly double the normal figures. This year we are confronted with those big figures in our daily comparisons, and they must be equalled or beaten. That is why we have ransacked the markets for the best and prettiest things—things that will force the dollars from you. That is why we have tried to forget such a thing as profit in so many cases. That is why do such astonishing and apparently unreasonable things as giving you prices on Spring shirt waists and garments that you might expect in October, and prices on other things that would surprise you at any season. We are after volume of business and the satisfaction of beating our own figures. The list of specials is so long and good that we shall call this "The Month of a Thousand Bargains". We printed the beginning of the list on Sunday. Here's a summary of it, and additions will be made daily. The whole store is alive with new merchandise that you want at prices you have never seen in March before. Forty colors in 85c Taffeta silk, at 60c. All Spring colors in $1. Gloves, at 70c. 29c Mousseline Taffeta Ribbon, at 16c. Warner's $1. Corsets 65c. New Spring Silk Waists, $5. ones at $4. 35c Bleached Table Damask, at 24c. 60c Bleached Table Damask, at 49c. $1.59 Cream Damask Napkins at $1.25. Regular $3.50 Dinner Napkins at $3. 45-inch Voiles, new Spring goods, regularly 75c to 85c a yard, for 50c. Oxford Gray Walking Skirts, new Spring goods, regularly $5., for $3. New White Petticoats regularly $1., at 50c. Nottingham Curtains, regularly $1.65 to $3.50 a pair, 99c to $2.49. Tapestry Curtains, reduced one-third from regular prices. And 25 other offers as good;—More Coming Every Day.
