

RUSSIA ISSUES A STATEMENT

MINIMIZES IMPORTANCE OF THE MANCHURIAN DEMANDS.

Denies Some of the Points—Characterizes Several as False—Nothing Directed in Any Manner Against the Interests of Other Powers—China's Refusal to Accede to Demands.

St. Petersburg, April 27.—The Russian foreign office, when shown the Peking dispatch of April 23 setting forth the eight demands made by Russia on China regarding Manchuria, entered a denial of a number of the points and minimized the importance of others.

Commenting on each point separately, the foreign office says:

- "First—Absolutely false. Not our affair.
"Second—Depends upon China. Not mentioned in our papers.
"Third—False.
"Fourth—Unimportant.
"Fifth—Such is the present arrangement.

"Sixth—Extremely important, since an English vessel in 1902 introduced the plague.

"Seventh—False.
"Eight—The integrity of China is already adopted into the Russian programme. No need to discuss that now.

Regarding the whole negotiations which have been dragging on since January the foreign office says:

"There is nothing directed in any manner against the interests of the other powers or their commerce; others enjoy the same rights of commerce in the interior as we. Of the towns not opened to trade the railroad will carry Russian and foreign goods alike through the country, but we or they cannot sell them in the unopened towns. If the towns are opened all will benefit alike. It is in the railroad's interests to demand the widest possible developments of trade. The four parcels concern multifarious and distinct questions which were not foreseen when the evacuation was decided upon."

As cabled from Peking April 23, the Russian demands were as follows:

- First—No more Manchurian ports or towns are to be opened.
Second—No more foreign consuls are to be admitted into Manchuria.
Third—No foreigners, except Russians, are to be employed in the public service of Manchuria.
Fourth—The present status of the administration of Manchuria is to remain unchanged.
Fifth—The customs receipts at the port of Newchwang are to be given to the Russo-Chinese bank.
Sixth—A sanitary commission is to be organized under Russian control.
Seventh—Russia is entitled to attach the telegraph wires and poles of all Chinese lines in Manchuria.
Eighth—No territory in Manchuria is to be alienated to any other power.

CHINA'S REFUSAL.

Official Announcement—American Minister Makes Representations.

London, April 27.—It is officially announced here that the Chinese government has sent to the Russian government at St. Petersburg a formal refusal to grant the latter's demands in regard to conditions to be fulfilled preparatory to the evacuation of Manchuria.

Peking, April 27.—Minister Conger has sent a note to Prince Ching, the grand secretary, protesting against two features of Russia's proposed Manchurian agreement, which are considered particularly antagonistic to American interests.

The note objects to China's promising not to open more towns to foreign trade, because negotiations are progressing in connection with the American commercial treaty, for the opening of Mukden and Taku Shan; and it objects to promising that the foreign employees in China shall only be Russians.

The United States withholds expression regarding the other demands, but is prepared to insist on her treaty rights if infractions occur.

Satisfaction at Washington.

Washington, April 27.—Considerable interest was shown here to-night in the Associated Press dispatch from St. Petersburg giving a categorical answer by the Russian foreign office to inquiries regarding the eight demands which are said to have been made on China in connection with Manchuria. It was regarded as of great importance, and, if borne out by subsequent information through diplomatic channels, will give general satisfaction and meet, in a large degree, the desires of our government.

CLARKSON A PROFESSIONAL?

Surprising Report Concerning Standing of Harvard's Great Pitcher.

A press dispatch says it is rumored at Yale that Clarkson, the Harvard pitcher, is a professional. It is said that he played for a cash prize as a member of the Newbury club in May, 1899, when that club played in Malden, Mass., at the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary celebration of the founding of Malden. It is thought that Yale will not take any steps to call Harvard's attention to this situation, depending entirely on the fairness of the Harvard ball team managers.

At Yale, last evening, Captain Winslow of the Yale team could not be found. Manager Willis was also out. Two members of the Yale varsity team were seen in regard to the report. They expressed surprise at the contents of the dispatch, but gave it as their opinion that Yale would leave the matter wholly in the hands of the Harvard athletic authorities.

CHARLES A. McALPINE DEAD.

Superintendent of the Providence Division of the Consolidated.

Boston, April 27.—Charles A. McAlpine, superintendent of the Providence division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, died at his home in Hyde Park to-night from cancer of the stomach. He went south four weeks ago and there learned that he was incurably ill, returning home last Monday. He failed last week, although previously he had not appeared ill. He was a native of Concord, N. H., and began railroad work in 1870 at the age of twenty-two, on the Boston, Clinton and Fitchburg road. He worked at nearly every position in railroad work until in 1891 he was promoted to be superintendent of what is now the Providence division of the New Haven road. He leaves a widow, three daughters and a son who is studying for the ministry at Rochester, N. Y.

TROLLEY CAR'S FREAK.

Plunges Down Bank to Brink of the Housatonic.

Pittsfield, Mass., April 27.—Four passengers and a conductor of a trolley car of the Pittsfield street railway had a miraculous escape from death to-day, when the car, after jumping the track and plunging down the bank of the Housatonic river, stopped on the brink of the stream with the forward end in the water. The motorman jumped just before the car went down and landed on the bank. Mrs. Charles Clark, one of the passengers, had her four-year-old child, which she heroically held above her head as the car plunged down a scratch. The child escaped without a scratch.

RED CROSS SOCIETY SCANDAL.

THE SUSPENDED MEMBERS ISSUE A STATEMENT.

Deny Walter F. Phillips' Legal Power or Authority to Oust Them—Francis Atwater Accused of Sending Out a Misleading Circular to the Members—New Bylaws Rashed Through.

Washington, April 27.—The twenty-three suspended members of the National Red Cross society have issued to the public a statement showing the legal status, as they view it, of the executive committee of the society, which suspended them. In addition the meeting appointed a special committee consisting of Simon Wolf, former secretary of the Navy; Hilary A. Herbert, Miss Mabel T. Boardman, Mrs. Ellen Foster and B. H. Warner to collate all the facts at their command to show the "abuses that have been practiced by the old management and the unbusiness-like manner in which the finances have been collected and disbursed."

Another statement embodying the results of this special committee's work will be made public later.

To-day's statement begins by announcing that the following letter has been sent to Walter F. Phillips:

"Sir: The undersigned members of the American National Red Cross, in answer to your notification of their suspension deny your legal power or authority to suspend them.

"Your respectfully,"

The letter, as well as the general public statement, which is quite elaborate, is signed by the twenty-three suspended members as follows: John M. Wilson, Mabel T. Boardman, Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, Mrs. Sara A. Spencer, Bessie J. Kibbey, A. C. Coffman, Simon Wolf, B. H. Warner, N. L. Tanner, Mrs. Henrietta N. Rose, Thomas P. Walsh, Annie L. Wolf, Hetty Harrison, William H. Michael, Anna R. Cowles, Ellen Spencer Hussey, Elizabeth T. Pierce, Mary B. Hazue, F. M. Ramsay, W. K. Van Reppen, John F. Foster, H. A. Herbert, and Harriet Blaine Beale.

The statement then takes up the circular sent out by Francis Atwater, representing Miss Barton in October, 1902, asking for proxies because the latter was desirous of having "some slight changes" made in the by-laws and declares that his letter was misleading and that the changes made at the December meeting following were radical and revolutionary."

It is asserted that "the new by-laws" were rushed through without opportunity for explanation.

FAST WORK ON THE SHAMROCK.

Lipton's Boat Will Resume Trial Spins Next Week.

London, April 27.—Sir Thomas Lipton expects to have Shamrock III refitted next week, and a resumption of the prize races between the cup challenger and Shamrock I. will probably occur on the Clyde May 6. Two or three races will be sailed there. Both Shamrocks will sail for America about June 1. There will be eleven or twelve prize races between the Shamrocks off Sandy Hook prior to the cup races.

Regarding the performance of Reliance, Sir Thomas said: "From the accounts I have here, her sails are not yet properly fitted, and as the sails constitute the yacht's horse power, it would be obviously premature to criticize her trial spins. I hope they will get as much out of her as possible, and that the best defender will be selected without any such accidents as happened to me. I feel quite confident that Shamrock III will be able to hold her own against the best boat that can be built. If America should once more be forced to rely on Columbia, I shall merely feel doubly confident."

DEFENDER TO GO OUT TO-DAY.

Mr. Iselin Pleased at the Showing of the Yacht.

Bristol, R. I., April 27.—The two cup boats, Reliance and Columbia, remained at anchor in the harbor here to-day, the work of fitting up the new yachts for the trying out spins in Narragansett Bay this week having been begun. The gear and sails of Reliance will be given a general touching up, and a number of minor changes about deck and fittings will be made.

Mr. Iselin to-day expressed pleasure at the way the new craft behaved Saturday and yesterday on all points of sailing. He thought it likely that the yacht might go out to-morrow if the workmen could finish up their task. Captain Nat Herreshoff also expressed great satisfaction at the behavior of the new boat thus far.

British Minister Dead.

London, April 28.—The Right Hon. Robert William Harebury, president of the board of agriculture, died this morning of pneumonia after an illness of a few days only. He was born in 1846.

KING EDWARD ENTERS ROME

RECEIVED IN PERSON BY KING VICTOR EMMANUEL.

Four Hundred Thousand Persons Line the Streets Through Which the Royal Procession Passes—A Great Popular Ovation—City Decorated on Scale of Lavish Splendor—An Impressive Scene.

Rome, April 27.—King Edward arrived here from Naples this afternoon and was received by King Victor Emmanuel in person, who escorted the visiting sovereign through the densely packed streets. Their majesties received a great popular ovation.

King Edward, who was standing on the platform of his railroad car when the train reached the station, descended alone, almost before the train stopped. King Victor Emmanuel stepped quickly forward and the two monarchs embraced and kissed each other four times, the Italian king saying quite audibly in English: "I welcome you with all my heart to Rome."

The crowds along the route followed by the king's party numbered 400,000, including 10,000 to 12,000 British and a great many Americans, as shown by the number of American flags displayed.

The diplomatic body not being among those who welcomed King Edward at the station, though ambassadors, ministers and other foreign officials witnessed the passage of the cortege from various points of vantage. The United States ambassador, Mr. Meyer, and his family had a balcony in the middle of the Via Nazionale. It was decorated with American colors.

The center of the American manifestation was at the American Episcopal church, St. Paul's, which was decorated with American and Italian flags. The church being on the route of the procession the rector, Dr. Nevill, erected a large stand, where about eighty guests, including the Rev. Dr. Walpole Warren of New York, the Rev. Dr. Merrill of Middletown, Conn.; Colonel Goddard of Providence, R. I., and William Potter, a brother of Bishop Potter of New York, were seated.

When the two sovereigns approached the church they were pleasantly greeted by hearing the chimes of the church play "God Save the King" followed by the Italian royal march.

King Edward recognized the courtesy of the Americans by saluting and smiling. Seldom before had the city been so sumptuously decorated. The streets and buildings were brilliant with flowers, flags and draperies and on all sides were to be seen the entwined flags and arms of Italy and Great Britain.

The most imposing moment of the reception was shortly after King Edward entered the quinal. The plaza below was packed with 50,000 people who acclaimed his majesty frantically until he was obliged to appear twice on a balcony, with Queen Helena on his right and King Victor Emmanuel on his left and surrounded by Italian princes. The spectacle which met the eyes of King Edward was really grandiose. At his feet was the excited populace of Rome voicing the sentiments of all Italy. Against the horizon on his right was the colossal dome of St. Peter's, glistening under the flaming rays of the setting sun, while frowning above was the historic Janiculum hill, with the statue of the national hero, Garibaldi. In front of the tower of Nero, to the left he ruled of ancient Rome. King Edward, by his gestures, clearly expressed the deepest appreciation of the significance of the scene.

After a short rest at the quinal King Edward re-entered his carriage and escorted by the cuirassiers he visited the queen mother and then returned to the palace. Later he went to the British embassy, where he remained until 7 o'clock, holding a reception of the English residents of Rome. After this function he returned to the quinal, and dined with the king and queen of Italy.

The dinner was a private function, being described as a strictly family repast.

All along the thoroughfares to the queen mother's, to the embassy and back to the quinal the streets were lined with enormous crowds who wildly cheered the British sovereign; the ovation was continuous.

The decoration of the streets and public and private buildings was on a scale of lavish splendor and was carried out under the direction of Signor Biffarelle, the sculptor, and Signor Malabone, the painter. Their plan of decoration carried out the idea of fetes commemorating the peace of the world, Italy, as the birthplace of fine arts and poetry, welcoming.

POLICE CHIEF GINTY REMOVED.

Well Known Head of Danbury Department Summarily Dismissed.

Danbury, April 27.—Edward C. Ginty, one of the best known police officers in the state, and for six years past captain of the Danbury police, was summarily removed from the department to-night by the board of police commissioners as a result of charges brought by Officer Michael F. Kinney.

A short time ago Captain Ginty went to the theater and saw Kinney there in uniform. The captain ordered the officer to go to police headquarters and remove his uniform because he had not personally assigned the officer for duty in the theater. Later when the two met at the police station an argument followed during which Kinney alleged Captain Ginty called him a liar and ejected him from the building. There have been a number of hearings on the case, but the decision of the board is a great surprise.

Captain Ginty has been a very popular police official here and he is the father of several police reform bills now pending before the legislature.

SHOOTING IN BOSTON OFFICE.

LOVE AFFAIR LEADS TO AN ATTEMPTED MURDER.

Jilted Lover Persist in Paying Attention to Roxbury Girl After Her Engagement to Another is Announced—Got Mortgage on Her Home and Threatened to Foreclose—Newly Accepted Lover Takes Law in His Own Hands.

Boston, April 27.—Three shots from a revolver rang out unexpectedly in the office of the Edison Illuminating company on Head place to-day, and through the smoke the startled clerks saw one of their number, Stillman M. Bishop, fall to the floor. The shots had been fired by Hartwell Stafford, who was a stranger to them. In the instant some one had taken in the situation, and, calling for help, seized the man, disarmed and held him until the police came.

Stafford belongs in Brookline, and it appears that he had shot Bishop to avenge an alleged wrong which he felt Bishop had done to the family of Stafford's intended bride.

Bishop was twice wounded, in the arm and side, one shot going wild, and at the hospital it was said that the wound in the side was serious. He is, however, expected to recover.

The story is that up to three weeks ago Bishop was the accepted suitor of Miss Etta McLean, of Roxbury, in whose family he boarded. At the time mentioned an engagement of marriage, which is said to have been entered into by the man and the woman, was broken. Soon it began to appear that Hartwell Stafford, proprietor of a mail-agency business, was favored by Miss McLean, and later an engagement was announced. Bishop, who had moved from the McLean house, persisted in his attentions to Miss McLean after she selected Stafford as her fiancee. He tried to see the young woman, and, failing, wrote letters to her, according to statements of Miss McLean's father, J. A. McLean. The father and the successful suitor could not dissuade Bishop from his attentions. Finding, however, that matters were going against him, Bishop is said to have adopted another plan. He purchased as an investment some time ago a mortgage on the home of the McLean family. For some reason the McLeans were unable to meet the payments and Bishop threatened to start foreclosure proceedings. Stafford, incensed at this treatment, decided to forcibly interfere. He went to the Edison office to see Bishop. The latter was busy and placed a chair beside his desk for Stafford.

Without waiting to take the chair, and without uttering a single word, Stafford pulled a 38-caliber revolver from his pocket and fired three shots. In an instant the office was in a turmoil. Some clerks assisted Bishop; others seized Stafford. Then the police came. Stafford was taken away and Bishop was removed in an ambulance.

After reaching the police station Stafford said he was sorry to have caused trouble to so many persons, but felt that he had to do what he had done.

Bishop is twenty-eight years old. He has been employed by the Edison company for ten years and he is highly spoken of by his employers. Stafford is thirty-seven years old. He is a southerner, but has been living in Boston for some time, pursuing varied occupations.

$30,000,000 Land Transaction.

New York, April 27.—The Jumel property, including a great tract of land in the Fort George section on the upper end of Manhattan Island, was transferred to-day by John R. Vandervoort to Joseph Tyagar for $30,000,000. It surrounds the Jumel mansion, where Mrs. Jumel entertained General Washington and Benedict Arnold. The transaction is supposed to have been made to establish the title.

Cassatt Appoints Commission.

Philadelphia, April 27.—President A. J. Cassatt, of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, has appointed an advisory committee of experts to assist him in the work of constructing the New York $50,000,000 tunnel. It has been decided to adopt for use in the tunnel an electrical engine.

ROOSEVELT IN NEBRASKA.

FIFTY THOUSAND PEOPLE GREET HIM IN OMAHA.

Streets Gay With Decorations—President, by Request, Delivers Address Bearing on the Subject of the Industrial Strike Which Threatens the City on May 1—Refers the People to the Concluding Part of Coal Strike Commission's Report.

Omaha, Neb., April 27.—Ten thousand people were gathered at the Coliseum to-night to hear President Roosevelt.

The day has been a trying one for the entire party, on account of the heavy wind blowing and at Lincoln a smart rain storm greeted the president. The dust and sand which blew across the prairies added another unpleasant feature to the journey. After leaving Grand Island, the first stop was at Hastings. Fairmont and Crete received short stops and the train arrived at Lincoln at 1 o'clock. After brief stops at Wahoo and Fremont the journey was not again interrupted until Omaha was reached at 5:15 o'clock.

Much preparation had been made in this city for the president's coming and he was greeted by probably 50,000 people who lined the streets on both sides for a mile and a half along the route of the carriage drive. Elaborate decorations of bunting and flags were hung from every building and from every flagstaff in the city "Old Glory" floated proudly.

The drive through the city lasted half an hour. It ended at the Omaha club, where a banquet, lasting an hour and a half, was given the president and his party. Covers were laid for ninety-five persons, among whom were prominent members of the Ak-Sar-Ben and distinguished citizens of the city.

After the banquet at the club the president and his party were escorted to the Coliseum.

The president devoted most of his speech to the question of good citizenship and went over very fully and thoroughly the ground he has heretofore covered on this subject. He also delivered a brief eulogy on the life of General U. S. Grant, to-day being the anniversary of his birth.

Omaha is threatened with an industrial strike on May 1, and the president was asked to say something bearing on this subject. The following was delivered in response to this request:

"I might give a word of advice to Omaha. I should like to see your daily press publish in full the concluding portion of the report of the anthracite coal strike commission signed by all the members thereof, by those in a special sense the champions of the wage worker and by those in a special sense identified with capital, organized or unorganized, because, men and women of Omaha, those people did not speak as capitalists or as laborers, did not speak first as judges, as army men, as church men, but they spoke all of them, unanimously signed that report, all of them as American citizens anxious to see right and justice prevail.

"No one quality will get us out of any difficulty. We need more than one; we need a good many; we need, as I said, the power first of each man honestly trying to look at the problem from his fellow's standpoint. Capitalist and wage-worker alike, should honestly endeavor each to look at any matter from the other's standpoint, with a freedom, on the one hand from the contemptible arrogance which looks down upon the man of less means, and, on the other from the no less contemptible envy, jealousy and rancor which hates another because he is better off. Each quality is the complement of the other, the supplement of the other, and in point of business there is not the weight of a finger to change between them. Look at the report signed by those men; look at it in the spirit in which they wrote it, and if you can only make yourselves, make the community approach the problem of yesterday, any problem or problems will be solved.

"Any man who tried to excite class hatred, sectional hate, hate of creeds, any kind of hatred in our community, though he may affect to do it in the interest of the class he is addressing, is in the long run, with absolute certainty that class' own worst enemy.

"In the long run and as a whole, we are going to go up or down together. Of course, there will be individual exceptions, small local exceptions, exceptions in kind, exceptions in places but as a whole, if the commonwealth prosper, some measure of the prosperity comes to all of us. If it is not prosperity, then the adversity, thought it may be unequally upon us, will weigh more or less upon all. It lies upon ourselves to determine our own fate.

"I cannot say too often that the wisest law, the best administration of the law can do naught more than give us a fair field in which to work out that fate aright. If, as individuals or as a community, we mar our own future by our own folly, let us remember that it is upon ourselves that responsibility must rest.

"My fellow citizens, men and women of Omaha, let me close in expressing the abounding confidence I have that you of this city, that you of this state will in the end work out your fate aright, because I hold you to be, in a peculiar sense, typical of all that is best in the American character. I believe in you with all my heart. The able, fearless, unscrupulous man who is not guided by the moral law, is a curse to be hunted down like the civic wild beast and his ability and his courage, whether in business in politics or anywhere else, only serve to make him more dangerous and a greater curse. We must have courage, we must have honesty, but with them both and guiding them both, we must have the saving grace of common sense."

ADAMS AT SING SING.

Writ of Habeas Corpus Denied by the Court.

New York, April 27.—Albert J. Adams, who was convicted and sentenced to Sing Sing prison last week for running policy games, was taken to state prison on the 3:05 train this afternoon after a writ of habeas corpus on which he was brought into court this morning had been dismissed by Justice Giegerich, of the supreme court.

Adams is reputed to be worth between four million and five million dollars. It was alleged by the prosecution that he was the head of the policy syndicate in this city. James Oliver, counsel for Adams, went to the Grand Central station with his client and followed him through the station with tears streaming down his cheeks.

CARNEGIE AIDS HARVARD.

Contributes $12,000 Toward the New Philosophical Building.

Boston, April 27.—Andrew Carnegie has contributed $12,000 toward the amount needed for the erection of Emerson hall, the new philosophical building for which Harvard university hopes to lay the cornerstone on May 25, the centennial anniversary of Ralph Waldo Emerson's birth. This gift was made through Professor Munsterburg, and it brings the total amount now subscribed for the building up to about $149,000, or within $10,000 of the total which the university corporation requires before it will permit the cornerstone to be laid.

PHILIPPINE CRUELITIES.

GENERAL MILES' REPORT ON WHAT HE HEARD.

A Sad Record of Torture—Complaints Made to Him by Filipinos During His Tour of the Islands—Gloria's Brigade of Torturers—Reconciliation Commanded.

Washington, April 27.—The extended report of Lieutenant-General Nelson A. Miles concerning his observations in the Philippines was made public to-day by the war department. It is dated February 19, 1903, and covers all features of his trip through the islands, together with his recommendations, which include one for the better housing of the troops, the withdrawal of the artillery and the sending out of cavalry.

General Miles says that in going from Calamba to Batangas in November last he noticed that the country appeared devastated, and that the people were very much depressed. Stopping at Lipa, he says, a party of citizens, headed by the acting president, met him and stated that they desired to make complaint of harsh treatment of the people of that community, saying they had been concentrated in towns and had suffered great indignities; "that fifteen of their people had been tortured by what is known as the water torture, and that one man, a highly respected citizen, aged sixty-eight years, named Vincente Luna, while suffering from the effects of the torture and unconscious, was dragged from his house, which had been set on fire, and was burned to death. They stated that these atrocities were committed by a company of scouts under command of Lieutenant Hennessey, and that their people had been crowded into towns, six hundred being confined in one building."

A doctor of the party said he was ready to testify that some of the six hundred died from suffocation.

General Miles says he looked at the building, which was one story in height, eighteen or twenty feet wide and possibly sixty or seventy feet long. He asked for a written statement to be forwarded him at Manila, but says he never received it, and adds:

CREDITORS AFTER YARMOUTH.

Earl Served With Writ on His Wedding Day.

Yarmouth, April 27.—The Earl of Yarmouth, who was to-day wedded to Miss Alice Thaw, had a disagreeable experience at his hotel shortly after his return from the court house where he had gone to procure his marriage license. When the earl entered the Hotel Schenley at about noon he was confronted by two constables who served him with a writ from the high court of justice, King's Bench division, London, Eng., commanding the earl to cause an appearance to be entered for him within forty days in an action at the suit of the Revisionary and General Securities Company, Limited. In the bill of particulars, the plaintiffs claim for principal and interest due from the defendant under a covenant of the defendant contained in an indenture of mortgage dated September 8th, 1902. The amount due under the covenant on December 11, 1902, is $2300; interest at 20 per cent. from date until March 26, 1903, $17, 58, 2d. The plaintiff also claims interest on $600 at 20 per cent. per annum until payment of judgment.

The earl apparently took the matter coolly and at the conclusion of the reading said: "That's all right, I'll attend to it."

MISS THAW MARRIES EARL.

Pittsburg Young Woman the Bride of the Earl of Yarmouth.

Pittsburg, April 27.—The wedding of Miss Alice Thaw, of this city, to the Earl of Yarmouth took place in Calvary Episcopal church at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. Lord and Lady Yarmouth left this evening for a brief honeymoon trip before sailing for England.

From Aden, Arabia.

On July 29th, last year, we shipped three Mathushek pianos to Aden, Arabia. We are just in receipt of the following: "The pianos have arrived and give general satisfaction. They are pronounced to be the best toned pianos in the Station."

We quote from this letter to demonstrate the remarkable construction and durability of our Mathushek Pianos. The severest test of a piano is the extreme and changeable conditions of temperature incident to a long journey like above. It's a question if there is a piano in the world the equal of a Mathushek in a test of this kind. It is a proof of its wonderful durability. The tone, workmanship, design and finish are self-evident.

NEW CLUB AT YALE.

Members Must Not Have Beardless Countenances—The Members.

A new club, called the Whiskerands, has been formed at Yale. The object is to promote the cause of good fellowship. In order to become a member the student must have dark hair, a sufficient growth of beard to justify the name of the club, and a realization that co-operation is necessary to make it a success. The membership of the club for the present will be limited to ten, these men to be charter members and have the power of electing officers and new members.

Among other amusing features will be an annual debate to decide whether beards are conducive to longevity. Semi-annual dinners will also be held. The club has the following charter members: President, H. G. Lord, Newark, N. J.; vice president, Arthur B. LaCour, New Orleans; secretary and treasurer, J. H. Wormelsdorf, Pottstown, N. IN AND ABOUT THE COURTS

JUDGE HUBBARD HEARS MOTION TO DISSOLVE INJUNCTION.

Case is an Important One—Circuit Court Meets To-day—Petition in Bankruptcy—Attachment Served—City Court Cases.

Motion to dissolve the injunction in the case of the Tide-water Trap-rock company vs. The New England Transportation company was argued in the common pleas court yesterday morning before Judge Hubbard. Decision was reserved.

The contention resulting in the injunction is over the raising of five sunken barges of the Transportation company in the New Haven harbor. The Trap-rock company raised the barges under an agreement made to raise them. The temporary injunction restrains George B. Martin, president of the Transportation company, from touching the feet of sunken barges.

CIRCUIT COURT TO-DAY.

The United States circuit court will be opened for its April session this morning at 10 o'clock. Eight cases are on the docket for trial. Five of them are actions at law and three are cases in equity. Judge James E. Platt will sit in the cases.

IN BANKRUPTCY.

Through Carl A. Mears, his attorney, Jacob Goodman of 31 George street, a clothing dealer, has filed with the secretary of state at Hartford a petition in bankruptcy. The schedules show the net assets to be nil and the liabilities about $800.

ATTACHMENT SERVED.

Attorney Harry Asher has caused a lien to be placed on the property of Dr. Elijah H. Bond of 41 Second street for $137.55. In this way Attorney Asher intends to collect his expenses in acting as conservator over Dr. Bond while the latter was in state prison.

Attorney Asher ceased to act as conservator last Friday when the physician was restored to his capacity. Notice of the lien was filed in the town clerk's office yesterday.

CITY COURT CASES.

The cases of Michael and James Cloff, the two Italians who assaulted Charles Powell, a "beater" at the rolling mill, were yesterday in the city court continued until the first of May, as Powell is still unable to appear in court.

William T. Lancaster and Frederick Woods, two young colored men, held for engaging in a mutual breach of the peace, were remanded for trial until to-day.

Pauline Feingold, the proprietor of the new store on Chapel street, held on a charge of violating the itinerant vendor law, was remanded for trial one week from yesterday.

John Beatty and David O'Keefe, arrested for trespassing on the railroad tracks, were held for trial Saturday of this week.

Patrick Bolan and Mary Fitzgerald, held for improper conduct, were each fined $3 and costs, and in addition the woman was sent to jail for ten days.

Mary F. Dillon and Jed C. Prouty, arrested for improper conduct, were each fined $3 and the man $7.

Mary Fiore and Mamie Christopher, arrested for residing in a house reputed to be a house of ill fame, were held for trial to-day.

John Cocca and Angelo Veolo, Italians and half brothers, were tried for engaging in a mutual breach of the peace. Each man was fined $5 and costs.

Raphael Gideone, held for stealing newspapers, was remanded nisi until the first of June.

LAMP EXPLODED.

In Front of Third Floor of Union Hall on Orange Street.

A kerosene lamp, which was used to light up a glass sign in one of the front windows of the third floor of Union hall on Orange street, near Chapel, exploded about 7 o'clock last evening. The sign was made of glass and was several feet long. When the lamp exploded quantities of the glass was blown with considerable force to the sidewalk and street below. It was very lucky that there was neither pedestrians nor teams passing just at that moment, for had there been some one would likely have been hurt. The two large plate glass windows at the rear of the sign were also broken to pieces by the force of the shock. It is believed that the wick of the lamp was turned up to high and that this caused it to explode. The fire department was summoned from box No. 21, but on their arrival the fire had been extinguished. Quick work on the part of Lieutenant Isaacs of No. 1's house averted an accident. He rides on the hose wagon, and as it was on the way to the fire, in going in and out among some trolley cars part of the harness became unhitched. He jumped from his seat while the horses were running and snapped the catch, and while they were going he climbed to his seat again.

SEVERE ATTACK OF GRIP.

Cured by One Bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"When I had an attack of the grip last winter (the second one) I actually cured myself with one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Frank N. Perry, editor of the Enterprise, Shortsville, N. Y. "This is the honest truth. I at times kept from coughing myself to pieces by taking a teaspoonful of this remedy, and when the coughing spell would come on at night I would take a dose and it seemed that in the briefest interval the cough would pass off and I would go to sleep perfectly free from cough and its accompanying pains. To say that the remedy acted as a most agreeable surprise is putting it very mildly. I had no idea that it would or could knock out the grip, simply because I had never tried it for such a purpose, but it did, and it seemed with the second attack of coughing the remedy caused it to not only be of less duration, but the pains were far less severe, and I had not used the contents of one bottle before Mr. Grip had bid me adieu." For sale by all druggists.

A BIT OF HISTORY.

Weber and Fields, who come with their big star company to the Hyperion to-morrow night, were proteges of G. B. Bunnell, who gave them their first start in theatrical life at his Broadway house in 1850. Weber and his partner, Fields, started out one gloomy morning to look for a job. Cash had run low, and the outlook was anything but bright, when they turned into Broadway and beheld Mr. Bunnell's immense sign, "The Legitimate Successor of the Great Barnum."

"Say, Joe, let us go in and see Bunnell and work him for an engagement." "I'm afraid it's no go," responded Lew Fields; he's a pretty hard nut to crack."

"But he gave Neil Burgess a date the other week and he did not amount to much. Let's go in and try."

They entered the building and were met by the faithful cerberus of the gate, the late Dr. Cahn, who asked: "Well, what you want?"

They informed him of their errand and received the reply, "Nothing's going." They were persistent, however, and at length the genial old guardian relaxed the stringent rule to admit no performers to either the great showman.

After a wait that seemed to them centuries they were ushered into the private sanctum of Mr. Bunnell, who at once addressed to them the usual formula for such occasions

"Well, what can I do for you?"

"We want an engagement, Mr. Bunnell."

"What can you do?" said Mr. Bunnell.

Then there was a pause as the partners nestled closer together, each bracing himself to give the answer. Simultaneously both answered with an heroic gasp: "We can do a song and dance act."

"Where have you appeared, what press notices have you, and have you a programme with your names on the bill?"

"This was a poser, but, bracing up, Weber said: "We want you to give us a chance and see what we can do. Let us go on for a single turn at the matinee to-day."

After thinking for some minutes Mr. Bunnell said: "I am always desirous of assisting young beginners. You may appear at the matinee to-day and I will see what you are made of."

The fatal afternoon came. The two young performers wended their way to the theater, were assigned to a dressing room and silently each commenced to don his act clothes and await the call boy's shout for them to appear for their turn on the stage.

It was not a long wait, for before they could realize it "Weber and Fields!" shouted the piping voice of the call boy. They went on the stage, the curtain rose and they commenced their act. The "little cherub that sits up aloft" kept his eye on the young beginners, and before they had gone half way through their act they received rounds of applause.

Mr. Bunnell sat in his private box and watched their performance, and was not long in detecting true talent in the newcomers; and at the close of their act he sent for them and told them he would give them a week's engagement, at the end of which he took them on a tour with his monster aggregation of talent that was touring through all the big cities. Traveling in those days was not as convenient as at the present time, and for the accommodation of Weber and Fields and the other members of the company a big four-horse team was utilized to take them to Mr. Bunnell's theaters in Jersey City, Brooklyn and Brighton Beach, repeating these visits several times in the year; and later on Weber and Fields played engagements at Mr. Bunnell's Buffalo and New Haven houses.

This was the first start these artists had in the amusement line, and from their humble beginning they have now bloomed out as first-class managers and come to play a date with their old friend and patron at the Hyperion this week.

ITEMS OF INTEREST CONCERNING NEW HAVEN PEOPLE

And Other People Known in This City - Local Social Events Here and Elsewhere.

About 100 of the relatives of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pinney of Hartford gathered at Horse Guard armory on Main street in that city on Saturday to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. Very nearly all those present were relatives. It was an informal affair of a basket picnic style, and was a jolly good time, such as the Pinneys always have. Graphophones, orchestra and piano music were enjoyed. A sumptuous repast was served at 5 p. m., and the evening was spent in dancing. A rather unique scheme was devised for a wedding present as gifts of silver were not allowed. Each person contributed one cent for each year they had been married, and a presentation speech was made by Judge John A. Stoughton of East Hartford, and $30 was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Pinney. It was a perfect surprise, but Mr. Pinney responded in his usual happy style. The festivities lasted till nearly 12 o'clock, and every one went home enthusiastic over the good time they had. Among the guests were Judge and Mrs. Stoughton and daughter of East Hartford, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Pinney and daughter, Miss S. E. Pinney, Mrs. C. P. Yale, Mr. and Mrs. William Kittler and daughter, Mrs. Fred Mix, daughter and son of New Haven, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Pinney and daughter of Waterbury, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Campbell, son and daughter of Hartford, Mrs. Reed and son of Rockyville, Mrs. Ellen Service, Mr. and Mrs. Brigham Hall, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. B. Cugnon, Mr. and Mrs. John Cuzner, T. Smart and family, Ezra Smart and family, Mrs. James Osborne and family, Mrs. Susie Otis and family, Mr. and Mrs. Rockfill, Mr. and Mrs. Agard and many others.

A reception in honor of Rev. W. W. Gillies, the new pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, Westville, will be given at the church parlors Thursday day evening by the members of the Epworth league.

FLASH OF LIGHT.

The Coffee Facts Came To Her.

Coffee is so often unsuspected in the work it does in the human body that illustrations of this kind are interesting. A lady in West Townsend, Mass., says, "I did not begin drinking coffee until I was an adult. Not very long after I commenced I began to have headaches and a dull, heavy, stupid feeling. These symptoms grew worse until I was ill but I had no suspicion that coffee was the cause of the trouble. I could not get up any strength, and after dragging around half sick for some time I was sent off on a visit to see if the change would do me good. I soon began to feel better and at the end of three weeks felt perfectly well again.

"Before leaving I had a long talk with my friend as to the cause of my feeling better. I had taken no medicine of any kind, and the food was about the same as at home, the coffee was particularly rich, strong and palatable. I complimented her on the coffee and asked what kind she used. She told me 'Postum,' which I absolutely could not believe. I had enjoyed it so much and it agreed with me so perfectly, but I had always had an idea that Postum was a coffee, and was tasting insipid drink and was only used by people who could not drink the old fashioned coffee.

"My friend said she had been using it for two years because when she drank the old-fashioned coffee it kept her sick half the time. Then it dawned on me like a flash of light that the old-fashioned coffee was the cause of my trouble and sickness, and that leaving it off and using Postum for three weeks had made me well.

"When I went home I told mother of the change. She saw how round and fat I had grown and said 'You can have Postum at home, we have a package in the house that I tried once but it tasted so flat that I went back to the ordinary coffee.' So I said 'Let me make it; Mrs. - said I must be made according to directions and must be boiled at least 15 or 20 minutes after the boiling begins, and if we can make it as good as she does you will be astonished at it.'

"Well, she was astonished and from that time to this we have left the old-fashioned coffee off the table and used Postum altogether. Mother is better, my headaches and sick feelings have never returned. There is no doubt but that coffee is a poison to us and Postum is the cause of our comfort and health." Name given by Postum Co., Battle-Creek, Mich.

take place the wedding of Miss Louise Todd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Todd of Alden avenue, Westville, to Howard Drummond Joost of Brooklyn, N. Y. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. G. Brinley Morgan of Christ church, assisted by the curate, Rev. Frederick Burgess, at the home of the bride's parents. The wedding will be quiet. Miss Todd's sister, Venella H. Todd, will be the maid of honor, and Miss Eleanor North and Miss Ada Gilbert will act as bridesmaids. The bridegroom's attendant will be his brother, John H. Joost.

Lieutenant C. A. L. Totten is in Fortress Monroe, where Saturday last his daughter, Miss Edna Totten, was united in marriage with Captain Willis, U. S. A. Lieutenant James Totten, U. S. A., at present stationed at New London, was also in attendance at his sister's wedding.

C. P. Smith, M. D., has taken apartments at 110 South Main street, South Norwalk, and will be there Monday. Dr. Smith arrives well recommended, is a graduate of the Yale medical school, and has special advantages in hospital practice in New York city. He has also made the diseases of children a specialty.

A lecture of unusual interest will be given at the parish house of Grace church, Hamden, on Saturday evening next, at 8 o'clock, by the celebrated lecturer, Dr. William H. Tallman of New York city. Dr. Tallman is a fine speaker. He will show what has been done for the poor children of the city of New York, and the lecture will be illustrated by stereopticon views. The lecture will be free to all, and has been provided by the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. William Brewster of Mt. Carmel, who last year donated the elegant parish house to Grace church and who are ever planning for the public welfare.

C. W. Shumway and family have removed from Blake street to 58 Harrison street.

Rev. James B. Gregg of this city preached at both services in the Congregational church, Bristol, Sunday.

A boy was born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Corvay of Blake street. The informal reception planned by the New Haven Postoffice Clerks' association, to take place at Republican hall last Wednesday evening and postponed on account of the death of T. Harry Brown, one of its members, will occur this Wednesday evening, April 29. The committee in charge have spared no time or expense to make it an affair to be remembered, and it will be proven to all that are in attendance. About 200 invitations have been distributed to the members to their friends, and all of the employees of the office have been invited to attend. Among the especially invited guests expected to be present include Postmaster James A. Howarth, Congressman William P. Tuttle, Auditor John A. Hull, Superintendent of Mails Pierce N. Maher, and Superintendent of Carriers Edward T. Kennedy. The following comprise the committee of arrangements: Bernard E. Farrell, William B. Spencer, John C. Madden, John A. McLaughlin, and Francis T. Wade.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Allington chapel will serve their last supper of the season at the chapel on Tuesday evening, April 30, from 6:30 to 8 o'clock. The supper will be followed by an entertainment in which some of the New Haven talent will participate. There will also be a number of useful and fancy articles offered for sale.

On Thursday of this week there will be a supper at the parish house of Grace church, Hamden, given by the ladies of the parish aid society from 6 to 8 o'clock, which will be followed by a short entertainment given by a few of the young people of the town. The admission to the supper and entertainment will be twenty cents. It is hoped that it will be liberally patronized.

Mr. Carter, who resides on Main street, New Haven, celebrated his nineteenth birthday Saturday. Several of his friends remembered the day and called. Mr. Carter has resided in West Haven for about sixteen years. He was born in Clinton, Conn., in 1813. His father was Judge George Carter. His early business life was spent in New Haven, and later in Charleston, S. C., where he was engaged in the book business.

William G. Tinker has been appointed tower man temporarily at the Fair street tower. This is the tower the men of which were summoned before the Consolidated road officials in regard to the accident in the cut last week. William P. Wilson and Harry Tyner, telegrapher and towerman, were relieved as the result of the investigation.

Miss Carrie C. Lum, a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, now singing in New York, is to be the soloist at one of the concerts of the May festival. Miss Lum is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Lum of Birmingham, Ala., and a niece of the late Colonel L. Morgan.

The choir of the Church of the Redeemer has finally been completed, and the personnel for the year beginning May 1 is as follows: First quartet, Miss Rena Teresa Barnes, soprano; Miss Bessie M. Wheatley of Meriden, alto; Edward Hendee, Jr., tenor; Francis S. Hamilton, Jr., bass. Second quartet, Miss Sadie Amidon, soprano; Miss Ellen M. Reed, alto; Ellisworth E. Gessner, tenor; and Harry Loomis, bass. Professor Shepard will officiate at the organ and conduct, as he has for many years at this church.

G. Lombardi, editor of Il Corriere de Connecticut, entertained about 250 of his fellow countrymen Sunday evening at his home, 955 Grand avenue. The reception was held to celebrate the victory of Mayor Studley. Mr. Lombardi is a foreman in the department of public works.

A son has been born to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gowdy of 37 Maple street. Mr. Gowdy is the Chapel street business man.

Mrs. E. S. Osborn of Lake Place had as her guests yesterday afternoon the hostesses who entertained the members of the New Plat chorus club of which Mrs. Osborn's son, A. Stanley Osborn, is the leader. The hours from 3 until 6 were passed in playing hearts and at 6 o'clock a tempting supper was served. Mr. Osborn's guests were: Mrs. T. J. Morris of 408 Crown street, Mrs. T. J. Adams of 25 Whalley avenue, Mrs. W. H. Hackett of 23 Lynwood street, Mrs. T. H. Kelley of 47 Atwater street, Mrs. J. B. Savage of 92 Park street, Mrs. C. E. Prince of 69 Bristol street.

Mrs. Elizabeth Story Reed gave a luncheon of eight courses on Saturday last at the New Haven house for Mrs. Smoke. The guests included: Mrs. G. Brinley Morgan, Mrs. Lang, Mrs. G. A. Heaton Robertson, Mrs. Wolcott Newberry, Mrs. Frederic Warren and Miss Johnston.

A Word to Young Men

IT'S not the extreme of fashion but the happy medium that proclaims the well-dressed man. Some tailors delight to make monkeys of men—don't "monkey" with experiments when you get YOUR Spring suit. Here you try before you buy, and bring back what doesn't please.

More snap in our suits for young men than in the average ready-for-wear, and better fit than the average tailor can give you. More variety, more exclusive patterns than even we have offered you before—mixtures, stripes and broken plaids that are uncommon.

Single and double-breasted suits of fancy all-wool fabrics, and black, gray and blue worsteds, $10, $12, $15, $18. Short top coats and long coats made rain-proof, $10 to $25. Smart hats, furnishings and shoes to match the smartness of our clothes.

MEIGS & CO. INCORPORATED. Head-to-Foot Clothiers. Three Stores NEW HAVEN, BRIDGEPORT, SPRINGFIELD. 91, 93 and 95 Church Street, New Haven.

Rev. I. A. Marland, the newly appointed minister of the Methodist Episcopal church in West Haven, has made an excellent impression and promises to be a great favorite with old and young. He has lately been the guest of M. J. Mackphie of Main street, Mr. Marland and the children, Irving, Ethel and Ruth, have arrived and are the guests of Mrs. J. C. Cok of Elm street. The family have now taken possession of the parsonage. Mr. Marland has held several important appointments in the New York East conference, including a four years' stay in New York city (Willett street). He comes now from Riverhead, L. I., a delightful appointment, where he is succeeded by Rev. W. S. Whams, whose ministry in West Haven is remembered with so much pleasure.

which the Yale boys like. This book will make the third issued in the same line by Professor Shepard, the conductor of the club, the other two being "Yale Songs" and "Yale Gleees." The college boys are eagerly awaiting the new collection. Riverside cottage at Lyme has been leased by Dr. David Kennedy, Yale '74, formerly of this city, who has a successful private school in Orange, N. J. His family consists of his wife and one son, the latter a member of the Yale academic junior class, a scholar of high standing and fond of boating and other sports. Dr. and Mrs. Kennedy and Judge and Mrs. Eggleston visited Lyme last week.

OBITUARY NOTES.

Henry F. Chandler. The funeral services of Henry F. Chandler were held in the chapel of the Burwell undertaking rooms last night. Mr. Chandler died at Grace hospital last Saturday. The body will be taken at 3 o'clock this morning to Munson, Mass., for interment.

DIED AT HOSPITAL.

Edward Brophy, thirty-six years of age, died yesterday morning at the New Haven hospital. He had been there since the 10th of March. He resided at 147 Exchange street.

Professor and Mrs. George B. Stevens of Whitney avenue are entertaining as their guests Sir John and Lady Clarke of Edinburgh, Scotland. They attended the Yale play last night.

Funeral of Richard Egan. The funeral of Richard Egan, who died at his residence, 56 Arch street, on last Friday, was held from his late residence yesterday morning at 8:30, and from a requiem high mass at Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock. Mr. Egan was forty-one years of age.

Mr. and Mrs. B. McCarthy have returned from their wedding sojourn at Lakewood and are at home Saturdays at 324 Sherman avenue.

The bearers were E. Porter, F. Keefe, Thomas Ryan, William Kahler, A. McGill and T. Flanagan.

Hon. Arthur P. Eggleston of Hartford, state attorney for the county, has leased the old colonial McCurdy house at Lyme, Conn., intending to occupy it with his wife about the middle of June.

The flower bearers were T. and William Morrissey.

Miss Williams, private secretary to Dr. Baker of Trinity church, is in New York taking a special course in nursing. Miss Williams does considerable work among the poor and her object in taking this course is the furtherance of that work. She is not expected to return to New Haven until September.

Friday evening, May 1, the senior class of Boardman high school will hold its annual promenade at Lenox hall.

The committee in charge includes Miss Ives, Miss Stone and Mr. Breitenstein, Mr. Kellogg and Mr. Beecher. The patronesses are Mrs. Kirschner, Mrs. Kellogg, Mrs. Stone, Mrs. Beecher, and Mrs. Messenger. The committee has arranged a fine programme of twenty-two dances, and the affair promises to be a success.

Professor T. G. Shepard has just issued a new book of music entitled "Shepard's Reed Organ Collection." He has also just received proofs from his publisher, Schirmer, of New York, of another collection called "Methods for Pipe Organ." There will also be issued shortly in this city and published at Treat & Shepard's a new collection of Yale songs under the name of "Yale Melodies." This will include the favorite Glee club songs of the season with coon melodies and other popular airs.

CATARRH TAIN

More Lives are Blighted by Catarrh than by All Other Diseases.

If There is a Hint of Catarrh Taint

Apply Dr. Agnew's Catarrh Powder without delay. It will save you suffering, heal you quickly whether you have been a slave one month or fifty years. It relieves cold in the head and catarrh headache in ten minutes. The Hon. David Mills, Minister of Justice for the Dominion of Canada, indorses it.

CAPTAIN W. C. BURGESS OF WESTVILLE.

Captain William C. Burgess of Blake street received on Saturday night a telegram containing the news of the sudden death of his son, Howard Burgess, at Tarrytown, N. Y. The young man was here three weeks ago, and appeared then in excellent health. It was not known that he was ill, and the news of his sudden death came as an awful shock to his family and many local friends. He was about twenty-eight years of age.

LITTLE CHILD DIES.

Another death from scarlet fever has occurred here. The five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marston of Westville, who live at the corner of Dayton street and Whalley avenue, died Sunday evening. The first death in the present epidemic in Westville occurred in this same family ten days ago, when an older daughter succumbed to the disease.

ALBERT PATZOLSKI.

The funeral of Albert Patzolski of Yaleville, who dropped dead Friday afternoon while at work at the Parker factory, was held at Wallingford Sunday.

CHILD'S PECULIAR DEATH.

Falls Into Small Dam and is Drowned. Medical Examiner Joslin made an investigation Sunday into the circumstances attending the death of the four-year-old son of a Hamden produce dealer named Pasetto. The child's body was found in a small hole filled with water near the home of its parents. Saturday afternoon, in company with some others, the child built a deep hole in the bank of a small stream which runs in the rear of the house where the family resides, and filled it full of water. They played around the hole for some time and forgot to allow the water to escape and, as the ground was damp, the water did not run off, leaving it a dangerous spot.

Late Saturday night, the child by some means got out of the house and wandered out into the yard. His body was found in the hole by his parents early Sunday morning.

MRS. THOMAS MARSHALL.

Margaret Bell, widow of Thomas Marshall of Hartford, died in this city Sunday, aged ninety years eleven months and fourteen days. Mrs. Marshall was born in this city, where she spent her early days, going to Hartford when she married Mr. Marshall. She joined the South church in 1834 and probably was the oldest member of that church. She went south a few years ago and lived with her son, Andrew Marshall of Nashville, Tenn., till last fall, when she came north to spend the winter with her daughter, the wife of Adjutant Thomas Welles of the Second regiment, this city, where she died. She leaves one other daughter, Mrs. Levi Hotchkiss of this city, and three grandsons, Marshall Hotchkiss of Nashville, Philip L. Hotchkiss of Hartford and Arthur Welles of Rochester, N. Y., and a granddaughter, Rosabelle Welles of this city. Death was due to old age.

TWO BITTEN BY PET BULLDOG.

Sight of Young Lady Combing Her Hair So Enraged Him That He Bit Her and a Rescuer.

A pet bull dog enraged at the sight of a young lady combing her hair flew at her and bit her in several places. The young lady's name is Ida Powell, and she lives at 16 Mill River street. Last Wednesday afternoon Miss Powell, who has a long and beautiful head of hair, was combing it out in front of the glass in her room. Lying on the floor near her was the family's pet bull dog. To comb the hair better Miss Powell took it in her hand and threw it over her head in front of her so that it completely covered her face. The sight of her in this position in some way enraged the dog and he flew at her and bit her very badly. He bit her arm and shoulder and tore her dress. Mr. Fox, one of the janitors of the police building, lives upstairs. He was talking in the yard to some friends when they heard Miss Powell's cries. They rushed into the house and saw her struggling with the dog. One of the men, Isadore Barebault, grabbed hold of the dog, and it turned on him and bit him in the arm. Janitor Fox then caught up an axe which was in an adjoining room and split the dog's head open. Miss Powell was in a serious condition from her wounds and fright, and Dr. O'Connor was immediately summoned. On his arrival he dressed the wounds and did all he could to make the patient comfortable. She is now doing nicely, although the affair was such a great strain on her nerves that she has not fully recovered from it.

NORTH HAVEN GRANGE.

The topic of the programme is "Housekeeping" in charge of the lecturer, Mrs. Ezra G. Munson. Papers on "Various Methods of Saving Time and Labor," by Mrs. Frank Thorpe, Mrs. John Brockett, Mrs. E. Clinton. Papers on "Lessons from Mistakes and Failures," by Mrs. George Stiles, Mrs. William Dickerman, Mrs. F. Munson, Mrs. R. O. Eaton, Mrs. Sarah Shephard, Mrs. A. B. Brockett, D. L. Danger of Colds and Grip. The greatest danger from colds and grip is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventative of that dangerous disease. It will cure a cold or an attack of the grip in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all druggists.

One of the most curious sights ever seen in California was seen at Corona
in that State the other day, when a vast cloud of butterflies passed over the place. They flew about five feet from the earth, and the mass was half a mile wide and several miles long. No one knows how high in the air the flock
of brilliantly colored insects extended
or where they went or came from.

George Peel, who represented the Cornhill Magazine at the durbar in India, devotes considerable space to describing the wonderful docility of the elephants, some of whom were "so gorgeous that they would have astonished Solomon. Most orderly and above reproach were the elephants." Then he blurtly makes this revelation: "But
then they were drugged."

The reports from Salt Lake City
about the finding of a "bottomless" pit
in the lake where the Union-Central Pacific is constructing what is known as the Lucia cut-off, are flatly denied by the chief engineer in charge. They are attributed to the malice of people
in the city, who wanted the road extended
around the southern end of the lake so as to take in that town. It is said that the work of filling in across the northern end of the lake is proceeding
without a hitch, and will be completed
before the end of the year—15 miles of solid filled ground, and 11 miles of trestle, which will ultimately also give way to a solid roadbed.

The monument to volunteers in the campaign in the Philippines during the war with Spain, is to be erected in San Francisco, is to be executed by Douglas Tilden. It will stand on a pedestal of granite twelve feet high and
consists of an animated bronze group,
part symbolical, part realistic, which will be sixteen feet in height. A winged horse ridden by the helmeted goddess
of war, who holds a banner and extends her right hand with sword, strikes the view. Under the rearing horse lies a wounded soldier near a dismounted gun,
and directly in front of one great wing
stands an officer with sword in one hand and pistol in the other. The monument is to cost $24,000, and the fund
exceeds that sum by several thousand dollars.

It is pleasing to know that the 638th
fragment of the Franchesch vase has been recovered. This vase has a singular history. It is beautifully shaped,
nearly two feet high, with black figures
painted on a red ground, the work of the Athenian artist, Clisias. It was broken when it was discovered, in 1844,
in a tomb near Chiusi, but Signor Fran-
cheschi succeeded in joining the fragments together, and the restored vase
was placed in the museum at Florence.
In 1900 one of the attendants, who was a man of violent temper, threw the vase
to the ground and smashed it into 638
pieces. It was thought that this time
the vase was hopelessly done for, but Signor Franchesch, with marvelous
patience, set to work to repair the damage. It took him two years of hard work, but at the end of that time the vase was restored all but one piece,
which was missing. The man who took the fragment away has now left it on a table in the museum and Signor Franchesch has joyfully completed the restoration of the masterpiece of Clisias.

This isn't an old country. Mrs. Elisabeth Rector of Foltz, Indiana, has been talking to an Indianapolis News
man about the times when she was a girl and Indiana was a territory. "The Indians became peaceable before my day," she says, "but they used to pass
our house in bands on their way to father's mill to trade for meal. Sometimes there would be a pot of lye
honey boiling in our yard, and when the Indians would come in and eat their fill of it. We had no soda or baking powder to use in bread, but we could easily get the best of yeast from the distilleries through the country, and sometimes we would burn a pile of corns on the hearthstone and use
the fine white ash to lighten bread and cake. Flour was so scarce that wheat bread was a luxury. In the woods
there was an abundance of fragrant spicewood and sassafras, which were frequently used for tea. Coffee was sometimes made out of browned sweet potatoes or parched wheat. It was a poor family that did not have a spinning wheel. My first calico dress was bought long after I was grown, and it cost fifty cents a yard."

NOT PROPERLY PROUD.
General Brayton is the "boss" of Rhode Island. Addressing the citizens of Warwick in that State the other day he said: "Citizens of Warwick, although a native of this town I am no better than you who come from other parts of the State, other parts of the country, or other parts of the world."

No wonder General Brayton is the "boss." A man who, though town-
born, can so rule himself and conceal his pride and his merit while addressing the people of his town, some of whom are not town-born, is evidently capable of ruling others. And yet such self-depreciation as General Brayton displayed hath in it somewhat that smacks of disloyalty and dishonesty.
Being town-born he knows he is better than the citizens of Warwick who are not town-born, and he knows that Warwick is the only proper place to be born in. Yet with craft aforesaid he goes back on himself and on Warwick. Some of us in New Haven who are town-born will think that he would have done better to be openly and loyally proud, even if he didn't sell quite
as many claims.

GENERAL MILES' REPORT.
When General Miles was sent, or allowed to go, to the Philippines some of the benevolent assimulators were afraid that he would make trouble. He has made it. After he got home and made his report to the War department there was silence at Washington as to the contents of the report. This silence
was noticed, especially in Boston,
where General Miles is warmly admired,
and there was a call there and in some other places for the publication of the report. This call was finally but reluctantly noticed by the War department,
and a part of the report which refers to
the misconduct of officers and soldiers
in the Philippines is made public.
Though some of the revelations are not wholly new they are all very unpleasant reading. They make it evident that there has been a sad and terrible
mixture of cruelty in our benevolent
assimilation of our little brown brothers. General Miles exonerates the principal army officers in the Philippines
from responsibility for the cruelties practiced on the Filipinos, but that wont help the Filipinos much or relieve the United States from the shame and disgrace of what has been done. The "little Americans" will now feel littler
than ever.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES.
Senator Newlands of Nevada makes
the interesting and perhaps important
statement that at the coming session of congress he intends to push to the utmost his plan for the annexation of Cuba. I shall try, he says, "to have the island attached to our country, first as a territory, but with the understanding that Statehood will follow as soon as the territory is ready for it. Since this is the only ultimate solution of the problem of maintaining Cuban independence
with an American protectorate, we might as well act now, instead of postponing it indefinitely to no useful end.
Cuba is asking now for reciprocity as a means of breaking down a part of the protective tariff walls on both sides of the line. If she comes into the United States she will get not only this partial advantage, but the whole thing."
It is cheering to read that Senator
Newlands doesn't intend to benevolently assimilate the Cubans unless they want to be so assimilated. His idea seems to be to cordially invite Cuba to join the United States and not even
make her acceptance of the invitation
a condition precedent to any concession
to be granted to her by us. This is certainly polite and the Cubans will doubtless appreciate the politeness even if they don't think it best to accept the invitation.

WHAT WE MAY EAT.
In a current periodical John F. Hobbs
gives the result of scientific investigation into the source of some of the things that are eaten in this country.
It has been, he says, found that beef
extracts can be made from the residue
of brewing vats. In New England there is a factory which turns out canned and deviled chicken, but it buys
nothing but hogs in the raw. In New England also there are factories turning out "selected ripe fruit" jams and marmalades, yet they buy nothing but pumpkins, potatoes and turnips. Ten-cent fruit jams have scarcely a trace of fruit. Jellies are made of pumpkin or some other stock; the sweetening is the product of coal tar; the coagulator is a compound of alum and sulphuric acid,
and the colors are simply a matter of
chemical dyes. "When," says Mr.
Hobbs, "the ladies at a 5 o'clock tea
turn to scandal over the delicate aroma
of a highly flavored Asiatic tea or a cup of Mocha they little suspect that the delicious brew is a fruitful output for surplus peas and beans, and for nonde-
script weeds properly doctored. Mrs.
Blank, a prominent lady of New York,
would not believe that the coffee she used at a recent coffee party was merely a jellified pulp of sweet potatoes,
stamped in a bean mold after being properly flavored, labelled 'coffee' by

courtesy, and sold at a price sufficiently high to win the imagination to its support and to command respect for its virtue. Dried cubes of sweet potato,
roasted peanut meal and other vegetable substances are not only adulterants,
but often the main body of many reputable brands of ground coffee. And tea is even more of an impostor." Cocoa can be, and often is, made of a compound of sugar, arrowroot, chocolate flavor and some cheap oil other than its own. Cayenne pepper is made of garden seeds flavored with pepper
and colored. Ground pepper is often cornmeal or cocconut husk flavored
with the genuine article. Apple butter
is composed of molasses and flour,
made tart with tartaric acid. Strawberry jam is made of glucose and grass seed, and the flavor is effected with compound ethers. Mustard is seldom pure, and even nutmeg is adulterated.
And so forth and so on. Let us eat,
drink and be merry.

The Midnight Hour.
The world is sleeping, but I waking lie
And watch the moonbeams creep across
the floor;
I hear the clock proclaim "No more—No
more
Will time return when once it passes by,
Yet I impatient wait the lagging day,
And plan to fill each hour with busy care;
Too slow the moments pass, too slow the fair
Faint light of dawn is moving on its way.
Yet in some coming night, how far, how
near,
I cannot tell—it surely waits for me—
These lingering moments I should find
more dear
Than rain to mariners adrift at sea;
For I shall watch and wait the breaking
day,

Some Thoughts for Automobile Owners
and Drivers.
To the Editor of the Journal and Courier:
Believing that the antagonism to automobiles shown by drivers of horse-
flesh is the result of lack of knowledge
on the part of chauffeurs of some of the things complained of by drivers, I enumerate them below, hoping it will lead
to their correction.
An automobile approaching in front
of a horse and on the wrong side of the road must be a fearful object to a high-strung, nervous horse. Of course the chauffeur expects to swing over to the right side in good time, but in the meantime the horse is subjected to dread
and fear that are needless. Then let the warning notice, by horn, bell or other device, be given well away from
the approaching horse and not continued up to the meeting place, as many horses are more afraid of these sounds
than of the automobile itself. Again, let the chauffeur take notice in each individual case of the disposition shown by the horse. Some are more afraid of a standing automobile than an advancing one, as they can see where the moving one is going, but do not know what to expect of a standing one. A slow speed is much safer to drivers than a
more rapid one, as it has less elements
in it to cause fear.
The writer of this in driving recently
met seven automobiles within a quarter of a mile. Four of them were hunched
well together, two of the four on one side of the road and the other two opposite on the other side of the road,
leaving but a narrow open space for drivers between them. It looked as if they owned the road. Such trials as this of the poor horses could be avoided
were chauffeurs disposed to be considerate.
Some of the old-time horsemen will probably never be reconciled to automobiles. An amusing illustration of this became known to the writer recently.
A man who has made a business of dealing in and handling horses for a long lifetime, and who bears no love to automobiles and is free in expressing his sentiments concerning them, has now to try to reconcile himself to the fact of ownership of one of these vehicles by his favorite nephew. Imagine
his disgust at the situation, but the automobiles have no doubt come to stay.

USUALLY.
"Pa," said the boy, looking up from
his book, "what does a man's 'better
half' mean?"
"Usually, my son," replied his father
from behind the evening paper, "he means exactly what she says."—Philadelphia Press.
Mayme—I hear you are going to be married again.
Edyth—Again? Why, I've never been tied up yet.
Mayme—No, but I can't recall the number of times you were "going to be."
—Chicago News.
"Seems to be a very good husband," said the thoughtful young wa-
man.
"Yess," said Miss Cayenne; "but it's always difficult to determine whether a man is a good husband or whether his wife is too much of a lady to talk about him."—Washington Star.
"Dear," said the physician's wife,
"when can you let me have $10?"
"Will," replied the medical man, "I hope to cash a draft shortly, and then I'll give you the money."
"Cash a draft? What draft?"
"The one I saw Mrs. Jenkins sitting in this morning."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.
There is a little girl that is always asking embarrassing questions. One day while an elderly lady was combing
her hair, the little girl asked: "Why is your hair so white in front?"
She replied: "O, I was scared once,
and that made it white." The little girl
looked at her awhile and said: "Well,
why didn't you get scared in the back,
too?"—Exchange.
The Obstinate Many—"I am very sorry that we can't have harmony in our party," said the statesman. "Harmony is indispensable."
"Yess, but you won't agree with the other people."
"Of course, I won't. And it is exceedingly stupid of them not to see that the only way to have harmony is to come around and agree with me."—Washington Star.

HOW A GIANT SAWMILL WORKS.
At Tacoma I visited a sawmill said
to have a greater capacity than any other in the United States, and, with one exception (in Norway), the greatest in the world. It is, in fact, two separate mills, covering a wide low flat,
with docks on the sound where ships
can be loaded at the door of the yards.
Here the logs from the camp which we visited are sawed. They are dumped from the railroad cars into ponds of water and held until the mill is ready to cut them into lumber. Mr. Royce showed me through this great establishment, with its devices for handling
the enormous logs of fir and cedar,
hemlock and spruce, which come to it
daily.
Nearly every step in the long process
is performed by some human-like machine. Logs weighing many tons are handled like jackstraws, pulled out of the water, whirled over, lifted about,

gripped, slabbled off, turned again easily, and, directed by the swift and sure
judgment of the expert sawyer, driven
through bandsaws or great gang-saws,
cutting twenty boards or more at once,
and finally trimmed to certain lengths—
everything moving at once, smoothly,
with absolute exactitude. In fifteen minutes from the time the log enters
the mill it has been reduced to lumber
of several grades; the poor parts have been whittled up into lath and shingles,
the slabs have been shot out on a great
pile for firewood, and the remaining bark, sawdust and refuse have been carried away to the fire heap. This mill cuts one hundred million feet of lumber and ninety billion shingles a year, and its product goes the world
over—to Australia, Hawaii, China, South Africa, South America and Europe.—Ray Stannard in the Century.

Cut Rug Prices—Why?
In selecting and classifying our stock of Oriental Rugs for regular retailing, we had the pick of several lines, with the privilege of returning or selling at a discount what we did not care to put in stock. To the number that we have decided to sell, has been added a number of Rugs from our regular stock. This offers to the buyer an unusual bargain opportunity. There is quite a bunch of them in various sizes and styles.

REALITY OF HYDROPHOBIA.

OPINIONS OF A PHYSICIAN WHO INOCULATED HIMSELF

With the Supposed Germs of Rabies for the Purpose of Proving That the Disease Was Only a Nervous Trouble.

The late Dr. Irving C. Rosse was a scientist who made many distinguished journeys into scientific matters, especially into the subject of nervous and mental diseases.

Dr. Rosse died two years ago, leaving a number of unpublished articles upon scientific subjects. The following is one upon rabies, and in it he clearly sets forth his disbelief in hydrophobia:

Among other things that I have looked for without success are the North Pole, the sea serpent, shark bite and a case of hydrophobia. At this season of the year the newspapers give us more or less information on these subjects of a sensational character, which, regrettable to say, is not consistent with either biological or medical fact.

I am aware that it is an unenviable position to controvert a long-established delusion or to appear on the minority side of a question; but if thinking men had never set their faces false before, many of our intelligent and respectable citizens of Massachusetts would still testify in capital cases as to existence and dangerous effect of the "evil eye," and to having seen witches riding on broomsticks through the air.

When the question of the transmission of rabies from animals to man is subjected to the scrutiny of science, or even to the plain common-sense methods pursued in a court of justice during a medico-legal trial, the genuineness of traditional hydrophobia is left so much in doubt that it would be a perversion of language to call it problematical.

Some years since, when I was a student of Dr. Spitzka, of New York, my attention was first called to false hydrophobia. This gentleman, in a paper read before the Medical Jurisprudence society, took very sensible grounds against the imaginary disease, and supported himself by an array of facts that should inculcate a more healthy public sentiment in regard to canine pathology.

The chief reason for disbelief in the existence of hydrophobia is the faulty nature of the evidence. The alleged cases, when thoroughly sifted, resolve themselves into some distinct, recognizable disease, generally hysterical or nervous, in which terror and expectant attention are the main factors.

Many cases may be cited in which persons bitten by supposed rabid animals have manifested violent symptoms of hydrophobia, which have instantly disappeared on producing the animal in good health. A few years since, during a mad-dog scare, a man in Illinois was bitten by a supposedly rabid dog, which was promptly killed. Months afterward the patient was chloroformed by a physician and pronounced hydrophobic. Another physician being called in discovered the case to be one of severe intermittent fever, which yielded to appropriate treatment.

Post mortem examinations often dispel alarming announcements of hydrophobia outbreaks. In New York a horse died with some of the nervous symptoms, following the reported bite of a dog. A competent medical man recognized the ordinary symptoms of cerebro-spinal meningitis. A "genuine case of hydrophobia" in a Spitz dog was made the subject of a post mortem, which revealed the prime cause of death to be a sharp chicken bone, which had perforated the intestines. On the other hand, the characteristics of hydrophobia are found in perfectly healthy dogs. More or less foreign material has lately been found in the stomachs of scores of dogs killed for experiment, such large and strange assortment as strings, feathers, straw, cotton, shoe-leather, and even a pocket knife, being among the findings.

With the recent advance in the study of nervous diseases it is known that this lower order of animals is subject to many of the same diseases that afflict man. Many of the mental disturbances supposed to be peculiar to rabies can be produced in dogs artificially. I am not aware that any one has yet isolated the microbe of hydrophobia, but we do know that there is no symptoms of hydrophobia that may not be produced in dogs inoculated with decayed fluids, the spinal cord of a calf or with soap.

In Germany we hear but little of hydrophobia, many years ago by since a case was reported in Berlin. In Asia Minor and Constantinople, the land of pariah dogs, one never hears of hydrophobia.

The most faithful of all animals may, however, become a nuisance. I have seen it estimated that there are more dogs than sheep in the state of Virginia. As non-producers it would be well for nearly every community if the number of dogs were less, and as a matter of preventive legal medicine it would be well to muzzle all dogs running at large, with a view to quieting public apprehension and excluding further epidemic of "journalistic hydrophobia."—New York Post.

PHILIPPINE CROELITIES.

"I have no reason to disbelieve their statements; in fact, the instances of torture in the case of the man Luna, who had been tortured and burned to death, had been confirmed by other reports."

Concerning the failure to receive the statement General Miles says: "Whether any influence was brought to bear to prevent their statement, either by persuasion or coercion, I am not prepared to say at the present time."

General Miles then refers to other cases, saying that on the island of Cebu it was reported and published in November, 1902, "that two officers, Captain Samuels, Forty-fourth infantry, United States volunteers, and Lieutenant Foster, Nineteenth infantry, had committed similar atrocities against the people of that island. It is also reported that on the island of Luzon, two natives were whipped to death. At Tacloban, Leyte, it was reported that Major Glenn ordered Lieutenant Caulfield, Philippine Scouts, to take eight prisoners out into the country and that if they did not guide him to the camp of the insurgent Quison he was not to bring them back. It was stated that the men were taken out and that they either did not or could not do as directed. One of the men who had a son among the scouts was spared, but the others were separated into two parties, numbering three or four respectively, and while they together were all murdered by being shot or being bayoneted to death, some being in a kneeling position at that time. The pretense was made that they were killed while attempting to escape, but so far as I know no official report was ever made of the circumstance. These facts have been reported by Major Watts, who investigated the case. Besides Lieutenant Caulfield, civilian scouts Aamon, Preston, Corn and McKee were participants."

"At Calbayog, Samar, it was reported that several men in that district, had been subjected to water torture. I saw three men who had been subjected to this treatment. One was president of Keytown, Mr. Roselles, who showed me long deep scars on his arm which he said were caused by the cords with which he was bound cutting his flesh. The second man was named Jons Berja and the third was Padre Jose Dianses, who stated he was one of three prisoners who had been subjected to torture by the troops under command of Lieutenant Gaujet, Tenth cavalry, that his front teeth had been knocked out, which was apparent; that he was otherwise maltreated and robbed of three hundred dollars. It was stated that these priests were taken out to be killed and were only saved by the prompt action of Major Carrington, First infantry, who sent out for them. Lieutenant Gaujet was tried, pleaded guilty and was given the trivial sentence of three months' suspension from our land, forfeiting $50 per month for the same period. His pleading guilty prevented all the facts and circumstances being developed.

"It appears that Major Glenn, Lieutenant Conger and a party of assistants and native scouts were moved from place to place for the purpose of extorting statements by means of torture, and it became so notorious that the party was called 'Glenn's brigade.' Whether it was possible for officers to be engaged in such acts without the personal knowledge of the general upon whose staff they were serving at the time, namely, Brigadier-General Hughes, I leave for others to conjecture.

"These facts came to my notice in a casual way and many others of similar character have been reported in different parts of the archipelago. In fact, I was informed that it was common talk at the places where officers congregated that such transactions had been carried out either with the connivance or approval of certain commanding officers. It is, however, most gratifying to state that such atrocities have been condemned by such commanders as Generals Lawton, Wade, Sumner, Lee, Baldwin, and others.

"I found that with certain officers the impression prevails that such acts were justifiable, and I felt it my duty, in order to correct such erroneous and dangerous impressions and to prevent the possibility of such acts being committed in the future, which must impair the good name of Americans and bring discredit to our service for all time, to follow to the division commander the following letter of instructions."

"Then follows an order addressed to the commanding general of the Philippines, under date of February 28, 1903, in which General Miles calls attention to the reports of atrocities and directs that any orders or circulars of personal instruction which would inspire or encourage any act of cruelty be annulled. The order says that 'the excuse that the unusual conditions justify the measures herein condemned is without foundation.'"

Continuing his report to the secretary General Miles directs attention to the acts of reconcentration by General Bell and claims that they were in direct violation of the law. He says the law was also violated in hanging any buying large quantities of rice which was sold at a large profit. The people who were in the reconcentration camps were, says General Miles, considered prisoners of war, but were compelled to buy food from those who held them at a large profit." General Miles characterizes this as unprecedented. He speaks of the magnitude of the transaction, which involved 21,000,000 pounds of rice, and other supplies at a cost of $300,320. He says that "an extraordinary feature of this transaction" is that the action was disapproved by a division commander who assumed command and who turned the matter over to the civil authorities and that it has been carried on under an act of the Philippine commission.

LOCAL FINANCIAL NOTES.

Only about a million dollars out of $16,850,000 New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad convertible bonds are now outstanding. According to the terms of the issue holders have until June 1 to convert, but under the recent circular of the company, offering new stock at $175 per share, holders will naturally wish to convert on or before May 15. Present stockholders received on Thursday the blank forms for the new stock; white forms for subscription.

On May 1 the final installment of the New Haven Gas Light debentures will be due; it will yield the company $375,000; on the same date the last installment of sixty dollars per share will be payable on the stock of the Edison Electric Illuminating company, of Boston, which was subscribed in September, 1902. This company has recently received authority to issue 8,649 shares of new stock at $300 per share to holders of May 20. New stock to be paid in full September 1, 1903.

THE CONGREGATIONAL CLUB

SUPPER AND ENTERTAINMENT AT FOX AUDITORIUM.

Rev. W. F. McDowell speaks on "A Day at Rugby"—Miss Rena T. Barnes Slugs—Membership Limit Reached—Large Attendance.

The spring meeting of the New Haven Congregational club at the Y. M. C. A. building last evening was very largely attended. Enthusiasm was high and as a result the membership limit was reached and a waiting list was formed.

An excellent supper was served at 6:30, a social hour preceding it, at which the members were given an opportunity to exchange greetings.

The supper was served in the ladies' parlor and the game room. Although the adornment of each table was to be left to the ladies who served the general color scheme was pink and green—in substance he spoke of a visit to the great English school and from his impressions drew many valuable ideas and suggestions. The love of truth was referred to as being coincident with the great educational helps offered the members. During the course of his speech Dr. McDowell said that he was becoming quite warmed up in his subject and referred to the answer Lambie made to Coleridge who, when asked if he had ever heard him preach, remarked that he had never heard him do anything else.

Freedom and thought must go hand in hand in the schools. Culture and conviction are linked together. The story of the irate conductor who damned the man who pulled the string provoked much laughter. The impatient passenger yanked the cord so hard that the bells at both ends of the car were rung. The conductor asked why he—double-cooked letter he was pulling the bells at both ends of the car, to which the passenger replied that he "wanted both ends of the thing to stop."

Mr. McDowell likened this incident to the educational movement. He wished both the concentration and culture ends of the car to go ahead.

Schools should furnish creating power, they should teach to think good, to speak truth, and to do right. The youth from the age of ten to twenty receives the poorest schooling and this period is the most important of the life. The teachers are the poorest. Good schoolmasters should be the great problem. There are too many women teachers in the schools, and in the great universities there could be good use made of a few superior women, for the collegiate instruction of men.

Rugby spirit is needed in the United States. Honesty for its own sake is needed.

The banquet was in charge of a committee composed of Mrs. Fred B. Street, chairman, Mrs. C. F. Messinger, Mrs. Willis G. Braley, Mrs. N. S. Bronson, Mrs. A. C. Bushnell, and Mrs. Samuel H. Reed.

Mrs. Tuttle, wife of W. J. Tuttle, of the Consolidated railroad shops, residing at 612 State street, is convalescent after a seven weeks' severe illness with the grip. Her husband a day or two ago was prostrated with the same disease and is quite ill.

BATH TUBS AND FITTINGS.

Ingenuous Portable Contrivances—Tubs Now Made of Glass.

Although bathtubs are a matter-of-course feature of every home, probable baths in great variety are constantly on sale, and many are made to order to suit individual preference. The boot-shaped leg and foot baths on the London plan are now duplicated in domestic wares here, and so are the hat-shaped traveling baths and a score of others, from the big 72-inch plunge bath down to the smallest of the neat and rolled-edged sponge baths and English wash-ups.

Not only travelers campers and country sojourners order portable baths, but many are wanted by city dwellers averse to sharing bathroom with others, and those with luxurious fancies to gratify. Wealthy invalids and cripples have baths made to fit their own needs. Sumptuous bathing outfits are made to order for infants. Some of these are of finely annealed glass or decorated porcelain, and are affixed to stands that may be pulled out into the sunlight or draw near the fire, just as conditions vary.

Self-adjusting rubber baths that jump into shape at the turning of a screw are now brought out with stands that allow of their being raised or lowered at will.

The bath that serves the purposes of both bath and trunk is a favorite. Of composition stuff that is outwardly the color of leather and with a close-fitting cover that shuts down overlapping like a trunk lid, this is eminently presentable when strapped taut and duly labeled. Tourists fond of out-of-the-way places take along one of these traveling baths, and are happy and independent.

Some individual baths have been made of aluminum. Papier mache affords some good designs. Others are of Japanese wood various makes of tin and zinc, porcelain or glass lined.

HUME-HUNSBERGER.

A very pretty church wedding took place in Center church at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The contracting parties were Elizabeth Norris Hume, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Edward S. Hume of Bombay, India, also a sister of the late Miss Hume, the former lady missionary of the City Missions, and Rev. Byron Keyser Hunsberger. The pastor, Rev. Dr. Smyth, officiated at the wedding. The church was handsomely decorated. The bride was given away by her brother, Edward Charles Seabury was the best man and the bridesmaid was Miss Catherine Hume, a sister of the bride. The maids of honor were Gertrude Hume, another sister, Miss Carswell of Baltimore and Miss Brown, who is going to Turkey as a missionary.

One of the earlier stopping places of the Weber and Fields all-star stock company will be the Hyperion theater...

"Twirly-Whirly" is a production of the distinctive Weber and Fields type. The author, Edgar Smith, who has written all the company's plays for several seasons...

The second part is devoted to the travesty of Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett's dainty play in which Fay Templeton caricatures Millie James and the male principals appear as pupils of the school presided over by Miss Pinchin...

In the comedy "Duchess of Devonshire," which will be produced at the Hyperion next Thursday night by Miss Fitz-Allen and her specially selected company...

Irish wit and humor, Irish pathos and the Irish brogue will be in evidence on the Hyperion stage next Friday night...

Mr. Olcott has given the play a generous setting and provided an excellent company, and especially fit the play. They are "The Limerick Girls," "No-roen Mavrouren," "The Voice of the Violet" and "Every Little Dog Must Have His Day..."

David Warfield is to be seen at the Hyperion next Saturday night and is a comedian of uncommon talent and magnetic personality.

Brief Mention.

High water to-day, 11:45 p. m. Carl Rieger has secured a position in Boston, where he has gone to assume charge. He will be followed by his family later.

Professor and Mrs. Horatio W. Parker will be the guests of Mrs. H. Grant Thompson over the Symphony concert. They will arrive in the city this evening.

To-morrow evening in the parlor of the Taylor M. E. church, Milford, a reception will be tendered Rev. Mr. Truckey, the new pastor of the church, and his family, by the people of the church and their friends.

The practice ship Elfrida, of the Connecticut Naval battalion, will soon go to the Brooklyn navy yard to receive the annual overhauling preparatory to going into commission. The Elfrida is now lying at the end of Long wharf.

Edgewood lodge, K. of P. of Westville, is growing rapidly and candidates for membership are being proposed at every meeting. On May 18 the lodge will hold a social and entertainment at Masonic hall for the members and their families.

THE NEW HAVEN SYMPHONY CONCERT.

With the exception of the New Haven Symphony, whose working season will close on Thursday of this week, all the musical organizations of the city have brought their meetings to an end. The retrospective glance at the winter's work from all organizations, both choral and orchestral, speaks eloquently for the progress made, under great difficulties by the different societies who are spreading musical culture abroad. Ten years ago when Dr. Parker gathered crude, erratic, but willing musicians together to give a first performance in Alumni hall, no one could have foretold the success that this band of enthusiastic men have achieved. The concerts given in this city during the winter months ten years ago only the big musical centers like New York and Boston were privileged to give.

The New Haven symphony started with no dependence on men of wealth. Until their skill should equal the ambitions of Dr. Parker it has been uphill work financially.

Public spirited generosity in this great factor in the guise of a Higginson of Boston has not yet been reached in this city. Great discouragement for want of public recognition in the sale of tickets has been this season a great draw back to the organization.

The policy adopted this season of making the programme attractive for young as well as old, following the Damrosch idea has helped in interesting many out siders of the regular list of subscribers.

On Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Hyperion to the musical performance of the Symphony orchestra will take place. Goldmark's symphony in five parts will be given.

It is not beyond the depths of even the non-musical listener. Leopold Winkler has a concerto for piano and orchestra. The reputation of this pianist is new to New Haven, but, his work has made sensations wherever he has been heard.

Miss May Bradley, soprano soloist, will give great pleasure. A young fresh voice, gifted by nature, and well trained, as shown in the recent recital with Dr. Duff at Sheffield hall. Combined with Miss Bradley in the Handel Arfa Max Dessauer will play the flute obligato.

That certainly represents a programme that in New York would commend itself to the musical critic. The continuance of these orchestral concerts depends this season on the winding up for the musicians with a big house, every ticket sold. Each individual can greatly help the management by spreading the news of the concert and assisting to make this jubilee a great success. The sale of tickets at the Hyperion at an entrance fee less than for the usual theater ticket ought to leave not a single empty seat.

Hyperion, 4 o'clock, Thursday, April 30th.

KENT CLUB ELECTIONS

FOR SPRING TERM WERE HELD AT YALE LAST EVENING.

C. D. Lockwood, of Stamford, Elected President-G. E. Mix, of New Britain, Chosen for Vice-President-List of Other Officers Elected-Largely Attended Meeting.

One of the most important and largely attended meetings ever held by the Yale Kent Debating club was the one of last evening in Hendrie hall when the election of officers for the spring term took place. The principal contests of the evening were for the positions of president and vice president. Three candidates, C. D. Lockwood of Stamford, R. W. Amick of Canon City, Col., and M. J. Cunningham of Danbury, were in the field for the presidency, while W. J. Mulligan of Thompsonville and George E. Mix of New Britain were the candidates for the vice presidency. President Dalton of the club presided at the opening of the meeting.

In the election of a president the result was as follows: Total vote cast..... 84 C. D. Lockwood..... 24 R. W. Amick..... 45 M. J. Cunningham..... 22 W. J. Mulligan..... 23 Blanks..... 3

In the contest for the vice presidency, Mr. Mulligan was nominated by D. J. Conway, while James T. Mather nominated Mr. Mix. The result of the ballot was as follows: Total vote cast..... 84 G. E. Mix..... 45 W. J. Mulligan..... 53 Blanks..... 3

The other elections resulted as follows: Treasurer, M. J. Cunningham '02 L. S.; secretary, A. H. Jente '05 L. S.; critic, J. H. Lewis '03 L. S.; assistant critic, Ira L. Anderson '04 L. S.; executive committee, G. E. Mix '04 L. S.; chairman, Frank Kenna '05 L. S.; and R. H. Fiske '03 L. S.

The club appointed a committee consisting of Charles Dalton '03 L. S., Robert Snow '04 L. S., and R. W. Amick '03 L. S., to secure diplomas and gavel for those senior class members of the club who have been noteworthy in debate during the year.

VARIOUS ITEMS.

The Rev. J. Frederick Sexton, pastor of St. James' Episcopal church, Westville, will officiate this afternoon at the funeral services over the remains of Earl C. Brown of Milford, whom he united in marriage to Miss Annie C. Brower on May 4 of last year.

All union mechanics employed on the new Web shop in Allington were ordered on strike yesterday morning because the building is being erected by the Tracey Bros. of Waterbury, where a strike is in progress.

Attorney Charles C. Spreyer, alderman-elect of New Haven, and candidate for its assistant clerkship, will be remembered in Meriden as a former football coach for the local team.—Meriden Journal.

Very extensive improvements are on at the Bungalow, the summer home of Ella Wheeler Wilcox at Short Beach. Solid masonry from the kissing stone out into the sea is being laid, and a Chinese pagoda, or some other foreign temple is to be built on the pier. Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox are on their way home from California and are due at Short Beach some time in May.

Charles W. Everett was yesterday appointed fourth class postmaster at Cornwall Bridge.

Work on the new Vanderbilt hall, Lamson hall and Kirland hall, the three buildings which are being constructed at Yale, has progressed rapidly the past few days. The foundations for all three buildings are now completed, that of Lamson hall, the new office building for the academic dean, being the last.

Frank M. Barber of this city, Connecticut agent of the Associated Press, delivered an address before the Women's club at the public library in Wallingford yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Councilman H. Oldershaw of New Britain has been called to this city by the illness of his son, Louis, who is attending college here.

Additional election expense returns were filed yesterday afternoon as follows: Henry F. Eosley, candidate for alderman-at-large, $47.50; Thomas C. Bracken, candidate for alderman of Twelfth ward, $25; F. W. Foley, democratic candidate for registrar of voters, $42.50; R. Sherman Baldwin, republican candidate for town clerk, $8.83.

As W. C. Chafee and Charles A. Chafee of Middletown, were out trouting in Middlefield on day last week and went about half a mile apart. W. C. Chafee stepped into some quicksand and began to sink. He had sunk nearly to his armpits when Charles Chafee, alarmed at not seeing him, searched for him and managed to pull him out. His long hip boots were left in the quicksand.

THE S. A. R. BANQUET.

Distinguished Speakers Will be on Hand.

At the banquet of the Sons of the American Revolution to be held in connection with the annual convention next Friday evening there will be a number of prominent speakers.

The banquet will be held in Music hall. It will begin at 6:30. Hon. Edwin Warfield, the president of the society, will be the chief speaker, and President A. T. Hadley, of Yale, will also address the gathering. Others who have promised to be present are Hon. John Goode, of Washington, D. C., General Curtis Guild, lieutenant-governor of Massachusetts; Rev. Watson L. Phillips, D. D., of the Church of the Redeemer, this city, and Professor Henry Wade Rogers. It is probable that ex-Governor George P. McLean will be present.

The convention will wind up on Saturday.

The Liverymen's association of this city has adopted a new rate for carriages to funerals. After May 1 the rate charged for carriages for funerals within the two-mile limit will be $4 instead of $3, which has been the rate heretofore.

EIGHTH ATLANTA CONFERENCE.

The eighth Atlanta conference will assemble May 26 at Atlanta university, Atlanta, Georgia. The subject for consideration will be "The Negro Church," which will include a study of the moral and religious condition of the negroes. Reports are being received from nearly all the states of the Union—from bishops and general officers and from men of affairs in all sections. The conference will be addressed by Rev. Dr. Washington Gladden, the eminent president of the American Missionary association; Professor Kelly Miller, of Howard university, a careful student; Mrs. Mary Church Terrell, former president of the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs, and Rev. C. B. Wilmer, rector of St. Luke's church, Atlanta. The Episcopal bishop of Georgia and many of the officers of other churches are expected to be present.

FIRE IN NEW BRITAIN.

Narrow Escape of People in Dwelling House. New Britain, April 27.—The two-story dwelling house of A. G. Smith was gutted by fire this morning. Mr. Smith and his family, who live on the first floor, escaped, but Mrs. Edward Benton, a second-story tenant, was forced into the attic with her baby, and both were burned before they finally escaped to the roof, where they were rescued with a ladder. Mrs. Ford, Mr. Smith's mother-in-law, having been carried out. The loss is $2,500; partially covered by insurance.

LICENSE APPLICATIONS.

Dealers Are Making the County Commissioners Hasty. License applications continue to pour into the office of the county commissioners. Two hundred have already been received. There are 450 licenses granted in New Haven, so it will be seen that many more dealers are to be heard from. May 1 is the last day for filing applications under the law.

DR. REED IS ILL.

Lecture at Trinity M. E. Church Has Been Postponed. Dr. George Edward Reed, president of Dickinson college, was unable to lecture at Trinity Methodist church last evening.

A telegram received here yesterday morning stated that he was all, therefore necessitating postponement of the lecture.

Highway Commissioner Macdonald was in Terryville Friday evening, and, with Selectmen Austin and Hixson, inspected Bullhead street. Mr. Macdonald refused to approve this highway and ordered the top dressing removed and the road rebuilt before accepting it as a state highway.

"Captain Rackett" will be presented at the Milford town hall this and tomorrow evenings by the Milford Dramatic club. Some time ago this club gave "The Circus Girl" in a very creditable manner. A number of New Haven friends will attend the two performances.

THE THOMPSON SHOP.

Our assortment of Mattings is large this season. They vary in style, designs, weave, wear and price, but every kind is good. The Japanese mattings in Carpet design, the Chinese in coarser, stronger weave of a check design, the Grass and Fibre mattings in most delicate patterns and colors. Walter Chaffee of Quinnipiac avenue, who had a thumb crushed at the New Haven Carriage company's factory, where he is employed, is improving from the injury.

Three candidates were baptized by the pastor, the Rev. E. W. Stone, at the Grand Avenue Baptist church, Sunday evening. A large congregation was present.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Hinckley of Springfield visited with F. L. Willis and family of Exchange street over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John McGregor of Hartford, former Fair Haven residents, who have visited here the past week, returned home yesterday. Mr. McGregor has been in poor health the past season, but is now some better.

From the effects of heart trouble, Edward Brophy of 147 Exchange street died at the New Haven hospital yesterday. He was thirty-six years of age.

The magnolia trees are now in full bloom and present a beautiful appearance, while the blooms fill the air in their vicinity with fragrance. The last freeze injured the buds and put back the flowering of the trees to a considerable extent.

Mrs. Willis Robinson of Branford visited relatives here Sunday. Marsden Perry of Ashabula, O., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morse of Quinnipiac avenue.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Grand Avenue Baptist church will meet Wednesday afternoon for sewing. There is much work to be done and a large attendance is requested. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Grand Avenue Congregational church will serve the last supper of the season to-morrow and are preparing to make the occasion one of special interest. The supper will be at the usual price, but a fine programme of entertainment is

SUICIDE OF BUTCHER.

Man in South Kent Kills Himself in a Slaughterhouse. New Milford, April 27.—Seth Monroe, a butcher aged about sixty-five years, who lived in South Kent, committed suicide this morning by cutting his throat. The act was committed in a slaughterhouse which Monroe owned and which was across the way from where he lived. His body was found by members of the family.

Monroe's wife died a month ago of scarlet fever and since then Monroe had been morose and despondent. He had several children residing at home and Mrs. Charles Camp and Mrs. Robert Dunlap, of this place, were his daughters.

to be added. This will be given in the upper room and holders of supper tickets will be admitted without extra charge, while those who may be unable to be present at the supper will have the privilege of the entertainment for the small sum of a nickel. Miss Parmalee, a professional elocutionist, has been secured, and the church choir will assist with vocal music, while the string quartette from the New Haven Orchestral club are expected to furnish some fine instrumental music. In addition to these attractions a twenty minute comedy is to be given by six young girls. The supper will be from 6:45 to 7 p. m., with menu as follows: Scalloped Oysters. Cold Meat. Baked Beans. Cabbage Salad. Pickles. Biscuits. Brown Bread. Cake. Coffee.

The Household of Faith has bargained with the parish of St. James' P. E. church to purchase a lot 50 feet front on Grand avenue, a part of the property on which stands the Episcopal parsonage. This lot adjoins the Central hall building on the east. The Household of Faith intends to erect a chapel on the lot later in the season. They now worship in the rooms of East Rock lodge, A. O. U. W., on Grand avenue. A sum has been subscribed for the building fund and more money is to be raised.

The Life and Advent union closed its convention with the Household of Faith on Sunday evening. The union met here two years ago and in Brooklyn last year. It is composed of churches of the Second Advent faith in this state, a part of Massachusetts and Brooklyn. The meetings were held for two and one-half days in the A. O. U. W. hall and meals were served to the delegates in the banquet room and they were accommodated with lodgings at the homes of members of the local society. Three sermons were preached each day, with prayer and conference.

The Masonic Temple Company Gives a Mortgage. In the town clerk's office yesterday there was recorded a mortgage deed by which the Masonic Temple company borrows $2,000 from Attorney William A. Wright. The money is borrowed at 6 per cent. interest. There are four notes payable on demand, one for $1,000, one for $500 and two for $250.

There is now a mortgage of $25,000 on the Masonic Temple property at the corner of Chapel and Union streets. The property is assessed at $66,000. It is said the $2,000 has been borrowed for improvements.

You Will Never Get a Better Chance for Shirt Waist Materials Than This.

For reasons best known to himself, a New York importer of Scotch cotton dress fabrics has distributed nearly a thousand pieces of Zephyrs and Silk Gingham among his trade at less than half the usual prices.

We got our share, of course. We are never far off when bargains like that are being handed out.

So here are many thousand yards of as pretty patterns in shirt waist materials as the world has produced this season. There are 26 patterns in Scotch Zephyrs and 51 patterns in Mercerized Gingham—usually called "Silk Gingham".

These are goods that have sold for years and were selling up to yesterday at 40c and 50c a 18c Yd. a yard. Choose, while these left, at Some other bargains—

The standard Dress Gingham, that have always sold at 12 1/2c a yard, are today marked 8 1/2c.

The Figured Dress Batiste in stripes and small spray effects; on white and colored grounds, are reduced to 5c a yard.

A splendid lot of Colored Madras, including the biggest variety in striped patterns that you have ever seen in one store at one time—standard 8c goods, are reduced to 6 1/2c a yd.

A very fine quality of Dress Sateen; black, white and blue grounds, with fancy figures and dots, standard 25c kinds, reduced to 19c a yard.

But be advised—there will be a rush for these. If you want any, get here Tuesday morning.

Most-Wanted Dress Goods at Half.

Another Malleyism. A list of Spring Dress Goods, including the weaves that are most in demand—the etamines, voiles, serges, chevots and brilliantines—in a complete list of colors and in black and white (in short, a whole store-full of Spring fabrics) regular prices on which run from 75c to $1 a yd.

Last Chance Tomorrow on That Millinery Offer!

Tomorrow is the last day of the Millinery offer made last Friday. The whole town knows about it and it would seem to us that at least half the town has been here to profit by it. So there's no need of going into details, except to say that on Tuesday ONLY, you may

Deduct $2 from the price of any $5 hat. Deduct $3 from the price of any $6.50 and $10 hat. Deduct $5 the price of any hat marked above $10.

And we will TRIM HATS FREE OF CHARGE if ordered Tuesday, with materials purchased here.

SOROSIS TRADE MARK. THE BEST SHOE FOR WOMEN.

All Sorosis boots and shoes are made "rights and lefts"—special patterns are cut for each part in both shoes.

This means a great deal in the wear of the shoe, and much extra expense in the manufacture. NO OTHER SHOES WERE EVER MADE IN THIS WAY. It is little points like these that place Sorosis in a class by itself.
