Pope Leo Still Heroically Sustains His Fight Against Death.

GENERAL STATE STATIONARY

NO HOPE, HOWEVER, HELDOUT FOR RECOVERY.

Latest Official Belletin Shows That the Kidneys Continue Functionally Deficient-Yesterday's Operation Al though Bringing Relief Cannot b Said to Increase His Chances-Earl This Morning He is in a Restless Condition After a Supposed Restful Sleep. Rome, July 10-9 p. m .- The following bulletin has just been issued: "During the day his holiness had some hours of rest without suffering. His pulse maintains its frequency and force. This morning, after the operation, his pulsation was 92, his respiration 28 and his temperature 36 centigrade. The kidneys continue functionally deficient. His general state is stationary. (Signed)

"Lapponi.

Rome, July 11-4:50 a. m. (Saturday)-Another operation, performed yesterbrought further relief to Pope Leo, and by it the possibility of his life being prolonged was increased; but it can hardly be said that the operation improved his chances of recovery. News just received from the vatican says the pope is now lying in a restless condition after having had a good sleep durthe early hours of this morning.

as an immediate resu or yesterday's operation the pope spent a quiet and almost painless day, with, for his age, a normal temperature, and he once more strikingly exhibited his strength of constitution and intellect. At the examination last evening the doctors could not perceive any regathering serum in the pleural cavity, but it was feared that the presence of serum would be to-day, thus rendering necessary perhaps another operation in

Shortly before midnight the condition of the pontiff was reported to have un dergone no change, and it was added that he had dropped peacefully into sleep. At that hour all within the palace was quiet, the pontiff's apartment alone showing signs of life. The pope slept until nearly two o'clock this morning, when he woke up, seemingly more refreshed, and asked for food. His pulse was taken and found to vary His temperature was

The latter part of the night was not so good owing to the restlessness and uneasiness of the patient. Dr. Lapponi has been going almost every fifteen minutes to look at the pontiff, who did not notice the presence of the doctor, being in a drowsy state. Dr. Lappont administered a dose of chloral and gave the patient at the same time an injection of camphor-caffeine.

A general feeling of tranquility marked the day in Rome yesterday, due to the widespread belief that, though the pope's days are numbered, his hour has not yet come. The sublime selfconfidence of the patient permeates the people, especially the simpler folk, who go about their day's work, postponing signs of sorrow and mourning until from the sick bed itself they hear that the unusual struggle is nearing its

There is foretold, almost apathetical ly, a repetition during the next few days of that exceptional medical history of recoveries and relapses which have so astonished the world this week That no doctor will lend the weight of his opinion to uphold this popular impression in no way affects the prevailing idea of the Romans. Nothing is more wonderful than the pope himself, they say, hence miracles are not out of the question. The news of yesterday morning's op eration sent cardinals and ambassa dors driving hurriedly to the vatican The sombre black carriages and horses of the former, relieved only by glimpses of the scarlet robes worn by the pale faced occupants, contrasted strangely with the brilliant equippages of the ambassadors. Outside St. Peters the ordinary visitors hurried past the Swis guards and ascended the staircase leadng to the inner court of the vatican.

The sun beat flercely on the plain. while shutters which shelter the pope's and all eyes were turned to wards them. Compared with the magnificance below. with the bewildering colors of the papal courts and the rich attire of the guards, the shuttered windows are peasant like in their simplicity. Another window caught the eye. This was open and the sun streamed in on Raphael's priceless frescoes and lit up the great marble portico. "Within there," said a papal attendant, "the rooms are already for Oreglia, the cardinal deacon, who will reign during the interregnum." The same grim preparation is apparent on all sides. Count Pecci, a nephew of the dying pope, wearing a straw hat and flannels, sat at the fire engine house, opposite the private entrance to the vatican, chatting with the firemen. Carriage after carriage drove into the court. The French, German and other am bassadors descended to make inquiries. Prince Massino, looking almost as venerable as the pope himself, the head of one of the most ancient families in Rome, all the cardinals and countless

A FURTHER DEMONSTRATION OF IT IN LONDON.

Lord Mayor Gives Luncheon at the Mausion House to American Naval Officers-Pavorable Attitude Toward Extension of Monroe Doctrine Expressed - King Again Specially Honors Commanders of Untted States 'quad-

London, July 10 .- Lord Mayor Samuel ave a luncheon at the Mansion house here to-day in honor of Rear Admiral Cotton and the other officers of the United States European squadron now at anchor in Portsmouth harbor.

The Prince of Wales has accepted an invitation to breakfast on the United States flagship Kearsarge at Ports-mouth, probably on Sunday. Some of he most distinguished officials of the empire will be present.

In his speech at the luncheon the lord mayor incidentally made a striking refrence to the Kishineff massacre. said he was thankful that the United States was not bound by diplomatic rules and etiquette and had not hesitated to raise its voice in protest against the barbarities of the world wherever hev occurred.

After the toasts to King Edward and President Roosevelt had been received with enthusiasm the lord mayor proposed the health of "Admiral Cotton his officers and the entire American

"Gentlemen," said the lord mayor, the course of my term of office it is my duty to entertain many people; but I vish to tell you that this luncheon was not officially inspired I could not let the American squadron go witheople of America, that ties of race, blood and language are recognized here, in the city of London, more warmly than in any other part of the world May the bonds which bind the two countries ever grow closer, and, if nec ssary, may we face the whole world together, while always endeavoring by very means in our power to maintain the peace of the world." A great outburst of cheering followed the tord may's closing remark.

Admiral Cotton was accorded an en thusiastic reception when he rose to re ply. He made a graceful acknowledge ment of the kindly welcome that the Americans had received from the British fleet and people and added:

"The squadron is here by direct order of the president of the United States, and as a messenger of peace and good will. I am sure I speak for the ples of both countries when I say I hope and believe that the Cross of St. George and the Stars and Stripes will never b waved by in amity and friendship, and for the peace of the world."

Prolonged cheering greeted the admiral's speech and he sat down with the band playing "Auld Lang Syne." Ambassador Choate, in toasting the ord mayor, said he hoped the Americans would realize the great honor which was paid to them in being entertained in this historic room.

The naval officers afterwards proceeded to the armory of the Honorable Artillery company, who were reviewed by King Edward at 5 p. m. The review was a brilliant affair. His majesty wore the uniform of the regiment, of which he is captain-general and colonel. He rode to the horse guards' parade, followed by Queen Alexandra and the Princess Victoria in an open carriage. An immens crowd of people encircles the parade and all the windows and the roofs of the adjoining houses were crowded with spectators.

The honorable artillery company ooked very smart and business like. It consisted of six companies of infantry, two batteriesof Khaki-colored guns and an up-to-date staff of cyclist despatch bearers, motor cycle coriers and sig-

The king followed the evolution closely and at their conclusion said he was glad of the opportunity to inspect the company for the first time since his accession and remarked that two hun-

TWENTY-TWO FATALITIES IN GREATER NEW YORK.

Also Sixty-five Prostrations-Hottes July 10 in the History of the Weather Bureau of the Metropolis-Heat-Crazed Negro Attacks Two Girls Carrying Ice-Might flave Been Lynched but for Detectives.

New York, July 10.-Twenty-two deaths and sixty-five prostrations in Greater New York tell the story of today's heat. It was the highest July 10 in the history of the local weather bu-91 degrees, recorded July 10, 1880.

The early threat of a temperature that would break all records, however, was not fulfilled. Thursday's record of 94 degrees at 4 o'clock, the high-weather mark of the year, was reached today at twenty minutes past one o'clock, without signs of relief. But by 2 o'clock the temperature had fallen two degrees, where it remained during the next two THAT PETITION TO RUSSIA hours. Fortunately the humidity was only 46 per cent, when the temperature stood at 94, and increased but slowly from that time during the afternoon, as night of Monday morning. Shamrock I from that time during the afternoon, as is lying in Erie basin and will not be the heat subsided. At 8 o'clock to-night it was 65 per cent., but by that hour the temperature had fallen to 83 degrees, six degrees lower than at the same hour Thursday.

During the two or three hours about noon, when the heat was the most inense, the wind averaged about nine miles an hour. About 5 o'clock the watchers at the weather bureau discovered that a thunder storm was in progress in the southeast. They saw the lightning and heard the thunder, and their records show that a few drops of rain fell as far up Broadway as Trinity

Meanwhile the wind shifted and increased in velocity to thirty-two miles an hour at 6 o'clock. The storm, which scarcely touched the city, had given the desired relief. Between 5 and 7 o'clock the temperature fell seven degrees. The city had been sweltering so long in the hot wave, however, that it was hours before the offices and tenements began to feel the effects of the cooler breezes In the streets, where the cooling process was more immediate, men, women and children crowded the doorways and walks to recover from the wearing effects of the day. As on the night before, many slept on the park benches and, where the police would permit it, on the grass. Daniel Lewis, a heat-crazed negro attacked with a club two girls who were carrying a large piece of ice. A mob quickly gathered and shouted, "Lynch him!" Lewis was rescued by detectives

WILL BE AN OPEN INQUIRY. India Certainly Included in Britain

Piscal Investigation. London, July 10.-The question of India's position in the coming fiscal in-quiry was raised by Lord Northbrook, liberal and formerly governor general of India, in the house of lords this afternoon and brought out from Foreign Secretary Landsdowne a fuller statemen of the government's intentions than had previously been elicited. Lord Landsdowne said India would certainly be included in the inquiry. The government intended to call ample expert evidence, not only from India but from all other parts of the empire. The interests of Great Britain and India would be fully considered from the economic commercial and political standpoint and

SERIOUS AUTO RACE.

Danny Moher, the American J Sertour Condition.

London, July 10 .- "Danny" the American jockey, had a serious motor car accident near Caterham, Surrey, this aftrenoon. He was thrown out of an automobile, fractured the base of his skull and sustained other injuries. A London specialist has bene summoned to attend him.

Maher hda been riding at the Lingfield races and was returning home in Lord Carnarvon's auto, which had been loaned him, when the accident occurred Maher himself driving and the chaffeur was sitting beside him. They were going at a hot pace when the steering gear falled to act and the car dashed into a motor, occupied by a lady and gentleman, which was going in the opposite direction. Maher and the chaffeur were both hurled from their auto and when picked up were unconscious. Both were removed to Caterham Cottage hospital, where they will remain seless. The latest reports from the hospital authorities characterize their conditions as "very grace."

The occcupants of the other car were only slightly hurt,

STEAMSBIP PIER

A HALF MILLION DOLLAR FIRE IN HOBOKEN.

udlnavlan-American Line for the Second Time in Three Years Tempo rarily Without a Landing Place-Erplosions Spread the Flames-Fireme

New York, July 10 .- The new pier of the Scandinavian-American Line, in Hoboken, was destroyed by fire to-day and for the second time in three years the line is temporarily without a pier It is believed the loss will amount to almost $500,000. The dock alone cost $200,000 to build.

The fire started in the store room of the pler, which was on the outer end and when the flames were first discov ered had a firm foothold. There was no ship of the line in port. The steamship Island should have docked to-day but did not arrive. On the pier was a large part of the cargo destined for Europe, which was to be shipped on the Island, and this was destroyed. Comparatively few men were at work on the pier at the time.

When the first fire engines arrived fully three hundred feet of the pler was blazing from the water's edge to the top. Tugs of all sorts and size threw water into the fire, but this seem ed to have little effect.

The flames spread as rapidly as when the North German Lloyd and Scandinavian piers burned three years ago There were three explosions, apparently caused by barrels of some inflamma ble material. After each the flames spread over more area in a very few

Within three-quarters of an hour after the fire started it was under control and the dock ruined. No list of the stuff destroyed on the pier can be obtained yet, but it is said 5,000 barrels of cement and 500 blcycles, with large quantities of other freight, were burned. None of the workmen on the pier was injured. When the fire broke out several of them, remembering the fire of three years ago, leaped into the river and swam to the tugs which swarmed up.

GOVERNMENT CROP REPORT.

Less Corn and Lower Condition Winter Wheat.

Washington, July 10 .- Preliminary returns to the chief of the bureau of statistics of the department of agriculture show the acreage of corn planted to be about 89,890,000 acres, a decrease of about 4,200,000 acres, or 4.5 per cent. from the area planted last year, as revised in December.

The average condition of winter wheat on July 1 was 78.8, as compared with 32.2 last month, 77 on July 1, 1902, 88.3 on July 1, 1901, and a ten year average of 78.2,

The average condition of spring wheat only July 1 was 82.5, as com pared with 95.9 last month, 92.4 on July 1, 1902, 95.6 on July 1, 1901, and a ten year average of 85.9.

The average condition on July 1 of spring and winter wheat combined was 80, as compared with 82.9 on July 1, 1902, and 91.1 on July 1, 1901.

The amount of wheat remaining in the hands of farmers on July 1 is estimated at about 42,500,000 bushels equivalent to about 6.3 per cent, of the crop of last year.

The average condition of the oat crop on July 1 was 84.3, as compared with 85.5 one month ago, 92.1 on July 1, 1902, 83.7 on July 1, 1901, and a ten year average of 87.8.

isys Dis Human Life Ends With The of the Pope,

Paris, July 10 .- According to a de patch to the Journal from Rome, the ambassadors to-day found Cardinal Rampolla wrapped in a woollen shawl garment and complaining of being sick. The cardinal declared that he would retire from active life at the vatican and could not attend the conclave. He said to the Spanish ambassador: want to go into a monastery and with draw from the world. My human life will end with that of Pope Leo." Cardinal Rampolla wept bitterly, but at noon had an interview with Cardinal Gottl, who succeeded in consoling him

CONNECTICUT LEAGUE MEETS

CONNELL MATTER TO BE DEFI-NITELY SETTLED TO-DAY.

The Holyoke-Meriden Game and the Vickers Case to be Decided Upon a Next Meeting-Umpires'Sainries Raised -Strengous Efforts to be Made to Keep the Game Clean.

At the meeting of the directors of the Connecticut Baseball league held in the Hotel Garde last evening the matter of the Holyoke-Meriden game which was forfeited by the Holyoke team owing to bjections to the umpire came up for consideration. Manager O'Neil, of the Holyoke team, notified the secretary of the league that he would not play un der Umpire Frickens, and the super visor of umpires, Mr. Killeen, notifie Frickens to change his schedule, but the latter persisted in umpiring the game, anyway. The protest was laid over last right until another meeting,

The Vickers case was also brought up. The claim was made that Vickers was a farmed-out player from the major league, which is against the rules of the Connecticut league.

Manager O'Nell claimed that Vickers was a member of his team and assigned to him on such terms as any other member of the league the question was a tie, and Mr. Danaher, acting president, dissolved the tle by voting to throw out the games in which Vickers played. Mr. O'Neil took an appeal on the legality of the vote claiming that by the action of Mr. Danaher Meriden voted twice. Mr. Kennedy, manager of the Meriden team, who voted and who is not a director Mr. O'Neil claimed, had no right to vote. The appeal was also taken because Mr. Canavan was not allowed to vote on the proxies of the Springfield and New London clubs, although it was formerly customary to accept the word of the man holding the proxies, whether he had a written proxy or not. Upon reconsideration this question was als laid over until another meeting. The clubs which voted to throw out the games were Hartford, Meriden and Bridgeport.

The Hardesty matter was the next to come up for consideration. The league had voted at a former meeting that in case the player was taken away from New Haven the New Haven manager would be reimbursed by the Hartford club for the advance money given to Hardesty, which was $60. Mr. Reilly moved that the Springfield club, with whom Hardesty is now playing, this amount out of Hardesty's salary and pay the same to Manager Canavan, of the New Haven team. In case Springfield defaults it will be up to the Hartford club to make this amount good to the New Havens,

The umpire salary question was next taken up. The salaries were raised to 7 a game, $10 for double-headers and $2 for stormy days when thee will be no game. The umpires requested that the eague pay them $175 a month upon the condition that they pay their own expenses, and the league voted favorably upon this proposition.

The umpires will hereafter be obliged to wear uniforms, and they must be very particular to see that the language used by the players was gentlemanly and courteous. If any player shall use profane or violent language he is to be heavily fined for the first offense, and for the second offense the penalty will be to quit the game. The umpires were also given to understand that the league would back them up thoroughly in their efforts to keep the game clean The Connell matter will be definitely settled to-day. The directors adjourned at 11:30. The next meeting will be

The assault cases against Patrick Murray and John Sullivan were in tre hands of the jury at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Yesterday morning was devoted to the arguments of Attorney James M. Sullivan for the accused and State Attornely Williams. At 2 o'clock Judge Robinson delivered his charge to the jury.

Murray and Sullivan are charged with assaulting John Kinney, a none-union teamster and with conspiracy.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the jury returned a verdict of guilty on both charges. Sentence was reserved until next Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock. The men were both taken back to jail after the verdict.

CAPT. T. F. BURKE RESIGNS.

Young Springfield Veteran Out of Miable Record.

Captain Thomas F. Burke, of Compa ny B, Second regiment, has tendered his resignation to Colonel Embury P. Clark. Captain Burke is now in New Haven, Conn., on business which may keep him there for several months, and will be unable to attend to his company

Captain Burke has seen fifteen years of service in Company B, during which he has rise nfrom the rank of private to the command of the company. He enlisted as a private June 11, 1888, and In favor of our Walkover was appointed corporal April 17, 1890, for excellence in competitive drill. In 1893 he was appointed sergeant, and Captain Burke, above referred to, has been in this city for nearly two weeks managing the cafe formerly run by Paul Well on Chapel street. He is here only temporarily, as the proprietorship of the place is to be taken over by another man next week and extensive alterations will be made, making the place one of the finest in the city. Captain Burke is traveling agent for the Springfield Brewing company, which holds the lease of the house. He came to New Haven, at the instance of his concern, to open the cafe and manage it pending negotiations for its assumption by other parties. - Captain Burke had many friends here before, but he has added to them during the last two weeks. He will come to this city regularly in the future, as in the past, as agent for the brewing company. His reason for resigning from the militia was on account of pressing business. his duties demanding more and more of his time from year to year.

Manson were placed on the minority ticket, not knowing they had refused to run for office, As for myself L have repeatedly declined to hold any office or have my name used on any ticket. Neither do I wish to be the leader of any faction whatsoever or to be considered as such,

As soon as the majority vote was read, a motion to adjourn was carried, which prevented the reading of the minority vote.

The old Pine Orchard association went out of business at 7:30 p. m., July 6, 1903, without making any report of the business transactions of the year just ended. Let us consider some of the transac tions of the old board. In September, 1901, appropriations were made as follows for the ensuing year: Fire protection Electric lighting and sprinkling 300 Destruction of mosquitoes 150

Appropriations made in 1902 for the ensuing year were as follows; Under the heading of Sanitary Purposes (instead of Destruction of the Mosquitoes as it was called the previous fear) was an appropriation of $330 And unless I am much mistaken with power to use any unexplended balance from other sources.

One of the inconsistencies in the charter relates to the matter of representation—thus: "Any female member may by writing signed by her and filed with the clerk authorize any person to act for and vote in her place at any meeting . and any male person of such age being a member or holding a proxy from a female member, shall be eligible to any office provided for in this resolu-

Why has the female member not right to hold office as well as vote? Under no conditions is a man allowed to vote by proxy. Why should one member be denied a privilege that is extended to another member?

Under the charter the members of the association have no right to call a meeting, all power being vested in the executive board. The only right the charter gives to the members is the right to vote once a year for officers at the annual meeting.

One word about the mosquito. The attempt to destroy the mosquito is a dismal failure in this vicinity. During the ten years I have lived here they have never appeared to be more numerous. They even lodge on the kerosen barrels, which properly constituted mosquitoes are supposed to flee from. Further, I am opposed to any arbitrary action which seeks to impose upon a land owner the burden of ditching and draining at his own expense by order of the Pine Orchard association. Referring to an anonymous and misleading report in your paper of the annual meeting of the Pine Orchard association in which reference was made to me as opposed to sanitary measures, I would say that my career as a business man for a period covering a third of a century, will enable every one who has ever employed me to stamp the assertion as wholly unjust.

NEW PROCESS OF BRAZING.

Marvelous Invention of Friedrich Pich -Successful Joining of Cast Iron

Pieces.

There is no end to research and also no end to the additions to applied science. Cast fron mechanisms or cast iron parts of machinery have always seen the end of their usefulness when the continual impounding or a sudden strain caused them to crack. Customarily, if their usefulness was desired to be continued a band of wrought iron would be rivetted around the parts, but it was never known that the separated parts could be made into a single piece again by welding or brazing.

But now this difficulty has been sucessfully overcome by a process of brazing upon which letters patent have been granted to Friedrich Pich. material he uses is called ferrohold. The inventor has sold his right in several countries outside of Germany. In the latter country the process is employed by Krupp and other large foun-

The American rights have been sold to the American Brazing company, with offices at 136 South Fourth street, Philadelphia, and its shops at 532 West Twenty-second street, New York city. This company sells shop rights and also jobbing rights.

The process also enables the founder to coat cast iron with brass, bronze or copper, thus enabling him to use cast iron on many jobs where nothing but steel has been hitherto employed.

bishops and priests came to await the bulletin.

A small crowd of men, women and children of all descriptions besieged the door where the news was to be given uot. From the castle of St. Angelo came the boom of the midday gun, and then the Pallatine guard gave the signal for the anxious crowd to be admitted. Passing through the corridor each received a slip of white paper on which the morning bulletin was already print-

During the remainder of the day but few of the public sought the Then came the night bulletin and for larger crowds that had gathered during the day wandered to he vatican in the cool of the evening. THE WATER HYACINTH PEST.

A Chemical Process Which is to En sure Extermination.

During the last year experiments have been tried under the supervision and Daniel Dorc. The funeral was very of the government, with the idea of rid-largely attended. The interment was ding the southern waterways of the hyacinth. As is well known, the variety so rapidly and has such a rank growth. in Florida and Louisiana, that it has seriously interfered with navigation and in some cases has completely blocked streams which had hitherto steamers. The hyacinth has been especiallytroublesome on the St. Johns peller provided with blades having very sharp edges, with the view of cutting away the growth below the surface. It was believed that this treatment would cause the plants to die, but the benefit was only temporary. While lanes of open water were made by the action of the rapidly moving propeller, they were soon filled with the hyacinth and this scheme was abandoned. At some of the smaller wharves on the St. Johns the growth has been so thick that it has been necessary to go out in boats and cut away with sickle and knife a large area, in order to allow a vessel to moor at the dock, while some of the smalle wharves have been abandoned, as the plant grows so thickly about them that a boat driven by quite powerful engines is in danger of becoming blocked in the midst of a bed, unible to extricate it-

The method which is now beling tried, however, seems to have solved the problem of how to destroy the hyacinth, and it is believed that if sufficient equipment is provided, eventually all of the southern ater courses may be cleared of the pest permanently. A chemical has been compounded which has such an effect upon the plant that it comes in contact with the stem blossom these portions soon wither; but the solution is so powerful that it works its way down the stem, killing the root as well. Some of the ingredients of the chemical are known only to the inventor, but a large quantity of acid is used in its preparation. The process of manufacture is very simple, the"laboratory" being placed upon 'a barge provided with two tanks each of which has a capacity of five thousand gallons. Connected with the tanks is a boller in which the ingredients are mixed at a high temperature produced by steam heat. The barge is of such light draft that it can be towed by the spraying boat if desired, but the latter been available for the use of light-draft is provided with three reservoirs each holding thirty-five hundred gallons, which are filled by pumping from the river, where various schemes have been | barge. Pipes lead from the reservoirs tried to destroy it. One of the plans to a steam pump which supplies the was to equip a steamboat with a pro- spraying apparatus. three booms. One extends directly in front of the vessel, being supported by a block nd tackle attached to the bow deck. The others project from the sides of the vessel. The sprayers consist of hollow tubes which are perforated at intervals of about a foot and the holes are fitted with miniature nozzles. The liquid is forced into the sprayers through lines of hose which are connec. ted to the sprayers by couplings in the usual manner. The arrangement of the sprayers is such that the chemical can be distributed over a space ninety feet in width when the boat is moving. The boat containing the spraying apparatus is of the type of craft used on southern rivers, drawing but four or five feet of water. She is provided with very powerful engines in proportion to her size in order to drive her through the masses of hyacinths, and is so modeled as to offer as little resistance to the obstruction as possible. Her reservoirs carry a sufficient supply of chemical to cover about one hundred thousand yards, and on a portion of the stream where the growth is not too rank, the steamer will treat this area of surface in a day. In places where the side sprayers cannot be utilized on account of trees or other obstructions, the chemical is applied to the plants by means of ordinary hose operated by members of the crew.

Such is the destructiveness of the solution that within a few hours after it is applied the withering process begins and microscopic tests prove that the liquid penetrates the groth below the water, killing the roots as airtady stated. Portions of the read growth which have been pulled from the bottom of the St. river where the treatment has been applied show that the effect of the chemical is to rot the fiber and disintegrate it to such an extent that it no longer offers resistance to navigation. The solution kills the seed as well as the plant, and efforts are made to cover as much space during the seeding period as possible. The work has done under the direction of the United Lovers of beautiful products of Belglum, Brussels and Flemish lace will learn with regret that, according to an exhaustive inquiry that has just been completed under the auspices of the Minister of Industry, the lace industry of Belgium is gradually dying out. That the number of workers employed in the manufacture of Belgium laces has fallen during the last quarter of a century from 150,000 to 47,000 is a sufficient indication of the decline in this once flourishing industry.

The recent Western floods helped some and hurt others. The farmers in the Burlington bottom, near Hartsburg, for example, find that what they thought was a disaster to them was really a blessing. The floods washed out all their corn; but it deposited from six inches to six feet of rich soil on their land. They replanted their crops as soon as the water had subsided, and their corn came up so quickly and has grown so fast that already they have a better stand than farmers on the higher lands surrounding, which were not touched by the waters.

Downward, steadily downward, the stocks have gone with now and then a feeble rally until a few weeks ago there was a dull thud and the bottom appeared to have been reached. Liquidation it was then thought by many wise heads had run its course and stocks certainly have looked cheap of late compared with the dizzy heights they attained in the last year or two. There seems to be no cheerful haste to buy, however, even at these lower prices. The public looks askance at the stock list having had a remarkable and impressive object lesson as to the way prices can peel off when ing to the dogs, however. Railroad earnings and net earnings at that, continue amazingly large. Despite the higher cost of labor and material the earnings keep up wonderfully well. But the spirit of pessimism is rampant, due to the warning spectacles made by a number of over-capitalized combinations that have already gone to the wall and fear that there may be others of like ilk. PEACE AND PROGRESS.

It is cheerful even in this torrid weather to know that peace and progress prevail and have prevailed in the Province of Ambos Camarines, Philippine Islands, for the last year, as is learned from the annual report of Governor Ross just submitted to the Bureau of Insular Affairs of the War Department. Governor Ross says the people of that province realize that peaceful conditions are essential to progress and sperity, and he gives them the credit of helping to maintain such conditions. This province is blessed also with unlimited agricultural possibilities and a soil of great fertility that will grow almost anything. And here is an opportunity for the very profitable employment of American capital, some of which is being put into losing and unsound speculative enterprises at home. The Filipino officials, moreover, employed in the province are found faithful, efficient and absolutely honest. The little brown brothers there evidently haven't developed any postoffice scan-

This is a gratifying report and does honor to the aforesaid Province of Ambos Camarines.

NATIONAL.

The national interest that is being awakened throughout the country on the forestry subject is a most gratifying thing and promises immense valuable results. California is now another of the states that is turning vigorous attention to this subject, and with the intention of fixing upon a proper forest policy that state has undertaken this year, with the help of the Bureau of Forestry of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, a comprehensive study of its forests. The State legislature recently appropriated $15,000 for the study, the condition being that it should be carried out by the Bureau of Forestry, and that the bureau should bear half the expense.

The task of securing all the information necessary for a forest policy for California the Bureau of Forestry has begun this summer. The work is of such magnitude that several years will be required to complete it, but valuable and suggestive results will be secured each year. Six men are now examining public lands in the State to determine what parts of them are suitable for national forest reserves, and similar studies will be made of lands for State reserves. A study will be made of all lands owned by the State in order to determine the uses to which

YOUNG OPOSSUMS.

The Virginia representative is the sole North American representative of that primitive group of animals, the marsupial, whose young are born at so crazy a stage of development, and in so helpless a condition, that the mother is obliged to carry them about with her in a sort of pocket for a considerable period. Comparatively few people have ever seen newly-born opossums, and indeed few would know what they were looking at if they did see them, so different are they from most young animals. The young of an opossum twenty-seven inches long are scarcely as large as those of a mouse less than seven inches long; they are merely soft little jelly-like creatures, which, as soon as they are born, are dropped or licked by their mother into a pouch or pocket her abdomen. Here each of th babies attaches itself to a nipple, of which it appears to be simply an enlargement. Its mouth, which is comparatively large at first, presently contracts about the teat and there the un developed youngster sticks for some weeks without once letting go his hold while his mother gently pumps milk into him. In the meantime the mother wanders about the woods from dawn until dusk, devouring a great variety of including wild fruits, insects, birds' eggs, young birds and small mammals; in fact, there are few kinds of food which are not her "huckleberry," as the boys say. That is one or the reasons why an oposeum is so hardy why it can live and thrive in a cold climate where most animals which come from the same warm regions would perish. Last summer I liberated a Virginia oppossum in Massachusetts, adn was assured that it yould surely die soon after the winter set in. I did not agree with this opinion, and the other day I had the satisfaction of hearing that an opossum had just been captured within half a mile of where I had lib-who had not only survived the winter. but was in good condition in every way. The oppossum is one of the most prolific of mammals, having perhaps three litters of young each year, with from six to sixteen ones in each litters, when they are about the size of small rats they come out of the pouch and then, to to get exercise and fresh air, and crawl back again when they get tired or are threatened with danger. Tris spring I had under observation an opossum with a number of young ones which had just reached this stage in their development. As the mother walked about, no one could tell that she had any young ones with her; they were all hidden completely in the pouch. By and by, however, as the little fellows grew, the pouch would not quite cover them, and their tails might be seen hanging out when the mother was lifted up by her tall. When they came out for an airing, they held on to their mother's long fur very cautiously, using not only their four hand-like paws but their prehensile talls as well. If I tried to remove one of them, it was very interesting to see how long sturdily he resisted the effort. Holding a tuft of long gray hair in each pink fist, he would pull forward with all his might, at the same time grasping another tuft in his mouth. If I let go his tail, he quickly twisted that around another bunch of hair, and it would have required a hard tug to pull him from the back of his parent. I never saw her assist her young ones in any way, and if by accidents one of them lost his grip and fell to the ground, she never picked him up as a squirrel or a mouse would have done, or even went to his assistance. Neither did I ever see the little ones twine their talls about the tail of their mother, as they are said to do, though they may have done so at times when I was not present. They were quite fearless at first, but one morning when they had reached the size of fullgrown rats, fear came to them. When put out my hand as usual, they opened their mouths and displayed their teeth, meanwhile emitting curious vibratory growls, which reminded me somewhat of the cries of young flickers in a hollow tree. As a rule they did not attempt to bite, now and then, if one of them got a very good opportunity, he would seize one of my fingers and give t a nip. The mother was just the same in this respect; she frequently growled, showed her teeth and assumed the most ferocious attitudes, but seldom attempt ed to bite, except when an unusally good opportunity offered.

On one occasion, however, when one of my little foxes, prompted by curiosity and perhaps by a more serious motive, nut his nose too close to a baby 'possum. he was greeted with a growl and a nip which caused him to draw back and consider the matter, giving the object of his attentions a chance to escape.

The ability of the little opossums to hang by their tails I had a chance to observe on many occasions; they could cling to a finger or a twig, by their tails alone, for many seconds, and by their hind feet, assisted by their tails, for display of emotion. METHODISM, RITUALISM, CHRIS-TIAN SCIENCE AND INFIDELITY.

The Methodist shurch is celebrating the bi-centenary of the birth of its great founder, John Welsey, on June 28, 1703, and incidentally it celebrates the most remarkable religious movement of modern times. John Wesley started a religious revival in the English church at a time when the spirit if religion was at a low ebb in it. He had no thought of developing any new church organization, but was impelled solely by an enthusiastic purpose to infuse the vitality of religious faith and religious life into the Church of England, for he was firm in the loyalty of his devotion to Methodism grew from small and humble beginnings into a new and independent organization in spite of his early misgivings, too his original convic-tions and sympathles were of the "high church" stamp. But there was a demand for the new organization, and it grew up naturally and irresistably.

Even at the time of his death, in 1791, Methodism had already been professed by more than 120,000 people and now it has a membership in the world of nearly 8,000,000, and its adherents number more than six times as many. In this country alone there are more than 6,000-900 Methodists, and they comprise about one-third the whole number belonging to protestant churches and factions. Next to them come the Baptists with about 1,000,000 less. They are ight times as many as the Episcopal-Only the Roman Catholics are lans. more numerous among the religious be-levers of the United Stater. In the census of church attendance aken in New York last Nevember, however, the Methodist ranked third among the protestant denominations. the Episcopalians first and the Baptists Their greatest strength has never been in the most populous cities; but we learn from a report of their efforts at evangelization in New York that never were these so so systematic and so vigorous as now. In nine Methodist churches organized and subtantially aided by the City Church Exension society, but now independent and self-supporting, there is gathered nearly one-third of the Methodist comnunicant membership of New York. In the crowded district below Fourteenth street of Manhattan seventeen churches and missions are strenuously engaged in evangelization. They are working among the Jews, the Italians the Japaneses and the Chinamen, but it is in the Bronx that they seem to be expecting the most progress. "For the next quarter of a century," says the Christian City, the organ of their city evangelization movement,"many of the most decisive battles of the faith will be fought out in trans-Hariem NewYork." Naturally, the Methodist missions to foreigners in the borough of New York are of much importance in their eyes, for the great majority of the population is of foreign birth or parentage. Among the Italians they are hard at work, with the Italian pastors in the lead. They have a mission for the thousand Japanese in New York, but of serious religious interest among these there does not seem to be much. Among the Chinamen they may be doing somewhat better, relatively. In the Ghetto they maintain a Hebrew medical missionary and they report that they "are gaining strong influence over Hebrew minds, but it is stony soil for the planting of christian seed." Generally, the report is of encourage ing progress of Methodism in New York; but it is a Methodism very diferent from the Methodism that swept over this country in the early part of the last century under the impulse of one of the greatest religious revivals in history. It is now, relatively, a polished Methodism. Plain and bare meeting houses have given place to churches of an ecclesiastical architecture. The old Methodists eschewed the vain ornaments of the body. The new are as handsomely arrayed as their means will allow. The old enthusiasm, expressed in shouting and glorifications has been succeeded by reserve in the

Wesley threw all the ardor of his nature, and to which he gave his really wonderful organizing and administhaof England. Methodism, looked bit in Herision, gathered force from outside the establishment and not from witin

But about 100 years after Wesley formally started the Methodist movement there began at Oxford another and a very different revival, or the Oxford movement, which has resulted in the ritualism we are now hearing so much about. Methodism was a revival of evangelicalism, the Oxford movement a reaction toward sarcedotalism, sacramentarianism and religious me diaevalism.

At the moment, this reaction is the most significant religious movement of the times, for, as we have said, in its purely ritualistic features it has affected even Methodism itself, and its influence to that extent is felt in protestant churches very generally. It grows steadily and becomes more and more violent in its assault on the genius of protestantism. It would get rid of the title of protestant bornes by the Episcopal church, as a hateful contradic-tion of its whole theory and argument, and substitute the title of catholic, to which it lays hot claim. The very earnestness and aggressive-ness of this "catholic" party, however, are giving a fresh stimulus to the protestnatism of the Episcopal church. Protestant sentiment has manifestly increased in strength during the last ten years, or, at least, its assertion has grown bolder and more uncompromising. As Methodism celebrates the bicentenary of Wesley the religious world seems to be preparing for a contes between the catholic and protestant ideas which may have a momentous significance. Meanwhile Mrs. Eddy gathers at her Concord home thousand of Christian Science pilgrims, and in addton the forces of religious infidelity were never so strong.-New York Sun.

NORTHERN MEN AND WOMEN.

As Viewed by a Southern Woman and Contrasted With Southerners.

On the whole, I think there is greater difference between the character and disposition of the men than between the women of the two sections These Yankee gentlemen have a nonchalance, a power of personal subtrac-tion that is maddening to the southerner, who has at least as much temperanatural, as are southern men, have been carefully made by their ancestors, predestined and produced. And unless one is acquainted with the process, he is never likely to comprehend thoroughly the man that results from it. They do not even get their convictions as we do, from experience but from books and university courses They have a system of thought that reaches from the slums of the remotest solar systems and the whole thing is academic, theoretical! And their leading eccentricity consists in an energetic determination to govern by it, whether it meets the actual conditions in the world about them or not. They show the same tenacity in holding these good and university theories that southerners do in preserving their tried and proved prejudices. I was prepared to find an even greater difference between northern and southern women. But I am forced to the conclusion that American women are essentially the same everywhere. They only differ in manifestations, In north, for instance, they are frank rather than coquettish. At the same time they are personally more reserved less confidential than we are in person al topics of conversation than we have They are more interested in the world at large and less interested in themselves. I think this may grow out of the fact that they are not noticed as much or approved as often and gallantly as women are in the south. Indeed, they are aparently without that selfconscionusness which limits our ways from the glance of an eye to the length of a step. This leads to what we should consider the most astonishing results. I accounted on this basis for the native exposure of feminine legs on Fifth ave nue, When I was in them all was matrons ly I saw many sober maids, matrons When I was in New York recentand grandmatrons walking there with skirts lifted as high as if they had been wading through three feet of water. I conclude that cold indifference to their nother extremitles arose not from a lack of modesty, but from the evident indifference of the public. However, if woman showed such economy skirts in any southern city, enought excitement and enthusiasm could be generated along that street by the sight to lengthen self-consciousness down to her boot heels very quickly. I do not know if social life is the north is more or less elastic than it is in th south, but evidently it is less formal in some ways. A closer relation exists between romance and reality than we admit. Love affairs are openly confessed and apparently receive a recognition, a general sanction that we permit only near the end of an engagement. At the same time I was told that it is not admissible for a man to "make love" to a woman unless he is "in earnest." To us, whose vocation consists largely in a coquettish dexterity at parrying the gallant speeches of our mankind, this seems an unreasonable, prosaic hardship. And this reminds me of another impressive characteristic of northern men: they are not rude, but they are ningly women differ from men. I recall in this connection a long walk with a gentleman who is a product rather than an exponent of New England. He was an excellent comrade, but he allowed me to crawl over a stone fence, snake through a thicket of briars and up a hill one-quarter of a mile steep without ever offering me the least assistance Had a southern man treated me in this fashion I should have died of exhaustion and indignation. As it was climbed the situation with a fortitude that I have never showed before or since. I felt a humorous exhibaration in conforming to his strenuous notions of

These are some of my first impres sions of the north. More particularly I was amazed at the indefatigable energy of these people. What we know as leisure is an experience they can never have. They have no capacities for resting. Their brains have been wound up by two hundred years of industriou

SPRINGFIELD BEATS NEW HA-VEN IN INTERESTING GAME.

Bridgeport Takes the Whalers late Camp-Holyoke Shuts Out Meriden-Hartford-Norwick Game Postponed.

Springfield, Mass., July 16.—Spring-field beat out New Haver by the score of 5 to 4 in an interesting game this afternoon. The game was marked by ragged fielding on both sides. Several innings were played in a shower of rain. Kenefic was hit freely but had good control while hope gave passes to five men and struck two. Score:

MERIDEN 0, HOLYOKE 9. Meriden, July 19. —The home team was shut out by the league leaders today, 9 to 0. The visitors landed on Rogers in the first inning and pounded him all over the lat, getting four singles and a double, which with an errer netted five runs. In the third Slater hit the first ball pitched over the left field fence for a home run and McCormack, the next man, banged the first ball pitched to him over the center field fence for another home run. Meriden could do nothing with Bass' pitching and only got one clean hit, the other three being of the scratch order. The features of the game outside of Bass' work in the box was Slater's batting, he getting four hits, a home run, a double and two singles. Score by innings;

AT THE SEAT OF HARVARD UN-IVERSITY.

Small flost of Elis Have Founded a Settlement There and Still Citing to Nestling in the center of the most ristocratic portion of Cambridge, and just on the outskirts of the widespreading grounds of Harvard university, a miniature Yale settlement has sprung up recently which grows and flourishes in the midst of its ancient enemies, says the Boston Post. Less than a quarter of a mile from Harvard square, following the insulating lines of Brattle street, one comes to an old ivy-covered church, standing in one of those quaint old places for which Cambridge is so renowned.

Behind this church and jutting out parallel with it toward the road is a dormitory equally well covered with vines, and the two buildings are so joined by another structure at the rear that a deep sort of letter U is formed, looking out toward Brattle street. This queer old spot is known as "Little Yale." Here, surrounded by their oldfoes on field and gridiron, a small host of Ell's, still soyal to their alma mater. live and defy the crimson spirit which exists on every hand.

"Little Yale." "Little Yale," in other words, is Win-throp hall, the recognized dormitory at Harvard for New Haven men. These men are mostly in the Harvard law school-for in this one respect they recognize crimson superiority. Yale also has a law school, but few really self-respecting Elis will condescend to go to it. No, they prefer to come to Combridge and get a touch of Harvard life.

Once here, they scoff at everything, of course. Everything amuses them, and they wonder "why in the dickens" they did not go to Columbus or some other place. Still, year after year from sixty to one hundred Elis invode the crimson camp and "settle" upon Cambridge people for these long years. If the Yale men who come to Cambridge were not the most prominent graduates of that university. Harvard might indeed think that their alleged scoffing at her was in every way sincere. As it is, however, some of the brightest and best-known men come from New Haven to the crimson law school, and many of them take high rank in the adopted department of their rival university.

A Good Example. A good example of the excellent spirwhich eventually exists between them was furnished last week with the election of T. W. Swan, Yale, 1900, as marshal of the present third-year class in the Harvard law school. This position is one of the very highest in the wift of the third-year class. Many Yale men in the past have held honor able positions at Harvard, but none has ever reached so high a place as Swan, who, besides being marshal, was elected to the Harvard Law Review in his second year, and at present is editor-in-chfef of that famous magazine.

"Little Yale," in fact, is the most loyal Yale settlements. The men there are enarly all rich, and they stand by their college to the last. Whenever a Har-in Cambridge are more excited over a great football or baseball game or a dual or intercollegiate athletic contest than are these self-same Elis who live and flourish in "Little Yale."

Famous Men. Many famous Yale men have lived in their little settlement in Cambridge. Griswold, the old oarsmen, Feary, the famous pitcher, and Sawyer, catcher, are only a few of the names which one might mention. Many of these old athletes still keep up their training in the Hemenway gymnasium or on Soldiers' field, and each year a Yale baseball nine is organized in the law school, which invariably carries away all honors from its rival nines. The Yale men practice for these games in the little enclosure between Winthrop hall and the church already mentioned. But they practice in a funny way. Usually they play with a tennis ball, just as the seniors do on the campus at New Haven. This is a class privilege at Yale, whereas no one whether a senior or not, is allowed to throw any kind of a ball in the yard at Harvard.

JULY MAGAZINES.

Readers of McClure's cannot fall to have observed the many changes in the appearance of the magazine in the last months. Most important has been a change in the body type, which will be enerally conceded to have enhanced the beauty of the page. The new type is a French old style, the matrices for which were cut in this country from French designs. In contrast with the former black, condensed page of the De Vinne type, this is open, round and light, with a great increase in beauty and legibility. A charming series of initial letters to go with the type has also been designed, also new headbands and tail pieces of patterns to harmonize. The paper of the magazine has also been improved with the result of far greater brilliancy than before in the Zhalf-tones. The two most important articles of the number are Lincoln Steffens' "Philadelphia: Corrupt and Contented." and "The True Greatness of the Standard Oil Company," by Miss Tarbell. There are also more chapters of Henry Harland's serial, "My Friend Prospero," and six good short stories.

The leading paper in the Cocmopolitan for July deals with what it terms "The World's Greatest Exposition," the fair at St. Louis and is profusely illustrated. The opening contribution is from the pen of Mary H. Peixotto, "The Clock Without a Face," and is a charming tale beautifully illustrated by E. C. Piexotto, The usual article having to do with the stage people of the day has a profusion of the fine portraits and Richard Le Gallienne's "Old Love Stories Retold," have to do this month with Percy Bysshe Shelley. There are essays on "What Love Is," by Lavinia Hart; "Making a Choice of Profession," the seventh installment by James H. Canfield: "Mankind in the Makink." by Herbert George Wells; Suburban Life in America," by Waldon Fawcett: "The Ethics of Biogaphy," by Edmund Gosse; a somewhat lengthy account by W. T. Stead of Kink Menelek of Ayssinia and the fifth paper in "Household," telling of an experiment in co-operative housekeeping Besides these things there are four com plete stories, all worth reading.

The "Bookman" for July goes in for an ogservance of the Bulwer-Lytton centenary. It olso reproduces a fine portrait of Richard Henry Stoddard from the painting owned by the Authors' club. The "History of the Nineteenth Century in Caricature" has got along to the times of Napolton the Little, Bismarck and M. Thiers. There are some amusing drawings in the collection, and also some that bite. Richard Burton takes up a very heavy cudgel, wield, in a two-page bit against some reviewer who does not like Irving Bacheller's "Darrel,"

All three of the songs in this month's issue of the Musical Record and Review will be found attractive. They are "You" by John Spencer Camp and W. H. Pollock; "To Julia" by Adolf Frey and Arthur Grissom; and "If I Could Know," words and music by Grace Hemingway. The instrumental pieces are "In the Rose Garden," by Adam Geibel and Gustab Merkel's work, "The Butterfly," edited and fingered for this publication by Hans Lichter. The articles include "A Dark Spot in Musical History," by W. J. Henderson; "First Grade Piano Music," "Incidental Mu-"The Easiest Scale," "Teaching and Mental Suggestion," "The Orchestra from the Beginning," and a fable, "The Wigard of the Hollow Log." besides some three or four other papers of great value to all teachers and students of music.

WITH THE GOLF PLAYERS

SEELEY AND TAYLOR HAD BAT-TLE ROYAL

Seeley's Driving Was Wild-Consolation Finals Finished-The Individual Championship Contest-The Scores

Finals in the championship, consolation and foursome events were played yesterday in the Connecticut golf tournament on the links of the New Haven Country club. In the foursomes the semi-finals and finals were finished.

The foursome teams which began the foursome competition were Pitt and Austin, Wee Burn vs. Martin and Bronson, New Haven Country; Hapgood and Hale vs. Hart and Pease, New Britain Maple Hill club.

The day was the hottest ever seen at a Connecticut golf tournament, a fact which kept the gallery down to small

The consolation finals were finished ahead of the championship. The first 18 holes resulted as follows:

J. S. Jackson, Arawana-Out5 5 4 5 5 6 4 4 6-44 In5 4 3 5 3 4 3 4 5-36-80 W. B. Wheeler, Brooklawn— Out5 5 3 4 4 6 4 4 3—40 In4 4 3 6 4 5 4 4 5—39—79

Jackson began the last 18 holes 1 up. In the play for the individual champlonship Champion Charles H. Seeley of the Wee Burn Golf club had an up and down fight with Harry H. Taylor of the Brooklawn club throughout the 18 holes which were played. Taylor took the lead for the first hole only to lose it quickly and the lead was passed from one man to the other four times during the play. At the close of the 18 holes the score was even and the second 18 were begun about 3 o'clock. Several of the sixth hole the champion lost his

ed Pitt and Baldwin of Wee Burn 3 up and 1 to play. In the other semi-final Hart and Pease of New Britain defeated Hapgood and Hale of New Haven

Country club 1 up.
In the finals Charles H. Seeley won the individual championship defeating Harry H. Taylor of Bridgeport, 5 up and 3 to go. Seeley's advantage was all won on the afternoon play as they were exactly even when they completed the 18 holes this noon. Taylor was in poor form at the start of the afternoon play and lost six out of the first seven holes. Seeley's arr-round play was better and he excelled particularly in driving.

J. S. Jackson of Middletown won the finals in the consolation event, beating W. B. Wheeler of Bridgeport 2 up and

The final match in the foursomes was won by H. Mahlon Marlin and Ezekiel S. Bronson of the New Haven Country club, who defeated Herbert H. Pease and J. B. Hart of New Britain 3 up and

1 to play. F. J. O. Alsop of Simsbury won the obster club offered as consolation prize. His card showed 77.

Introductory Sale Of Cravanette Umbrellas

Men's and Women's. They're going at $1:98 instead of at their regular price, $3.

This maker has given us the right to control the sale in New Haven of his particular make of these Umbrellas. He knows, he says, that anybody who once uses a silk Cra-vanette Umbrella won't use any other. Of course everybody in town isn't going to use silk Cravanette Umbrellas tomorrow, nor next week, nor next month nor next year, but they're going to be used a lot for they're mighty good. The manufacturer guarantees them to be SPOTLESS, STAINLESS and WATERPROOF. They're built on a steel rod and paragon frame and are mounted on good, stylishly attractive, desirable natural wood handles. They roll up tight like the silk ones and are very strong and nice to look at. After this lot there'll be no more at $1.98.

YESTERDAY'S STOCK MARKET. Stocks were virtually demoralized this morning. The latest theory with regard to New York Central is that the company has borrowed $18,000,000 for at 6 per cent. This is taken as an admission that new securities cannot be sold at the present time and that the credit of the New York Central corporation, whose 5 per cent. stock is selling at a substantial premium over par is not good enough to borrow money under the legal rate. On top of this came renewed pressed against the steel stocks, although it was no more nounced than against the shares of the granger railways, which became heavy on further doleful predictions as to what this afternoon's crop report will reveal. There is also a very dis-appointment bank statement to-morrow staring the market in the face with the knowledge that no matter how bad it is it will not measure the full weakness of the situation as much of the gold shipping this week will not appear to anything like its full extent in the report for this week. There is a large proportion of buying orders from what is known as the outside public but Wall street's source of supply for stocks seems to be unlimited. Taken all through the market has acted in a most discouraging manner, Rev. Mr. Stone to Preach Sunday Morn ing and Evening-Death of Russell C. Brown-July Outing of King's Daughters-Comiugs and Goings.

Rev. E. W. Stone, pastor of the Grand avenue Baptist church, will take for the subject of his Sunday morning sermon "The Ever-Present Fact of Sin." In the evening he will speak on "The Stone and the Glass' in the series "For Eyes and Ears." These evening services are only one hour long, beginning at 7 o'clock and closing at 8. Russell Earl, the young son of Earl

Brown of Ferry street, died Thursday evening after a short illness. This is the second bereavement to Mr. Brown within a short time, his wife, Grace Reed Brown, dying some months ago. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hindinger have returned from their wedding trip to New Brunswick, Canada, and are now at "Beaconhurst," Summer Island, off the Branford coast, the summer home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs.

"Cosey Nook," the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Loveland, of 48 Poplar street, presented an animated scene on Thursday, when Comforting Circle of Kings Daughters connected with the First Baptist church congregated there for their July outing. A fine dinner and supper were served, the hostess, Mrs. Loveland, doing all in her power for the entertainment of her guests. "Cosey Nook," as well as the nearby cottages of Dr. Sage and Mr. Hanselpacker, which were thrown open to the guests, were decorated in doyal purple. Through the courtesy of Dr. Sage, a sail was enjoyed on the sound Besides the members there were many invited guests. The party included from Fair Haven, Mrs. Charles Meigs, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barnes. After an enjoyable day, the party returned, taking a launch from Summer Island to Double Beach and thence by electric cars. An entertainment under the superintendence of Mrs. Wallace Hurlburt will be given at Morris Cove chapel on Tuesday evening, July 14. The pro-gramme is as follows: Violin and plano, Irving Hurlburt and Miss Josephine Bradley; The Minuet, a recitation by Miss May Blewett accompanied by the Misses Jessie Fowler, Edna Hill and Kathle Burwell, with Miss Ruby Fowler at the plano; vocal solo, Dwight Chamberlain; "American Beauties," a clever twenty minute comeds by Jessie Fowler, Ethel Flint, Ruby Fowler, May Blewett, Majorie Strube and Kathle Burwell; violin and plane; comedy, "The Baby"; characters, Jo-seph Ruggles—very absent-minded, Dwight Chamberlain; William Snubbins, his servant; Ralph Erskine-accompanied by his son and heir-Frank Lowe; Alice Ruggles, professor's niece. Maud Kelly; Ettat Erskine, her friend, popularly known as "Baby" Erskine, Ethel Prince. This comedy will be given for the fifth time this season by these young people, who compose the V club, and whose rendering is declared by all who have witnessed it, as much above the ordinary amateur production.

Further Inroads on Prices-Late Rally, New York, July 10.-The stock exchange did as much business to-day in the first two hours of the session as was done during the entire session of the previous day, which was in turn more than twice as much as the recent daily averages. This revival of activity has been on the selling side of the market, and yesterday's wide inroads on prices were added to to-day. Owing to the late ally on the movement to cover shorts the ay's extreme declines were considerably mitigated, the more prominent active stocks closing at recoveries of 1 to 11/2 from the low point of the

The movement in New York Central continued to dominate the whole market and that stock's extreme decline of 3½ points was the most considerable in the active list. The price touched 118 during the early afternoon and closed at 1194. Quite a number of leading speculative stocks were at one time from 2 to 3 points below last night. St. Paul and United States Steel, the latter at only a fractional decline, touched lower prices than before this drop, and the same was true in a number of inactive stocks. Pennsylvania sold down to its previous low record at 123, but enormous buying orders at that level were immediately disclosed. There was no important new development to account for the continued weakness of the market. It was announced on authority that whatever plans were in contemplation for raising additional capital for New York Central nothing was likely to be done until minal construction contemplated by the company would be done through the medium of a terminal company organized for the purpose. But it was realized that New York Central credit must be relied upon for raising the money. The continued stream of New York Central stock coming upon the market was sufficient in itself to take away the effect of disclaimers of a contemplated stock issue or bond issue. the subsidiary Vanderbilt companies which are seldom dealt in also suffered wide declines, Lake Erie and Western preferred losing 9, Cleveland, C., C. and St. Louis and Peoria and Eastern 61/2 and Canada Southern 21/2. Chicago and Northwestern also suffered a 21/2 point decline and the preferred 3, the latter with a recovery. There were other notable declines among high grade investment stocks, such as New Jersey Central, which lost 6, Delaware and Hudson 5%, Lackawanna and American Express 5 and Pullman 3%. The occasional railies of the market indicated the large part played by professional short selling in the weakness.

But large amounts of long stock were dislodged by the bear tastics of the professional traders and each successive rally until the last one was availed of as a basis for renewed selling. The first effective rally of the day came after the publication of estimates of the weekly cash changes which showed ar excess of receipts over shipments on the interior movement of over $3,000,000 This is larger than the $2,758,000 loss or sub-treasury operations, thus indicating a small net cash gain by the banks. To-morrow's gold shipments of $2,000,-000, however, do not figure in this esti-The large receipts on balance from the interior were a decided surprise in view of the movement of interfor exchange markets. The grain mark ets reflected the large closing up of accounts in expectation of the appearance of the monthly crop statement after the closing to-day and speculators in stocks were not able to get much light on the crop situation from the movement of the grain markets. The market closed about steady on the late rally.

Bonds were weak in sympathy with stocks. Total sales par value $2,180,000. United States bonds were unchanged on the last call.

'LOOK BEFORE YOU LEAP'

There is no need of the investor of today who is looking for a Gold-Mine 'nvestment to go astray.

There are plenty of good stocks offered, but I hear sterles of misplaced cash and confidence every day. So do you. The man who goes in blindly investing in stocks without thoroughly investigating them has himself only to thank if the promises made for them tail to be made good. I have been one of those who constantly caution the public to "look before they leap." The result is that to-day I have the confidence of hundreds who have invested with me, because of the work of investigating which they did at my suggestion. I have a good investment now that will pay 12 per cent.
and I have only a limited amount of the stock for sale.

THE MILFORD RACES.

At Meadowside Driving Park-Cooler Weather at the Horsemen's Resort-Races Next Week at Bridgeport.

Three horse races were decided yesterday afternoon at the Milford race track, as indicated in the following summaries. The weather was not oppressively warm at the park, as a cool reeze made the temperature very agreeable and much cooler than the hot weather in this and other cities. The attendance, which was not large, was estimated to be about 300.

It was nearly 3 o'clock when the starting judge gave the word for the first heat which commenced the afteroon programme. After that heat Dr. Martin kept the races going as fast as

The officials in the judges' stand were F. L. Newton, C. H. Smith and I. S. Coan. The word was given to the drivers by Dr. T. F. Martin.

HIS BLISTERING SHOOTS WERE FELT Y. STERDAY.

It Was the Hottest Day in Three Years-Many Prostrations-One Death in New Haven-Others Reported-Factories Close-Cooler To-day.

It was a blazing, blistering and breezeless day yesterday. Old Sol patted General Humidity on the back, said he was the sucking sockdolager of the hour-the torrid, horrid, humid boss of the ranch. Weather Observer Tarr reported officially that the mercurial column in the | thermometer danced serenely at 94 during the afternoon and endeavored to do the high fling at 95 but failed dismally. This, however, was the record for three years. But mercury or no mercury, thermometer or not, it was hot, and no indicator was necessary for the ordinary man.

The entire plant of the Winchester Repeating Arms company shut down at noon. The officials took this precaution as many of the girls employed there were overcome in the morning and as there was much greater intensity of Also Planning for the Distribution of heat at noon the entire plant was ordered closed.
