TEMPER OF BULGARIAN PEO-PLE AT A HIGH PITCH.

All Indications Tend to Show That However Loyally the Government Destres to Observe a Neutral Attitude It Will be Forced Into Expression of Sympathy With the Revolutionists,

London, Sept. 11 .- The temper of the Bulgarian people and government, according to telegrams from Sofia, is rising to a danger point. All indications tend to show that, however loyally the government desires to observe a neumal expression of sympathy with the Macedonian Christians. Premier Petroff's informal intimation to the diplomats in Sofia that unless some means of restraining Turkey's terrible measures to suppress the uprising in Macetaken by the powers Bulgaria will be forced to depart from strict neu-trality is regarded as a warning in this sense to the powers.

A committee representing all classes has been organized by the professors of the Sofia university and is sitting daily to discuss the situation. Bitter attacks of Prince Ferdinand are indulged in for his action in dissolving the sobranje at such a critical moment which is characterized as treason against the people. Resolutions will be submitted to this committee to-day urging the immediate mobilization of the army against Tur-

She has only posts of men each at points three miles distant from each other, and as the Turkish frontier guards always retire when they see Bulgarian bands crossing the latter have an easy task. The correspondent thinks that this points to the conclusion that the Ottoman government desires to keep the insurrection alive as a pretext for the annihilation of the Christians, and as the Bulgarians are unlikely to remain inactive spectators of the massacre of their prethren the current of popular feeling may easily become too strong for any government to withstand. Even in the Bulgarian army and administration there is a strong sympathy for the Macedonians, and in thes services there is also a large percentof Macedonians. Hitherto by appressing the details of the Turkish cities the government has succeeded in allaying popular indignation, but such temporary expedients can no longer avail and nothing short of international intervention can dispel the curious story appears in the Vienna Neue Freie Presse that the Sheikh of Medina is spreading the report that the have no clue to the robber. prophet Mahomet rose from his tomb nd exclaimed in solemn tones: lah, save thy people," whereupon the six guardians of the tomb expired from terror. SHOOTING OF MAINE GAME. Wholesale lilegal Selling of It in Cer-taln Section Augusta, Me., Sept. 10 .- As illustrating the wholesale illegal of game in that section much interest attaches to a rethe two wardens, Benjamin J. Wood-port just received by Chairman Carleton of the fish and game commission, from ward and A. H. Bartlett, whom he sent up to patrol the Canadian border and St. Johns river water. In one place alone these wardens found where at least twenty-six moose were killed. Most of these moose were killed last year.

From St. Camiel, the warden went to Sever Islands, to Corners and down the St. Johns, thence past the Middlebranch tral attitude, it will be forced ere long, without seeing any moose signs. They by pressure from the people, into a for- then took the stream leading up to Depot Lake. They saw many moose tracks and signs, and found the remains of four large moose.

> Along this stream they also found a lot of beaver houses and dams but the beaver had all been killed. At Depot Lake, on a small point at the head of the lake, they found where there had been a fearful slaughter of moose. They counted twenty under jaws. Many of the parts of these moose had been carried away by bears.

From this point, as the wardens went along the lake, they found the remains of twenty-six moose, one and two in a place, and but one of these looked as though it had been killed this year. At the end of the second dead water below Depot Lake, they were very close to the boundary line and found where Canadian hunters camp on that side of the boundary, steal across into Maine, kill noose and get back before the officers

From Depot Lake, they went up the northwest branch of the St. John river. There they found the carcases of four moose, from which only the hides had been removed. At the head of Little Mosquito brook, which is in Maine, they found a party encamped having with them a Canadian guide. The members of the party, as well as the guide, claimed that they supposed that they were on Canadian territory. They found that this party had killed a dead and so collected the usual fine of $40 and costs and drove the party across the border.

In closing their letters the wardens say that near English lake, they found two camps where deer poachers come in the winter and stay, stealing into Maine and killing deer by the wholesale.

He asked the girl for some cloth with which to work. The office being on the first floor of the Carroll building, the girl stepped out to a store nearby to secure it. When she returned, however, the man declared that it was not suited for the purpose and told her to change it. When the stenographer returned the second time the man had disappeared. Nothing more was thought of it until Mr. Carroll returned and the robbery might not have been discovered then but for the fact that two memorandum cards were on the floor near the safe, which had been open. This led to the investigation, which disclosed the fact that the money had been taken. The stenographer had occupied but a few minutes in getting the cloth and apparently did not give the man time to thoroughly ransack the place. In a drawer just below the compartment where the old coins were a bundle of $1,500 in one dollar bills remained untouched.

The police are at work on the case and hope to apprehend the man in case he attempts to pass any of the noney.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING.

Winsted Man Injures an Employe Latter May Die,

Winsted, Sept. 10 .- William Dutcher hirty-five years old, employed as a bicycle repairer by John C. Parsons, was ccidentally shot by Parsons early this evening and he is believed to be in a cretical condition.

The accident occurred at the store of Mr. Parsons, 363 Main street. Dutcher was in the rear of the store repairing a icycle. Mr. Parsons, at the other end of the store, was showing a Winchester rifle to a customer, and, unaware of the fact that the rifle was loaded, he pulled the trigger. The bullet hit Dutcher in he middle of the chest. Dutcher did not consider the wound serious and paid little attention to it. A short time later, however, while in the street, he collapsed. Dr. Hurlburt was called, but said that he was unable to tell the extent of the man's injuries to-night Dutcher in a statement exonerated Parsons from all blame in the matter.

Fishing. Boston, Sept. 10 .- A record was broken to-day by Captain "Sol" Jacobs, the well-known commander of the fishing teamer Alice M. Jacobs, who landed in this city 50,000 fresh mackerel and 270 barrels of salt fish. The cargo of mackerel was the largest ever Boston. The cargo is worth $11,000, and each of the crew of twenty-four men will receive somewhat over $200. The fish were taken off Seal Island during a cruise of just ten days.

THE ANNUAL REPORT OF COM-MISSIONER WARE.

Not Likely That the Roll Will Again Cross the Million Line-How the Penstoners Are Distributed-Recommendarious-Cost of the System.

Washington, Sept. 10 .- The annual report of Commissioner of Pensions Ware places the total number of pensioners now on the rolls at 996,545, of which ows and dependents, Mr. Ware announces that it is not probable that the reached a year ago. Five of the pensioners are on the roll on account of the War of the Revolution, 1,116 on account of the war of 1812, 4,734 on ac- the first horse, $900 to the se count of the Indian wars and 13,874 on account of the Mexican war. The great bulk of the roll is as follows: Civil war, invalids, 703,456, widows, 248,390; Spanish war invalids, 9,200, widows, 3,662; and the regular establishment, invlaids, 9,180; widows, 2,988. The roll shows a net loss of 2,901 pensloners during the year. Out of a total of 304,809 applications on hand during the year 130,109 were admitted and 113,-

794 rejected. The annual average value of each pension is now $133. The annual value of the Spanish pension roll has reached

$1,765,310.

Commissioner Ware makes the following recommendation: Laws forfeiting pension or right to pension of any man convicted of an infamous crime; prohibiting the giving of pensions to those women who marry soldlers after the soldiers become old pensioners; and a different method of examining applicants for pension, stamping the present system as uncertain expensive, unsatisfactory and generative of an enormous amount of political friction. Mr. Ware suggests boards constituted of experts under civil service rules which should go from place to place on fixed days, giving examinations and receiving testimony regarding the condition of applicants and making reports thereon. He also recommends a law providing for superannuated clerks, vigorously urging som law of retirement and provision, Ware says that the bureau has gained upon the current work 100,000 cases during the last two years. DEATH OF D. GOFFE PHIPPS

END OF A LONG AND HONORED LIFE.

Passed Away in His Eighty-fourth Year After a Week's Hiness-His Long and Prominent Identification With New Haven's Interests .- Founder and Prestdent for Years of West Haven Water and Say brook Water companies,

In the death of Captain D. Goffe Phipps one of our most esteemed and valuable citizens has passed away. He died at his home, 614 Chapel street, last evening at about 6 o'clock. His death was not unexpected, as the heart disease which set in about a week ago left little hope of his recovery.

Captain Phipps was an upright man, positive in his convictions, firm in his views, and outspoken; a man fearless. enterprising, patriotic and respected in all the relations of life. Erect in his walk and soldierly bearing, active and of fine presence, he was a noticeable figure for one of his advanced years. He was of New Haven birth and took a lively, appreciative interest in New Haven's history and historical land-marks, and in all pertaining to our city's growth and welfare. He was of an old and honored New Haven family. His father was Captain Solomon Phipps, who was for years prominent in New Haven's merchant marine service, in the West India trade chiefly, and in his later life was master of a famous New Haven private school, widely known as the Phipps school, which was located on Meadow street. At the school a specialty was made, among other things, of instruction in the art of navigation, languages and mathematics.

Captain D. Goffe Phipps married the daughter of Captain James Hunt, and Captain and Mrs. Hunt resided for years in the old Benedict Arnold house n Water street, which was their property, and which was in its palmy days one of the finest residential places in the city, but is now in sad decay from weight of years and from being used for business purposes. The wife of Captain D. Goffe Phipps was a cousin of the late Commodore Hunt, of this Appointing a Secretary of State. Rome, Sept. 10.-The pope is really carrying out his intention to do all and to know all, and for this purpose he has ot yet appointed a secretary of state. While writing the encyclical addressed to the Catholic bishops throughout the world, which he turned over sheet by sheet to Monsignors Sardi and Galli to translate into Latin, the pontiff was also employed in personally writing answers to diplomatic notes and attending to other political business which did not go into the hands of Monsignor Merry del Val, the acting secretary of state. In this way the pope, in less than two months of his pontificate, has learned many things and is able to direct and carry out his policy which he is now quietly formulating.

The strike on the Butterick building at Spring, Macdougal and Vandam streets, were ordered by Parks in direct violation of the arbitration agreement with the Fuller Construction company, and last night the Board of Build. ing Trades ordered Parks to send his men back to work. He went to the building to-day and found about forts members of his union waiting. "Well, I guess I will let the men go back to work," said Parks.

He then went to the other side of the street where the men were standing and

"It's all right, boys; go to work." Not one of the men moved. For a noment Parks seemed dazed, and th he managed to ask them what they meant by refusing to obey his orders. One of the men explained that they did not want to return to work while police guard was around the building to protect the members of a rival union

Summons Served Upon Philip Winter-Mayor Studley Brings Suit-Hollister Will Filed-A Constable-Sued.

A summons was served yesterday upon Philip Winter, proprietor of a cafe on Chapel street, to appear before Referee in Bankruptcy Henry G. Newton to-morrow morning. This is one of the developments that was excepted following the adjournment of the hearing on the petition of Samuel Bush for a disheld last week certain allegations were made by creditors of the concealment of assets of the Bush estate which, it is claimed, belonged to creditors and which they were unable to get into the hands of the trustee. Attorney David Strouse, who represents the creditors, was ordered to file specifications with the court. This has been done, and in connection with this action comes the order of the referee summoning Winter to appear and be examined by the creditors. Winter is the father-in-law of Bush, the bankrupt. He is to be examined by the creditors with reference to his dealings with his son-in-law. The petition to the referee to have Winter summoned into court was made by Edwin S. Pickett, trustee of the estate, and by Attorney William A. Wright, represent-ing the creditors. The trustee and Mr. Wright will conduct the evamination.

STATE MEETING.

Of Connecticut Bottlers' Protection As-

The state meeting of the Connecticut Bottlers' Protective association was held yesterday at Stanford's hotel at Savin Rock.

There were about fifty members present, and the association had as guests three organizers of the national association, Messrs. Nolan and Schroeder of New York and Hugo of Boston. The business meeting was held at 11 o'clock, when T. F. Williams of Ansonia, the president of the state association, read his address. During the year the association has been increasing its membership. President Williams said that the central exchange in New Haven was not serviceable or profitable to all the members and he recommended that sub-exchanges be located in Bridgeport. Waterbury, Meriden, and Hartford, The recommendation was adopted. President Williams said that the state letective of the association, H. A. Quintard, had performed great work during he year. He reported that up to Sepember 1 and from April 1 of this year the state detective has returned 54,340 bottles to members, and 1,834 bottles to other associations. Four raids were made and the same number of prosecutions. One man in New Haven was fined $100. The bottlers enjoyed a shore dinner after the business meeting.

The annual national convention of the association will be held in this city October 13 and 14 in Eagles' hall and will be largely attended. For this convention twenty-one delegates were elected yesterday. An excellent shore dinner was served by Landlord Stanford to the visiting gentlemen, which met with the approval of all.

A new set of shipping regulations recently formulated in New Zealand gives proof of the care with which the government looks after the welfare of the people. Every sea-going vessel that can be controlled by the local authority must for the future carry a boat or raft fully fitted up with provisions for use in case of accident. Provision is to be made for a supply of fresh water and of beef, biscuits, chocolate, tabloids and lime juice, and also of fishing lines and hooks and safety matches. So many desperate tragedies have occurred around the New Zealand coast from time to time after shipwrecks, through the difficulty of getting living necessaries into the boats in the rush and excitement of escaping, that the new regulation in this regard seems to be a wise precauton.

ARIZONA'S PETRIFIED FOREST. The texture and form of the dead rees are clearly discernible, every fibre of the wood transformed into gleaming agate, jasper, sard, carnellan, or chalcedony. The colors most prominent are reds and browns, with occasional blue and green tints, interspersed with translucent, colorless chalcedony. The heart of some logs is a mass of sparkling crystals of quartz, occasionally showing amethystine tints. At one point these great logs lie so close together as to renind one of the yard of the sawmill where the logs have been rolled together to await the saw. They are usually the clubwomen of Chicago abundant broken into sections of not more than eight or ten feet in length, as squarely across the fibre as if separated by the woodman's crosscut saw. Some have een discovered that measured twenty feet in diameter at their base, and at a neglect and doomed by that neglect to break one hundred feet from the base live lives of shame and crime." All the concentric layers field Republican. of wood of the trees are clearly shown by the varying hues and tints of the stone and offer a most interesting study to the lithologist, as well as a neverending source of surprise and wonder to the mere sightseer. The Petrified Forest is, indeed, one of the wonders of this Arizona wonderland, and must attract increasing num ers of visitors as it becomes more wide y known. It is now one of the reserva tions of the national government, and is protected from the vandalism that might otherwise, in time, mar some of its singular beauty. Standing amid these mute memorials of a long-gone past, a mood of reverle is easily induced. What cycles of change, and what tremendous cataclysms have thest stony forms survived! What sort of birds once rested in the branches that these great trees upbore? What beasts lurked in the shadows that were cast by heir leafage? Fossils of animals of inknown and extinct species are found scattered about among these immens rocky trunks, in chemical composition now pure dolomite or magnesian limestone. Certain it is that before the subsidence of the land which bore these forests there was abundant life of some sort here, that was buried beneath the nrushing waters as the land slowly sank and the great trees toppled to heir overthrow. Through long ages the ocean detritus was dropped through yielding waters, grain by grain, unti the great sandstone stratum was piled upon these fallen monarchs of the prineval forest. Then followed an age of

REPUBLICAN CLUB OUTING.

ANNUAL CLAMBAKE HELD AT MORRIS COVE.

About 300 Present - Distinguished Speeches by Senator Platt, Congress. men Sperry and Hill, Lieut. Gov. Robertr, Hon, Andrew F. Gates and Many

It was a beautiful day for the celepration of a clambake yesterday and members and guests of the Young Men's Republican club, to the number of about 300, took advantage of the splendid weather to attend the annual bake given by the club at the Morris Cove hotel.

The party assembled at the clubhouse on Crown street at 2 o'clock, where special cars were in waiting to convey them to the Cove.

Promptly on the arrival of the cars good old fashloned bake was served, during which a concert was furnished by the new military band of this city At the conclusion of the spread post prandial exercises were in order. President Frank Rice of the club acted as toastmaster and the speeches were all of an impromptu nature,

Congressman Hill was first intro duced and spoke very briefly, saying that he was very glad to be present and thanked the club for inviting him. He then complimented the club, saying that it had done splendld work for the republican party in the past and that it would undoubtedly continue to do good work in the future. Senator Platt was the next speaker He was to have spoken first but as Congressman Hill had to catch an early train the privilege was offered him. Senator Platt said that he thought that the life of the club had just begun and that its influence in the state was now being felt. Said the speaker: 'Icam very proud of the club and I wish it every success. It affords its members

The American people want to see the man who was called to fill the highest position within their gift, through such sad circumstances, elected as their choice."

Lieutenant Governor Roberts was the next speaker. He only said a few words, in which he thanked the club for inviting him to attend so fine an affair and said that it gave him great pleasure to be present. He said that Governor Chamberlain would have liked to have been present but that owing to a prior engagement he found it impossible to Congressman Sperry was the next speaker, who spoke in part as follows: 'I am sorry that I am not able to do more for the party-that great and glorious party that we all love so well. The early days of the Lincoln campaign are vividly remembered by many of us and since that time our growth has been wonderful. We have one of the greatest, best, and noblest countries which the earth has ever produced. It is a proud and noble thing to recall the the waiter brings a toureen that conhistory of the republican party. There is no country in the world which does so much manufacturing, and we are now exporting, for the first time, more products than any other country in the world. Do we want any change? The party has done nobly in the past and will continue to do so in the future."

Andrew F. Gates, chairman of the republican state central committee, was next introduced. He said that New Haven was the center of Connecticut politics and that you could approach and enter it in any way you liked. By rolley cars, steam cars, and by boat. He said that while there was a number of political differences of opinion here before campaigns, that as soon as the real fun commenced the republicans stood as a unit to confront the common enemy, the democrats. He then quali-fied this by saying that he meant the democratic party which was. In closing he complimented the club on the splendid work it was doing and he hoped that the good work would be continued in the future. nues W. F. Kinney, ex-Mayor Farnsworth and Frederick W. Orr all spoke

The party then took special cars to this city. The committee in charge of the bake onsisted of the following gentlemen: Jacob B. Ullman, chairman; Judge James Bishop, Theodore H. Macdonald Major Blakeslee, Frederick Orr, secretary: Herbert L. Freeman and Lyman

RUSSIAN RESTAURANT.

Some Color Studies in Meats and Vegetables and the Uses of Vodka. It does not seem typically Russian, and yet is the best restaurant in the town. No men cooks visible, clothed in white from neck to foot; there is no organ which, at the request of any visitor, will send forth strains that threaten to break the drum of the ear to set the digestion all agog. The room is small and gloomy, for the lewer half of the windows is of frosted glass. Near the door are two stands, several yards long, each of them with pegs and here the nimble attendants busy themselves with hanging up the furs or with taking them down and with stowing away are table goloshes. In four rows along the roms are tables with white cloths. but set out without any attempt at style.. Here and there upon the cushioned seats newspapers lie-Russian Polish, German, French; on the walls there are a few cheap pictures representing Alpine scenes, high snowy mountain peaks, as if to give some mo-mentary relief to eyes that have perhaps scarcely ever gazed on anything but an interminable plain. At one end of the restaurant there is a counter. near which the waiters appear and disappear with dishes in their hands, and behind the counter the manager of the establishment, a round-faced Swiss. with shaven chin and twinkling eyes, is busily engaged in attending to the wants of numerous customers, who stand and eat.

On a nearer inspection of the center the sight that presents itself is a most attractives one. Wonderful, indeed, are the colors and combinations of colors that fish, meat, cheese and vege-

Perhaps the most beautiful object is a mysterious composition, which appears to consist of pork, overlaid with a cunning design in carrots, jelley, pickles and kidney beans, more ingenious and captivating than a Carthaginian mosaic Indeed, it seems almost a profanation to eat any of these things, so pleasing are they to the eye. But the attendant is peremptory; it is necessary to make aschoice at once, and to wash it down with a glass of vodka, which is drunk as We have a strong campaign issue with a liquor. It is transparent and colorless as water, but is flery beveage for all that and is prepared from rye and potatoes. It has been defined as "distilled damnation," and must be taken at a draught for the sipping of it is considered proof of enjoyment, and therefore, according to the Russian, of a future sojourn in the place of eternal tornment. This is the zakuska, which in Russia and in Sweden is taken sanding before the real meal begins to excite the appetite, or as is more likely, to help the hungry visitor to walt for the dish that he has ordered. When the zakuska is finished it is time to sit down at a table and to begin with bortch. Borteh is the national soup and the Russian is as proud of it as the Englishman of roast, beef. And it must be confessed, that bortch is an admirable preparation. It is deep red, being made from beetroot, but only the experienced can tell what treasures are hidden in its depths. Onions are swimming on the top, beneath the surface a tomato is not improbably concealed, and at the bottom lies a chop succulent as a young chicken, while as if this were not enough, tains sour cream, which should be eaten with soup. It is quite possible to make a whole dinner of bortch-soup, vegetables, meat-and is not wonderful that the Russian likes it to form the first course for his dinner on a saint's day, for which he has perhaps prepared himself by a rigorous fast.

After the soup comes fish. Russia is famous for its fish. The Volga and the Caspian produce huge strugeon, while the stretlet is considered a great delicacy. And the Russians excel in the variety and preperation of their dishes, for the climate seems to necessi tate the consumption of large quantities of food, so that it is said that one Russian eats as much as a German policeman, three Frenchmen and two English men. Jojarsky cutlets form another national dish. Josjarsky was a mighty warrior, who wasted fields and slaughtered men when Muscovy was hard pressed by Poles and Cossacks, and it is not very easy to see what he has do with the chicken cutlets that are there are few countries in which such delicious cakes may be had. The Poles, the French of Russia, excel in making them. As for wines, the visitor may order Tokay, Sauterine or Boirdeaux, but if he does he must understand that they are the produce of a wine that has been brought from different countries in Europe and cultivated with much success on the sunny hills that fringe the Crimea. tumblers without milk, but with plenty of sugar and a slice of lemon floating at the top.-London Globe.

MAY BE MURDER.

Italians Engage in a Quarrel, and One is Believed To Be Fatally Hurt.

As a result of a terrific blow upon the head, delivered with a shorel yesterday by one of his fellow workmen. Pasquale Ganino, whol se employed by the Fair Haven and Westville Railway company, lies at Grace hospital in a critical condition, and it is believed that he will die.

Ganino was mixed up in a brawl with a number of his fellow laborers at the end of the trolley company's Derby extension. The origin of the quarrel is not known, but it is alleged that Cresenzo Leone, who has been arrested, was the man who struck Ganino with the shovel. Leone was easily caught, but after a pursuit of two miles through the woods.

At the hospital a delicate operation was performed on Ganino's brain, but the operating surgeons say taht there is slight hope for his recovery.

It is claimed that a man who lives on Washington avenue named Paschello, was also one of the assailants and that he escaped into the woods right after the blow was struck. Up to a late hour inst night he had not been caught. Coroner Mix took Ganino's ante-morten statement yesterday, and Leone is held without bonds.

THE FAKE OIL PROSPECTUS.

The discovery of oll in large quantities in Texas in the spring of 1901 led to quick" oil companies in different parts of the United States. These companies have filled the papers with glittering advertisements of shares that could be the dollar but which, in a few days of weeks, would increase twenty to a huntold in glowing terms of the immense profits to be made in a year or two Stock certificates by tens of thousands ners and emblematic devices will be fly- representing the finest specimens of the engraver's art, with pictures of der The available assets of most of these

If such companies had confined their operations to Texas, little would be said about them by me or in my reports, but several of them, organized in Chicago and elsewhere, have bought up or leased small holdings in Indiana, and have been selling their worthless stock to citizens of this and adjoining states. One of these, located in Chicago, leased 326 acres near Wilder, Ind., and then issued attractive prospectus, one of the main features of which was a portion of the report on the Jasper county oil fields, made by this department in its annual report for 1900. The paper, as prepared and published by me, was in this prospectus garbled in every conceivable way to make it conform to the est interests of the Chicago Oil company. Words and whole sentences were omitted or changed, as the interests of the said company demanded.

> Their prospectus stated that they had seven producing wells in operation with an output of seventy-five barrels daily, and that the net profits from the output of these wells in one year would be one hundred thousand dollars, and from one hundred wells, which they expected to sink, six hundred and seventyfive thousand dollars a year. Mr. C. K. McFadden, of Geneva, Ind., the wellknown superintendent of the main Jasper county field, recently visited, without making known his identity, the offices of this company.

From his letter to me regarding thi visit, I quote as follows:

"Never in my life have I seen such grazen and deliberate steal attempted by people who put up an outward appearance of respectability and honesty. Their statements, almost without exception, were absolutely false, and instead of having a production of one hundred and thirty-five barrels daily. my field superintendent informs me that the total production from their wells would, in his judgment, not fill : teacup with oil in twenty-four hours' pumping, and that their oil which is used for exhibition purposes, must have been taken from either our tanks or from those of our neighbors."

Another fake oil company, located in New York city, but incorporated under the laws of South Dakota, has also sent out an attractive prospectus, stating that it has secured three hundred and twenty acres of land located in Indiana seventy-five miles from Chicago; that it proposes to sink four wells to each acre. which wells will average two barrels daily. This product, when sold at two dollars a barrel, will yield a net profit of nine hundred and sixty-seven thousand dollars annually, to be divided among the stockholders. Fifty thousand shares of stock at twenty cents each are offered to a builible public,

The whole Jasper county field, at the present rate of production, will not yield, in twenty years, what a single one of these companies offers to produce in one year. Better it would be for the person who has money to invest to buy grass seed and scatter it abroad for the sparrows than to invest in the stock of these or other similar companies. The assurance of some kind of returns from the investment would be infinitely greater.

The recent rich strikes of oil near Parker City and Selma have caused several of these fake companies to be organized in Indianapolis and adjoining cities, and their stock is now being widely advertised in certain papers. few days ago a young man came into my office, said that he had organized a company, and was selling stock, and wanted to know where he could get a map of the oil field "which would show him where to drill to strike oil." From his conversation I judged that he knew less of the oil business than a poodle dog knows of the map of Assyria, for he asked the question in good faith. The company which he represented was a fair sample of many of those recently organized associations. It had not an acre of holdings-not even a site for a derrick, and yet was disposing of stock at twenty cents on the dollar. The information which he got from me was not the kind which will advance the interests of his company.

There are many legitimate oil companies in Indiana and elsewhere, which are operating valuable holdings, and which have stock for sale. The remarks above made apply in no manner to such companies. For the most part, they do not advertise their stock by the methods mentioned. If each person who has money to invest would investigate, either personally or through some reliable person who is known to him, the oil property of the company whose stock he is thinking of buying, it would lessen the profits as well as the number of such fake companies as we hav mentioned. In investigating in oil stock or anything else, it niver pays to "buy a plg in the poke."-W. S. Blatchley, State Geologist, in the Indianapolis News.

It is judged by the effect of its properties which are truly remarkable. It is a product of pitchblende, which is found deep in the earth. The quantity already found is so small that the figurative price of a gram has been placed at 10,000. It may be that there are large quantities of it stored under the surface somewhere, but the man who found a quantity of it in a state of anything like purity would probably not live to tell the tale. The particles which fly from it are charged with electricity, and at night it shines with a phosph which has been shining since the be-ginning of all things, and which will go per cent., with a 2 per cent. sinking on shining until the final extinction of fund; the bonds guaranteed by the Sal-vation army, incorporated. Following the lead of Becquerel, Mme and M Curie made an exhaustive examination of pitchblende, which was radio-active. Who Makes the Money? The Man Who Keeps in Touch }

Do you know that the losses in the Industrial and Railroad stocks in the past few months would pay the national debt? You do not hear of any failure of this magnitude occurring in Gold Mining, do you? Panics, labor strikes or any other calamity can never bother the gold mine. Why? Because they produce money. Get wise and buy a good gold mining stock such as I have placed before the New Haven public. They furnish money to run the government. We sell stock in producing mines that hold up through all hard times and increases in value every day you

Do not take 3 per cent, when you can make 12 per cent. Now is the time to invest your savings in mining stocks.

PORTEST MADE BY ENGLAND.

Representations Concerning Alleged Selzure of More Islands Near Borneo. London, Sept. 10 .- The British Forelgn Office is said to have made representations at Washington concerning the recent seizure of two or three islands off the northeast coast of British North Bornec by the United States gunboat Quiros. These islands are not connected with those off the coast of Sandakan (capital of British North Borneo), over which the American flag was recently hoisted.

The Quiros is reported to have lately visited a port on the northeastern coast of Borneo and to have thence steamed to Darvel Bay, an important port of Borneo, 150 miles southward. There the seizure is said to have occurred. The islands, which have been under British administration for the last twenty-five years, were originally infested by pirates, who were driven out by the Chartered company of Borneo. The action of the Quiros was brought to the atention of the Foreign Office, which then took the matter up.

YESTERDAY'S STOCK MARKET. Increased Activity at Expense of Price

-Steel Wenk.

New York, Sept. 10 .- The stock market was rather more active to-day, but the increased activity was in many instances made at the expense of prices. The opening, though tame, was slightly higher, Atchison resuming to some extent its recent leadership, but later yielding to the United States Steel stocks. The extreme weakness of the steel shares was a disturbing feature. Stories concerning the action to be taken on the next dividend on Steel common, together with adverse trade reer confirmation nor denial was obtainable from authoritative sources. Trading relapsed into extreme dullness in the second hour and the drift of prices was again downward. The reaction in the price of South Pig probably influenced the 1% per cent. decline in Tennessee Coal and Iron and was not without effect on other stocks of that class. Colorado Fuel advanced 2 points for no apparent reason. Business came almost to a standstill in the early afternoon, but there was some covering of short contracts.

Forecasts of the government crop report were conflicting and traders seem-ed disposed to hold off in the absence of definite news. For the rest of the day business continued dull and aside from the further large offerings and increased weakness of the United States Steel stocks, together with some liquidation in Atchison, the late session was almost featureless and closing prices were genond of the line is very satisfactory.

Cotton remains with a good undererally at the lowest. Only a few issues.

From Bradley's cut to Derby there is tone. Position very strong and chances such as St. Paul and the Pacifics in the some of the high class specialties displayed comparative firmness. The local money situation excited little interest. Call money continued available at from 2 to 24 per cent, but there seemed little justification of the statement that ninety-day money could be had in large amounts under five per cent. Demand sterling broke fifteen points at midday, the result of a very light demand.

The bond market lacked feature and moved irregularly on a small range. The total sales, par value, aggregated

United States bonds were unchanged on the last call.

Hyperion Theater.

Kathryn Osterman will be seen at the Hyperion to-night and to-morrow night in a dramatization by George T. Richardson of Dwight Tilton's splendid and interesting novel, "Miss Petticoats." This is considered to be one of the most important productions of authorship. The dramatization is by was written by Wilder D. Quint, who is managing editor and literary critic of the Traveler and by Mr. Richardson. The novel was written under the pseudonym of Dwight Tilton and it will be remembered that there was considerable mystery as to its authorship for a long time, because the authors had submitted their manuscript anonymously to the publishers and concealed their identity from even them (C. M. Clark company, of Boston) for a long time. In fact it was not until they submitted the manuscript for a second novel, "On Satan's Mount," that they revealed themselves. More recently these writers came into public view very conspicuously through writing under the name of Charles Eustace Merriman, the "Letters of a Son to His Self-Made Father" in answer to the "Letters of a Self-Made Merchant to His Son."

Miss Osterman is very favorably known to New England theatergoers, having appeared in several productions ion which she assumed stellar roles. The performance last night was a su

It has been given in New Haven several times, but its popularity is ever increasing, as was attested by the "standing room only" house last night. Not only is Mr. Hall an actor of more than ordinary dramatic ability, which proves a big drawing card, but the character which he assumes in the piece is one which affords abundant scope fo a display of his versatility. His dash into the cage of lions and, at the peril of his life, rescuing a lady's glove was a climax to a thrilling scene, which was greeted with deafening applause. "The Man Who Dared" is in five acts and deals principally with a fickle woman who changes her affections on slight provocation, and she casts off her husband for others. The husband learns of the death of an immensely wealthy brother and assumes his personality with the result that after numerous complications the identity is revealed. This enrages the lover and he slavs the woman and is in turn killed by the hus band. These situations are exceptionally strong and permit of a display of Mr. Hall's intense dramatic ability.

GOVERNMENT REPORT.

Week Has Been Favorable For the Growing Crops.

United States Department of Agriculture, Climate and Crop Bulletin of the Weather Bureau, New England Section, for the week ending Monday, Septem ber 7.)

Many correspondents report that the week just past has been more favorable for crop growth than any week of the present season. Many crops were in great need of warmth and sunshine, and would be vastly benefited by a continuance of warm weather, and, without it it is doubtful if the results of the harvest will be satisfactory.

Grain-Corn has continued to improve, the early planted ripening, and the late planted setting. The yield, however, under the most favorable circumstances from now on will not come up to the average. The canning facto amount than last year, but the output will be below the average. Field corn will be a poor crop and silage probably not as good as usual. Small grains have yielded good crops of excellent quality, the harvest being now nearly completed. Buckwheat has not done as well as in some seasons, although a fair crop is looked for.

Grass-Haying is about completed, except on very low land, and much of the second crop has also been secured. Both crops are probably up to the average, both in amount and quality. Fall feed remains good and the outlook C. F. Allen, assignor to R. Wallace & is favorable for plenty the remainder of Sons Manufacturing company, Wal- the season. Although more than the lingford, heat-insulator for handled usual amount of Hungarian was sown, the crop will not be up to the average, owing to the unfavorable weather.

Fruit-In some localities there is an abundance of pears of good quality, while in others they are very scarce The same statement is applicable to apples, although the general opinion is Electric Vehicle company, JerseyCity, that the crop will be a little above the average for an off year. Berries of all sorts are about gone by, the yield of blueberries having been small, while raspberries and blackberries were plentiful. The cranberry crop is being harvested, the yield being below the average amount.

Vegetables.-The week saw an improvement in most garden vegetables. There are many green tomatoes, but so far their ripening has been very slow. Cabbage and turnips are in excellent condition, as are also beets and celery. The greater portion of the onion crop has been harvested. Many potato fields are injured by blight and rot, and showers are hastening digging and marketing. The quality of most of the crop so far in market is not of the best. It is probable that many fields will escape the rot and produce a good crop. THE MALLEY CO.

N less than three weeks the students will be with us again searching for places to eat and to sleep. The preparation for this season is always reflected in our stocks here.
