ENTERTAINMENTS.

Hyperton Theatre.

A great musical event, which is always a delight to a multitude of our people, is the annual visit here of Sousa's band at the Hyperton. So much of Sousa's time has been taken up of late to furnishing melody for our cousins across the seas that his home constituency has seen comparatively little of him. But there is only one Sousa, and when he is away band music performs languishes, which perhaps adds zest to his return to the concert field. At any event, now that the Sousa band is again on tour—which, by the way, is its twenty-fourth semi-annual concert trip—it will afford a most welcome post-Lenten musical feast. Sousa is on his way to open the great World's fair at St. Louis and his tour embraces some fifty towns only.

A particular feature of the Sousa concerts this trip will be his presentation of comprehensive excerpts from the great Wagner sacred festival drama "Parsifal," which is the talk of the entire musical world. Mr. Sousa has played selections from this notable work for the last ten years, but the present widespread interest in Wagner's last composition has induced him to repeat these numbers. It will afford countless thousands an opportunity to hear Parsifal who otherwise might never listen to music of this kind.

Mr. Sousa will be assisted by his soloists, Estelle Lieblich, soprano; Jessie Strau, violinist; Herbert L. Clarke, cornetist; and Jean H. B. Moseremans, saxophonist.

Seat sale is already large. Prices 50 cents, 75 cents and $1.

The attraction at the Hyperton tomorrow evening will be Miss Nance O'Neil, the young tragedienne, who has captured the critical theater-goers of Boston in a series of matinee revivals of classic and standard plays. The Boston Transcript says: "The apparition of Nance O'Neil on the local stage has been the most startling of theatrical events for years. Here is a new Rachel—an American 'tragedienne' who is a 'tragedienne,' appearing to us for the first time by way of Australia, New Zealand and Europe, and that without flare on trumpets, either preliminary or contemporary. Of stalwart height, with gracefully flaired and mobile face, a richly modulated voice and the perfection of limb and statuesque grace, Miss O'Neil has the advantage of exemplifying in her person almost all of the physical desiderata for great art. But the mental and spiritual endowment is quite as complete. Nance O'Neil is an American to be proud of, for she is American, and her art is American, so far as great art can have any national character."

Miss O'Neil comes here direct from her Boston triumph and will present Sudermann's great drama "Magda." She will be supported by her complete Boston company.

Seat sale now open. Prices $1.50, $1 and 75 cents.

The tremendous success of Mrs. Leslie Carter in David Belasco's play "Du Barry" during the past two years has kept Mrs. Carter's performances confined to four cities—New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago. In the metropolitan Mrs. Carter has played "Du Barry" for three hundred and fifty-two times at the Belasco theater, while one of Boston's largest playhouses was kept uncomfortably crowded for two months. In Philadelphia she was uncommonly successful for six weeks, and Chicago play-goers crowded one of the most commodious amusement resorts of the Windy City for eight weeks and marveled at the unapproachable art of this remarkable artist.

The fact that Mrs. Carter will appear at the Hyperton next Friday and Saturday, with Saturday matinee, will doubtless be one of the most notable engagements of the current theatrical year. Seat sale Wednesday. Prices $2, $1.50 and $1.

Grand Opera House.

"Across the Pacific," Blaney's splendid comedy drama, which comes to the Grand Opera house for a three nights' engagement, commencing to-night, has a habit of bringing the "standing-room-only" sign into use more often than any other popular-price attraction on the stage. It is not to be wondered at, however, when one considers what the management has done to make it successful. Fifty-eight people are used on the stage at one time, nearly four times as many as the average play. Then the company carries two carloads of special scenery and effects—the latter the most expensive of any show on the road. The Gatling gun used in the last act cost the management twenty-four hundred dollars. For this season new scenery has been made for the entire production. Harry Clay Blaney will again be seen as Willie Live the war correspondent, and nearly all the old favorites of the company have been retained. The Rough Rider band is still a feature. There will be a matinee on Wednesday.

Messrs. Sullivan, Harris and Woods have been prevailed upon to again send on a tour of the country the pugilistic marvel, Terry McGovern, in his success "The Bowers After Dark." The little fighter has demonstrated in days gone by his ability to act as well as fight. His success in this play has been so pronounced and has proved so big a money-maker that local managers throughout the country when apprised of Mr. McGovern's return to the stage, insisted upon his reviving "The Bowers After Dark." The play is well known to the theater-going public, having been seen on tour for two years with Terry in the cast. It deals with life on the lower East Side of New York city, presenting in its many scenes and situations the trials and vicissitudes of the poorer of the great city. Sullivan, Harris and Woods have surrounded McGovern with an exceptionally powerful acting company, and the engagement at the Grand Opera house on Thursday, Friday and Saturday this week should prove the record-breaker of the season. There will be the usual matinee Saturday.

Poll's Theater.

Rosa Naynon and her collection of birds will furnish the unique and attractive headline of Manager Poll's bill this afternoon. In speaking of her collection Rosa Naynon says: "There are seventy-four birds in our collection at present. Twenty-five of these are great sulphur-crested cockatoos. They come from Australia. Four are red-top cockatoos from East India. The large birds in the rings are macaws. The red macaws are from South America; the blue and yellow macaws are from Africa. Two are umbrella-top cockatoos. They are from East India. The two cut-throat or mossous cockatoos come from Australia. They belonged to the collection of Madame Garrett, the pioneer bird trader. After she died they passed into the hands

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE

It is believed, however, by several clergymen that the charges will be dropped or that the conference will acquit Professor Browne.

The choice of delegates to the general conference is a matter of speculation but a gentleman who is closely in touch with church politics said yesterday that the choice of the seven clergymen will be Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley of the Christian Advocate, Dr. William V. Kelley of the Methodist Review, Dr. C. S. Wing of Brooklyn, (a former New Haven pastor), Dr. James S. Chadwick of New York city, (also at one time stationed here), Dr. James Montgomery of Stamford, Dr. J. E. Adams of New York city and Dr. J. P. Mains of the Methodist Publishing house of Eaton & Mains.

There will be seven laymen as delegates also and among these the first place would have been accorded by universal consent to Henry H. Benedict of New Haven, but on account of business engagements he has declined to permit the use of his name. Prominent laymen who were mentioned as delegation possibilities are Prof. C. W. Winchester of Wesleyan, Cephas Rogers of Meriden and former Senator Burton of Ansonia.

Since the conference will continue over next Sunday until Wednesday of next week it will cause the absence of many of the pastors and the presence of substitutes in the pulpits. A few of the local clergymen will, however, return to New Haven for Sunday service.

TROLLEY TO WATERBURY.

President Mellen on the Development of Its Trolley Road Purchase.

President Mellen of the Consolidated road says in an interview that the railroad company bought the Fair Haven & Westville road because of the conviction in the minds of the directors of the New Haven company that there was a large transportation business in the territory served by its steam lines that could be better and more economically handled by means of a comprehensive trolley system, and the nucleus or basis for such a system seemed to be in the Fair Haven & Westville company, in preference to any other.

"So far from attempting to smother the road in any way, the policy will be to develop the trolley system to the fullest extent possible, disregarding the interest of the steam lines in the territory in which the two roads operate and in proof of this it may be stated negotiations are now in progress looking to the building of an additional track upon the New Haven & Northampton company's line between Mt. Carmel and Cheshire, which additional track may be used by the Fair Haven & Westville company, which may also use the Meriden, Middletown and Waterbury line, so that within no great while the New Haven trolley system may be running its own cars between the New Haven green and the site of the proposed union station in the city of Waterbury. Cars may also be run from New Haven to Meriden and Middletown."

ABOUT FLY-FISHING.

More lies have been told about fly-fishing!—how many, many anglers have returned to display good creels—"and every fish taken on a fly, sir!" Yes, a fly with the hook tipped with worm. An angler's pleasure is to find out what the trout will take and then supply them. It is a fly, wet and good. It is a clean and workmanlike manner of taking trout. If they will not touch a fly, then perhaps a long cast with a cricket, or a moth, or a stonefly, or gnat, or grasshopper, or even a beetle may raise the brooding fish.

Perhaps he needs the sparkle of a spinner, perhaps the undulating coil of a humble "barnyard hackle," perhaps the ventral fin of a shiner or of his own kind, perhaps a silvery strip of skin from the neck of a pullet. Or he may demand a minnow, or, alas! a mouse. This latter tidbit I have never been able to bring myself to use, except when artificial. And no doubt I have lost many a big trout by my squeamishness; but when it comes to using the more highly organized creatures as lures, I revolt. No-thing ever disgusted me as much as the spectacle of a huge pike taken on a moorhen.

Often in August, when the water is several degrees hotter on the surface than on the bottom, trout seek the cooling holes; and often nothing can induce them to rise through the straits of lukewarm water to take a surface fly. Then your cut-and-dried angler sniffs, damns his luck, and goes home. Yet, a red fly sunk where, through intimate knowledge of the bottom of the lake or river, the angler knows there is a spring, will bring the lurking trout springing up with peculiar savagery.—Robert W. Chambers in Harper's Weekly.

"Hotchkiss is quite absorbed in the Russo-Japanese war, isn't he?" remarked Jenkins.

"Absorbed?" sneered Bleecker. "He's positively nutty on the subject. Can't think of anything else. Why, do you know, he really doesn't seem to realize that the baseball season is approaching."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

THE GLAD EASTER TIME

NOTABLE SERVICES IN THE CHURCHES YESTERDAY.

Beautiful Displays of Flowers—Special Sermons—Big Easter Collections—Presentations to Children—Other Events.

Although the temperature yesterday would have been pleasant for Christmas it was hardly the article desired for Easter, and despite the bright sunlight much Easter febricity was foregone by its possessors who had a wholesome fear of pneumonia. Through marked the approach to the various churches, and from every section of the city the attempt to greet the end of Lent and the conventional advent of spring was evident. In all parts of the city the church bells announced the glad day, of which the sartorial display is but an incident. The services, too, were markedly distinctive and commemorative and the sermons were heard by full congregations.

The parade aspect of the streets in the morning was quite lost by early afternoon and the effect of the cold weather was most noticeable. The attendance at evening services in the churches was marked by a lack of Easter febricity. The cold had very evidently completed its effect and winter garments supplanted the spring display that has come to be such a commentary on the calendar.

AT TRINITY P. E. CHURCH.

Trinity P. E. church was filled to overflowing at the various services of Easter day. The church was as usual tastefully decorated with flowers, Easter lilies with palms forming the background, while a large white wreath, and with the beautiful altar cloths; the fountains filled with sweet alyssum hyacinth, tulips and daisies added to the scene. The communion rail was also a solid line of tulips. Above and beyond all was the illuminated cross veiled in soft green, surmounted by a lovely white crown testifying that forevermore through the gloom and brings unfading lustre to the day. The sermon was by Dr. Baker and the music programmes were rendered in the usual faultless style. The tone of the leading solo soprano of the boy choir is remarkable and demonstrates what can be done with boys' voices. The soloists were Master Irwin G. Beebe, soprano; F. H. Williams, alto; Frank Langdale, tenor; C. H. Mann, baritone.

Organist and choirmaster, Harry J. Read. The entire day's programmes were:

Holy communion at 10 a. m. when Gounod's "Messe des Origines" for men's voices, was sung. Morning prayer, sermon and holy communion at 10:30, with the following service list: Professional—"Jesus Christ is Risen To-day." "Christ Our Passover (chant)." "Christ Our Passover (chant)." Humfrey Festival Gloria..... Mozart Te Deum in E flat..... Huntley Jubilate in D..... Rogers Introit—"Welcome Happy Morning"..... Stewart Offertory—"Jesus is Risen To-day"..... Gail Communion service in D..... Moul Recessional—"Lift Up, Lift Up Your Voices Now." Children's service with Easter carols at 3 p. m.

At the children's service there was a large cross at the chancel of evergreen. Dr. Baker gave an interesting address on the cross, showing a Roman cross, and asking the children to transform it into a floral one. This was done by the children giving the choir boys their bouquets of white flowers, transforming the Roman cross into a beautiful floral cross. Another pleasant feature was the banner presentation by Dr. Baker to the children for regular attendance during Christmas. An interesting com-

Come in and See the Laces

The new 1904 laces are a remarkably pretty lot and we ask you to stop at the Lace Counter and review them.

In this connection, we would leave the thought with you—that we keep a line of laces and dress trimmings second to none in New Haven. And it is by no means confined to the low or medium priced qualities. Our patronage, to a large extent, demands such grades that a casual investigation will disclose any quantity of the choicer and more expensive kinds priced as high as you're likely to go. See them for yourself and all doubts will be dispelled.

The Allover Laces will be much used. The Tenerife, separately and button effects are especially in prominence. White, butter and Arab shades in all. They're priced all the way from 98c to $4.98 per yard.

Oriental Allover Laces. In the zenith of popularity. Demands upon our stock are heavy but we foresaw the style tendency and are well prepared. These come at 59c and up to $3.25 per yard.

Chiffon Applique. So much used in the making of collars. Black, white or Persian colorings. Priced from 49c to $1.98 a yard.

Venise Bands from 19c to $1.50 a yard.

petition has existed among the children to capture the banners. Hymns were presented to two boys for bringing in the largest number of scholars. Medals were presented to ninety-five scholars for perfect attendance. Rev. Mr. Thomas gave an interesting review of the work and complimented the vested choir of girls belonging to the school upon the fine work accomplished by them. The children's mission and Lenten collections were then received. They were unusually large, the amount being thought to be one of the largest ever received at Trinity school.

There was a choral evensong without sermon at 7:30 at which service the programme was as follows: Prelude in the form of an offertory..... Drisdell Professional—"Jesus Christ is Risen To-day." "Christ Our Passover (chant)." Humfrey Festival Gloria..... Mozart Te Deum in E flat..... Huntley Jubilate in D..... Rogers Introit—"Welcome Happy Morning"..... Stewart Hymn—"All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name"..... Holden Offertory—"He Shall Swallow Up Death in Victory"..... Greenish Recessional—"Lift Up, Lift Up Your Voices Now." Postlude—Last movement in Mendelssohn's first Sonata.

The Easter offering received at Trinity church yesterday was over $700.

SERVICES AT DWIGHT PLACE CHURCH.

The Easter sermon of Rev. Dr. W. W. Leete of Dwight Place church was based on Ephesians iv. 4. "When He ascended on high He led captivity captive and gave gifts unto men." The church altar was elaborately decorated with palms, rhododendrons, large jars of Easter lilies, and the altar rail was covered with mixed colored tulips. The musical programme was finely rendered and the morning programme was as follows: Anthem, "O Risen Lord"..... Fisher Anthem, "The Easter Dawn"..... Dressler Offertory, "Ring Out Glad Bells of Easter Tide"..... Bartlett The Sabbath school Easter service consisted of recitations by the little children. One was especially fine, where they waved their lilies. The solos were sung by Curtis Gillette, Marian Thompson, Louise Hastings and Miss Marjorie. The singing by a fine quartette of young ladies was much enjoyed. Several speakers entertained the school and visitors. At the Easter praise service the choir was assisted by the choral society of the church and Fichtl's orchestra. The members of the string quartette were: Mr. Fichtl, first violin; Mr. Doolittle, second violin; Mr. Rawson, viola, and Mr. Schmidt, cello. Prelude, "Overture in F"..... Kallivada Organ and orchestra.

Anthem, "O Lift Up Your Joyful Hearts"..... L. Dressler Anthem, "Christ is Risen from the Dead"..... Rogers Solo, "The Resurrection"..... Shelley Violin obligato.

Offertory, "Melodie in F"..... Rubenstein String quartette.

Anthem, "Hosanna"..... Granier-Schnecker Anthem, "Unfold! Ye Portals Everlasting!" ("Redemption")..... Gounod Postlude, "Recessional March"..... Rostetter

The church was filled to the doors, and the choir sustained its fine reputation, giving evidence of much faithful work.

SATISFIED. The Surgeon's Assistant in a Dangerous Case. The surgeon who is attending a dangerous case praises the food that helped his little patient. "I have a story to tell about what Grape-Nuts did and is still doing for my child, a story marvelous indeed which seems almost incredible but which is an absolute fact. "Two years ago in March my little four-year-old daughter was stricken down with tuberculosis of the right hip joint. We put her in charge of a specialist for treatment. He told us that our only hope of saving her hip and perhaps life in addition to his surgical treatment was to build up her system with good nourishing food to make good rich blood, bone, muscle and fat which in time would cure the disease by absorption. "This sounded easy, but proved a difficult case to treat as there were so many foods recommended that did not agree with her or that she did not like and therefore would not eat. "For a year and a half she barely held her own until Grape-Nuts was tried, which she liked from the first and in two months gained two pounds in weight where during the 18 months preceding, she had lost weight. "Now notwithstanding she is also just recovering from a severe attack of the whooping cough, which she had had for the last three months, she has gained steadily in weight, is growing nicely, and her entire recovery is promising and hopeful, and we are confident of complete success. "Our surgeon is delighted with the aid improvement she is making, and both he and ourselves are more than thankful that we tried Grape-Nuts. The writer of this letter is the pastor of a church at Warrensville, Ohio. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Thousands of physicians now prescribe Grape-Nuts food in all cases where strength is expected from food. There's a reason. Look in each pkg. for the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

An Englishwoman is credited with reading no less than eleven hundred novels in a year. Carnegie ought to give her a library with an endowment fund.

A Texas jury has sentenced a negro to one thousand years in prison for an attempted assault. He can have two hundred years taken off for good behavior, however.

A Berlin firm has sent to Moscow an order for the immediate supply of eighty thousand magpies, which will be shot to provide trimmings for women's hats. Agriculturists deplore this wholesale slaughter of "birds which feed largely on noxious insects."

The editors of the Living Church say that Boston, Massachusetts, is "a place where Satan visibly manifests himself just as he did when our Lord conquered him in the wilderness, for is not Boston Satan's greatest stronghold in the land, as he manifests himself in Christian Science, Spiritualism and Unitarianism?"

Indians may not be as bad as they are sometimes painted. Chief Porter, of the Creek nation, recently said: "For forty years I have been familiar with Indian election affairs, and I have never heard of a case of repeating or intimidation of a voter. Repeating is impossible in the Indian elections, and so far as intimidation goes, the Indian is too good a citizen to attempt any such crime."

One of the leading portrait painters of London had sittings not long ago from a lady of wit and fashion. Her husband, a peer, went to see the portrait when it was finished, and was asked by the artist to give his opinion of it. He was not an art critic, and he replied quite innocently, looking first at the lady and then at the portrait: "It is very good; it is excellent; but I think there is a little too much repose about the mouth."

Manchuria corresponds in latitude to Manitoba, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota and Nebraska. Its area of 362,310 square miles is only 10,000 square miles less than the combined area of these great grain States. It is two and one-half times greater than California, and is as big as Texas, Alabama and Louisiana combined. In the northern part of the province are thousands of square miles of rich wheat land entirely untouched. Manchuria has a possible wheat area as great as that of the United States.

There has just been discovered in the Far East a species of the acacia tree which closes its leaves together in coils each day at sunset, and curls its twigs to the shape of pig tails. After the tree has settled itself thus for a night's sleep, if touched the whole thing will flutter as if agitated or impatient at being disturbed. The oftener the foliage is molested the more violent becomes the shaking of the branches, and at length the tree emits a nauseating odor, which, if inhaled for a few moments, causes a violent dizzy headache. It has been named the "angry tree."

The Empress Alix of Russia recently had her portrait painted by Fritz von Kaulbach. She retains her love for her old German home at Darmstadt, and loves to spend a few weeks there whenever she can. She dislikes politics and public ceremonies, and is of a decidedly domestic disposition. She is fond of painting, and occasionally amuses herself by making an omelette or a cup of coffee. She always goes about much at Darmstadt, doing her own shopping, and the boys and girls are specially instructed in the schools not to annoy her by following and staring at her. She speaks four languages, having learned Russian before her marriage. In her own family English much spoken. When she left Darmstadt after her latest visit she had tears in her eyes.

"It is more blessed to give than to receive," said the benevolent man. "Mother and the girls will be glad to know that," answered Mr. Camrox. "They found out early in the campaign that it is a heap easier to give parties than it is to receive invitations."—Washington Star.

NOT JUST RIGHT.
Yesterday was as good a day as usual for worshipping the Lord in the beauty or holiness, but it might have been a little more encouraging to the worshippers of Him in the beauty of new clothes. Still, the display was large, pleasing, instructive and comforting, and those who made it had reason to feel that they had done their duty by themselves and their fellow beings. Perhaps the display will be considered a hint by old and cold winter that it is time for him to let up on a suffering and a suffering multitude, but it is not safe to expect much from such a persistent and obstinate hanger-on. He will probably not let up until he has to. Perhaps we are not going to have any summer to speak of this year. There was once a year in this region when there was frost in every month, and there may be another such year. Of course nobody really expects it, but it is well to talk softly when talking about the weather. Let us, however, go on as steadily as our rheumatism and other disabilities will permit, hoping for joyous days when the corn leaves can be heard whispering to each other in warm contentment, and when it is hot enough for good ball playing. And if those days come let us not complain of them and wish for these. If anybody wants any more of these now is the time to say so.

HIGH OLD SPELLING.
They have a girls' high school in Brooklyn and it is about as high as they make them. Still, the fact that it is not yet clear out of sight of other high schools is indicated by some spelling that has just been done there. They had a spelling bee, and a class that was supposed to be able to hold the floor for an hour and a half went down in thirty minutes on the simplest words. One by one these bright, alert misses went down, not before the heavy artillery of our complex English speech, but driven from the field by its small arms. One spelled "axle" "a-x-i-l" and was ordered to sit down, but was relieved because she was a star member of the botany class and the word as she spelled it was probably the only one of that pronunciation of which she had ever taken notice. Others spelled it "a-x-e-l" and "a-x-u-l." Some in the chemistry class had not been as observant as the botany girl, and "laboratory" proved a staggerer to several of them. One who was making physiology a special study spelled "artery" "a-t-e-r-y," and these are specimens of the way the general record ran.

There are high schools that couldn't do much worse in spelling than the girls' high school of Brooklyn, which fact is, we suppose, encouraging. But it would be still more encouraging if there were many high schools that could do much better.

THE CANAL IN THE COURTS.
The Republic of Colombia took a notion that it might be able to block the bargain pending between the government of the United States and the New Panama Canal Company. That bargain involved, and still involves, the payment to the company of $40,000,000 in a lump sum. The interference of Colombia in this sale was attempted through an application to a departmental court in France on the ground that the canal company was legally unable to transfer its property without the consent of Colombia. The court has decided that the right which Colombia once had of sanctioning such a transfer has passed to Panama, and that the company, holding a consent from Panama, may now proceed to sell its property to the United States. Thus Colombia probably passes for good and all beyond the sphere of canal negotiations.

So much for that. A citizen of Chicago, Mr. Warren B. Wilson, has applied to the courts for an injunction against the expenditure of any public money on the Panama canal. The ground on which the injunction is asked is that the Spooner act, in which the appropriation was made, provides that the canal shall be on "Colombian territory" acquired from the "government of Colombia," and contains sundry other conditions that are not complied with. The bill was enacted when the acceptance of a treaty with Colombia by the congress of that country was expected, and before the Republic of Panama came into existence. Now the canal strip was, in fact, acquired from Panama, and is within the limits of the new State.

Probably it will be found that no citizen of Chicago can do much to delay work on the canal. Mr. Wilson would be in better business trying to help reduce Chicago's rapidly diminishing death-rate.

Uda, near the Algerian frontier, the Moorish commander-in-chief has been obliged to disarm his men, as they were selling their rifles and cartridges to the rebels in order to obtain food. Before the breaking out of war in the Far East the Sultan was offered a loan by the Paris bankers on by no means disadvantageous terms, but the Moorish government objected to the placing of European officials in some of the custom houses and the matter fell through. The pretender remains at Tesa, where he has rebuilt the damaged walls of the town, and although his forces are by no means formidable, it is improbable that the government will try to oust him. The failure of the Sultan's autumn expedition, which never succeeded in proceeding more than two days' march east of Fez, discouraged any further attempt in that direction. Meanwhile the so-called loyal tribes have thrown off all semblance of government control.

There are more uncomfortable countries than the United States to live in.

"It is a great pity that we didn't prevent this war between Russia and Japan." "What could we have done?" "Why, in the interest of humanity and civilization and to prevent the efrusion of blood we might have annexed Corea ourselves."—Brooklyn Life.

"Pshaw!" she exclaimed impatiently. "I'm sure we'll miss the first act. We've waited a good many minutes for that mother of mine." "Hours, I should say," he retorted, rather crossly. "Ours? Oh, George!" she cried, and laid her blushing cheek upon his shirt front.—Philadelphia Press.

"Hotchkiss is quite absorbed in the Russo-Japanese war, isn't he?" remarked Jenkins. "Absorbed?" sneered Bleacher. "He's positively nutty on the subject. Can't think of anything else. Why, do you know, he really doesn't seem to realize that the baseball season is approaching."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"It's easy enough to pick out the bankrupt," said the unsophisticated reporter at the creditors' meeting. "Yes?" replied the other.

SARSFIELDS' BALL TO-NIGHT

BRILLIANT AND VERY SUCCESSFUL EVENT EXPECTED.

Governor Chamberlain to be Among the Many Guests—The Executive and Reception Committee.

The Sarsfields' grand annual reception and ball will take place in the Second regiment armory and will be as usual one of the notable and prominent events of the year. It is fully expected that the affair will be honored by the presence of Governor Chamberlain, as in a personal interview with Captain Spencer of that company he has signified his intention to be present with his full military staff. This will be welcome news to his many friends in New Haven and the Sarsfields in particular, as very few invitations of this nature are being accepted by the governor at present.

As supper will not be served at the armory this year, the committee wishes to announce that ample accommodations are offered at the local hotels.

The dance program, consisting of 25 numbers, is arranged as follows:

UNITED CHURCH.

The Easter anthems at the United church yesterday were: "Christ Our Passover" (Tours) and "Awake, Thou Sleepest" (Reed).

Rev. Mr. Haynes delivered an Easter sermon on the text "If a man die shall he live again?" which was of great power and eloquence. The church was decorated in lilies, palms and smaller flowers.

The three departments of the Sunday school held an elaborate joint service, with the following programme:

Processional—Violin, Miss Cummings; flute, Mr. Wilson; piano, Miss Law. Responsive service.
Prayer—Rev. Mr. Haynes.
Easter carol—Esther Jewell.
Recitation—"The Easter's Marching on"—Homer Kennedy.
Songs and exercises—Donda Cameron and chorus of children.
Recitation—Ruth Bartlett.
Primary song—Ada Dowell and chorus of children.
Exercise—Four kindergarten children.
Parable of the Seed—Primary department.
Consider the Lilies—Junior department.
Reading—J. W. Wetzel.
Closing hymn—Lift Up Your Voices Now.

The platform was decorated with Easter lilies, which were afterwards distributed among the sick of the church.

AT CENTER CHURCH.

Rev. Dr. Smyth delivered the Easter sermon at Center church yesterday. He preceded the sermon by remarks on the E. Hayes Trowbridge memorial window, first seen by the congregation on Easter morning. These remarks were printed in another column. Dr. Smyth's sermon was on the text, "And they shall see His face." The substance of the sermon is as follows:

Not the sun nor the stars, but the human face, is the most beautiful and wonderful thing in creation, of which it is the visible end and final work. When one looks up from seeing a man in a microscope and beholds the face of a friend he realizes their infinite distance. There is something which is in the face, yet is not of the face, from which is the expression playing over it, the features coming really from the inner life. Two faces there are, the one growing old and careworn, the other ever growing serene. The latter no portrait can show. Of all the sweet promises of the gospel this of the text is the deepest joy in our Easter praise.

There is no authoritative description of Christ. One tradition represents Him as careworn, one as more fair than the sons of man. Perhaps both are correct. But certainly there must have been in His face a light which would have transfused common clay. The Virgin mother saw "the face of the spirit" in Christ when she looked into His child face. John the Baptist saw it when he said, "Behold the Lamb of God," and each of the disciples saw this face. As Christ said to Mary, "Behold Thy Son," she beheld this inner face again, and they beheld it on the holy morn. This transfused Christ was the one seen after the resurrection, till the spirit became too pure to be beheld and vanished. The text leaves all

BRIEF MENTION.

High water to-day, 2:15 p. m. H. A. Fabyan, the new secretary to President Mellen, arrived Saturday and began his new duties. The annual meeting of the Eaton School Alumni association is to be held next Wednesday night at Harmonie hall. There will be a banquet and dancing. Patrick Sheridan, 64 years old, who keeps a cobbler shop in Factory street, was taken to the hospital Saturday night with a broken shoulder. He said he fell down stairs. Sheriff Dunham took Willis Vandermark of Waterbury, to Wetherfield Saturday. He was sentenced to not less than two nor more than three years for perjury in connection with the trolley cases in Waterbury. The grievance committee of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen of the Consolidated railroad system went before General Superintendent O. M. Shepard of the road in this city Saturday, and the matter of securing a new interpretation of the terms of the schedule under which these men work was discussed at length. A satisfactory solution is expected. A meeting of representatives of various lodges of the Odd Fellows in this city was held Saturday night to arrange ceremonies attending the planting of a white oak tree on the green. The planting is to be done on Tuesday, April 26, the 85th anniversary of the foundation of Odd Fellowship. The suggestion that a white oak be set out came from Grand Master Upton of Southington, head of his jurisdiction in this state. The five-masted schooner Magnus Manson, built for Frank W. Benedict of New Haven, Conn., was launched from the yards of the New England Shipbuilding company at Bath, Me., on Saturday. The launching was witnessed by a large number of spectators, including a party of 20 of her stockholders and their friends. The vessel was christened by Miss Margaret Gruener, daughter of Capt. Edward O. Gruener of New Haven, and granddaughter of Capt. Magnus Manson, for whom the vessel is named.

WORE THE SHOES.

That was How Evidence of Burglary Was Secured Against William T. Sanford. William T. Sanford (colored) was arrested yesterday afternoon by Policeman O'Connell, of the Dixwell avenue station, and charged with burglary. Last Thursday night the cobbler shop owned by Robert Warner was broken open and the place robbed of two pairs of shoes. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Warner saw Sanford wearing one of the pairs of stolen shoes and he had him arrested. The accused is charged with burglary.

RESCUED FROM DROWNING.

A Finlander who gave his name as Anderson had a narrow escape from drowning off Branford Saturday afternoon, his life being saved by the timely arrival of Captain George Baldwin, who, upon seeing Anderson and two companions in the water, had set out for them in a rowboat. They had been out in a sharp cold half a mile from the shore, when a gust of wind overturned the boat. They had to swim for the shore. They had gone some distance, when Anderson became exhausted. Captain Baldwin arrived and took the three men ashore.

A MEMORIAL WINDOW.

BEAUTIFUL TRIBUTE TO THE LATE E. HAYES TROWBRIDGE.

Presented to Center Church as an Easter Morning Gift Yesterday—Remarks of Rev. Dr. Smyth for the Occasion.

There was seen yesterday for the first time at Center church a new memorial window that has been presented to the church as a memorial to the late E. Hayes Trowbridge. It occupies the first space in the first window on the south side of the upper gallery, and was executed by Tiffany of New York. On the inscription panel in the lower part of the window appears the following: In Memory of Ezekiel Hayes Trowbridge, Born March 22, 1841. Died Nov. 30, 1901.

"As the hart panteth after the water-brooks, so panteth my soul after thee, O God."

The quotation forms the theme of the whole design, which is singularly successful in its uniqueness and its originality. A fine perspective of sunlit hills and limpid skyline deepens and closes into the radiance of warm light filtered through autumn foliage about a stream that falls refreshingly from rock to rock. Strength and the darker notes, graceful in contrast, are supplied by the trunks of over-arching trees in the foreground, as the stream widens, and half hidden in the thick growth on the left is the hart of the Psalmist's graphic imagery.

Even the figure subjects of that time, though admirable in conception, were yet bound by the limitations of their methods and materials. In the space occupied by this window some four or five thousand separate pieces of richly colored glass have been required to give the landscape effect. Rev. Dr. Newman Smyth feelingly referred to this new memorial window for Center church at the services yesterday forenoon as follows: The window in memory of Mr. E. Hayes Trowbridge, which is presented to his church and ours this Easter morning, brings a new element of truth and beauty into harmony of our religious symbolism. Our historical window, which was Mr. Trowbridge's gift in memory of his father, keeps ever before us our great heritage from the past. Other windows remind us of the nativity, of the water of life, of the olive visible presence and the abiding place of the Lord. Another window witnesses God's guidance to his haven of His church; still others may help us to conceive of the angels of life and joy, and of the home above whither a little child may lead us.

This woodland window, richly wrought from the natural symbolism of the psalms, may help us think of the inner life, and the thirst of the soul for the living God. Thus it finds its fair and fitting place in the religious teaching of this church. As a memorial also it is altogether worthy in the church. For while men in their daily business contacts may come to understand one another well, it is sometimes a pastor's privilege to know men most truly in their inner life. So more than once in recent years Mr. Trowbridge had disclosed to me his deepening sense of responsibility and stewardship, his inward tenderness and sympathy, as well as his increased desire and purpose to do what he wisely could for the city, which he felt its more prosperous citizens should enrich, and for his church, which, as he said, like his home, should suffer no need while he lived. With thoughts and plans forming in his mind of still more generous service and larger usefulness, his life here, too suddenly for us, was cut short. This is no place or time, as we appear before God, for us to speak words of friendly appreciation of our fellow men. It is grateful and excellent to say that this memorial window, as we shall look many a Sabbath day upon its quiet loveliness, and read its scriptural meaning, may lead our eyes away from all outward works and earthly accomplishment, and leave us thinking of the inner life. "As the hart panteth after the water-brooks, so panteth my soul after Thee, O God."

THE GLAD EASTER TIME

(Continued from Seventh Page.) hope in the vision of the face. In the great religious pictures the eye rests, not on drapery or on architecture, but on the face. In the Revelation of St. John the gaze of all is turned, not to the streets of gold or the jeweled walls, but to the face of Christ. It is the variety of faces which makes society pleasant to us. As God's home is better than this earth, so must there be all kinds of faces, the redeemed and glorified of all ages. There will be the faces of children, the open faces of youth, faces strong from endurance and heroic deeds, finally faces of those on whom the evening light has fallen with a softening touch. There will be another life more glorious than this in our hearts—life shining through man's face—life which shall transfigure and glorify.

AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

Annual Sunday School Celebration and Very Large Collection. Easter was most fittingly observed in St. Paul's church yesterday. All the services were largely attended and the offerings this year were very bountiful. There was the regular early morning service at 6:30 o'clock, which was followed by the early communion. The regular morning service at 10:30 o'clock was next and this also was followed by communion at noon. The regular evening service was omitted and in its stead the annual Sunday school celebration was held in the church at three o'clock. The church presented a very handsome appearance in its Easter floral attire. The floral decorations were profuse and they were tastefully and beautifully arranged. The singing throughout the day was fine and showed careful preparation and instruction. It was estimated last evening that over 500 persons took communion during the day and while an exact statement of the offerings could not be had last evening, it was stated that they were very large. Taken in conjunction with the annual Sunday school offerings they swell the total day's receipts into the thousands. At the Sunday school celebration the hearts of the little ones were made glad with presents of beautiful potted plants and flowers. About 500 children attended the Sunday school celebration. The only sermon delivered during the day was at the regular morning service. Rev. Mr. Stokes spoke in reference to the resurrection of Christ and what it meant to all His followers.

CHURCH OF THE REDEEMER.

The Sunday schools of the Church of service yesterday afternoon. A fine programme was given. Miss Harlette was organist and Mr. Robert Dudley French violinist. An offering was taken up during the church services, which were according to the programme printed Saturday. There were beautiful decorations of flowers.

AT CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH.

Calvary Baptist church was one of the handsomely decorated churches yesterday. The choir gallery was decorated with the inscription: "Christ the Lord is
