U. S. STEEL DECLARES THE USUAL DIVIDEND.

DEFICIT FOR QUARTER CREATED TO MEET PAYMENT. Earnings for Same Period the Lowest in the History of the Corporation but Better, it is Said, Than the Most Extravagant Estimates of Outsiders—No Action on Question of Dividend on Common Stock.

New York, April 5.—Directors of the United States Steel corporation to-day declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1 3/4 per cent. on the preferred stock. The amount thus applied to the dividend was $6,304,919, and in order to meet this payment a deficit for the quarter of $1,875,129 was created. Earnings for the last quarter (March estimated at $6,800,000) amounted to $11,208,836. Although the lowest in the corporation's history, they were better than the most extravagant estimates made by outsiders. They were less by $1,828,265 than earnings for the fourth quarter of last year. It was thought that the corporation's new system of accounting inaugurated with the new year, under which earnings are not credited until the product has actually been sold, would tend to reduce profits in this quarter. The balance of $4,417,759, applicable to dividends was struck off $4,945,845 had been paid off to the sinking funds of the constituent companies, depreciation and reserve funds, and $6,815,442 was charged to interest on the corporation's bond and sinking funds for the quarter.

IN AND ABOUT THE COURTS

H. B. IVES SUED BY FORMER PARTNER FOR $5,000.

Criminal Superior Court—Common Pleas Court—Action Against Mr. Cable Ended—Long List of Cases Filed in Supreme Court—City Court.

Edgar A. Snyder yesterday filed a suit for $5,000 against Hobart B. Ives, who was his partner in the Hobart B. Ives Investment company, of this city. The company was formally dissolved May 1, 1903, and in his complaint Snyder, who has been prominent in the Kasaban Bay company's difficulties, sets up that Ives was to handle the business of the Ives company during the period needed to close it up and to protect Snyder's half interest in the $10,000 assets. The plaintiff alleges that Ives has wastefully expended the estate, refused to give an accounting and wind up the company's affairs. The plaintiff wants the damages and a receiver to wind up the business.

CASE THROWN OUT. By a decision handed down by Judge Gager in the superior court yesterday the action brought by William A. Lincoln to recover $1,630 from Althea B. Cable, widow of former Judge Julius Cable, is brought to an untimely end, defendant's plea in abatement being sustained.

The ground of this decision was that plaintiff had, as his own attorney, qualified for himself as client and before a bond had really been given. Action was brought by Major Lincoln to recover for services which would have been rendered as messenger of the court had Judge Cable appointed him, as Mr. Lincoln alleges he had promised to do.

CRIMINAL SUPERIOR COURT. The criminal side of the superior court came in session yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock and it was immediately adjourned to tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the assignment of cases will be made by Judge Gager. The jury has been summoned to be in attendance on Friday morning at ten o'clock, when the trial of cases will probably be commenced.

A JURY VERDICT. The jury in the case of the Sporting Goods Publishing company vs. John H. Barlow returned a verdict yesterday in favor of the plaintiff and Judge Hubbard allowed the sum of $25. The plaintiff is the publisher of the Sporting Dealer's Magazine and it was claimed that the defendant contracted $60 worth of advertising, which he received and did not pay for. The defendant claimed that his advertisement had been continued after he had ordered it withdrawn. This he gave as one of the reasons why the bill had not been paid.

The jury was then impelled in the case of Leverett C. Lindley vs. C. W. Blakeley & Sons, and this case will go on trial this morning at 10 o'clock.

DENIED DIVORCE. Concluding that the evidence recently presented before him was not sufficient to sustain the allegation of habitual intemperance made against Maria Carr by her husband, Robert Carr, Judge Gager yesterday handed down a decision denying the divorce, asked by the husband. The couple have been married a quarter of a century.

LINES ESTATE. By agreement of counsel Judge Ralph Wheeler in the superior court yesterday reserved for the supreme court the question whether the trust heirs of Augustus E. Lines, late of Whalley avenue, shall begin the enjoyment of the earnings of the trust funds from the date of his death or one year afterwards. The question is involved in a suit brought by Attorney James H. Webb, as executor of Lines, and to whom the trusts are left to pay the interest to the beneficiaries during their lives.

The income of $120,000 is left for the use of Mary Ann Lines, the widow; of $15,000 to Mrs. Harry K. Lines, daughter-in-law; of $25,000 to Jane E. Lines, sister, deceased; of $15,000 to Harry K. Lines, son.

On the death of these beneficiaries the principals are to go to Louise D. Webb, the fourteen-year-old daughter of Harry K. Lines, whose guardian-counsel, Samuel E. Morehouse, claims that the income should not be touched till one year, as it makes a difference of $19,000 to the residue, which will eventually come to H. K. Lines' daughter.

IN SUPERIOR COURT. The case of John W. Douglass vs. William H. Unmack and others was on trial before Judge Ralph Wheeler and a jury in the civil superior court yesterday. It is an action on a bond in a replevin suit which the plaintiff won. Damages of $1,000 are claimed. It will be on again to-day.

No case was heard by Judge Elmer in the special superior court yesterday. The cases assigned were the Carter & Hubbell company vs. Rosenthal, Mattson, administrator, vs. Russell, and Wilson vs. Wilson, but they all went off the list.

ELIZA MIX ESTATE. As counsel for Howard Allen Mix, administrator of the estate of the late Eliza Mix, Attorney George E. Beers has represented Mrs. Mix's estate as insolvent, and Judge Cleveland has appointed...

SAILED FOR EUROPE. Morton F. Plant, of Eastern Point, owner of the schooner yacht Ingomar, sailed Saturday on the steamship St. Louis for Southampton. DIET SQUAD LEAVES NEW HAVEN. The Yale die squad, composed of soldiers from the army who have been the subject of food experiments by Professor Chittenden of Yale for the last six months, left town yesterday afternoon. They went first to Washington, and then will go to St. Louis, where most of them will be given hospital corps service at the exposition for six months.

appointed to-morrow as the date for a hearing on the appointment of commissioners. The hearing will be held in the probate court at 10 o'clock in the morning. The object of this action, it is said, is to forestall the trial of several suits now pending against the estate in the court of common pleas and the superior court, the administrator believing it more expeditious and less expensive to have the claims settled in a bunch before the commissioners.

CASES RETURNED. In the returns of new suits for the April term of the superior court were ten divorce applications, in seven of which desertion is given as one of the grounds for the freedom sought. The cases are: Elias P. Nygar, of Derby, vs. Catharine Nygar, of New Haven; desertion; married March 17, 1897.

George N. Wakelee, of Southbury, vs. Carrie E. Wakelee, of Danbury; married February 29, 1896; adultery, intemperance and cruelty. Louise S. Waag vs. John Waag; married October 19, 1893; desertion. A NOTABLE FUNERAL

FRIENDS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE STATE

At the funeral of Major J. C. Branch in Middletown yesterday—Ex-Governor Bulkeley and many other distinguished men present.

Middletown, April 5.—The funeral of Major John C. Branch was very largely attended from his late residence on Main street this afternoon at three o'clock. The services were conducted at the house by the Rev. Dr. Fish, pastor of the Universalist church, and Rev. E. Campion Acheson, rector of the Church of the Holy Trinity. There were delegations from Mansfield post and from Mansfield guards. There were many present from out of town, among the number being some of his old comrades in arms, and others being personal friends. Business was practically suspended in the municipal building during the hour of the funeral; and town, city and county officials attended the services.

There were many handsome floral offerings. The active pallbearers were: Patrick J. Denehey and James Griffin, who had been associated with him as employees of the water works for many years; Daniel I. Chapman, representing Apollo lodge, K. of P., and Wingate C. Howard, representing Central lodge of Odd Fellows. The honorary bearers were James Lawton, president of the water board; Samuel Stearns, clerk of the board, and ex-Mayor Lyman D. Mills, as representatives of the civil life of the deceased. The other honorary bearers who represented the military side of his life and included men who were associated with him in the army, or since the war in a business way, were Colonel Samuel Moore, 14th regiment, New Britain; Colonel Julius W. Knowlton, 14th regiment, Bridgeport; Surgeon Levi Jewett, 14th regiment, Colaba; Colonel W. H. Tubbs, 14th regiment, Hartford; Mayor Albert R. Crittenden, 14th regiment, Middletown; Colonel Samuel B. Horn, 11th regiment, Winsted; Major Ira E. Hicks, 7th regiment, New Britain; John McCarthy, president of the Fourteenth Regiment association, New Haven, and E. J. Steele, of the First Connecticut

Heavy artillery, Torrington, who was in the legislature and a member of the military committee with Major Branch. After the services at the house had been concluded, Mansfield post, G. A. P., took charge of the funeral. The services at the grave in Pine Grove cemetery were conducted by Commandeur Delmer R. Lowell, assisted by Chaplain C. D. Rice. As the final part of the service a military salute was fired by Mansfield guard, under command of Captain Russell, and closing with the sounding of taps by the buglers of Company H.

MISS NANCE O'NEIL IN "MAGDA." Miss Nance O'Neil appeared in Sudermann's tragedy, "Magda," last evening, at the Hyperion.

The play tells the story of the return of a prodigal daughter, after becoming a great singer. The old home has become too small for her to remain, and the tragedy of the play lies in the final death of her father, stricken by what he considers her great disobedience. The company with Miss O'Neil is one of great excellence, especially McKee Rankin, who had the difficult part of the father. Miss O'Neil was especially notable for her naturalness. She was handsomely gowned. The whole play was direct and forceful, depending entirely on the acting for the success which it had.

FIVE STILL ALARMS.

All Caused by Brush and Dried Grass Being on Fire.

There were five still alarms yesterday afternoon, all caused through grass and brush being on fire, and no damage to amount to anything resulted from any of the blazes.

No. 3's house responded to three of the stills. The first was at 1:42 o'clock and was at Baker's lot on View street; the second was at 2:15 o'clock and was at the open lot at the corner of Orange and Canner streets, and the third was at 3:45 o'clock on Rock lane. It is believed that all these fires were started by boys.

At 2:14 o'clock No. 4's house extinguished fires along the banks of the Derby railroad, between Washington street and Howard avenue. It is thought the grass became ignited from sparks from a passing locomotive.

No. 5's house was called to 31 Ford street at 1:30 o'clock to extinguish a grass fire in the back yard. The property is owned by the Munson estate.

It is believed that boys are starting all these grass and rubbish fires which have been occurring about the city for the last few days.

MEMORIAL DAY COMMITTEE.

Hold Meeting to Perfect Plans for Coming Anniversary.

The Memorial day committee held a meeting in City hall last evening for the purpose of completing plans for the coming anniversary.

It was voted to hold the parade at nine o'clock in the morning and that it be headed by a drum corps. It has not been decided yet whether to hire the Second Regiment Drum corps or the Sons of Veterans Drum corps. The various other plans which have been published before were talked over and it was announced that it had not yet been decided whether to have the exercises in the Hyperion or the Grand Opera house.

W. E. Whittlesey, as chairman of the committee on markers, announced that the plans of his committee had not yet been completed.

The Second Regiment orchestra has been hired to do the musical work at this theater.

It is not yet known whether the Boys' brigade will parade or not.

The next meeting of the committee will be held two weeks from last night.

SAIL BURNED UP.

Schooner Wilson & Hunter on Fire at the Dock.

When the skipper of the three-masted schooner Wilson & Hunter peeped out of the port-hole from his berth in the cabin at 4 o'clock yesterday morning he saw the sparker sheet in flames. The fire had evidently been burning some time and threatened to communicate to the coal sheds of the Levi C. Gilbert company to whom the cargo of coal is consigned.

A bucket brigade was organized and the crew dipped their buckets over the side of the vessel many times for water to throw on the burning canvas. They succeeded in putting out the fire before it did any other damage than to destroy the sheet and char the spars. The skipper said that $50 would cover the damage.

MERIDEN STRIKE ENDED.

After Twenty-Two Weeks It is Declared Off.

Meriden, April 5.—After twenty-two weeks the strike of the polishers and buffers at factory H of the International Silver company was settled to-day in a conference between President Lynch of the International Metal union and President Dodd of the silver company. It is understood that the company will take back, as fast as they can do it, the men who have been on strike. This means, apparently, that one by one the strike breakers will leave. The strike originally was over a grievance as to the emery wheels used in polishing and a demand for an increase in wages.

THE GOOD PATIENT.

Is the Man Who Knows How to Be Sick.

"What I like," said the doctor, "is a patient of experience. Next to no patients at all the greatest trial for a doctor is to have a lot of green hands under treatment. Experience counts in taking medicine, as in everything else. Doctors take a man who falls a victim to disease frequently and loses heavily. He is more amenable to instructions than a person who is drafting his first draught at the medical font.

"The new recruit to the ranks of the ill is afraid of many things. His eye is untrained and his hand unsteady. He exaggerates danger at every point. He may get the spoon too full or not full enough; he may pour out a drop too few or a drop too many. In his perplexity he sees but one sure way to avoid either horn of the dilemma, and that is to take no medicine at all. He is intractable in many ways. He stays indoors when he should go out, and he goes out when he should stay in.

"The old stager who has saturated himself with medicine until his pores ooze oils and tonics is the fellow who brings joy to the heart of his physician. He watches his symptoms and the effect of the drugs. He knows all about his tongue, his temperature and his pulse, and can determine for himself whether one pellet or two is the proper dose. That self-analysis saves the doctor a lot of trouble. Hence the doctor's partiality for a visiting list made of persons who know how to be sick."—From the New York Press.

THE FIRST PONY EXPRESS.

From St. Joe, Mo., to Sacramento, Cal., in twenty-one days! That sounds archaic, but until the spring of 1861 the fastest overland mail had been able to do no better. To remedy this intolerable condition, Senator Guinn, of California, proposed his pet scheme of the Pony Express. Failing of government support, he succeeded in interesting Colonel Russell, of the great firm of Russell, Majors & Waddell, overland traders and government contractors. In the face of certain financial loss, these gentlemen determined to do their share toward welding East and West. To their unselfish patriotism we owe the existence of the Pony Express.

The arrangements were all made and the riders were ready to mount by noon of April 3, 1860. Ahe people of Sacramento rang bells and fired a salute as Harry Roff galloped away with the precious mail on the road to Placerville. Here "Boston" Smith took up the burden. And so on. The mail sped eastward under the saddles of Sam Hamilton, "Pony Bob" Halsam, Jack Fisher and the rest of that brave band. Meanwhile, in far-off St. Joe, enthusiasts had plucked the last souvenir hair from the tail of the fery pony, and the Western mail was on its way.

The first express took ten days, eleven of the record at the first clip! Later on, weekly and semi-weekly trips of eight and nine days rendered a service almost equal to that of the earlier trains. The Pony Mail that carried President Lincoln's first inaugural address took just seven days and seventeen hours. The fastest limited of to-day will carry you from Missouri to the Pacific in three and one-half days, which is only a trifle less than half the time made by these hardy little ponies. The iron horse is more powerful and perhaps more dependable; but the Pony Express, with its VALUE OF OLD COINS. The Things Which Make Collectors Pay Big Prices for Them.

"While the knowledge is fairly general that many old coins command high premiums," said a coin dealer the other day, "still there are very few who understand why certain coins are worth more than others. The great majority of people wrongly depend upon its age, the result being that every coin coming into their possession more than fifty years old is carefully laid for some future time when there may be a demand for it. The principal reason for a large premium on a coin is its scarcity. The date has nothing whatever to do with it. There are plenty of Roman coins thousands of years old, in good condition, which can be bought for twenty-five cents, while a New Jersey cent issued in the latter part of the Revolution will bring seven hundred dollars. It is due to the fact that there are only eight 1864 dollars in existence that those coins are worth from twelve hundred dollars up to any figure one chooses to pay for them.

"The next thing in importance to the issue of a coin is its condition. And upon this really rests the value of the coin. The average collector has very little use in his collection for a worn or mutilated coin, no matter how scarce it may be. Here, for instance, is a 1793 dollar, badly worn, which will bring hardly anything, while one in good condition is worth fully three hundred dollars. There are, of course, other reasons for the increased value of a coin, and one of these is illustrated by the experience of a wealthy Massachusetts coin collector. This collector, impatient to finish his collection of territorial gold coins—that is, coins made by mining companies and private firms in the west during the years immediately following the gold discovery in California—advertised for the coins he needed to complete his set. Of these gold coins there are nearly two hundred pieces, ranging in face value from two and a half up to fifty dollars. Of this number he had already obtained about one hundred and sixty, and needed about forty more to complete the series.

"As soon as the dealers and those holding these coins learned that there was somebody anxious to get them, the prices went up with wonderful rapidity. Any one of the coins before the advertisement was published could have been bought under one hundred dollars. But the premium soon went over this figure and increased until as much as two hundred and fifty dollars was demanded for a single coin. The collector bought them as they were offered, however, notwithstanding the increased prices at which they were placed. Finally a coin dealer in the city secured one coin for seventy-five dollars, and another for two hundred and fifty dollars, which were especially sought by the collector and then advertised their sale at auction. The advertisement attracted the attention of the collector, who was promptly on hand on the day of the sale.

"When the coins were offered the bidding was split, and the coins were finally knocked down to a youngish-looking man, whose appearance indicated limited means, for five hundred dollars apiece. Promptly paying cash for his coins, the young man at once left the auction room. He soon afterward was followed by the coin collector, and the supposition is that the collector finally secured the coins from the young man. The whole affair had much the appearance of the fictitious bidding that takes place at the auction sales around town, where, by collusion between the auctioneer and a paid bidder, the price of an article is bid up until it reaches a satisfactory figure. As five hundred dollars was the last price paid for these two coins, that figure will now stand as the listed premium."—New York Times.

The big cotton speculation hasn't paid everybody. Recently he gave a handsome shawl in twelve colors to one of these entertainments. It sold for $1,250, and subsequently a rich American gave double that sum for the wrap.

A hotel keeper who kept a remarkable hostelry has at last been run to earth at Paris. He kept a good-sized hotel and attracted the attention of the police by turning away all guests on the excuse that his house was full. The officers searched the place and found that four burglars lived there and had been stealing travelers' baggage, which they sent to the hotel. The hotel keeper sold the goods for them, and what could not be sold was packed away in the different rooms. Over $100,000 worth of stuff was seized.

Modern conveniences are sometimes real convenient. A good citizen of Phillips county (Kansas), a practical farmer, went to town and got drunk. He disturbed the peace of the townsmen, but got away for home before the authorities could catch him. The next morning, sober and repentant, he called up the city marshal on his telephone and asked if a warrant had been issued for him. The warrant was read to him over the telephone. Then he called up the police judge and pleaded guilty. The police judge fixed the fine at three dollars, and the good man sent the money in the same day by a rural route carrier.

War is certainly hell. Father Morgan, the Catholic chaplain of the English forces in Somaliland, thus describes the scene after the last reported battle with the Mullah: It was a gruesome sight all round the neighborhood for days afterwards. Every bush contained one or two wounded men who had crawled in to die. Along the line of pursuit you passed the dead in groups of six or seven, their bodies swollen to an enormous size. But saddest of all was the fate of the wounded scattered over a large area. Two and three days after the fight many of them were still alive. They had neither food nor water, and their wounds were a living mass of maggots. Wherever our Somali irregulars had been there were no wounded left to linger in torments. They always kill them off. Whatever may be said, it is a mercy to the wounded. War is a hideous thing at best, but doubly so when it is waged with barbarians.

To American eyes a farm in Morocco is hardly to be distinguished from the surrounding country, says Outing. One sees no barns, nor granaries, nor scarcely any sign of cultivated fields nor fence lines to define where the farm begins or ends. The Moorish farmhouse looks like a series of crumbling walls, not connected; but in different sections of the tumble-down pile are three or four small, narrow rooms, with no windows and a poor apology for a door. This is the prevalent style of dwelling throughout the country, with the exception of a few out-of-town residences of the rich and powerful. For even if a farmer should possess any wealth he must hide all evidences of it lest he attract the rapacious eyes of governmental authorities. Even the little harvests the farmers have to hide away in pits to screen them from the jealous and greedy of the tax gatherer. The farm implements are patriarchal in their simplicity; a few bought tied together, weighted with a heavy stone, and drawn by a mule or a camel, constitute the farmer's only harrow. His plow is but a forked stick. Yet, though the soil is only scratched with such poor implements, it is so fertile that it yields abundant harvest in proportion to the small amount of labor expended.

AN UNPLEASANT ACCIDENT. Some of those who are dying to see the initiative and referendum adopted, and who are clamoring for the municipal ownership of public utilities, would also like to see municipalities do their own insuring. They can figure out how this would pay so well that it is surprising that municipalities are not tumbling over themselves in their hurry to insure their own buildings. But there is usually a fly in the ointment, and municipal insurance might occasionally not work any better than State insurance did in Wisconsin. In February last, the Wisconsin State capitol was destroyed by fire. It was kept insured for $600,000 by Governor Schofield, but the last legislature adopted a plan for State insurance and instructed the officials to cancel the policies, the last of which expired in December, 1903. The State insurance fund had reached $6,000, and the loss against it by the burning of the capitol is $500,000, which must be met.

Of course this was an accident, but it was a decidedly uncomfortable accident for Wisconsin, even if it isn't really anything against a fine theory.

A TOUCHING INCIDENT. Said Bishop Potter in his Easter sermon: I was walking up the aisle of the Church of the Transfiguration some time ago with Dr. Houghton when he stopped to shake hands with a man in a rear seat. When the service was over Dr. Houghton called my attention to the act, and asked if I thought it strange. I said it was, and he told me that man had just come out of Sing Sing after serving thirty years. Dr. Houghton told me he wanted to show the man he was glad to see him in church. I said if the Lord Jesus Christ had been there he would have done the same thing.

A touching and a pleasing incident. It showed that Dr. Houghton's heart was in the right place, and Bishop Potter's remarks showed that his perception of the quality of the incident was clear. We hope it will encourage ex-convicts to go to church, and we hope it will encourage many church-members to follow Dr. Houghton's example and be friendly with the fallen. It is a splendid thing to be good and prosperous enough to help those who are down, and more of it ought to be done. The good and the prosperous should also take pains to be friendly with those who go to church but haven't yet been convicted. What a promising world this will be when the fact that a man is a sinner makes him welcome in a church.

BROTHER SMITH'S BOOM. Though some of the presidential booms have been booming for many moons we don't suppose it is too late for a new boom to start. We share this notion with W. R. Smith of Grand Rapids, Michigan, who "desires to say" and does say that he shall be a candidate for the presidency in 1904. In order that the people may know at least as much about him as they do about the other candidates he says he has been in state prison. This incident, however, he explains was due to an unjust conviction, and he mentions the fact only to "save busybodies the trouble of sneaking around and telling people." He is "naturally interested in religion." Not being rich he desires to prove that a "poor man can get nominated and elected to office." He is willing to be a candidate "on any party ticket," and has decided to make his campaign on the platform of "fair play, less boodie, and a little more honesty." He has discovered that he might be considered by some people a social outcast, but he feels "unable to look at it in that way."

Good luck to Brother Smith. His boom may not wax much, but it can't wane much. He has saved himself and his advocates much trouble by leaving nothing to explain as his campaign goes on. There he stands, unwrapped in the cloak of hypocrisy, and if the people want him they will know what they are getting.

A MODEL ENGLISH VILLAGE. Mr. George Cadbury, a Quaker and a millionaire manufacturer in Great Britain, has done what he could to improve the condition of "the working classes." A writer in the Review of Reviews tells the story. In 1879 Mr. Cadbury bought a fine old mansion and 330 acres of land near Birmingham as the site of his model village. Here he built factories for his industrial enterprises. A part of the estate was set apart for a town site, although the rustic atmosphere was preserved as far as possible. The factories are described as ideal in construction. Thirty-six hundred persons are employed in them, including 2,300 women. This great army of women is officered entirely by women. The workrooms seem designed to make a pleasure of toil and to idealize it. Not merely in the great essentials of light, air and temperature, but in a thousand little things which reveal a constant and inventive thoughtfulness, the welfare of the worker is kept in view. The retiring room for girls who fall sick during work, with skilled nurses in attendance, is furnished tastefully and luxuriously. The sight of the largest workroom, bright and airy and spotlessly clean, with the women all habited in white, their faces lit up by frequent smiles, seems to suggest that labor has been redeemed from its primal curse.

Mr. Cadbury's model village is set in idyllic surroundings. The private park which the former owners of the estate maintained is preserved in all its original beauty. Its stretches of grass and glade and stream are given over entirely to the recreation of the workers. For the men there are playgrounds, open-air bathing places and gymnasia. Refreshments are served in a pavilion. The women have recreation grounds, with special facilities for gymnastic development. They have a rustic pavilion of their own and a picturesque bicycle house. The old mansion has been turned into a residence for fifty work girls who are orphans. Every family in Bournville has its own cottage. Each cottage, it is stated, has been designed and developed with as much care as a rich man lavishes on his own mansion. Each house is provided with a garden, back and front. The model industrial village has been made over to a trust. After necessary expenses have been paid the balance is to be devoted to building new cottages and beautifying the estate. The trust also directs the manufacturing enterprises. It is empowered to buy land and establish similar model villages in any part of Great Britain.

This is good work, and there ought to be more of it. Perhaps there will be as the rich get richer and feel their responsibility more.

Hyperion Theater.
Mrs. Leslie Carter will appear in "Du Barry" at the Hyperion on Friday and Saturday nights this week. There will be a matinee on Saturday. Mr. Belasco's play is divided into five acts. There are two scenes in the fourth act, and three in the last. Mrs. Carter will be assisted by identically the same organization of one hundred and forty-eight players of acknowledged worth that participated in the initial performance at the Belasco theater three seasons ago. On account of the unusual length of the performance, Mr. Belasco calls special attention to the fact that the curtain will be lifted on the opening scene of the play promptly at 8 o'clock in the evenings and at 2 o'clock at the only matinee Mrs. Carter will give during her local engagement—on Saturday. The advance sale of seats is to be of a record breaking character, and there is every indication that Mrs. Carter will prove to be the most important event of the current theatrical year. Seat sale now open. Prices, $2, $1.50, $1.

On Monday night, April 11, Weber & Fields will bring their big New York company to the Hyperion for one night. "Peggy from Paris" will be presented at the Hyperion on Tuesday and Wednesday nights, April 12 and 13.

A whirlwind "rough-house" waltz by Charles Guyer and Nellie Daly is one of the sensational hits of "Babes in Toyland," Victor Herbert's new extravaganza, which is at the Hyperion on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 14, 15, and 16, with matinee Saturday. Miss Daly is a niece of Dan Daly, and Mr. Guyer is one of the most volatile and versatile pantomimists now before the public.

Grand Opera House
There was a crowded house at the Grand Opera house last night to see "Across the Pacific." Henry Clay Blaney as Willie Live is the center of attraction in the production. Mr. Blaney and Miss Kitty Wolfe, sing a very catchy parody on the popular "Hiawatha," and it is one of the hits of the show. The supporting company is an excellent one and Chinese Johnnie Williams causes laughs with his "burlesque magic" act. The performance will be repeated to-day, matinee and night.

The popularity of Terry McGovern, the flitist marvel of the 20th century, who is on tour in Sullivan, Harris and Woods' production of Theodore Kremer's "The Bowery After Dark," should draw crowded houses to the Grand the last three days of this week, when the little fighter will be seen here. An added feature of this superbly mounted melodrama is Mrs. Terry McGovern in the role of Nell, a Bowery wail, a part calling for a soubrette of a high order. Terry's impersonation of the character of the bootblack is well known and the assistance of Mrs. McGovern, who makes her first appearance with this organization, and a strong and competent company, an enjoyable evening's entertainment is assured. The same grand, spectacular investments, so well known among productions from these promoters, will be witnessed. Matinee Saturday.

Poll's Theater.
Rosa Naynon with her collection of birds furnishes the main feature of a most attractive Poll bill this week. The appearance of the birds in vaudeville is a sort of innovation and their tricks and feats are quite cute to behold. The attraction has been successful in packing the theater thus far this week. A big supporting bill follows among which are Burton and Brooks as specialists in a "Can of Humor." It was felled to the brim last night. The Englishman and the American have a discussion and it proved the best. The Englishman has his puns but the American usually comes out on top. Many little song ditties are injected and the jokes and stories are delightful.

LaVine, Camerino trio have a winner with tumbling, acrobatic and dancing work of a high order. They are lively and also on the alert. The young lady is an expert dancer and she has many feats in the tumbling line. The work is of the continuous variety and is very good.

Smith and Powell do well in colored song and dance sketch. James F. Mc. Donald is a good comedian, Gracie Emmett and company in the "Second Mrs. Murphy" is a delightful little woman. The sketch she has tells a good story, and the chief interest centers about the star.

Herbert Brooks has the box trick and numerous card ones to amaze and he certainly succeeds when he places himself in the box and has it bound. He makes his escape in a remarkable manner.

The electrograph closed the bill with the motion pictures and it proved a good entertainment. Prices: Evenings, 10, 20, 30 cents. Afternoons, 10, 20 cents. Ladies at matinees, 10 cents. Box seats, 50 cents.

BRIEF MENTION.

High water to-day, 3:57 p. m. Ex-Mayor Holcomb is expected home from his trip around the world in about two weeks. Mr. Miloy, head of the Springfield Rubber Tire company, leaves to-day for a business trip in the southern states. Paintings by Willis Seaver Adams on view at the Curtis studio this week. One of the finest collections ever hung in this city. George L. Beach has commenced the work of rebuilding the abutment of Hubbard's bridge, Branford. It is hoped to have the bridge open to travel in a week. The late Captain Charles H. Townsend was a member of Hiram lodge, No. 1, A. F. and A. M. He joined August 15, 1858. The late Samuel B. Gorman was worshipful master at that time. Another meeting for the formation of a Gold legion to march during the coming campaign will be held at the Young Men's Republican club to-night. The idea appears to be a popular one with the club members. On Tuesday evening, April 26, the directors and incorporators of the Odd Fellows' Home will meet in annual session in the home at Groton. Annual reports will be read and donations received. Many visitors are expected to attend. The directors of the Gondola Knitting company have voted to terminate the corporate existence of the corporation and a special meeting of the stockholders has been called for Wednesday, April 27. The call has been sent out by George Saunders, the secretary. Miss Susan Sheridan, instructor in English at the New Haven high school, resumed her work this week after several months' absence, due to severe injuries received by a fall on the sidewalk. She is one of the most successful and deservedly popular teachers of New Haven. The exhibition of flowers of Connecticut which was recently on view in Hartford has been forwarded to the exposition at St. Louis, for which it was prepared. A. D. Briggs of East Hartford, who arranged the exhibit, has been sent to St. Louis by the Connecticut Horticultural society to set it up. Henry Ellis, the twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ellis, while attempting to steer his bicycle away from an auto in East street yesterday morning, ran into a coal cart driven by Patrick Sullivan. He was thrown from his wheel, the coal cart passing over one of his legs. He was taken to his home by Officer Landrigan. Two building lots have been sold by the John T. Sloan company from the Winchester estate on St. Roman street, one of 100 feet front to J. Arnold Norcross, superintendent for the New Haven Gas Light company, and another with 80 feet front to Joseph D. Sargent. Dwelling houses are to be erected on the site shortly.

TO BE GIVEN AT THE ARMOY THIS EVENING.

Unique Affair Planned by St. Mary's Church—Sections Representing the Various Universities of the Country Each Section to be Presided Over by Well Known Young Ladies of the Parish—Dancing to Follow.

With the emblems so dear to the heart of alumni of the various colleges, the sections representing such colleges in the Second regiment armory will be bedecked this Wednesday evening, April 6. Presiding over each college court will be fair maidens in caps and gowns, and some adornment distinctive of the college symbolized. St. Mary's church will have charge of this mammoth whist, perhaps the largest ever given in New Haven. Thirty colleges will be represented, and in each court ten tables will be arranged, making an aggregate of three hundred tables, accommodations for twelve players. To one acquainted with the fervor of enthusiasm with which the young men and women of St. Mary's parish are entering into the plans, assurance is left that the number of tables will be, by no means, too large.

The entire floor of the armory will be occupied by tables, chairs and players. Along the side and in the two end galleries, the spectators will be ranged. Some specially handsome prizes are being donated by the friends of the church to be awarded at the conclusion of the play. The Second regiment band, under the direction of Frank Fichtl, will play for the dancing, which will immediately follow the whist. Reverend Father McGonigle takes an especial interest in the whist and is receiving the able co-operation of several committees. In charge of each college will be one young lady, two assistants and a patroness, and young gentlemen will act as ushers. These latter have not yet been selected, but the list of ladies in charge was completed at a meeting on Wednesday evening.

New Fire Apparatus to be Used in New Engine House.

The new combination chemical and hose wagon to be used in engine house No. 11 on Howard avenue is expected to arrive in this city to-day. The wagon is a "Champion Halloway," built by the American Fire Engine company of Elmira, N. Y. It is thoroughly up to date in construction and will, Chief Fancher believes, be the easiest running wagon in the department. The wagon contains two 35-gallon chemical tanks and room for 600 feet of hose. The new house will probably be put in commission by the 15th of this month. The horses are in the city, the engine installed, and when the wagon arrives everything will be in readiness. The department is now waiting for the concern which is to lay the sidewalk in front of the new house. How the apparatus cannot be gotten out. The sidewalk company is somewhat slow and delaying the department, as the house will have to wait for the sidewalk.

Spring Opening In Curtains and Drapery Fabrics.

Fashion changes and style laws are not confined to matters of hats and garments "Opening" displays of new and pretty things are not confined to the lace and silks and wash fabrics. For now come the Upholstery Rooms and demand your attention to a thousand things that are new, pretty, effective, exclusive and of a fashion of their own.

Among these, perhaps the most important item is the drapery material. We show More Than Five Hundred New Patterns in silkolines, sateens, cretonnes and Hungarian and Roumanian cloths. Surely every taste and every color scheme that can exist in the mind of a woman or girl can be suited from such a collection.

There are fifty new patterns in drapery silk; twenty new patterns in Royaline Crepe; twenty-five new ideas in silkoline. No detailed description can be given when the variety runs to such quantities, and it is quite as hard to give any good idea of the Splendid Showing in Lace Curtains.

New ideas in these, however are deserving of notice, especially the "stained glass" effects in colored Irish point laces and the new designs in Saxony, soutache, tamboured and Irish point laces suitable for panel-making and door curtains.

Many of you will be interested in the new burlesque for wall-covering, and the new ideas in screens, in fret-work, in wall-ornaments, will take their share of attention. And all this without a word of the Largest Connecticut Collection of Furniture Coverings.

which shall have an advertisement to itself by-and-by. Altogether, the Upholstery Room is an interesting place to visit just now.

We have a splendidly equipped work-room and all the material and craftsmanship necessary to make up awnings, slip-covers, shades and for the re-covering of furniture promptly and well. Orders given for this work NOW, will be given to some special advantage.

The selling of Spring Silks at a Third under price continues Wednesday.

DIED IN SEYMOUR.

Mrs. Vnie A. Sharpe, wife of William C. Sharpe, of Seymour, died March 30, aged sixty-one years. She was the youngest daughter of Harry and Amanda Sherman Lewis, of Monroe, and was one of seven sisters who in 1839 were photographed in a group at Bridgeport, their average ages at that time being about fifty-eight years. Of the seven but two remain, Mrs. Elizabeth Beardsley of Stepany and Mrs. Laura L. Curtis of Passaic, N. J. There were also two brothers, John Lewis, who for twenty-six years was a resident of Paris, France, now deceased, and Edwin, of Fairfield. Those deceased before Mrs. Sharpe were Mrs. David Pierce, of Roxbury, Mrs. Charles L. Curtis of Oxford, Mrs. Amos Candee of Easton, and Mrs. Julia M. Fields of Shelton. Mrs. Sharpe was a descendant of Benjamin Lewis of New Haven, who settled in Stratford in 1776. Her mother was the daughter of Joseph and Amy Hull Sherman of Newtown, and was a descendant of Edmund Sherman, who came to America from England in 1632 and settled at Watertown, Mass., afterward removing to New Haven, where he died. Of this family was Roger Sherman, signer of the Declaration of Independence. Mrs. Sharpe was a member of Olive Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, and Sylvan Lodge, Daughters of Rebecca. Mr. and Mrs. Sharpe were married October 8, 1855. She leaves a son, Ernest C. Sharpe, of Norwich, and a daughter, Mrs. John A. Parker, of Seymour, and three grandchildren.
