CONSERVATIVES CONTROL DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

A GREAT DEMONSTRATION IN HONOR OF CLEVELAND.

Name of Bryan Yelled Lustily but in Vain-Nebraskan's Following Hissed -The Nomination of Judge Parker Assured Beyond Any Possibility of Defeat-Rules Committee Decides Not to Abrogate Two- thirds Vote.

St. Louis, July 6.-The democratic national convention met to-day, listened to an extended speech from Representative John Sharp Williams, its temporary chairman; appointed the committees necessary to perfect a permanent organization, and adjourned. In a session lasting two hours and fifty minutes one striking incident overshadowed all other proceedings. was the enthusiastic and prolonged cheering which greeted the name of Grover Cleveland. While the outburst which greeted the name of the former democratic president, before its last syllable had fallen from the lips of the temporary chairman, was noteworthy in itself, it was magnified by contrast with the greetings accorded the actual persons who stood for all that has been opposed to Mr. Cleveland within the party during the last eight years.

James K. Jones, of Arkansas, chairman of the national committee, went onto the platform and took his seat un-Practically no greeting was given him when he faced the conven-Lion with gavel in hand,

There were other stalwart lieutenants of the Nebraskan who entered the hall unacclaimed, and, lastly, Mr. Bryan himself, who, for the first time during two national campaigns, was greeted Eight minutes after the gavel fell the twice-named candidate of his party passed in the main entrance and sought his seat unberaided and unheeded. A few moments later he arose and pushed his way to a seat nearer the aisle, where, standing a moment to give greetings to friends, he was caught sight of and applauded. But the measure of applause was but a ripple when compared to the storm called forth by Cleveland's name.

Listening attentively to the demcratic doctrine laid down by Mr. Williams, the conservatives found occasion for the first demonstration when reference was made to the record of former President Cleveland. All the shackled party interet , which had lain dormant ough two national campaigns was released as by the touch of a trigger-

The name of Cleveland was echoed from a thousand throats. Hats, handkerchiefs, fans and arms were waved, delegates and spectators stood on their chairs and the last semblance of order was turned into confusion which convention officials were powerless to sub-

While the outburst was at its height Mr. Bryan's following attempted to Shouting of "Grover" and "Cleveland" was renewed and the Bryan following was hissed. The greatest significance was attached to the showing made by the conservatives. Their absolute control of the convention is no longer doubted even by those who have heretofore declined to be convinced. The nomination of Judge Parker for presi dent is assured beyond any possibility of defeat.

An incident to the demonstration was an altercation between Sergeant-at-Arms John I. Martin and an over-zealous man who was giving vent to his enthusiasm in a manner which convenofficials deemed offensive. As Chairman Williams was knocking splinters from his desk in an effort to pound the convention into order so that could proceed with his address a man in the vicinity of the New York delegation was seen motioning delegates and spectators to continue their applause and encouraging the galleries to ignore the chairman's order for si-The man resented interference from the sergeant-at-arms, and in the end was ejected from the convention hall. The disturbance was of the roughand-tumble order, though no blows were

The great collseum where the convention is held is admirably adapted to accommodate the surging crowds which pressed for admission as soon as the doors were opened.

In some instances there was local applause in the vicinity of the seats of some prominent figures, but that was Mr. Bryan entered the hall first without any recognition from the gal-He retraced his steps some mintites later and held a reception in the center aisle. Friends gathered around him to shake hands, and then his presence was noted. The cheering, however, was not prolonged.

Many persons of distinction were given places on the platform. Among the distinguished visitors were Mrs. Charles Mercer Hall, daughter of Judge Parker; Mrs. Daniel Manning, Circuit Attorney Folk, of St. Louis, District Attorney Jerome, of New York, former Senator Reagan, the only surviving member of Jefferson's cabinet; Senators Bacon, of Georgia, and Bailey, of Texas, former Governor D. R. Francis. of Missouri, president of the Louisiana Purchase exposition, and ex-Governor McMillin, of Tennessee.

Little political scheming was in prog ress on the floor of the convention hall. The anti-Parker delegates were so much in the minority that there appeared to be no basis for clever manipulation. The action of Ohio late last night, closely following Pennsylvania's declaration for the New York jurist, and the band-wagon tendencies displayed by other delegations which had a telling effect upon the opposition. ish steamer Norge, which was wrecked Though opponents professed not to be on Rockall reef June 28, and continued to claim that more than me-third of the delegates had pledged themselves never to vote for Parker, few persons could be found who were willing to listen to those who were backing the field against the favorite. The rules committee of the conven-tion, by a vote of 26 to 6, decided not to abrogate the two-thirds vote for candidates in the convention, and rejected a proposition for a majority. From Connecticut Bryan F. Mahan, of New London, was elected on the resclutions committee and Homer S. Cummings, of Stamford, on the national ommittee. For second place on the ticket it can hardly be said that speculation to-night centers on any one man. A half dozen names are on the tongues of the crowds that gather in the lobbies and various headquarters, but the general sentiment is that this matter should be left to ripen until after the head of the ticket has been formally named.

ATHLETICS AND ETHICS.

Higher Standard of Morality Among Graduate Conches Needed.

Bethlehem, N. H., July 6 .- The principal address at the second day's session of the American Institute of Instruction was that by Principal Alfred E. Stearns, of Phillips-Andover academy, on "Athletics and Ethics." The speaker deplored the use of dishonest and dishonorable methods in school and college athletics, and expressed his conviction that there was a need of a higher standard of morality among graduate coaches of baseball and foot ball teams.

Other speakers were Professor Paul H. Hanus, of Harvard, and Professor E. F. Hershey Sneath, of Yale.

Against Anti-Polygamy Platform Salt Lake, Utah, July 6.-At least a score of urgent telegrams have been sent by democratic city, county and state officials of Utah to David B. Hill, William J. Bryan and other prominent democratic leaders now at St. Louis as well as to members of delegations from other states than Utah, strongly opposing the insertion of an anti-polygamy plank in the democratic national platform, and urging them to turn down the plank on this subject which iti s understood is being urged by Senator Dubols, of Idaho. The telegrams to former Senator Hill were especially

BAILEY AND CLARK BOTH RE-FUSE THE HONOR.

Clark, However, May Consent Provided Senator Cockrell is Willing - All Other Officers of the Temporary National Democratic Organization Made Permanent-Bailey Desires to Fight Bryan on Floor.

St. Louis, July 6.-Senator J. W. Bailey of Texas and Representative Champ Clark of Missouri have both declined to accept the permanent chairmanship of the democratic national convention. When the committee on permanent organization met it organized without delay. Senator Bailey and Representative Clark were put in nomination and the former was elected, 18 to 16. The committee then unanimously elected Charles A. Walsh of Iowa secretary of the national committee, as permanent secretary of the convention. All other officers of the temporary organization were made permanent and the committee adjourned under the later. When Senator Bailey was inform was under discussion. He is exspected to combat any attempt from the form planks that do not meet the approval of the committee. Therefore his declination of the chairmanship was respected. Senator Bailey urged that the chairmanship should be given to Mr. Clark, and a committee consisting of William F. Sheehan and P. H. McCarren of New York delegation, called on him at the Southern hotel and made the tender. Mr. Clark answered that he tor Cockrell in nomination for the presidency and therefore would have to be on the floor during the convention. He was urged to reconsider and finally agreed to send a telegram to Senator Cockrell to the effect that the place had been offered him. If Senator Cockrell makes no objection, Mr. Clark will accept. In view of the certainty that Parker will be nominated, it is believed that Senator Cockrell will ask that his

HAY AND TIBET.

Delientely Pursues His Policy of Preserving the Integrity of China. London, July 6.-The Associated Press learns from a high British source that exchanges of views are taking place between America and Great Britain with respect to Tibet. Being a dependency of China, the fate of Tibet is of considerable importance, especially to America, not because Americans have any interests of value in that country, but because its acquisition by any power would mean a violation of the principle of the integrity of China, which is the keynote of Secretary Hay's far eastern policy, to which Great Britain has given linese integrity. It is understood that the British govrnment frankly disavowed any ulterior purpose regarding Tibetan territory, reiterating that it has no intention of permanently occupying Tibet, and that Great Britain's motives are those al-ready proclaimed to the whole world. In view of this declaration, the British government announced that Brigadler General MacDonald's expedition is expected to retire so soon as the purposes for which it was organized have been achieved.

WM. K. JR., GIVES LOVING CUP. Challenge Prize to be Competed For Internationally,

New York, July 6.-The gift of a silver loving cup to the American Automobile association by William K. Vanderbilt, jr., was announced to-day at the monthly meeting of the directors of the association. According to the deed of gift the cup is a challenge cup to be competed for by clubs recognized by the association and by the Automobile club of France. The competition is to be not less than 250 miles for more than 300 miles and is to be held annualy, the first race to be in America. Announcement was also made that the proposed merger bitween the American Automobile association and the American motor lesgue will not be made, as the committee appointed from each organization to craw up a constitution could not agree Agreement upon a constitution had been a condition precedent to the p ropesed merger.

NEW JERSEY ASSAULT CASE

TWO OF THE NEGROES, TAKEN INTO CUSTODY.

Lynching Fever Allayed by Promise of ometals of a Speedy Trial-Excitement, However, Increases and County Officials Are on the Alert to Nip Any Attempt at Violence.

Philadelphia, July 6.-Two of the negroes implicated in the assault and robbery of Mrs. Elsie T. Biddle, wife of Charles Biddle, a farmer, living on the Rancocas road, near Burlington, N. J., are now under arrest, and the authorities of this city and Burlington county, N. J., hope to have the others within a few hours. Lynching fever has been somewhat allayed by the Jones, of Philadelphia, one of the two negroes who were arrested yesterday in Burlington, was identified to-day by Mrs. Biddle as one of her assallants but he says that he is innocent. The second arrest was made by Philadelphia detectives to-night. This prisoner is William Austin. He confessed to his part in the outrage, and claims that there were four men in the affair. Mrs. Biddle says there were only three. Aaron Timbers, of Burlington, the leader of the gang is still at large.

The excitement following the outrage is increasing in Burlington and the couty officials are on the agert to nip any attempt at violence. Hundreds of men and boys continued all day to search the woods surrounding Burlington for Timbers, but no trace of him was found. Mr. Biddle came to Burlington early in the day and had no difficulty in identifying Jones. A large crowwas assembled outside the lockup, and cries of "lynch him" were heard when it was announced that Jones had been identified. Later in the day he was rushed out of the building and taken to the county jail, at Mount Holly.

Mrs. Biddle's brother was with her when she identified Jones, and he made a rush at the negro. The police, however, were on the lookout for such a move and they prevented him from reaching Jones. The action of the police in quickly taking Jones to Mount Holly was prompted by the information that 200 farmers had been invited to assemble at the city park, Burlington, for the purpose of taking some action In the crowd that gathered about the lockup to-day was one farmer who carried a sixty-foot new manila rope.

Joseph G. Bowen, sheriff of Burling ton county, and Joseph Tallman, fa-$500 reward for the capture and conviction of Mrs. Biddle's assailants, Three prominent citizens appeared before a justice of the peace to-night and signed blank ball bonds for the release of any person or persons who might kill Timbers in endeavoring to capture him. Austin, who was arrested in this city to-night, said that after they left the Biddle farm, they sayed in the woods insists that there were four men in the party-Timbers Jones, another negro named Sims, and himself. Timbers, Sims and himself, he said, came Philadelphia in the morning early. He did not know what became of Jones. Austin told the police the haunts of Timbers and Sims, and a force of detectives and policemen are out to-night looking for them. The authorities of this city believe that Sims is a myth and that Austin is trying to shield himself by using the additional name. He says the other three were the active men in the party.

Hartford, July 6.-The July meeting

this afternoon, all the members attending. The annual election of officers took place and resulted in the choice of H. H. Bridgeman of Norwalk for president and Charles P. Kellogg of Waterbury secretary. Following the election there was a discussion on the recent incident at the Industrial Home for the Blind in this city in which Miss Hall, one of the members of the board, was ejected by Superintendent Jones. was claimed by Mr. Jones that there was an understanding that Miss Hall was not to visit the home, but the board at its meeting to-day failed to acknowledge the alleged agreement, so that its member, Miss Hall, is as much entitled to visit the institution as any of the promise of a speedy trial, William other members. The different members of the board reported on their official visits to the various institutions during the month was a successful one.

SCHOLES IN DIAMOND SCULLS. Defeats Kelly, of Oxford, in the Semi-Finals.

Henley, England, July 6 .- The chief attraction on the regatta programme to-day was the meeting between L. F. Scholes of the Don Rowing club, Toronto, and F. S. Kelly, Oxonian, in the semi-finals for the diamond sculls, in which the Canadian sculler defeated Kelly, the holder of the trophy, by four lengths. Time, nine minutes eleven seconds.

Kelly led for a mile, when the Canadian, putting on a splendid spurt, gradually wore out his opponent, an drowed him down. Opposite the grand stand the Oxonion was exhausted and stopped. The winner met with a great reception. His success was quite expected, the experts almost unanimously having foretold a victory for Kelly. To-morrow Scholes and A. H. Cloutte of the London Rowing club met in the final, while the Winnepegs will contest in the final for the steward's cup with third Trinity, Cambridge.

spondent of the Dally Telegraph, in a dispatch dated July 6, gives General Kuroki's textual account of the fight near Mo Tien Pass, already reported the Associated Press dispatches, General Kuroki's account is as follows "At 4 o'clock on the morning of July a few Russians approached near our pickets posted one and a half miles northwest of Mo Tien Pass. They were followed immediately by one company, which attacked. Then from the northern heights the enemy brought down another company, thus surrounding us. "The picket commander dispatched his main force towards the southern hills, retaining only a small force. Our troops were flercely engaged in a close encounter with the enemy and forced a passage through the Russian line, while our outpost which had been the first alarmed attacked the enemy's flank. "A desperate bayonet fight ensued, which resulted in the enemy retiring, pursued by our main outposts, to Chenchiapaotze and Tawan. "The enemy also attacked our outposts west of Shiakaolin about the same time, but was immediately repulsed. "Our total casualties were nineteen men killed and two officers and thirtysix men wounded. The enemy left on the field fifty-three men killed and for-ty wounded, suffering a still greater loss while being pursued."

SITUATION NOT CLEAR.

Unofficial Russin Confused Over Conditions at Front.

St. Petersburg July 6 - (2:35 a. m.) - In the absence of official news from the seat of war the rumor mongers are busily at work. Reports of heavy fighting above Kai Chau have spread through the city, but they probably had their origin in foreign telegrams as the war office is without information on the subject The situation in the zone of hostilities is not clear. Unofficial reports seem to indicate a lack of decision on the part of the Japanese, some of them sayi that the Japanese are advancing and others that they are retreating

The rains apparently have ceased for the moment but there is a strong col viction that on the eve of torrential rains the Japanese will not risk a general advance from the mountains down on the plains where in the event of defeat it would be almost impossible to extricate themselves. On the other hand the best informed military circles believe that nothing but a superior force or imperative necessity as to transport conditions, would compel the Japanese to relinquish the passes which they obtained after so much laborious

The slege of Port Arthur, the holding and fortifying of the mountain passes, a juncture of the forces of Generals Kuroki and Oku and possibly an extension of the line to the west coast of Liao Tung in order to force out the Russians frm New Chwang so that they may secure a new base there, is conservatively regarded as the Japanese programme for the next two

How General Kuropatkin intends to oppose this plan is largely guess work though his advance posts are extremely active.

A current rumor is to the effect that General Kuropatkin telegraphed Emperor Nicholas that he would not accept a general engagement. Whether or not this is true it is the view of the general staff that the postponement of a decisive battle until the end of the rainy season will, by giving the commander-in-chief time to bring up many thousands of reinforcements, be almost as good as victory. Nothing official was given out here last night regarding the torpedo attack at Port Arthur. Additional details are awaited from Read Admiral Witschoft, commanding the naval forces at Port

DEPART FOR THE FRONT.

Field Marshal Oyama and Staff Leave

Tokio.

Tokio, July 6.-11 a. m.-Field Marshal Oyama, commander-in-chief of the Japanese field forces, accompanied by General Kodama and Fukushima and a numerous staff, departed for the front to-day. There was a remarkable farewell demonstration. Early this morning crowds assembled at the headquarters of the general staff and along the streets leading to the Shinbashi station. Many houses were decorated and flags and banners fluttered over the streets.

In order to give everyone an equal chance to be here at the beginning of the Economy Sale, these Stores will not open until 9 o'clock this morning

A Sale That Offers Extraordinary Money-Saving

Such a sale is our Annual Economy Sale, which begins on Thursday morning---a trade event of peculiar interest to every man and woman in and near New Haven. It is all good and desirable merchandise that we offer you---not manufacturers' mistakes. Good and desirable merchandise, because it is of the same high grade that we carry in our regular stock. It is our regular stock; for we always buy a great deal more than we can reasonably expect to sell, simply to give our customers the largest and best variety to choose from. But it has served its purpose now, and soon the autumn goods will be here; so we must make room for them.

We take the shortest and quickest way (though the most expensive to us) to secure this space---a general reduction of stock throughout all these Stores. It is a great money-saving opportunity for you, however; because a dollar does extra duty, as the announcements we make below clearly show.

Laces, Gloves and Neckwear

These departments hold some of the very best values in the entire store. The dainty feminine things that every woman must have are shown in a profusion of charming effects. We'll announce the details another day, but you may come here and choose the newest styles in-

New London, July 6 .- Long and Corboran had a pitchers' battle at Armstrong park this afternoon, with the honors very nearly even. A bit of slow fielding on the part of New Haven in the fourth inning let an easy fly go safe and finally resulted in the Whalers scoring two runs, which were enough to win. New Haven scored in the second on a base on balls, a hit and an The game was marked by clean and fast fielding, both sides playing an errorless game. The score: New London.

A HARP CONCERT.

Given Yesterday by Professor Aptom mas in Insurance Building. Yesterday afternoon at 4 p. m. in Madame Tealdi's charming studio in the Insurance building, Professor Aptommas gave an informal concert as a token of his esteem and to show his appreciation of the many kind favors shown him by Madame Tealdi. The ladies were in airy summer costumes, Madame Tealdi wearing a handsome blue and black costume.

Among the gentlemen were many well known musicians. The studio was handsomely decorated with palms Professor Aptommas opening number was "Lucrezia Borgia" by Donizetta, an Italian fantasie, introducing all the beautiful arias of that grand old opera and it evoked enthusiastle applause Responding to a request of Madame the "Spring Song" by Mendelshon "Forgotten" by Cowles was then sung by Bruce Haynes, accompanied by, Miss Maud Patchen upon the plano. He was was "Pilgrim's Progress" by Aptommas, in three numbers. The first nummind in the city of Destruction. This was done by a sweeping, rumbling, sighing melody on the harp expressing the longing of Pilgrim for release. The second number was where the Pilgrim tors of the Mechanics bank on Church drops his burden at the foot of the cross. His joy over deliverance was finely portrayed by the ecstasy of the melody from the harp. The third number showed the effort and development the heavenly city. A harp was put strings. It was a foretaste of heavenly

For an encore Professor Aptommas played the "Harmonious Blacksmith." ringing notes were melodiously brought forth. Professor Aptommas next played some Irish airs—"The Last Rose of Summer," "Believe Ms, if All Those Endearing Charms," and "St. Patrick's Day in the Morning."

These were followed by some Welsh airs, "Love's Fascination," and "Of Noble Race of Shenkin."

On one occasion Aptommas was playing at the residence of Mrs. Burdette Coutte's in London. He was asked by an old gentleman present if he would play "Of Noble Race of Shenkin." This request being complied with, the celebrated harpist was asked to render "Sweet Richard," a melody full of rap-Id triplets, descriptive of the wild pace of the hunt. At the conclusion of the playing. Aptommas learned that his listener was the duke of Wellington, and that he had been playing for him his favorite airs.

"Home, Sweet Home," by Aptommas, closed the delightful concert

Dr. Justus Ohage became a few. years ago health officer of St. Paul. He noticed a bit of shoal in the Mississippi, visible only when the river was low, but accesible within ten minutes' ride from the city hall. Securing possession, by gift, of as much as he could and by purchase of what he could not beg, he had the city's clean waste dumped upon this little island, thus rapidly bringing it above high water mark. On the four and one-half acres thus ingeniously wrested from the "father of waters" the city of St. Paul now maintains within easy reach of a majority of its population a children's playground, a small "zoo," a vegetable garden (to support the forty uniformed attendants), public baths, with modern sterllizing plants for the bathing suits, a day nursery, a boys' gymnasium and a girls' gymnasiumand all united by a small but satisfactory park.

A SIGNIFICANT SCENE.

He that had eyes to see and ears to ear might have seen and heard something on the historic old Green night before last. About midnight, when the in bed, there was a queer assembly around the heathen pagoda which formerly stood in the middle of the Green small advertisements, One Cent a Word but was sawed off and audaclously moved up nearer the Christian churches. This assembly was perhaps two hundred in number, and if representatives of "the oppressed of all nations" were not in it it was because some of the representatives had other ern California are worth, all told, near- fish to fry. At any rate many of them were there, including some negro repreers, 50 cents per box for picking, pack- sentatives. On the platform of the paing and shipping, and 70 cents per box gods, with the Flag of the Free stretchto the railroads for carrying them to ed behind him, was a young and flery market. The merchants get at least talker with a foreign face, and he evihalf as much more for handling the dently considered himself both a representative and friend of the oppressed. He talked to the audience before him in a way calculated to make them see that it was about time for them to get up on their hind legs and protest if they didn't want to be forever fallen. He showed them how hard their lot was and how the hardness of it was due to the wrongness of the social order. He was stirring, persuasive and not so very intemperate in his statements. His hearers listened with at-There's always a fly in the cintment- tention, and perhaps they thought they earned of him.

A queer and significant scene on our historic Green in the mysterious midsharps from importing and turning night! The nodding old eims sleepily whispered to each other about it, and wondered why they should be kept footed, bare-ankled negroes and chil- awake by such a performance after the powwow of the night before. And certain shades that haunt the Green because they loved it when they had form deplored the new times and the new manners, and asked the old, old question, What is the world coming to? And how the questioning shades and verybody else around did laugh when in the course of his address the orator leaned over the railing toward an oppressed colored brother and benevolently said to him "I wish I had your skin. would"-and the oppressed colored brother interrupted with: "I wish you had it. I'll awap with you right now.'

ANOTHER ATTEMPT.

There can be no content until the largely due to the disinclination of the North Pole has been reached. Perhaps more cultured races to encounter the, there will be none then, but that must insolence of the hotel clerks, rallway be done anyway. Captain Bernier, a officials and other public servants in Canadian, is the latest to attempt the to be the same shade as my wife's."feat. He will start this month. He is to use the Arctic steamer Gauss, bought for the purpose from the Gered first in carrying a detachment of the Northwest mounted police from Vancouver to the mouth of the McKenzie. From there Captain Bernier will push ed by a Brooklyn trolley car, nearly north, hoping to drift with the ice to a point in the north from which he can the abdomen with serious results, and reach the pole by a sledge journey. He follows to some extent the course originally made famous by the ill-starred De Long expedition. This is also practically the route adopted by Nansen when he made his farthest north, although Nansen entered the ice very much more to the westward than did the Jeannette or than will Captain Ber-And sitting there he was accidentally nier. The Canadian explorer counts on the currents and prevailing winds carfriends. This time it is thought he rying him within one hundred and fifty miles of the pole. If that distance only separates him from this long-coveted spot he hopes to cover it by a dash with sledges. He is encouraged by the report of the members of the Italian expedition now holding the record for the farthest north. It was the belief of Captain Cagni, who accompanied the Duke of Abruzzi, that north of 84 the ice is smooth and will permit of much better speed being made with sledges than is possible in the rough ice of lower latitudes.

Success to Captain Bernier, or any body else who feels called on to go for does were only for girls, anyhow. Like the North Pole. It may not amount to much when it is reached, but the collection will not be complete without it.

Russia is paying a heavy war tax in many ways. Some idea of the extent to which traffic between Russian inland railroad centers and Russian ports of export has decreased in consequence of the war may be gleaned from the fact, officially admitted, that nearly the exploded torpedoes. It was com-200,000 tons less were carried over Rusduring May of last year. The fall is almost one of 25 per cent. Even where fifty miles of Chicago are deposits of military traffic has increased, particularly on the lines running into and out from Moscow, a large part of the haps as long as it may have any use work is done by soldiers. The average workman, therefore, has derived little or no benefit from it. On the railroad lines in European Russia and in Poland glone it is computed that 60,000 railroad hands have been discharged in four months. The number of laborers and artisans throughout the Empire thrown into idleness during the same period owing to compression of export and the mated at 300,000 to 400,000, the bulk of whom are not likely to find remunergood and comfortable people were safe ative employment until the end of the war. Meanwhile, some thousands a day will be added to the army of the unemployed.

The Land of Regret.

There is a city whose gates are wide, Its pavements pure and clean.
Where shadowy forms fit side by side
On the road called "Might Have Been."
But folks walk there with their heads

bowed low,
And heavy eyelids wet,
For every corner is haunted so
In this, "The Land of Regret,"

They meet the ghosts of those other Years
In dreams of memory sweet, and wet with passionate, frenzied tears
The graves which lie at their foet;
Sut never, long as their lives shall last,

Can they again forget Who once have walked with ghosts of the past 'In this, "The Land of Regret."

They feel the touch of a hand grown still.

Its fingers softly press,
The tender passion of kisses thrill
Their own in a fond caress.
Ah, me!—but pity the folks who stray
Where long the sun hath set,
And walk with the ghosts who're laid

away

HOME-MADE TORPEDOES.

The Story of John Hancock Greene's Fourth of July Celebration.

John Hancock Greene was 5 years old and had a grievance. His sister, Mariannina, was half-past 6. It was Fourth of July, and all the other boys had firecrackers, but Johnny had none. But though there were no firecrackers there were six packages of torpedoes that Uncle Joey had bought for him and Mariannina. At first Johnny said he would take but one package; torpemartyr he singled out the smallest bag, and put five into his sister's pinafore. Sadly the two went out into the backyard.

"We'll take turns out o' mine first, Ninn," said he. "First I frow, den you. "Per'aps, after all, we'd better keep the bags all sep'rate," Johnny went on to say. "I take half the bags, and you

But even with this careful management the torpedoes were soon gone. Suddenly Mariannina had an idea She picked up the torn cover of one of mon white tissue paper. She examined its contents. The torpedoes seemed to he made of sand and salt and things, "Johnny," cried she "supposing we make some torpedoes!"

"I don't believe dey'll torpede," answered Johnny, gloomily. "We can't tell till we try," said Nin ny, "I've got plenty of tissue paper that came in the box with my beauti-"Oh, yes," said Johnny; "but what's de stuffling made of?" "What should you think it was?" asked Ninny. "Looks like sand and gravel," replied bang to it. 'cause I've frowed it everso many times." "Perhaps red pepper would help," suggested Ninny. "Anyway, I'm going to get some." "You'd better get bofe kinds of pepper!" cried Johnny, as Mariannina ran into the house. Ninny soon returned with spice box, cissors and tissue paper.

Ninny cut and Johnny mixed. Both hildren began to sneeze. "Supposing it went off wiv a bang while I was mixing it," said prudent, John Hancock. He turned his head and mixed at a long range. 'First we'll twist up two, just to try," sad Ninny.

But just as they had finished the two, a curly head appeared above the high fence. The head belonged to Angelina Thurston; the children knew very well that she was standing on the rain

"What you doin'?" she cried. "Oh, just making torpedoes," answered Johnny.

"Go-gi me one?" 'I couldn't exactly give 'em away," responded Johnny.

"Fooh!" said Angelina. I don't be lieve they're any good, anyhow!" 'Don't let's fire off any till she's ne," whispered Mariannina, "cause if anything should happen that they wouldn't be good, she'd laugh at us. Let's make more." Soon there was a fine large pile of beautifully formed torpedoes, looking for all the world like those you buy in the store-"Now, then," said Mariannina, her cheeks red with excitement, "let's try em. You try first." She held her breath, and had her fingers ready to stop her ears. Johnny straightened himself, took aim and furiously hurled one of the largest torpedoes against the stone. Alas and alas! It fell noiselessly as a snowflake, "It doesn't torpede," said Johnny plaintively. He tried another, and another, with the same result. Those plump and beautiful torpedees, half filling the cart, were—failures! Mariannina wept. But the dinner cell rang and they went in.

Now all this time Uncle Joey, hidden ehind the library blinds, had been chuckling quietly to himself. Still smiling, Uncle Joey opened the door of the library closet. On the top shelf were two packages of torpedoes, intended as a pleasant surprise. Uncle Joey slipped out into the yard and put them in place of the torpedoes the children had made.

After dinner the children went again into the shady cart. The little cart, with its little load of torpedoes was still there. John Hancock picked up a torpedo, sighed and let it fall. Bang! To his immense surprise that torpedo was a success! He tried another, and another. Oh, Joyt-

Then appeared Angelina on the rain arrel. "See our torpedoes?" cried Johnny.

Smell 'em? Hear 'em?" And he threw three together-"I say, will you give me a cent's worth?" asked Angelina.

She tossed down a cent, while Johnny, standing on a soap box, gave her five torpedoes, was Annabel, the Bolton twins, sauntered into the yard. They had a cent between them; and seeing Angelina's purchase, they, too, wished to buy. Johnny fold them a cent's

"Made 'em ourseves," he said, airlly. "How did you do it?" asked the twin

'Oh. it's easy," answered Johnny. 'Just take sand and salt and red pepper and black pepper, and twist 'em up At an examination in an English in paper, I could do it wiv my eyes shut."

Johnny, intent upon proving to the twins the ease with which torpedoes could be made, mixed more "stuffing." Mariannina cut two covers; and there were now two brand-new home-made torpedoes, one for Isabel and one for Annabel. 'Aim, fire bang" shouted Johnny. sabel and Annabel obeyed. A painful urprise awaited them. The little white balls dropped as gently as kernels of popcorn. Then Uncle Joey had to come out and et all things right in the eyes of everybody. When the truth was known, and Angelina and Isabel and Annabel found they had bought common store torpeloes, they objected.

"I only bought "em," said Angelina, 'cause I thought they were homenade."

"So did we," added the twins-"All right," said Uncle Joey, kindly; bring the torpedoes and you can have our money."

'But we've fired em all off." "Well," relied Uncle Joey, "I suppose I shall have to pay you out of my own pocket." But as he had no change smaller than five-cent pieces, he was obliged to give five cents to Angelina and five to the twins. Then it occurred to him that it was rather cruel to leave Our out John Hancock and Mariannina; so gave five cents to each of these. 'Now," said he, looking around at the little group, "I hope everybody is satisfied."-St. Nicholas.

SCIENCE IN FRUIT COLORING. Washington red apples are attracing nuch attention at the great St. Louis Fair. Visitors notice the fruits because of their bright colors, large size, and apples of similar varieties are withering retain their pump form and perfect oloring. They were produced ffor the purpose of advertising the wonderful soil and climatic possibilities of this State. In that respect the exhibits have accomplished the object sought and are splendid mediums of publicity. The red apples were grown in some orchards in the Yakima Valley. They are the product of irriggation and fertilization of the soil. sclentific Young, thrifty trees were selected, and an experiment conducted that has deonstrated what others might do in every apple-producing section of the Northwest. The trees were fed on one of the essential elements of plant food and kept in perfect growing condition. Five pounds of muriate of potash was spaded into the soil at the roots of each tree. This made up the deficiency in soil fertility and enabled the tree to bring more perfect specimens of fruit. The experiment is worth considerable to every orchardist in the Northwest. It is well known that the market demands rich coloring in all fruits. If a variety of red apples is put on the market the specimens must be exceptionally red to command the highest prices. The same rule applies to other fruits designed for sale. Coloring is me of the necessary points of excellence. In addition to the color a proper application of plant food adds to the flavor and general good qualities of fruit. The lesson is plain enough for every fruit grower to understand .-

SALE AT STEINERT'S.

The public shoud not forget that Steinert's thirty-nith annual July sale of planes is still of. This annual sale is noted for its wlume, variety and great bargains. Tiey have now on their floor fifty panes on one story, and fifty more on he main floor. They have also a large storehouse filled with planes. This means that planes are ofered at such prices as they have never been offered at before. It also means "Steinert's :hirty-ninth annual July sale" will be far greater than those of any prevous years. In their bargains are included planes and organs to suit any tiste and any pocketbook, and the sale should not be over looked by any lover of music.

INSPECTING THE STEAMBOATS.

Government Officials Find Steam Craft Equipment Good.

The annual inspection of the steam vessels in this vicinity are now being made by Messrs, Wright and Dennis, the United States steamboat Inspectors. Yesterday they began an inspection of the C. H. Northan, which has been out of commission for several months and lately used as a boarding house for strike breakers employed by the Consolidated road. They said yesterday that so far as their inspection shows the owners are living up to all the requirements of the government and that every precaution intended for the safety of the public is taken. The inspections here are most thorough and the inspectors have thus far found no defective life preservers in the equipment of any of the sound steamers, such as were declared to have been on the steamer Slocum at the time of the recent disaster in the East river.

Consolidated Sale Of Manufacturers'

The store is chock full of bargains. Not trashy catch-penny things you're going to pass with an amused smile as you would a sensational headline in a yellow journal; Not the coarse, cleap, ridiculous kind of things so many stores fill-out a sale with---things which you'd perhaps be inveigled into buying through the persuasion of small figures and things which you'd throw aside in disgust after you'd taken them home. That kind of alleged bargain isn't at Gamble-Desmond's ever.

Gamble Desmond's is the same Satisfyingly Reliable store during a big sale like this as it is at any other time.

To Yesterday's Page-ful Of Bargains We Add These For Thursday.

In this silk section you'll find choice pickings among the Foulards especially. And now that we pick these out from the others we feel that we've done wrong for nearly all the Silks are worthy of being featured. Read on and see;

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

Alfonse Montane, a Frenchman, who lives at 77 Gravesend avenue, Brooklyn, and who had been in this city but a couple of hours, attempted suicide by shooting yesterday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock, at the corner of Whitney avenue and Cliff streets.

The police were notified and the ambulance with Sergeant Dunn and Officer J. B. Roach were sent to the scene, The officers found Dr. Joslin upon the spot and he ordered the man taken to Grace hospital, where the wound, a slight one in the left breast, was dressed and the man was discharged. He was then taken into custody by the po-Hee and locked up on a charge of vagrancy. Montane has a wife and two children in Brooklyn. The police tele graphed to his son, who will probably come here to take care of him to-day. No cause is known for the man's suicldal attempt, but it is believed by the police to be despondency over money matters, Montane is a painter, Democratic Committee Presents Grievance to Postmaster Through the non-delivery of 150 circular invitations to the democratic rally in Music hall on the Fourth of July, the members of the committee in charge of the celebration yesterday complained to Postmaster Howarth of what they declare to be gross mismanagement on the part of his subordinates in the local office, and it is not improbable that still further action may be taken by the complainants.

Through the non-delivery of the letters a large number of democrats entitled to the attention were deprived of their invitations to attend the festivities, several taking the matter to heart and rather resenting the supposed slight. Another circular has been prepared by the committee setting forth the explanation as given above, which will be mailed with the original invita-

Postmaster Howarth said yesterday that the matter was of the circular class, the one-cent stamp affixed to the envelopes entitling it to such consider-The circulars from the democratic town committee were received in the postoffice Friday night, when the clerical force in the mailing division was rushed with a volume of first-class mail matter. It was not explained to the postoffice officials what the matter consisted of, for if an explanation had been made that it was imperative to have the mail delivered before Saturday night arrangements would have been made to handle it, but nothing of the sort was done.

The rush in the office continued on Saturday, and on Sunday there was a small force of clerks on duty. Monday was a holiday.

Postmaster Howarth says that the circulars were not neglected, but were laid aside with other circular matter until the clerks had worked through the first-class mail and could reach the other, which is the usual method of handling the mail in the postoffice.

IN AND ABOUT THE COURTS

AN ALIBI PRESENTED IN BUL-LOCK CASE.

-Administrator of Smith Estate- fense Atwood Sult Withdrawn-City Court

Routine. When the case of Miss Belle Shailer against Rev. Charles Bullock was yesterday because of attachments for opened yesterday morning Mr. Bullock presented a complete alibi. Mrs. May Hubbard, of Milford, the first witness, will soon be begun. was cross-examined regarding her statement that she saw Miss Shaller and Samuel Preece talking on the street in 1902. First Lawyer Judson crossquestioned her as to why she had offered to testify, and she answered that she wished to correct the falsehood about Miss Shailer not attending any church fairs January 15 and 16, 1903. Mrs.

Hubbard reaffirmed that she saw the two talking Dr. Herbert Clapp was next called, but was not present. Mrs. Emma Blakeslee, of Stratford, said that about Thanksgiving, 1902, Mrs. Bullock was without a girl and she went to the Bullock house and cared for the baby. She went there January 13, took care of the baby until Mr. Bul-lock came home about 10 o'clock, and then Mr. Bullock walked home with her. She said she saw Miss Shaller there the night of the 16th and spoke with her. Cross-examined by Mr. Judson, Mrs. Blakeslee said she had contributed no money for Mr. Bullock's defense, but said she visited the Bullock house every day, and that January 13 was the last time she tended the baby. Edward E. Bliss, of Stratford, a millwright, said he remembered January 13, 1902, the night of the alleged assault. "Louis Hubbell opened the door for us that night," he said, "and Mr. Bullock was promptly on hand. "I neglected the other classes to give my attention to mechanical drawing. About twenty minutes of ten Mr. Bullock said, I don't understand that cross.' I said, 'you over to the house and I'll show About a quarter of ten we banked the furnace and started home."

After a controversy between counsel Mr. Bliss continued: About fifteen minutes afterward I saw Mr. Bullock return from the direction of his house. Mrs. Blakeslee was with him. We sat there and I explained the cross to him till about 10:30."

This testimony completed Mr. Bullock's attempt to prove a complete ali-He was sharply cross-questioned about his learning of Mr. Bullock's arrest and his failure to notify anybody till a week ago that he knew anything about Mr. Bullock's actions that night. He was explaining it when court adjourned till 2 o'clock. After court resumed yesterday afternoon Mr. Cary held the stand until court adjourned. No new testimony was brought out, Mr. Bullock had not yet taken the stand at the close of

The case will be resumed this morning at 10 o'clock.

SUPERIOR COURT CASES, In the superior court, criminal side, yesterday morning the case of keeping a poolroom against John A. McKee, by agreement of counsel, went over until the October term.

The case against William McLane, the negro charged with assaults on women in the Eighth and Ninth wards, will probably be disposed of at this term of court. His counsel, C. H. Fowler, may ask for a commission to inquire into his sanity on the question of his responsibility.

Mortimer Johnson (colored), who on April 20 assaulted his wife, Ella Johnson, with a razor at her home on Lamberton street, was put on trial before the jury in the superior court yestercharged with assault with intent to kill. The jury voted him guilty and he was sentenced to from four to four and a half years in state prison.

The case of Timothy Hurley, charged with burglary, second offense, then went on trial, and as it was not finished it will be resumed this morning.

TRIAL OF DERBY CHIEF. At the request of Chief of Police Charles P. Arnold, of the department of Derby, Judge Gager will sit in this city to-day to consider the charges recently preferred against that official by Police Commissioner James Carey, in which are embraced allegations of gross neglect of duty and incompeteney, nearly half a score of instances being cited in the voluminous document. Chief Arnold will be represented by Attorneys James Torrance and Charles S. Hamilton, of this city. Corporation Counsel Daniel E. McMahon will appear for the city.

JUDGE ROBERTSON APPOINTED. Supplementing the admission of the of Elwood H. Smith to probate, Judge Cleaveland has appointed former Judge A. Heaton Robertson administrator of the estate, at the same time naming Willis E. Miller and Washington M. Rowland as appraisers. Papers in an appeal are now being prepared by counsel for Mrs. Daisy E. Newport, a daughter, and the case will be carried up to the higher court. Judge Robertson has given a bond of $100,000.

BUTTON WILL CASE. The Button will case made its appearance in the probate court again yesterday morning. Several witnesses were examined.

SUIT OVER BOY'S INJURIES. Pasquale Valente, a building contractor, has been made defendant in a suit for $1,000 damages instituted by James McTernan, fourteen years old, of 92 Carlisle street. McTernan was riding a bicycle on June 17 and as he was turning from Chapel into Temple street he alleges that he was run down by a horse and cart belonging to Valente. The suit is returnable to the court of common pleas on the second Tuesday in August.

ATWOOD SUIT WITHDRAWN. The suit of Sarah Webster against Dr. F. G. Atwood for $5,000 damages for erecting a blacksmith shop in the rear of her premises was withdrawn yesterday without cost to either party.

CHICKEN THIEVES BUSY. Last Saturday morning at 2 o'clock Farmer Soren Thompson, of North Haen, was attracted by a noise in his yard, and, going out, caught a chicken thief rtd-handed. The fellow proved to be Albert Crock, of Hamden. That evening Crook was arraigned before Justice Blakeslee and fined $7 and mosts. The farmers who have lost chickens do not believe that such a penalty is heavy enough if chicken-thieving is to be stopped in the town.

> CITY COURT CASES. When the cases of John Rose, chargd with burglary, and George H. Carroll, accused of the non-support of his wife and children, were called by City ed orders in various saloons. Reynolds Attorney Webb in the city court yesterday morning neither responded, and Court Officer Gilligan went out into the corridor to look them up, but without success. It was then found upon investigation that neither of the warrants had been served, although both cases were on the docket.

The case against Larry Gallagher, charged with improper conduct, two counts, and one count of procurement, was settled as follows; Seven dollars fine in each count of the first named offense and $125 in the last named count, making a total of $139. The costs in the case could not be definitely estimated yesterday morning, so the clerk made a rough figure, placing them at $7.15.

Annie Reardon, implicated with Galagher and Tendler, had her case continued to July 20. She was allowed to go home with her mother. Tendler set-tied his case last Monday by paying nearly $20.

Allen Niver, the negro who assaulted several women on the street, had his case continued till to-day. He is still in jail, being unable to secure bonds of $1,000.

John F. Byrnes, charged with cruelty to animals, was fined $1 and costs of

JUVENILE DAY AT ROCK.

Last Season's Great Success to be Repented.

It is a happy announcement that the nanagement of the trolley road is to give another Juvenile Day at the Rock this year. The remembrance, of last eason's still lingers in a host of youthful minds who will receive the news with exceeding pleasure and great anticipation. Arrangements for the event are now under way and they are on a nore elaborate scale than heretofore. seems a great undertaking to promise every juvenile a present, but not one of the 10,000 that attended last year was turned away, and the hundreds or housands more that attend this year will not be disappointed. The presents will be worth having and will greatly clease the young. This year "Juvenile Day" will be Tuesday, July 19.

POLICY MEN ARRESTED.

Police Round Up Three Who Have Sold

Yesterday morning Detectives Donnelly and Ward arrested Thomas A. Reynolds and Thomas Vincent on warrants charging them with policy playng. It is alleged that these men car ried on the policy buisness and solicita new offender.

In the afternoon Detective Colwell arrested Wallace W. Sperry, an old offenler, for policy playing, and he is charged upon two counts,

Their cases will be heard in the city court this morning. The officers have been working upon the case for some time, and at last secured the evidence upon which to make the arrests. It is alleged that these men played what is known as the "street" game in olicy, distributing slips at different places and taking orders. A great deal of this has been done lately in this city.

THE WHITE CITY. The Fairy Theater, a new amusement device in the White City, has proved to be one of the most mysterious of the park. This unique performance is witnessed through lenses of large size. Exactly how the mystifying effects are produced has not been explained, and will not, it is said because the element of mystery surrounding the production adds largely to its effect. For instance, the furniture is out of all proportion to being very much larger than some of Strong. the persons taking part in the performance, and very much smaller than others. Jack and the Beanstalk is being given this week, with Eleanor May,

Will Give Them a Chance to Appear at Either Public or Private Hearingmission Receives Replies from Ex-Alderman Trueman and Charles Rich-Next Hearing Probably Friday

It is expected that the police investigating committee will hold another public hearing Friday night. The following letters were made pubic yesterday. The first was sent out by the commission to several citizens.: New Haven, July 4. Charles Rich, 39 Maple street, New Ha-

Dear Sir:-We understand you have ome information you may be willing to give us concerning the police department of New Haven. We will be pleased to receive it from you at a hearing which can be public or private, as you may prefer. Will you please to let us know before Wednesday afternoon whether you have information which you are willing to impart to us? If you reply in the affirmative, you will also write us at the same time wether you prefer to give it at a private ses sion of our commission or at a public hearing, and we will then fix an early time and place to hear you, and will give you prompt notice by mail. Respectfully yours, Lynde Harrison, Henry Wade Rogers, George B. Martin.

39 Maple Street. New Haven, July 6. Messrs, Lyne Harrison, Hency Wade Rogers, George B. Martin.

Gentlemen:-I am in receipt of your favor of July 4, stating that you understand that I have some information that I may be willing to give your committee concerning the police department of New Haven.

In answer to your letter I would state that if you will inform me of the date and time of your next public hearing I will endeavor to be present and prepared to answer any proper questions that the party or parties who laid my name before you may care to ask. I presume they have in mind matters that I may have stated in private conversation. If this is the case and they deem it for the public good that I repeat those statements I shall be pleased to do so. I desire, however, to have it distinctly understood that anything I may say shall be considered with reference to the political aspects of this police probem and not as accusations against individual members of the department. I do not believe it right to hold subor dinate appointees responsible for what appears very clearly to be the fault of the appointing power and not the fault of the agent.

Rspectfully submitted, Charles A. Rich.

New Haven, July 6.

Lynde Harrison, Esq. Dear Sir:-Replying to yours of the 4th, as I had not stated to your committee that I had information to give you, I infer from your letter that some one else has so stated. I shall attend the next public hearing, and if anyone has questions to ask I shall be pleased to answer them to the best of my ability, from the facts and data in my possession. Yours sincerely, William Trueman.

SOME OF THE LATEST BOOKS OF THE SEASON.

"The Second Mrs. Jim." by Stephen Conrad. Scores a Distinct Hit-"In Merry Measure"-A New Gramma School Arthmetic by Professor Smith of Columbia-Little, Brown & Com Reading-Anna Chapin Ray's New Work.

Stephen Conrad has scored another distinct success in his new book, "The Second Mrs. Jim." which is a very happy story of 164 pages, with a frontispiece illustration by Ernest Fosberg. It is very attractively published by L. C. Page & Co., Boston- The stepmother, as personified by the Second Mrs. is a heroine new to fiction and delightfully original and humorous. It will surely entertain all who like wholesome fun. The Second Mrs. Jim is a shrewd, kindly, sweet woman, who marries a prosperous farmer with two boys. Her clever and tactful management of them and their affairs, and her lever-failing conquest of all difficulties delightfully told by her herself. The book is true to human nature and sound in philosophy. Be sure to take a copy along with you in your summer vacation. Of the book the New York Tribune says in the course of its re-

"A treat for stepmothers and a delight to everybody else is "The Second Mrs. Jim." Unfortunately, there are few mothers, step or straight, built on the moral and mental lines of Mrs. Jim. Perhaps there will be more of them when they learn through Mr. Conrad's little volume how easily men and boys can be managed without their suspecting it, just by the aid of a modicum of kindly tact. Mrs. Jim tells her own story to a friend, who doesn't "spread She has other friends, to whom she talks when eshe doesn't want them 'spread'-one who spreads 'straight' and one who spreads them with imaginative details." Ginn and Company, Boston, the well known publishers of school and college text books have just published a "Grammar School Arlthmetic," by David Eugene Smith, professor of mathematics in Teachers' college, Columbia university, New York.

Like the author's "Primary Arithme-tic," this work follows, in sequence of topics, the best of the courses of study in use by the various cities and states. In general, each topic is so treated as to give the pupil a feeling of reasonable mastery, togetherwith the consclousness that it is not completely exhausted. This permits, without loss of interest, an oscessional return to the more important subjects, as the child passes from grade to grade.

In the matter of methods and device, the effort is made to adopt the best, always avoiding extremes. For example, the equation in its simplest form is introduced just when it begins to appeal to children as having a real value, and used only when it simplifies the work. The exercises are composed of genuine American problems, showing common business as it really is to-day. but without presenting subjects too technical for the appreciation of boys and girls of grammar school age. At the same time due provision is made for that thorough and continued drill on the arithmetical operations that is so necessary.

While the need for illustrations is not so great as in the primary grades, such ise is made of pictures as will appeal to teachers as reasonable, and as will dd to the interest and value of the book for children.

The book has 394 pages and is well illustrated; list price 65 cents; mailing

John H. Whitson, author of "The Rainbow Chasers," like many a hero in many a novel, owes his success to a rejection, but his rejection came from a masculine hand. His early attempts in fiction were sent to "The Yankee Blade," when Mr. Sam Walter Foss wass its editor. One day Mr. Foss returned a parcel of his manuscript with the criticism, "Too good for us," and bade the westerner try his fortune elsewhere. As the trial was successful, was the beginning of a warm friendship between the two men, and Mr. Whitson has now come east and lives in the city or Somerville, near the public library of which Mr. Foss is in Before she sailed for England, Mrs. Louise Chandler Moulton read Miss "The Wood-carver of 'Lympus," and then penned this note to the publishers: "It is a book very noble in its spirit. It seems to me that no one ould read the story of the Wood-carer's struggle, and his triumph over fate without being helped and uplifted. am glad to have made his acquaint-The book is an admirable picture of the changing conditions of New England life the latter part of the ilneteenth century." Mrs. Moulton will pend the summer abroad as usual.

An English edition of "The Rainbow Chasers," John H. Whitson's story of the plains, is about to be brought out is in addition to Canadian and Australian editions. Little, Brown and Company have already printed the ook four times to supply the demand this country.

The dramatic possibilities of the re sults of the mysterious potion described in Mr. J. A. Mitchell's "Villa Claudia," (Life Publishing Company) have suggested themselves to several play-writers, who have sought permission to put the book into stage form. Mr. Mitchell, who has successfully tried his hand at a great-many things, including architecture, painting, illustrating, pubishing and editing, has a mind, however, to see what he can do as a dramatist, and it is likely that the coming season will "The Villa Claudit" on the stage in a dramatic version made by the author of the book. The experiment will be at ueast interesting as a further argument in the discussion of whether the successful writer can possibly be a successful dramatist.

"A Woman's Confessional" is the in teresting title of a book announced by Masson is so versatile, however, and Life Publishing Company for publication in the early autumn. It is the work of Madame Woljeska-Tindolph, an Austrian lady domiciled in this country. It portrays the life history of remarkable woman in the form of epigrams taken from her journal, and marks the different stages of her menbook is most attractively printed and tal and moral development. It is said to be not only veritable in its origin, of the workings of a woman's mind.

A new edition of "Cirillo," Miss Putmam's charming story of artistic and musical life in Florence, is announced by Life Publishing Company.

McClure, Phillips and Company will soon publish a new volume, the eleventh, in the collected edition of the of William Hazlitt, edited by Mr. works A. R. Waller and Mr. Arnold Glover. It will contain the essay "On Abstract Ideas," the "Fragments of Lectures on Philosophy" and divers contributions to journalism. With the twelfth volume which is expected to appear with little delay, this admirable edition of Hazlitt will be completed.

Whether Queen Elizabeth was a vain oquette, or worse, is debated by Marin Hume in two chapters that he has added to the new edition of "The Courtships of Queen Elizabeth," which McClure, Phillips will bring out in the fall. The first issue of this book treated the "Courtships" merely from a political viewpoint. These added chapters, containing original documents unearthed by Major Hume, are in respense to the demands of curious readers who realized that the author, in charge of the Elizabethan state papers at the British Museum, must be able to throw new light on Elizabeth as a womna no less than as a queen.

"The "Wayside," one of Hawthorne's Concord homes, where centenary ceremonies of an honored New Haven farnily was held last Monday, is now the home of Harriet Mulford Lothrop, who, under the pen name of "Margaret Sidney," has written many books for children. The house, which stands close to the road, has changed little in external ppearance since Hawthorne lived in t. Mrs. Lothrop's father was Major Sidney M. Stone, a noted New Haven architect, who resided for many years on Elm street in the block where Dr. B. A. Cheney resides.

The volume of "Recollections and Letters of General Lee," by Captain Robert E. Lee, recently announced by Doubleday, Page and Company, is being sent through the press very rapidly. The book opens with an account of General Lee's early career in the United States army and the beginning of the cicli war. The chapters following contain letters to his wife, daughters and sons; reference to the army life of Robert, Jr., the Army of Northern Virginia, the winter of 1863-4, the battle of Cold Harbor and succeeding engagements, the surrender of the Army of Northern Virginia, General Lee as a private citizen, as president of Washington college, his interest in home life, his opinions of the civil war, family affairs and his fondness for animals, his home in Lexington, his advice to young men and his last years. The book closes with the obliuary notice in 'Personal Reminiscences of General Robert E. Lee" and the account of his death by Mrs. Lee.

Rudyard Kipling has just finished ew volume of short stories, which will be published this fall by Doubleday, Page and Company under the title "Traffics and Discoveries." This is the firs volume of collected Kipling tales "The Day's Work," which reached a wider circulation than any other book of short stories in recent years. It contains one long tale, "The of a Dream," hitherto unpub-Hished.

Dodd. Mead and Company are to publish at the end of the summer "Thackeray in the United States," by General James Grant Wilson, author of "Bryant and His Friends," "Life of General Grant," etc. The work will be in two volumes and will contain fas-simile etters with pen-and-ink drawings by Doyle and Thackeray. Some of these will appear for the first time, and show Thackeray's most characteristic and est work. There will be nearly one hundred illustrations in all, including about fifteen full-page Thackeray portraits by D'Orsay, Doyle, Leech, Malise and others. An interesting group of pictures is by Thackeray. This contains the twelve members of the British royal family, in which the head of each member is taken from an English stamp.

A new, illustrated holiday book Watanna, after the manner of 'A Japanese Nightingale," is anounced for publication in the autumn by Dodd, Mead and Company. Onoto Watanna, as is well known, is "The Heart of Hyacinth." author of Her new book, like its predecessors, will be illustrated with full-page plcures in color by a Japanese artist.

The tale tells of the love of an Amercan missionary for a Japanese maiden of their marriage, the accidents that eparate them, and their final happy union. It is told with all the author's power and skill, and is, in the words of one of its critics, "a beautiful prose po From its very nature, it lends itself happily to the old concelts and pretty designs of the Japanese artist.

Whether women are born matchmaers or not will always remain a quesdon. It is pretty certain, however, that some happily married young women have an insane desire to get all their friends in a like state. the theme of Mr. Hamblen Sear's forth-coming novel, entitled "A Box of Matches." The atmosphere of the book s that of the modern out-door country club and summer society life. There are polo, hunting, shooting, boating, motoring and the other usual elements of our summer amusements included in the stories, besides the country horse show. Altogether the story gives a picture of present-day outdoor friendly life of a well-mannered people, with a pretty love story of the married pair and several minor love stories grouped about it.

The special summer number of "The International Studio," published by John Lane, has for its subject "The Royal Academy from Reynolds to Millais." It is an elaborate and comprehensive history of the academy, with full details about the men who lonedg to it in the first century of its career. Reproductions of works by these men are given in color, in photogravure and in half tone, Maarten Maartens, one of the strongest writers of the day, a master of English and a deep student of character, has written for the August Red Book an important story entitled "God and Beast." The plot is based on the elementary passions, and the meeting of an excitable young German musiclan with a beautiful Italian flower girl who becomes his muse and inspires him to a composition which is his life chievement. The story is said to testify afresh to the real genius of Maartens and to be a noteworthy contribution to real literature.

AMERICAN COLLEGE GIRL

She Has Much More Freedom Than

Her European Sister. The American woman's college is "Medial Writing Books" in the town thing wholly amazing in European eyes, f Brookline, Mass. It is interesting to according to this critic. No European ote, in this connection, that the word educational institution would think of allowing to its inmates such a luxuriousness of surroundings as appears in the American girl's college room, the extreme simplicity of the food being the only thing common to both types of edcational community.

To the uninitiated beholder the Amercan college girl's room, with flags and posters and sporting souvenirs and class symbols, with men's pictures on desks and dressing table, might be a college boy's.

On the other side of the ocean young comen, are supposed not to keep young nen's portraits in their rooms, just as they are not supposed to meet on equal erms of comradeship the subjects of the aforesaid pictures. The absence of books in the room and the conspicuous presence of candy boxes and fruit baskets might also strike the European oberver as peculiar.

All this corresponds with a radical ifference i nthe life of women students in America and in Europe. The European girl goes to her university purely for learning, and in the lower educa tional institutions it is the same. Study is the business of life, and only those fortunate ones who have friends and relatives to take them out occasionally and give them a good time ever get any In America the college is a school of life, with all sorts of activities beside: The European college girl has to find out after she leaves college everything that her American sister earns while at college, though occasion ally in old Europe a girl has a chance of getting out of her life perhaps more experience and at least the same amount of pleasure as the American girl does, although in a way entirely different; this is a girl who attends a miversity for men and enjoys in the old world, among hundreds of men, the perfect freedom of movement and the eeling of independence which characterize the happy life of the American ollege girl (happy in that she realizes by herself an ideal of free and intellient life, without the inevitable strain which comes to the same life when lived by one girl among a crowd of men). The chief characteristic of the American woman's college is well defined, the critic proceeds by the historical words, "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." To the college girl's happiness many are co-operating, among which notably are papa's checks and the advantages depending thereon; faculty votes forbidding a schedule of over so many hours a week or more than a certain number of courses for the semester; constant anxiety on the part of study, and so forth.

"Prex" and "M. D." lest the young buds of hope break down under the strain of This last appears particularly strange to the European mind. No one gives a thought there, it appears, to the effects

'We may moan, sigh or revolt," says the writer; "we may strike, protest or die in the attempt; from the serene Olympus of the faculty the gods watch with calm, unruffled brow the struggle of the nonentities down in the halls of learning."-Outlook.

INSPIRED HIM TO PREACH.

Threat That Aroused the Eloquence of a Young Circuit Rider.

In the early days of Methodism in th vest a circuit rider, if he had a large field to cover, was sometimes permitted to have a colleague just beginning to Rev. John Thompson was a preach. circuit rider in a somewhat thinly settled part of central Illinois more than fifty years ago. The colleague assigned to him was Brother James Smith, an excellent young man, but with very little experience as a preacher.

One Sunday Mr. Thompson had an appointment at a small meeting house in the country, but having a severe cold ne asked his young assistant to go along with him and preach the sermon; and the latter, as in duty bound, obeyed orders.

Brother Smith had never undertaken to preach in the presence of his more experienced co-laborer, and when, after the opening services, he arose and gave out his text, he was visibly embarrass-

He stammered through a few sentences, hesitated, made another attempt and came to a dead stop. "What's the use, brethren?" he said sitting down. "I can't preach!" Brother Thompson saw that the case was one in which heroic measures were necessary.

"Young man," he whispered sternly in his ear, "you get up again and preach that sermon or I'll take you out in the grove after this meeting is over and give you a hard spanking, as sure as your name is Smith!" An electric shock could not have op erated quicker. Brother Smith rose to his feet again, his hesitation all gone, and in ringing tones he preached a sermon that is still remembered by aged survivors of that old time congregation as the most fervid and eloquent discourse they ever heard so young a man deliver .- Youth's Companion.

CONSTITUTION OF JAPAN.

How it Differs from the Constitutions of Occidental Nations.

There is an important difference be tween the constitutions of western nations and that of Japan. The former are the outcome of popular uprisings against the tyranny of rulers-in other words, of a demand, as of natural right, by the people. Consequently, even in monarchical Europe, constitutions are drawn in such terms as to lay the greatest stress upon popular rights, while at the same time curtailing the power of the sovereign.

The Japanese constitution, on the oth hand, emanated from the emperor, the fountain head of all power. Before the people dreamed of popular rights or of a parliament the emperor had alf study on the health of the students, ready marked out the grand policy of establishing constitutional government in the future, because of his evident desire and purpose to elevate the country nations of the world, not only because the national policy bequeathed by his ancestors. Following that policy, our constitution was drawn up with close adherence to and careful preservation of the fundamental principles of the imperial overnment from time immemorial.

In form, however, it is similar to western constitutions, with this differ ence, that the text of our constitutions contains only the fundamental princioles of state-namely, the prerogatives of the emperor; the rights and duties of the people; the powers of parliament; the powers and duties of ministers of state and judiciary and finance.

These are all embodied in seventy-six erticles. Matters of detail, such, for example, as provisions relating to the rules and proceedings of parliament, the laws for the election of members the national budget, etc., are separated from articles enunciating fundamental principles, and are embodied in laws supplementary to the constitution and enacted at the same time.-From the Century.

BITTER MILK.

Things That Cause it and How to Prevent the Trouble.

Abnormal flavors in milk and milk products may be due to a number of causes. It is well known that certain weeds eaten by cows impart a characteristic flavor to the milk. Garlle or wild onion is a very noticeable example. The Alabama station succeeded in re moving the taste of bitterweed from cream (but not from milk) by mixing the cream with two or more time its volue om warm water and then separating again with a centrifugal separator. Cultures of the torula were added to an equal place among the civilized to milk, and the cheese and butter nanufactured from it also possessed he wished it, but also because that the bitter taste. In the investigations course was in strict accordance with at one factory the torula was not found in milk drawn into sterile dishes nor in the air of the stable, but was found regularly in milked milk, cheese, whey, can washings, and also on the leaves of certain trees under which milk cans ere habitually kept. In preventing such troubles as bitter milk proper care of the milk is essen-Milk cans and all other utenalls should be thoroughly washed and sterilized by heat, the milking should be done under the most favorable condilons for lessening contamination, the milk should be cooled promptly and guarded as carefully as possible from all known sources of infection .- Depart-

YESTERDAY'S STOCK MARKET

Business Increases by One Half.

New York, July 6 .- More than twice as many shares of stocks were dealt in at the stock exchange to-day than was the case yesterday, and yesterday's total was more than twice as large as the already enlivened dealings of the preceding session on Friday. There were other features brought out in to-day's market which strengthened the opinion that the movement is largely a professional one in its present stage. But the momentum imparted to the price movement by yesterday's operations carried the level of values to a considerably higher level to-day and enabled the buyers of yesterday to take profits New York & Harlem, 5 per cent., payable July 1; books closed June 15.

New York, Lackawanna & Western, 11-4 per cent., payable July 1; books closed June 15.

New York, New Haven & Hartford, New York, Ne 2 per cent., payable July 1; books lent their auspices to the movement were made manifest in the edicates. with which the large buying was centered on stocks of large sympathetic influence on the whole market, and ferred, 2 per cent., payable July 1; shifted successively from one to another of such stocks, while the sustaining effect of these tactics was taken advantage of to sell for realization of profits in stocks which had previously advanced Union Pacific retained a position of influential leadership in the market, and was the subject of free profit-taking along with others conspicuous in yesterday's movement. The position of conspicuous leadership to-day was taken by Pennsylvania and United States Steel preferred. The large buying of these to-day came from the same quarcial, 1 3-4 per cent., payable July 1; ters as that of Union Pacific and St. books closed June 15. Pittsburg, Ft. Wayne & Chicago for the advance in these two stocks guaranteed, 1 3-4 per cent., payable was meagre, but the belief that press of steel products would be maintained by the pools and that the preferred dividend on United States Steel would be maintained were dwelt upon. Very sanguine expectations are held over the cotton crop, and the cotton carrying railroads were conspicuous in the day's strength. A rise of nearly four points in Northern Securities on the curb was a sympathetic help to the general market, but was unexplained. An advance in the price of copper led to the rise in Amalgamated Copper. An argument much heard for the advance in the general list was the supposed existence of a very large and long-standing short in terest in the market, which must be obliged to take stocks to cover short contracts if the rise is extended to sufficient proportions. The market was readily carried to the top level of the day in the final hour after much realizing had been disposed of, and the closing was fairly steady, but not at the best prices.

Bonds were generally firm. The total sales, par value, aggregated $5,300,000. United States bonds were unchanged

Workmen yesterday began erecting the apparatus preparatory to taking down the fron front of the Hoadley building. The reconstructed building will only occupy one story height. The stores have been rented. The old bricks have been purchased and are being carted away.

Tuesday was a big day for the collection of taxes. The su mof $13,675,15 was taken in. This isn't the largest day this year, as there was collected a few days ago $16,000. Large sums in taxes will continue to daily come in now until the end of August, when high water mark will be reached.

The board of education will occupy its new rooms in the Winchester building in Orange street about July 15. There is no extra appropriation for elaborate furniture, but the board will have more room. The superintendent and secretary will each have a private office. The board will also have a separate meeting

John Matthews, a laborer residing at 379 Oak street, was taken to the New Haven hospital yesterday morning in a serious condition. Mathews is employed at the quarry at the foot of West Rock and was struck by a falling boulder. He was resting as comfortably as could be expected last evening, and hopes of his recovery are entertained.

City Clerk Norris received a peculiar request westerday from Moses Whitcheer Mann of 122 Sylvia street, Arlington Heights. Mass. He wants to know comething about his great-great-grandfather, Samuel Mann, born in New Haven about 1773, and of his occupation, politics and religion. Information as to Elisha Mann, who died and was buried in this city about 1830, is also desired. Mr. Norris will turn the letter over to some professional genealogist.

William H. Alling, a bridge builder and pile driver, fell twenty-five feet from a scaffold at the Warner-Miller company's dock, near the Grand avenue drawbridge, yesterday morning and escapd with a badly injurd foot. Alling fell head foremost, but turned and landed on his feet. He was taken to his home at 171 Lenox street, where Dr. Sweet found that the right foot was terribly lacerated and that three of the small bones of the foot had been brok-

VIEWS OF THE LIFE SAVER.

IT ISN'T HARD OR DANGEROUS got scared this time, forgot his sketch-WHEN YOU'RE USED TO IT.

You Needn't be Afraid of Going Near the Almost Drowned Either Because You Think he'd Strangle You-Few Would Try-You Needn't Hit, Just Duck Him.

"Life saving is not near so dangerous as it is generally supposed to be," said Captain Tom Riley, the Coney Island life saver. "Like many other things, it has been dwelt upon and exaggerated by the inexperienced until nowadays very few really understand just what measures should be taken to rescue a person from drowning. Of course, I refer to people in general, not professional life savers, even though some of them could pay more attention to their business with better results."

Captain Riley has been a professional life saver at Coney for the past twenty years, and he is credited with having saved the lives of hundreds of bathers, "In the first place," he continued, terrifying accounts appear in the newspapers from time to time of the 'desperate efforts' that certain people have made in their attempt to rescue battle' in the water between the drowning person and the rescuer so work upon the mind of the average bather that when he is confronted with an opportunity to give a little help to a person who has become nervous or whose strength has given out he is so afraid of getting in the 'awful clutch' of the tired bather that he is afraid to go near

"I have often seen a man in trouble in the water calling for help and surrounded by a ring of bathers, all afraid to go to his aid simply because of the popular supposition that when a drowning person once gets hold on you it is impossible to get rid of him, and you will both go down theether. "One day last year, as I was swim-ming out toward the raft, three men who were standing on it yelled to me, at the same time pointing to a man in the water about thirty feet from them:

'Get him; he's drowning!' "I thought at first they were joking. But when I saw the man's face it was plain that he was in trouble. He had given up trying to swim. He was scared badly and was blubbering like a big schoolboy. And he was nearly under

"I went over to him, took him by the hand, and without the least trouble three friends. He was just about to go lown, yet he didn't make the slightest attempt to catch hold of me.

"Now, those three big friends of hiscould have taken him out of the water with the greatest of east; yet, like many others, they were filled with these terrible stories of drownings and couldn't muster up enough nerve to do it, although I dare say they had as much courage as the usual run of men, at

"In all the rescues I have made I have yet to come in contact with a bather who got a half Nelson on me that rendered me unable to protect myself. As a rule most people who get in trouble in the water are those who have be- the color scheme went, with edgings come scared. There may not be a single thing the matter with them, not leaf shaped bits of crimson, but whethday. Miss Rowland has many friends even a little cramp. They simply lose or these dashes of red were intended to their nerve, give up, and start to sink. Sometimes they go down without mak-ing an outcry, but my theory in regard to these is that they are stricken with heart failure. "When you reach a man who is just scared he is only too glad to have you them, sometimes after a male friend give him aid, and is so grateful that he and sometimes to suggest a sentiment will be as meek as a lamb and will do anything you tell him. His confidence is restored the moment you take hold of him. Why, I have gone to fellows who were making the greatest cries for help, and as soon as they saw me on hand they would turn around and swim ashore saving that there was nothing the matter with them and that they were just fooling.

"When a man gets a little water in him, even, it is one of the easiest things in the world for a person who has some knowledge of swimming to take him

"Most of the people who get into trouble here are those who go too near the pier. It is a curious thing that all of them are afraid of the pier. There is something uninviting and terror inspiring about the black shadow cast by a pler that seems to take the nerve of all bathers. I know of some expert swimmers who are finicky about pass-

"If you will remember, it is near one of the big piers at Atlantic City that most of the bathers are lost each year. The tide there sets down parallel with the beach, and is so strong that the average swimmer can't make headway against it. As soon as they find themselves carried under the pier they beome scared and make desperate efforts to get away from it. Of course they don't gain an inch, and finally become exhausted and sink. Whereas, by turning the other way and allowing themselves to be carried under the pier with the tide they would soon have been able to swim to a place of gofety further down the beach.

"One of the most curious experiences I have had since I have been a life saver was some years ago when a young woman, a newspaper writer, came down here and told me she wanted to experience the sensation of drowning so that she could describe it in her paper. I thought at first she was joking, but she assured me she wasn't. I consented to give her an opportunity of getting this sensation. She went out on the pier and I followed in a boat, accompanied by a sketch artist, who was to picture her movements while she was undergoing the diffierent sensations. "She was the gamest little woman I ever saw in my life. When we reached spot where the water was about twenty-five feet deep I told her to jump. She didn't hesitate a moment, but into the water she went. She couldn't swim a stroke, and she began to get all the sensations in a hurry. She came up gasping and sputtering, wildly waving her hands, but she didn't utter a word. After floundering about for a few seconds she went down again, the artist r nore seconds she came to the surface again as limp as a rag, with pretty nearly all movement gone. The artist

ing and cried to me: " 'For God's sake, man, get her-she's irowning in earnest!" "Just then the girl went down once more, this time a few bubbles coming up. I knew she ought by this time to have about all the sensations of drowndived in after her and took her, unconscious, to shore. I had the hardest kind of work to bring her around, but she her different feelings, for her paper came out with a page in which the faithfully described her experience.

point out the mistake many people make who imagine that the first move when you try to rescue a drowning person is to hit him in the face. That is all wrong. It is never necessary.

"Any time a person in that condition takes hold of you in a way that interferes with your movements, just go under the water a short distance. As soon as the bather starts to go under he will let go of you in a hurry. Then you take your own time about towing him in. You would be astonished to find how little a grown person weighs in the water. It is easy to support a large man with one hand.

"If the bald truth were told about rescues each summer, there wouldn't be some one from drowning. Descriptions half the dislike to giving aid to a he has heard or read of the 'terrible' bather who is in trouble in the water, and many more lives would be saaved."

> TESTING FLOUR AT THE BIG MILLS.

"It is surprising to note the difference that exists between the various kinds of flour," said O. D. Hutchinson, the representative of one of the big mills in Minneapolis, Minn. "It all depends on how the flour is milled and on the kind of wheat from which it is made. Flour made from hard spring wheat will give from twenty to forty more loaves of bread ner barrel than that made from the softer winter wheat, It contains a larger percentage of gluten and absorbs more water. The mills are exceedingly careful about the kind of flour they send out, and the testing department is one of the most important branches.

"After the flour is ground comes the crucial test. A sample is taken and made up into bread. We have four bakings a day, and from twenty to thirty loaves are baked each time, each one presenting a sample of flour. After the test has been made the bread is turned over to the Associated Charl-

"You may have noticed that the color of flour is no longer a marble white, towed him to the float, where stood his but a creamy white. This comes from the fact that the rich portion of the grain, right under the woody coating, is ground into the flour. What is left can hardly be called bran, for it is only the coarsest part of the other fibre."-Milwaukee Sentinel.

NAMING DRESSES A WOMAN WEARS,

"A late London fad," said the girl who knows, "is the naming of particular dresses in one's wardrobe. The dressmakers began it, but now the wearers of the creations are taking it

"The First Kiss," as originally put out by a maker, was of white so far as and ends of the stuff tipped with rose suggest lips or not I do not know, 'A Dream of Paradise,' was trimmed with filmy lace, through which ran tiny threads of silver, with an occasional silver bead. Now many gowns are being named by the women who order appropriate to the occasion on which they are to be worn.

'Second Thoughts,' for instance, was the name given to a severely plain gray costume ordered by a likely widow upon returning to London just after attending a house party where the doings were so gay as to cause almost a scandal. The idea is that the mood of the wearer is suggested in the name of the costume, and the name is more or less suggested in its style and appearance. I haven't heard of anybody ordering a 'Divorce Suit' yet, but that may come."

THE TOO ATTACTIVE TRAP. "There are maids and maids; some are intelligent, others are—well, malds," E. M. Dey says. "A few days ago a friend of mine employed one of the others-one of the maids. "The night before the arrival of the maid in question my friend's wife discovered some unmistakable signs of mice in her kitchen, so she bought and set a trap for them. The next afternoon-the girl had been in the house some hours then-she bethought herself o' the trap and went to look for it. It wasn't where she had placed it; she couldn't find it, in fact, anywhere, so she asked the girl what had become of it. 'Oh, that dirty thing! I threw it all the time sketching. After a few out, was the astonishing answer, for I found it was attracting all the mice in the house to it."-St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

MANY WHITE BATHING SUITS

'We are selling lots of white bathing mits to women this season," remarked department store clerk, "and the early prediction that they were to be fashionable seems justified. In view of ing she could have and still live, so I this it would be interesting to know what is to happen to such places as Asbury Park and Ocean Grove, where among very strict rules about bathing must have kept a pretty good record of there has always been one forbidding women to appear in white bathing suits. Of course the new white suits we are selling are not of the semi-"There is one more thing I want to transparent, clinging stuff which caus say about life saving, and that is to ed the rule to be made; but a law is a law, and some of the resorts are partic ularly alert in enforcing all those which concern the proper behavior of summer patrons."-Philadelphia Record.
