fire of the heaviest Japanese ordnance, how the Russians, despite the previous bombardment, replied from their fortress guns, although over 1,800 five pound shells had been fired that day, not counting thousands of smaller projectiles. It is estimated that the day's bombardment cost the Japanese $20,000, representing nearly twenty per cent. of the total cost since the opening days of the siege in August. Before half an hour had elapsed, and after losing 600 men, the Japanese abandoned the attack against the south Kekwan fort. "By 4 o'clock the Japanese fire had ninished in intensity and the assaults ceased shortly before sunset, when fire broke out in the new town of Port Arthur; and at nightfall the Japanese opened a sharpnel fire on the eastern ridge to cover the retirement of their isolated assaulters, whose situation was critical, between the east and the south Kekwan forts. The total Japanese casualties exceeded 2,000.

"Although the assaults failed in the capture of the main objective, they absolutely unmasked the eastern Russian positions and their strength. The casualties are relatively small, for although seven regiments were engaged, not half the troops issued from the parallels, owing to the attacks being so skilfully manipulated and finally ceasing without supports being utilized. For strength the Russian position was unassaultable and it would have been useless to endanger double the force and incur double the casualty list in the

"After having captured the caponieres (covered galleries) of the east Kekwan fort, the Japanese engaged in a bloody fight in the underground passages, slowly winning the vitals of the fort inch by inch, despite the bombs and mountain guns of the Russians defending the casemates. On November, 6 the central and front sections of the caponieres were gained. The work, however, is progressing slowly, owing to the nature of the ground, a combination of quartz and conglomerate lime-

John Morley, the Noted English Statesman, Speaks Before Chamber of Commerce of New York-Believes the Two Nations Should Fight Together for the Progress of the World.

New York, Nov. 15 .- The one hundred and thirty-sixth annual dinner of the New York Chamber of Commerce was held to-night at Delmonico's.

After the healths of President Roos velt and Kind Edward VII. had been drunk President Jessup read the following letter from President Roose-

"Will you present to the Chamber of Commerce my earnest wishes for the success of its dinner and my regret that am not able to be present? I have asked the secretary of the treasury to take my place. No body of men in this country is so closely representagilve of the immense business of the country as the Chamber of Commerce, and, therefore, the Chamber of Commerce has a representative function not merely for state of New York, but for all the United States. It is not only because of the fact that they are thus, in a cultar sense, a representative body, but because of my old friendship and esteem for so many of the members, that I feel a sense of loss at the impossibility of my being present with you on

Mr. Morley was then introduced. He leclared that the thing which interested him most during his visit had been the presidential campaign. He declared that he was as enthusiastic as any one in Chicgo on election night, making the tour of the election booths and listening to the returns.

Towards the end of his address Mr. Morley said: "It would be most unbecoming of me, I repeat, to say a word as to the personality of your president. I will say this in passing, that it is very gratifying to me to find that a man may write a book about Oliver Cromwell and yet be thought a very good man to whom to trust the destinies of a nation.

THE HORSE SHOW

English Horses Fare Badly-Third Prize for King's Horse.

New York, Nov. 15.-The second day of the horse show brought greater crowds to Madison Square Garden than attended yesterday. This was particularly true of the afternoon, when the promenade was thronged and all of the boxes were filled. A noticeable feature of the attendance in the afternoon was the large number of children, who were especially in evidence when the polo ponies were judged.

To the disappointment of a host of Englishmen who attended in a body. the English horses fared badly, and Queen Frederica, bred by King Edward, received only a third prize. REPUDIATES CATHOLIC FAITH

Woman Who Founded Divinity School of Catholic University.

The Associated Press has received the following. Before giving it publication its authenticity has been fully verified by cable from Rome:

Rome, Oct. 30, 1904.-Editor of the Associated Press: You have my full permission to print the enclosed, and give it as wide a publication as possible. Yours truly, Marquise des Monstiers.

"Dear editor; It may interest some of your readers to know that the Marquise des Monstiers Merinville, formerly Miss M. G. Caldwell, who, it will be remembered founded the Roman Catholic university at Washington some years ago, has entirely repudiated her former creed. In an interview with me the other day, she said: 'Yes, it is true that I have left the Roman Catholic church. Since I have been living in Europe may eyes have been opened to what the church really is, and to its anything but sanctity. But the trouble goes much further back than this. Being naturally religious my imagination was early caught by the idea of doing something to lift the church from the lowly position which it occupied in America, so I thought of a university or higher school where its clergy could be educated and if possible refined. Of course, in this I was greatly influenced by Bishop Spalding of Peoria, who represented it to me as one of the greatest works of the day. When I was twentyone I turned over to them one-third of my fortune for that purpose. But for years I have been trying to rid myself of the subtle, yet overwhelming influence of the church which pretends not only to the privilege of being "the only true church,' but being alone able to open the gates of heaven to a sorrowful, sinful world. At last my honest Protestant blood has asserted itself, and I now forever repudiate and cast off "the yoke of Rome." ' So saying the marquise politely dismissed me. "It will be remembered that the Marquise des Monstiers Merinville and her ister, the Baroness von Zedwitz, are the daughters of the late William S. Caldwell and his wife, who was a Breckenridge of Kentucky, Shortly before his death Mr. Caldwell became convert to Roman Catholicism, and left his children to the care of Irish Roman Catholics in New York, whom his wife had met in church circles. The younger sister married some fifteeen years ago a German nobleman, a Lutheran, and has since then also left the Roman Catholic communion. been in very bad health for some years, into which her extreme generosity led her, as a young and inexperienced girl

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

ANNUAL BANQUET HELD LAST EVENING.

Brilliant Affair Held at Harmonie Hall -Many Splendid Speeches-President Lee Tonstmuster-Excellent Banquet, Fine Music and Beautiful Decorations -Many Suggestions Made by the Spenkers.

The annual banquet of the New Haven Chamber of Commerce was held in Harmonie hall at 6 o'clock last night and as always the affair was not only enjoyable events of the year. The ban-quet was attended by about 300 of New Haven's most representative citizens from 'the various walks of life, both business and professional.

An informal reception took place in the club parlors prior to the banquet, and it was nearly 6:30 o'clock when the orchestra played the grand march and the guests entered the dining room When all present had found their allotted places and Rev. Mr. Perry had pronounced the blessing the guests sat down and partook of the splendid banquet which Proprietor Moseley of the New Haven house had provided.

The spacious dining hall was most beautifully decorated and presented a handsome sight to the diners. stage at the front of the hall was practically hidden from sight with paims and potted plants. Draped from the celling of the stage were a number of American flags. From the boxes on either side of the stage hung pictures of Roosevelt and Fairbanks, draped also with American flags. The other three sides of the hall were hidden from sight with large red and white curtains, there being a long American streamer between each one.

Along the right center of the hall was the guests table, twenty-four other small tables occupying the rest of the floor space. The tables were all handsomely decorated. The menu was an elaborate one, served in Proprietor Moseley's best style, and was greatly enjoyed. Well's orchestra occupied one of the parlors and furnished a fine musical concert during the evening. The Alpha colored quartette also from the stage furnished several well rendered

The committee in charge of the affair, to whom is due the well merited success of the event, consisted of Benjamin R. English, George A. Alling, Frank A. Corbin, Frederick H. Benton, Frederlek M. Adler, Horace F. Chace and Michael Sonnenberg At the conclusion of the banquet post-

Before he commenced his speaking Toastmaster Lee called for the singing of "America," which was rendered by all standing. He then spoke about what had been accomplished by the chamber recently, after which he introduced th first speaker of the evening, Rev. Mr. Perry, of St. Paul's church, whose subject was "Church and City.

REV. MR. PERRY'S ADDRESS. Rev. Mr. Perry's address was as fol-

Mr. President and Gentlemen-The invitation you have extended me this evening has a special significance which has come to me somewhat in the nature of an inheritance. I cannot but realize that my presence in this company and the privilege of responding to this toast are mine to enjoy through my connection with your former associate and my predecessor, Dr. Lines.

I have noticed that the topic of the toast to follow mine would suggest some conflict between the two factors of my subject that would need to be settled by arbitration. Yet in New Haven, of all places in the world, the two institutions, Church and City, can be considered only one. Less than one hundred years ago the separation came in this place between the city and the church, yet in fact they must always be one and the same. No one who gets behind all the mistakes and accidental features of the church can deny that the church is the soul of the city. Wherever the church raises her spires among the city streets she stands, or ought to stand, for truth, and it is the interest of the city to practice it no less than it is the business of the church to preach it. Not even the church is more dependent upon the principles of honesty and righteousness than is the whole fabric of our civic life.

But the church and the city are bound still closer together by the common task which rests upon them both-In these days, when racial differences divide us and industrial differences set one man up by pulling down another, the task of the Christian city and the Christian church is to give every man a chance.

The church and the city must solve the task together. The city must revert to the church, not for the opinions of the pulpit-never that-but to hear from an older and a diviner source their differences. And as the city is so in larger measure the church must fulfill her mission by taking the city into account.

O'ROURKE SURPRISED.

Regular Meeting in Afternoon Followed by One in Evening.

Bridgeport, Nov. 15,-When James H. O'Rourke was told to-night of the meeting of the Connecticut league in New Haven he expressed considerable surprise. He said that the official meeting was held this afternoon and that nearly all the members of the board of directors were present. He said that at the afternoon meeting the old officers were re-elected, as follows: President, Sturgis Whitlock; vice-president, Cornellus Danaher; treasurer, E. H. Prindiville; secretary, James H. O'Rourke. He also said that the pennant was awarded to Bridgeport, as the so-called Tuckey games were voted thrown out. The throwing out of the three games in which Tuckey pitched as a member of the New Haven team after he had been declared suspended by the national board places New Haven in third place, Bridgeport in first place and leaves Springfield in second place. Mr. O'Rourke further says that the meet-ing was called for the afternoon.

GENERAL ANDRE RESIGNS French War Minister Finally Vields His Portfolio.

Paris, Nov. 15 .- General Andre to-day resigned the portfolio of minister of war and Henry Berteaux, a member of the chamber of deputies and a successful broker on the Bourse, was nominstad as his successor.

This change in the ministry is the culmination of the fierce assaults upon the doning power which inheres solely in the administration of the war office, in the course of which the chamber of deputies the district attorney's office with the was the scene of frequent wild disorders, including the recent personal assault upon General Andre. These events stirred the public to a high pitch of excitement, and particularly ly in army and parliamentary circles, where a succession of duels evidenced the bitterness.

The chief cause of the attacks General Andre was the system of esplonage on army officers.

Court of Appeals Hands Down Decision Upholding Constitutionality of the Dowling Law-Witnesses Must Testify Despite the Fact That it May

Tend to Incriminate or Degrade Them

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 15 .- An important barrier to the prosecution of gambling cases was removed to-day wher the court of appeals handed down a decision upholding the constitutionality of the Dowling law, which enacts that witnesses shall no longer be excused from testifying on the ground that their testimony might tend to incriminate or degrade themselves. The action to test this law was brought by Jesse Lewisohn, of New York, who appealed from a decision of the court of general sessions sentencing him to imprisonment for refusing to answer questions in the Canfield gambling investigation, conducted by District Attorney Jerome before the grand jury. Lewisohn held that the new law was unconstitutional, in that it evaded that portion of the state constitution which provides that no person shall be compelled to be a witness against himself in a criminal case, and that it was a usurption by the legislature of the parexecutive. These claims were met by argument that the immunity contemplated by the constitution was fully afforded by a statute forbidding the prosecution of a witness for any matter which he might testify about. The specific questions that Lewisohn refused to answer were whether he had ever entered or played roulette in the alleged gambling house, and whether he had ever seen Richard Canfield there.

ARE YOU FAMILIAR WITH OUR CLOTHING FOR BOYS?

It's well worth knowing as hundreds have proved to a certainty; and their appreciation is manifested in coming to us repeatedly and regularly when in need of outfitting for the boys.

But we want every mother of every lad in the city of New-Haven to realise how practical, how economical and how complete our Boys' Store is.

It has all the advantages of an exclusive clothing store but at much less cost. There's no other department store in this city that begins to carry such a carefully selected, well-stocked fine. Reason enough then why you should learn to know this store for boys and to depend upon it for everything required for a boy's equipment.

TO-NIGHT'S BIG ORGAN CONCERT

From the present show of interest in the Guilmant organ recital, to be held to-night in Woolsey hall at 8:15 o'clock, a very large audience will welcome the great French master. The talk of his coming has been spread widely about the state, and organists and students of organ music within a radius of fifty miles of New Haven will be here. This will be the last opportunity to hear Gullmant, as he returns to Paris at a very early date to fill engagements in the French capital. He is getting to be an old man and will probably never return to this country for a recital tour.

Everywhere one turns the talk is about the recital. The programme, announced recently, gives Guilmant every opportunity to show his skill and musiclanship, for it has variety of unusual scope. Perhaps there is no number to which the people look forward with such eagerness as to that given to improvisation. Every organist who aims at perfection in his playing should hear Guilmant, who is said to have a marvelous power in developing and working up a given theme. At his recitals in St. Louis some of the old American melodies were given him, and, in spite of the scanty material in them, he built upon them a wonderful structure of

Out of "Suwanee River" he made marvelous tone-picture, and held the audience spellbound. At every one of these recitals the great Festival hall, which has a seating capacity of about the same number as Woolsey hall—approximately 3,000—was filled. In Paris Builmant is close to the hearts of the people. At his weekly recitals in the great Trocadero hall on the banks of the Seine he plays to audiences of five housand, and frequently thousands are turned away unable to get a seat. The sale of seats begins this morning at 10 o'clock in the vestibule of Woolsey hall and will be continued without interruption until the time of the concert. Good seats are still to be had at varying prices. Discounts are given to holders of the Symphony orchestra season tickets. Hundreds have already taken advantage of these rates, show-ing their appreciation of the endeavor to bring good artists here to supplement the Symphony concerts.

A BRILLIANT WEDDING.

BEAUTIFUL SCENE AT CENTER CHURCH YESTERDAY,

At the Marriage Ceremony of Carl Brandes Ely of Bryn Mawr, Pa., and Miss Elizabeth Trowbridge Hotchkiss of This City-A Fine Reception.

One of the most brilliant weddings ver seen in New Hayen was that of yesterday afternoon when Mr. Carl Brandes Ely of Bryn Mawr, Pa., and Miss Elizabeth Trowbridge Hotchkiss, daughter of Mr. Henry L. Hotchkiss of Hillhouse avenue, and granddaughter of the late Mr. Henry Trowbridge, were Now ready at your grocer's united in marriage, Rev. Newman Smyth, D. D., officiating.

The church, which seats about 1,290 was filled to overflowing with invited guests, and a brilliantly beautiful display of line gowns was seen. The floral desoratent of the church were very tasteful and extremely beautiful Palms, laurel, smilax and chryanthenums were chiefly employed.

Severa: rows of the aront pews had been taken out, and a platform, carpet-ed with a dark red velvet, built out from the pulpit. The platform was comfrom the pulpit. The platterm was can-Round Steak, 14c and 16c lb. pletely hidden by a high banking of the Porterhouse Steak, 16c and 20c lb. palms and laurel, with quantities of Lamb Chops, 12c lb. white chrysanthemums forming a wids Pot Roasts, Sc and 10c lb. row near the floor. Many thousands of white chrysanthemums were used. On each pew down the center aisle were bunches of them, held in place with white satin ribbons, and the, gallery rails were screened with the flowers and laurel. Every pillar in the ghurch was trimmed with laurel and smilax. A long canvas anopy led from the church portals to the curb of the street.

A few moments after 4 o'clock, at the conclusion of a fine organ programme rendered by Mr. Whittaker, and at the peginning of the wedding march the bridal party appeared, the groom accompanied by the best man, H. Stuart Hotchkiss, advancing slowly up the side aisle, while up the center aisle came the eight ushers, all but one of them being Yalo men, and several of them classmates of the groom. These were Mr. Augustus S. Blagden, 1900, of this city; Mr. Vance C. McCornick, '93, of Harrisburg, Pa.; Mr. Raynham Townshend of New York, Mr. Charles E. Brinley of Philadelphia, Mr. George A. Lyon of Pittsburg, Mr. Charles L. Tiffany of New York, all of 1906; Mr. James M. Wallace of Buffalo, '99, and Mr. James M. Mitchell, Princeton, '93 d: Buffalo. Following the ushers came the eight bridesmaids, in charming gowns of pink and white pompadour silk, wear ing pink tulle hats, trimmed with pink poses. Like the bridegroom the bride was attended by her classmates, all of them being Farmington girls with the exception of Miss May Russell. They were Miss Russell, Miss Eunice Parish Miss Mary Tucker of Albany, Miss Louise Barnes of New York, Miss Suzette Hell, also of New York, Miss Eloise Williams of Detroit, Miss Elizabeth Hudson of Syracuse and Miss Helen Day of Indianapolis.

Preceding the bride, who entered on her father's arm, walked the maid of honor, Miss Henrietta Ely of Bryn Mawr, Pa., a sister of the bridegroom. Miss Ely wore a beautiful gown of white lace, simply trimmed with one large plume, and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses.

The bride was handsome in a magnificent gown of white satin and point lace, an old heirloom in the family the corsage made almost entirely of lace. Her long veil was also of the point and was caught to her hair with a coronet of crange blossoms. Her flowers were orchids and illies of the (Continued on Third Page.)

most academic rather than practical. The discussion, the agitation and the work that has been accomplished in the last few years has been successful, because the commercial bodies of the world, in the interest of business and prosperity, as well as the welfare of mankind, have introduced, ratified and backed with their great influence, the practical work of the last decade.

Three hundred years ago Henry IV. of France, the founder of the Bourbon dynasty, suggested and advocated a perpetual alliance or league of the states Europe with a general assembly, imilar in some respects to the union of American colonies under the Constitution of the United States in 1787. In 1789 Jeremy Bentham proposed a plan for a general congress of the civilized | nations, which was to consist of two deputies from each nation, which should have power to pass decrees, promote peace and yet place refractory states under the ban of Europe. believed that if public opinion and the influence of the press should be unable then decrees of the congress should be enforced by an say touching perpetual pence, and he proposed definite articles, leaving to each nation the management of its local concerns, but creating a confederation of free states, and finally a citizenship of the world, to which all men should have access with the right to maintain their residences in any state upon the earth's surface.

In 1838 the New York Peace society petitioned the House of Representatives at Washington that all difficulties with other states should thereafter be submitted to a third power, and that there should be established, if possible a board of international arbitration But the House of Representatives took no action upon the proposition,

In 1872 Mr. David Dudley Field pre pared a proposed international code, providing a court of arbitration to be constructed by a league of nations, He proposed an elaborate system of arbitration to be controlled by a joint high commission of ten persons; and if any nation in violation of the code should begin war, then the other mem bers of the league should bind themselves to compel the offending nation by force to submit. None of these pro positions had any effect, except they were educational. We of this upon the courtesy of the nations, and | generation, however, have just seen the first practical general steps for the submission of disputes between nations to arbitration by the establishment, six years ago, of the Hague tribunal Twenty-seven nations of the world united in the establishment of this tribunal. One of the most influential parties in securing its establishment was William McKinley, as President of the United States.

A satisfactory tribunal was established, to which any two or more nations may submit questions of enquiry and questions for arbitration and judgment, but no nation that was a party to that convention is bound by its terms to submit any question to the tribunal; and such nation may resort diplomatically, or by other means to settle all disputes. The nations which united in providing the Hague tribunal stated that they were "animated by a strong desire to concert for the mainte nance of the general peace; that they were resolved to second with their best efforts the friendly settlement of international disputes; that they recognized the solidarity which unites the mem bers of the society of civilized nations; that they were desirous of extending the empire of law, and of strengthening the appreciation of international justice; and that they were convinced that the permanent institution of a court of arbitration accessible to all in the midst of the independent powers, will contribute effectively to this result.

After the establishment of this triunal several years passed before any case was submitted to them, and our own country, under the administration of Theodore Roosevelt and his able secretary, John Hay, set the first example by submitting to the Hague tribunal the dispute with Mexico concerning the Pius fund. Very soon after that dministration at Washington and that of King Edward VII agreed to the settlement of the Alaska boundary ques-

In 1795 Immuel Kant published an es- of the arbitration treaty of 1897, which failed of ratification; and the action of the great Lord Chief Justice of England, Alverstone, in giving the casting vote in favor of the claims of the United States, had great effect in satisfying the people of this country that even questions of territorial and national honor could be safety settled by a triquestions of territorial and national bunal of competent judges.

The Hague arbitration convention

before September, 1900, had been signed 🦠 by all the powers represented at the onvention except China. Under that convention each of the powers is to designate within three months from the ratification of the convention, four persons of recognized competence in international law, and enjoying the highest moral reputation, and disposel to accept the duties of arbitrators. Members of the court are to be appointed for six years, and may be reappointed. The signatory powers desiring to apply to the tribunal for a stitlement of a difference are to notify the same to the arbitrators. They are then to be chosen from the general list of the members of the court, each party naming two arbitrators, and these are to choose a chief arbitrator or umpire. The tribunal is to sit at the Hague when practicable, unless the parties otherwise agree. The signatory powers considered it a duty in the event of an acute conflict threatening to break out between two or more of them, to remind these later that the permanent court is open to them. It was under this provision of the convention that Russia and England agreed to settle the recent questions growing out of the North sea affair. The first step is to have a commission of enquiry, which has been done, and that will be followed later, if the report of the commission requires it, by an arbitral tribunal sitting to pass on the question of damages, etc. Each party is to submit to the court all deeds and documents upon which it proposes to rely. After the documentary evidence has been lodged, the oral arguments are begun, and this is to be taken down in writing, but it is only to be made public with the consent of the parties. The members of the tribunal may question the agents and counsel of each government on any point they desire to have cleared up. The tribunal is the sole judge of the extent of its jurisdiction, and the rules of international law which are applicable to the case. No sensible American, whether jurist or citizen, could object to the submission of all questions between this country and Great Britain, or any other civilized nation, on the terms provided as I have set forth. The fact that seven years ago a large majority, and almost two-thirds of the United States senators approved it, and that was ratified by the English government, de-monstrates that under the administration of Theodore Roosevelt there is no doubt the present senate of the United States will ratify, at an early day, a treaty prepared substantially on these

It has been announced by Mr. Hay at both Boston and Washington, and by Lord Landsdowne last week in London that such a treaty is being prepared and will soon be ready for signature by the representatives of the two governments. The treaty of January, 1897, provided that it should absolutely re main in force for five years, and should continue thereafter until after the expiration of twelve months from the time either of the high contracting parties should give notice to the other of its wish to terminate the same. We shall soon have such a treaty, and it is safe to predict that neither party will ever desire, during the coming century, to give twelve months' notice of a wish to terminate it.

Week before last a treaty on the lines of the Anglo-French treaty of 1903, was signed by the representatives of the republics of France and the United States. The text has not yet been published, but it is brief and pertinent. It will be submitted to the United States senate when it convenes at Washington in December.

The patient of a London beauty doctor isn't as pretty as she was. Pimples distressed her, and the doctor put on something that burned. Fifteen or sixteen hours of a plaster followed, which made the face look "like a half-roasted beefsteak." A sticky jelly, which turned the face to "a pudding basin," was worn for some days, during which her teeth were fixed, and she was fed with milk from a feeding cup. She came out young and fresh, but very red, and then-the face became "like a collapsible concertina." And she is suing the beauty doctor.

Sixteen per cent, were found to lack strength to study, owing to the debilitating effect of scarlet fever and other diseases, and five per cent. were suffering from tubercular troubles.

There is quite a manufacturing boom in Hungary. Ninety-six new factories and plants, reports Consul-General Chester from Budapest, were founded during the first quarter of 1904. This is due to state aid granted by the Hungarian ministry of agriculture to hemp and flax works, the proposed modification of the old labor law, and the sudden decision on the part of Hungarlan banks and trust institutions to invest money in factories of promise. Of these new factories 15 are textile mills, 8 are iron works, 4 are paper mills, 10 are chemical concerns, these last adding an impetus to an important industry. In the list are four woodworking plants, 4 food-preparing plants, and 8 brick kilns. Besides these there are factories for preparing peat, electric lighting plants (23), acetylene-gas factories, etc.

Dr. Morrison, the well-known correspondent of the London Times in Pekin, announces that Dr. Gatrell, a wellknown English physician, who during the military international occupation was on the headquarters staff as interpreter, has just returned to the Chinese capital, after an extensive journey through Mongolia. Leaving Pekin on May 12, he traveled by unusual routes by way of Kalgan to Urga and then to Ullassutal .. Throughout the journey he was treated with unusual friendliness by the Mongols and Chinese, and by the Russian communities at Urga and Uliassutal. He confirms the previous reports, published by Dr. Morrison, regarding the complete ignorance or indifference of the Mongols to the British expedition to Tibet and the flight and the deposition of the Dalai Lama, and declares that the reports of the presence of numbers of Russian troops at Urga, so frequently made in the European papers, are as unfounded as and will rent out the latter to a white the stories of Mongol excitement. Is it any wonder the Republican administration got the votes? The Democratic leaders didn't even dare to promise anything like that.

THE LIVELY WITBOIS.

The Withols, who have just captured Captain von Burgsdorff, commander of a district of German Southwest Africa, are pretty lively people. They are a numerous clan of Hottentots. They derive their name from the Withol family, which has long furnished them leaders. Hendrik, their present leader, led in 1893-1894 an insurrection which the Germans suppressed with some difficulty. Recently he helped the Germans against the Hereros, and his services were rewarded by Emperor William with a decoration. This seems not to have satisfied the old bandit, who now again takes the warpath to add to the difficulties of Von Trotha's disheartening campaign. His followers are well armed and well mounted, and their association with the German forces during the last ten years as scouts and auxiliaries has probably improved their natural aptitude for fighting. The hilly country they inhabit is well suited to their tactics. They are trying to induce the Bastards to join them. To the rising of the Hereros and Ovambos a third is added and a fourth is in prospect.

If the Witbois, the Bastards, the Hereros and the Ovambos all get to buzzing at the same time there will be trouble for somebody, and probably for them.

The litigation was begun in September, 1399, at Bynumville, having been instituted by Mr Massengale to recover the possession of a steer valued at $30, which he claimed had been taken up by Elijah E. Rice. There were seven trials in the justice, circuit and appellate courts. The costs, while heavy, will not be as heavy as some reports have stated. Outside of the money he has already paid out, it is expected that Mr. Massengale can obtain complete discharge from all court liabilities for a thousand dollars. He takes the result philosophically, and says that he will bow to the decision of the courts, as becomes a law-abiding citizen.

What has happened to the steer is not stated, but it is probable that it was eaten up long ago. But its career though short was celebrated.

CAN THEY BE CIVILIZED?

The real westerners say there is no good Indian but a dead one, and their rooted notion receives some confirmation from James Mooney, attached to the Smithsonian bureau of ethnology who sees a hopeless future for the Indians, among whom he has spent the greater portion of his life. He believes that it is practically impossible to civflize the Indians; that, having no ambition for improvement or progress, they will continue in their present state, dying out in numbers till they become simply roving bands. He asserts that no matter how large the amount they receive in the semi-annual payment it is all gone within a few days, and that DISTRICT OF NEW HAVEN, ss. WHY THE GOLF PLAYER WOULD MARRY.

Miss Charlotte Dod, the champion voman golfer of England, was talking at the Philadelphia Country club about golf in Scotland.

"Golf in England is almost a disase," she said. "The passion and the perseverance that the Scot brings to golf are quite incredible. With innumerable players there is nothing-nothing-that can compare in their affections with the game.

"I heard not long ago of an elderly bachelor in Edinburgh who had played golf from his boyhood up. He was a lawyer and every minute he could steal from the courts was devoted to the links. This man didn't allow religion, society or business to interfere with his daily golf, He had never courted a girl, because, he said, golf hadn't allowed him the time.

"Hence, everybody was surprised one day to hear that the crusty old gentle-man was to be married. A caddle-the caddles are men in Scotland-went to him, wrung him by the hand and said entimentally:

" 'Man, I'm glad you're going to wed. I think ye must love her early. I know our life will be all bliss and sweetness now, and I envy ye the golden days o' nance in store.

" 'Pooh, pooh, Robert,' said the other. 'It's nothing of that sort. Maenann, the champion, took a wife last year and it improved his game. Hyperion Theater.

An odd feature of that very odd new play, "The Harvester," in which Otis Skinner has achieved such a signal hit this season as the unique gypsy hero, and in which he is to be seen by the play-goers of this city at the Hyperion theater to-night, is said to be the necromancy episode in the fourth act. It is then that the shrewd Romany regue, returned from his vagabond-like wanderings along the highways,, attempts to frighten the superstitious old Seigneur (lord of the domain upon which he has tolled as a reaper) into consent to the marriage of the rich old miser's only daughter to the gypsy's son.

LETTY. The London players who have been brought over by Mr. Frohman especially for "Letty," which is to be presented at the Hyperion theater to-morrow evening, are Arthur Playfair, Tom Terries and Ivo Dawson. The other mem-bers of the cast are Frank Goldsmith Sidney Herbert, Wallace Widdecombe Henri de Barry, Albert Cowles, John C. Tremayne, Katherine Florence, Olive Oliver and Margery Taylor. Seats now

THE GIRL FROM KAY'S. The organization to be seen surround ing Sam Bernard in the production of "The Girl from Kay's," which is to be made known at the Hyperion theater next Friday and Saturday, will be the same as that which gave the musical comedy during the nine months it ran in New York, and which has just concluded a phenomenally successful run of six weeks in Boston. Seats now on

New Haven Theater.

There was a large audience at the New Haven theater last night to see "The Secret of the Subway," The play will be presented again to-day, matinee and night.

"A Woman's Struggle" will be the attraction at the New Haven theater the last three days this week, with Saturday matinee. This play is the first dramatic production ever produced in which a baseball game in full blast is shown to the audience. In the third act the last scene discloses Jack Hanson, the hero, pitching for the Giants at the Polo grounds.

One of the numerous things which made "A Woman's Struggle" such 'a great success is the fact that there is no "star" part; the characters are all good and need a carefully selected and clever company to interpret them. Jack Hanson, the big, handsome hero; loyable, persecuted Alice; big-hearted, slangy Sinkers; the French scoundre Dumont, and funny, pretty, unsophisticated Merry Winkle, each holds the center of the stage in turn and shares the interest of the audience.

One of the big scenes of "A Woman's Struggle," which has made such a hit in every city it has played, is that showing the Bowery, with the typical Bowery crowd. Overhead are the tracks of the Third Avenue Elevated, with trains running every few minutes; an open barroom, a dime museum in full swing, besides the hurdy-gurdys, lunch sale now open.

W. H. Turner's portrayal of Harum. which is to be seen at the New Haven theater next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, is said to be one of the best things the actor has ever shown the public. His hit in it has been pronounced. In the presentation of the dramatization of Westcott's widely-read story here there will be seen the same company that presented this play at the Garrick theater, New York city. There will be a matinee on Wednesday.

Poil's Theater.

The annual meeting of the New Haven Dispensary corporation was held ast evening in the dispensary building, Congress avenue and Cedar street, Dr. C. A. Lindsley being in the chair. Reports of the work of the past year were read and contained many interesting items. They show that there were 17,059 consultations at the dispensary during the past year, of which 5,-399 were new patients, and the medicines called for by these patients involved the compounding of 17,939 pre-of all cost to the patients. A board of five managers was elected to serve for three years. The following gentlemen were named: Max Adler, Ell Whitney, Henry F. English, Justus S. Hotchkiss and Anson Phelps Stokes,

SPECIAL MEETING HELD

OF CONNECTICUT BASEBALL to bore tunnels under the North river LEAGUE.

O'Rourke Disposed Of as Secretary-O'Nell Elected President-League Reseinds All Action in Tuckey Matter-Directors Surprised at O'Rourke for

At a special meeting of the directors of the Connecticut league, which was held last evening at the Garde hotel, W. P. Bristol of Meriden, was elected secretary of the league in place of James H. O'Rourke, who has held the position since the beginning of the league in 1897. The other officers elected were Daniel O'Nell of Springfield, president; C. J. Danaher of Meriden, manager of the New Haven team, vice president, and P. H. Prinderville of Holyoke treasurer.

It was voted to rescind all action heretofore taken at any meeting of the league in the matter of the games in which Thomas Tuckey participated, after which it was voted to indefinitely postpone the entire matter.

It was also voted to award the pen nant to the New Haven club, and the matter of appropriating money for that purpose of procuring a pennant was tabled to the next meeting.

The secretary was then directed to notify the national board of the change in the officers and to request that all communications be sent to the new sec-The meeting was then adjourned subject to the call of the new

At the meeting in the afternoon it was decided to throw out the Tuckey games by a vote of 3 to 2. Of this meeting the New Haven, Norwich and Meriden clubs were not notified and the directors who were present were greatly surprised at the action of Mr. O'Rourke in calling the meeting in the afternoon, as all of the papers in the state distinctly stated that the meeting would be held in the evening.

Vice President Danaher sald after the meeting that the league was now ready to meet the Bridgeport manager on any and all grounds.

Rev. Dr. Phillips' Address. Rev. Dr. Watson L. Phillips responwas as follows: THE COUNTRY'S GROWTH AND

PROSPECTS.

I am not to discuss expansion or imperialism in the meaning of those carrying that higher development of the Boston patriots, but to speak of things the foremost nation of the that phenomenal, almost miraculous world. growth which makes our history read Nights. No, not like that! That story is meager and meaningless beside the record we have made, there is nothing in history or fiction with which to compare the American story.

Recently it has been said that three supremely great events have occurred the example of our own achievements. in the history of the United States. ese are: 1. The foundation of the republic. 2. The Louislana Purchase. The revolution which abolished slavery. The Louislana purchase doubled our then existing domain, gave the country control of the Mississippi from its source to the gulf, and started that western march which now reaches from Maine to the Golden Gate of the

Nothing could so impressively illustrate the advance made since the second event as the manner in which it is now being celebrated at an expense of fifty million dollars, a sum that would have been prohibitive at the time the was made. Stand in the midst of that great exposition and behold the aggregation of the products of mill and mine and field, the advance in invention; try to compute the wealth in money and manhood which it represents; stand at night and catch the glow of 650,000 electric globes, remembering that the use of electricity is yet in its beginnings, and you will arrive at some faint conception of the land you live in and the people you live among. And when you think of that fifty million dollars remember that we had just fought the Spanish war, had poured $275,000,000 into the administration of affairs in the Philippines, and paid $50,000,000 for the Panama canal; and these vast expenditures have not caused a ripple in the financial world, however much they may have troubled certain editors and politicians.

Our wealth is simply enormous. I not discuss the methods or the ethical principles involved in the existence of the trusts which have come to such prominence and power, but as an evidence of our wealth I call your attention to their immense capitalization and volume of business. It seems a small thing for New York city to fling the blood of many peoples has mingled to undertake a great subway system merely to give her people better transit facilities, or for a railroad corporation at a fabulous cost. The New York Central railroad changes its terminals in the heart of the greatest city on the continent, where land is worth its covering in gold, and substitutes electricity for steam as a motive power, and there is a simple announcement of its plans in the daily press. There are Directors Surprised at O'Rourke for men here who remember when our own Calling Afternoon Meeting—Norwich road was small and insignificant, but it has gone on buying and leasing lines till it has become a vast trunk system; after spending millions in Boston, other millions in Bridgeport and still other millions all along the line, it coolly purchases five hundred miles of trackage to give it entrance to the anthracite region and the great lakes, and all this causes comment, but no surprise and does not disturb values or dividends One can only comprehend the immense figures involved in these operations when he remembers that, of the four hundred billion dollars of the world's wealth, the United States holds a full

Consider some of the facts. One need not go very far back; take the year We then had thirty-two states with 25,000,000 people, "part slaves and part free;" now we have forty-five states with 80,000,000 freemen. Take the growth in the post office department; last year the Chicago office alone collected more revenues by nearly a million dollars than the whole department collected in 1860. Think of the railroads. In 1850 we had 9,021 miles in operation. In 1903 we had 207,609 miles, and only 229 miles went under receiverships and 550 miles were sold under foreclesure. That is a test of financial strength. Here is another. In 1850 there were 251,354 depositors in the savings banks, with $43,431,130 of deposits; in 1903 there were 7,305,228 depositors with $2,035,204,845 to their crelit. And all these years we have been erecting splendid national, state and municipal buildings, churches, schools, colleges, hospitals and libraries, we have been fighting and conquering illiteracy, and making stupendous advances in art science, literature, invention and discovery. The man who is not a proud and grateful patriot must have unsee ing eyes, a calloused mind, and a heart stone. Out upon the Anglomanisc and other lunatics who affect to despise America and adopt foreign manners and an English accent! There is no so sure and speedy cure for an attack of Anglophobia or Gaulonitis as a few weeks of open-eyed travel about the country or a few hours study of our statistics. If the dolorous people who are fretting the air with their carp. ing criticisms and pessimistic complainings would devote a little time to such travel and study they would get a new light and a better spirit.

It has been my fortune just now to take a short trip through some of the great middle-western states. As I saw, the busy cities, with splendid public and private buildings, the gigantic manufacturing plants; and the evidences of prosperity, I was amazed a: the development. As I rode through miles of rich, black soil without a stone through miles of cornfields, and other the earth of the foul stains of battle; miles of other grains, and noted the and, following the example of Sherman, still sparse population, I thought Uncle Sam is still "rich enough to give us they established the great National Ar- all a farm." We are to like a chapter from the Arabian be the great missionary nation of the world, not only by the proclamation of Christian doctrines, but of all those truths and precepts of life which develop manhood and enrich social and political conditions. We are to do this by an active propaganda, but more by Already we have outgrown the methods of the fathers, but we shall never outgrow their principles; those principles were missionary and aggressive and had behind them a solemn, ceaseless sense of obligation. Part of our mission is being accomplished in that marvelous process of reception and assimilation of all nationalities, which is the wonder of the age, and the greatest missionary and civilizing operation of all ages. Let me give you some testimonies. In a recent address at Pitts burg, Mr. John Morley said: "The persevering absorption and incorporation of all this ceaseless torrent of heterogeneous elements into one united, stable, industrious and pacific state is an achievement that neither the Roman nor the Roman church, neither Byzanmethods, the results of discovery and tine empire nor Russian, nor Charles the Great, nor Charles the Fifth, nor Napoleon rivaled or surpassed." Protab Chunder Mozoomdar, a prominent Indian religious leader and student of affairs, after repeatedly visiting this country, returned home last time to say that the thing that impressed him most was the marvelous assimilative power of the republic. How has this been made possible? By a militant, self-sacrificing form of Christianity, and by an absolutely unsectarian, democratic form of public education; the it longer. A second reason is that the lands filtration plant of the New Haven Wawhich have been taken for our larger ter company. Professor Ryder been put on the general market before sent to the public. It was secured for park purposes. It would have been taken up by small owners, quickly denuded of its trees, and would in time be covered with noxlous and unsightly shantles. Take the meadows of Edgewood park. They are by their low situation and the character of their soll unfitted for substantial or wholesome dwellings, and their inevitable fate, if they had not been taken for a park, would have been to become a filthy and malaria breeding slum, an eyesore and a pest to that part of the town. If their purchase had had no other benefit than to relieve the community from these dangers they would been worth all they cost, when the next generation sees them converted into a delightful and beautiful pleasure ground, with picturesque lakes and islands and driveways, will any one say then that in purchasing that tract we had bitten off more than we could chew?

The same may be said of the Beaver Ponds meadows, which lie almost within the heart of the city, and have long been a terror to that neighborhood, and a drawback on its growth; but which the city is now, with a wise foresight, gradually buying up. That low lying swamp will in due time be only rivaled by its neighbor. Edgewood park, as a thing of beauty and a joy forever.

I will instance only one spot more, The flats at the foot of East Rock, now so unsightly in appearance, will, when a little reflection will convince such that generous future donor of the artificial lake appears, and that splendid speedway is constructed around it, bring new beauty and happiness and glory, yes, and maney, to New Haven enough to pay a hundred times over all that these improvements will cost.

No, gentlemen, New Haven is not 'park poor," any more than it was when its founders laid out the central green on a scale greatly larger than the needs of their little hamlet of a dozen or two cabins. Like them we arebuilding not only for the New Haven that is, but for the New Haven that is to be for all time. We are not attempting to evelop our park system rapidly at a large expenditure for the benefit of the present generation, nor is it desirable that we should. We have laid the foundation; let each succeeding generation build the superstructure as its own needs and tastes may require, and thus advance our parks by successive stages toward perfection. will New Haven continueto be called as she ever has been called heretofore, "The City Beautiful," and our children's children, instead of reproaching us for criminal neglect of their interests, will rise up and call us blessed.

MR. MACDONALD'S ADDRESS. State Highway Commissioner Mac donald was the next speaker and he spoke on "Our Highways." He spoke about the father of Henry T. Blake as the first man to use a stone crusher in

MR. MANSFIELD'S ADDRESS. Burton Mansfield responded next to the toast "Some of the Needs of Our The speaker said that the present paster system in voting was an abomination, that it was so expensive that it hindered many good men from running for office, and that it was the cause of many dishonest votes. He thought that it would be a good plan for the city to give the voting machines

After eulogizing Judge Cleaveland he said that he thought that the judge of the probate court ought to be under salary the same as the other judges of the other courts. He said that this would do away with the fee system and he thought that the judge should be appointed the same as other judges, and that he should be allowed to remain in office as long as he did what was right. He also thought that there ought to be more discrimination shown in the settling of estates, so that the tax on a small estate should not be so large as to almost eat it up before it was settled.

Mr. Mansfield thought that there should be better school facilities so as to bind the foreigners who come to this city in a closed bond of citizenship through education. In closing he said that he wished that some broad-minded citizen of his city would see his way clear to & ve the city money enough for another free public library so that the city would not be dependent upon Andrew Carnegie or any other outside man to do it. The speaker also thought that something ought to be done to make East Rock park more accessible to the people. He suggested some sort of railroad to the top.

MR. BUCKLAND'S ADDRESS. Edward G. Buckland was the next speaker and he responded to the toast 'The Consolidated Railroad." speaker told how President Mellen had fulfilled all the promises which he made at the last annual banquet of the the speaker said that President Mellen had a most loyal staff at work with him, each and every one of whom was willing and anxious to assist in carrying out the splendid work which he was planning.

BUSINESS MEN TO OFFICIATE AT

THE NEW TROLLEY LINE.

Plan to Have a Notable Demonstration

Next Monday-Some of the Proposed

The Consolidated Railway company has sent an invitation to the board of directors of the New Haven Business Men's association asking them to participate in the opening of the new Wallingford trolley line on November 21. The directors of the Business Men's association will consider the matter in detail at the meeting this afternoon. It is stated that the trolley line would like to have some sort of ceremony mark the opening of the line, as it will prove of immense benefit to the business of this city.

President R. C. Lightbourn of the association stated yesterday afternoon that the message received from the trolley company was a trifle more than an Invitation. The matter would come up, he stated, to-day and definite action then taken as to its acceptance.

As planned, the association will invite Mayor Studley of this city, Congressman Sperry and other prominent men, sufficient in number to fill three trolley cars, to attend the opening exercises. A brass band will be taken along by another car, and the party which will be further made up of officials from the Consolidated road, will leave this city at 10 o'clock in the morning and proceed over the line as far as the town of North Haven, where the warden of Wallingford will drive the silver spike which will be the last to be driven on the extension. The trolley line between New York and Boston will then be complete. Speeches, interspersed with music, will follow, and a collation will be servd in the cars.

Following upon this the party will proceed to Wallingford, arriving there at noon, where a band concert will be given and other speech making will ollow. The party will then return to This extension will be inspected by the railroad commissioners on Friday.

YESTERDAY'S STOCK MARKET. Selling Pressure to Take Profits Much in Evidence.

New York, Nov. 15 .- The reactionary and irregular movement of prices was not gone from the market to-day and the selling pressure to take profits was much in evidence in the majority of the usually active stocks, especiall dursensational advances in an inferior grade of industrials and railroad stocks of doubtful value kept the character of the speculation under suspicion. In the latter part of the day there was a considerable reversion of interest to the standard railroad list. The issues dealt | Dec 113% 113% 111

er more consideration was given to-day also to the money outlook, although there was small change in interest rates. The tone of the money market, however, was called harder. The week's gold outgo to Cuba will be as large as expected. Subscriptions to the Japanese loan, a forthcoming offering of $26,-000,000 of New York city bonds and today's sale of $25,000,000 of Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific rallway bonds indicate requirements on banking credits to be met. The decline of nearly $10,000,000 in value of October exports of domestic products is explanatory of the ease with which Europe is drawing American gold in the fall of the year. The strength developed in a number of stocks was mostly explainable from special causes. Rock Island was helped by its bond sales. The rise in the soft coalers was due to assertions that their dividend rate would be raised shortly. Amalgamated Copper onjoyed the benefit of a further rise in the price of copper. The early heaviness of the steel group and their later recovery were connected with the meeting of the steel billet pool. The rise in the Louisville and Nashville group was explained by the cutting of the Atlan-tic coast line "melon." The desire to realize persisted to the last and the market closed decidedly irregular. Bonds were strong. Total sales par value, $11.870,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

PUTTING IT STRONG.

But Doesn't It Look Rensonable,

This may read as though we were putting it a little strong, because it is generally thought by the majority of people that Dyspepsia in its chronic form is incurable or practically so. But we have long since shown that Dyspepela is curable, nor is it such a difficult matter as at first appears.

The trouble with Dyspeptics is that they are continually dieting, starving themselves, or going to opposite extreme, or else deluging the already overburdened stomach with "bitters," 'after-dinner pills," etc., which invariably increase the difficulty even if in some cases they do give a slight tempurary relief. Such treatment of the stomach simply makes matters worse. What the stomach wants is a rest. Now, how can the stomach become rested, recuperated and at the same time the body nourished and sustained.

This is a great secret and this is also the secret of the uniform success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. This is a comparatively new remedy, but its success and popularity leaves no doubt

The tablets will digest the food anyway, regardless of condition of storn-

The sufferer from Dyspepsia, according to directions, is to eat an abundance of good, wholesome food, and use the tablets before and after each meal, and the result will be that the food will be digested no matter how bad your dyspepsia may be, because, as before stated, the tablets will digest the food even if the stomach is wholly inactive. To illustrate our meaning plainly, if you take 1,800 grains of meat eggs or ordinary food, and place it in a temperature of 98 degrees, and put with it one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, it will digest the meat or eggs almost as perfectly as if the meat was enclosed within the stomach.

The stomach may be ever so weak, yet these tablets will perform the work of digestion and the body and brain will be properly nourished, and at the same time a radical, lasting cure of Dyspepsia will be made because the much abused stomach will be given, to some extent, a much needed rest. Your druggist will tell you that of all the many remedies advertised to cure Dyspepsia, none of them have given so complete and general satisfaction as Stuart's Dyspensia Tablets, and not least in importance in these hard times is the fact that they are also the cheapest and give the most good for the least money.

CONDUCTOR BROWN'S APPEAL COMES UP.

Damage Suit for $20,000 Against Railroad Scheduled for Superior Court-Gorham Estate Inventories $11,000-Ready Bits Report for October-Jury Disagrees in Killeen Case.

The appeal of Irtis W. Brown, the former street railway conductor, who was found guilty on six counts of embezzlement by agent from the company in the city court last summer, went on in the court of common pleas, criminal side, yesterday afternoon. Brown was fined $150 and costs of $94.55 in the city court, from which the appeal is taken.

RAILROAD SUED FOR $20,000. Patrick Welch, a stonemason of this city, has brought suit against the Consolidated Railroad company, claiming $20,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been received through the negli-gence of the defendant. Welch was working on a bridge near the railroad station in Torrington last November, and was struck by a switching engine and hurled to the ground about forty feet. His right thigh was crushed, and he says he has been permanently injured.

The suit is brought by Attorney Edwin Carlin and is returnable to the superior court in this county.

SUPERIOR COURT CASES. The case of Benjamin R. Kelsey against John C. Punderford and Mrs. Nannie Waddingham occupied the attention of Judge Gager in the special term of the superior court yesterday. It is a suit to recover a real estate commission alleged to be due for finding a purchaser for the Waddingham mansion in West Haven.

The suit of William M. Ivins, a New York lawyer, against George W. Mc-Gill, to recover $12,000 for legal services, was continued on trial before Judge G. W. Wheeler in the superior court yesterday. The testimony of the plaintiff. in the case was concluded last week, and he has now gone south on a yacht-

$11,000 ESTATE PROBATED. An inventory on the estate of Claris-sa B. Gorham, of this city, filed in the probate court, shows the estate to be worth $11,435,25, all of which is personal property. Burton Mansfield is administrator of the estate and A. Maxey Hiller and Frank H. Sperry were the appraisers.

WEIL DIVORCE MATTER.

A new phase has developed in the divorce case of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Well. The case is going to trial in the superior court, whether Mrs. Guenendal Well, the wife, shows up or not. She has not shown up yet. Attorney Jacob Goodhart, counsel for Mrs, Weil, is unable to find his client. She first sued her husband for a divorce on the ground of intolerable cruelty. The husband retaliated by bringing a similar action. The ground mentioned in this suit was that Mrs. Weil had other husbands. To facilitate matters Attorney Goodhart will withdraw the first suit.

JURY DISAGREED. The jury disagreed in the case against James P. Killeen, who was on trial in the common pleas criminal court yesterday, charged with violation of the Sunday liquor law. Judge Bishop dis-charged the jury from further consideration of the case. Killeen was a saloonkeeper on Blatchley avenue and was arrested last summer.

MASON APPEALS. Appeal from a sentence of three months in fall and a fine of $50, imposed by Judge Dow in the city court, has been taken by Clifford M. Mason, the colored Yale student who was convicted of attempting to pass a fraudulent check. The appellant is defended by Attorney Charles S. Gerth, who is acting as assistant prosecutor with Mr. Woodruff in the court of common pleas to which Mason's appeal is taken. Efforts are now being made to secure the man's release on bonds of $300.

DEFENDANT WINS.

Judge Bishop yesterday handed down a judgment in favor of the defendant in the case of Frank M. Sperry, of East Haven, and John T. Tracy against W. H. H. Hewitt. The plaintiff sued to recover $200 commission on the sale of a house and lot belonging to Eibert Sperry and situated at Wooster and Brewery streets. The sale was made in 1903, and the amount involved was

CITY COURT CASES. In the city court yesterday morning Charles Flanagan and Thomas Treadwell, who drive ice wagons, were each fined $25 and costs on charges of cruel-

CALCIUM LIGHT NIGHT.

Annual Celebration on Yale Campus The annual celebration of calcium light night was held on the Yale campus last night. The various Greek letter societies marched onto the campus about 9 o'clock, singing their different society songs, and apparelled in their society robes, on which were the various insignia of skulls and cross bones and other mysterious devices. Behind each band of revelers was a calcium light carried on the shoulders of four men, and each man in the procession carried a torch of the color corresponding to the robes of the society. Psi Upsilon wore white robes, followed by a white calcium light and carried white torches; Zeta Psi wore blue, Delta his home in Bensonhurst, L. I. His Kappa Epsilon red and Alpha Delta Psi green. The spectacle of the different bands marching about the campus singing and chanting, with the weird effect of the colored lights and torches, presented an appearance of mysticism Mrs. H. W. Howe left yesterday only equalled by the ancient bacchantic revels of the Greeks. After about twenty minutes of marching about the campus, the societies went back to their society buildings, and the doors closed upon their mysterious proceedings. The annual banquets were served. The elections of new members from the class of 1907 will be announced to-day.

> READING BY PROFESSOR BEERS Professor Henry A. Beers, who is at the head of the English department of the academic faculty, gave a reading last evening in Osborn hall before a fair sized audience. Professor Beers read several selections from the Cavaller poets, which were very interesting to his hearers. This is the third week of readings by different members of the English department, Mr. Adams and Professor Lounsbury having previously given readings from Chaucer, Charles Lamb and De Quincy. Professor Beers will give another reading in Osborn hall Friday, his subject being selections from society verse.

COAL FOR THE POOR.

Appeal from Organized Charities As-

The Organized Charities association herewith appeals for funds to replenish its relief account, it having been drawn

This fund is used for various relief expenses, and the calls upon it have been usually large during the year, particularly from the lodging house for homeless men and women. It is were possible to keep the lodging house fully occupied it would pay for itself, but as the running expenses are practically the same the year round (it being never closed, and thus available at any hour of the night), a shortage sometimes occurs, which is covered from the relief

The main use of this holiday fund, however, is to help resident people, and at the Thanksgiving season, this help is largely expended in coal supplies, with food orders, where that seems to be the greater need. The number of people coming to the attention of the association this fall, is somewhat in excess of last year's experience, both of resident and non-resident poor, and their needs have to be met promptly and adequately.

As the resources of the association have been impaired by the death of several former liberal supporters, and other causes, it is asked that the contributions this year be generous and Funds may be sent to the agent, S. O. Preston, or left at the office, 200 Orange street, and will be applied, as directed by the donors.
