HARDLY A CENT FOR CHADWICK CREDITORS

ONE AND ONE-HALF MILLS ON THE DOLLAR.

Extent of the Woman's Operations Eatimated at $1,190,000-Ira Reynolds Duped by Statement That She Was the Illegitimate Daughter of Andrew Carnegie-All the Securities Given Him as the Notes of the Steel King He Acknowledges Now Are Worth-

Cleveland, O., Dec. 11 .- According to the most accurate estimate of the estate of Mrs. Chadwick that is possible before the receiver has investigated her assets, and reported in his findings to the court, her creditors as a whole will receive one and one-half mills on the dollar. What lends additional interest to this showing from the creditors' standpoint is that one man, Iri Reynolds, will receive the whole of the assets visible at the present time. There may be funds in reserve somewhere, as there may be additional creditors who have not yet announced that Mrs. Chadwick is indebted to them, but it is not expected by bankers and attorneys of this city, who have the greatest knowledge of her affairs, that any more large loans will be developed.

The extent of her operations is now believed to be approximately as follows: Secured from Citizens National bank of Oberlin, Ohio, and various sources in and about Lorain county, Ohio, $500,000; borrowed from Herbert B. Newton, $190,000; borrowed from business men in Pittsburg, $500,000. Total, $1,190,000.

Against this stand securities of known value on one note amounting to $1,800, dealing with her.
which is held by Iri Reynolds. "She told me," said Mr. Reynolds, which is held by Iri Reynolds.

The amount of money received by Mrs. Chadwick in Pittsburg may run as high as $800,000, but it is believed I never doubted her story until on the promised by her for an original loan when Mr. Squire, came to me and defigures that she is indebted to him for given me, as the notes of Andrew Carthe larger amount, while she has ad- negle, were worthless. mitted that she owes him $500,000. If ever. If they at any time reveal value gave me were worthless. other than so many cents per pound of white paper, the delight of the lawyers live her any more. When she told me will be comparable only to their amazement, and just now they are anticipating neither pleasure nor astonishment. The case of Mrs. Chadwick will tomorrow morning be brought before the ing large sums of money to her hus grand jury of Cuyhoga county. The in- band are false. He is now in Europe, vestigation will extend only to the al- and is penniless. leged forgeries of the Carnegie notes, and a report from the jury is expected Chadwick, I will tell of what she offered no later than Tuesday.

It is the opinion of some of the leading attorneys of Cleveland that a charge of forgery cannot be made to hold in connection with these notes. They declare that it is not an act of forgery for one person to write the name of 000 each. The notes were drawn by another, but that the offense lies in the attempt to negotiate such a signature for a specific value. This, they say, there is so far no evidence that Mrs. Chadwick has done. She has not sold in this city and had been taken up at or attempted to sell the notes for cash. She has not said that she would be glad to obtain money in exchange for them. She has obtained money from various sources, on the statement of Iri Revnols, that she, to the best of his knowledge and belief, held securities of a certain value-and whether he proves cor rect or otherwise in his estimate of the value of the notes, there can be no doubt that Mr. Reynolds believed what he said.

There has been according to the attorneys, no evidence so far elicited showing that Mrs. Chadwick obtained money on these notes in any other manner than through the attestation of Iri Reynolds that he had seen the notes and considered them good. If any man leaned money to Mrs. Chadwick according to the strength of his belief in the ability of Mr. Reynolds to judge accurately of the value of securities, then the affair, according to the attorneys who hold this view of the case, is one that rests between that man and his own hard luck. Other charges may be brought home to her they declare, but in their opinion it will be somewhat difficult to punish her for forgery in connection with the Carnegie notes, unless it can be shown that she endeavored to negotiate them. This, apparently, is the opinoion of the Lorain frand jury, which failed to return an indictment against her. The loan of $800,000 said to have been received by Mrs. Chadwick in Pittsburg from a man residing in that city, is declared to have been made to her by multi-millionaire manufacturer of that

Mrs. Chadwick in discussing this statement, it is known, declared that she did owe him $500,000, but not $800,000 as has been claimed.

The question of the rival receivers will be settled to-morrow morning at 9:30 in the office of Nathan Loeser, who was appointed by the United States district court to take charge of the Chadwinck securities. Received Herbert W. Bell, who was appointed by Judge Babcock of the common pleas court, is expected to call with his attorneys upon Received Loeser at that hour and withdraw from the position.

Mr. Bell declared this afternoon, however, that it was not absolutely certain that he would resign. "I shall do as my attorneys think best," he declared, "but I presume the matter will be adjusted in the morning." Receiver Loeser is confident that he will be settled amicably. I have no doubt that my appointment as receiver will stand.'

Dr. Charles A. Eaton, pastor of the Euclid Avenue Baptist church, whose name has been mentioned in the Chadwick case and through whose good offices the woman managed to receive a hearing from Herbert, D. Newton of Boston, occupied his pulpit as usual today. Dr. Eaton made no reference, although it had been rumored that he might do so, to the Chadwick affair. He feels keenly the publicity given his connection with the matter and heretofore has refused to make any comment.

To a representative of The Associated Press Dr. Eaton said to-night he could est explain his connection with the matter by quoting from an interview with Banker Newton, from whom Mrs. Chadwick secured a large sum. In that statement Banker Newton told how he became financially involved, referring to the Eatons as follows:

"I believe that both Eatons acted in perfect good faith in the introduction and that their confidences were abused as were the confidence of many other

The introduction of Mrs. Chadwick to Mr. Newton referred to resulted from a letter from Dr. Eaton to his brother John E. Eaton, who pesented the wo man to the Massachusetts banker.

Left Stranded Vessel Which Later Was

Highland Light, Mass., Dec. 11.-Four of the twenty members of the crew of the Boston fishing schooner Fish Hawk lost their lives last night after leaving their vessel which had struck and was pounding heavily on Peaked Hill bars at the north end of Cape Cod. Five others, including Captain Bly, who followed their four companions over the side, had a severe six hour tussle against the freezing sea and gale in a small dory, but managed to reach Provincetown harbor. The deaths and suffering would have been avoided had all stayed by their vessel which, a few minutes afterwards, made a miraculous escape from one of Cape Cod's most most deadly traps, and four hours later was safely anchored in Provincetown harbor. The lost seamen were: Thomas Kennedy, East Boston; John Woodworth, Everett; John Drew, Boston; Joseph Kehoe, Gloucester.

STILL HAMMERING AT PORT ARTHUR FLEET

JAPANESE CONTINUE TO DROP SHELLS ON SHIPS

Little Ground Now For Expecting That They Ever Again Will be of Use to Russians-The Whereabouts of the Torpedo Boat Destroyers Still Doubtful-Japanese Guns Searching the Nooks of the Harbor.

Tokio, Dec. 11-4 p. m .- The battering by the Japanese of the Port Arthur fleet continues, and there is little ground for expecting that they ever again will engage the Japanese. The battleship Sevastopol continues at anchor outside, but possibly returns to the harbor at nights and anchors inside the outer om, which protects her from torpedo boats. The recent heavy weather has given added protection to the vessel.

Naval experts are discarding the theory that the Russians themselves sank any of the ships, and the fact that the vessels first showed lists while in exposed positions and the efforts made to save the Sevastopol are regarded as conclusive evidence against the theory of their being sunk by the Russians. majority of the sunken warships headed northward. They received the bulk of the fire across their port sides, and the fact that at least two of them showed lists to starboard gives rise to the theory of Japanese shells exploding inside the ships and against the starboard armor, driving the armor outward and causing leaks.

In order to end the question of the future availability of the Russian warships the Japanese continue to drop shells into the sunken hulks. The whereabouts of the torpedo-hoat destroyers continues doubtful, but it is thought they are sheltering outside the harbor. The weather prevents a good observation being made, but the Japanese are sending a searching fire into which are not observable from 203-Metre Hill and other heights. The observers report a number of tugs, launches, dredgers and small craft anchored near the hospital ships in the west harbor, where they evidently have gone for the purpose of obtaining protection. It is suggested that the besiegers notify Lieutenant-General Stoessel to separate these vessels from the hospital ships or take the consequences. The Japanese are exercising care to avoid hitting the hospital ships, which frequently are in the direct line of fire.

He polled the largest vote ever given for a president of the United States-7,640,560. This is more than 400,000 in excess of the vote cast for McKinley in "The official figures for Missouri show that Roosevelt carried the state by 25,-000 votes. In Maryland one republican elector received the largest vote, but his colleagues were defeated. The democrats of Maryland will, therefore, have seven votes in the electoral college, while the republicans will have but one. "A comparison with the popular vote table of 1900 shows a marked change in the socialist vote. Debs, the candidate of the party that year was also the candidate this year, and his vote shows an increase of more than 300,000. Watson, the populist candidate, ran strongest in his own state, Georgia, where he received 22,635 votes. He received most of his votes in the south and west, but only one was cast for him in South Carolina." The total vote given is 13,534,119, and that for each of the presidential candidates is given as follows: Roosevel! (r.), 7,640,560; Parker, (d.), 5,094,391 Debs, (soc.), 392,857; Swallow, (pro.) 241,411; Watson( pop.), 124,381; and Cor-

Popular Demonstration Against the Government-Hundreds of Police and

Mounted Gendarmes Charge the Crowd at Full Gallop-Many Arrests

-Cries of "Down With Autocracy." St. Petersburg, Dec. 11.-A popular anti-government demonstration, the participants in which included large numbers of students of both sexes, began at midday in the Novaky Prospect and lastd about two hours. Hundreds of police and mounted gendarmes, who were hidden in the court yard of the public buildings, emerged suddenly and charged the crowd at full gallow, driving the demonstrators in headlong confusions and screaming with terror upon the sidewalks and into adjacent streets. This led to serious encounters, fifty persons being more or less severely injured. Large numbers were arrested.

Not since the riots of 1901, when Cosstation to the Neva has the Russian capital lived through such a day of excitement as this. The authorities last night got wind of the big anti-government demonstration planned for to-day by the social-democratic labor party to demand an immediate end of the war and the convocation of a national assembly, and leading every paper this morning in black faced type was an explicit warning to the people at their peril to desist from congregating in the Nevski Prospect near the Kazan cathedral. At the same time extensive preparations were made to quell any disturbance. The police on the Nevski Prospect were sextupled and the Dvorniks, or house porters, were marshalled in front of their respective buildings. Half a dozen squadrons of mounted gendarmes were massed in the rear of the Kazan cathedral and battalions of reserve police were stationed in several court yards out of sight. Minister of the Interior Sviatopolk-Mirsky gave strict orders, however, that no Co should be used, and Fullon, chief of police, issued explicit directions to avoid harsh measures unless it should become warning, however, by giving notice to those not apprised of the prospect of a demonstration defeated the very ob ject for which they were designed, tracting seemingly the whol population of this vast city to the broad thorough fare and long before the hour fixed, spite the pleading of the police, who literally lined the sidewalks, the throngs on the pavements were so dense the movement was almost imp the snow covered boulevard was black with a tangled mass of sleighs filled mostly with the curious. Toward 1 o'clock the workmen and students seemed to swarm toward the corner of the Hotel Europe, opposite the Kazan cathedral. The police, recognizing that the critical moment was approaching, tried in vain to keep back the human tied. Then, when there was not a single mounted policeman in sight, on the stroke of 1, from the heart of the thickly wedged crowd a blood red flag like a jet of flame suddenly shot up. It was the signal. Other flags appeared in other parts of the crowd, waving frantically overhead, and were greeted with a hoarse road "Down with autoc-The students surged into the streets singing the "Marseilaise," while innocent spectators seeking to extricate themselves, crowded into doorways and hugged walls. Dismounted police made a single attempt to force their way into the crowd to wrest the flags from the demonstrators, but the sudents and workmen, armed with sticks, stood close and beat back their assailants. Then like a flash, from behind the Kazan cathedral came wheeling a squadron of gendarmie. The doors of adjoining court yards were thrown back and battallons of police came out. A double squadron charged the flank of the demonstrators with drawn sabres. Five other squadrons circles the mob, cutting through the fringe of spectators, who gladly scurried to cover. The main wedge of the demonstrators stood fast only a moment or two. There was a sharp rattle of cudgels and asbles, though the wounds showed the police struck principally with the flat of their sabres. The women especially were fierce in their resistance. Many were struck and trampled and blood

This is the best place to see them Note is the best time to buy them

Eight months ago we began to plan this year's holiday campaign. So preparedness is the watchword now. We are prepared as never before, and that probably explains why we are doing the biggest part of the Handkerchief business in New Haven this year.

A happy thought! Give a handkerchief. Funny you didn't think of that before? Well, there's a host of people who seem to have hit upon that thought just about the time you did; for sometimes the lines of attack on our Handkerchief Department were three deep. The news of this wonderful showing has been spreading fast.

Ours is a wonderful showing. The variety is not only larger than ever before (we gave you a glimpse of it in the window some time ago), but the prices are lower. Larger orders mean lower prices for us and for you.

Handkerchiefs have been favorites for gifts time out of mind. They are doubly so now-adays, when gift-giving takes so many sensible and practical turns.

You can accommodate your gift to your purse, too, if Handkerchiefs are the theme. For example, you can pay as little as 5 cents or as much as $25.00-in this store.

There's no room to question whether we are maintaining our reputation for showing the largest and handsomest selection in the city-yes and in the state.

Most of the Handkerchiefs we now show were ordered direct from the Irish, French and Swiss makers months ago. Neither the styles nor the values could be duplicated now. And among those very styles are the beautiful embroidered Handkerchiefs we are selling for 25e, 50e, $1.00 and $1.50. Don't you see the advantage of choosing early-just as early as you can?

city the only establishment devoted exclusively to Ladles' Outer Gar-

Each year has seen the necessity of extra space. This need has been partly met by remodeling store, takng space above and utilizing space below. Extra space being exhausted, and space still inadequate, this year when our neighbor was anxlous to relinquish his lease, we took it at his own figures.

This large adjoining store and our present store-both thrown into one will give us the largest and finest establishment of the kind in New England.

It is not our intention to open any new departments. The increased space will be used for the further expansion of our present departments that each may reach its highest derelopment and widest scope. This rapid growth has called for earnest and ceaseless effort on our part. The present fruition of our hopes and aspirations has come from the large and loyal patronage which has rewarded our efforts and which we hope to merit even better in the future.

SOME OF THE FACTORS FOR THIS RAPID GROWTH.

1 Our inviolable rule of selling only goods of a reliable character. 2 Pricing everything in our store in plain figures.

3 Money back without question, if goods are not satisfactory. 4 Selling no Furs under assumed or fancy names.

Furs, like diamonds, are priced according to quality and selection and call for absolute confidence in the firm of which you buy.

Louisiana is considering a proposal to exempt from taxation for ten years all new lines of railroad constructed within the state between January 1. 1905, and January 1, 1909. An odd claim has been made against the National Bank of Belgium. An old peasant woman had laid on the grass a jacket containing bank notes of small denominaton for £48 in the pocket, and while she was at work her pet nannygoat had got at the notes, which it had eaten. The animal was killed, and the chewed paper recovered from the stomach was submitted in support of a claim for compensation, which the bank paid after verifying the facts by chemical analysis and other inquiry.

SOME GOOD INDIANS.

It continues to appear that there are some good Indians who are not dead. A striking illustration of what can be and has been done is shown in the Cherokee nation, the result of fiveyears' work with a definite object. Today there are twice as many Cherokee teachers teaching school as there are teachers from all the other sixty-five tribes in the United States. The Cherokees have ever been noted for their advancement along educational lines. Five years ago a systematic effort was begun to fit the youth of the Cherokee nation for teaching. The courses in the national seminaries were adjusted to that end. The graduates were impressed with the fact that school teaching is an honorable profession. As soon as they completed their education in the national schools they were given places in the Cherokee schools. They made excellent teachers. They could not graduate from a Cherokee seminary until they were thoroughly equipped.

As a result there are to-day 175 Cherokees teaching schools in Indian Territory. This is a result that should be a matter of pride to the Cherokee nation, and is a tribute to the system of education that they have created and which was augmented and supported by the government school officials in Indian Territory.

General weakness: These are but a few of the signs of in-

All these symptoms will plague and torment you, and will never perma- REPORT OF THE HOSPITAL AID nently leave you, once you suffer from them; only are sure in time to get worse if not treated by the best known scientific method of cure, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

These curative tablets are composed of ingredients which modern knowledge of the true inward processes of digestion approve of, as forming the best, safest surest and most scientific combination of medicinal drugs, that can be used to relieve all the conditions of ill health brought on by this much dreaded disorder.

A disease so "protean" or changeable in its manifestations, assuming so many forms, characterized by so many different symptoms that, more times than not, it is mistaken for some other disease altogether, and the poor patient may die, or at best allow the seeds of permanent, chronic sickness to germinate and take root in his system.

So it is a real danger that we ask you to avoid, when we say: In case of doubt take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Even if disordered digestion is not the real cause of your sickness (which, probably, though, it is), yet your diges. tion is nearly certain to be out of order and if allowed to remain so will seriously complicate your sickness for you. Stuart's Dyspensia Tablets, then, will be sure to do you good, and will not inwith any other medicine you may be taking.

They will help to make your food make you strong, and thus, if in no other way, help you back to health by helping your system to throw off disease like a healthy duck shakes water off its back.

PREACHES HERE. Baptist Church-Atheism on the Possession-Power of Christianity. in the First Baptist church yesterday him. Personal possession in the divine was the Rev. William Herbert Perry Faunce, D. D., president of Brown university. The church was quite well filled to hear the prominent speaker in spite of the cold weather. Dr. Faunce spoke on "Personal Religion," basing his sermon on Psalms 61, i., "O God, er it is real. A great many people seem thou art my God, earnestly will I seek thee."

The cry, "D God," is a cry of wonder, the cry of theology; the cry, "My God," he gazed through the telescope, by Coleridge when he looked upon the Alps, by Agassiz, by Captain Phillips. The latter is the cry of possession. believe, he said, every sane man in the world of civilization to-day believes in some power outside of himself, who made him and the world. "Robert Ingersoll is dead; not only that, but his way of thinking is also dead." There was time when atheism was the religion of culture, the fashionable way of thinking, the belief of educated men, of students in the colleges. Once when the poet Percy Bysshe Shelley had been foolishly expelled from Oxford, he sign ed his name on the register of a hotel. writing after it, in as sort of bravado, the appellation atheist. No student would be proud to call himself an athe ist to-day. To-day only a fool would say in his heart there is no God.

To say, my God, and to live up to it is personal religion. But is it not presumptuous to have this personal feeling of possession? It would be presuptuous to say my ocean or my sun, is it right to say, my God? No, this feeling of ownership is perfectly right.

A great question to-day is not is there Golf? but does God care? Many men believe in a God that made and knows them, but they do not believe that he cares for them. They think of their relation to God as Omar Khayyam pictured it, that of figures on a great chess board which God moved and when he was through with them put them away in the closet. Christianity is a power and knowldressed.

Probably fewer people can reckon per cent readily than most tradesmen suppose. Business men who are in the habit of getting and giving discounts ere long come to be at home in that part of the arithmetic known as "percentage," but even they have to be a little careful in teling what per cent ? is of 8, or what number 18 is three per cent of. Some of these little problems are as vexatious as "How Old is Ann?" In ordinary discount sales the per cent is usually 10 or 20, and clerks and customers soon get the run of it. It might be a little quicker to quote the prices if new tags were prepared for discount sales, but this is apt to raise the question in the customers' mind whether the price was not first put up as much as it had been marked down. Suppose, for example, a furniture store desires to make an honest discount sale on tables, buffets, rugs, and anything else in its stock, it is better to leave on the old tags and use arithmetic.

Viewing it in this light, Brown & Durham, in undertaking a horizontal cash cut for the whole of December, have left on all the old tags, and simply figure one-fifth off on any article they have. Their store is on Orange Street, one block south of Chapel. It is in order to make it worth your while to walk that one block that they propose this fifth-off sale.

BOGUS BRASS CHECKS.

Swindled Out of Nest Little Sum-An Employe Arrested Saturday Even-

By the means of bogus brass checks made to imitate checks used by the oyster firm of Lancraft Brothers of 96 Ferry street in paying their oyster openers, the firm has been swindled out of a considerable amount of money amounting to something over $117. In connection with this swindling Detectives Daley and Ward Saturday night arrested one Patrick McLaughlin, who lives at 113 Clay street. Word was received at the Grand aveue police station yesterday afternoon that a saloon on the corner of St. John and Franklin street, known as the "Moonlight" was doing business as usual by the aid of a convenient side entrance opening into the basement. Sergeant Smith and Sergeant Dunn vere sent to investigate and as they were approaching the saloon which is owned by a man name Frank Reynolds they saw some one slouch out of a base-ment entrance and walk away. The officers hurried to this entrance and demanded admittance. When this was refused they forced their way through the door and into a back room where about twenty men were sitting aound tables drinking as if the saloon was in full week-day operation. The policeman realized that there were so many in the saloon that it would be no easy task to handle them, so Sergeant Smith went for assistance while Sergeant Dunn undertook the difficult task of preventing any of the crowd from escaping. Although several of the men attempted to get through the door Sergeant Dunn succeeded in keeping them in the room until the patrol wagon arrived, when Reynolds and a number of others were taken to the Grand avenue police station where they were locked up. ### ATTACKS THE NEW HAVEN.

Asks Mr. Moody to Break up Consolidation.

Providence, Dec. 0.-The Lewis Clark Tourist company of this city has sent a petition to Attorney General Moody asking that proceedings be brought against the New York, New | tive and the other on the negative of Haven and Hartford Railroad company under the provisions of the anti-trust | law of 1890. The concern sent the petition in the capacity of shippers.

The petitioners allege that the New York, New Haven and Hartford has formed a monopoly of all the roads entering this state, that arbitrary charges for transportation of freight and passengers have been fixed and that the road fails to supply adequate railroad accommodations. The petition then asks that the attorney general take legal steps so that the New York, New Haven and Harford Railroad company will be directed to return the control of the various consolidated lines to the original holders, and thereby restore the competition which, it is alleged, has been destroyed.

COLLEGIATE DEBATE CONFER-ENCE.

Representatives of Yale, Harvard and Princeton debating interests held a conference at Yale university Saturday night to consider changes in the system of intercollegiate debating, Yale was represented by C. F. Kerrigan, L. O. Bergh, I. F. Paul, and W. D. Adriance, all students; Harvard by F. B. Wagner, president of the Harvard Debating union, and Princeton by Messrs.

Sempre, Davison and Thomas,

Harvard presented the suggestion that the three universities should hereafter select two teams of three men each, one team to speak on the affirmathe same question, and that the three universities should in that manner hold a triangular contest on the same night, one debate in each university town. Princeton debaters suggested that hereafter there should be less or no coaching at all by professors, and that in the future the debating teams should submit to each other briefs of their arguments a a week or two preceding the night of the debate. This, it was felt, would confine the debate to the question more closely and would enable the debaters to work to better advantage. Princeton also suggested that only undergraduates students of the college de partments of the universities be eligible for the debating teams, or that the limit for representation be fixed at two debating cams for each man. The sugges. tion about briefs was accepted tentatively, trial to be made in the next intercollegiate debates. Definite action on the other suggestions was postponed.

It appears that in some cities an impression prevailed that those who saw the company No. 3 or No. 2 were witnessed the production by company No. 1. Nothing could be further from the truth. As a matter of fact the companies were of equal merit, while the three sets of scenery were exactly allk. The companies sent out this season are made up principally from the players who were most successful last season, so that the present production of "The Volunteer Organist," at least in a histrionic sense, will be far in advance of that of all previous ones, phenomenally great as the triumph of the drama last year. The organization which presents "The Volunteer Organist" at the New Haven theater the last three days. this week is company No. 1, and will present as fine a cast and as perfect an equipment as any attraction offered. this year to the public. A PECULIAR EXPERIENCE.

Drummer Relates it to Barber While

Being Shaved. While being shaved in a barber should be a barber s connected with a local hotel last Fri day night a drummer told the barbe who was shaving him, a peculiar experience, or rather series of experiences which he had had during the week. H said that he had registered at a hotel Springfield on last Wednesday nig and had been assigned to room No. 21 The next day he left there and went Hartford. He registered that night a a hotel and was again given room No 22. Friday he came to this city and registered at a local hotel and was nearly stunned when the clerk handed him a key with room No. 22 engraved on the tag.

Owing to the fact that he was a commercial traveler he sustained the shock but he said that he was going to Bridgeport the next day and if the clark handed out any double eleven key to him he was going to quit the road

The drummer said that in all three cases where he received the rooms No. 22 they were all givn to him without his saying a word, his only act being to ign the register and ask for a room.

KNEISEL QUARTETTE.

Delightful Entertainment at Lampson Lyceum. Lampson hall was comfortably filled

Saturday nigiht when the Kneisel quartette gave its initial performance of its eighteenth season in New Haven. The small senting capacity of North Sheffield hall, and the growing patronage and appreciation of the Knelsel quartette made it seem advisable to hold the chamber concerts in the new Lampson lyceum, Judging from Saturday evening's concert this change to Lampson seemed most advisable both on account of the acoustic properties and its commodiousness. The personne of the Kneisel quartette has remained the same for several years, with the exception of Mr. Theodowicz, who joined their ranks two years ago. This quartette is so well known, and its reputation so unimpeached that it is only suour year old son of John Young, for similar to that of the murderer. The perfluity to eulogize it here. But in showing our appreciation of it we are forced to relterate a few commendations which have been so justly accorded to it time and time again. The interesting Shubert quartette in F major was played with beautiful ensemble finish, tonal quality and every other elemen of which it is characterized. Especially pleasing to the audience was the first movement, allegro vivace, and not so well treated as the playgoers who the sparkling scherzo brimming full of Bach's "chaconne," a solo for violin alone, was admirably played by Mr. Kneisel, and the composition eminently classical, evolves the great subtleties of technique, tone production, breadth and all of which belong to Mr. Knefsel. The audience responded vociferously to Mr. Knelsel's art. It seems most impossible that the C major quartette of Beethoven could have been better performed that it was Saturday night. The work itself is so glorious that it demands every latent musical power and breadth of epression. Most any words of description in regard to the performance of the Beethoven quartette would seem commonplace. But in a word the Kneisel quartette displayed very conceivable element of ensemble playing,
