

CHINA GIVES NOTICE: MUST BE CONSULTED

PLAINLY DEFINES HER ATTITUDE TOWARD THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

Officially Notifies Powers She Will Not Recognize Any Arrangement Regarding Manchuria Which She Is Not Consulted—Hiss Not Requested That She Be Allowed to Take Part in the Conference—Unconditional Return of Manchuria Favored.

Washington, July 20.—China's official notification to the powers that she will not recognize any arrangement regarding Manchuria concerning which she has not been consulted before hand has reached Washington and will be forthwith forwarded to the president at Oyster Bay. Before dispatching this note to the neutral powers China sent to St. Petersburg and Tokyo an identical note containing this notification. The Chinese communication is briefly worded and is so expressed that it calls for no reply.

The arrival of the text of the note dispenses of the unofficial report reaching Washington recently from Europe, which found credence in official circles, that China had requested that she be allowed to participate in the conference.

China has not yet taken this step for several reasons. The Chinese government is anxious that, so far as possible, the belligerents be allowed to negotiate directly with each other, and is adverse to being forced into the negotiations. China's motive in addressing to Russia and Japan such a notification was to remind them that she had never acquiesced in the alienation of the province of Manchuria from Chinese sovereignty and that she expected as the first result of the war the full restoration of Chinese control of that province. That this position might receive the continued support of the neutral powers, copies of the note were forwarded to the other capitals for presentation by the respective Chinese representatives.

Before sending this notification the Chinese government addressed to its viceroys, governors and diplomatic representatives abroad a long list of questions about Manchuria asking their opinions regarding the steps which the government should take to insure its restoration to Chinese control. On one point these replies were singularly in accord—that this restoration should be made unconditionally. It was also suggested in some of the replies that China immediately declare open to the world's trade several additional ports in Manchuria for a limited number of years, and, provided in the meantime the Chinese legal code had been revised and regular Chinese courts had been firmly established, that the powers be asked to waive extra-territorial rights in Manchuria in favor of the Chinese government. If this were done it was recommended that the remainder of Manchuria be declared open to foreign commerce. This is only one of many suggestions affecting trade in Manchuria now under consideration in Peking.

Advices reaching Washington indicate that the insistence upon the unconditional restoration of Manchuria without condition and this, it is recalled, opens up an important subject in connection with the Washington conference. Having been the chief cause of operations Manchuria will naturally figure prominently in the conference. China's insistence that she be consulted about any arrangement concerning Manchuria, if respected by the belligerents, it is believed necessitate an indirect participation in the negotiations by China. It is learned on the highest authority that the Chinese government is inclined to trust Japan to execute her many pledges regarding Manchuria and unofficially has already given assurance to the Japanese of her confidence in their sincerity in this matter. On the other hand Russia, it is said, will come to the conference ready to forfeit her sphere of influence in Manchuria only on condition that China give to Japan no privileges there not accorded to all the powers. Therein lies China's best assurance that little headway can be made regarding Manchuria without communication with Peking.

KOMURA LEAVES SEATTLE.

Seattle, Wash., July 20.—Baron Komura and his suite left Seattle at 8 o'clock to-night for New York city, they travel in private car as the guests of President J. J. Hill, of the Great Northern railroad, and will make all haste to their destination.

Mr. Hill's invitation to a tour of the Great Lakes was declined by Baron Komura on the plea that his instructions were most imperative. As a consequence the Japanese party will go to St. Paul by the Great Northern railroad, thence to Chicago over the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road, and from there to New York over the Pennsylvania lines.

The only hospitality accepted by Baron Komura during his few hours' stay in Seattle was an informal dinner to-night given by John D. Farrell, president of the Great Northern Steamship company.

The peace party was escorted to the train by leading citizens of Seattle and by the entire Japanese association of Seattle. A heavy police guard escorted the baron's carriage.

The Great Northern railroad has provided a complete train for the party, including a dining car, a baggage car and observation cars.

New York, July 20.—A young Russian, claiming the title of Prince Potemkin, and said to be a son of Admiral Potemkin, of the Russian navy, arrived in this city Monday night on La Bretagne. The young man made the trip in the steamer, although when his property was examined at Ellis Island it was found he had nearly $25,000 in cash.

To his fellow travelers in the third cabin the young man said he had sold his estates in Russia, had divided a sum, the equivalent to $10,000 among his tenants and had left Russia for all time. He said that after a short sojourn in the east he would go west and buy a farm. He declaimed against existing conditions in Russia and said he did not desire to live longer in that country.

St. Petersburg, July 20.—The report that Lieutenant-General Stoesel, who commanded at Port Arthur, had been appointed commander of the Seventh Army corps is officially denied.

JAPANESE KEEP BUST.

Concentration Towards Vladivostok Reported by Russians.

Russian Headquarters at the Front (location not given), July 20.—The Japanese advance from Korea is taking on a more energetic character, and is being pushed toward Mousan, Nangan and Hahagawa. The Japanese seem to have received heavy reinforcements from Field Marshal Oyama's main army in front of General Linvitch. A landing of Japanese near Vladivostok would not be surprising, and their operations appear to be concentrating in that direction.

The Japanese advance in the Island of Saghalien has reached Vladivostok. The Japanese artillery includes forty machine guns.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT IS BEATEN BY THREE VOTES

SCENE OF GREAT EXCITEMENT IN HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Opposition Gets Majority of Three on Motion to Reduce the Membership of the Irish Land Commission—Balfour Replies Coolly to Cries of Resign—Will See to This at Proper Time—Not Conscious of Any Humiliation.

London, July 20.—The government was defeated in the house of commons to-night by a majority of three on the motion to reduce the membership of the Irish land commission.

On the announcement of the vote a scene of the greatest excitement was produced by the liberals and the Irish members yelling "Resign!"

The incident is considered hardly of sufficient importance to justify the government in resigning, but when asked by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the leader of the opposition, what course he intended to pursue, Premier Balfour declined to make a statement.

John Redmond, leader of the Irish party, said the premier had repeatedly declared that he would resign if defeated, and that if he disregarded this vote of want of confidence he would be acting against all precedents. Was he going to swallow this humiliation as he swallowed every other humiliation during the last few years? the premier was asked by Mr. Redmond.

Mr. Balfour, replying very coolly, said that Mr. Redmond had greatly agitated himself over a matter which could be settled in due time. He was, he said, not conscious of any humiliation. There would be ample opportunity within a few hours of proving whether the government still enjoyed the confidence of the majority of the house.

The premier said he would consult his colleagues as to whether the question would again be submitted to a vote and would make a statement Monday.

After some wrangling over the question whether to adjourn until Monday it was decided to adjourn until to-morrow.

The Associated Press understands that it is practically certain the government will neither resign nor dissolve parliament.

Sir Edward Grey's motion of censure on the government regarding the fiscal question will be discussed Monday and the ministerialists argue that its rejection will prove that the government still possesses the confidence of parliament. It is not unlikely, however, that Mr. Long, the chief secretary for Ireland, will resign.

AMERICAN YACHT WINS

Takes First Race in International Contest for Seawanhaka Cup.

Montreal, July 20.—The first race today for the Seawanhaka international challenge cup for small yachts was won by the American yacht Manchester, the challenger. She finished three minutes ahead of the Alexandria, the defender. At the start the Canadian boat led the way over the line by fifteen seconds. To-day's race was to windward and return, a two-mile beat and a two-mile run, three miles around, making in all a twelve-mile course. The fifteen-knot breeze seemed to favor the challenger, and before the Manchester made good time on each of the three rounds. Shortly after the start a spreader parted on the Alexandria. Meanwhile she sailed on, and Skipper Routh said no time was lost by it.

After the Manchester took the lead on the first beat the race was devoid of incident. Both boats were handled excellently. It was remarked that the Manchester's crew is the smartest looking set of fellows seen in Lake St. Louis in recent contests.

People of New England Able to Resume Daily Tasks Again.

Boston, July 20.—For the first time this week the people of New England were able to pursue their daily tasks to-day with some degree of comfort. After three days of excessive heat, during which the thermometer rose above 90, a clear, cool northwest breeze kept the mercury to-day down to 86, and, with the air comparatively dry, the day was almost perfect.

All but two of the numerous cases of heat prostrations treated at the Boston hospitals were discharged to-day, and there were few additions to yesterday's extended list.

Two women who were affected yesterday attempted to resume their vocations to-day, but were obliged to return to the hospital.

A continuation of the present conditions is looked for by the weather bureau for several days.

KILLED BY FALL

Eighty-six Years Old Cripple Hurled from High Three-Story Building.

Shortly after 6 o'clock last night Officer K. Farrell of the Howard avenue station was approached by a little girl who told him that a man was lying in the cellar arwayway of Riley's block at 169 Congress avenue. The policeman went there and found John Kelley, eighty-six years old, lying there in a critical condition. The injured man was taken immediately to the New Haven hospital where an investigation showed that his skull was fractured, that there were a number of bones injured, and that there were numerous other injuries. In about an hour Mr. Kelley died.

Mr. Kelley was born in Ireland and the only relative he had in this country was his daughter Catherine L. Savage, with whom he resided on the third floor of her home at 169 Congress avenue. About a year ago Mr. Kelley received an injury which made him a cripple and kept him from ever walking again. Late yesterday afternoon his daughter left her father in the house alone as was her custom, and he undoubtedly fell out of the window while she was gone, but owing to the fact that he could not walk how he did it is a mystery.

The medical examiner is investigating the matter.

BITTER CHICAGO STRIKE FINALLY DECLARED OFF

MEN ORDERED TO SEEK THEIR OLD POSITIONS.

Action Taken After Midnight Last Night by Teamsters' Joint Council Ending a Struggle of 105 Days Which Has Greatly Disturbed Business Conditions in the Windy City—Men Make Complete Surrender.

Chicago, July 21.—The teamsters' strike that has so greatly disturbed business conditions in Chicago for the last 105 days was at 12:30 o'clock this morning officially declared off by the members of the teamsters' joint council.

The men have been ordered to seek their old positions, and it is estimated that less than one-half of them will be re-employed. The strikers have made a complete surrender, and will apply for work as individuals and without an agreement of any kind with their employers.

The action of the teamsters' joint council was taken at the end of the day, the events of which clearly foreshadowed the collapse of the strike. Three of the unions had already voted to return to work, if possible, and it was certain that the unions which had not yet voted on the question of ending the strike would take similar action. The council, believing that further effort was useless, decided to call off the strike at once.

DR. PARK EXONERATED.

Physician Arrested in Norway for Higginson Jewelry Theft.

New York, July 20.—Dr. Edward Park, the physician arrested in Norway as he disembarked from a steamer from America and then charged with the theft of about $25,000 worth of jewels which recently disappeared from the residence of J. J. Higginson of New York, to-day was cleared of all suspicion in connection with the theft. The warrant drawn for his arrest by the New York police authorities and the application for extradition papers by the United States authorities were both withdrawn.

Park was a tutor in the Higginson household when the jewels disappeared. After a short search the family gave the police no more aid in tracing the theft and the robbery became somewhat of a mystery. Then came the arrest of Dr. Park, who had sailed soon after the theft was committed for Europe. The police made this arrest on their own suspicions but to-day after examining two pawnbrokers who claimed that a man answering the physician's description pawned some of the Higginson jewels with them Assistant District Attorney Gans decided that the evidence was not sufficient to warrant the officials in hold Park.

BASEBALL LITIGATION.

Temporary Restraining Order Forbidding Trial of Howard C. Griffith.

Cleveland, July 20.—Judge Ford, of the common pleas court, issued a temporary restraining order to-day forbidding the trial of Howard C. Griffith, of Jersey City, by a commission of baseball magnates on a charge of trying to wreck the American league, and further forbidding the publishing of any facts concerning the trial, should it already have taken place. The trial was to have started this morning in this city. The hearing in court will come up next Monday.

The charges against Griffith, who is a member of the executive committee of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, have been filed by President Ban Johnson, of the American league, and state that Griffith has attempted to form a combination among five minor leagues to wage war on the American league.

MARRIED BY ACCIDENTS.

Second Day of the Return Run of Glidden Auto Tourists.

Worcester, Mass., July 20.—While the Glidden automobile tourists were favored to-day in their 99 mile run from Concord to this city with cool weather, the day was somewhat marred by accidents and the ceremonious greeting which some of them received in the way of court summons for exceeding speed requirements while passing through Leicester on their run from New York last week.

As an early start was made from Concord to-day nearly the entire string of cars was in Worcester this afternoon.

The most serious accident of the day occurred this afternoon at Merrimac, N. H., when the car of E. H. Cutler of New York collided with a lumber team. The chauffeur, James Degman, was thrown out and had two toes on his right foot fractured and the automobile was considerably damaged.

The injured man was attended by a local physician and the car was repaired in this city, after which it proceeded. There were a number of minor accidents.

The legal troubles of the tourists began with the arrival of one of the first cars. George Otis Draper of Hopedale, Mass., was arrested and fined $15 for violation of the city's speed limit.

Others who escaped the vigilance of the local police found Constable James A. Quinn of Leicester waiting for them at a hotel, with his pocket well filled with summonses on account of alleged excess of speed while the tourists were going through his town last week.

The visitors will leave to-morrow morning for Pittsfield and Lenox, and on Saturday the final run of the tour will be made to New York.

Saugus, Mass., July 20.—The Friend, owned by S. S. Blackburn, of Philadelphia, and driven by Herman Tyson, was the great surprise at the local track to-day. A large delegation from Canada backed Jubilee to win the 2:13 pace, but the favorite was beaten in straight heats by the Philadelphia horse. Siale S was considered the best in the first division of the 2:25 trotting event, but Burgess defeated her after two heats.

The second division of this race and the 2:17 pace were left unfinished on account of darkness. The summary:

Holland Guarantee Company Wants to Become People's Bank & Trust Company—Man Impersonated Another to Obtain Pension—Whiting Hearing Postponed—Jennings Bankruptcy Hearing.

A hearing on the application of the Holland Guarantee company of this city and Bridgeport for a change of name to the People's Bank and Trust company, was held before Judge Reed in the superior court yesterday.

Attorney George M. Gunn, representing the New Haven Clearing House association, appeared in opposition to the application.

Attorneys Henry G. Newton, Harrison Hewitt and H. W. Asher appeared for the new bank. As Mr. Gunn opposed the change of name Judge Reed said the application must be heard at a special session of court and a notice of twenty days of such a session must be given. The hearing then was adjourned and the matter will come up later.

Attorney Gunn stated to the court that when the case came up again he wanted the ones back of the new bank to prove their organization, and Judge Reed said that would be expected.

CITY BRINGS SUIT.

Scheduled for trial at the next term of the common plea court is an action of the city of New Haven against Emanuel Jacobelli. In this case the city wants to recover from Jacobelli, the father of the child, it being pointed out that the child may become a public charge. Maria Cogliano, the mother of the child, has been cited to also appear when the case is called. The suit originated two years ago. The city claims that the child may be neglected.

H. W. Crawford says he has traveled extensively in Mexico and South America, but in neither country did he ever experience such protracted torrid weather as the recent heat term here. During the storm Wednesday, lightning ran down the trolley pole and smashed a hole in the roof of one of the electric cars. There are a dozen cars at the railroad shops receiving repairs to electric parts as a result of storm damage.

One of the ancient trees at Morris Cove was prostrated by the storm. It was situated at the turn of the highway just as one reaches the Cove frontage and was very old. Harry Crawford of East Pearl street is at Twin Lakes, in Salisbury, and is reported as improving in health.

Clerk Perry of the Fish commission yesterday sent out circulars to the 150 workers on the natural oyster beds that, by the change in the law, the work could be continued ten days longer than formerly. The law for the year only provides that the date of closing the season is July 30. The governor signed the bill Wednesday. When men of 80 remark that the present protracted spell of hot weather is the worst they ever knew, it gives some indication of what is doing weather-wise. Although there was a good breeze yesterday in the afternoon, the mercury kept on rising in the tube and the maximum of 92 was reached. It was hot even on the trolley cars, except when riding against the wind. The thunder storm which broke over this section just before 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, a culmination of this hot period, was refreshing in the extreme and many got the first really invigorating breath of air in many days.

This hot weather has increased the sickness considerably and the doctors are busy. There is a good deal of illness among small children and many infants suffer very much from the effects of the intense heat. Miss Ruth Wilson of 50 Houston street left yesterday for Lakeport, N. H., for a month's stay. Quite a number of local horsemen drove up to Elm City park yesterday afternoon to witness the matinee races. Among the horses which were there was B. S. Bradley's Blue Light. There was a double picnic from Fair Haven yesterday, the Sunday schools of Grace P. E. and the Grand Avenue Baptist picnicking at Double Beach and going down on the electric cars. Among the games was a baseball match between nines from each Sunday school.

The pupils of Mrs. Chas. McNeill's class in the Grand Avenue Congregational Sunday school were entertained by her at Pine Orchard Wednesday.

Miss D. Gertrude Duell, the singer, and Miss Kate Tuttle, the Fair Haven teacher, called on Wednesday for Bermuda for a ten days' stay.

To-day he regained consciousness and there is hope of his recovery.

THE WHITE CITY. Large Crowds—Appreciate Free Outdoor Vaudeville—Fireworks To-night. The amusement loving public has shown great appreciation of the fine outdoor vaudeville at the White City this week. Each day the crowds have been greater, as they always are when people who have seen a good show tell their friends.

Lee W. Schuyler, the world's greatest straight and backward somersault diver, gives a wonderful performance. His back somersault dive from a ninety foot staging into four feet of water is a perilous feat, which he accomplishes with the grace of a bird. It is remarkable the attention Dare Devil Castellane attracts after almost two weeks' riding. Throngs flock to see him every afternoon and evening. He jumps the gap and loops the loop and gap like "The Little Demon" that he is. It is a marvel to everyone how he keeps his seat on his bicycle during his lightning ride.

Prof. Feldman with his trained pigs and goats is making a great hit. Over a thousand people saw Neik, the gentleman pig, make his thirty-five foot jump into a net yesterday afternoon and as many more saw Joe leap the gap. This is a great performance for the children as well as the old folks and should not be missed. An unusually fine display of fireworks will be given this evening.

JUVENILE DAY AT ROCK. Great Event for Children Takes Place This Year July 26. One of the great days at Savin Rock this season will be "Juvenile Day," Wednesday, July 26. Souvenir presents will be given every boy and girl between the ages of five and twelve paying their fare.

A special prize of a handsome diamond gold watch will also be offered and every child will have an equal opportunity to be awarded it. The watch is on exhibition in Goodman's on Chapel street.

The souvenir presents will be worth much more than the fare paid and will comprise such desirable articles for the boys and girls as balls, bats, whips, bracelets, neck chains, hat and stick pins, fans and parasols. Special amusements will also be provided for the wholesome enjoyment of the children and among them will be an old-fashioned Punch and Judy show.

STOKES—TRYON. The residence of Mrs. Anna Sparks of Old Saybrook was the scene Tuesday afternoon of one of the prettiest weddings ever witnessed in that vicinity, the occasion being the marriage of her granddaughter, Mabel C. Tryon, to Frederick K. Stokes of Hartford. The rooms were handsomely decorated in yellow, green and white. The bridal party stood under an arch of green and white and a wedding bell hung over them. As the party descended the stairs Mrs. C. E. Lynde of New Haven played the wedding march from "Lohengrin." The bridegroom entered first and he was followed by the ushers, Herbert B. Stokes, brother of the bridegroom, and Leon Havens. The bride was unattended. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. E. Bacon, pastor of the First Congregational church.

The bride wore a handsome dress of white brocaded satin and lace, cut in train, and she wore a veil. She carried a shower bouquet of white sweetpeas. The bride's only ornament was a locket and chain, the gift of the bridegroom. A wedding lunch was served after the ceremony. Guests were present from New Haven, Gullford, Westbrook, Saybrook and Hartford. Mr. and Mrs. Stokes received a number of handsome wedding presents. They left on an evening train for a short wedding trip. Mrs. Stokes' traveling costume was a handsome tailor made suit of dark blue silk and a white lace hat.

OUR COIN IN CANADA. Why a New Nickel Coin There Has Been Proposed. The uprising of Canadian business men to expel American coins from the circulation of the Dominion was largely directed at first against the "cent" or "wheel" dollar, which seems to be much more common there than it is here. Now the movement comprehends all United States coin. Our money is no more legal tender in Canada than Canadian money is here, but along the border it has been tolerated on account of popular convenience.

Similarly in upper New Hampshire, in Vermont and in some districts of Maine one comes across Canadian silver and bills in circulation and storekeepers make accumulations of both to meet local demands. There is a French-Canadian element, more or less transient to be catered to, and in Woodsville and some other places thereabouts the shops display signs in English and French.

But Canada being smaller cannot afford continued toleration of a practice that makes little impression in the United States. To get the American coins out once and for all, a new Canadian coinage of nickel has been proposed. Some of the advocates of this suggestion have even urged nickel quarters. Judging from Canadian papers, this is going too far to meet the approval of business men who, while admitting the convenience of nickels for small coins, believe that the difference in intrinsic value between the two metals must limit its usage in coinage money.

Canadians fear the general employment of nickel would have a debasing effect on the whole currency. Possibly there would not be so much of an organized effort in behalf of nickel coinage if it were not for the fact that Sudbury, Ont., is the only place in North America where this metal is produced. There may be an artfully designed "nickel boom" under all this agitation.—Boston Evening Transcript.

SALEM PEPPER SHIPS. How Commerce in This Spice Was Built Up a Century Ago. Few American cities are more keenly aware of the decay of American shipping than quaint old Salem, Mass. Salem never was a large city. In 1850 it had a population of only twenty thousand. Yet in 1807 it could boast of two hundred and fifty-two vessels engaged in the deep sea trade, probably the largest fleet owned by a community of its size in the world. But in the year 1900 this city, which had for nearly a century been better known in the ports of the Orient than Boston or New York, had not a single vessel registered for deep sea commerce. The last arrival at Salem from a South American port was on March 21, 1877. The last entry of a vessel from beyond the Cape of Good Hope was on May 1, 1879, when the bark Gilder came home from Zanzibar. The year 1881 saw the end of Salem's once great trade in Para rubber. The Australia, in 1860, was the last Salem ship to visit the coast of Sumatra, where for more than half a century an extensive and profitable pepper trade had been carried on.

The story of the origin of this trade reads like a romance. From the year 109 Portuguese vessels had brought pepper from Sumatra, the cradle of the Malay race, on return trips from their ceaseless search for the fabulous isles d'Ouro, where it was supposed vast quantities of gold bars and nuggets could be picked up along the beach. By the close of the sixteenth century the Dutch and English joined in the quest, and in 1621 the French, carried away by glowing accounts of the importance of the trade, sent a fleet to Sumatra with magnificent presents for the Sultan of Achene.

In the next century a new claimant for a share in the trade appeared. To a Salem captain belongs the credit of opening to American enterprise the profitable Sumatra pepper business. In 1784 Captain Jonathan Carnes sailed from Salem in a schooner for the East Indies. While in Bencoolen, a port on the coast of Sumatra, he heard of the pepper trade, at the time confined principally to Padang. He sailed for this port without knowledge of the course and through waters dangerous for navigation. He found that little pepper was actually raised at Padang, but that it was brought there in small quantities from points further north by the natives in their proas. He succeeded in obtaining a cargo and sailed for home, but was wrecked in the West Indies and lost vessel and cargo. But he found his way back to Salem and told the owners what he had discovered. A brig of one hundred and twenty tons, the Rajah, was built secretly and in 1794 Carnes started again for Sumatra with the first vessel that sailed from this country for Sumatra pepper.

On this trip Captain Carnes visited the northern ports of the island, and, without charts or guide of any kind, made his way through coral reefs which are the dread of navigators to this day. But this time he brought his cargo safely into Salem. There was lively excitement in town when the character of the cargo was known, and the ingenious Yankee intellect wrestled with the problem of how many years it would take the inhabitants of the country to exhaust such a vast supply of pepper. The owners of the Rajah, however, were busy figuring the profits, for this cargo which cost eighteen thousand dollars, was sold for one hundred and forty-four thousand dollars, or a profit of seven hundred per cent. Where the cargo was found was kept a secret. But in time vessels were fitted out at Salem and Beverly in Bencoolen, where it was understood Carnes first heard about Sumatra pepper. These efforts were without avail, for the jealousy of the European colonists had been awakened and they had begun to fear the rivalry of these venturesome, pushing Yankees. No charts or sailing directions of the coast north of Padang could be found. Lurid accounts of the dangers of the voyage were spread abroad to frighten new adventurers, but by the first of the nineteenth century many ships turned their prows toward Sumatra for a share in this lucrative trade.

In November, 1802, Captain Joseph Ropes, in the ship Recovery, located Padang and obtained a cargo of pepper. Two years later the Putnam sailed from Salem for the same port and met with success. And during that year at least thirty American vessels made voyages to Sumatra for pepper. "Boom towns" sprung up along the Sumatra coast, bearing such picturesque names as Analaboo, Soo-Soo, Tanagar and North Tally Poo.

A ship from Salem, the Recovery, Captain Joseph Ropes, was the first American vessel to enter the harbor of Mocha, on the coast of Arabia, just inside the Red Sea, and opened the commerce in that pungent berry which forms so valuable a part of the beverage of the American breakfast table. From Salem also sailed the first American ship to open commerce with Hindoostan, Java and Japan. Its vessels were the first from this continent in the Fiji Islands, Madagascar, New Holland and New Zealand. They were among the first on the west coast of Africa and in South America. From Salem, too, sailed the first American vessel to round the Cape of Good Hope, and the first ship to carry the American flag through the Strait of Magellan. A Salem ship, the Atlantic, in command of Captain Elias Hasket Derby, Jr., was the first to display the stars and stripes in the harbors of Bombay and Calcutta. The Peggy, another Derby ship, brought to New England the first cargo of Bombay cotton. Still another Derby ship, the Astrea, under Captain Henry Prince, as early as 1796 voyaged to Manila, and forged the first links of that chain of commercial interest which has finally bound to this country the Philippine Archipelago.

These voyages were not yachting cruises on summer seas. The captains of these ships were not merely bold adventurers; they had to be merchants, soldiers and ambassadors as well. The dangers that faced them were not alone the ships of pirates and of hostile nations, but the treachery of the natives, the voracious coral reefs of uncharted seas and the fierce typhoons of tropic climates. With such few maps and charts as they could find, and these often inaccurate, with a sextant and "Guthrie's Grammar," in the picturesque language of a sympathetic recorder, they swept around the Cape of

TWO OPEN LETTERS. IMPORTANT TO MARRIED WOMEN. Mrs. Mary Dimmick of Washington tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well. It is with great pleasure we publish the following letters, as they convincingly prove the claim we have so many times made in our columns that Mrs.

Dear Mrs. Dimmick— I have been a sufferer for the past eight years with a trouble which first originated from painful menstruation—the pains were excruciating, with inflammation and ulceration of the womb. This doctor says I must have an operation or I cannot live. I do not want to submit to an operation if I can possibly avoid it. Please help me.—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, Washington, D. C. Her second letter:

Dear Mrs. Dimmick— You will remember my condition when I last wrote you, and that the doctor said I must have an operation or I could not live. I received your kind letter and followed your advice very carefully and an hour entirely well. As my case was so serious it seems a miracle that I am cured. I know that I owe not only my health but my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to your advice. I can walk miles without an ache or pain, and I wish every suffering woman would read this letter and realize what you can do for them.—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, 50th and East Capitol Streets, Washington, D. C. Her second letter:

Good Hope, exhausted the markets of the islands of France and Bourbon, and pushing onward, entered the Straits of Babelmandel and secured the trade of the Red Sea. They brought from Madras, Calcutta and Bombay the best of their staples, and had their choice of the products of Ceylon and Sumatra, and a large share of the Canton trade. Their ships were seen in every part of the Indian seas, and held in respect by all commercial nations.

Such a service developed a fine type of manhood, and no American city in the early years of 1800 could boast of prouder names than the Derbys, Crowinstedts, Foxstones, Thomdikes, Peabodys, Pickmans, Wests and Silbuses of Salem. The very nature of these voyages gave a peculiar character to the people, as has been remarked by J. N. Reynolds in his fascinating account of the voyage of the United States frigate Potomac. The length of time passed by these sea captains on the ocean gave them fine opportunities to improve their minds. "From among the asters, supercargoes and other officers of these Indianmen, it is said there have been from the town of Salem a great number of the members of each branch of the legislature of the state, three members of congress, two secretaries of the navy, a United States senator, and a great mathematician, second to no one in ancient or modern times, one who has corrected the works of Newton and enlarged the heavens of La Place."

Moreover, in the dire need of war the merchants of Salem and the neighboring towns of Marblehead and Beverly were first to take out letters of marque and commission and form that fleet of privateersmen whose service turned in our behalf the trembling scales of war in both of our conflicts with England. The privateersmen of New England won more victories and captured more prizes in the wars of the Revolution and of 1812 than the entire fleets of our navy, and without them the annals of those days would not have added such renown to the sea power of America.

The patriotism of the Salem merchants was again illustrated when, in October, 1798, at a mass meeting in the Salem court-house, they voted to build by private subscription a frigate of thirty-two guns and present her as a ship-of-war to the United States navy to suppress the French ravages on our West India trade. It was a day of rejoicing when the white oak for her frames was hauled into town, and in the presence of cheering thousands on a September day in 1799 there was launched the Essex, in size smallest of our frigates, but in achievements one of the most glorious. For a while this ship protected commerce in the Indian ocean; then participated in the chastisement of the Barbary pirates, and in the war of 1812 made her name illustrious by a heroic engagement with the British, when among the crew she carried a midshipman by the name of Farragut.—New York Tribune.

HOOKER ESCAPES REMOVAL. Albany, July 20.—Supreme Court Justice Warren B. Hooker of Fredonia escaped removal from office to-day by the failure of the removal resolution to receive the necessary two-thirds vote of the Assembly, the Senate not being compelled to put itself on record.

The vote on the resolution was: Ayes, 76; noes, 67. One hundred votes were necessary to pass the resolution, and only 66 were required to defeat it. Forty-one Republicans and thirty-five Democrats voted for removal; fifty-eight Republicans and nine Democrats against removal.

After the defeat of the resolution was announced Mr. Agnew moved that since a majority of the members favored removal the Assembly adopt a resolution censuring Justice Hooker. The resolution was tabled and practically killed by a large vote.

POPULARITY OF THE STEINERTONE PIANOFORTE. Since a number of recitals have been given in this city and in other surrounding towns the marvelous powers of the Steinertone Pianoforte have been fully demonstrated to the large audiences that came to hear it. It is, therefore, gratifying to the Steinertone company to score such a success, and it remains now for those in the market for purchasing a good pianoforte at manufacturers' prices to call at our factory, 108 Park Street, and see what we have to offer. The Steinertone Pianoforte stands alone among the many pianofortes built. It excels in possessing the most musical tone, both as to power and sweetness, while the means of obtaining this tone from the strings, by a modern and improved action, imparts to the performer a delightful feeling that stimulates his musical intuition to the highest state of expressiveness in the realms of tonal art.

The Steinertone Company is enabled to offer a very large stock of all sizes of grand pianos from the very smallest to the largest concert grand, and also upright pianos called vertical grands, in different kinds of wood. THE STEINERTONE COMPANY, 108 Park St., New Haven, Conn.

SALEM PEPPER SHIPS. How Commerce in This Spice Was Built Up a Century Ago. Few American cities are more keenly aware of the decay of American shipping than quaint old Salem, Mass. Salem never was a large city. In 1850 it had a population of only twenty thousand. Yet in 1807 it could boast of two hundred and fifty-two vessels engaged in the deep sea trade, probably the largest fleet owned by a community of its size in the world. But in the year 1900 this city, which had for nearly a century been better known in the ports of the Orient than Boston or New York, had not a single vessel registered for deep sea commerce. The last arrival at Salem from a South American port was on March 21, 1877. The last entry of a vessel from beyond the Cape of Good Hope was on May 1, 1879, when the bark Gilder came home from Zanzibar. The year 1881 saw the end of Salem's once great trade in Para rubber. The Australia, in 1860, was the last Salem ship to visit the coast of Sumatra, where for more than half a century an extensive and profitable pepper trade had been carried on.

The story of the origin of this trade reads like a romance. From the year 109 Portuguese vessels had brought pepper from Sumatra, the cradle of the Malay race, on return trips from their ceaseless search for the fabulous isles d'Ouro, where it was supposed vast quantities of gold bars and nuggets could be picked up along the beach. By the close of the sixteenth century the Dutch and English joined in the quest, and in 1621 the French, carried away by glowing accounts of the importance of the trade, sent a fleet to Sumatra with magnificent presents for the Sultan of Achene.

In the next century a new claimant for a share in the trade appeared. To a Salem captain belongs the credit of opening to American enterprise the profitable Sumatra pepper business. In 1784 Captain Jonathan Carnes sailed from Salem in a schooner for the East Indies. While in Bencoolen, a port on the coast of Sumatra, he heard of the pepper trade, at the time confined principally to Padang. He sailed for this port without knowledge of the course and through waters dangerous for navigation. He found that little pepper was actually raised at Padang, but that it was brought there in small quantities from points further north by the natives in their proas. He succeeded in obtaining a cargo and sailed for home, but was wrecked in the West Indies and lost vessel and cargo. But he found his way back to Salem and told the owners what he had discovered. A brig of one hundred and twenty tons, the Rajah, was built secretly and in 1794 Carnes started again for Sumatra with the first vessel that sailed from this country for Sumatra pepper.

On this trip Captain Carnes visited the northern ports of the island, and, without charts or guide of any kind, made his way through coral reefs which are the dread of navigators to this day. But this time he brought his cargo safely into Salem. There was lively excitement in town when the character of the cargo was known, and the ingenious Yankee intellect wrestled with the problem of how many years it would take the inhabitants of the country to exhaust such a vast supply of pepper. The owners of the Rajah, however, were busy figuring the profits, for this cargo which cost eighteen thousand dollars, was sold for one hundred and forty-four thousand dollars, or a profit of seven hundred per cent. Where the cargo was found was kept a secret. But in time vessels were fitted out at Salem and Beverly in Bencoolen, where it was understood Carnes first heard about Sumatra pepper. These efforts were without avail, for the jealousy of the European colonists had been awakened and they had begun to fear the rivalry of these venturesome, pushing Yankees. No charts or sailing directions of the coast north of Padang could be found. Lurid accounts of the dangers of the voyage were spread abroad to frighten new adventurers, but by the first of the nineteenth century many ships turned their prows toward Sumatra for a share in this lucrative trade.

In November, 1802, Captain Joseph Ropes, in the ship Recovery, located Padang and obtained a cargo of pepper. Two years later the Putnam sailed from Salem for the same port and met with success. And during that year at least thirty American vessels made voyages to Sumatra for pepper. "Boom towns" sprung up along the Sumatra coast, bearing such picturesque names as Analaboo, Soo-Soo, Tanagar and North Tally Poo.

A ship from Salem, the Recovery, Captain Joseph Ropes, was the first American vessel to enter the harbor of Mocha, on the coast of Arabia, just inside the Red Sea, and opened the commerce in that pungent berry which forms so valuable a part of the beverage of the American breakfast table. From Salem also sailed the first American ship to open commerce with Hindoostan, Java and Japan. Its vessels were the first from this continent in the Fiji Islands, Madagascar, New Holland and New Zealand. They were among the first on the west coast of Africa and in South America. From Salem, too, sailed the first American vessel to round the Cape of Good Hope, and the first ship to carry the American flag through the Strait of Magellan. A Salem ship, the Atlantic, in command of Captain Elias Hasket Derby, Jr., was the first to display the stars and stripes in the harbors of Bombay and Calcutta. The Peggy, another Derby ship, brought to New England the first cargo of Bombay cotton. Still another Derby ship, the Astrea, under Captain Henry Prince, as early as 1796 voyaged to Manila, and forged the first links of that chain of commercial interest which has finally bound to this country the Philippine Archipelago.

These voyages were not yachting cruises on summer seas. The captains of these ships were not merely bold adventurers; they had to be merchants, soldiers and ambassadors as well. The dangers that faced them were not alone the ships of pirates and of hostile nations, but the treachery of the natives, the voracious coral reefs of uncharted seas and the fierce typhoons of tropic climates. With such few maps and charts as they could find, and these often inaccurate, with a sextant and "Guthrie's Grammar," in the picturesque language of a sympathetic recorder, they swept around the Cape of

A Poor Cook makes Tasteless Postum. SEND IT BACK. DEMAND that it be boiled full 15 minutes AFTER ACTUAL BOILING BEGINS. (not only 15 minutes after the pot is put on the stove.) A curious chemical change takes place between 12 and 15 minutes after Postum begins to boil. This change releases the food elements and produces a crisp, snappy coffee taste so fetching that the makers have been many times accused of mixing coffee in. But that is false. The full analysis of Postum made by the American authorities shows that it is made only of the selected parts of cereal grains treated by complex methods in the factory.

Postum is Absolutely Pure and entirely free from the smallest grain of coffee. Remember you get a charming coffee taste if you insist on having your Postum made right and that is easy. Full and simple directions on package. Remember also that when you leave off coffee you stop the drugging of stomach and nerve centres and give Nature a chance to heal your ails. In this work Postum is a most powerful aid, for you not only have your hot morning beverage but take a liquid food containing the very elements Nature must have from which to rebuild the gray matter in nerve centers and brains and that have been broken down by coffee. Ten days trial proof of stomach, heart, kidney or nervous disease you may have, for the probabilities are that your troubles have originated from a nervous system thrown out of balance by coffee. Prove your own case by leaving off coffee 10 days and using Postum. It may be worth more than a gold mine to you. "There's a reason" for POSTUM.

STOCK MARKET FEATURES MORE DIVIDEND INCREASES ENLIVEN THINGS.

But They Appeared to Have Been Well Discounted—U. P. Sold Off—Copper a Shade Higher—Woolen Goods—U. S. Rubber—Stocks Dull and Lifeless at Close.

Union Pacific declined two points after the long expected and talked of increased dividend had been declared, and Amalgamated, after the increase had been announced, suddenly got lively and shot up a point and then hung there.

Both the Union Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio dividends have fallen flat on the stocks benefited and on the general market. An important matter in the money market was a break of 20 points in demand sterling yesterday, following the decline that has been in progress.

The selection of Reading and United States Steel shares to help steady the market during the early part of the day, together with the further bidding up of the Hill group of stocks, had all the earmarks of professionalism.

Illinois Central rallied above 170, but there was continued pressure on account of the dividend disappointment. This seems to be more keenly felt by speculators, who thought a flat rate would help the general market.

Brief Mention.

High water to-day, 2:33 p. m. Everybody's Magazine for August at the Pease-Lewis Co. The annual outing of the William Ima association will be held August 15.

The Waterbury excursion to Newport, R. I., the first of the kind over the Connecticut railroad this season, went through New Haven yesterday morning to take steamer at New London. About 100 people joined the excursion here.

The members of the Christ church Sunday school and the parish will picnic at Double Beach yesterday. The Milford ball nine and the local Edgewoods will cross bats at the Savin Rock grounds Saturday afternoon.

The Sunday excursions from New Haven of the steamer City of Lawrence are weekly growing more popular and will become more so as the season advances.

On Sunday, July 23, North Beach will be the objective point and this will doubtless prove a most attractive point of visitation inasmuch as North Beach affords attractions to such an extent that in the three and one-half hours which passengers will have at their disposal, the attractions cannot be exhausted.

The Lawrence will carry an orchestra and a lunch counter at popular prices will be maintained on the main deck, while the regular dining room will be open for service during the entire trip.

It is advisable to purchase tickets in advance at the office of Bishop & Co., 715 Chapel street, or at the office on Belle dock, as the sale of tickets is positively limited and none will be sold Sunday morning if limit is previously reached.

BLUES WIN THIRD STRAIGHT

CORCORAN EFFECTIVE WHILE NEW HAVEN FOUND PARKINS.

More Snappy Baseball at Savin Rock With Score of 5 to 3—Springfield Causes New London to Stumble—Norwich Loses to Bridgeport Largely on errors—Holyoke Wins from Meriden Though Greatly Outbatted.

Effective pitching by Corcoran, backed up by a continuation of the fine fielding and good batting of the locals, gave New Haven its third consecutive victory yesterday, the Hartford team being the latest victims of the Blues' winning streak by a score of 5 to 3.

The batting of Thiesen, the fielding of Harry Noyes and two clever double plays, one by each team, were the features of the game. Giblin, the new left fielder, showed good form in the field.

New Haven started the scoring in the fourth, when Connell opened with a triple to right. Sanfrancisco went out to Noyes. Billy Hayward walked, stole second and followed Connell home on Thiesen's timely single.

Corcoran singled in the fifth, making his second hit of the day, reached third on Gastmeyer's error and scored on a double steal engineered by Connell (who had gone to first on a pass) and himself, both landing safe.

With 3 to 0 against them, Hartford tried hard to tie in the seventh, and all but succeeded. With Daly down to Burns, O'Reilly, the new first baseman, singled, Fallon doubled, and with men on second and third Gastmeyer fled out to Sanfrancisco. O'Reilly scored on the out, and as Corcoran's low throw to third to catch Fallon got by Hayward, Fallon continued to the plate. Parkins gave Corcoran an easy assist.

In their half the New Havens increased their lead to three again. Hits by Giblin and Connell put these two players on the bases and they scored on Daly's error.

Hartford made a hard rally in the last session. Corcoran passed Daly. Hayward's error gave O'Reilly a fly. Snappy fielding by Sherwood and Burns caught O'Reilly at second and Fallon would have been doubled at first, but Thiesen dropped the throw. Luyster, who batted for Gastmeyer, singled and Daly tallied. Connolly batted for Parkins and reached first on a fielder's choice, Fallon being caught at third.

Connolly tried to steal second, but was caught, ending the contest. The score: New Haven, r. lb. p. a. e.

SPRINGFIELD 6, NEW LONDON 2. New London, July 20.—Springfield defeated the home team, 6 to 2, in a miserable game of baseball to-day. New London was weakened by the absence of Drew and played loosely and without seeming interest. McLaughlin was wild and slow fielding on the part of the team behind him turned several easy outs into safe hits. The infield work of New London was off color. The score by innings:

BRIDGEPORT 10, NORWICH 2. Norwich, July 20.—Bridgeport defeated Norwich this afternoon at Sachem park in a very poor exhibition of baseball on the part of the locals. Error followed error in rapid succession, and each was responsible for a run. Kellogg, a new southpaw, was given a trial and pitched a nice game. The score by innings:

Dickinson, who was a delegate to the national convention of the Sons of Temperance at Asbury park related their experiences to a large audience at the regular meeting of Division No. 5, Sons of Temperance, last evening. Ice cream and watermelon was served during the course of the evening. The meeting was, as to the attendance, the best of the season.

WEDNESDAY BREAKS RECORDED.

Probably a Score of Deaths Will be returned for That Day.

The death returns made to Registrar of Vital Statistics James J. Carr for Wednesday, although still incomplete, have broken the record for a single day's death. The returns made yesterday for that day totaled sixteen, and Registrar Carr says that he expects several more to be added, so that the total will be twenty or above. The only days that have anyway nearly approached this record were July 2, when eleven were recorded and July 14 when there were ten.

For the first nineteen days of the month 139 deaths have been recorded, as against 192 for the entire month last year. Of these 139 deaths 49 were of children under one year of age, 11 were between 1 and 5 years, 17 were of persons between the ages of 15 and 30, four between 30 and 50, and two over 50 years of age.

Besides the death of John Minard reported from Grace hospital Wednesday evening four other deaths from heat are on record as follows: Ernest Lundberg of 285 Peck street, aged 9 months; Fannie Scranton of 115 Asylum street, aged ten months; Richard White of 21 Greene street, aged 42 years; Michael Battalino, 223 Congress avenue, aged 54 years.

JUST REGISTERED. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wendall of Chestnut street are the happy parents of a bouncing baby boy which arrived early yesterday morning. Both mother and child are doing well. The boy is a brother of William Wendall, the popular clerk at the Tontine hotel.

YACHT CAPSIZED.

Three West Haven Men Have Narrow Escape of Indian Neck Wednesday. G. M. Caramon, proprietor of the Sea View Hotel at Savin Rock, Gus Zoller of Savin Rock and Sergeant Loomis of the West Haven police force had a narrow and thrilling escape from drowning in the cyclonic storm of Wednesday afternoon. The three men set sail on the schooner yacht Spray for a sail on the sound and they went out as far as Indian Neck. When off this place the heavy storm broke upon them and the vessel capsized.

Mr. Caramon was in the cabin at the time of the capsizing and he had to break his way out. He got out just in time to help Zoller, who is not a swimmer, get a grasp on the overturned craft.

The three men hung to the boat till help reached them. Earle Baldwin, son of Captain Baldwin, was the first to reach the scene, although others put out from the shore. The men were taken on board the Autogis and as quickly as possible taken to the Ark. After the storm had ceased the yacht was towed to shore. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Cameron went down to get possession of the vessel. It had to be righted and baled out, but was little damaged.

STOLE REV. DR. BAKER'S AUTO.

Young Man Worked Scheme and is Captured with Machine in Springfield. When Rev. Dr. Baker, former pastor of Trinity P. E. church, left this city for a vacation in Maine he left his new Ford automobile in the house which had been built for it at the rear of the parsonage at the corner of Whitney avenue and Trumbull streets. The machine was left in charge of Cox & Sons, the keepers of the garage at 662 State street, who had orders to sell the machine for Dr. Baker.

Early Wednesday night a well appearing young man appeared at the garage and he told Mr. Cox that his name was Carlson. He said that both he and his father were friends of Dr. Baker and that the doctor has asked him to make some slight repairs in his machine and had also given him permission to use it. He then asked Mr. Cox to lend him some tools, which Mr. Cox did. A short while afterwards the young man returned and asked Mr. Cox to let him have a man to run the machine while he tested it. Mr. Cox sent a man with him and the two went to Hartford. They stopped at the New Dom hotel in that city and yesterday morning Carlson sent the attendant back, telling him that he would not need him any more.

When the man returned here without the machine Mr. Cox became worried and telegraphed to Rev. Dr. Baker. Early last night a reply was received from him in Maine to the effect that he did not know the young man, nor had he given permission to anyone to use the machine. As soon as Mr. Cox received the telegram he telephoned the facts to Captain Cowles and the captain assigned Detective Ward to the case.

Detective Ward notified the Springfield authorities about the case and late last night word was received here from Inspector Quilte of that city that the young man had been captured in that city and that he had the machine with him. Detective Ward will go to that city this morning and return with the man and the automobile. The thief has given a number of fictitious names and what his right name is has not yet been discovered, as he is not known in this city, and it is believed that he is a stranger.

This is the first automobile which has ever been stolen in this city and the thief would undoubtedly have gotten away with it but for Detective Ward's prompt action.

NEW YORK INVITES TO GRAFT.

All Kinds of Things Thrown at People Free—Matches, Medicine, Food Among Them. New Yorkers are familiar with the charge that the graft spirit is more rampant here than in any other city of the country. It may be said that there was never a place in which the opportunities, almost the invitations, to graft were so generous as they are here.

Think of the things that are to be had in the city for nothing. The number of them is increasing every day. Perhaps the time will come when the miser can live in New York and spend money only on his lodging and clothes.

We wish them all the happiest day of their lives. THE EDW. MALLEY CO.

F. E. SPENCER & CO. Established 1831. PAINTS, OILS, GLASS Varnishes, Chemicals, &c. 241 and 243 State St. NEW HAVEN. As a matter of fact it is to the persons who have most of the things they need that most is given. Nor are these presents made in an entirely unselfish spirit. They are usually intended as bait to lure the recipient into purchasing something of the same kind. In addition to eating raw breakfast foods one may have nicely browned rice cakes, chocolate made fresh and hot and canned corn. The range of department store food graft is almost unlimited. The specimens are small, but it is possible to get enough of them if one is persistent. Department stores are, moreover, numerous and not far apart. No man need starve when hospitable enterprise sets such a table for him always. The trouble is that he must not look too much as if he needed the food. It will then be much more difficult for him to get it. Nothing is so fatal to this enjoyment of graft as a suspicion of pan-handling. Once that is established the food supply is all but cut off. So it is necessary for one who would enjoy this special lay of graft to be as well dressed as possible. And it is best not to look if it is possible to avoid that expression. If there should be in this casual diet anything that disagrees with a grafter there is a curative method still open to him. The drug of the most modern character distribute daily several kinds of medicines new to the market. Half an hour's walk downtown would produce at least two or three kinds of headache powders, as many kinds of indigestion cures, and possibly a new kind of corn plaster or a mousetrap day. The kind of medicine offered every day varies, but the grafter can collect the medicines daily and store them up against an attack of a malady, which the drug stores could not foresee when they arranged their methods of advertising. Then there are perfumes to be had almost every day in the drug shops. Careful of the places one visits will enable the grafter to accumulate a variety of scents which may not be of the finest Paris manufacture, but will serve his purpose very well. Tooth
