statement made by Edward George Cunliffe in Bridgeport to-night that he had sent $85,000 of his Adams Express plunder to his brother-in-law, Joseph W. Beardman, in Bristol, a representative of the Associated Press called at the Boardman home to-night and osked Boardman if that was so. Boardman, who is a young man, twenty-five years old, and the agent here for the Electric Express company, of Hartford, said that he had received no money, but that on October 12 a dress-suit case came to his house from Bridgeport and as there was no name on it he had not opened it. His wife signed for the case and Boardman placed it in a closet, thinking it was sent to him as an agent of an express company to be called for Boardman told the Associated Press representative that if he wished he would send for the police and that they could break open the case. Chief Arms and Captain Belden, of the police force, were then sent for and in their presence the case was torn open. Huge bundles of money in the shape of bills tumbled out on the floor, and also a black suit of clothes, a pair of shoes and two shirts. As the money was being counted Superintendent J. C. Curtis, of the Adams Express company's New England agency, and William H. Minster, superintendent of the Pinkerton detectives, drove up to the house and were shown in. Mr. Curtis then couned the money and found a total of $79,953.55. There were fifteen bundles of $100 bills, making a total of $50,000, and the rest, with the exception of $3.55, which was in a pocket in the coat, was in $50 bills.

No one was more surprised at the display of money than Boardman himself, and his story is fully believed.

Mr. Curtis packed the money in a

Boardman says that he has received eighteen months, and that if the fugitive had come this way he would have informed the police. From the attitude of Boardman it was seen easily that he had little sympathy for his brother-inher since Cunliffe disappeared asking that he do all he can to find the missing

Boardman is a highly respected young man here and has been the local agent for the Electric Express company for some time. He lives with his wife on Park street.

CUNLIFFE BURNED $20,000.

If This is True Entire Amount is Accounted For

Bridgeport, Oct. 19.—Edward George Cunliffe, who was arrested here to-day on the charge of stealing $101,000 from the Adams Express company in Pittsburg October 9, will be taken to New York on the 5:08 train to-morrow morning by private detectives. About midnight to-night David C. Thornhill of the Pinkerton agency in New York. who assisted in the arrest of Cunliffe had a talk with the prisoner in his cell and told him that $80,000 had been recovered at the home of his brother-inwhere the missing $20,000 was hidden. Cunliffe finally said: "You'll never get it; I've destroyed it." Detective Thornhill at first doubted Cunliffe's story, but the prisoner stuck to it, saying that he had burned the money in his room in the hotel where he stopped here. He said that he was afraid that the bills would give him away, as they were of large denominations, and practically marked as they were notes of the Alleghany National bank in Pittsburg, and that every body was looking for them. Cunliffe said that rather

If this statement is true, and the deof money stolen is accounted for. In view of the fact that Cunliffe assured the detective that there was no money hidden in this city, Thornhill at once decided to take an early train for New York and told Cunliffe to be ready to go down there at 5:08 in the morning. It was intended to stop here another day to search for the supposed missing $20,000, but the Pittsburg police were notified not to come here, as had been

Maximilian Peters, the hotel proprietor, insisted again to-night that he was responsible for Cunliffe's arrest and that he intended to make a strong claim for the reward offered by the Pittsburg authorities. He said that Cunliffe had been here for a week without the police even suspecting it and that had he not told them yesterday Cunliffe would have left the town to-night. The police refused to discuss that end of the case to-night.

Pittsburg police authorities will come here to-morrow afternoon for Cunliffe and it is expected that he will be taken there to-morrow night. Cunliffe will make no resistance.

Affairs of Enterprise National of Alleghany, Still Under Investigation-Its Condition May Not Be Known for Some Days-Directors Speak Hopefully-Some Hope That Dead Cashier's Estate May Amount to $500,000

Pittsburg, Oct. 19.-Investigation into the condition of the Enterprise National bank, which was closed by he comptroller of the currency yesterday, shows beyond doubt that the institution was conducted in a manner entirely unknown to the directors. The real condition of the bank may not be known or several days. From a representative of the bank it is learned that since the investigation and a party of military attaches of oth- started papers and notes have been brought to the attention of the directors which they never saw before. Among these papers are two notes bearing the name of W. H. Andrews, who to-day stated positively that he laus order, and the general has cabled had no papers in the bank. Bank Examiner Cunningham, who is in charge of the institution, would say nothing concerning this statement, but the source of the information is thoroughly

The statement made to-day by the officials of the Santa Fe Central railway and the Pennsylvania Development company, on behalf of which the dead cashier is said to have negotiated loans, would seem to place all the blame on Clark, who, so far as known, MADE ON EAST RIVER MAN BY left no explanation of the ban's relations with the two companies.

Supplementary statements by the signers of the statement and their attorneys show that they take the position that Mr. Clark was the fiscal agent Asks for His Supper and is Struck of their companies, and that as such it was his duty to look after funds and raise money when necessary. The directors speak hopefully of restoring the bank to solvency and resuming business in a month or six weeks, pointing to promises made by hose charged with getting money on notes to make good the amount. They which probably will result in the death also express the hope that Mr. Clark's estate will amount to some $50,000 or $600,000, but in this they seem to be hoping aginst hope. Whatever there is of it will be used in straightening out the bank's affairs.

Declares Funds of Pennsylvania in Allegheny Bank Amply Protected.

Philadelphia, Oct. 19,-William L. Mathues, state treasurer of Pennsylvania, to-day asserted that the state funds, possibly $782,000, deposited in the Enterprise National bank of Alle gheny, were amply protected and that the state would not lose a dollar. Mr. Mathues also declared that he had no knowledge whatever of the dealings of the bank with W. H. Andrews, and his railroad affairs, or with Senator Penrose and others as alleged by Homer L. Castle, prohibitionist candidate for superior court fudge.

Regarding the statement that he had deposited $50,000 in the bank on Tuesday, Mr. Mathues said that about October 1 he had made a draft upon the bank for about $50,000, which had been honored, and the money paid into the treasury, but that on the request of the officials of the bank he was asked to wait for the money until some city warrants were taken up which would be about the first of November. He granted this request and returned to the bank the $50,000, but it was not a new deposit, and he declared that no state money had been deposited in the bank since October 1. Mr. Mathues stated that no republican leader had ever asked him to use the bank as a deposittory for state funds, and that since he came into office, a year ago last May, the state deposit had been reduced by more than fi150,000, Jerome continued his vigorous independent campaign, and spoke first to a great crowd gathered in Murray Hill Lyceum and later addressed an enthusiastic audience which tested the capacity of the Grand Central Palace on the East side. Mr. Jerome's principal address was at the Lycsum where he dismissed with the brief statement, "It is not true," the charge made to-day by Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, that Mr Jerome had sought him in connection with the democratic nomination. The district attorney then attacked flercely the present democratic administration and the nominees. He was most bitter against Mr. Murphy, and compared him disparagingly to Richard Croker, 'a real man," a man with a jaw; a man that stood up and never lled to a friend; a man who stood good and true when he gave you his word, and told you he would or would not, and then did as he said. Closing one of the most sensational and strenuous weeks of the insurance investigation, the committee just bfeore adjournment to-day concluded the examinataion of Richard A. McCurdy, with the exception of a few details he is to supply next week.

Mr. McCurdy has been on the stand of any that has been adduced before the committee. His testimony to-day however, was very much of a technical nature, though it was of much value to the committee in its work. When he resumed the stand this morning it Former Tammany Leader—Asks the Mutual Life's connection with trust companies that was interrupted by adjournment yesterday. The information furnished by Mr. McCurdy dis-closed that the trust companies with which the Mutual Life was connected were taken up by the Mutual Life. Two cases in point were the Morristown Trust company, at Morristown, N. J., where the McCurdy · family live, and the United States Mortgage and Trust company. The former is now controlled by the Mutual Life and McMcCurdy testified that besides being a director of this trust company he is a large stockholder and would take more stock if he could get it. The Mutual Life keeps a balance of not less than $200,000 with this company, on which it draws from 2 to 3 per cent. The latter rate has been paid only since September 1. Mr. McCurdy did not know the holdings of the other members of his family in this company In the syndicate operations Mr. Mc-Curdy said he participated not with the idea of drawing bonds, but to obtain his share of the commission allow-Mr. McCurdy was asked what life insurance he carried, and he was unable to say at once, but James M. Beck, his counsel, presented a statement showing when the policies were taken out, for what amounts, and the plan. These aggregated $200,000, all in the Mutual. Mr. McCurdy testified that he was also insured in the Equitable, the Washington, and the Connecticut Mutual. Before he left the stand Mr. McCurdy said he naid $4,500 for his apartment in the Grosvenor building, whiich is owned by the Mutual.

When McCurdy was excused his son-Robert H. McCurdy, was called to explain some charges for traveling exies as general manager was to visit the agencies about the country. Three such trips were made, the expense of which aggregated about $3,600.

Mr. McCurdy said that while on one trip he was accompanied by his father, mother, wife and the latter's maid but that the expense accounts were for himself individually, and did not include those of any other member of his family or party. He had a private car on one of these trips. He could not tell why the expenses on these trips were so large, but said he would furnish the details later.

Mr. McCurdy was followed by W. W. Richards, comptroller of the Mutual, who was explaining the manner in which the Mutual acquired some properties by foreclosure, when the committee adjourned until next Tuesday.

FALLING BIRTH RATE.

Prevention of Conception Spreads Like Blight in Great Britain. London, Oct. 19.-The falling birth rate was the subject of interesting omment by the bishop of London, Dr. Ingram, in an address to the clergy of his diocese in St. Paul's cathedral today. Like President Roosevelt, he warned his hearers of the dangers of this decrease. It was impossible, the bishop said, to describe with what dismay he viewed this diminution of the birth rate, not only in England, but in the colonies. It appeared to him to be an artificial diminution by artificial means. The practice of the deliberate prevention of conception had spread like a blight among the middle classes, and must be viewed by the Church of England as a sin. The prevailing love of comfort was largely responsible for this, and the clergy must learn themselves to teach others to live the simpler and heartier life which their forefathers lived.

With a penalty regarded as peculiarly ffective the Yale academic faculty yesterday afternoon punished decisively the in York street for the unbecoming conduct of which the denizens of freshman row were guilty on Sunday evening, October 8. It was voted to deprive all the freshmen rooming in Pierson hall and the two prominent private dormitories located opposite it, the Garland and 248 and 250 York street, from the privileges of cuts and marks during the year. This will affect about 200 students.

The penalty is a severe one. It means that no recitations may be omitted by these men during the year, and no marks for failing to attend chapel, lateness at recitations or misconduct will be excused. Ordinarily each member of the freshman class is permitted twenty-five unexcused cuts during the year and sixty marks.

By this action attendance at out of town athletic events requiring the omission of chapel and one or more recitations will not be allowed these men. A number of freshmen who would probably attend the West Point, Columbia and Princeton games will thus be conpenses in 1904. He said one of his du- strained to abandon their plans. These same men will, moverover, be unable to participate in athletic events which will interfere at all with their recitations,

A pair of kid gloves to match each costume; that's the fashion decree for this Fall. Solid colors make it possible and we prepared for the demand away back last winter when the first dress goods samples were shown. Importing our own gloves, dealing direct with the world's greatest makers, in France, we are able to control exclusively for New Haven such makes as we carry. Our staple lines are now complete and our showing of novelties will surely interest you.

SOUTH CONTINUES ITS OVATION TO ROOSEVELT

(Continued from First Page.) honorable. It was in North Carolina that the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence foreshadowed the course taken in a few short months by the representatives of the thirteen colonies assembled in Philadelphia. North Carolina can rightfully say that she pointed us the way which led to the formation of the new nation. In the Revolution she did many memorable deeds; and the battle of King's Mountain marked the turning point of the Revolutionary war in the south. But I congratulate you not only upon your past, but upon your present. I congratulate you upon the great industrial activity shown in your commonwealth, an industrial activity which, to mention but one thing, has placed this state second only to one other in the number of its textile factories. You are showing in practical fashion your realization of the truth that there must be a foundation of material well-being in order that any community may make real and rapid progress. And I am happy to say that you are in addition showing in practical fashion your understanding of the great truth that this material well-being, though necessary es a foundation, can only be the foundation, and that upon it must be raised the superstructure of a higher life, if the commonwealth is to stand as It

More and more you are giving care and attention to education; and education means the promotion not only of industry, but of that good citizenship which rests upon individual rights and upon the recognition by each individual that he has duties as well as rights-in other words, of that good citizenship which rests upon moral integrity and intellectual freedom. The man must be decent in his home life, his private life, of course; but this is not by itself enough. The man who fails to be honest and brave both in his political franchise and in his private business contributes to political and social anarchy. Self-government is not an easy thing, Only those communities are fit for it in which the average individual practices the virtue of self-command, of self-restraint, of wise disinterestedness combined with wise self-interest; where the individual possesses common sense, honesty and courage.

And now I want to say a word to you on a special subject in which all the country is concerned, but in which North Carolina has a special concern. The preservation of the forests is vital to the welfare of every country. China and the Mediterranean countries offer examples of the terrible effect of deforestation upon the physical geography, and therefore ultimately upon the national well-being, of the nations, One of the most obvious duties which our generation owes to the generations that are to come after us is to preserve the existing forests. The prime difference between civilized and uncivilized peoples is that in civilized peoples each generation works not only for its own well-being, but for the well-being of the generations yet unborn, and if we permit the natural resources of this land to be destroyed so that we hand over to our children a heritage diminished in value we thereby prove our unfitness to stand in the forefront of ivilized peoples. One of the greatest of these heritages is our forest wealth. It is the upper altitudes of the forested nountains that are most valuable to the nation as a whole, especially because of their effects upon the water supply. Neither state nor nation can afford to turn these mountains over to the unrestrained greed of those who would exploit them at the expense of

We cannot afford to wait longer before assuming control, in the interest of the public, of these forests; for if we do wait, the vested interests of private parties in them may become so strongly intrenched that it may be a most serious as well as a most expensive task o oust them. If the eastern states are vise, then from the Bay of Fundy to the Gulf we will see, within the next few years, a policy set on foot similar to that so fortunately carried out in the high Sierras of the west by the national government. All the higher Appalachians should be reserved, either by the states or by the nation. I much prefer that they should be put under national control, but it is a mere truism to say that they will not be resedved either by the states or by the nation unless you people of the south show a strong interest therein. Such reserves would be a paying investment, not only in protection to many interests, but in dollars and cents to the government. The importance to the southern people of protecting the southern mountain forests is obvious. These forests are the best defense against the floods which in the recent past have, during a single twelvemonth, destroyed property officially your public men. The two senators from North Carolina have taken an honorable part in this movement. But I do not think that the people of North Carolina, or of any other southern state, have quite grasped the importance of this movement to the commercial development and prosperity of The position of honor in your parade to-day is held by the confederate veterans. They by their deeds reflect cred-Americans, both because they did their duty in war and because they did their duty in peace. Now if the young men, their sons, will not only prove that they possess the same power of fealty to an ideal, but will also show the effisiency in the ranks of industrial life the ranks of war, the industrial future of this great and typical American comonwealth is assured-The extraordinary development of industrialism during the last half century has been due to several causes, but above all to the revolution in the methods of transportation and communication; that is, to steam and to electrity, to the railroad and the telegraph, but among barbarian, nations, ever since history dawned; that is, by wheeled vehicles drawn by animals, by pack trains, and by sailing ships and rowboats. On land this meant that commerce wen in slow cumberous and expensive fashion over highways open to all. Normally these highways could not compete with water transportation, if such was feasible between the connecting points.

All this has been changed by the development of the railroads. Save on the ocean or on takes so large as to be practically inland seas, transport by water has wholly lost its old position of superiority over transport by land, while, instead of the old highways open to everyone on the same terms, but of a very limited usefulness, we have new highways-rattroads-which are owned by private corporations, and which are practically of unlimited, instead of limited usefulness. The old laws and old customs which are adequate and proper to meet the old conditions need radical readjustment in order to meet these new conditions. The cardinal features of these changed conditions are, first, the fact that the new highway, the rallway, is, from the commercial standpoint, of infinitely greater importance in our industrial life than was the old highway, the wagon road; and, second, that this new highway, the railway, is n the hands of private owners, whereas the old highway, the wagon road, was in the hands of the state. The management of the new highway, the more delicate and most important than the primitively easy task of acquiring or keepink in order the old highway; believe with equal firmness that it is national championship last week. Experience has shown that the present laws are defective and need amendment. The effort to prohibit all restraint of competition, whether rea-What we need is to have some administrative body with ample power to forbid combination that is hurtful to the public, and to prevent favoritism to one individual at the expense of another. In other words, we want an administrative body with the power to secure fair and just treatment as among all shippers who use the railroads-and all shippers have a right to use them. We must not leave the en forcement of such a law merely to the department of justice; it is one of the questions for the law department of the government to do what should be purely administrative work. The department of justice is to stand behind and co-operate with the administrative body, but the administrative body itself must be given the power to do the work and then held to a strict accountability for the exercise of that power. The delays of the law are proverbial, and what we need in this matter is reasonable quickness of action. The abuses of which we have a genuine right to complain take many shapes. Rebates are not now given openly. But they can be given just as effectively in covert form; and private cars, terminal tracks and the like must be brought under the control of the commission or administrative body, which is to exercise supervision by the government. But in my judgment the most important thing to do is to give this administrative body power to make its findings effective, and this can be done only by giving it power, when complaint is made of a given rate as being unjust or unreasonable if it finds the complaint proper, then itself to fix a maximum rate which it valued at nearly twice what it would regards as just and reasonable, this rate to go into effect practically at cost to buy the southern Appainchian reserve. The maintenance of your once, that is within a reasonable time, and to stay in effect, unless reversed by the courts. I samestly hope that we shall see a law giving this power passed by congress, Moreover I hope that by law power will be conferred which have done so much for the south, should be one of the first objects of upon the representatives of the government capable of performing the duty of public accountants carefully to examine into the books of the rail-roads, when so ordered by the intershould itself have power to prescribe what books, and what books only, should be kept by railroads. If there is in the minds of the commission any suspicion that a certain railroad is in any shape or way giving rebates of behaving improperly, I wish the commission to have power as a matter of right, not as a matter of favor, to it upon their descendants and upon all make a full and exhaustive investigation of the receipts and expenditures of the railroad, so that any violation or evasion of the law may be detected. This is not a revolutionary proposal on my part, for I only wish the same power given in reference to railroads that is now exercised as a matter of course that their fathers, the confederate vet-erans, showed that they possessed in gards national banks. My object in giving these additional powers to the administrative body representing the government-the interstate commerce commission, or whatever it may beis primarily to secure a real and not a sham control to the government representatives. The American people abhor a sham, and with this abhorrence I cordially sympathize. Nothing is more injurious from every standpoint than a When this government was founded law which is merely sound and fury, mmerce was carried on by essential- merely pretense, and not capable of ly the same instruments that had working out tangible results. > nothing. It must be understood, as a matter of course, that if this power is granted it is to be exercised with wisdom and caution and self-restraint. The interstate commerce commissioner of other government official who failed to protect a railroad that was in the right against any clamor, no matter how violent, on the part of the public would be guilty of as gross a wrong as if he corruptly rendered an improper service to the ratiroad at the expense of the public. When I say a square deal I mean a square deal; exactly as much a square deal for the rich man as for the poor man; but no more. Let each stand on his merite, receive what is due him, and be judged according to his deserts. To more he is not entitled, and less he shall not

Loss in Membership of Over Nine Hundred Men-Treasurer's Report Shows Small Balance-Per Capita Tax Raised will officiate. to $2 by Unanimous Vote-Degrees Conferred-Election of Officers.

The grand lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen met in this city yesterday in annual meeting. The session opened in Music hall at 10 o'clock, with sixty-three delegates present. There are seventy-three lodges in the state entitled to send representatives to the grand lodge.

The first business of the session was the consideration of the annual reports of the officers. The report of the grand recorder, J. A. Knox, of this city, showed a total membership on August 31, 1905, of 6,256, a loss of 976 members during the year.

Grand Master Workman Asaph H. Hale, of Portland, read his annual report, in which he said in part:

"A lesson that has been emphasized is the futility of the attempt to retain membership in our order by members who engage in prohibited occupations more particularly the traffic in intoxicating liquors. Our laws are plain on this matter, as are the laws of most of the fraternal societies, and attempts to retain as members those engaging in this business can result in no good to any and is bound to cause much trouble to many.

"Financially the year has been a success. / ty that I mean that we stand better financially than we did a year age. But in some respects the year has directorsbeen a failure. We have neglected to grasp opportunities and have lost a year that should have been profitable. There have been no workers in the field to gather the harvest that should have been ours. The solemn affirmation made by representatives at the last grand lodge session that our membership could be depended upon to do the extension work of the order have proved unwarranted; and the equally solemn promises that certain lodges would do their part have not been kept. Little or no work of this kind has been

THE STEINERTONE PIANOFORTE The Winter Of Our Discontent Is Made Glorious By The Euphonious Tones

Of The Steinertone Planeforte. The people, returning homeward om their summer rest, find now that The people, returning homeward from their summer rest, find now that there springs up a yearning for the artistic, the beautiful and the divine. No greater charm can they indulge in the internal tones and harmony. It finds its most acceptable place in the family circle. The planoforte is the vehicle by which music can be brought forth and only the very best plano is the proper medium to conjure from the hidden work the enchanting voices of music. These superior characteristics are predominantly found in the wonderful STEINERTONE planoforte. The STEINERTONE embraces everything that is usually found in a first class plano and, in addition, possesses such marvelous tonal powers both as to delicate vibrations and grandeur of immense volume that it is unexcelled by any other plano. There is a delightful feeling to the finger when in contact with the keyboard. All these superior characteristics will be prominently experienced when this plano is played upon or listened to and it remains for plano purchasers to convince themselves by calling at the factory where these instruments are open for inspection and for sale.

Another great benefit to purchasers is the inducement made by THE STEINERTONE CO, in offering their product at wholesale prices thus selling the finest plano for the least money.

It is related that James Merry, a well-known Scottish fronmaster and owner of race horses, once decided to run for Parliament. He stood as candidate for Glasgow. He posed as an Manor School is a preparatory school extreme Radical, and was prepared to way to reform. At one of his meetings where the heckling of candidates was the feature, as in all Scottish elections, he was asked, after he had disposed summarily of the crown, the House of Lords and most of the British constitution, whether he would abolish the Decalogue, "Certainly," cried the valiant Merry. Then, turning to his nearest neighbor on the platform, he asked in an audible whisper, "Jock, what in thunder's the Decalogue?"

In its issue of October 14 Collier's arrives at the conclusion that "ordinary men must work to live," It says: From that fact come the world's greatest goods and ills. Ten dollars a year, stolen from each man or woman, who is struggling to maintain a safeguard for the future, may suffice to keep ? score of men in luxury, but the thorough public understanding of this method may decrease the general reverence for wealth. We are doing in all directions what we can to lessen the harms of poverty. We (rather ineffectually) forbid children to work under conditions that stunt their physical and moral growth. We do not allow women to labor at the expense of future generations. We study pauperism in New England, and pretty big ones, md must do so more carefully as poptation becomes more dense. We watch with anxiety statistics bearing on the cost of living. All this has to do with the welfare of the classes which most need help, and all this is as worthy a task as there is for men to do: but nothing has a more direct bearing on the welfare of the struggling many than honesty in politics and honesty in finance. The injury to the fairly prosperous is considerand when self-seeking and dishonesty become enthroned In great storehouses of the people's wealth. The injury to those for whom mere existence means a struggle is many, many times more great.

Perhaps there is only one woman in the world as beautiful as all this, and perhaps street car conductors in St. Louis are more susceptible than the conductors in other cities. We do not believe that the woman who is flabbergasting the St. Louis conductors would trouble the New Haven men. They might notice her, but they see too many pretty women to be overwhelmed by one, even if she is the

EDITOR OSBORN'S BOOK.

We believe it was Charles Dudley Warner who said that a man might write good stuff for a newspaper all his life and be called only a scribbler. But if he took some of his scribbling and put it in book form then he would be called an author. Editor Osborn, of the Register, who has been writing well for newspapers all his life, is now an author, because the "Reminiscences" which have recently delighted the readers of the Register have been published in a book, the title of which is "A Glance Backward; Editorial Reminiscences." These Reminiscences are richly worthy of such publication and creed is founded on the Scriptural preservation. THE COLOR LINE IN STAMFORD.

That is a nice little performance at Stamford in this State. We read that the Manor School football team of Stamford cancelled a game, and refused to play Stamford High School because of the presence of a colored boy in the High School's line up. conducted under Christian Science auspices, and its pupils are made up of the wealthlest of Mrs. Eddy's followers. They come from all parts of the United States. William Crysler of St. Louis, a young athlete who won several races in the national interscholastic meet at the St. Louis Fair, is captain of the Manor eleven. He said: "We did not know until this morning that the High School was to play a colored man against us. I myself would not play with or against a colored man under any circumstances, and there are three other boys from the South who refused to play for the reasons which governed me. The majority of the fellows were of our opinion, and for that reason the game was cancelled." The colored player whom the Manor School boys objected to is Clinton Diswell, son of Robert Diswell, a deacon in the Union Baptist Church. He is in his second year at High school and made the football team last year. He plays at end, and is a clean, elever player. Captain Junger of the High School declined to play without Diswell.

Of course there isn't much Christian Science in football, but the incident is not a cheering one. There are schools where there is no color line in athlet-

CHINESE STUDYING IN JAPAN. Japan is helping China both by example and precept. The Chinese have discovered that they can learn of Japan, and therefore, while eight years ago there were only two Chinese students in Japan, there are now 2,641. The Chinese authorities are themselves encouraging this impulse towards foreign study. Candidates for the public examinations who have studied in Japan are excused from the provincial tests formerly necessary, and may proceed direct to the final examination at Peking. Moreover, certificates of certain standards of proficiency obtained in Japan have now equal validity with those gained at the Chinese local examinations. At the first examination in started thirteen students from Japan were successful, eight in the first clasand five in the second; and, as a special mark of imperial favor, they were eccived in audience a few days later at

What is Thought of the Croesus and His Mines at Home.

That eccentric individual, Walter team of mules, to travel back and whom the newspapers have called "the Croesus of Death Valley," is well known here and is generally believed to be a spectacular fraud. He has been in and about Los Angeles for a dozen years or more, and has been engaged in various occupations different points in the southwest. He once worked in the Kansas City stockyards. He was employed for a year or more as a laborer on the Santa Fe, Proscott and Phoenix railroad; has picked up a living at times by breaking ugly and victous horses, has been a "cow puncher" on various ranches, and went to Europe as a member of the cowboy gang in Buffalo Bill's show. Between times he has spent many months around Los Angeles, and Mrs. Scott, who is a very decent little woman and is credited with having much more sense than her husband, was once what they call a "hash slinger" in a Los Angeles restaurant. She was earning her living as a waitress in one of the desert hotels when she mar-ried "Scotty." They have had occasional controversies, and at times he has treated her badly, but she is said to be a loyal, patient and forgiving

Julian M. Gerald, vice-president of the Knickerbocker Trust company of New York, once spent a summer for his health on a ranch where "Scotty" was "cow punching" and took a fancy to him. They renewed their acquaintance when "Scotty" was in New York with Buffalo Bill's show. At that time the latter revealed to Gerard the secret of a mysterious gold mine in Death Valley, which he had discovered with the aid of a Navajo Indian. "Scotty" has told so many different stories about the discovery and his experiences in the desert that he is confused in his own mind. One of his yarns is that he made the discovery when engaged with a government surveying party several years ago. He has told other people that he found the vein while crossing the desert with a friend on a prospecting tour. It makes no difference, however, what he says. His memory is so defective that he never tells the same story twice. He seems to have convinced Mr. Ge rard of the existence of a vein of gold of extraordinary richness, and has sucseeded in securing from him at different times during the last two years the sum of fifteen thousand dollars for "de veloping the claim." He occasionally goes into the desert from Daggett with the usual prospector's outfit, loaded upon a couple of burros, and after an absence of three or four weeks reappears with a quantity of cash-silver, gold, treasury notes and coin certificates. It has been a standing joke among the miners around Daggett that 'Scotty" has a ranch up in Death Valley where he plants silver dollars and raises several crops a year of gold cer-tificates from the seed. He is well known to everybody in that part of the country because of his disposition to splurge and make people talk about hlm. Nobody, however, believes in his mine, and the source of his money is a mystery. He has informed Mr. Gerard. his partner, that he has located thirtyeight claims near Bennett's Hole, about fifty miles from Saratoga Springs; but none of his locations have ever been recorded, and people familiar with the locality insist that there is no mineral whatever within fifty miles of Bennett's Hole-and, even if there is "A true patriot," answered Senator mountain of pay rock, there is no Sorghum, "is a man whose country re- stamp mill, crusher or other means by which "Scotty" could get the gold out.

A veteran miner, who knows the region thoroughly, says: "Mr. Scott's mines are purely imaginary. There is no mineral where he claims to have located, and the only way he or any one else could get gold out of that desert is by finding a rich placer and working it alone. But in order to work a placer be must have water, and there is no water anywhere in that locality. He cannot get any gold out of any mine in the desert without water supply or a smelter, and even if he could get the gold out he could not change it into money except at some mint or bank. Out in this part of the country, with such a sparse population, pretty much everybody knows everybody else's business, and, as certain as he breathes 'Scotty' has sold no gold dust or nuggest to any mint or bank." Some months ago "Scotty" claimed to have been robbed of a large sum in gold dust which he was carrying east in an ordinary handbag. The conductor of the Pullman car in which the robbery was said to have occurred was

Last spring "Scotty" wrote Mr. Gerard at New York, asking for fifteen hundred dollars to buy a wagon and forth between Daggett and the mine the money was refused. Mr. Gerard replied that it was about time the mine was beginning to pay dividends, for, notwithstanding "Scotty's" reckless display of each and his extravagant assertions of the richness of his discovery, he has never repaid his partner for funds advanced, and has not even made an accounting to him. Mr. Gerard, losing confidence in "Scotty's" reports, employed Antonio Apache, a well known and highly educated Indian. who was an assistant of Professor Putnam in the Peabody Museum at Cambridge and in the ethnological department of the World's Fair #t Chicago, to follow "Scotty's" trail and ascertain the facts about the mine. Although Apache was provided with a map, furnished by Scott to Mr. Gerard, and all the information the latter has ever received concerning the location of the claims, he was unable to find them. On the contrary, there are no mines and no claims, and no evidences of human habitation at the spot indicated on the map. The request of the board of charities and correction from the funds with which to carry on the work of this department, which was tabled at the last neeting of the board of finance, again same up for consideration at last night's meeting. The board, after discussing the matter at length, appointed Messrs. Nesbit and Frederick to investigate the situation and report back to the board at the next meeting. On the request of the department of public works the board voted to transfer $788.46 from "cobble gutters account" to "crushed stone pavement ac-

Comptroller Rowe stated that the 'printing and stationary account' was exhausted and he asked for the transfer of $800 from the "contingent account" to replenish this fund. The request was granted.

Mayor Studley stated to the board that Director of Public Works Coe had informed him that he only had enough money to carry on the sprinkling of streets until about next Tuesday, which leaves two days without funds until the finance board meets again. His honor stated that the fund had been drawn on neavily this year. The board made arangements to provide the director with the necessary amount to carry on the work.

The board voted to adopt the followng schedule for hearing the heads of the various departments on their estimates:

OBITUARY NOTES

The Late F. W Benedict-Funeral Tomorrow.

The news of the death of Frank W. Benedict, announced in our yesterday's issue, brought sorrow to many hearts. He was a man of noble mind and heart, a valuable citizen, a man of high integrity and worth. Much regret was expressed in business circles and by the community at his death.

Mr. Benedict's condition had been several months that his recovery was not expected, but the end came at last unexpectedly. He had suffered much with rhoumatic trouble for several years, but his final illness was diabetes, of which he died.

Mr. Benedict was fifty-three years of age and was the younger son of the late Henry W. Benedict, who was a leading coal merchant of New Haven for many years, and who was interested in coasting vessels that sailed from this port, and erected the Benedict building, which at his death fell to the three children. Frank W. was educated in the public schools here, and upon the death of his father he succeeded to the coal business, which was originally established in 1833 by his grandfather, Truman Benedict and Isaac T. Hotchkiss. The business was originally the importation of gas coal and the firm was engaged for years largely in the retail trade.

After his father's death Mr. Benedlet continued the business, and a partnership was formed with J. W. Downs. and this year the concern was made a corporation, and the firm name changed to the Benedict & Downes Co. The business for many years has been exclusively in the wholesale trade.

Mr. Benedict was a large holder of real estate in New Haven. He built the Hutchinson, a students' apartment house at College and Crown streets. He was also the owner of the Bijou theater building, formerly St. Mary's church, on Church street, and other central property. He was also interested with the Benedict & Downs Co. in theownership of a trolley road in Massachusetts. He was a director in the Mechanics bank and a member of the United church, and of the Union

Mr. Benedict was married in December, 1875, in Washington, D. C., to Miss Helen H. Piper of Williamsport Penn., who survives him, He also leaves one brother, Henry H. Benedict, of 216 Bishop street, president of the wholesale coal corporation of the Benedict and Pardes company of this city. which began business in 1870. He also leaves two sisters, Sarah M. Deane of 11 Howe street and Mrs. George L.

Fowler of Richmond Hill, L. I. Mr. Benedict was a heavy owner of vessel stock, a branch of the business which his father was interested in but which was greatly developed by Frank W. Benedict. Under Mr. Benedict's direction several vessels were built. In 1902 he built a three-master at Bath, Maine, which was named after him, and a year ago he built a fivemaster, the Magnus Manson, which is the largest sailing vessel hailing from this port. Mr. Benedict was a man who was widely known, and of a generous nature, who bestowed charity on many who will feel a loss by his death. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock ...

(Continued from Fourth Page.) cost him one hundred and fifty Hollars. He enjoyed the newspaper advertising Immensely, and at the time of his arrival in the second train he told the reporters that he was going to hire a special to take him to Chicago and break all records for fast traveling. After making this boast he disappeared on one of his periodical journeys into the desert. Two or three weeks later a reporter of a local paper wrote him that he was a fraud and a bluffer, and did not have either the nerve or the money to make the Chicago trip. This taunt seems to have stirred up "Scotty," for he came immediately to Los Angeles, arranged with Mr.John J. ### SMALL BOY HAS "COFFEE HEART

Child of Eight Is in City Hospital Slowly Regaining Health.

HEART BEATS TOO FAST

Muscle Was Wearing Itself Out-Drank a Dozen Cups a Day, Excessive coffee drinking, City Hospital physicians say, is the cause of little Johnnie Murphy's heart disease. Although only eight years old, he has one of the worst cases of heart lesion that has ever come to the institution.

When he entered the hospital the child's heart was beating 160 to the minute, just twice the normal rate for a child of his age. For one month he has had no coffee, and his heart action has been reduced to 100 beats a

For two years the child has been drinking from nine to twelve cups of ong coffee every day. He began to sticking in his heart, and for a year has slept scarcely three hours a night, and then only when sitting propped up in a chair beside an open window.

Johnnie did not care for things to ent; coffee was all the food he craved, and except when cake or candy was given him, he took no other nourishment. As he was sick and not expected to recover, he was given all the coffee he desired until a physician saw and advised that he be sent to City

HEART WAS OVERWORKED Every beat of the child's heart could be plainly seen. To one inexperienced in medicine it would seem that the heart extended over two-thirds of the chest region, and the pulsation is of a heavy, prolonged character, quite different from the sharp, quick beat of the normal heart.

The boy is small for his age, and efforts of physicians have been to build up his strength. His treatment has been largely tonics and heart-regulating medicines, such as strophantus or

As the heart, like other muscles, can stand only a given amount of work, nospital internes estimate that the sixty beats a minute he is now being saved by his abstinence from coffee will prolong his life ten or twelve years.

The heart of a man who dies at seventy years has beaten 260,000,000 times, and if the normal beat is seventy-two little Johnny Murphy was living twice as fast as any normal person. When he first entered the hospital physicians freely prophesied that he could not live only a few weeks. Under the treatment and total abstinence from coffee he has so improved that his chances for a long life are considered good if the heart lesion and degeneration already set up can be healed.

He is a son of John Murphy, of 116 South Fourteenth street. Mrs. Murphy told the physicians that none of her other children had showed signs of heart disease, nor had they a marked fondness for coffee,-St. Louis Post-

Literally thousands of people suffer more or less from heart weakness caused by coffee, and, with some, even one cup a day will bring on heart trouble.

The heart that has been only slightly attacked by coffee will protest and make its weak condition known under slight exertion, and it is plainly a dan gerous condition to get into. It is a curious fact that coffee does not always attack the heart, but goes after the stomach, liver and bowels of some and leaves the heart alone.

It is plainly classed as an active toxic and its work shows somewhere on mos users. It is easy to rid one's self of the habit by using well-brewed Postum The change in symptoms is shown in a day or two as a rule, and that change shows the user to a certainty that coffee was the destroyer-

YALE COMMEMORATES DR. BROWNE'S TRI-CENTENARY.

Only College in America to Hold Exercises on 300th Birthday of Author of Religio Medici-Dr. Francis Bacon's Admirable Address on the Hero of the Occasion-Outline of Life of Sir Thomas Browne.

Uniting in spirit with Norwich, one of the oldest towns in England, Yale university, through its modern language club, last evening observed the 300th anniversary of the birth of Sir Thomas Browne, the famous literary physician of the seventeenth century in England, and best known as the author of the "Religio Medici." Norwich was the home during the greater part of his life of Sir Thomas Browne, and yesterday the town did honor to its most famous citizen. Yale, the only university in America so to do, also ommemorated the event-Last evening's observance was held under the auspices of the Modern Language club in the large lecture room of Osborn hall, which, despite the weather, held a good sized audience, The arrangements for the evening William Lyon Phelps, the popular professor of English at Yale. An interesting point in regard to the address is the fact that Dr. Bacon had been invited to deliver it in Norwich, England, but decided to remain here and deliver it for the benefit if New Haveners.

Dr. Bacon had prepared a paper that was both highly instructive and delightful for its literary quality and its mixture of delicious humor. It outlined in biographical style the life and work of the knight in whose memory it was written-

Sir Thomas Browne was the fourth and youngest son of a merchant of Cheapside, London, and was most tenderly and affectionately reared. His father died while he was in very early life, and his mother shortly afterwards was married again to a soldier, who was somewhat wild in his

> For one ambitious for the medical profession study in the great continental universities was then very necessary, so Brown spent two years at Mont Pelier in France, and at Padua in Italy, returning home at the age of twenty-eight. It was during the waiting time that omes to a young professional man upon commencing practice that the book upon which his fame was built, the "Religio Medici," was written. The work lay in manuscript some seven years, but got about and became corrupted in large part. In 1642 the work was published anonymously, and without the author's knowledge from a deprayed manuscript.

Shortly after publication it became a subject for learned commentators, not because Browne's writing was obscure, according to Dr. Bacon, and needed elucidation, but because the commentators wished to display their vast knowledge upon subjects not always closely connected with the subject matter of the book.

By the translation into foreign languages, which soon followed, Dr. Browne was made a man of letters of the world. These translations were not very exact transcripts of the original.

While to-day the "Religio Medici" is considered an example of the intensity age, according to the speaker, it was regarded by the author's contemporaries as very unorthodox, and Dr. Browne was accused of athelsm, deism, pantheism, Romanism, and so forth. The book was ordered to be burned by the common hangman, a favorite method of stamping official disapproval on a literary work in those times, which in this case, as Dr. Bacon humorously remarked, was superfluous, as the book was so clever any way, that people would read it with-

Sir Thomas was knighted somewhat after this fashion. In the days of the restoration King Charles IL, in the progress of a tour through England, visited Norwich, and was exwhich he was entertained there. He accordingly cast about for some prominent citizen of the town intended honor was directed first towards the mayor of the town, but that official having no ambition for knighthood at the hands of Charles II. de-Thereupon the king bethought him of one Thomas Browne, and so forthwith the beloved doctor was made knight of the realm to the delight of the people of Norwich.

In speaking of the fact that the "Religio Medici" was written during the time when Dr. Browne had leisure in his early practice, Dr. Bacon said that such a person as a literary doctor today would lose repute and be neglected for not devoting his spare time in keeping up with the latest advances in medical science.

Upon the conclusion of the address Professor Palmer of the German faculy arose to express the thanks of the Modern Language club and the audience to Dr. Bacon for his splendid essay, and in the course of these remarks he said that they were very thankful to the doctor for having demonstrated during the evening that we have the literary doctor still with us, a compliment which was approved by of the sectarian narrowness of that the doctor's hearers with enthusiastic applause.

Before the commencement of Dr. Bacon's address Professor Phelps read a cablegram from Norwich, expressing a feeling of the community of interests in this event between the university and the English town. A cablegram of response was sent back by the Modern Language club last night.

Going to Bed Hungry

It Is All Wrong and Man Is the Only Creature That Does It.

It is all Wrong and Man is the Only Creature That Does It.

The complete emptiness of the stomach during sleep adds greatly to the amount of emaciation, sleeplessness and general weakness so often met with. There is a perpetual change of tissues in the body, sleeping or waking, and the supply of nourishment ought to be somewhat continuous and food taking just before retiring adds more tissue than is destroyed, and increased weight and vigor is the result. Dr. W. T. Cathell says: "All animals except man eat before sleep, and there is no reason in nature why man should form the exception to the rule."

If people who are thin, nervous and sleepless would take a light lunch of bread and milk or catmeal and cream, and at the same time take a safe, harmless stomach remedy like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in order to aid the stomach in digesting it, the result will be a surprising increase in weight, strength and general vigor. The only drawback has been that thin, nervous, dyspeptic people cannot digest and assimilate wholesome food at night or any other time. For such it is absolutely necessary to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets because they will digest the food, no matter how weak the stomach may be, nourishing the body and resting the stomach at the same time.

Dr Stevenson says: "I depend almost entirely upon Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in treating indigestion, because it is not a quack nostrum, and I know just what they contain, a combination of vegetable essences, pure pepsin. They cure Dyspepsia and stomach troubles, because they can't help but cure." Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in reating indigestion, because it is not a quack nostrum, and I know just what they contain, a combination of vegetable essences and bismuth, scientifically compounded. Strength. The stock market yesterday disappointed those who expected to see stocks decline, or rather have a sharp break. The market, after early weakness, rallied and held pretty well, and the dire predictions of the Boston oracle did not pan out very much.

President Roosevelt's talk on the regulation of railroad traffic did not have any bearish effect. It was considered very mild.

As to money, there were favorable indications, inasmuch as the Bank of England did not change its rate.

The street was generally expecting an increase in the dividend rate from 5 to 6 per cent., but most well-informed men believed that there was no likelihood of this; and when the announcement of an unchanged dividend rate was made in the closing hour hour the stock did not move at all -A common remark was that this merely added another to the extremely varied list of achievements in prophecy by the Bos- Amal. Copper. ton oracle.

The leading movements were in Brooklyn Rapid Transit, which sold higher than for several years, and other local franchise properties, Locomotive, Copper, Union Pacific and United States Steel shares.

The somewhat easier tendency in money rates, both here and in Europe, was taken as meaning that the acute strain brought on by the October settlement demands is over.

The selling of the arbitrage houses amounted to 30,000 shares. Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific and Erie were offered most freely.

A well known board room operator was credited with selling 50,000 shares of various stocks, principally United States Steel, during the morning, the reason assigned being "profit-taking." Indications were that the Gates pool in Southern Pacific was liquidating qui-

The plan for the reduction and readjustment of the capital of the American Malting company, dated July 6, has been declared effective by the committee, and application has been made to the stock exchange to list the certificates of deposit of the Standard Trust company pursuant thereto. The heavy absorption of United United States Steel common at 37 indicated that this stock received the best support of the day. That anybody should take more than 30,000 shares at one price, with some lots of 2,000 to 6,000 shares, meant something, and was taken to mean big earnings by the com-

Over 15 per cent. of the day's trading was in Brooklyn Rapid Transit. It sold up to 74. This is the highest price reached since 1901, when it touched 88%. It sold at 78% last July. The operations in it were obviously specula-

YESTERDAY'S STOCK MARKET. Still in Professional Hands-Difficulculties in Getting Prices Far From Given Level.

New York, Oct. 19.-The market remains in professional hands, and the difficulty of getting prices far from a given level continues. By extending the declines in force yesterday through the early part of the day a vantage point was obtained for the latter recovery and the day's extreme movement in consequence was rather wider than has been the rule lately. The attraction to traders was thereby increased and the market gained some animation. It did not appear that there was any reflection in the outside developments. provement of the day w probably as much as anyt relaxation of the tension market. This was true abroad as well as in this the active demand for er nection with the high deg prises was undiminished.

The immediate slight the money situation was ing, therefore, of any ea market ease. The retention of England rate seemed discounted in speculative price of gold was let dov in the London market an change at Paris and Ber favor of London. There gent demand here for fore and the rate ran off in th ings, but showed later st recent drain on the ban serves seems to be relieved

There was some selling terday and early to-day o apprehension of the effect dent's remarks at Raleig publication of the text of the address was followed by some demand from the short account. Some early uneasiness over the sentimental effect of the ject of railroad rate legis

Allegheny bank failure was also relieved on further consideration. The movement towards recovery was most pronounced in a group of industrial specialties.

Reports of traffic blockades on the railroads, both in the grain regions and in the iron and steel industrial centers, and the resulting urgent denand for additional railroad equipment, helped the railroad equipment stocks and the independent iron and steel in-dustrials generally. The reorganiza-Situation Eased Up-A. C. P. Divi- tion of the Republic Steel board of directors was regarded as a promise of aggressive policy by the corporation. The United States Steel stocks were rather laggard in the movement. The market campaign in Brooklyn Transit was pushed actively, Amalgamated Copper was rather quiet, but was inclined to heaviness on the failure to advance the dividend rate, as there had been some buying of the stock in the expectation of an increase. Stocks closed distinctly firm, but on a moderate volume of business.

Bonds were irregular . Total sales, pa value, $2,450,000. United States bonds were unchange

ACTION AGAINST TRADESMENS BANK SETTLED.

Fireman Higgins Seeks to Recover Three-Year-Old Son-Receiver for $10,000 Property Asked-Young Girl Sues Springfield Street Railway-

Clarkson Divorce Suit Withdrawn.

The suit for $5,000 damages, brought against the National Tradesmens bank by Ashley M. Warner, a contracting builder of West Haven, has been settled and the action withdrawn from the superior court. Attorneys Lynch & Lynch represented Mr. Warner in the settlement of the case and Harrison & Zacher represented the bank.

GRANTS POSSESSION OF CHILD On behalf of John J. Higgins, a fireman residing at 79 Chapel street, Judge Ullman in the court of common pleas issued yesterday morning a write of habeas corpus to compel Morris, Neille and Mamle Sheehan of 127 Wolcott street to produce in court Joseph F. Higgins, the three-year-old son of the complainant. The latter four years ago married Elizabeth Sheehan, from whom he later separated. Upon her death the child was placed in th custody of the Sheehans, and Higgins now seeks to recover possession.

STUDINSKY FREE ON NOLLE. Three cases were disposed of in the riminal side of the superior court yeserday morning.

Antony Molozyk admitted that he obbed a farm hand out in Tyler City of $102 a couple of months ago. He threw himself on the mercy of the court, Judge Gager sentenced him to from three to five years.

RECEIVER IS ASKED.

A petition for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the $10,000 worth of property that figures in the suit of Henry Herz, a real estate dealer, against Dora Lippmann, has been filed in the superior court by Attorney and Mrs. Clarence G. Hadden, of Ward Strouse, acting for the plaintiff. Judgment for Mr. Herz to recover $6,979 in the way of relief on the mortgages he holds against the Lippman property located on Arch and Oak streets was rendered last month. Time for redemption of the notes was fixed by the court for the first Monday in January. Since 1898 Mr. Herz has had charge of the property and has collected the rents and made disbursements in the way of keeping the houses in repair.

This report concerned his transac lons in this line up to July 1 and the ourpose of asking for a receiver is to allow the latter to have charge of the property and make the reports on its ondition from July until final judgnent of foreclosure is rendered.

What might be termed one of the best and one of the most interesting comedy dramas that has been produced here for some time was presented at the New Haven thater last night before a roord attendance. " ARunaway Boy," for that is the simple and unpretentious title that the play goes under, is different in most respects from the average drama now holding the boards. As the title would indicate, the hero of the simple yet interesting plot is a boy, and the part is taken to perfection by that clever and talented young actor, Joseph Santley. The story briefly told is as follows:

Young Harry Reynolds has lost his father and mother, and his Uncle Ezekiel hold his fortune until he reaches his seventeenth year, the young man being away in boarding school. The uncle, a miserly, despicable old man, up his mind to possess it by four means. with his typewriter, ate Staunton, a ephow, the time being the Christmas phasis, I again answer, "No." holidays. Clowns and other circus fixings are also there, and the act is generously applauded. The company supporting Mr. Santley is an admirable one, and all are well versed in their parts and were repeatedly encored and also called before the curtain at the end of the third pathos, fun and exciting climaxes, and is a play of special interest to both old and young. The play is well worth going to see, and crowded houses should be the rule at the performance

TWO CITY HALL MEETINGS. In addition to the regular weekly It is When He Goes Back to Pitts. meeting of the board of finance there were two other meetings held in city hall last evening. The engineers' com-Reugistion Papers-Regretted Theft mission held its regular meeting, and the special committee on the abatement of taxes also heard several applicants.

STOCK MARKET FEATURES

about over. The Lawson prophecy on Amalgamated Copper was ignored, though the sentiment that no change would be made in the dividend yesterday weighed against the stock. No change was made.

Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury, was said to be in New York yesterday for the purpose of conferring with leading bankers about financial matters, and, it was rumored, in reference to a bond issue.

A determined effort was made to hold Steel common at 37. It had the look of being "pegged" there.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit was selected for leadership because of its improving earnings position, which seems to have appealed strongly to one of the market's most powerful speculative cliques. The general list ended, with few exceptions, firm, retaining at the close the greater part of the afternoon gains.

Three-year-old Mary Cusick yesterday noon crawled into her mother's room at 343 Congress avenue and by best manufacturers is mistake helped herself to a bottle of carbolic acid on the bureau drawer-Outside of being burned about the mouth she was not injured.

May be the result of accident or or good luck, but when it comes to the Interior Decorating of your home it is best not to take any risks. Mistakes are costly. The fame of the "Thompson Shop" rests on knowing how to do artistic things-in knowing how to dress up your house in so tasteful a way that you do not tire of it-and in doing it at a moderate cost. A very good reason why you should talk it over with us.
