PATRIOTIC SERVICES.

HELD AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH LAST NIGHT.

Under the Auspices of Admiral Foote Post, Nathan Hale Camp and Ladies' Relief Corps—Address by the Rev. Frederick Lent—Excellent Music Rendered by Church Quartette and Taps Sounded by Bugler J. E. Southerton.

Services appropriate to the anniversary of the celebration of Independence day were held at the First Baptist church last night and were under the auspices of Admiral Foote post, No. 1, G. A. R., Nathan Hale camp, No. 1, of Veterans, and the ladies' relief corps. The church was decorated with colors and placed in conspicuous places were the pictures of Washington, McKinley and Roosevelt. A special part of the services tendered by the quartette.

ITCH! ITCH! ITCH!

Scratch! Scratch! Scratch! This is the condition of thousands of skin-tortured men, women, and children, who may be instantly relieved and speedily cured by our arm baths with Cuticura Soap and gentle applications of Cuticura Ointment, the great Skin Cure, and mild doses of Cuticura Resolvent Pills, when physicians and all else fail.

Some time ago I wrote you for a book on the Cuticura Remedies and received it O. K. and went and bought the Soap, Ointment, and Pills. They did me more good than any medicine I ever used. They cured me of my skin disease, and I am very thankful to you. My trouble was eruption of the skin, which broke out in spots all over my body, and caused a continual itching which nearly drove me wild at times. I got medicine of a doctor, but it did not cure me, and when I saw in a paper your Cuticura, I sent you for the Cuticura book and I studied my case in it. I then went to the drug store and bought one cake of Cuticura Soap, one box of Cuticura Ointment, and one vial of Cuticura Pills. From the first application I received relief. I used the first set and two extra cakes of Cuticura Soap, and was completely cured. I had suffered for two years, and I again thank Cuticura for my cure. If you wish, you may publish this. Your friend forever, Claude N. Johnson, Maple Grove Farm, R. F. D. 2, Walnut, Kan., June 15, 1905.

HIGHER EDUCATION NEEDED

DECLARES WILLIAM F. HILTON AT PATRIOTIC EXERCISES.

Held Under Auspices of United Patriotic Societies of City at Foy Auditorium—Yale Does Not Teach the Right Kind of Spirit—Patriotism Not Noise—Another Interpretation of the Colors.

Patriotic services were held in Foy auditorium yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the united patriotic orders of this city and the Y. M. C. A. Levi T. Snow, chairman of the general committee, presided. The services began at 3:30 o'clock. There was a fairly good attendance.

The first number on the programme was the singing of "Columbia" by the audience, which was followed by the invocation by Rev. Theodore A. Fischer, pastor of the First Universalist church. The quartette of the Church of the Redeemer, composed of Professor Charles R. Fowler, accompanist; Miss Rena Teresa Barnes, soprano; Miss Charlotte Barnes, contralto; Francis Hamilton, Jr., basso, and Frank Shay, tenor, next gave a very pleasing selection. John W. Wetzel, of the university, read the Declaration of Independence, and Henry F. Keyes gave a cornet solo.

Little Miss Josie Flannigan then gave, in an accomplished manner, a patriotic recitation about the Revolution. The next number on the programme was the most applauded of any. It was the "Star Spangled Banner" as sung by Miss Rena Teresa Barnes. The speaker of the afternoon was William F. Hilton, of Hartford, department chaplain of the G. A. R. Mr. Hilton had no set speech, but his address was very patriotic and interesting. Mr. Hilton said that he had been born and brought up right in the very vicinity of old Independence hall in Philadelphia, and had played within its portals as a boy. He had, therefore, a very good chance to become early in life acquainted with the meaning of patriotism.

In interpreting the colors of the flag he said that the red stood for the sons of to-day, the white for the D. A. R. and the W. R. C., to whom is entrusted the keeping of the virtue and the integrity of the land. When it comes to the blue, whom better can we think of than the veterans themselves? "Do not fail to be united," he said, "for what does the red stand for alone but anarchy, the white for peace in time of battle and the blue for the sordid day? United they make a flag which no nation can equal and none lower."

He said that patriotism was not all noise, although a good deal of noise sometimes attended it. One who had stood on Round Top at the time of the battle of Gettysburg knew what patriotism meant. At such times one must be either a traitor or a patriot. There was no middle ground. Patriotism was in reality a passion of the heart.

"The trouble with us to-day," he declared, "was that self was pushed too much to the front. Self-indulgences take away from us all devotion to the nation. We need all places of memory like Brandywine, Valley Forge and Trenton. Washington should stand to the front in our celebrations." He said that he would rather hear "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," than so much racketback, halfback, and so forth, in celebrations on the Yale campus.

"We need higher education," he said, "and I say this in the presence of reverent Yale and reverent Hadley. When I see the automobiles and the instruments of the proud I am ashamed of them, because they stand for the exaltation of self. We need civic righteousness, and we need more patriotism."

He declared that there was more in the G. A. R. than men with gray hairs who went to war. They might not know so much as the professors, but they had as much virtue, and when the roll was called up there he thought there would be as many men with the little brass buttons as men with long diplomas.

Mr. Hilton was heartily cheered as he took his seat, and as the cheering continued he acknowledged it with a military salute. After the address the quartette sang another selection, "Pentecost on the Old Camp Ground." Comrade Willis B. Isbell gave a patriotic recitation, which was so much applauded that he was obliged to favor the audience with a second.

The exercises closed with the singing of "America" by the audience. Rev. Theodore A. Fischer pronounced the benediction.

HOME FROM WASHINGTON.

Mr. Sperry Gives His Views on Various Subjects. Congressman Sperry and family are back at their home on Orange street from Washington. Mr. Sperry is now in his sixth term in congress. He is in excellent health and spirits. He thinks all the Connecticut congressmen will be candidates again this fall. If the people of this district want him to serve again he is ready, he said. On other points Mr. Sperry said: "More money has been appropriated for the New Haven harbor since I have been in office than for all time previous, back to Washington's presidency. The New Haven breakwater work is one that is half done, and which ought to be completed. Mill river has two channels, Quinnipiac river has a channel up to Grand avenue bridge, West river is now being dredged, and, in fact, every river is being attended to."

"What do you think of the beef trust situation?" "The great point, as I understood it in Washington, was as to whether the government should pay for the inspection of the beef products, or whether this should be paid by the packers. It was decided best that the government should pay. The cost will be about five cents a head of livestock. As the matter was looked at, it was better for the government to hire the inspectors and pay them, thus making the inspection worth something, rather than leaving the matter to the packers."

"Don't you think the labels on canned beef products ought to be dated?" "Now, I saw this: There was a wagon-load of canned and other goods before congress, and I heard the testimony. If you saw a can of beef opened that had been packed for seven years, and a can that was packed this year, you could not tell them apart. As long as the air does not come to the goods they are all right."

NOTES FOR HORSEMEN

RESULTS OF THE BIG RACES THIS SEASON.

Sweet Marie, 2:04 1/2; Tiverton, 2:04 1/2; and Wentworth, 2:04 1/2 to Race Wednesday at Boston—Other Races Added to the Programme—Entries for the Charter Oak Stake—Concert and Attractions at Hartford Races.

One of the greatest horse races that has been arranged for this year is to be held at the Readville track, near New Haven, on the Fourth of July. Owing to the celebrity of the three world-renowned trotters the race will draw considerable patronage from this city and surrounding places.

The three record breakers that are entered for the event are Sweet Marie, 2:04 1/2, who is in the hands of Alta McDonald, of Albany; Tiverton, 2:04 1/2, in the stable of John Howell, of Poughkeepsie, and Wentworth, 2:04 1/2, in the care of E. E. McCargo, of Philadelphia. The three gentlemen recently met in New York city and made the second payment of $1,000 each. According to the terms of the agreement, the total amount now on deposit is $7,500, which is a purse large enough to ensure a fast race. According to late news from the three trotters, they are all arriving satisfactorily and give promise of being faster than ever.

The race is to be held at the Readville track on July 4, at the time of the big match race. The 2:09 pacers will race for a $450 purse and 2:14 trotters are to race for a purse of the same amount.

The following regarding the three-cornered match race is from the columns of the (Boston) Horse Breeder: "It will undoubtedly be an old-fashioned contest for blood worth a trip across the continent to witness."

New Haven men who attend the race can leave this city in the forenoon, and, after an enjoyable outing, return during the evening.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACES.

The opening races of the Grand Circuit will be held later than usual this year, the first meeting of the big chain of weekly races being arranged for Cleveland on July 30 to August 5. Two big races that during previous years have been decided at Detroit have been transferred to Cleveland for this season. These two races are the Merchants and Manufacturers' trotting stake race for $10,000 and the Chamber of Commerce $5,000 purse for pacers.

Dates of other Grand Circuit races are as follows: Buffalo, August 8-10; Poughkeepsie, August 13-17; Readville, Mass., August 20-24; Providence, August 27-31; Hartford, September 3-7; Syracuse, September 10-11; Columbus, O., September 17-21; Cincinnati, September 24-28. Full particulars regarding the races at Providence are not yet announced.

N. W. Hubinger has named Metalls, 2:11, and Axeyell, 2:10 1/4, in the $10,000 trot at Buffalo, and has made the same entry in the Charter Oak $10,000 trot at Hartford.

THE HARTFORD RACES.

The Grand Circuit races will be held at Charter Oak park as usual this year and will open (weather permitting) on Labor day, September 8, and continue until the final heat is decided on Friday, September 12. The Hartford management adopted a new plan when it offered the $10,000 for 2:09 trotters last spring. The new style was termed "handicap entrance according to record." Horses with fastest records eligible were entered at 5 per cent of purse; horses with slower records were charged either 2, 3 or 4 per cent. The result of this offer was that more than 60 sixty horses have been entered. How many of these trotters will drop out before the day of the race is uncertain, but, according to the usual conditions, the prospect is that one never "feels" the digestive organs. They are forgotten like any other part of a perfect running machine. No jar, no shock, no sensations at all; just easy, pleasant, restful work—duty well done.

The Way

lies in the proper selection of food and drink, getting down to Nature's principles, plenty of good air, good water, and particularly plenty of good food that will easily digest, and nourish and rebuild—not clog up.

A Food Expert

understood how the body worked upon food and what kind of elements it required to rebuild itself, used this knowledge in a skilful way to produce a perfect food and called it

Grape-Nuts

There is the natural Phosphate of Potash and Albumen, from which the life forces make the soft gray filling of nerve centres and brain, so brain fag and nervous prostration disappear for the user of Grape-Nuts. Then again, in Grape-Nuts the starchy part of the Wheat and Barley has been changed into a form of sugar at the factory, and, as that is exactly the condition which starchy food, bread, cake, oatmeal, potatoes, etc., assumes after the first act of natural digestion has taken place, we find Grape-Nuts has passed through this process outside the body, and is therefore properly termed pre-digested, a tremendous help for those who are a bit weak in digestive power. And so comes of health, with its youthful glow and warm, keen pulse of vigor and energy. The years are forgotten, and so is the stomach, but you'll know you have a strong, sturdy, well-fed brain, for all the important brain-building elements are in GRAPE-NUTS. Dozens of choice recipes for fascinating dishes are found in the package.

so many horses will be eligible to start. Some special attractions, several high class band concerts and an excellent race programme will be provided for every day of the Hartford races.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth, be sure and use that old and well tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

YENAI SCHOLAM SUNDAY SCHOOL. The annual picnic of the Yenai Scholam Sunday school will be held tomorrow at Mansfield's Grove. The children will meet at the Sunday school room on Olive street at 9 o'clock, and from there they, with their teachers, will go to the corner of Olive and Chapel streets and board a trolley car for the grove. The entire day will be spent at the pleasant pleasure resort.

STILL ALARM. No. 4's house was called to a still alarm at 197 Wallace street yesterday afternoon. A pot of tar which was in the back yard becoming afire was the cause of the alarm. Sand was thrown on the tar and the fire was soon extinguished.

SUFFERED FROM HYSTERICS. Josephine Wilson of Congress avenue was taken to Grace hospital about 6 o'clock last evening suffering from hysterics. At a late hour last evening she was doing well and the authorities think she will be able to leave this morning.

LANGENNEGER-MALLEY.

Pretty Wedding at St. Joseph's Church, South Norwalk.

Clara Thompson Malley, daughter of Mrs. Mary Thompson Malley of South Norwalk, and niece of Edward Malley of New Haven, was married Saturday morning at 8:45 to Albert U. Langeneger, at St. Joseph's rectory of South Norwalk, by Rev. William H. Maher, D. D. Miss Florence Malley, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Charles Langeneger, a brother of the groom, acted as best man.

The ceremony was witnessed by the immediate families of the contracting parties. The bride wore a blue silk gown and carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

After an elaborate wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Langeneger left on the 10:33 train for an extended trip to Atlantic City and other coast resorts. They will be at home here August 15 at 15 Elmwood avenue, Bridgeport.

Mrs. Langeneger is the youngest daughter of the late Michael W. Malley, one of the best known dry goods men in this and New York state a decade ago. She is an accomplished musician.

Mr. Langeneger is a designer for the George Bachelier company of Bridgeport.

WORK OF THE LIGHTNING.

During the heavy thunder shower of Saturday afternoon lightning shattered the flag staff on top of the First National bank building. It did no other damage there.

Out at Yale field the track house caught on fire, but the flames were soon extinguished with a hand grenade by keeper Reynolds. The fire point on the building next to the armory on Meadow street was snuffed a few feet from the base and the frame of the door was splintered.

A bad washout was caused in front of the Elks' new home on Crown street. Harry Barnes, aged eighteen, just home from a cruise to Japan, was burned about the arms and hands by catching hold of a telephone wire that had become crossed with a trolley wire at Morris Cove. Four other men who went to the rescue received slight shocks. Barnes was finally saved by E. A. Morris, who knocked the wire out of the grip of the prostrate boy with an axe.

During a heavy thunder storm at Bells Haven in the afternoon two barns, one belonging to Julian W. Cur-tiss, the Yale advisory rowing coach, and Mrs. F. E. Tyler, were set afire by lightning and burned. The horses, carriages and other property in the buildings were saved. The latter barn was occupied by Henry Rowland and W. C. Carroll.

The funeral of Helen J. Noonan, aged six months and eighteen days, daughter of John V. and Beattie Noonan, will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock from the late residence, 139 Franklin street. The interment will be in St. Bernard cemetery.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

ISAAC SELMAI, A JEWISH CONVERT, SPEAKS IN THIS CITY.

Tells of His Work in This, His Adopted Country—Speaks of the Russian Atrocities—New Members at Dwight Place Church and at the United Church—Patriotic Service at Epworth M. E. Church.

Isaac Selmay, formerly a Jewish rabbi in Moscow, now a Christian convert, spoke on the condition and Christianization of the Jews in Russia at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning. His address was very interesting and listened to with close attention by a large congregation. He thanked God that, though born in Russia, he was an American citizen. He was grateful for the privilege extended him of presenting his cause at the Presbyterian church, and spoke of pioneer religious work among the Jews done in Russia by the Presbyterian denomination. He asked that all his hearers should remember the Jews of Russia in their prayers that they might be converted.

He said that to most Jews the New Testament was an unread book, and that when they read in it that the Messiah had come their eyes would be opened to the truth. He spoke bitterly of the czar and the Grand Dukes, and said that they opposed the Jews largely because the Jews were for freedom. He contrasted the czar and the Grand Dukes and their garments blazing with gems and gold and silver with the down-trodden condition of the Russian peasantry. He spoke of the Kishinev massacre and of the very recent massacre of Jews in Russia. The czar was opposed to freedom of religious opinion.

He spoke of his work among the Jewish youth people of this country, one feature of which was his distribution of New Testaments and other Christian literature among them.

The speaker is a young man of about thirty years and spoke with great earnestness.

ITEMS OF INTEREST CONCERNING NEW HAVEN PEOPLE

And Other People Known in This City—Interesting Social Events Here and Elsewhere.

Mrs. Jean Pardee Clark has written a vaudeville skit, "The Girl and the Handicap," which opens an engagement this week at Proctor's theater, New York. Intimate friends of Mrs. Clark have known for some time that she has been engaged in writing the play, and they join in predicting success for the one-act comedietta, pronounced by Frank Lee Short, stage manager for many of the Yale successes, as a charming and refreshing tid-bit, which offers exceptional opportunities for the display of the talents of Miss Isabelle D'Armond and Charles Bowser, the two who will appear in the skit. Mr. Short is stage manager, and directed several rehearsals at Poli's here last week. Miss D'Armond made her debut in London at the tender age of sixteen, and her reputation then and since has been most flattering. She has been the cynosure of many eyes in her advancement upon the stage. Added to a decided taste for "legit" acting, she possesses rare beauty and a sweet voice. Mrs. Clark is delighted at the prospect of her taking the part of Ruth Catchemall in the skit. Mr. Bowser will appear as Colonel De Peyster, the other character in the sketch. Mr. Bowser needs no introduction as a high-class comedian. He has played with Charles Hoyt, with William Gillette, and in vaudeville he has always been a "headliner."

President and Mrs. Arthur T. Hadley had as their guest during commencement week the Chinese minister to Washington, Sir Chentung Llang-Cheng.

George B. Chadwick, of New York city, who came here for his triennial, was the guest, while in town, of his aunt, Mrs. Elford P. Trowbridge, of Church street.

Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford Trowbridge and Miss Elsie Trowbridge will sail the middle of the month for several weeks' trip abroad.

The Lord Chief Justice of England used to sing in a choir of a parish church. A woman once asked the verger to point out Sir Richard Webster, as he then was. The verger replied: "Well, ma'am, that's the vicar, and them's the curates, and I'm the verger; but as for the choir, as long as they does their duty we don't inquire into their antecedents!"

New Zealand young women who are engaged profit by a pleasant little custom which shortly follows their engagement and solves one of the problems of setting up housekeeping. Each of the girl's friends gives a tea in her honor, and on the invitations writes in the corner "china," "books," or some similar words. Each guest attending brings a book or whatever is called for, and the popular girl finds herself in the possession of a handsome equipment as a result of these various teas.

There is now in full swing in this entire country an uprising of the privileged classes against the privileged classes, says the Portland Oregonian, "and the movement will not stop until we have achieved the realization of that fundamental principle of our government that all men are created equal and that they are endowed with certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Steadily we have been drifting away from that principle in practical application, but now, with a short turn, we are coming back to it, swiftly and surely."

related that up to the time his mess overtook him Senator Gorham, Maryland, was fond of recalling when he was captain and fought with the old National Guard in Washington. His acquaintance, an athlete attracted to the presidency of Johnson, the dictatorship of the United States. The young fellow, reluctant to abandon his pastime just then, was offered to hold the position until the season closed, and he gratefully accepted his ability as a first politician.

That the first six months of the new road construction in any like period in fifteen years except in 1902, a sign of the active development of the country. The total new mileage for the months will break all records. Of 2,298 miles laid this year, 940.88 is of the Mason and Dixon line and 1,357 of the western boundaries of Missouri, Arkansas and Texas. In the latter States west of the Mississippi 1,045.17 miles of track was laid. Texas leads all States, with 260.41 miles, Wyoming is third, with 152 miles, Louisiana and Mississippi come fourth and fifth on the list, with 148 and 109.75 miles, respectively, while California has laid 108.40 miles.

As a consequence of the revolutionary condition in the Muscovite empire, there is a considerable extension in the movement of emigration from that country. The Minister of Commerce at St. Petersburg appointed a commission charged to study means to cause the Russian steamship lines to profit by that emigration. The government plan, which will be supported in the commission's meetings, consists in establishing direct steamship lines between the Russian ports and the great foreign ports. It is thought that the bulk of emigration from the Muscovite empire will continue, for years to come, to pass by Hamburg, Bremen, Hull, Havre, and also by the Italian ports. The motive for choosing these routes is that the British, Italian and French vessels offer reasonable rates of passage, besides better treatment on board, for the Russian exiles and their families.

TETANUS DAY.

Some who don't like the way we celebrate are suggesting that the Glorious Fourth might appropriately be called Tetanus Day. For years the Chicago Tribune has recorded the damage done on the Fourth by fireworks and fire-works. It appears that the total number of deaths from tetanus and due to fireworks on the Fourth was 415 in 1904 and 192 in 1905. Of that number Chicago furnished 74 deaths from tetanus in 1904 and 41 in 1905, a notable and most gratifying decrease. The Chicago Board of Health ascribes tetanus as due in the first instance to uncleanness, and to absence of air in the second. It declares that the germs of tetanus are harmless while exposed to the air, but that if projected into the body by a piece of shell, metal or other portion of fireworks or firearms, the germ begins its deadly work under the skin and ends it fatally in the greater number of instances. It is urged on Chicago, and might not be bad advice to New Haven, promptly to remove all pieces of the metal, even to the minutest particle, treat the wound with antiseptics and keep it unbandaged—for it is the absence of air and the presence of dirt in the wound that gives the tetanus germ its opportunity. The celebration has begun in New Haven. Ye who have brave sons and fair daughters whom ye wish to save alive and whole look out for them!

GOOD WORK FOR THE PEOPLE.

The first session of the Fifty-ninth congress ended Saturday night, and it has been a busy and important session (not impotent, Mr. Printer, please). The great feature of it was the broader interpretation placed on the clause of the Constitution which confers on the federal government the authority to regulate commerce between the States and with foreign nations. Three great laws, based on this clause, have been enacted, and it is to the credit of the President and of the Republican party that in every instance these measures have had for their purpose the protection of the people from the exactions of corporate greed and unrestrained monopoly. The measure which caused the greatest debate was the Railroad rate bill. Begun almost with the session, its consideration continued throughout. The Pure Food bill and the meat inspection measure also mark important changes in the Federal attitude towards both the producer and consumer. A bill removing the internal revenue tax on denatured alcohol was passed, and the type of the Panama canal was fixed in favor of the lock type. And about $999,000,000 of the public money was appropriated. Speaker Cannon is reported as saying that the work done and the legislation enacted in the session just closed exceed in importance for the best interests of all the people of the Republic the work of any session during his thirty years of public life. There has certainly been a great awakening, and the people seem to have profited by it.

THE NEW FARMING IN CHINA.

China will apparently soon be fully awake. She is now going in for scientific farming. In many of the provinces agricultural colleges are being established, which are generally under the direction of the Japanese, who are introducing American ways and methods in the teaching of scientific farming. The Governor-General at Mukden has recently engaged as his agricultural adviser a Japanese, Sojiro Yokoyama, who is also a director of the Industrial Bureau of Formosa, and has recently returned to the Far East from a visit of eight months in this country, which he spent in visiting American agricultural colleges and in the study of scientific farming in various parts of the United States. Much has been done by Mr. Sammons, the American consul-general at Nanchang, to interest the natives in modern agricultural machinery. He has found that they are already discussing this subject among themselves and many of them have become extensive holders of farm lands and are inclined to branch out into the farming of large tracts—that is, a number of small farms under one manager. While the Chinese agriculturists lack initiative, as a rule, many of the ultra-reform officials are active in urging modern methods. Success to the new China. Perhaps when she is fully civilized she will show us how to get something besides baking powder that is pure.

NOT FREE AND INDEPENDENT.

How free and independent this country is in some matters may be perceived by the lack of freedom and independence in such matters in other countries. The Supreme Court of Appeal of the German Empire at Leipzig has established a precedent connected with the law relating to lese majeste. It has ruled that a person may be guilty of insulting the reigning monarch by uttering or publishing statements derogatory to the character and dignity of his ancestors. Sixteen years ago the editor of the Volkszeitung was indicted on a charge of insulting the present Emperor by publishing a criticism of his grandfather, William I, at which William II. might well feel offended. The public prosecutor, at that time, pressed for a sentence of three years' imprisonment. The court acquitted the editor on the ground that historical research would become impossible if it were a criminal offence to pass an unfavorable verdict on dead monarchs. The public prosecutor appealed to the Supreme Court of the Empire, which, however, confirmed the action of the lower court. Another case of the same kind has now ended differently. Five months ago the Leipzig Volkszeitung published an article which contained sharp criticisms on the ancestors of the present King of Saxony. The editor was indicted for lese majeste, and sentenced to six months' imprisonment. He appealed against the sentence to the Supreme Court of the Empire, which upheld the decision of the lower court. The editor must, therefore, go to prison for six months for criticizing bygone monarchs of the House of Wettin.

It is pointed out that as the German Emperor's pedigree has been traced back to King David, the possibilities of insult in his case are innumerable.

"Eagle Joe's" Psalm of Life.

Tell me not in mournful numbers That there's trouble anywhere; They are full of even cucumbers Who are harborin' despair. Things are lovely, yes, by golly! No one but a fool could kick; Skeptical and melancholy 'Lookin' people make me sick. Glad contentment and not sorrow Spreads across our happy land; Every day we know to-morrow Will be glorious and grand. Things are high and gettin' higher, We should all be glad of that; Be a seller, not a buyer, And keep firmly standin' pat. In the world's broad field of battle We invariably beat; No use kickin' if some cattle 'That are packin' ain't fit to eat. Everything is mighty pleasant, Couldn't be improved, you bet! 'Tis the engineer at present, And ain't thought of quittin' yet. My contentment should remind you 'That you ought to shout for joy; Let nobody ever find you 'Workin' for reform, my boy. Don't you be a pesky fretter, Don't you ever foolishly Think that some things might be better Than they are the way they be. Let us, then, be up and doin' Things to them that's in the way. Cam'ly standin' pat and hewin' While the chips fall where they may. —Chicago Record-Herald.

WATER WAGON MAN LUCKY.

He Doesn't Have to Take the Risks That Lie in Things to Drink. The man on the water wagon is congratulating himself these days, for the secrets of the manufacture of liquors from chemicals have been exposed, and he has learned what he has escaped. The exposure has made many teetotalers, and there is said to be a shortage in the supply of blank pledges. "When a man goes into many saloons and asks for 'Sotch' this, it is now known, is what he gets; about nine and a half parts of the poorest alcohol made, three or four drops of 'essence of Scotch whiskey,' supposed to contain creosote, two drops of 'bead' oil, a tiny amount of 'coagac' and some coloring made from coal tar. It would not take a large amount of any one of the ingredients to kill a mule. If he asks for Irish whiskey he gets the same mixture, without the 'coagac,' while if he thinks he is buying some choice 12-years-old whiskey, for which he pays extra, this is what he pours out; proof alcohol, which costs about 30 cents a gallon, a drop of a chemical called whiskey oil, less than half a drop of 'bead' oil, about the same amount of aging oil and two or three drops of 'caramel' colored with deadly coal tar dyes.

The tragedies in the Stryker's Farms District of the deady manufactured whiskey, of which wood alcohol formed the greater or rather new rays of application, made wood alcohol more or less unnecessary for the 'mixing' of whiskey. The chemical whiskey is not much less vicious however.

The revenue officials know that there is much of this manufactured whiskey sold, but cannot stop the traffic. It is a crime to make the stuff but not to sell the necessary ingredients. As it takes less than three hours to make the stuff ready to go over the bar, the saloon or hotel keeper who makes it himself runs little risk. The only plant necessary is a barrel. To make about 45 gallons of whiskey are needed four ounces of the 'essence' of rye whiskey, costing about 50 cents; an ounce of brandy, 15 cents; two pounds of glycerine, 35 cents; of cheap proof spirit from France, and a little genuine sour mash whiskey, worth about $3. This mixture is stirred up, and then clarified by powdered isinglass and alum; coal tar dye is added to give it the desired color, and the chemical to give it a 'bead.' The only thing left to do is to keep it in a warm place and get rid of it before its beautiful rich color fades. From three to four ounces of ammonia placed in a barrel will 'age' it several years in less than 24 hours.

"Things are not what they seem" when other liquors are concerned. About eight ounces of genuine cream de menthe might be found in about 40 gallons of what is delivered when that cordial is called for. There is only half a pint of genuine brandy for a barrel of cognac. Absinthe, which is bad enough in its effects when it is genuine becomes a truly frightful mixture at the hands of the economical restaurant or saloon keeper. About 10 ounces of genuine domestic oil distilled from wormwood is used as the base for a full barrel of the mixture. This costs about $3. To it is added French essence, brandy, water, cognac spirits, proof spirits, and coloring liquids, bringing the entire cost of the barrel up to about $25. As this sells at from 15 to 20 cents a table-spoonful, the profit is obvious.—New York Tribune.

WONDER WORKING WHITE COAL.

Thanks to it, Italy is no longer an Industrial Back Number.

Northern Italy is prospering beyond all record. The product of the silk industry has doubled in the last eight years; one-third of the silk used in the world is now produced in Italy.

The cotton mills, scarcely in existence a decade ago, now have an annual output worth more than $50,000,000. According to the World's To-day, textiles have advanced almost as rapidly. The 6,000 workmen employed in iron and steel foundries in 181 have become 90,000 and Italy to-day is exporting steel instead of importing it.

Houille blanche, as the French call it, or white coal, has been the chief agent in the transformation. White coal is simply hydraulic power. Strictly speaking, it applies only to the power derived from glacier streams rising in the Alps. The analogous term, houille verte, or green coal has been adopted to designate the energy provided by streams of humbler source.

Call it what you please, this newly harnessed power is revolutionizing European industry. It is more than a coincidence that the great manufacturing countries to-day are those which are rich in coal—the United States, Great Britain, Germany and Belgium. Now the tables are turned. By an almost providential compensation those nations which are poorest in black coal are richest in white. Austria is much better supplied with hydraulic power than Germany, France than England, Switzerland than Belgium Canada than the United States. When it is further considered that the white coal is subject to neither exhaustion nor interruption by strikes the full richness of the promise it offers begins to be realized.

Italy is one of the best endowed of European nations in this regard. The available power her rivers hold is estimated at between nine and ten million horse-power, an amount equal to the total steam power of the world to-day, exclusive of that used on railways and steamships.

Although only a beginning has been made in utilizing this great heritage, more power has been developed than in any other country in Europe. Some of the Alpine lakes, twenty-five miles long and a thousand feet deep, at varying elevations above the sea, form ideal reservoirs of energy.

Wholesale emigration, again, is reducing; the pressure of population every year half a million of Italy's children leave her shores. In some sections, it is true, the drain has been so enormous as to be a danger rather than a relief. When Signor Zanardelli, the late Premier was making an official tour through the Basilicate, he was surprised on entering a certain village to find no arches of welcome, no effusive demonstrations, only the Mayor with his pessimistic greeting.

The careful study of each individual figure is what has made the Todd corset such a success. The new designs not only reduce the waist and hip without discomfort.

"I welcome you in the name of our eight thousand inhabitants, of whom three thousand have been just left for America, and the other five are preparing to follow."

On the whole, the emigration has been beneficial. A new Italy has sprung up on the Platte and in Brazil, furnishing an immense outlet for Italian exports, while the remittances sent home from Italians resident in the two Americas are estimated at $75,000,000 a year. Nor are all the emigrants lost forever. The official returns put the proportion of temporary emigration at fifty-five per cent.

NORTHFIELD YOUNG WOMEN'S

East Northfield, Mass., June 30.—Within four days after the close of the Student Conference, now in session at Northfield, Mass., another representative gathering of the young people will assemble in the same place and for a similar purpose—the Northfield Young Women's Conference opening on Thursday evening, July 5, and closing on Sunday, July 15. Various private schools as well as churches and Sunday schools from the Middle and New England States will send delegations, and many others will go in groups simply as friends.

During these ten days the halls of Northfield Seminary and the Hotel Northfield will accommodate all the young women who have here come together for Bible study and a discussion of the best methods of Church work. These things will not fill all the time, for it was one of Mr. D. Moody's first instructions to the young women who came to Northfield in lifetime that part of every day was to be devoted to recreation. It is customary, therefore, early in the afternoon, to see large parties of girls going off for a drive along the Ashuelot River or to Lovers' Retreat, some enjoying the tennis courts and still others tramping to the top of Bear or Stronbridge Mountains, where a fine view of the Connecticut River Valley is to be seen. All of them return for the most popular meeting of the day, the sunset hour on Round Top. Dr. A. F. Schaeffer of New York City will speak every morning of addresses on Old and New Testament characters. Among others who will be present at this Conference as speakers and teachers are the following:—Mr. Robert E. Spear, Rev. J. Stanley White, Rev. John McDowell, Rev. A. E. Kelgwin, Rev. J. N. Blanchard, Dr. A. T. Pierson, Prof. James Conaughy, Prof. L. H. Miller, Rev. D. Brower Eddy, Mr. Phillip E. SATURDAY'S BIG FIRE.

The Loss to Stock, Etc., from $75,000 to $100,000 Well Covered by Insurance

A. H. Kimberly, Owner of the Building, Well Insured--A Fierce and Protracted Blaze--Good Battling Done by the Firemen--Narrow Escapes of Fire Fighters.

One of the most serious fires in this city in many months was that of Saturday afternoon, when the big wholesale store of Stoddard, Gilbert & Co., at 213-215 Water street, was struck by lightning during a thunder shower and badly wrecked in the upper part by the flames, which on all the floors the goods were badly damaged by the torrents of water poured into the structure by the firemen. It was a bad fire, two alarms were sounded and the firemen had a stubborn contest before they obtained the mastery of the flames.

Fireman McDonald of house No. 1 and Substitute James Magran were cut about the face and neck by falling glass from the shattered window. Mr. Stoddard stated that Le Grand Cannon, who is in the employ of the Stoddard company, had displaced the insurance with a large number of agents, and that the policies were locked up in the bank, so that they could not be reached until Monday. Among the many agents said to have insurance on the building or contents are: Charles A. Coan & Son, H. C. Bretzfelder, Charles T. Cannon, V. F. McNeil & Co., John C. North, James B. Kelley and a number of others. The building is the property of A. H. Kimberly, who was a former partner for years in the concern. It is learned that he was well insured.

LATEST FAIR HAVEN NEWS

Clarence, seven years old, son of Charles Hemstock, of Chambers street, narrowly escaped drowning late yesterday afternoon. While playing at Burwell's dock at Front street he fell overboard and went down three times before he was rescued. James Powers, of Front street, jumped in and saved the lad, who was just alive. He was worked over for some time to get the water out of his lungs and then was very weak. He was able to walk home later, but he had a most narrow escape. At the communion service in the Grand Avenue Congregational church yesterday morning the pastor, Rev. Dr. Sneath, spoke on "Justification by Faith," and illustrated his theme with a brief account of the life of Rev. Caesar Malan, D. D. He said, in part: "We are constantly inclined to substitute a life of merit works in place of a life of faith as the true Christian faith. This leads to formalism. Paul, Luther and many another saint have clearly made known this fact, and so did Caesar Malan. He was the hero of the evangelic awakening in the reformed churches of the French-speaking people of Europe during the first half of the nineteenth century. "We are interested in this man. His daughter is a member of our church, Mrs. Cecile Malan Hall, widow of Rev. E. E. Hall and mother of Dr. Edwin Caesar Malan Hall, who lives to-day at 201 Lexington avenue. Her father, the subject of our illustration, was a scholar, teacher and writer in Geneva, born July 7, 1767. He was also a hymn writer and preacher. We are using his hymns and music in our service to-day. But he will always be remembered as the hero of the spiritual awakening among the French-speaking churches of Europe.

"Two influences were powerful at the beginning of the nineteenth century--the writings of Voltaire and other skeptics, and a dead orthodoxy in the churches. Malan was ordained in 1810 and preached according to the current thought of the time. There was an indifference to the Bible, a belief in salvation by works and a strong current of worldliness. In 1817 Malan came under the influence of the new movement and experienced a new faith as expressed in the words 'Through grace are ye saved.' This led to a change of life and preaching, a separation from the state church, the erection of the church of the 'testimony' on his own property at Fro Boni and the glorious religious awakening in Geneva. His life was filled with persecution and controversy. It witnessed great results in France, Germany, Holland and England. The queen of Holland was his friend and he had friends in America. He lived to a ripe old age and did a great work.

"Three features characterized his life and work--a personal experience of salvation, an increased interest in Bible study, and a life filled with peace and satisfaction. The fundamental principle was faith in Christ as the only and all-sufficient ground of salvation. A Christian experience based thus is the only sure and satisfactory one. Let each one of us see to it that we possess it. 'For, being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ.' "God's Goodness" was the subject of the sermon by Rev. Charles G. Smith at the Grand Avenue Baptist church yesterday morning, and with thoughts relating particularly to the approaching national anniversary. His text was, "The goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance." In part, he spoke as follows: "In the imperial city of Rome, situated upon her seven hills and by the banks of the deep-flowing Tiber, in the middle of the first century, a Christian church had been formed. They had achieved a measure of success and had become an influential factor in the city. This was matter for great thankfulness and holy joy, but not for pride and boasting. In this passage St. Paul acknowledges their prosperity and bids them beware of it, a pathway leading, not to the arena or forum, but to the penitent bench. 'The goodness of God,' he says, 'wooeth you to godly sorrow, that you are so utterly unworthy of His eternal goodness.' "Next Wednesday is the anniversary of the birth of this republic. It will be duly celebrated by all loyal Americans and doubtless by all who have sought refuge and found a home here, who have come from all parts of the globe. This is as it should be, but I think we will all do well to let such thoughts as these recitify in our hearts on that day--wonder at God's goodness to us as a nation and deep sorrow that we are still and have been so undeserving of the least of His bounteous mercies. The most superficial reader of this nation's history cannot fail to see how signally she has been blessed ever since that memorable day when those faithful and fearless men banded themselves together and formed this commonwealth and framed this constitution, which is the fairest and most equitable of any. I think, in the wide world. Prosperity and success are written on every page of our history. Is it because of chance or fortune, or is it of man merely? I cannot think so. I believe it is of God, who ruleth forever in the armies of heaven and over the kings and rulers and peoples of the earth. "But this goodness of God has not led the majority of Americans to repentance, but rather, it would seem, to indifference and neglect of Him and His claims upon us, culminating in open defiance of Him and His laws, in ungodly pursuits and in wickedness in high places. These things ought not to be; they lead to ruin. Let us make 'the glorious Fourth' not only a day of happiness, but equally a day of true humiliation, and may the unbounded blessing of God on this nation lead us all to greater searching of heart and to increasing endeavor to make this country not merely prosperous, but true and righteous altogether." At the close of the sermon four persons were added to the membership of the church.

OFF TO GLASGOW.
Big Anchor Line Steamship Caledonia sailed on Saturday With Every Berth Taken—Caledonia Now Holds Record of 6 days 20 Hours.
The big Anchor Line steamship Caledonia sailed from New York for Glasgow on Saturday with every available berth taken. Although a little more than a year in commission this steamship has jumped into the foremost of public fame with Atlantic travelers and her agents advise us that they could have sold several hundred more berths for Saturday's sailing. Since the addition of the Columbia and Caledonia to the fleet the Anchor line route to Europe has become very popular and many now make Scotland their first landing point in preference to going by way of England and the continent. The Caledonia on her last westward trip cut the record time from Glasgow to New York down to 6 days 20 hours. Among those booked from New Haven, who sailed by the Caledonia Saturday, were: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Miss M. Lawrie, John Lawrie, Miss Davidson, George Denholm, Miss Denholm, Robert Blair, George Forsythe, Mrs. J.

Gilmour, Mrs. I. Simpson, G. Henderson and others.

MADISON EXCITED.
County Commissioner E. F. Thompson, of East Haven, was fined $50 and costs by Judge Marsden in Madison Saturday afternoon for speeding his automobile more than twenty miles an hour on the return trip from the Yale-Harvard boat race on Thursday. Judge Edmund Zacher prosecuted and Attorney D. E. Fitzgerald represented Mr. Thompson. Counsel had several wry fights over the admission of evidence, and there was quite an excitement in the town over the case. The case is appealed to the common pleas court.

BURNED BY PARAFFINE.
George Middlebrook, a Western Union Employee.
While at work in a manhole Saturday at the corner of Howard and Washington avenues, George Middlebrook, an employe of the Western Union Telegraph company, who lives at 498 Chapel street, was badly burned.
Middlebrook was adjusting wires with a pot of paraffine, which in some way caught fire. Middlebrook attempted to throw the stuff up through the manhole and in doing so covered his face and arms with the burning grease. Although very painfully burned, the injuries are by no means dangerous, and it is expected that he will be about in a week.

CONSERVATOR FOR MISS MCCLANAHAN.
Daily Consumption of Liquor and Cigarettes by Rev. Dr. C. H. Scoville, for years family physician to the McCleghanans, was appointed yesterday conservator over Miss Gilda Gaudie McCleghanan, the occupying heiress of New Canaan, whose father, William McCleghanan, died suddenly recently after an outbreak by the daughter. The application was made by the selection of New Canaan.
Miss McCleghanan's father left an estate of over $200,000 in the hands of the Knickerbocker Trust company, of New York, as trustee. Dr. Scoville said Miss McCleghanan had been subject to several periods for years. "She drinks regularly every day two bottles of whiskey and one bottle of claret," said Dr. Scoville. "and twelve ounces of whiskey. In addition to this she drinks every bit of whiskey she can lay her hands on. She smokes six boxes of Turkish cigarettes every day."

UNITED MANUFACTURERS' SALE

DOORS OPEN AT NINE A. M., MONDAY.

The United Manufacturers' Sale, an original Malley presentation to its public has considerably broadened its sphere of activity since inception. TROLLEY ACCIDENT.
A slight trolley accident occurred on Campbell avenue near Blohm street about 6:30 o'clock last evening. The cars were running on the short schedule and close to one another. The sudden stopping of one of the cars coming to the city resulted in the car following bumping into it, the result of which was a general score among the passengers and a slight injury to a boy who fell off. The car was somewhat damaged and had to be taken off the route.

The second coach lurched forward and rolled towards a stationary train and practically destroyed itself before its wild flight was ended.

The third coach dashed forward with the rest, left the rails and encountered some obstruction, overturned and collapsed.

The guards' van and buffet, the rear-most car of the train, was saved by the courage and quickness of Guard Richardson. With the first shock Richardson jumped forward and set the brakes and saved himself and his comrades. The van ploughed forward, injuring some of its occupants but practically maintained its equilibrium.

The surviving passengers and trainmen describe the sound of the wreck as like the discharge of a series of heavy guns of varied calibre, and when the crashing of the wreck was past there came calls of the injured, some shrieking with pain and fear, and others moaning as if bewildered by the shock.

Relief came quickly, although it was an hour before the last body was dragged from the wreck. The police attracted by the noise, called ambulances and surgeons and warned the hospitals to prepare to receive the injured. The railway yard quickly filled with police, doctors, nurses, trainmen and volunteers. The darkness and indescribable exceedingly difficult. Lamps and torches directed the work of rescue as were brought to light the desolate scene. The station was converted into a surgery and the platform was made a morgue. Several of the dead and injured were imprisoned in coaches and it was necessary to saw away the partitions to effect their release. Others were caught under heavy wreckage. Several of the bodies were badly mangled and one woman was decapitated.

The first shock having wrecked the connections and careened onward until it was hurled against the parapet of the bridge and smashed into fragments, killing or maiming almost every occupant. One man was shot through the window, cleared the parapet and fell dead in the street below.

The third coach dashed forward with the rest, left the rails and encountered some obstruction, overturned and collapsed.

The first bodies recovered and identified included that of John E. McDonald of New York, W. H. Thompson, address unknown, and G. F. McMeekin of New York; Frank W. Koch of Allentown, Pa.; Jules Koeler, address unknown; Charles E. Sentell of New York; Rev. E. L. King of Toronto, Miss Mary F. Howleson of New York, Mrs. G. W. Elpiche of Chicago and Mrs. Lillian Hurd Waite of New York.

Dudley F. Harding of New York, Louis Cassier of Trumbull, Conn., and P. H. Corbit of New York were alive when they were removed from the wreck, but died at the infirmary soon after their admittance.

Early reports had it that William Payne, Thompson of New York was among the killed, but this proved to be untrue. Mr. Thompson was not among the passengers on board the train. W. H. Thompson, who was killed, was a second class cabin passenger, whose residence is unknown.

This Week's New Attractions at the White City.

Another busy week at the new White City started yesterday. To-day Mlle Luba de Sarena opens her engagement with her wonderful performance "Sports in the Far East." This is one of the most novel attractions on the road to-day and comes almost direct from Transcaucasia. One of its great features is the performing wild mountain bull. The act is said to be the equal of Morris' circus, which closed such a successful engagement Saturday.

Manager Speck's big amusement mind traveled south last week with the result that he has brought here the famous "Dixie Plantation." This remarkable production of scenes before the civil war will be given on the grounds which have been occupied by the Igouville village. Everything connected with the early plantation life of the negroes in the south will be given and a show of unusual interest is assured.

BROUGHT FROM WATERBURY.

Remains of Engineer Taken to East Haven for Burial.
The funeral of the engineer, Eugene Rowley, was held from his residence in Mill Falls, Waterbury, at 9:15 a. m. yesterday. The services were conducted by the Rev. John G. Davenport, D. D., pastor of the Second Congregational church. The bearers were chosen from among the employees of the shop who were present and the 11:10 train for New Haven bore the remains to this city, whence they were removed to East Lawn cemetery in East Haven for interment. There was a great display of floral offerings from friends and shopmates of the dead engineer which mutely attested the love and respect which he enjoyed among those who knew him.
